CYCLOPEDIA

OF

LAW AND PROCEDURE

EDITED BY

WILLIAM MACK AND HOWARD P. NASH

VOLUME X

NEW YORK

THE AMERICAN LAW BOOK COMPANY

LONDON: BUTTERWORTH & CO., 12 BELL YARD

1904

J. B. LYON COMPANY
PRINTERS AND BINDERS
ALBANY, N. Y.

TABLE OF TITLES, EDITORS, AND CONTRIBUTORS

CITE THIS VOLUME

10 Cyc.

FOLLOWED BY PAGE.

CORPORATIONS

By Seymour D. Thompson*

* Author of "Commentaries on the Law of Private Corporations," "The Law of Negligence," "A Treatise on the Law of Trials," etc., etc.

CROSS-REFERENCES*

For Matters Relating to:

Agricultural Societies, see AGRICULTURE.
Aqueduct Companies, see WATERS.
Asylums, see ASYLUMS.
Banks, see BANKS AND BANKING.
Beneficial Associations, see MUTUAL BENEFIT INSURANCE.
Boom Companies, see LOGS AND LOGGING.
Building and Loan Associations, see BUILDING AND LOAN SOCIETIES.
Canal Companies, see CANALS.
Carriers, see CARRIERS.
Cemetery Companies, see CEMETERIES.
Charitable Corporations, see CHARITIES.
Clubs, see CLUBS.
Colleges, see COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.
Corporations Owned or Controlled by States, see STATES.
Depositaries, see DEPOSITARIES.
Drainage Companies, see DRAINS.
Electric Light Companies, see ELECTRICITY.
Exchanges, see EXCHANGES.
Ferry Companies, see FERRIES.
Foreign Corporations, see FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.
Franchises Generally, see FRANCHISES.
Gas Companies, see GAS.
Hospitals, see HOSPITALS.
Hotel Companies, see INNKEEPERS.
Insurance Companies, see INSURANCE.
Irrigation Companies, see WATERS.
Joint-Stock Companies, see JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES.
Levee Improvement Companies, see LEVEES.
Logging Companies, see LOGS AND LOGGING.
Lottery Companies, see LOTTERIES.
Manufacturing Companies, see MANUFACTURES.
Mercantile Agents, see MERCANTILE AGENCIES.
Mining Companies, see MINES AND MINING.
Monopolies, see MONOPOLIES.
Mortgage Loan Companies, see MORTGAGES.
Municipal Corporations, see MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.
Navigation Improvement Companies, see NAVIGABLE WATERS.
Proprietors of Common Lands, see COMMON LANDS.
Railroad Companies, see RAILROADS.
Religious Societies, see RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES.
Salvage Companies, see SALVAGE.
State and Municipal Aid to Railroads, see COUNTIES; MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS; RAILROADS; TOWNS.
Street Railroad Companies, see STREET RAILROADS.
Surety Companies, see INSURANCE; PRINCIPAL AND SURETY.
Taxation of Corporations, see TAXATION.
Telegraph and Telephone Companies, see TELEGRAPHS AND TELEPHONES.
Trade Unions, see LABOR UNIONS.
Trust Companies, see BANKS AND BANKING.
Turnpike and Toll-Road Companies, see TOLL-ROADS.
Unincorporated Associations, see ASSOCIATIONS.
Warehouse Companies, see WAREHOUSEMEN.
Water Companies, see WATERS.

*The references to the Century Digest which appear in this article are put in by the publishers and not by the author, in pursuance of a plan which applies to the whole work. The use of these references is not intended to imply any deficiency in any article in this work, but the intention is to furnish the reader with different groupings of the decisions in a condensed form.

I. NATURE, KINDS, AND ORGANIZATION.

A. What Is a Corporation — 1. Definition[1] Suggested by Author. A corporation is a collection of natural persons, joined together by their voluntary action or by legal compulsion, by or under the authority of an act of the legislature, consisting either of a special charter or of a general permissive statute, to accomplish some purpose, pecuniary, ideal, or governmental, authorized by the charter or governing statute, under a scheme of organization, and by methods thereby prescribed or permitted; with the faculty of having a continuous succession during the period prescribed by the legislature for its existence, of having a corporate

1. As defined by the ancient common law a corporation is "a franchise created by the king, and is a body constituted by policy, with a capacity to take or to do." Central R., etc., Co. v. State, 54 Ga. 401, 406 [citing 4 Comyn Dig. 465].

Other definitions are as follows: "A legal institution devised to confer upon the individuals of which it is composed powers, privileges and immunities which they would not otherwise possess." Coyle v. McIntire, 7 Houst. (Del.) 44, 88, 30 Atl. 728, 40 Am. St. Rep. 109.

"An artificial person, created by the Legislature." South Carolina R. Co. v. McDonald, 5 Ga. 531, 535.

"An artificial being created by law, and composed of individuals who subsist as a body politic under a special denomination, with the capacity of perpetual succession, and of acting, within the scope of its charter, as a natural person." Fietsam v. Hay, 122 Ill. 293, 295, 13 N. E. 501, 3 Am. St. Rep. 492.

"A personification of certain legal rights under a description imposed upon it, by the power which created it." U. S. Bank v. State, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 456, 459.

"'A body politic or corporate, formed and authorized by law' to act as a single person." Bradley Fertilizer Co. v. South Pub. Co., 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 172, 176, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 675, 53 N. Y. St. 214 [quoting Imperial Dict.].

"A collection of individuals united in one body, under such a grant of privileges as secures a succession of members without changing the identity of the body, and constitutes the members for the time being one artificial person, or legal being, capable of transacting some kind of business like a natural person." People v. Watertown, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 616, 620 [quoted in Sandford v. New York, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 172; Niagara County v. People, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 504, 507].

"An artificial person created by law as the representative of those persons, natural or artificial, who contribute to, or become holders of shares in, the property entrusted to it for a common purpose." Gibbs' Estate, 157 Pa. St. 59, 69, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 120, 27 Atl. 383, 22 L. R. A. 276.

"An artificial person created by law for the purpose of becoming the business representative, agent or trustee of so many persons as may join to furnish the money with which the business to be done by the corporation may be carried on." Com. v. Fall Brook Coal Co., 156 Pa. St. 488, 494, 26 Atl. 1071.

"A creature of the law, having certain powers and duties of a natural person." Cal. Civ. Code, § 283 [quoted in San Luis Water Co. v. Estrada, 117 Cal. 168, 177, 48 Pac. 1075; Dean v. Davis, 51 Cal. 406, 410].

"An artificial person created by law for specific purposes, the limit of whose existence, powers and liabilities is fixed by the act of incorporation, usually called its charter." Ga. Code, § 1670 [quoted in Central R., etc., Co. v. State, 54 Ga. 401, 406].

"An intellectual body, created by law, composed of individuals united under a common name, the members of which succeed each other, so that the body continue always the same, notwithstanding the change of the individuals who compose it, and which, for certain purposes, is considered as a natural person." La. Civ. Code, art. 427 [quoted in State v. Kohnke, 109 La. 838, 33 So. 793].

"A legal person with a special name composed of such members and endorsed with such powers and such only as the law prescribes." 1 Dillon Mun. Corp. (3d ed.) § 18 [quoted in Coyle v. McIntire, 7 Houst. (Del.) 44, 88, 30 Atl. 728, 40 Am. St. Rep. 109; Andrews Bros. Co. v. Youngstown Coke Co., 10 Ohio Fed. Dec. 306, 311].

"A franchise possessed by one or more individuals who subsist as a body politic, under a special denomination, and are vested by the policy of the law with the capacity of perpetual succession, and of acting in several respects, however numerous the association may be, as a single individual." 2 Kent Comm. 295 [quoted in Porter v. Rockford, etc., R. Co., 76 Ill. 561, 573; State v. Payne, 129 Mo. 468, 478, 31 S. W. 797, 33 L. R. A. 576; Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. New York, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 261, 283].

"A collection of many individuals, united into one body, under a specific denomination, having perpetual succession under an artificial form, and vested, by the policy of the law, with the capacity of acting, in several respects, as an individual." 1 Kyd Corp. 13 [quoted in Phillips Academy v. King, 12 Mass. 546, 554; People v. North River Sugar Refining Co., 3 N. Y. Suppl. 401, 407, 19 N. Y. St. 853, 22 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 164; Warner v. Beers, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 103, 173; State v. Standard Oil Co., 49 Ohio St. 137, 178, 30 N. E. 279, 34 Am. St. Rep. 541, 15 L. R. A. 145; Toledo Bank v. Toledo, 1 Ohio name by which it may make and take contracts, and sue and be sued, and with the faculty of acting as a unit in respect of all matters within the scope of the purposes for which it is created.[2]

2. Definition of Chief Justice Marshall. The following definition of a corporation was given by Chief Justice Marshall in the celebrated Dartmouth College case:[3] "A corporation is an artificial being, invisible, intangible, and existing only in contemplation of law. Being the mere creature of law, it possesses only those properties which the charter of its creation confers upon it, either expressly or as incidental to its very existence. These are such as are supposed best calculated to effect the object for which it was created. Among the most important are immortality, and, if the expression may be allowed, individuality; properties by which a perpetual succession of many persons are considered as the same, and may act as a single individual. They enable a corporation to manage its own affairs, and to hold property without the perplexing intricacies, the hazardous and endless necessity, of perpetual conveyances for the purpose of transmitting it from hand to hand. It is chiefly for the purpose of clothing bodies of men, in succession, with these qualities and capacities, that corporations were invented, and are in use. By these means, a perpetual succession of individuals are capable of acting for the promotion of the particular object, like one immortal being."[4]

St. 622, 642; In re German Lutheran, etc., Church, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 12, 13].

2. This is substantially the author's definition in his work on the subject. 1 Thompson Corp. § 1.

3. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 636, 4 L. ed. 629.

4. The first part of this celebrated definition, ending with the words "incidental to its very existence," was quoted with approval by Taney, C. J., in Augusta Bank v. Earle, 13 Pet. (U. S.) 519, 587, 10 L. ed. 274.

The entire passage was quoted, arguendo, by Wayne, J., in giving the opinion of the court in Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Letson, 2 How. (U. S.) 497, 558, 11 L. ed. 353, in favor of the proposition that a corporation may be regarded as a "citizen" within the meaning of the federal constitution and Judiciary Act, for the purposes of federal jurisdiction founded upon diverse state citizenship. It was also quoted in the following cases:

Alabama.— Dillard v. Webb, 55 Ala. 468, 474.

Arkansas.— Ex p. Conway, 4 Ark. 302, 351.

Colorado.— Utley v. Clark-Gardner Lode Min. Co., 4 Colo. 369, 372.

Connecticut.— Coite v. Savings Soc., 32 Conn. 173, 185.

Delaware.—Higgins v. Downward, 8 Houst. 227, 240, 32 Atl. 133, 40 Am. St. Rep. 141; Coyle v. McIntire, 7 Houst. 44, 88, 30 Atl. 728, 40 Am. St. Rep. 109; Deringer v. Deringer, 5 Houst. 416, 429, 1 Am. St. Rep. 150.

Georgia.— Goldsmith v. Rome, etc., R. Co., 62 Ga. 463, 481.

Illinois.— Mather v. Ottawa, 114 Ill. 659, 664, 3 N. E. 216.

Indiana.— Cutshaw v. Fargo, 8 Ind. App. 691, 693, 34 N. E. 376, 36 N. E. 650.

Kansas.— State v. Stormont, 24 Kan. 686, 690 (holding that "immortality is a legitimate attribute to be conferred on a corporation"); Land Grant R., etc., Co. v. Coffey County, 6 Kan. 245, 253.

Maine.— Miller v. Ewer, 27 Me. 509, 518, 46 Am. Dec. 619.

Michigan.— Swan v. Williams, 2 Mich. 427, 433.

Nebraska.— Horbach v. Tyrrell, 48 Nebr. 514, 526, 67 N. W. 485, 489, 37 L. R. A. 434.

New Jersey.— Cole v. Bergen County Mut. Assur. Assoc., 26 N. J. L. 362, 365, holding that "the great object of an incorporation is to bestow the character and properties of personality and individuality upon the legal entity called the corporation, as distinct from the persons of the corporators."

New York.— Codd v. Rathbone, 19 N. Y. 37, 40 (holding that individuals engaged in carrying on the business of banking under the banking law of New York of 1838 are not corporations); Curtis v. Leavitt, 15 N. Y. 9, 209, 257; Gifford v. Livington, 2 Den. 380, 395 (in which Senator Hand adds his mite [might?] to the many attempts to define a corporation); Warner v. Beers, 23 Wend. 103, 124, 143 (dealing with definitions of a corporation); Thomas v. Dakin, 22 Wend. 9, 100 (referring especially to the quality of perpetual succession).

South Carolina.— McCandless v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 38 S. C. 103, 110, 16 S. E. 429, 18 L. R. A. 440 (adding that "one of the rights conceded in this country to corporations is that of being a person in the eyes of the law"); Charleston Ins., etc., Co. v. Sebring, 5 Rich. Eq. 342, 346 (dealing with the definitions of a corporation).

Texas.— Waterbury v. Laredo, 60 Tex. 519, 521.

Virginia.— Roanoke Gas Co. v. Roanoke, 88 Va. 810, 824, 14 S. E. 665.

West Virginia.—Richardson v. Clarksburg, 30 W. Va. 491, 494, 4 S. E. 774; Hope v. Valley City Salt Co., 25 W. Va. 789, 797.

3. A Collection of Natural Persons. The conception of Marshall that a corporation is "invisible, intangible, and existing only in contemplation of law" is a mere remnant of the mysticism of the middle ages. Corporations are but associations of individuals.[5]

4. A Joint-Stock Company May Be Regarded as a Corporation. In order that an aggregate body should be regarded as a corporation it is not necessary that it should be called such in its charter or governing statute.[6] For example an English joint-stock company may be regarded as a corporation for purposes of taxation in the United States.[7]

5. Resemblances and Differences Between Corporations and Joint-Stock Companies. The points of resemblance between corporations and joint-stock companies are: (1) That they both enjoy what is called perpetual succession, so that a transfer by any member of his shares, whereby a stranger is introduced into membership, does not work a dissolution of the body; (2) that they both act through the official agency of a board of directors, trustees, or governors, and that the individual members have no agency by virtue of their membership, which entitles them to act for the aggregate body.[8] Their chief points of difference are: (1) That a corporation generally brings and defends actions in its corporate name, while a joint-stock company sues and defends by the name of a designated officer empowered thereto.[9] (2) The members of a corporation are not liable for the debts of the company except under special circumstances and when made so by statute, whereas the members of a joint-stock company are in general liable as partners.[10] In short a joint-stock company is regarded in England as nothing

United States.— Waters-Pierce Oil Co. v. Texas, 177 U. S. 28, 44, 20 S. Ct. 518, 44 L. ed. 657; U. S. v. Stanford, 70 Fed. 346, 357 (per Gilbert, J.).

Canada.— Ulrich v. National Ins. Co., 42 U. C. Q. B. 141, 158.

5. Lumpkin, J., in Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412. In a joint-stock corporation these individuals are called shareholders. Lowe, J., in Gelpcke v. Blake, 19 Iowa 263.

6. For the purpose of being sued in New Jersey, a joint-stock company or association organized under the laws of New York, and having the capacity of suing by the name of its treasurer, was regarded as a corporation. Edgeworth v. Wood, 58 N. J. L. 463, 33 Atl. 940. To a similar effect see State v. Adams Express Co., 3 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 326, 2 Ohio N. P. 98.

For the purpose of a controversy with one of its own shareholders a joint-stock company has been so treated. Westcott v. Fargo, 6 Lans. (N. Y.) 319 [affirmed in 61 N. Y. 542, 19 Am. Rep. 300, holding that a shareholder might sue the company at law, which he could not do if it were to be regarded as a partnership]; Waterbury v. Merchants' Union Express Co., 50 Barb. (N. Y.) 157 (where the United States Express Company was treated as a corporation for this purpose).

For the purpose of removing suits, brought by or against it in a state court, into a court of the United States, on the ground of being a "citizen" of the state of New York without regard to the citizenship of its members a joint-stock company has been so treated. Fargo v. McVicker, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 437.

For the purpose of maintaining an action in a court of the United States on the ground of diverse state citizenship this has been held true. Fargo v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 6 Fed. 787, 10 Biss. 273; Maltz v. American Express Co., 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,002, 1 Flipp. 611.

7. Oliver v. Liverpool, etc., L., etc., Ins. Co., 100 Mass. 531 [affirmed in Liverpool, etc., L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Oliver, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 566, 19 L. ed. 1029].

What not necessary to the conception of a corporation.—A collection of individuals may be none the less a corporation, because such individuals may be personally liable for the debts of the collective body; because it has not been clothed with the capacity to sue and be sued in the corporate name, although such capacity is one of the usual incidents of a corporation; it is sufficient that it may sue and be sued by the name of a designated officer; or because the legislature has not, in its charter or governing statute, used the word "corporation." Liverpool, etc., L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Oliver, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 566, 19 L. ed. 1029 [affirming Oliver v. Liverpool, etc., L., etc., Ins. Co., 100 Mass. 531].

8. Burnes v. Pennell, 2 H. L. Cas. 497, 13 Jur. 597.

9. Taft v. Ward, 106 Mass. 518; Oliver v. Liverpool, etc., L., etc., Ins. Co., 100 Mass. 531; Bartlett v. Pentland, 1 B. & Ad. 704, 20 E. C. L. 657; Wormwell v. Hailstone, 6 Bing. 668, 8 L. J. C. P. O. S. 264, 4 M. & P. 512, 19 E. C. L. 301; Matter of Monmouthshire, etc., Banking Co., 2 De G. M. & G. 562, 51 Eng. Ch. 439; Harrison v. Pimmins, 7 Dowl. P. C. 28, 8 L. J. Exch. 94, 4 M. & W. 510; Wordsworth Joint Stock Cos. 66.

10. Frost v. Walker, 60 Me. 468; Whitman v. Porter, 107 Mass. 522; Bodwell v.

more or less than a numerous partnership having some of the features of an incorporated company,[11] and this is the generally accepted view in America.[12] Non-liability to creditors, however, is not a factor which determines this question; since, as will appear hereafter, in many corporations, by statute, the shareholders are liable to the creditors.[13]

6. DISTINCTION BETWEEN JOINT-STOCK CORPORATION AND SOCIETY. This distinction hardly needs to be adverted to further than to say that in England a guild, fraternity, or society is not necessarily a corporation, as it does not require a sovereign act for its creation.[14] Another distinction between a joint-stock corporation and an incorporated society relates to the question who or what constituencies are to be deemed the incorporated body. In the case of societies it is in many cases the trustees that are incorporated;[15] in the case of a municipal corporation it is usually the governing body, the mayor and common council, that is incorporated;[16] but in the case of joint-stock corporations it is the shareholders.

7. DISTINCTION BETWEEN CORPORATION AND PARTNERSHIP. The essential distinctions between a corporation and a partnership are: (1) A corporation possesses "perpetual succession," while a partnership does not; that is to say, the members of a corporation (and this applies to an unincorporated joint-stock company) may freely transfer their shares to outside persons, except so far as restrained from so doing by the terms of the charter or other constituent instrument, and thus introduce new members into the corporation in their stead, while in case of a partnership if a member retires from the firm or dies it works a dissolution. (2) In the case of a corporation the members are not agents for the incorporated body, unless specially clothed with power as such.[17] The shareholders act through a board which they create and cannot in general bind the corporation by their individual action, although all of them concur.[18] Whereas in a general partnership each member is an agent for the partnership with respect to all matters within the scope of the partnership business.[19] (3) The members of a general partnership are individually liable for the debts of the firm, jointly and severally; whereas, subject to statutory and special qualifications hereafter explained in this article, the members of a corporation are not so liable.[20]

8. CORPORATIONS MAY BE COMPOSED OF PARTNERSHIPS OR OF OTHER CORPORATIONS.[21]

Eastman, 106 Mass. 525; Taft v. Ward, 106 Mass. 518; Hoadley v. Essex County, 105 Mass. 519 (per Morton, J.); Oliver v. Liverpool, etc., L., etc., Ins. Co., 100 Mass. 531; Tyrrell v. Washburn, 6 Allen (Mass.) 466; Tappan v. Bailey, 4 Metc. (Mass.) 529; Dow v. Sayward, 12 N. H. 271; Townsend v. Goewey, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 424, 32 Am. Dec. 514; Williams v. Michigan Bank, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 539; Angell & A. Corp. § 591.

11. Ex p. Warkworth Dock Co., 18 Beav. 629.

12. Bullard v. Kinney, 10 Cal. 60; Taft v. Ward, 106 Mass. 518; Hoadley v. Essex County, 105 Mass. 519; Tyrrell v. Washburn, 6 Allen (Mass.) 466; Tappan v. Bailey, 4 Metc. (Mass.) 529; Wells v. Gates, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 554 (per Clerke, J.). Compare Woods v. De Figaniere, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 659; Opdyke v. Marble, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 266 [affirmed in 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 375]; People v. Watertown, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 616; Williams v. Michigan Bank, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 539; Livingston v. Lynch, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 573; Matter of Monmouthshire, etc., Banking Co., 2 De G. M. & G. 562, 51 Eng. Ch. 439; Harrison v. Pimmins, 7 Dowl. P. C. 28, 8 L. J. Exch. 94, 4 M. & W. 510.

13. What voluntary associations are not corporations see Davidson v. Hobson, 59 Mo. App. 130. That a joint-stock association brought into being wholly by the contract of its individual members is not a corporation see Gregg v. Sanford, 65 Fed. 151, 12 C. C. A. 525. See also, generally, JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES.

14. Robinson v. Groscot, Comb. 372; Rex v. Beardwell, 2 Keb. 52; Clements Inn Case, 1 Keb. 135; Y. B. 49 Edw. III, 4*b*.

15. Louisville v. Louisville University, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 642; Legrand v. Hampden Sidney College, 5 Munf. (Va.) 324.

16. Rex v. Chalk, Comb. 396.

17. Conro v. Port Henry Iron Co., 12 Barb. (N. Y.) 27; Dayton, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 1 Disn. (Ohio) 84, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 501; Dana v. U. S. Bank, 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 223.

18. Warner v. Mower, 11 Vt. 385. And the same is true of an incorporated society. Society for Illustration, etc. v. Abbott, 2 Beav. 559, 4 Jur. 453, 9 L. J. Ch. 307, 17 Eng. Ch. 559.

19. Galway v. Matthew, 1 Campb. 403, 10 East 264, 10 Rev. Rep. 289.

20. Liability of shareholders see infra, VIII.

21. Who may be corporators or members generally see infra, I, F.

It is not necessary that the shareholders of a joint-stock corporation should be individuals. Except where restrained by constitutional provisions or by statutes they may be collections of individuals, such as partnerships, private corporations,[22] or even municipal corporations.[23]

Who may become shareholders see infra, VI, G.

22. Evans v. Bailey, 66 Cal. 112, 4 Pac. 1089; Hill v. Nisbet, 100 Ind. 341; Booth v. Robinson, 55 Md. 419.

23. Alabama.— Ex p. Selma, etc., R. Co., 45 Ala. 696, 6 Am. Rep. 722; Gibbons v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 36 Ala. 410; Wetumpka v. Winter, 29 Ala. 651 (plank-road case); Stein v. Mobile, 24 Ala. 591.

California.— People v. San Francisco, 27 Cal. 655; People v. Coon, 25 Cal. 635; French v. Teschemaker, 24 Cal. 518; Robinson v. Bidwell, 22 Cal. 379; Hobart v. Butte County, 17 Cal. 23; Pattison v. Yuba County, 13 Cal. 175.

Connecticut.— Savings Soc. v. New London, 29 Conn. 174; Bridgeport v. Housatonic R. Co., 15 Conn. 475.

Florida.— Cotten v. Leon County, 6 Fla. 610.

Georgia.— Powers v. Dougherty County, 23 Ga. 65; Wiun v. Macon, 21 Ga. 275.

Illinois.— Keithburg v. Frick, 34 Ill. 405; Piatt v. People, 29 Ill. 54; Butler v. Dunham, 27 Ill. 474; Clarke v. Hancock County, 27 Ill. 305; Perkins v. Lewis, 24 Ill. 208; Johnson v. Stark County, 24 Ill. 75; Robertson v. Rockford, 21 Ill. 451; Prettyman v. Tazewell County, 19 Ill. 406, 71 Am. Dec. 230; Ryder v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 516.

Indiana.— Aurora v. West, 22 Ind. 88, 85 Am. Dec. 413; Bartholomew County v. Bright, 18 Ind. 93; Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Evansville, 15 Ind. 395; Aurora v. West, 9 Ind. 74.

Iowa.— Whittaker v. Johnson County, 10 Iowa 161; McMillen v. Lee County Judge, etc., 6 Iowa 391; McMillen v. Boyles, 6 Iowa 304; Ring v. Johnson County, 6 Iowa 265; Clapp v. Cedar County, 5 Iowa 15, 68 Am. Dec. 678; State v. Bissell, 4 Greene 328; Dubuque County v. Dubuque, etc., R. Co., 4 Greene 1.

Kansas.— Leavenworth County v. Miller, 7 Kan. 479, 12 Am. Rep. 425.

Kentucky.— Maddox v. Graham, 2 Metc. 56; Slack v. Maysville, etc., R. Co., 13 B. Mon. 1; Justices Clark County Ct. v. Paris, etc., Turnpike Co., 11 B. Mon. 143; Talbot v. Dent, 9 B. Mon. 526.

Louisiana.— Vicksburg, etc., R. Co. v. Ouachita Parish, 11 La. Ann. 649; Parker v. Scogin, 11 La. Ann. 629; New Orleans v. Graihee, 9 La. Ann. 561; Police Jury v. McDonough's Succession, 8 La. Ann. 341.

Maine.— Augusta Bank v. Augusta, 49 Me. 507.

Mississippi.— Strickland v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co. [cited in Williams v. Cammack, 27 Miss. 209, 224, 61 Am. Dec. 508].

Missouri.— St. Joseph, etc., R. Co. v. Buchanan County Ct., 39 Mo. 485; Flagg v. Palmyra, 33 Mo. 440; St. Louis v. Alexander, 23 Mo. 483.

New York.— People v. Mitchell, 35 N. Y. 551; Clarke v. Rochester, 28 N. Y. 605 [affirming 24 Barb. 446]; Starin v. Genoa, 23 N. Y. 439; Rome Bank v. Rome, 18 N. Y. 38; People v. Mitchell, 45 Barb. 208; Gould v. Venice, 29 Barb. 442; Benson v. Albany, 24 Barb. 248; Grant v. Courter, 24 Barb. 232.

North Carolina.—Caldwell v. Burke County Justices, 57 N. C. 323; Taylor v. Newberne, 55 N. C. 141, 64 Am. Dec. 566 (a navigation case).

Ohio.— State v. Goshen Tp., 14 Ohio St. 569; State v. Perrysburg, 14 Ohio St. 472; Knox County v. Nichols, 14 Ohio St. 260; State v. Hancock County, 12 Ohio St. 596; State v. Union Tp., 8 Ohio St. 394; State v. Van Horne, 7 Ohio St. 327; Thompson v. Kelly, 2 Ohio St. 647; Cass v. Dillon, 2 Ohio St. 607; Steubenville, etc., R. Co. v. North Tp., 1 Ohio St. 105; Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Clinton County, 1 Ohio St. 77.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Perkins, 43 Pa. St. 400; Com. v. Pittsburgh, 41 Pa. St. 278; Com. v. Allegheny County, 32 Pa. St. 218; Moers v. Reading, 21 Pa. St. 188; Sharpless v. Philadelphia, 21 Pa. St. 147, 59 Am. Dec. 759; Com. v. McWilliams, 11 Pa. St. 61 (a turnpike case); Harvey v. Lloyd, 3 Pa. St. 331.

South Carolina.— State v. Charleston, 10 Rich. 491.

Tennessee.— Campbell County Justices v. Knoxville, etc., R., Coldw. 598; Byrd v. Ralston, 3 Head 477; Hord v. Rogersville, etc., R. Co., 3 Head 208; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Davidson County, 1 Sneed 637, 62 Am. Dec. 424; Nichol v. Nashville, 9 Humphr. 252.

Virginia.— Langhorne v. Robinson, 20 Gratt. 661; Harrison County Justices v. Holland, 3 Gratt. 247; Goddin v. Crump, 8 Leigh 120; In re County Levy Case, 5 Call 139.

Wisconsin.— Bushnell v. Beloit, 10 Wis. 195; Clark v. Janesville, 10 Wis. 136.

United States.— Kenosha v. Lamson, 9 Wall. 477, 19 L. ed. 725; Lee County v. Rogers, 7 Wall. 181, 19 L. ed. 160; U. S. v. Keokuk, 6 Wall. 518, 18 L. ed. 918; U. S. v. Keokuk, 6 Wall. 514, 18 L. ed. 933; Weber v. Lee County, 6 Wall. 210, 18 L. ed. 781; U. S. v. Johnson County, 6 Wall. 166, 18 L. ed. 768; Von Hoffman v. Quincy, 4 Wall. 535, 18 L. ed. 403; Larned v. Burlington, 4 Wall. 275, 18 L. ed. 353; Mitchell v. Burlington, 4 Wall. 270, 18 L. ed. 350; Rogers v. Burlington, 3 Wall. 654, 18 L. ed. 79; Thompson v. Lee County, 3 Wall. 327, 18 L. ed. 177; Havemeyer v. Iowa County, 3 Wall. 294, 18 L. ed. 38; Sheboygan County v. v. Parker, 3 Wall. 93, 18 L. ed. 33; Myer v. Muscatine, 1 Wall. 384, 17 L. ed. 564; Von

9. Corporations Sole. Corporations sole may be here referred to merely for the purposes of distinction, with the statement that corporations of this character are anomalous, at least in the United States, and that a consideration of their peculiarities does not fall within the scope of this article.[24]

10. Definitions of Corporations in State Constitutions. In many of the state constitutions, in which restraints have been imposed upon the legislature with respect to corporations, and in which prohibitions and regulations have been directly imposed upon them, it has been thought necessary to define the word "corporation" as used in the particular constitution. The term as used in several recent constitutions is to be construed as meaning any association or joint-stock company exercising powers and privileges not possessed by partnerships or individuals.[25]

B. Ordinary Powers and Characteristics of a Corporation — 1. General Statement. The ordinary powers of corporations are: (1) Perpetual succession. (2) To sue and be sued, and to receive and grant, by their corporate name. (3) To purchase and hold lands and chattels. (4) To have a common seal. (5) To make by-laws. Some of these powers are incident to a corporation, but they are all, generally, expressly given by statute in this country.[26]

2. Perpetual Succession — Immortality. It is frequently said that one of the attributes of a corporation aggregate is immortality.[27] Most of the charters of private corporations provide in terms that they shall have "perpetual succession," and general statutes governing the organization of corporations frequently contain the same provision. This means in a general sense that the corporation is endowed with the faculty of existing forever, unless the same or another statute or the constitution has fixed a limit to the term of its existence. In other words the term "perpetual succession" is understood to mean indefiniteness of duration.[28] It has been held that these words "perpetual succession" do not refer to

Hostrup v. Madison City, 1 Wall. 291, 17 L. ed. 538; Seibert v. Pittsburg, 1 Wall. 272, 17 L. ed. 553; Gelpcke v. Dubuque, 1 Wall. 175, 17 L. ed. 520; Mercer County v. Hackett, 1 Wall. 83, 17 L. ed. 548; Moran v. Miami County, 2 Black 722, 17 L. ed. 342; Woods v. Lawrence County, 1 Black 386, 17 L. ed. 122; Knox County v. Aspinwall, 24 How. 376, 16 L. ed. 735; Amey v. Allegheny City, 24 How. 364, 16 L. ed. 614; Bissell v. Jeffersonville, 24 How. 287, 16 L. ed. 664; Zabriskie v. Cleveland, etc., R. Co., 23 How. 381, 16 L. ed. 488; Knox County v. Wallace, 21 How. 546, 16 L. ed. 211; Knox County v. Aspinwall, 21 How. 539, 16 L. ed. 208.

The state may be the sole shareholder in a corporation, of which numerous examples were shown in the state banks of a former day. For example see State v. State Bank, 1 S. C. 63, in which case the state was deemed to have pro hac vice, divested itself of a portion of its sovereignty and taken the position that a private person or corporation would have occupied as a shareholder. See also U. S. Bank v. Planters' Bank, 9 Wheat. (U. S.) 904, 6 L. ed. 244. Compare Curran v. Arkansas, 15 How. (U. S.) 304, 14 L. ed. 705.

24. See 1 Thompson Corp. § 8.

25. Idaho.— Const. (1899), art. 11, § 16.
Kentucky.— Const. (1891), § 208.
Louisiana.— Const. (1898), art. 268.
Mississippi.— Const. (1890), § 199.
New York.— Const. (1894), art. 8, § 3.
North Carolina.— Const. (1901), art. 8, § 3.
North Dakota.— Const. (1889), § 144.
South Dakota.— Const. (1889), art. 17, § 19.
Utah.— Const. (1895), art. 12, § 4.
For other constitutional provisions defining the word "corporation" as used in the particular constitution see:
1 Thompson Corp. § 567.
Alabama.— Const. (1875), art. 13, § 13.
California.— Const. (1879), art. 12, § 4.
Kansas.— Const. (1859), art. 12, § 6, in substance.
Michigan.— Const. (1850), art. 15, § 11, in substance.
Minnesota.— Const. (1857), art. 10, § 1.
Missouri.— Const. (1875), art. 12, § 11, in substance.
Montana.— Const. (1889), art. 15, § 18.
North Carolina.— Const. (1876), art. 8, § 3.
Pennsylvania.— Const. (1873), art. 16, § 13.
Washington.— Const. (1889–1890), art. 12, § 5, in substance.

26. McLean, J., in Falconer v. Campbell, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,620, 2 McLean 195, 198.

27. Fuller v. Plainfield Academic School, 6 Conn. 532.

28. State v. Stormont, 24 Kan. 686; Krutz v. Paola Town Co., 20 Kan. 397; Fairchild v. Masonic Hall Assoc., 71 Mo. 526; Steadman v. Merchants', etc., Bank, 69 Tex. 50, 6 S. W. 675.

length of time, but rather convey the idea of regularity or unbroken continuity of existence.[29]

3. In What Sense a "Person." For many, perhaps most, purposes a corporation is in law an ideal person. It is regarded as a unit for most purposes of legal procedure. It makes and takes contracts by its corporate name and in that name it sues and is sued. The word "person" in a statute may be construed to refer to a corporation as well as to a natural person.[30] Accordingly a corporation has been held to be embraced within the words of the statute of Anne, reënacted in the various American states, which provides that "all notes in writing made and signed by any person, whereby he shall promise to pay to another person, or his order," etc., "shall be negotiable," etc. Here the word "person" includes a corporation, and accordingly a note made payable to a corporation is by force of this statute negotiable.[31] So the word "debtor" in a statute authorizing assignments for creditors may include corporations,[32] at least corporations engaged in banking,[33] and statutes giving liens to mechanics and materialmen extend to corporations, although corporations are not named in the statute.[34] Corporations, both foreign and domestic, are deemed "persons" within the meaning of statutes giving remedies by attachment and garnishment.[35] So a corporation is a "person" within the meaning of statutes relating to the assessment and collection of taxes.[36] And this rule applies to foreign corporations.[37] So statutes of limitation apply to corporations, although not expressly named therein, in like manner as to individuals,[38] and the word "persons" when used in a statute applies to foreign corporations when it can be applied to them as well as to natural persons residing without the

29. Scanlan v. Crawshaw, 5 Mo. App. 337.

30. Wales v. Muscatine, 4 Iowa 302; U. S. Telegraph Co. v. Western Union Tel. Co., 56 Barb. (N. Y.) 46; Cary v. Marston, 56 Barb. (N. Y.) 27; People v. Utica Ins. Co., 15 Johns. (N. Y.) 358, 8 Am. Dec. 243.

31. Planters', etc., Bank v. Andrews, 8 Port. (Ala.) 404; Douglass v. Pacific Mail Steamship Co., 4 Cal. 304; Gaskell v. Beard, 58 Hun (N. Y.) 101, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 399, 33 N. Y. St. 852; Indiana v. Woram, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 33, 40 Am. Dec. 378.

32. South Carolina R. Co. v. McDonald, 5 Ga. 531 (is a "person," "party," "defendant," "debtor," within the meaning of an attachment law); Hutchinson v. Green, 91 Mo. 367, 1 S. W. 853; Chew v. Ellingwood, 86 Mo. 260, 56 Am. Rep. 429; Shockley v. Fisher, 75 Mo. 498; Shultz v. Sutter, 3 Mo. App. 137.

33. Tripp v. Northwestern Nat. Bank, 41 Minn. 400, 43 N. W. 60.

34. Loudon v. Coleman, 59 Ga. 653; Stout v. McLachlin, 38 Kan. 120, 15 Pac. 902; Fagan v. Boyle Ice Mach. Co., 65 Tex. 324; Doane v. Clinton, 2 Utah 417.

35. Connecticut.— Bray v. Wallingford, 20 Conn. 416; Knox v. Protection Ins. Co., 9 Conn. 430, 25 Am. Dec. 33.

Georgia.— South Carolina R. Co. v. McDonald, 5 Ga. 531.

Illinois.— Mineral Point R. Co. v. Keep, 22 Ill. 9, 74 Am. Dec. 124.

Pennsylvania.— Bushel v. Commonwealth Ins. Co., 15 Serg. & R. 173.

Virginia.— Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Gallahue, 12 Gratt. 655, 65 Am. Dec. 254.

Compare Burns v. Provincial Ins. Co., 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 525, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 425.

It comes within the designation of "debtor" and "creditor" employed in such statutes. South Carolina R. Co. v. McDonald, 5 Ga. 531; Union Bank v. U. S. Bank, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 369.

That corporations are liable to attachment see Planters', etc., Bank v. Andrews, 8 Port. (Ala.) 404; Hazard v. Mississippi Agricultural Bank, 11 Rob. (La.) 326; Martin v. Alabama Branch Bank, 14 La. 415.

That the right of a foreign corporation to a sheriff's deed conveying land is an attachable chose in action see Wright v. Douglass, 2 N. Y. 373.

Garnishment.— Under the operation of this principle of interpretation, as well as of expressed statutes, a corporation may be summoned as garnishee, answering by its appropriate officer, or by an officer designated by statute. Clark v. Chapman, 45 Ga. 486; Boyd v. Chesapeake, etc., Canal Co., 17 Md. 195, 79 Am. Dec. 646; St. Louis Perpetual Ins. Co. v. Cohen, 9 Mo. 421; Everdell v. Sheboygan, etc., R. Co., 41 Wis. 395; Pierce v. Milwaukee Constr. Co., 38 Wis. 253; Ballston Spa Bank v. Marine Bank, 18 Wis. 490.

36. People v. Utica Ins. Co., 15 Johns. (N. Y.) 358, 8 Am. Dec. 243. See also Rex v. Gardner, 2 Coke Inst. 703, 1 Cowp. 79.

37. Boston Loan Co. v. Boston, 137 Mass. 332; British Commercial L. Ins. Co. v. New York Tax, etc., Com'rs, 31 N. Y. 32, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 118, 28 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 41.

38. State v. Central Pac. R. Co., 10 Nev. 47; Robinson v. Imperial Silver Min. Co., 5 Nev. 44 [overruling Chollar-Potosi Min. Co. v. Kennedy, 3 Nev. 361, 93 Am. Dec. 409]; Rathbun v. Northern Cent. R. Co., 50 N. Y. 656; Olcott v. Tioga R. Co., 20 N. Y. 210, 75 Am. Dec. 393 [overruling Faulkner v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 1 Den. (N. Y.) 441].

state, as for example in statutes of limitation.[39] Corporations are sometimes, although not generally, included by implication in the terms of statutes denouncing penalties, although not expressly named therein; such for example as a statute prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors.[40]

4. In What Sense a "Citizen." By judicial construction of the constitution of the United States[41] and of the Federal Judiciary Act[42] a corporation is a "citizen," for the purposes of federal jurisdiction,[43] of the state by which its charter has been granted, or under whose laws it has been created — and this without regard to the residence of the shareholders or members who compose the corporation.[44] When a corporation chartered by or created under the laws of a foreign state is sued in a state court, it may therefore remove the cause to the circuit court of the United States in like manner as a non-resident citizen may, without regard to the question of the residence of its shareholders or members.[45] But it is a settled principle of constitutional law that a corporation is not a citizen within the meaning of that clause of the constitution of the United States[46] which declares that "the citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States."[47]

C. Names of Corporations[48] — 1. Importance and Necessity of Corporate Name. Names are necessary to the very existence of corporations. The corporate name has been said to be "the very being of the constitution; the knot of their combination, without which they could not do their corporate acts; for it is unable to plead and be impleaded, to take and give, until it hath gotten a name."[49]

39. Olcott v. Tioga R. Co., 20 N. Y. 210, 75 Am. Dec. 393 [overruling Faulkner v. Delaware, etc., R. Co., 1 Den. (N. Y.) 441, and followed in Thompson v. Tioga, R. Co., 36 Barb. (N. Y.) 79]. So under the code of Kansas. North Missouri R. Co. v. Akers, 4 Kan. 453, 96 Am. Dec. 183.

40. Stewart v. Waterloo Turn Verein, 71 Iowa 226, 32 N. W. 275, 60 Am. Rep. 786.

41. U. S. Const. art. 3, § 2.

42. Judiciary Act of 1789, 11; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1872), § 629.

43. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Dickinson, 40 Ind. 444, 13 Am. Rep. 295; Herryford v. Ætna Ins. Co., 42 Mo. 148; Nashua, etc., R. Corp. v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 136 U. S. 356, 10 S. Ct. 1004, 34 L. ed. 363; Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Wheeler, 1 Black (U. S.) 286, 17 L. ed. 130; Covington Drawbridge Co. v. Shepherd, 20 How. (U. S.) 227, 15 L. ed. 896; Marshall v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 16 How. (U. S.) 314, 14 L. ed. 953; Rundle v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 14 How. (U. S.) 80, 14 L. ed. 335; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Letson, 2 How. (U. S.) 497, 11 L. ed. 353 [overruling U. S. Bank v. Deveaux, 5 Cranch (U. S.) 61, 3 L. ed. 38; Strawbridge v. Curtiss, 3 Cranch (U. S.) 267, 2 L. ed. 435]; Booth v. St. Louis Fire-Engine Mfg. Co., 40 Fed. 1; Maltz v. American Express Co., 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,002, 1 Flipp. 611.

44. Stevens v. Phœnix Ins. Co., 41 N. Y. 149; Minot v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,645, 2 Abb. 323; Hatch v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,204, 6 Blatchf. 105.

Distinction between citizenship and residence of corporations.— The citizenship here spoken of must not be confounded with residence, for the purposes of jurisdiction, as dependent on venue. While a corporation can only be in the theory of the law for the purposes of federal jurisdiction a citizen of the state under whose charter or laws it has been created, for the purposes of jurisdiction as dependent upon venue, or the place where sued, it may become a resident of another state. Bank of North America v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 82 Ill. 493; Bristol v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 15 Ill. 436.

45. Hobbs v. Manhattan Ins. Co., 56 Me. 417, 96 Am. Dec. 472. To the same effect is Morton v. New York Mut. L. Ins. Co., 105 Mass. 141, 7 Am. Rep. 505; Knorr v. Home Ins. Co., 25 Wis. 143, 3 Am. Rep. 26.

46. U. S. Const. art. 4, § 2.

47. Ducat v. Chicago, 48 Ill. 172, 95 Am. Dec. 529; Tatem v. Wright, 23 N. J. L. 429; People v. Imlay, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 68; Wheeden v. Camden, etc., R. etc., Co., 2 Phila. (Pa.) 23, 13 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 12.

48. Names of corporations in actions see infra, XXII, D, 2, a, (I) et seq.

Misnomer of corporations in pleading see 1 Thompson Corp. § 291 et seq.; Pleading.

Misnomer of corporations in written obligations see 1 Thompson Corp. § 294.

Misnomer of corporations in wills see infra, 1 Thompson Corp. § 295.

49. 2 Bacon Abr. Corporations (C) [quoted in Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank Road Co., 30 Ala. 650, 664].

When name need not be given in patent of incorporation.— It does not follow from the above that it is necessary in every case that the name of the corporation should be mentioned in the patent or charter, although this is usual. For example it is said that the inhabitants of Dale might be incorporated without the name of the corporation being stated in the patent, in which case they would be known by the name of the Mayor and Commonalty of Dale. Anonymous, 1 Salk. 191. So where natural persons are allowed to form

2. CORPORATE NAMES MAY BE ACQUIRED BY USAGE AND REPUTATION. So far from it being strictly necessary that the name of a corporation should be stated in its charter or other instrument of incorporation, corporations may hold and take property by names acquired by usage and reputation merely,[50] and, although the name of a corporation has been changed by an act of the legislature, if the corporation continues to conduct its business in its original name and otherwise exclusively uses that name after the passage of the act it may by usage regain such original name, and can be lawfully sued and proceeded against in bankruptcy by that name.[51]

3. CORPORATE NAMES NOT STRICTLY FRANCHISES BUT PROTECTED IN EQUITY LIKE TRADE-MARKS. While the name of a corporation is not in strictness a franchise, yet the exclusive right to its use may be protected in equity by the writ of injunction by analogy to the protection of trade-marks, just as the name of an individual, a partnership, or a voluntary association may be so protected;[52] and themselves into a corporation under general enabling statutes by complying with certain forms and conditions they frequently take to themselves a corporate name at pleasure. See Minot v. Curtis, 7 Mass. 441; Falconer v. Campbell, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,620, 2 McLean 195.

Distinction between names of natural persons and of corporations.—It has been pointed out that, whereas the alteration of a letter or the transposition of a word in the name of a natural person may make a totally different name, yet where the name of a corporation consists of special descriptive words, the transposition of them, an interpolation among them, an omission from them, or an alteration of some of them may make no essential difference in their sense, and that the altered name may still be regarded as the name of the corporation. Newport Mechanics' Mfg. Co. v. Starbird, 10 N. H. 123, 34 Am. Dec. 145, per Upham, J.

50. Alabama.— Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank Road Co., 30 Ala. 650, holding that a corporation may acquire a name by usage.

Connecticut.— South School Dist. v. Blakeslee, 13 Conn. 227.

Massachusetts.— Episcopal Charitable Soc. v. Dedham Episcopal Church, 1 Pick. 372.

New Hampshire.— Society for Propagating Gospel v. Young, 2 N. H. 310.

New Jersey.—Alexander v. Berney, 28 N. J. Eq. 90.

England.— Reg. v. Joint Stock Companies, 10 Q. B. 839, 59 E. C. L. 839; Ayray's Case, 11 Coke 18*b*; Rex v. Morris, 1 Ld. Raym. 337; Dutch West-India Co. v. Van Moses, 1 Str. 612.

When a corporation receiving a new charter retains its old name see Reg. v. Ipswich, 2 Ld. Raym. 1232.

51. Alexander v. Berney, 28 N. J. Eq. 90.

52. Connecticut.— Hygeia Distilled Water Co. v. Hygeia Ice Co., 72 Conn. 646, 45 Atl. 957, 49 L. R. A. 147; Holmes v. Holmes, etc., Mfg. Co., 37 Conn. 278, 9 Am. Rep. 324.

District of Columbia.— Morrow v. Edwards, 20 D. C. 475, 20 Wash. L. Rep. 230.

Illinois.— Young Woman's Christian Assoc. v. International Committee of Young Woman's Christian Assoc., 86 Ill. App. 607; German Hanoverian, etc., Coach House Assoc. of America v. Oldenberg Coach House Assoc. of America, 46 Ill. App. 281.

Iowa.— Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. v. Graham, 96 Iowa 592, 65 N. W. 837, 31 L. R. A. 133.

Massachusetts.—American Order of Scottish Clans v. Merrill, 151 Mass. 558, 24 N. E. 918, 8 L. R. A. 320, in the absence of statute.

Michigan.— Lamb Knit Goods Co. v. Lamb Glove, etc., Co., 120 Mich. 159, 78 N. W. 1072, 44 L. R. A. 841.

Missouri.— Plant Seed Co. v. Mitchell Plant, etc., Co., 23 Mo. App. 579, 37 Mo. App. 313.

New Jersey.— St. Patrick's Alliance of America v. Byrne, (1899) 44 Atl. 716.

New York.— Higgins Co. v. Higgins Soap Co., 144 N. Y. 462, 39 N. E. 490, 43 Am. St. Rep. 769, 27 L. R. A. 42 [reversing 71 Hun 101, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 801, 54 N. Y. St. 89]; Society of War of 1812 v. Society of War of 1812, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 568, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 355.

Pennsylvania.— Ft. Pitt Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Model Plan Bldg., etc., Assoc., 159 Pa. St. 308, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. 457, 28 Atl. 215; New York Belting, etc., Co. v. Goodyear Rubber Hose, etc., Co., 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 493.

Rhode Island.—Aiello v. Montecalfo, 21 R. I. 496, 44 Atl. 931; Armington v. Palmer, 21 R. I. 109, 42 Atl. 308, 79 Am. St. Rep. 786, 43 L. R. A. 95.

Tennessee.— Ex p. Walker, 1 Tenn. Ch. 97.

United States.— Investor Pub. Co. v. Dobinson, 72 Fed. 603; R. W. Rogers Co. v. Wm. Rogers Mfg. Co., 70 Fed. 1017, 17 C. C. A. 576; Le Page Co. v. Russia Cement Co., 51 Fed. 941, 2 C. C. A. 555, 17 L. R. A. 354; Celluloid Mfg. Co. v. Cellonite Mfg. Co., 32 Fed. 94; Newby v. Oregon Cent. R. Co., 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,144, Deady 609.

England.— Tussaud v. Tussaud, 44 Ch. D. 678, 59 L. J. Ch. 631, 62 L. T. Rep. N. S. 633, 2 Meg. 120, 38 Wkly. Rep. 503; Hendriks v. Montagu, 17 Ch. D. 638, 50 L. J. Ch. 456, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 879, 30 Wkly. Rep. 160; Massam v. Thorley's Cattle Food Co., 14 Ch. D. 748, 42 L. T. Rep. N. S. 851, 28 Wkly. Rep. 966; Merchant Banking Co. v. Merchants' Joint Stock Bank, 9 Ch. D. 560, 47 L. J. Ch. 828, 26 Wkly. Rep. 847.

the absence of a fraudulent intent is no defense to an action for such relief.[53] It seems that this principle does not extend so far as to give a foreign corporation a standing in a domestic court to contest the right of a domestic corporation to use the name given to it by the domestic state in its articles of incorporation;[54] nor on the other hand does it extend so far as to allow a domestic corporation to contest the right of a foreign corporation doing business in a domestic state to the use of its own corporate name,[55] especially where the governing statute of the domestic state, prohibiting the use of similar names of corporations, uses the expression "a corporation of this State."[56] This doctrine, which seems to obtain generally both in England and America, that a corporation will not be allowed

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 137.

Right of voluntary society to restrain unauthorized use of name see ASSOCIATIONS, 4 Cyc. 304, note 21.

In England such a restraining order can be avoided by defendant by giving an undertaking not to carry on business in the threatened name, but to assume another name which will not lead to confusion. Guardian F., etc., Assur. Co. v. Guardian, etc., Ins. Co., 50 L. J. Ch. 253, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 791.

The supreme court may enter the proper decree disposing of the whole case where it has the whole matter before it as matter of record. Ft. Pitt Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Model Plan Bldg., etc., Assoc., 159 Pa. St. 308, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 457, 28 Atl. 215.

Organization in name calculated to deceive. — That a new company which organizes in a name so nearly resembling the name of a competing company as to deceive the public is within the provision of the English Companies Act (1892), § 20, which provides that no company shall be registered under a name identical with that under which an existing company is already registered, "or so resembling the same as to be calculated to deceive," see Manchester Brewery Co. v. North Cheshire, etc., Brewery Co., [1898] 1 Ch. 539, 67 L. J. Ch. 351, 78 L. T. Rep. N. S. 537, 46 Wkly. Rep. 515.

Right to reincorporate under same name which is similar to that of existing corporation. — The statutory right to reincorporate under the same name is not affected by the fact that the name is similar to that of an existing corporation (People v. Payn, 161 N. Y. 229, 55 N. E. 849 [affirming 43 N. Y. App. Div. 621, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 1146 (affirming 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 275, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 851)]), and the New York statute granting this right applies to a mutual benefit fraternity (People v. Payn, 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 275, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 851).

Right to use name on purchase of plant, etc. — That the purchase of the plant, etc., of a corporation does not give the right to take the name of the corporation, although it does give the right to take the name of the articles which were manufactured by it, and that the vote of a corporation, which is voluntary and without consideration, to assign the right to use the corporate name to a new corporation which has previously purchased the plant of the corporation so voting, is ineffectual as against the dissenting minority of shareholders see Armington v. Palmer, 21 R. I. 109, 42 Atl. 308, 79 Am. St. Rep. 786, 43 L. R. A. 95.

Effect on subscribers of change of name. — That a change in the name of a proposed corporation by reason of the fact that the secretary of state refuses, under the statute, to receive and file the certificate of incorporation because the name infringes that of another domestic corporation does not release subscribers to the shares to the corporation where the purposes of the corporation remain the same see Yonkers Gazette Co. v. Taylor, 30 N. Y. App. Div. 334, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 969. And, generally, that subscriptions to the shares of corporations are not released by the fact that the name of the corporation is subsequently changed see Reading v. Wedder, 66 Ill. 80; Com. v. Pittsburgh, 41 Pa. St. 278.

53. Armington v. Palmer, 21 R. I. 109, 42 Atl. 308, 79 Am. St. Rep. 786, 43 L. R. A. 95.

That the rule governing trade-marks should not be applied with strictness in actions to restrain the use of a similar corporate name was held in Colonial Dames of America v. Colonial Dames of New York, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 10, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 302, in which case an injunction was refused in the case of a society or societies organized for ideal purposes, where the only confusion was the miscarriage of mails.

54. Hazelton Boiler Co. v. Hazelton Tripod Boiler Co., 142 Ill. 494, 30 N. E. 339; Continental F. Ins. Co. v. Continental F. Assoc., 101 Fed. 255, 41 C. C. A. 326.

A federal court will not interfere to prevent the organization of a corporation, under the statute of the state where such court is located, hearing the same name as a corporation organized under the laws of another state, at the suit of the latter. Lehigh Valley Coal Co. v. Hamblen, 23 Fed. 225.

May protest against granting such name. — In Pennsylvania, however, a foreign corporation doing business in that state will be allowed to enter a protest with the executive department of the state government against granting a charter under a name which infringes its corporate name. In re Bradley Fertilizer Co., 6 Pa. Dist. 423, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 271.

55. International Trust Co. v. International L. & T. Co., 153 Mass. 271, 26 N. E. 693, 10 L. R. A. 758.

56. People v. Home L. Assur. Co., 111 Mich. 405, 69 N. W. 653.

the use of a name which infringes and conflicts with the name of a domestic corporation already existing is denied in Massachusetts, substantially on the ground that the name of a corporation is in the nature of a franchise and that the certificate of the secretary of state, made in compliance with a statute, whereby a corporation is formed under a name stated therein, is conclusive, not only of the right to be a corporation but also of the right of the incorporators to use that name as their corporate name.[57] A distinction has been taken in this respect between corporations formed under general laws, where the corporate name is voluntarily assumed, and corporations created by special acts of legislation which fix the name of the corporation; with the conclusion that in the latter case the corporate name can no more be annulled in a private proceeding than can its franchise to be a corporation.[58] But the general doctrine unquestionably is that the action of the secretary of state or other state officer in this respect is not conclusive, and that a court of equity may by injunction protect the right of an existing company to the exclusive use of its corporate name.[59] The doctrine, prior in time, prior in right, prevails; so that the body which first becomes entitled to use a particular corporate name will be protected in the use of that name as against another body, incorporating at a later period and assuming the same name.[60] The rule extends so far that a person may be enjoined from using his own name, where he has caused it to be embodied in the name of a corporation for the purpose of dishonestly imposing upon the public his own goods as the goods of another existing corporation using the same or a similar name,[61] in which case he may be enjoined from stamping his goods with the corporate name which he has thus assisted in assuming.[62] It will be no defense to an application for such an injunction that plaintiff is engaged in an unlawful business, since this question is not properly raised in a collateral proceeding, but should be left to be determined in a proceeding by the state against the offending body.[63]

4. Circumstances Under Which Injunctive Relief Not Granted. By analogy to a principle in the law of trade-marks,[64] an injunction will not be granted at the

57. American Order of Scottish Clans v. Merrill, 151 Mass. 558, 24 N. E. 918, 8 L. R. A. 320; Boston Rubber Shoe Co. v. Boston Rubber Co., 149 Mass. 436, 21 N. E. 875; Rice v. Commonwealth Nat. Bank, 126 Mass. 300. Contra, in England. Tussaud v. Tussaud, 44 Ch. D. 678, 59 L. J. Ch. 631, 62 L. T. Rep. N. S. 633, 2 Meg. 120, 38 Wkly. Rep. 503; Hendriks v. Montagu, 17 Ch. D. 638, 50 L. J. Ch. 456, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 879, 30 Wkly. Rep. 160.

58. Paulino v. Portuguese Beneficial Assoc., 18 R. I. 165, 26 Atl. 36, 20 L. R. A. 272.

The distinction embodies this fallacy: That if the right of the second corporation to use the name which the legislature has conferred upon it as a part of its franchise exists, then the same right to the exclusive use of this name resides in the prior corporation; and on the same grounds the franchise thus conferred on the prior corporation to use the particular name is a grant from the state which, when accepted by the incorporators, becomes an inviolable contract, protected as such by the constitution of the United States under the doctrine of the Dartmouth College case: Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629. The second legislative grant, in so far as it infringes that right, is therefore absolutely void, and the prior corporation has the plain right to have an injunction under such circumstances and ought not to be left to the support of the discretionary action of the state's officer who may feel himself bound by the action of the state legislature in making the second grant.

59. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. v. Graham, 96 Iowa 592, 65 N. W. 837, 31 L. R. A. 133; Cincinnati Vici Shoe Co. v. Cincinnati Shoe Co., 9 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 579, 7 Ohio N. P. 135.

60. German Hanoverian, etc., Coach House Assoc. of America v. Oldenberg Coach House Assoc. of America, 46 Ill. App. 281.

61. Wm. Rogers Mfg. Co. v. Simpson, 54 Conn. 527, 9 Atl. 395; Rogers v. Rogers, 53 Conn. 121, 1 Atl. 807, 5 Atl. 675, 55 Am. Rep. 78; El Modello Cigar Mfg. Co. v. Gato, 25 Fla. 886, 7 So. 23, 23 Am. St. Rep. 537, 6 L. R. A. 823; R. W. Rogers Co. v. Wm. Rogers Mfg. Co., 70 Fed. 1017, 17 C. C. A. 576; Wm. Rogers Mfg. Co. v. Rogers, etc., Mfg. Co., 11 Fed. 495.

62. R. W. Rogers Co. v. Wm. Rogers Mfg. Co., 70 Fed. 1017, 17 C. C. A. 576 [affirming 66 Fed. 56]. Somewhat to the same effect and embodying the same doctrine see Wm. Rogers Mfg. Co. v. Rogers, etc., Mfg. Co., 11 Fed. 495.

63. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. v. Graham, 96 Iowa 592, 65 N. W. 837, 31 L. R. A. 133.

64. See with reference to this principle Bolander v. Peterson, 136 Ill. 215, 26 N. E. 603, 11 L. R. A. 350; Candee v. Deere, 54 Ill.

suit of one corporation to restrain another corporation from the use of a corporate name descriptive of a place or of an employment, there being no fraud or intent to deceive.[65] So a foreign corporation named the "Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation, Limited" could not assert as against a domestic corporation the right to the exclusive use of the words "Employers' Liability," although confusion might result, the words being descriptive of the well-known business.[66] Again one corporation cannot have an injunction restraining another corporation in the use of its corporate name, on the ground that the latter corporation has forfeited its franchise, this being a question which can be raised only in a proceeding instituted by the state.[67] Nor will a corporation be protected in the use of the name of a voluntary association organized previously to the organization of the corporation, as against such association, so as to deprive it of the right to use the name which the corporation has appropriated.[68] On the other hand where the use by unincorporated persons of a corporate name under which they are afterward incorporated is in violation of a statute,[69] such use will confer no rights which will be enforced by the courts of the state.[70] The right to an injunction to restrain another corporation from using the corporate name of plaintiff may, like the right to any other species of equitable relief, be lost by laches,[71] or by assent, acquiescence, or estoppel.[72] This species of relief has also been denied in many cases on grounds relating to the merits of the particular cases, of which examples may be found in the cases cited in the note below.[73]

5. Charters and Certificates of Incorporation Not Granted Which Infringe Existing Corporate Names,[74] Enabling acts which provide for the granting of

439, 5 Am. Rep. 125; Koehler v. Sanders, 122 N. Y. 65, 25 N. E. 235, 33 N. Y. St. 267, 9 L. R. A. 576; Laughman's Appeal, 128 Pa. St. 1, 18 Atl. 415, 5 L. R. A. 599; Glendon Iron Co. v. Uhler, 75 Pa. St. 467, 15 Am. Rep. 599; York Card, etc., Co. v. York Wall Paper Co., 4 Pa. Dist. 128, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 554, 35 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 574; Brown Chemical Co. v. Meyer, 139 U. S. 540, 11 S. Ct. 625, 35 L. ed. 247; Goodyear's India Rubber Glove Mfg. Co. v. Goodyear Rubber Co., 128 U. S. 598, 9 S. Ct. 166, 32 L. ed. 535; Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Clark, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 311, 20 L. ed. 581; Rumford Chemical Works v. Muth, 35 Fed. 524, 1 L. R. A. 44.

65. Thus the Elgin Butter Company could not enjoin the Elgin Creamery Company. Elgin Butter Co. v. Elgin Creamery Co., 155 Ill. 127, 40 N. E. 616.

66. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v. Employers' Liability Ins. Co., 61 Hun (N. Y.) 552, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 397, 41 N. Y. St. 390.

The prohibition in Nebr. Sess. Laws (1891), c. 14, against the use of distinctive terms relating to building and loan associations to designate corporations of different classes does not apply to corporations organized in 1887. York Park Bldg. Assoc. v. Barnes, 39 Nebr. 834, 58 N. W. 440.

Granting a change of name, but requiring alteration so as to show change of sphere of operations, see In re Indian Mechanical Gold Extracting Co., [1891] 3 Ch. 538, 61 L. J. Ch. 33, 40 Wkly. Rep. 184.

67. Supreme Ct. S. O. of F. v. Supreme Ct. U. O. of F., 94 Wis. 234, 68 N. W. 1011.

68. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. v. Graham, 96 Iowa 592, 65 N. W. 837, 31 L. R. A. 133; Hygeia Water Ice Co. v. New York Hygeia Ice Co., 19 N. Y. Suppl. 602, 47 N. Y. St. 71.

69. Ill. Rev. Stat. c. 38, § 220.

70. Hazelton Boiler Co. v. Hazelton Tripod Boiler Co., 142 Ill. 494, 30 N. E. 339 [affirming 40 Ill. App. 430].

71. As by a delay of ten years. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. v. Graham, 96 Iowa 592, 65 N. W. 837, 31 L. R. A. 133.

A similar rule prevails with reference to enjoining the counterfeiting of trade-marks. See, generally, Trade-Marks and Trade-Names.

72. Of which a good illustration will be found in Clark Thread Co. v. Armitage, 74 Fed. 936, 21 C. C. A. 178 [modifying and affirming 67 Fed. 896].

73. Ottoman Cahvey Co. v. Dane, 95 Ill. 203 (holding that the members of a dissolved foreign corporation had the right to carry on their business in the corporate name which they had previously adopted, and that a domestic corporation could not enjoin them from so doing); Converse v. Hood, 149 Mass. 471, 21 N. E. 878, 4 L. R. A. 521; Nebraska L. & T. Co. v. Nine, 27 Nebr. 507, 43 N. W. 348, 20 Am. St. Rep. 686 (loan and trust company not enjoined from using the word "Nebraska" in its corporate name at the suit of another such company so using the same word, and doing business one hundred miles away); Merchant Banking Co. v. Merchants' Joint Stock Bank, 9 Ch. D. 560, 47 L. J. Ch. 828, 26 Wkly. Rep. 847 (injunction refused in favor of "The Merchant Banking Company of London, Limited," and against "The Merchants' Joint Stock Bank, Limited").

74. Change of name to an existing name not allowed see infra, I, C, 6, b.

so-called charters or certificates of incorporation by the secretary of state or other ministerial state officer generally prohibit the granting of such charters or certificates where the name assumed conflicts with the name of an existing corporation. Under such a statute, it has been well held that, although the office of the secretary of state in this respect is a ministerial one, yet his power of refusing such a certificate is not restrained to cases where the assumed corporate name is an exact imitation of the name of the preëxisting corporation, but that he has a discretion to refuse such a certificate where the name assumed so nearly resembles that of an existing corporation that confusion on the part of the public would be likely to arise between the two companies.[75] The rulings of the executive department of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania have reference principally to preventing confusion in the special departments of the state government with respect to taxation, judicial purposes, etc.[76] In many other cases the resemblance of the corporate name chosen by the associates was not sufficiently close to the name of the existing corporation making the protest to warrant a refusal of the charter or of the application to change the corporate name.[77] The principle which restrains the granting of charters or certificates of incorporation to a new corporate body under the same or a similar name to that of an existing corporation does not of course apply in the very common case where a railroad corporation is created to operate an interstate railroad — that is to say, a railroad crossing one or more interstate boundaries — in which case it has been the custom to procure a charter under the same name and, contemplating an identity of organization, from the legislature of each of the states in which an operation of its railway line was to be built,[78] a subject separately considered hereafter.[79] The license granted by the secretary of state to a body of adventurers to use a corporate name not in use by any existing domestic corporation will not be revoked, because an existing corporation having a different name has passed a resolution and given notice of a corporate meeting to vote to change its name to that selected by the new corporation; nor will a mandamus be issued to the secretary of state to receive and file the certificate of the old corporation changing its name to that of the new one.[80]

6. Changing Names of Corporations — a. In General. A corporation cannot

75. State v. McGrath, 92 Mo. 355, 5 S. W. 29, where the secretary of state was not compelled by mandamus to grant a certificate of incorporation to "The Kansas City Real Estate Exchange," where he had previously granted a certificate to "The Kansas City Real Estate and Stock Exchange."

76. Re Kidd Bros., etc., Steel Wire Co., 5 Pa. Dist. 56, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 238; In re North Fifth St. Mut. Land Assoc., 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 15.

With this end in view a charter was refused to "The Bradley Fertilizer Company of Philadelphia," against the objection of a Massachusetts corporation doing business in Pennsylvania, under the corporate name of "The Bradley Fertilizer Company" merely (In re Bradley Fertilizer Co., 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 271), to the "Gas Company of Altoona" against the protest of the "Altoona Gas Company" (Altoona Gas Co. v. Altoona Gas Co., 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 662), and, by the Philadelphia court of common pleas, to the "Waverly Ladies of the Red Cross," against the protest of the "Associate Society of the Red Cross of Philadelphia," but approving the application after the insertion of the words "Order of," in the name (In re Waverly Ladies of Red Cross, 1 Pa. Dist. 605, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 257).

77. International Trust Co. v. International L. & T. Co., 153 Mass. 271, 26 N. E. 693, 10 L. R. A. 758 (injunction refused to restrain a foreign corporation from doing any business within the domestic state, but granted to restrain the doing of the same business as that of the protesting domestic corporation); Matter of Attica Bank, 59 Hun (N. Y.) 615, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 648, 35 N. Y. St. 708; In re Kidd Bros., etc., Steel Wire Co., 5 Pa. Dist. 56, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 238; York Card, etc., Co. v. York Wall Paper Co., 4 Pa. Dist. 128, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 554, 35 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 574; In re Duquesne College, 2 Pa. Dist. 555, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 491; In re Carlin Mfg. Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 14, 10 Pa. Co. Ct. 667, 29 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 158; In re Dime Sav. Bank, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 369, 26 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 77; In re Citizens' Trust, etc., Co., 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 366, 27 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 437; In re North Fifth St. Mut. Land Assoc., 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 15; In re Columbus Security Order, 27 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 36.

78. Louisville Trust Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 75 Fed. 433, 22 C. C. A. 378.

79. See infra, I, H.

80. Illinois Watch Case Co. v. Pearson, 140 Ill. 423, 31 N. E. 400, 16 L. R. A. 429.

For other grounds on which charters were change its name at pleasure by mere corporate action, but it must have the consent of the state in the form of a statutory permission.[81] Such an attempt does not, however, of itself operate to dissolve the corporation, and where a corporation has assumed to change its name without authority of law, a suit begun in its lawful name may be prosecuted to judgment and the judgment will be good.[82] Many of the enabling statutes relating to corporations provide that corporations may change their names by corporate action in the mode pointed out, which is, under some statutes, by procuring amended articles or certificates of incorporation,[83] under others, by an application to a judicial court, in which case good cause must be shown.[84] With reference to the effect of changing the corporate name it may be said that it has no effect whatever, in theory of law, upon the identity of the corporation,[85] although it may have the effect of inducing additional averments in pleading in particular cases.[86] The corporation continues as before responsible for all debts which it had previously contracted.[87] Subscriptions to stock are not invalidated,[88] and it may sue and recover upon such contracts by its new name.[89] If the change of name takes place pending a suit, it has no effect upon the rights of plaintiff;[90] and if the suit is by a corporation, and pending the suit there is a change of the name, it will be too late after judgment for defendant to set up that there was no corporation, especially if he fails to make it appear that the corporators accepted the new name.[91] When by the terms of its charter a corporation is to be the successor of an insolvent corporation having the same functions, franchises, powers, and privileges, and is to become bound for the payment of certain claims against the first corporation, an action of debt or assumpsit may be maintained against the new corporation.[92]

b. Names Which Infringe Existing Names Not Allowed.[93] Petitions addressed refused by reason of questions relating to names see In re Nether Providence Assoc., 2 Pa. Dist. 702, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 666; In re St. Ladislaus Roman Catholic Sick, etc., Assoc., 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 25.

81. Where a name has been given to a corporation by charter or statute this cannot be changed by corporate action, either directly or by user, without statutory permission. Sykes v. People, 132 Ill. 32, 23 N. E. 391; Reg. v. Joint Stock Companies, 10 Q. B. 839, 59 E. C. L. 839; 1 Dillon Mun. Corp. (4th ed.) § 178. See also Episcopal Charitable Soc. v. Dedham Episcopal Church, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 372.

82. O'Donnell v. Johns, 76 Tex. 362, 13 S. W. 376.

83. Anthony v. International Bank, 93 Ill. 225 (pointing out what corporate action is sufficient under a statute of Illinois); Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Keisel, 43 Iowa 39.

84. In re Bank of North America, 2 Pa. Co. Ct. 97. See also In re Excelsior Oil Co., 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 184.

The Pennsylvania act of April 20, 1869, conferring on counties the power to change the names of corporations, applies to religious corporations and is not repealed by the Pennsylvania act of April 29, 1874. In re Bloomfield First Presb. Church, 111 Pa. St. 156, 2 Atl. 574.

A statute of California (Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 1276), providing that any religious, benevolent, literary, scientific, "or other corporation," may apply for a change of name embraces by these terms corporations which are formed for private gain. In re La Société Francaise D'Epargnes et De Prevoyance Mutuelle, 123 Cal. 525, 56 Pac. 458.

85. Welfley v. Shenandoah Iron, etc., Co., 83 Va. 768, 3 S. E. 376; Girard v. Philadelphia, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 1, 19 L. ed. 53; Atty.-Gen. v. Corporation of Leicester, 9 Beav. 546; Atty.-Gen. v. Kerr, 2 Beav. 420, 4 Jur. 406, 9 L. J. Ch. 190, 17 Eng. Ch. 420; Atty.-Gen. v. Wilson, Cr. & Ph. 1, 18 Eng. Ch. 1, 9 Sim. 30, 16 Eng. Ch. 30; Ludlow v. Tyler, 7 C. & P. 537, 32 E. C. L. 746; Scarborough v. Butler, 3 Lev. 237; Doe v. Norton, 11 M. & W. 913, 7 Jur. 751, 12 L. J. Exch. 418.

86. An action may be maintained against it in its new name by showing the fact that its name has been changed without any change of its corporate composition. Welfley v. Shenandoah Iron, etc., Co., 83 Va. 768, 3 S. E. 376.

87. Longley v. Longley Stage Line Co., 23 Me. 39 (where the corporators concluded to "rub out and begin anew"); Dean v. La Motte Lead Co., 59 Mo. 523.

88. Reading v. Wedder, 66 Ill. 80; Com. v. Pittsburgh, 41 Pa. St. 278.

89. Bucksport, etc., R. Co. v. Buck, 68 Me. 81; Greeneville, etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 8 Baxt. (Tenn.) 332.

90. Welfley v. Shenandoah Iron, etc., Co., 83 Va. 768, 3 S. E. 376.

91. Water Lot Co. v. Brunswick Bank, 53 Ga. 30.

92. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Miller, 43 Ill. 199.

93. Granting charters which infringe existing names see supra, I, C, 5.

to a judicial court under the authorization of a statute praying for the change of a corporate name will not be allowed where the name which it is proposed to assume will conflict with the name of an existing corporation.[94]

D. Distinction Between Public and Private Corporations With Reference to Question of Public Control. A very important distinction exists between public corporations on the one hand and private corporations on the other, with respect to governmental control: The distinction being that public corporations are subject to governmental visitation and control, being mere creatures or instrumentalities of the state, whereas private corporations are not subject to visitation or control on the part of the state, except in the exercise of the police power, their charters being contracts within the meaning of the contract clause of the federal constitution which the states are prohibited from impairing.[95] This doctrine has been carried to the length of holding that with respect

94. In re U. S. Mercantile Reporting, etc., Agency, 115 N. Y. 176, 21 N. E. 1034, 24 N. Y. St. 548 [affirming 4 N. Y. Suppl. 916, 22 N. Y. St. 494]; Matter of Manhattan Dispensary, 7 N. Y. St. 871. Compare Matter of U. S. Mortgage Co., 83 Hun (N. Y.) 572, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 11, 65 N. Y. St. 134, where the court held it error to refuse the application of the "United States Mortgage Company," to change its name to the "United States Mortgage and Trust Company," against the opposition of a corporation whose name was "The United States Trust Company of New York," both companies being engaged in the same business and having extensive foreign connections. The dissenting opinion of Van Brunt, P. J., in this case is to be preferred. A better decision in the same state was to the effect that a corporation would not be allowed, on a petition for a change of its name, to take the name of the "United States Commercial Agency and Collecting Company," against the opposition of the "United States Mercantile Reporting Company." Matter of U. S. Mercantile Reporting, etc., Assoc., 4 N. Y. Suppl. 916, 22 N. Y. St. 494.

95. Alabama.— Wolfe v. Underwood, 91 Ala. 523, 8 So. 774; Mobile v. Stonewall Ins. Co., 53 Ala. 570; Mobile Branch State Bank v. Collins, 7 Ala. 95 (holding that a bank whose stock belongs exclusively to the state is a public corporation and subject to legislative control); State University v. Winston, 5 Stew. & P. 17 (holding that the University of Alabama was a public corporation and subject to legislative control).

Arkansas.— State v. Burk, 63 Ark. 56, 37 S. W. 406; Wells v. Cole, 27 Ark. 603; State v. Curran, 12 Ark. 321 [reversed in 15 How. (U. S.) 304, 14 L. ed. 705, the court below holding that the State Bank of Arkansas was a public corporation and subject to legislative control].

California.— Hart v. Burnett, 15 Cal. 530.

Colorado.— Johnson v. People, 6 Colo. App. 163, 40 Pac. 576.

Connecticut.— Hooker v. New Haven, etc., Co., 15 Conn. 312, holding that a canal company is a private corporation.

Delaware.— Coyle v. Gray, 7 Houst. 44, 30 Atl. 728, 40 Am. St. Rep. 109; Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Bowers, 4 Houst. 506.

Florida.— State v. Knowles, 16 Fla. 577; Holland v. State, 15 Fla. 455; Cotten v. Leon County, 6 Fla. 610.

Georgia.— Dart v. Houston, 22 Ga. 506 (holding that the legislature has plenary power over the charter of an educational corporation which is endowed entirely by the state); Cleaveland v. Stewart, 3 Ga. 283.

Indiana.— Downing v. Indiana State Bd. of Agriculture, 129 Ind. 443, 28 N. E. 123, 12 L. R. A. 664 (Indiana State Board of Agriculture a private corporation); State v. Carr, 111 Ind. 335, 12 N. E. 318 (Indiana State University a private corporation); Lucas v. Tippecanoe County, 44 Ind. 524; State v. Springfield Tp., 6 Ind. 83; Sloan v. State, 8 Blackf. 361.

Iowa.— Duhuque v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 39 Iowa 56, in the dissenting opinion of Cole, J.

Kentucky.—Louisville v. Louisville University, 15 B. Mon. 642.

Louisiana.—Montpelier Academy v. George, 14 La. 395, 33 Am. Dec. 585.

Maine.— Yarmouth v. North Yarmouth, 34 Me. 411, 56 Am. Dec. 666; New Gloucester School Fund v. Bradbury, 11 Me. 118, 26 Am. Dec. 515; Bradford v. Cary, 5 Me. 339.

Maryland.— Lake Roland El. R. Co. v. Baltimore, 77 Md. 352, 26 Atl. 510, 20 L. R. A. 126 (holding that an ordinance authorizing a railroad company to lay double tracks on a side street may be repealed and the company restricted to a single track); Frederick v. Groshon, 30 Md. 436, 96 Am. Dec. 591; Baltimore v. State, 15 Md. 376, 74 Am. Dec. 572; State v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 12 Gill & J. 399, 38 Am. Dec. 317 (holding that a provision in a railroad charter that if the company shall not locate the road in the manner prescribed therein, it shall forfeit one million dollars for the use of the particular county, was not a contract between the railroad company and the county, such as the legislature could not impair, but was a penalty which the legislature might release at pleasure).

Massachusetts.— Newcomb v. Boston Protective Dept., 151 Mass. 215, 24 N. E. 39, 6 L. R. A. 778 (holding that a corporation consisting of an association of insurance companies for their mutual benefit is a private corporation); Hale v. Hampshire County, to private or corporate property, a municipal corporation is to be deemed a private corporation in the sense which brings it within the protection of the contract

137 Mass. 111 (holding that railroad corporations are private corporations).

Michigan.— State University v. Board of Education, 4 Mich. 213, 225 (holding that "the institution was erected and has been supported by a public fund, and the corporators have no private interest whatever connected with their corporate character"); Swan v. Williams, 2 Mich. 427 (where corporations are divided into three classes).

Minnesota.— State v. McFadden, 23 Minn. 40, holding that the power of the legislature over counties is supreme, except as restrained by the constitution.

Missouri.—St. Louis v. Russell, 9 Mo. 507; Conner v. Bent, 1 Mo. 235.

Nebraska.— State University v. McConnell, 5 Nebr. 423, holding that the University of Nebraska is a public corporation, and subject to the control of the legislature.

Nevada.— Esser v. Spaulding, 17 Nev. 289, 30 Pac. 896.

New Hampshire.— Wooster v. Plymouth, 62 N. H. 193; In re Farnum, 51 N. H. 376 (holding that school districts are public corporations and subject to legislative control).

New Jersey.—Milburn v. South Orange, 55 N. J. L. 254, 26 Atl. 75; Taylor v. Griswold, 14 N. J. L. 222, 27 Am. Dec. 33.

New York.— Demarest v. New York, 74 N. Y. 161; People v. Pinckney, 32 N. Y. 377; Darlington v. New York, 31 N. Y. 164, 88 Am. Dec. 248; Bloodgood v. Mohawk, etc., R. Co., 18 Wend. 9, 31 Am. Dec. 313; People v. Morris, 13 Wend. 325; Brick Presb. Church Corp. v. New York, 5 Cow. 538 (holding that the obligee in a contract made by a municipal corporation is entitled to the same remedy as if the contract had not been made in its legislative capacity).

North Carolina.— Gooch v. Gregory, 65 N. C. 142 (holding that an execution cannot be issued against a county); Mills v. Williams, 33 N. C. 558 (holding that the legislature has the power to abolish a county).

Ohio.— Marietta v. Fearing, 4 Ohio 427, holding that the legislature may amend the charters of a municipal corporation at any time.

Oregon.—Portland, etc., R. Co. v. Portland, 14 Oreg. 188, 12 Pac. 265, 58 Am. Rep. 299.

Rhode Island.—Smith v. Westcott, 17 R. I. 366, 22 Atl. 280, 13 L. R. A. 217, holding that the commissioners of the "North Burial Ground" were a public corporation and subject to legislative control.

South Carolina.— State v. State Bank, 1 S. C. 63 (holding that the Bank of South Carolina was a public corporation, its capital having been furnished by the state); State v. State Bank, 1 Speers 433 (Harper, Ch., saying that until the Dartmouth College decision the definition of corporations into public and private had not been generally recognized, but that previous to that time the general definition had been into eleemosynary and civil).

[I, D]

Virginia.— Wambersie v. Orange Humane Soc., 84 Va. 446, 5 S. E. 25; Prince William School Bd. v. Stuart, 80 Va. 64 (holding that a bequest to the vestry of a parish to be expended for the education of the poor of the county is subject to legislative control; but to the contrary see the dissenting opinion of Lewis, P., at page 73, referring to the Dartmouth College case at pages 74 and 80); Lewis v. Whittle, 77 Va. 415 (medical college endowed by the state a public corporation).

West Virginia.—Wilson v. Ross, 40 W. Va. 278, 21 S. E. 868.

Wisconsin.—Burhop v. Milwaukee, 21 Wis. 257, holding that railroad companies are private corporations.

United States.— New Orleans v. New Orleans Water Works Co., 142 U. S. 79, 12 S. Ct. 142, 35 L. ed. 943; Essex Public Road Bd. v. Skinkle, 140 U. S. 334, 11 S. Ct. 790, 35 L. ed. 446; Williamson v. New Jersey, 130 U. S. 189, 9 S. Ct. 453, 32 L. ed. 915; Laramie County v. Albany County, 92 U. S. 307, 23 L. ed. 552; Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. 518, 4 L. ed. 629 [quoted in Frederick v. Groshon, 30 Md. 436, 96 Am. Dec. 591, and many other cases]; Bonaparte v. Camden, etc., R. Co., 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,617, Baldw. 205; Sweatt v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,684, 3 Cliff. 339 (holding that railroad corporations are private commercial corporations and subject to proceedings in bankruptcy); Adams v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 1 Fed. Cas. No. 47, 1 Holmes 30 (holding that railroad corporations are private commercial corporations); Allen v. McKean, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 229, 1 Sumn. 276 (holding that Bowdoin College is a private and not a public corporation); Rundle v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,139, 1 Wall. Jr. 275 (learned opinion by Grier, J., showing that a canal or navigation company is a private corporation and hence liable in damages for its torts).

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 9.

What are public and quasi-public corporations for the purposes of this distinction see Miners' Ditch Co. v. Zellerbach, 37 Cal. 543, 99 Am. Dec. 30.

Views of Chancellor Kent on this subject see 2 Kent Comm. 275, 276.

Further as to the distinction between public and private corporations see 1 Thompson Corp. § 24, and the following cases:

Indiana.— State v. Vincennes University, 5 Ind. 77.

Missouri.—Heller v. Stremmel, 52 Mo. 309.

New Jersey.— Tinsman v. Belvidere, etc., R. Co., 26 N. J. L. 148, 69 Am. Dec. 565.

Pennsylvania.—Pittsburgh's Appeal, 123 Pa. St. 374, 16 Atl. 621, 23 Wkly. Notes Cas. 91.

United States.— Rundle v. Delaware, etc., Canal, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,139, 1 Wall. Jr. 275.

A joint-stock bank, all of whose shares belong to the state, has been held to be a pub-clause of the federal constitution as interpreted in the Dartmouth College case.[96] This doctrine creates a marked exception to the general rule that municipal corporations incur no responsibility by reason of their neglect to perform duties which rest upon them in their public or governmental capacity.[97] So although lic corporation, because all the interest therein belongs to the government. Cleaveland v. Stewart, 3 Ga. 283. But this is doubtful. The sound view seems to be that if a state goes into a banking business it divests itself of its sovereignty and becomes pro hac vice a private corporation. State Bank v. Gibson, 6 Ala. 814; State Bank v. Clark, 8 N. C. 36; State Bank v. Gibbs, 3 McCord (S. C.) 377; Kentucky Bank v. Wister, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 318, 7 L. ed. 437; U. S. Bank v. Planters' Bank, 9 Wheat. (U. S.) 904, 6 L. ed. 244.

Untenable view that a bank which issues circulating notes is a public corporation whereas other banks are private see State v. Simonton, 78 N. C. 57.

Public school corporations and hospitals.— Whether public school corporations, such as school districts, school trustees, academies, etc., are to be deemed public or private corporations see 1 Thompson Corp. § 25; and that an incorporated hospital, creating a charity, deriving its funds mainly from public and private charity, is a public corporation in the sense of not being liable for the negligence of a surgeon selected by its trustees even to a pay patient see McDonald v. Massachusetts General Hospital, 120 Mass. 432, 21 Am. Rep. 529. That the board of education of the state of Illinois is a private eleemosynary and not a public corporation see Board of Education v. Bakewell, 122 Ill. 339, 10 N. E. 378.

Municipal corporations are deemed private corporations with respect to the ownership and control of private or corporate property, as distinguished from property devoted strictly to public or governmental uses (Bullmaster v. St. Joseph, 70 Mo. App. 60; Whitfield v. Carrollton, 50 Mo. App. 98; Millburn v. South Orange, 55 N. J. L. 254, 26 Atl. 75; Bailey v. New York, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 531 [affirmed in 2 Den. (N. Y.) 433]; Bloodgood v. Mohawk, etc., R. Co., 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 9, 31 Am. Dec. 313), as where it maintains a dam to supply its inhabitants with water (Bailey v. New York, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 531 [affirmed in 2 Den. (N. Y.) 433]), a public building partly rented for profit to private persons (Oliver v. Worcester, 102 Mass. 489, 3 Am. Rep. 485), a wharf from which it derives profit (Macauley v. New York, 67 N. Y. 602; Memphis v. Kimbrough, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 133), or public sewers, although these have a strict relation to the public health (Lloyd v. New York, 5 N. Y. 369, 55 Am. Dec. 347).

96. Illinois.— Richland County v. Lawrence County, 12 Ill. 1.

Iowa.— Warren v. Lyons City, 22 Iowa 351.

Kentucky.— Louisville v. Louisville University, 15 B. Mon. 642.

Massachusetts.— Hampshire County v. Franklin County, 16 Mass. 76.

Michigan.—People v. Detroit, 28 Mich. 228, 15 Am. Rep. 202; People v. Hurlbut, 24 Mich. 44, 9 Am. Rep. 103.

New York.— People v. Ingersoll, 58 N. Y. 1, 17 Am. Rep. 178; People v. Batchellor, 53 N. Y. 128, 13 Am. Rep. 480.

South Carolina.— In re Malone, 21 S. C. 435, holding that a legislative grant of escheated property to the city of Charleston for the benefit of its orphan house could not be resumed by the state, even by a constitutional ordinance.

Tennessee.— Woodfork v. Union Bank, 3 Coldw. 488.

Texas.—Milam County v. Bateman, 54 Tex. 153; Galveston County v. Tankersley, 39 Tex. 651 (holding that a title of a county to school lands granted by the state could not be divested by the legislature after patent issued); Brownsville v. Basse, 36 Tex. 461 (holding that a grant of land by the state to a municipal corporation created by it could not be repealed).

Vermont.— White v. Fuller, 38 Vt. 193; Atkins v. Randolph, 31 Vt. 226; Montpelier v. East Montpelier, 29 Vt. 12, 67 Am. Dec. 748 (holding that a statute dividing an incorporated town could not be allowed to have any effect upon properties held by the town in trust for the specific purpose named in its charter, and which was not designed for its use as a municipal corporation); Montpelier v. East Montpelier, 27 Vt. 704 (discussion).

Wisconsin.— State v. Haben, 22 Wis. 660 (applying the same doctrine to counties); Milwaukee v. Milwaukee City, 12 Wis. 93 (holding that the legislature cannot annex a portion of land of one town to another).

See and compare the following cases:

Arkansas.— Pearson v. State, 56 Ark. 148, 19 S. W. 499, 35 Am. St. Rep. 91.

California.— Grogan v. San Francisco, 18 Cal. 590.

Indiana.— Lucas v. Tippecanoe County, 44 Ind. 524, where the whole doctrine is shaken up pro and con in the opinion and the dissenting opinions.

Louisiana.— New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. New Orleans, 26 La. Ann. 478, 517.

Maryland.—Baltimore v. State, 15 Md. 376, 74 Am. Dec. 572.

United States.— Pawlet v. Clark, 9 Cranch 292, 3 L. ed. 735; Terrett v. Taylor, 9 Cranch 43, 3 L. ed. 650.

97. Durkes v. Union, 38 N. J. L. 21; Pray v. Jersey City, 32 N. J. L. 394; Livermore v. Camden, 31 N. J. L. 507 [affirming 29 N. J. L. 245]; Cooley v. Essex, 27 N. J. L. 415; Sussex County v. Strader, 18 N. J. L. 108, 35 Am. Dec. 530; Darlington v. New the business of banking is subject to state supervision and regulation in the exercise of the police power, yet an incorporated bank having a joint stock which is owned by private individuals is a private corporation in the sense that the legislature cannot alter its charter without the consent of its corporators.[98] This is not true of a bank which is organized primarily to further the fiscal operations of the government and whose stock is exclusively owned by the government;[99] but a private bank whose stock is owned by private persons is a private corporation, although it is erected by the government and its obligations and operations partake of a public nature.[1]

E. Purposes For Which Corporations May Be Formed — 1. In General. The answer to this question must be sought with reference to national corporations, in the constitution of the United States and in the decisions of the federal courts; with reference to state corporations, in the constitution and the statute law of each particular state. Assuming that the question has been properly raised in an action prosecuted by the state, the question whether the purposes for which a given corporation has been formed are lawful purposes is to be determined by the description of those purposes as given in its instrument of incorporation.[2] If, as expressed on the face of this instrument of incorporation, the purpose for which the corporation is formed is not necessarily unlawful, it will be presumed that it was for a purpose for which corporations might lawfully be formed;[3] and this presumption holds in a case of a foreign corporation.[4] If, upon an inspection of the instrument of incorporation, its primary object — such as a lottery scheme — is unauthorized by law, the corporation will be dissolved in a proper proceeding, although the instrument of incorporation may set forth secondary objects — relating, for example, to the mode of distribution of the money thus raised — which may be lawful and even praiseworthy.[5]

York, 31 N. Y. 164, 88 Am. Dec. 248; Richmond v. Long, 17 Gratt. (Va.) 375, 94 Am. Dec. 461.

What corporations have been deemed public. — Overseers of the poor in New York (Rouse v. Moore, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 407), trustees of the poor in Mississippi (Governor v. Gridley, Walk. (Miss.) 328. Compare Overseers of Poor v. Sears, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 122), park commissioners in Illinois (Andrews v. People, 84 Ill. 28; Andrews v. People, 83 Ill. 529), navigation improvement companies in Pennsylvania (Bennett's Branch Imp. Co.'s Appeal, 65 Pa. St. 242), and levee districts in California (People v. Williams, 56 Cal. 647; Dean v. Davis, 51 Cal. 406).

Corporations formed to promote public objects for private gain. — It does not follow that because the object which the corporation is organized to promote is a public object, that is to say, an object in which the public generally have an interest, the corporation is for that reason to be deemed a public corporation in the sense which places it under governmental control (Tinsman v. Belvidere, etc., R. Co., 26 N. J. L. 148, 69 Am. Dec. 565; Whiting v. Sheboygan, etc., R. Co., 25 Wis. 167, 3 Am. Rep. 30), such as railway companies (Tinsman v. Belvidere, etc., R. Co., 26 N. J. L. 148, 69 Am. Dec. 565; Thorpe v. Rutland, etc., R. Co., 27 Vt. 140, 62 Am. Dec. 625, and note) and canal companies (Ten Eyck v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 18 N. J. L. 200, 37 Am. Dec. 233).

Levee district companies are therefore deemed private corporations, and that a levee district board is a private corporation in the sense that it cannot be clothed with the power of taxation see Board of Directors, etc. v. Houston, 71 Ill. 318.

98. State v. Tombeckbee Bank, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 30; Logwood v. Planters', etc., Bank, Minor (Ala.) 23.

99. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629.

1. Story, J., in Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629. To the same effect see Piqua State Branch Bank v. Knoop, 16 How. (U. S.) 369, 14 L. ed. 977. Compare Curran v. Arkansas, 15 How. (U. S.) 304, 74 L. ed. 705, where the doctrine seems to have been considerably modified.

2. Detroit Driving Club v. Fitzgerald, 109 Mich. 670, 67 N. W. 899; Atty.-Gen. v. Lorman, 59 Mich. 157, 26 N. W. 311, 60 Am. Rep. 287.

3. U. S. Vinegar Co. v. Foehrenbach, 148 N. Y. 58, 42 N. E. 403.

4. U. S. Vinegar Co. v. Schlegel, 143 N. Y. 537, 38 N. E. 729; Demarest v. Flack, 128 N. Y. 205, 28 N. E. 645, 40 N. Y. St. 383.

What extrinsic evidence will not overthrow this presumption see U. S. Vinegar Co. v. Foehrenbach, 148 N. Y. 58, 42 N. E. 403 [affirming 74 Hun (N. Y.) 435, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 632, 57 N. Y. St. 261].

5. State v. Inter-National Invest. Co., 88 Wis. 512, 60 N. W. 796, 43 Am. St. Rep. 920.

2. Formation For Illegal Objects. The formation of corporations is not permitted under enabling statutes, where the real purpose of the incorporation is to cloak an illegal object or an unlawful business; but in such a case the fiction of the existence of a corporation will be disregarded by a court of justice when the question arises in a proper proceeding, and the acts of the real parties will be dealt with as though no such corporation had been formed;[6] and the same is true for stronger reasons where an illegal purpose is expressed in the articles, as where the so-called charter of an educational corporation attempts to clothe the directors with power to confer degrees[7] or where it provides for the holding of business meetings on Sunday.[8] Upon the question what objects are illegal, it has been held that an application under a statute for a so-called charter for the maintenance of a private park or a lake is ostensibly for a lawful purpose, it not appearing that the object of the incorporation is to reduce the lake to private dominion.[9] Where the general law of the state permits the consolidation of corporations, it is not against public policy for a corporation to be formed under a general enabling statute, merely because the ulterior purposes of the coadventurers is to have the corporation consolidated with another.[10]

3. Statutes Under Which Single Corporation Cannot Be Formed For More Than One Purpose. Where the statute permits corporations to be formed for several purposes named in the alternative, separated by the disjunctive conjunction "or," it is held that a single corporation cannot be organized for more than one of such purposes, and that articles of incorporation which include more than one of them are void, and that incorporation under such articles will be refused.[11] This has

6. Chicago First Nat. Bank v. Trebein Co., 59 Ohio St. 316, 52 N. E. 834.

7. In re Duquesne College, 2 Pa. Dist. 555, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 491.

8. Matter of Agudath Hakchiloth, 18 Misc. (N. Y.) 717, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 985.

9. In re Lake Wynola Assoc., 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 626.

10. Hill v. Nisbet, 100 Ind. 341.

11. Georgia.— In re Deveaux, 54 Ga. 673.

Indiana.—State v. Beck, 81 Ind. 500; Newton County Draining Co. v. Nofsinger, 43 Ind. 566 [distinguishing Shick v. Citizens' Enterprise Co., 15 Ind. App. 329, 44 N. E. 48, 57 Am. St. Rep. 230]; Skelton Creek Draining Co. v. Mauck, 43 Ind. 300; O'Reiley v. Kankakee Valley Draining Co., 32 Ind. 169; West v. Bullskin Prairie Ditching Co., 32 Ind. 138; Williams v. Citizens' Enterprise Co., 25 Ind. App. 351, 57 N. E. 581.

Michigan.—Isle Royale Land Corp. v. State Secretary, 76 Mich. 162, 43 N. W. 14.

Minnesota.— State v. Minnesota Thresher Mfg. Co., 40 Minn. 213, 41 N. W. 1020, 3 L. R. A. 510.

New York.— People v. Beach, 19 Hun 259.

Pennsylvania.— In re Skandinaviska, 3 Pa. Dist. 235; In re Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Assoc., 1 Pa. Dist. 763; In re Richmond Retail Coal Co., 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 172. But it has been held in Pennsylvania that a so-called charter presented to a judicial court for a corporation to manufacture and supply gas, and also to supply light and heat by any other means than gas, is not void by reason of combining such powers; but that so much of it by which the coadventurers undertake to acquire a right either to supply light by other means than gas and also to furnish fuel is invalid. West Manayunk Gas Light Co. v. New Gas Light Co., 21 Pa. Co. Ct. 369.

England.— In re Crown Bank, 44 Ch. D. 634, 59 L. J. Ch. 739, 62 L. T. Rep. N. S. 823, 38 Wkly. Rep. 666.

Under the Pennsylvania corporation act of 1874, charters have been uniformly refused to bodies seeking to become incorporated for business purposes, where the proposed charter set forth more than one purpose — as the manufacture of gas meters, machines, and regulators, and also the purpose of dealing in any kind of goods at wholesale (In re Application for Charter, 5 Pa. Dist. 243), the purpose of "manufacturing gas for illuminating," and also "manufacturing, leasing, buying and selling all goods, materials, apparatus and appliances, with the right to acquire and hold patent rights for inventions and designs relating thereto, and receiving and granting licenses thereunder" (In re McClurg Gas Constr. Co., 4 Pa. Dist. 349); "the supply, storage, or transportation of water and water power for commercial or manufacturing purposes" (In re Sowego Water, etc., Co., 4 Pa. Dist. 181, 182, where afterward the purpose of supplying water to the public was omitted and the charter was refused on other grounds); for the manufacture and supply of gas, and for the supply of light and heat by other means than gas (In re New Gas Light Co., 7 Pa. Dist. 151); to supply gas to portions of two counties (West Manayunk Gas Light Co. v. New Gas Light Co., 21 Pa. Co. Ct. 369); for carrying on "mechanical, mining, quarrying, and manufacturing business," although it was said that two of such pursuits may be so closely kindred and cognate as to authorize, been held not to preclude the incorporation of a company for two cognate purposes, but a purpose expressed to be "for the mining and for the manufacturing of oil and gas" was held too general and indefinite to justify the granting of a charter, since it might be held to combine the provisions of different statutes, regulating the formation of corporations.[12]

4. WHAT IS A "MECHANICAL" OR "MANUFACTURING" CORPORATION. The mining of iron ore is a "mechanical business" within the meaning of a constitutional provision granting exemption from superadded liability to shareholders of corporations organized for the purpose of carrying on "any kind of manufacturing or mechanical business."[13] A corporation organized to supply light by means of electricity is a manufacturing corporation within the meaning of a statute relating to taxation,[14] and also within the meaning of a statute permitting one or more manufacturing corporations to consolidate.[15] But a corporation formed under a statute authorizing the formation of corporations "for the purpose of collecting, storing and preserving ice, of preparing it for market, of transporting it . . .; and of vending the same," and whose business is confined to the purposes expressed in the act, is not a manufacturing corporation within a statute creating an exemption from taxation; otherwise it is conceded if it manufactures ice by artificial means.[16] An aqueduct corporation is not a manufacturing corporation, and its pipes and appliances for purifying and controlling a water-supply are not machinery employed in manufacture within the meaning of a statute exempting the value of such machinery in the taxation of shares.[17] A corporation organized for the purpose of mining coal is not a manufacturing corporation within the meaning of a statute defining and regulating the enforcement of liabilities of officers and shareholders of manufacturing corporations.[18] A corporation organized for the purpose of "constructing, using and providing one or more dry-docks or wet-docks or other conveniences and structures for building, raising, repairing or coppering vessels and steamers of every description" is not a manufacturing under special circumstances, the formation of a corporation embracing both objects (In re Newton-Hamilton Oil, etc., Co., 10 Pa. Co. Ct. 452, 453); or for mining and boring for petroleum and natural gas, and for buying, selling, producing, storing, transporting, and shipping the same, with the right to purchase land, etc., where the proposed charter asks for the additional privilege of a pipe-line company with the right of eminent domain under another statute (In re Washing Min., etc., Co., 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 323).

Under the Pennsylvania act of 1895, permitting the creation of corporations for buying, selling, trading, and merchandising at wholesale, a corporation cannot be organized, not only for the manufacture of certain kinds of articles of commerce, but also for the purpose of dealing in any kinds of goods, wares, and merchandise at wholesale; since this would warrant the corporation in engaging in any and all kinds of merchandising at wholesale, which the statute was understood not to warrant. In re Charter Purposes, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 577. Nor can a charter be granted, under the Pennsylvania act of May 23, 1895, to a company whose purpose is stated to be both life and property insurance. In re Charter for Ins. Co., 5 Pa. Dist. 315. Nor is the organization of corporations for buying and selling vinous, spirituous, and malt liquors at wholesale authorized by the Pennsylvania act of June 25, 1895, providing for the incorporation of companies for "buying, selling, trading or dealing in any kind or kinds of goods, wares, and merchandise at wholesale . . . The legislature has always dealt with the liquor traffic on a basis different from other kinds of business and trade." In re Pennsylvania Bottling, etc., Co., 6 Pa. Dist. 530, 531, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 593.

A partnership formed simply for the purpose of being incorporated under the English Companies Act of 1862 in order that it may be forthwith wound up and not for carrying on business, cannot be registered as a company under part 7 of the act. Reg. v. Joint Stock Companies, [1891] 2 Q. B. 598, 61 L. J. Q. B. 3, 65 L. T. Rep. N. S. 392, 39 Wkly. Rep. 708.

12. In re Newton Hamilton Oil, etc., Co., 10 Pa. Co. Ct. 452.

13. Cowling v. Zenith Iron Co., 65 Minn. 263, 68 N. W. 48, 60 Am. St. Rep. 471, 33 L. R. A. 508.

14. People v. Wemple, 129 N. Y. 543, 29 N. E. 808, 42 N. Y. St. 272, 14 L. R. A. 708.

15. Beggs v. Edison Electric Illuminating Co., 96 Ala. 295, 11 So. 381, 38 Am. St. Rep. 94.

16. People v. Knickerbocker Ice Co., 99 N. Y. 181, 1 N. E. 669.

17. Dudley v. Jamaica Pond Aqueduct Corp., 100 Mass. 183.

18. Byers v. Franklin Coal Co., 106 Mass. 131.

corporation within the meaning of a statute exempting such corporations from taxation.[19] A company organized for the purpose of manufacturing and supplying gas is entitled to the exemption from taxation granted by the laws of New York to "manufacturing corporations carrying on manufactures within this State."[20]

5. Corporations Formed "For Any Lawful Business or Purpose Whatever." Where an enabling statute authorizes the formation of corporations for enumerated purposes, and adds "or for any lawful business or purpose whatever, except," etc., this last clause is not so construed as to authorize the formation of any and every kind of corporation for any or every kind of lawful business and purpose, but is restrained in its meaning by the principle noscitur a sociis, and merely authorizes the formation of corporations of a like kind or for a like business or purpose as those specifically authorized.[21]

6. Purposes For Which Corporations May Be Formed Under Various Statutes. Under an act authorizing the formation of corporations for trade or for carrying on any lawful mechanical, manufacturing, or agricultural business, a corporation may be formed for the purpose of buying, owning, improving, selling, and leasing lands, tenements, hereditaments, real, personal, and mixed estates, and property, including the constructing and leasing of a building.[22] A corporation for the sale of goods, mining supplies, etc., may be organized under a statute,[23] providing that the legislative assemblies of the several territories may by general incorporation acts permit persons to associate themselves together as bodies corporate for mining, manufacturing, and other "industrial pursuits."[24] A corporation which has for its object the purchase of land and the construction of houses thereon — the funds being raised from the capital stock paid in by subscribers in instalments — and finally the allotment of the lot and houses among the shareholders in satisfaction of their stock is authorized under a statute[25] permitting any number of persons to become incorporated for the transaction of any lawful business.[26] The provision of the Missouri statute[27] authorizing the incorporation of companies for various purposes therein specified, and for any other purpose intended for pecuniary profit or gain not otherwise especially provided for, and not inconsistent with the state laws and constitution, is broad enough to authorize incorporation for the purpose of issuing and selling bonds to be redeemable at prescribed periods and in a prescribed order.[28] A laundry business operated by the use of machines and mechanical instruments instead of manual labor is within a statute[29] providing for the incorporation of companies to do "mechanical business."[30] A corporation to buy and sell stock, bonds, and public securities may be

19. People v. New York Floating Dry Dock Co., 92 N. Y. 487.

20. Nassau Gas Light Co. v. Brooklyn, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 567 [affirmed in 89 N. Y. 409].

The attorney-general of Pennsylvania has construed the term "mechanical business," as used in a statute of that state relating to the organization of corporations (Pa. Act of April 29, 1874) as referring to the employment of skilled labor in shaping materials into structures or products of utility and not as incidental to one of the arts or professions. He consequently rules that preparing and mechanically executing designs for decorating and furnishing buildings is not a business; nor is dredging and excavating in rivers and executing submarine work. In re Mechanical Business Cases, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 1.

21. Thus if a statute authorizes the formation of telegraph corporations and adds the words above given in quotations, these words will authorize the formation of telephone companies, since they are of a like kind with telegraph companies. Wisconsin Telephone Co. v. Oshkosh, 62 Wis. 32, 21 N. W. 828.

That a Telephone company may be regarded as a telegraph company see Atty.-Gen. v. Edison Telephone Co., 6 Q. B. D. 244, 50 L. J. Q. B. 145, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 697, 29 Wkly. Rep. 428.

22. Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 52 Minn. 239, 53 N. W. 1150, 38 Am. St. Rep. 552, 18 L. R. A. 778.

23. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1872), § 1889.

24. Bashford-Burmister Co. v. Agua Fria Copper Co., (Ariz. 1894) 35 Pac. 983.

25. Nebr. Comp. Stat. c. 16, § 123.

26. York Park Bldg. Assoc. v. Barnes, 39 Nebr. 834, 58 N. W. 440.

27. Mo. Rev. Stat. (1889), § 2771, subs. 11.

28. State v. Talbot, 123 Mo. 69, 27 S. W. 366; State v. Corkins, 123 Mo. 56, 27 S. W. 363.

29. Pa. Act April 29, 1874.

30. In re Keystone Laundry Co., 5 Pa. Dist. 735, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 444.

organized under the Pennsylvania statute authorizing companies for "trade and commerce."[31] A corporation may take to itself, under the statute law of Tennessee, the power to purchase specific property, provided the property is useful, convenient, and suitable to the general purposes of the corporation, and provided also that such purposes are legal.[32] A general statute authorizing the formation of corporations "for the erection of buildings" authorizes the formation of corporations for the purpose of engaging as a business in the erection of buildings.[33] A corporation organized to carry on the business usually performed by an express company is organized for the prosecution of "an industrial pursuit."[34] Under a statute which after enumerating many special purposes for which corporations could be formed, contained a subdivision reading, "for any other purpose intended for mutual profit or benefit, not otherwise specially provided for and not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of this State,"[35] a corporation might be formed "for the purpose of buying, selling, and dealing in real estate, live stock, bonds, securities, and other properties of all kinds, on its own account and for commission in the United States and elsewhere," the constitution and statute law of the state containing no express or implied prohibition of such business.[36] A statute[37] which, after enumerating the purposes for which corporations may be formed, adds the clause, "or other lawful business," authorizes the formation of a corporation, the purpose of which is recited as the "purchasing and holding real estate, subdividing the same into town or village lots and townsites, and selling and disposing of the same."[38] The business of preparing ice in its natural state for use as an article of consumption is within a statute authorizing the formation of corporations for "manufacturing purposes."[39] The manufacture of lumber, flour, and meal is within the purview of a statute authorizing "the formation of corporations for manufacturing, agricultural, mining, or mechanical purposes."[40] The establishment and maintenance of a wharf-boat and steam elevator at a city situated on a navigable stream, for a general storage and forwarding business, is a "work of public utility," within the meaning of a statute[41] enumerating the purposes for which corporations may be formed.[42] A corporation may be organized to guarantee the bonds of a university, under a statute permitting the formation of corporations for any lawful enterprise, business, pursuit, or occupation.[43] A corporation organized entirely for educational purposes is not authorized by a statute enabling corporations to be organized "for pecuniary profit," by reason of the fact that fees are to be charged for tuition.[44] A corporation created by a

31. In re Pittsburgh Stock Exch., 26 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 308. That real estate or land improvement corporations must in California be formed under Cal. Civ. Code, pt. 4, tit. 1, and not under pt. 4, tit. 16, § 639, see Vercoutere v. Golden State Land Co., 116 Cal. 410, 48 Pac. 375.

32. Bristol Bank, etc., Co. v. Jonesboro Banking Trust Co., 101 Tenn. 545, 48 S. W. 228.

33. People v. Troy House Co., 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 625.

34. Within the meaning of U. S. Rev. Stat. (1872), § 1889. Wells v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 23 Fed. 469, 10 Sawy. 441.

35. Tex. Rev. Stat. art. 566, subs. 27.

36. Jefferson Nat. Bank v. Texas Invest. Co., 74 Tex. 421, 12 S. W. 101 [criticizing Texas, etc., Canal, etc., Co. v. Galveston County Ct., 45 Tex. 272].

37. Minn. Stat. (1866), c. 34, § 45, as amended by Minn. Laws (1873), c. 13.

38. Brown v. Corbin, 40 Minn. 508, 42 N. W. 481. A corporation formed to carry on a manufacturing or other mechanical business and to purchase the stock of an insolvent corporation may support its existence under such a statute, although its organization purports to have been made under another. State v. Minnesota Thresher Mfg. Co., 40 Minn. 213, 41 N. W. 1020, 3 L. R. A. 510.

39. Atty.-Gen. v. Lorman, 59 Mich. 157, 26 N. W. 311, 60 Am. Rep. 287.

40. Cross v. Pinckneyville Mill Co., 17 Ill. 54.

41. La. Rev. Stat. § 683.

42. Glen v. Breard, 35 La. Ann. 875.

43. Maxwell v. Akin, 89 Fed. 178, holding that a clause in articles of incorporation whereby the corporation takes to itself the power to engage in the business of guaranteeing the bonds of a university, "and, to that end, to acquire, hold, plat, mortgage, and convey, both real and personal estate," is not a limitation on the powers of the corporation.

44. Santa Clara Female Academy v. Sullivan, 116 Ill. 375, 6 N. E. 183, 56 Am. Rep. 776.

special act of the legislature for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a pipe line for the conveyance of petroleum is valid under a constitutional provision prohibiting incorporation under special acts for any other purpose except, among other things, "the construction of some work of internal improvement."[45]

7. Purposes For Which Corporations Cannot Be Formed Under Various Statutes. Under a statute authorizing incorporation for the manufacture of sugar, syrup, starch, and glucose, and which, among other things, authorizes the formation of corporations for the transaction of manufacturing, mechanical, and mercantile business, a corporation cannot be formed for the manufacture of matches and woodenware.[46] Under a statute authorizing the formation of corporations for any lawful purpose, except, among other things, insurance,[47] a corporation cannot be formed, the purpose of which is to guarantee the fidelity of persons holding public or private places of trust, the performance by persons, firms, and corporations of contracts, bonds, recognizances, and undertakings of every kind, since these things are insurance, and this notwithstanding the fact that at the time of the passage of the act the guaranteeing of the obligations just mentioned was not carried on as a business.[48] The organization of a corporation for the purpose of carrying on the business of buying and selling bonds is not authorized by a statute,[49] authorizing the formation of corporations for the purpose of buying and selling merchandise and conducting mercantile operations.[50]

F. Who May Be Corporators or Members of Corporations[51] — 1. Alien Friends. The shares of joint-stock corporations being personal property, although the capital of the corporation may be invested in land, and alien friends, whether domiciled within the United States or in foreign countries, being permitted without question to own personal property, to make, take, and enforce contracts with respect to it, and to own land except where the state interferes to escheat it, it seems conclusively to follow that they may become corporators in joint-stock corporations organized for pecuniary gain, the actual (although possibly not the theoretical) situs of which is known in this country.[52]

2. Alien Enemies. Alien enemies manifestly cannot become original organizers of corporations, because the original con-association is founded in contract, and under a principle of public law no contract between parties situated on opposite sides of the lines of belligerent occupation can be valid.[53]

3. Infants. Executory contracts cannot be enforced against infants, unless ratified by the infant after becoming of age. There seems to be no propriety in

45. West Virginia Transp. Co. v. Volcanic Oil, etc., Co., 5 W. Va. 382.

Construction of a statute referring to corporations as "loan, mortgage, security, guaranty or indemnity company, . . . having the power and receiving money on deposit," and requiring reports from them to the superintendent of the banking department of the state, with the conclusion that a corporation formed to establish a public exchange for receiving deposits and transferring earnest moneys, stocks, bonds, and other securities, procuring and making loans thereon, and guaranteeing the payment of bonds and other obligations, is such a corporation. People v. Mutual Trust Co., 96 N. Y. 10.

46. Parkinson Sugar Co. v. Ft. Scott Bank, 60 Kan. 474, 57 Pac. 126.

47. Ill. Act April 18, 1872; Ill. Rev. Stat. (1899), c. 32, § 1.

48. People v. Rose, 174 Ill. 310, 51 N. E. 246, 44 L. R. A. 124.

49. Burns Rev. Stat. Ind. (1894), § 4583.

50. Indiana Bond Co. v. Ogle, 22 Ind. App. 593, 54 N. E. 407. 72 Am. St. Rep. 326.

51. Partnerships or corporations as shareholders see supra, I, A, 8.

Who may become shareholders see infra, VI, G.

52. That a ship may have a British register, although some of the members of the company which own it are aliens, see Reg. v. Arnaud, 9 Q. B. 806, 16 L. J. Q. B. 50, 58 E. C. L. 806. See also Aliens, 2 Cyc. 89, note 32 et seq.

53. As to this principle of public law see Lamar v. Browne, 92 U. S. 187, 23 L. ed. 650; The Flying Scud v. U. S., 6 Wall. (U. S.) 263, 18 L. ed. 755; The Peterhoff v. U. S., 5 Wall. (U. S.) 28, 18 L. ed. 564; U. S. v. Alexander, 2 Wall. (U. S.) 404, 17 L. ed. 915; Jecker v. Montgomery, 18 How. (U. S.) 110, 15 L. ed. 311; Hourjet v. Morris, 3 Campb. 303; Willison v. Patteson, 1 Moore C. P. 133, 7 Taunt. 439, 18 Rev. Rep. 525, 2 E. C. L. 436; Bell v. Reid, 1 M. & S. 726, 14 Rev. Rep. 557; Potts v. Bell, 8 T. R. 548, 5 Rev. Rep. 452; Albretcht v. Sussmann, 2 Ves. & B. 323, 13 Rev. Rep. 110; Ex p. Boussmaker, 13 Ves. Jr. 71, 9 Rev. Rep. 142.

the view taken by one court[54] that an infant can be a corporator.[55] He may become a shareholder in a joint-stock corporation, subject to his right to repudiate the relation within a reasonable time after becoming of age,[56] but subject to the obligation to pay calls, notwithstanding his infancy, so long as he holds on to the shares.[57] And while the directors have the power to refuse to allow him to become a shareholder,[58] yet if they fail so to do, a transfer of shares to him will not be void, but voidable merely.[59]

4. MARRIED WOMEN. Whether a married woman can be a corporator must depend upon the answer to the question whether, according to the law of the state in which the corporation is organized, she rests under the disabilities under which married women rest at common law. By that law a married woman had no power of contracting except in a few cases, which do not include the case under consideration. Under that law she cannot therefore become a party to an original subscription for shares.[60] Thus while she rested, in Pennsylvania, under the disabilities of the common law, she could not be one of the five subscribers required by the statute to the organization of a corporation;[61] but after those disabilities were removed by statute[62] she was not disqualified from becoming a corporator in a proposed corporation;[63] and in that state a charter has been granted by a judicial court to a corporation organized for benevolent purposes, all of whose corporators were married women.[64] Even where the common-law disabilities upon married women remained, the courts of equity interfered in her behalf and established the principle that she might make contracts in writing, as if she were sole, so as to bind her separate estate, provided that was the intent of the parties, which contracts were enforceable by a proceeding in equity.[65] Statutes have also interfered, establishing the dominion of married women over their separate estates, which statutory separate estate is regarded as a legal estate. Here, unless the statute provides otherwise, she can contract generally and her contract will bind her estate; and she may consequently become a shareholder in a corporation,[66] and consequently, it is supposed, an original member.

5. NUMBER OF CORPORATORS. General statutes under which corporations may

54. Chicago Mut. L. Indemnity Assoc. v. Hunt, 127 Ill. 257, 20 N. E. 55, 2 L. R. A. 549.

55. See to this effect Matter of Globe Mut. Ben. Assoc., 63 Hun (N. Y.) 263, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 852, 43 N. Y. St. 756.

But, under the English Companies Act of 1862, where one of the number of members necessary to the registration, that is, to the organization, of the company, was an infant, that fact did not prevent it from having a de facto existence so as to be entitled to be wound up as a company. In re Nassau Phosphate Co., 2 Ch. D. 610, 45 L. J. Ch. 584, 24 Wkly. Rep. 692, per Hall, V. C. See also In re Laxon, [1892] 3 Ch. 555, 61 L. J. Ch. 667, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 85, 40 Wkly. Rep. 621, per Vaughan Willis, J. [distinguishing In re National Debenture, etc., Corp., [1891] 2 Ch. 505, 60 L. J. Ch. 533, 64 L. T. Rep. N. S. 512, 39 Wkly. Rep. 707].

56. Dublin, etc., R. Co. v. Black, 8 Exch. 181, 22 L. J. Exch. 94, 7 R. & Can. Cas. 434; Northwestern R. Co. v. McMichael, 5 Exch. 114, 15 Jur. 132, 20 L. J. Exch. 97; Newry, etc., R. Co. v. Coombe, 3 Exch. 565, 18 L. J. Exch. 325, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 633; Coke Litt. 380*b*; Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 39.

57. Cork, etc., R. Co. v. Cazenove, 10 Q. B. 935, 11 Jur. 802, 59 E. C. L. 935; Leeds, etc., R. Co. v. Fearnley, 7 D. & L. 68, 4 Exch. 26, 18 L. J. Exch. 330, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 644; Northwestern R. Co. v. McMichael, 5 Exch. 114, 15 Jur. 132, 20 L. J. Exch. 97; Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 39.

58. In re Asiatic Banking Corp., L. R. 5 Ch. 298, 39 L. J. Ch. 461, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 217, 18 Wkly. Rep. 366.

59. In re Blakely Ordnance Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 31, 17 Wkly. Rep. 65.

60. Witters v. Sowles, 38 Fed. 700; Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 41.

61. In re Application for Charter, 27 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 399.

62. Pa. Married Women's Act 1893.

63. In re Married Persons' Property Act, 5 Pa. Dist. 742, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 492, per McCormick, Atty.-Gen.

64. In re Bloomfield First Independent Ladies' Aid Soc., 1 Pa. Dist. 754.

65. Martin v. Colburn, 88 Mo. 229; Boatmen's Sav. Bank v. Collins, 75 Mo. 280; Davis v. Smith, 75 Mo. 219; Sharpe v. McPike, 62 Mo. 300; Lincoln v. Rowe, 51 Mo. 575; Whitesides v. Cannon, 23 Mo. 457.

66. Witters v. Sowles, 38 Fed. 700.

Under the English Married Woman's Property Act of 1882 see In re Leeds Banking Co., L. R. 3 Eq. 781, 36 L. J. Ch. 90, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 266, 15 Wkly. Rep. 146; Reg. v. Carnatic R. Co., L. R. 8 Q. B. 299, 42 L. J. Q. B. 169, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 413, be organized fix in all cases, it is believed, the minimum number of persons who may unite to form a corporation. A frequent practice is for an individual desiring to turn his business into a corporation having a limited liability to get a sufficient number of dummies — persons who are under his control and who have no individual responsibility — to unite with him and thus to furnish the requisite number of signatures to the instrument of con-association. It seems that such a concern is to be regarded as a corporation de facto, and that a man may thus turn himself into a corporation, by committing a plain fraud on the law, so as to defeat his unsecured creditors.[67]

G. National Corporations — Power of Congress to Create — 1. General Nature of Power. Congress may create corporations, as an appropriate means of executing any of the powers conferred by the constitution upon the general government.[68] Congress may therefore, in virtue of its power to regulate commerce between the states, create a corporation to build a bridge across a navigable river separating two states, as for example the North River Bridge Company, incorporated under an act of congress with power to construct a bridge across the Hudson river between the states of New York and New Jersey.[69] Moreover, where such a corporation is organized for a public purpose, congress may undoubtedly confer the right of eminent domain upon it, without the consent of the states within which its works are to be established and carried on.[70] Under this principle congress may create corporations (1) within the territories, under its constitutional power "to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States";[71] (2) within the District of Columbia, under the grant of power "to exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such District";[72] (3) and within the states (and also within the territories and the District of Columbia), for the purpose of carrying into effect any of the other powers granted by congress, whether in express language or by necessary implication.[73] (4) Quasi-municipal corporations have been created by congress within state limits upon Indian reservations, and the power of congress so to do is understood to stand unquestioned.[74] (5) The 21 Wkly. Rep. 621; In re London, etc., Bank, 18 Ch. D. 581, 50 L. J. Ch. 557, 45 L. T. Rep. N. S. 166, 30 Wkly. Rep. 118.

67. Salomon v. Salomon, [1897] A. C. 22, 66 L. J. Ch. 35, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 426, 4 Manson 89, 45 Wkly. Rep. 193; Broderip v. Salomon, [1895] 2 Ch. 323, 72 L. T. Rep. N. S. 261. To a similar effect see Louisville Banking Co. v. Eisenman, 94 Ky. 83, 21 S. W. 531, 1049, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 705, 42 Am. St. Rep. 335, 19 L. R. A. 684; Munkittrick v. Perryman, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 149.

68. Luxton v. North River Bridge Co., 153 U. S. 525, 14 S. Ct. 891, 38 L. ed. 808; California v. Central Pac. R. Co., 127 U. S. 1, 8 S. Ct. 1073, 32 L. ed. 150; Union Pac. R. Co. v. Myers, 115 U. S. 1, 5 S. Ct. 1113, 29 L. ed. 319; In re Legal Tender Cases, 110 U. S. 421, 4 S. Ct. 122, 28 L. ed. 204; Farmers', etc., Nat. Bank v. Dearing, 91 U. S. 29, 23 L. ed. 196; Osborn v. U. S. Bank, 9 Wheat. (U. S.) 738, 6 L. ed. 204; McCulloch v. Maryland, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 316, 4 L. ed. 579.

69. Luxton v. North River Bridge Co., 153 U. S. 525, 14 S. Ct. 891, 38 L. ed. 808.

70. Luxton v. North River Bridge Co., 153 U. S. 525, 14 S. Ct. 891, 38 L. ed. 808; Cherokee Nation v. Southern Kansas R. Co., 135 U. S. 641, 10 S. Ct. 965, 34 L. ed. 295; U. S. v. Great Falls Mfg. Co., 112 U. S. 645, 5 S. Ct. 306, 28 L. ed. 846; U. S. v. Jones, 109 U. S. 513, 3 S. Ct. 346, 27 L. ed. 1015; U. S. v. Fox, 94 U. S. 315, 24 L. ed. 192; Kohl v. U. S., 91 U. S. 367, 23 L. ed. 449; Stockton v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 32 Fed. 9.

An historical sketch of corporations which have been created by congress will be found in 1 Thompson Corp. §§ 665–669.

71. U. S. Const. art. 4, § 3, cl. 2.

72. U. S. Const. art. 1, § 8.

73. In re Legal Tender Cases, 110 U. S. 421, 4 S. Ct. 122, 28 L. ed. 204; Farmers, etc., Nat. Bank v. Dearing, 91 U. S. 29, 23 L. ed. 196; Osborn v. U. S. Bank, 9 Wheat. (U. S.) 738, 6 L. ed. 204; McCulloch v. Maryland, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 316, 4 L. ed. 579.

74. U. S. v. Kagama, 118 U. S. 375, 6 S. Ct. 1109, 30 L. ed. 228; Utah, etc., R. Co. v. Fisher, 116 U. S. 28, 6 S. Ct. 246, 29 L. ed. 542; Ex p. Kan-gi-shun-ca, 109 U. S. 556, 3 S. Ct. 396, 27 L. ed. 1030; Kansas Indians v. Johnson County, 5 Wall. (U. S.) 737, 18 L. ed. 667; Worcester v. Georgia, 6 Pet. (U. S.) 515, 8 L. ed. 483; History of the Creek and Cherokee Controversy, 1 Van Holst Const. Hist. U. S. (Am. ed.) 433. See as to Ute Reservation in the state of Colorado created in the territory of Colorado by treaty of March 2, 1868 (15 U. S. Stat. at L. 619), U. S. v. McBratney, 11 Fed. 96 note.

power of congress to regulate commerce among the several states granted by the so-called commerce clause of the federal constitution,[75] is construed as totally excluding the power of the states over that subject, so that in the absence of a regulation made by congress the constitutional provision is tantamount to a mandate that interstate commerce shall be free.[76] Intercommunication is commerce; telegraph lines are instruments of commerce; and when they cross the boundaries of states they are instruments of interstate commerce.[77] Congress has conferred very important franchises upon such companies.[78] There is no doubt of the power of congress to enact such statutes[79] under its power to regulate commerce,[80] and the power of congress to confer important franchises upon corporations under state laws necessarily implies a power to create such corporations by direct legislation in the first instance. (6) Congress also possesses the power, under the constitution, "to establish post-offices and post-roads."[81] By an act of congress "all railroads or parts of railroads which are now or hereafter may be in operation" are established as post-roads of the United States.[82] The acts of congress just referred to may also be ascribed to this power. Some of them use the word "post-roads," and others, such as the one giving congress the power to purchase existing telegraph lines, employ the words "for postal, military, or other purposes." Post-roads are roads which have been declared such under the constitutional power by an act of congress, and it seems that they embrace ordinary highways and city streets.[83] As just seen they embrace railroads, and it seems that an elevated railroad in a city is a post-road in the sense that it cannot exclude a telegraph company operating under the franchises conferred by congress in the acts of congress already cited, from the privilege of suspending its wires along its elevated structure.[84] (7) Congress unquestionably may confer franchises upon corporations created by or under the laws of states of the Union, whenever it is necessary to give effect to the powers expressly granted to the general government by the federal constitution. The legislation relating to telegraph companies just referred to may be cited as an instance of the valid exercise of this power.[85] (8) There is no doubt that for the purpose of effectuating any of the express powers conferred upon the general government that government may exercise the power of eminent domain within the states,

75. U. S. Const. art. 1, § 8.

76. Corson v. Maryland, 120 U. S. 502, 7 S. Ct. 655, 30 L. ed. 699; Wabash, etc., R. Co. v. Illinois, 118 U. S. 557, 7 S. Ct. 4, 30 L. ed. 244; Pickard v. Pullman Southern Car Co., 117 U. S. 34, 6 S. Ct. 635, 29 L. ed. 785; Walling v. Michigan, 116 U. S. 446, 6 S. Ct. 454, 29 L. ed. 691; Brown v. Houston, 114 U. S. 622, 5 S. Ct. 1091, 29 L. ed. 257; Gloucester Ferry Co. v. Pennsylvania, 114 U. S. 196, 5 S. Ct. 826, 29 L. ed. 158; Hall v. De Cuir, 95 U. S. 485, 24 L. ed. 547; Hannibal, etc., R. Co. v. Husen, 95 U. S. 465, 24 L. ed. 527; Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Pennsylvania, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 232, 21 L. ed. 146; Gilman v. Philadelphia, 3 Wall. (U. S.) 713, 18 L. ed. 96; Cooley v. Philadelphia, 12 How. (U. S.) 299, 13 L. ed. 996.

77. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Atlantic, etc., Tel. Co., 5 Nev. 102; Ratterman v. Western Union Tel. Co., 127 U. S. 411, 8 S. Ct. 1127, 32 L. ed. 229; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Pendleton, 122 U. S. 347, 7 S. Ct. 1126, 30 L. ed. 1187; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Texas, 105 U. S. 460, 26 L. ed. 1067; Pensacola Tel. Co. v. Western Union Tel. Co., 96 U. S. 1, 24 L. ed. 708.

78. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1872), §§ 5263–5269.

79. Pensacola Tel. Co. v. Western Union Tel. Co., 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,960, 2 Woods 643 [affirmed in 96 U. S. 1, 24 L. ed. 708].

80. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Atlantic, etc., Tel. Co., 5 Nev. 102.

81. U. S. Const. art. 1, § 8.

82. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1872), § 3964.

83. As to what congress has declared to be post-roads see 1 Thompson Corp. p. 526; U. S. Rev. Stat. (1872), § 3964; 23 U. S. Stat. at L. 3; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Texas, 105 U. S. 460, 26 L. ed. 1067; Pensacola Tel. Co. v. Western Union Tel. Co., 96 U. S. 1, 24 L. ed. 708.

84. Western Union Tel. Co. v. New York City, 38 Fed. 552, 3 L. R. A. 449.

85. See for example an act to protect telegraph lines owned or occupied by the United States, June 23, 1874 (18 U. S. Stat. at L. 250). Western Union Tel. Co. v. Seay, 132 U. S. 472, 10 S. Ct. 161, 33 L. ed. 409; Leloup v. Mobile, 127 U. S. 640, 8 S. Ct. 1380, 32 L. ed. 311 [reversing 76 Ala. 401]; Ratterman v. Western Union Tel. Co., 127 U. S. 411, 8 S. Ct. 1127, 32 L. ed. 229; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Massachusetts, 125 U. S. 530, 8 S. Ct. 961, 31 L. ed. 790; Western and consequently may confer the power upon corporations, whether created by it, or already in existence.[86] In one railway charter granted by congress, it was provided that the assent of the state should be obtained to the condemnation of land; and it seems that this provision was complied with by obtaining the consent of the state after the road had been constructed.[87] (9) Congress has undoubtedly the power to confer exclusive jurisdiction upon the federal courts, of all suits by or against national corporations, and to provide for removing suits brought against them in the state courts to the federal courts.[88] The creation of a corporation by congress is held by implication to make any controversy to which such corporation may be a party a controversy "arising under . . . the laws of the United States," within the meaning of the federal constitution.[89] And it seems that congress has power to make the jurisdiction of the federal courts over all controversies to which that jurisdiction is made to extend under the constitution and acts of congress exclusive.[90]

2. Within the Territories. In the exercise of its plenary power over this subject, already referred to,[91] congress has provided for the formation of corporations within the territories, by general statutes enacted by the territorial legislatures, but has forbidden the granting of private charters or of special privileges to corporations.[92] The power of congress itself to create corporations within the territories is of course unrestricted, and this power has been repeatedly exercised.[93] A corporation of a territory cannot sue or be sued in a court of the United States as a national corporation.[94] When a territory becomes admitted into the Union as a state the corporations lawfully created and existing therein become, to all intents and purposes, state corporations.[95]

3. Within the District of Columbia. The general and exclusive legislative power over the District of Columbia, conferred upon congress by the clause of the constitution of the United States already referred to, of course carries with it the power to create corporations within that district.[96] Corporations created by congress within the District of Columbia, other than those which are created for the purpose of giving effect to the general powers of the government of the United States, are created in virtue of the power of congress as the local Union Tel. Co. v. Pendleton, 122 U. S. 347, 7 S. Ct. 1126, 30 L. ed. 1187.

86. U. S. v. Jones, 109 U. S. 513, 3 S. Ct. 346, 27 L. ed. 1015; Kohl v. U. S., 91 U. S. 367, 23 L. ed. 449.

The charter of one national railway corporation provides for the condemnation of private property within the states, according to the law of the state in which the property is situated. 16 U. S. Stat. at L. p. 576, § 10.

87. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Myers, 115 U. S. 1, 5 S. Ct. 1113, 29 L. ed. 319.

88. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Myers, 115 U. S. 1, 5 S. Ct. 1113, 29 L. ed. 319; Kennedy v. Gibson, 8 Wall. (U. S.) 498, 19 L. ed. 476; Osborn v. U. S. Bank, 9 Wheat. (U. S.) 738, 6 L. ed. 204.

89. U. S. Const. art. 3, § 2; Union Pac. R. Co. v. Myers, 115 U. S. 1, 5 S. Ct. 1113, 29 L. ed. 319.

90. Claflin v. Houseman, 93 U. S. 130, 23 L. ed. 833; Gaines v. Fuentes, 92 U. S. 10, 23 L. ed. 524; The Moses Taylor v. Hammons, 4 Wall. (U. S.) 411, 18 L. ed. 397. These cases by implication overrule Cooke v. State Nat. Bank, 52 N. Y. 96, 11 Am. Rep. 667. A quo warranto suit by a state against a corporation originally chartered by such state, to test the validity of the merger of such corporation, is a suit arising under the laws of the United States. Ames v. Kansas, 111 U. S. 449, 4 S. Ct. 437, 28 L. ed. 482.

91. See supra, I, G, 1.

Plenary power of congress over the territories see Boyd v. Nebraska, 143 U. S. 135, 12 S. Ct. 375, 36 L. ed. 103; Church of Jesus Christ, etc. v. U. S., 136 U. S. 1, 34 L. ed. 478 [affirming 5 Utah 362, 15 Pac. 473].

92. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1872), § 1889.

As to the power of a territorial legislature, under an enabling act of congress, to charter a corporation see Vincennes University v. Indiana, 14 How. (U. S.) 268, 14 L. ed. 416.

93. See for example 24 U. S. Stat. at L. 107.

94. Adams Express Co. v. Denver, etc., R. Co., 16 Fed. 712, 4 McCrary 77.

95. Vincennes Bank v. State, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 267, 12 Am. Dec. 234; Vance v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 80; Kansas Pac. R. Co. v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 112 U. S. 414, 5 S. Ct. 208, 28 L. ed. 794.

96. For cases in which the existence of this power has been recognized see Daly v. U. S. National L. Ins. Co., 64 Ind. 1; Williams v. Creswell, 51 Miss. 817; Hadley v. Freedman's Sav., etc., Co., 2 Tenn. Ch. 122; Huntington v. District of Columbia Nat. Sav. Bank, 96 U. S. 388, 24 L. ed. 777.

legislature for that district. Congress can and has made the District of Columbia substantially a municipal corporation. It has been said that congress can confer upon the District of Columbia only municipal powers. But there seems to be no such restraint imposed upon congress by the constitution. Corporations created by the District of Columbia, when acting in any of the states of the Union, are deemed to be foreign corporations in the same sense in which a corporation created by another state is so deemed.[97]

4. NATIONAL BANKS. Congress has the power to create national banks for the purpose of furnishing a means of marketing the bonds of the United States, and of giving effect to the fiscal powers of the government; and this power, although not expressly granted, belongs to that numerous class of powers which, even when arising by judicial implication merely, may be referred to the express power "to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof."[98]

H. Interstate Corporations Created by Concurrent Action of Two States. It has been found necessary, at least in the case of railroad corporations maintaining interstate railroads, to procure charters from two or more states. These charters have been couched in similar language, have conferred substantially similar franchises and privileges, and under them one organization has taken place, and the railroad properties created thereunder have been managed by one governing body, forming substantially one corporation. That there is no constitutional objection to this seems to be clear and settled.[99] But under an old and somewhat musty doctrine that a corporation can have but one domicile and must dwell in the place of its creation,[1] judicial casuistry, after struggling painfully with the question, came to the conclusion that such concurrent legislation did not operate to create a single corporation, but operated to create a separate corporation within each state, although possessing the same powers and franchises, and being managed by the same governing body.[2] This casuistry, however, was not suited to the practical needs of a business people; and consequently the court which first propounded it was compelled in a subsequent decision to abandon the doctrine and to adopt the better view that the question whether there is a unity in the corporation and in the proprietorship of the corporate property is in such case one of legislative intent and not of legislative power. Accordingly the doctrine of the court now is that several states may by competent legislation unite in creating the same corporation or in combining several preëxisting corporations into a single one; that one state may make a corporation of another state, as thus organized and conducted, a corporation of its own, as to any property within its territorial jurisdiction; and that a state may by an enabling act authorize a corporation created in another state to build and use a railroad within its own limits without creating a new corporation.[3] Illustrations of these conclusions are 97. Daly v. U. S. National L. Ins. Co., 64 Ind. 1; Williams v. Creswell, 51 Miss. 817; Hadley v. Freedman's Sav., etc., Co., 2 Tenn. Ch. 122.

98. U. S. Const. art. 1, § 8, last clause. That congress had the constitutional power to create the former national bank was held in McCulloch v. Maryland, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 316, 4 L. ed. 579. That it had the power to create the existing national banks was held in Van Allen v. Assessors, 3 Wall. (U. S.) 573.

99. Bishop v. Brainerd, 28 Conn. 289.

1. Augusta Bank v. Earle, 13 Pet. (U. S.) 519, 10 L. ed. 274.

2. Newport, etc., Bridge Co. v. Woolley, 78 Ky. 523 (holding that the legal status of two corporations thus created is that of agents for each other); Allegheny County v. Cleveland, etc., R. Co., 51 Pa. St. 228, 88 Am. Dec. 579; Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Wheeler, 1 Black (U. S.) 286, 17 L. ed. 130.

3. Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 12 Wall. (U. S.) 65, 20 L. ed. 354 [followed in Copeland v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,209, 3 Woods 651]. But in another federal court it was held that where the charter of a corporation in one state is duplicated in another state, and the legislature assumes to create a home corporation, the effect is to consolidate the two; but for purposes of jurisdiction it is a separate corporation within the state of its adoption. In such a case a separate organization is not neces-now seen every day in the passage by states of enactments making foreign corporations doing business within the domestic jurisdictions domestic corporations, and amenable in all respects to the domestic laws and police regulations, notwithstanding the provisions of their foreign charters.[4] But it remains equally true that for many purposes of legal procedure and practical convenience in the administration of justice each one of the bodies so created remains a domestic corporation within the state under whose legislature it has been called into existence.[5] Clearly such a corporation is a domestic corporation within each of the states whose legislation has created it, for the purpose of local jurisdiction to the application of local police regulations.[6] Such a corporation is a resident of each of such states, for the purpose of the ordinary jurisdiction of its courts, and consequently may be subjected to garnishment in any one of them, provided the situs of the debt is there, although its principal office or place of business be not there.[7] Being a domestic corporation, such a corporation is not subject to foreign attachment.[8] For the same reason, when such a corporation is sued in either of the states by whose legislation it has been created, it is not entitled to remove the cause to the circuit court of the United States, unless all the plaintiffs are "citizens" of some other state, where the ground under which the removal is sought is diverse state citizenship.[9] Such a corporation is a domestic corporation within each state by whose legislation it has been created, for the purpose of suing and sary. Blackburn v. Selma, etc., R. Co., 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,467, 2 Flipp. 525.

4. See, generally, FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.

5. Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Gallahue, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 655, 65 Am. Dec. 254; Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 12 Wall. (U. S.) 65, 20 L. ed. 354. Compare In re St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 36 Minn. 85, 30 N. W. 432 (holding that it is a domestic corporation for the purpose of the service of process); Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Marshall County, 3 W. Va. 319; Goshorn v. Ohio County, 1 W. Va. 308; Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Alabama, 107 U. S. 581, 2 S. Ct. 432, 27 L. ed. 518; Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Vance, 96 U. S. 450, 24 L. ed. 752; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Whitton, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 270, 20 L. ed. 571. See also infra, III, B.

Cannot plead non-residence.—From the premise that a corporation created by the legislation of two states is a domestic corporation in each of such states, and has a legal existence or residence in each of them, it cannot, when sued in either of them, plead its non-residence, on the ground of being a resident of the other. Mobile, etc., R. Co. v. Barnhill, 91 Tenn. 395, 19 S. W. 21, 30 Am. St. Rep. 889; Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Alabama, 107 U. S. 581, 2 S. Ct. 432, 27 L. ed. 518. The fact that a railroad corporation, existing under a charter granted by the state of Tennessee and performing its corporate functions in that state, had been previously incorporated under earlier charters obtained from Alabama and Mississippi, under which charters it had effected an organization in those states, and under which it was still operating in those states, did not render it any the less a domestic corporation and a resident of the state of Tennessee. Georgia, etc., R. Co. v. Stollenwerck, 122 Ala. 539, 25 So. 258.

6. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Wheeler, 1 Black (U. S.) 286, 17 L. ed. 130. See also Rece v. Newport News, etc., Co., 32 W. Va. 164, 9 S. E. 212, 3 L. R. A. 572, for a consideration of the status of such corporation.

The ultra vires acts of a foreign corporation, which is a creature of the laws of two different states, are not made valid by a confirmatory statute enacted by the legislature in one only of such states. Fisk v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 4 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 378.

There is also a theory to the effect that such a corporation is at once a domestic and a foreign corporation within each of the states creating it — a domestic corporation to the extent of its action under the government of the domestic state, and a foreign corporation as regards the other sources of its existence. State v. Northern Cent. R. Co., 18 Md. 193.

7. Smith v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 33 N. H. 337; Mahany v. Kephart, 15 W. Va. 609; Drake Attach. (5th ed.) § 479. See also Bolton v. Pennsylvania Co., 88 Pa. St. 261.

8. Sprague v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 5 R. I. 233.

9. Horne v. Boston etc., R. Co., 62 N. H. 454; Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Alabama, 107 U. S. 581, 2 S. Ct. 432, 27 L. ed. 518; Paul v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 44 Fed. 513; Cohn v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 39 Fed. 227.

Opposed to the above is a questionable decision reversing a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals (three justices of the supreme court dissenting), to the effect that such a corporation may be regarded as a foreign corporation for the purpose of suing a domestic citizen or corporation of either of the states by which it is created. Nashua, etc., R. Corp. v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 136 U. S. 356, 10 S. Ct. 1004, 34 L. ed. 363. But how a corporation can be a foreign corporation in the very state by whose legislation it has been created for any purpose except to enlarge federal jurisdiction on fictitious grounds cannot be made to appear.

being sued there,[10] although upon a cause of action arising in the other state;[11] and the courts of one of the states by whose legislation it has been chartered may restrain it from expending its corporate funds for any other than corporate purposes, whether in that state or anywhere else.[12]

I. Constitutional Restraints Upon Creation of Corporations and Granting of Corporate Privileges — 1. Index to Provisions. Many of the states have embodied provisions in their constitutions restraining the power of their legislatures in the creation of corporations, in the granting of corporate franchises and privileges, in the extension of charters, and in remitting forfeitures of charters, in the particulars named below. Down to a recent date these provisions will be found collected and set out in full in a modern work on the law of private corporations.[13] Others have been collected bringing the record down to a late date. These constitutional provisions, together with others which have been established since the publication of that work, are so numerous and extensive that it will not be practicable in the present article to do more than briefly index them.[14]

10. Guinault v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 41 La. Ann. 571, 6 So. 850.

11. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Ayres, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 725.

12. State v. Northern Cent. R. Co., 18 Md. 193.

13. 1 Thompson Corp. §§ 538–568.

14. Corporations not to be created, etc., by special laws. 1 Thompson Corp. § 539.

Arkansas.— Const. (1874), art. 12, § 2.

California.— Const. (1879), art. 4, § 25, div. 19.

Colorado.— Const. (1876), art. 5, § 25; art. 15, § 2.

Idaho.— Const. (1889), art. 3, § 19.

Illinois.— Const. (1870), art. 4, § 22; art. 11, § 1.

Kansas.— Const. (1859), art. 12, § 1.

Louisiana.— Const. (1898), arts. 48, 262, no local or special law creating, or amending, renewing, extending, or explaining any charter thereof.

Missouri.— Const. (1875), art. 4, § 53; art. 12, § 2.

Montana.— Const. (1889), art. 5, § 26; art. 15, § 2.

Nebraska.— Const. (1875), art. 3, § 15.

Pennsylvania.— Const. (1873), art. 3, § 7.

Washington.— Const. (1889–1890), art. 2, § 28.

Shall not be created by special acts, but only under general laws.— 1 Thompson Corp. § 540.

Alabama.— Const. (1875), art. 13, § 1.

Arkansas.— Const. (1874), art. 12, § 6, in part.

California.— Const. (1879), art. 12, § 1, in part.

Delaware.— Const. (1831), art. 2, Addendum of § 17.

Florida.— Const. (1868), art. 5, § 22.

Georgia.— Const. (1877), art. 3, § 7, par. 18, that all corporate powers and privileges to banking, insurance, railroad, canal, navigation, express, and telegraph companies shall be issued and granted by the secretary of state, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

Idaho.— Const. (1899), art. 11, § 2.

Indiana.— Const. (1851), art. 11, § 13.

Iowa.— Const. (1857), art. 8, § 1.

Louisiana.— Const. (1898), art. 275, may pass general laws for creation of corporations and protection of shareholders thereof.

Maine.— Const. (1820), art. 4, § 14, Amendm. 1876.

Maryland.— Const. (1867), art. 3, § 48.

Michigan.— Const. (1850), art. 15, § 1, Amendm. 1862.

Minnesota.— Const. (1857), art. 10, § 2.

Mississippi.— Const. (1890), § 178.

Nebraska.— Const. (1875), art. 11, § 1.

Nevada.— Const. (1864), art. 8, § 1.

New Jersey.— Const. Amendm. (1875), art. 4, § 7.

New York.— Const. Amendm. (1874), art. 2, § 18 (in part); Const. (1894), art. 8, § 1 (not to be created except under general laws, except where, in the judgment of the legislature, objects of, cannot be otherwise attained, etc.).

North Carolina.— Const. Amendm. (1876), art. 8, § 1; Const. (1901), art. 8, § 1.

North Dakota.— Const. (1889), § 131.

Oregon.— Const. (1857), art. 11, § 2.

South Carolina.— Const. (1868), art. 12, § 1; Const. (1894), art. 12, § 1.

South Dakota.— Const. (1889), art. 17, § 1.

Tennessee.— Const. (1870), art. 11, § 8.

Texas.— Const. (1876), art. 3, § 56; art. 12, §§ 1, 2.

Utah.— Const. (1895), art. 12, § 1.

West Virginia.— Const. (1872), art. 11, § 1.

Wisconsin.— Const. (1848), art. 11, § 1; Const. Amendm. (1871), art. 4, § 31.

Wyoming.— Const. (1889), art. 10, § 1, under general laws only.

Special acts shall not be passed for the benefit of corporations. La. Const. (1898), art. 48 (legislature forbidden to pass any special law granting any special or exclusive privilege or immunity to corporations); Miss. Const. (1890), § 87 (no special act may be passed for the benefit of corporations); Miss. Const. (1890), § 90*u* (grants of lands to corporations by special acts of legislation

2. Object and Policy of Restraints. The policy of the constitutional provisions just indexed and catalogued, which prohibit the legislatures from passing special or local acts creating corporations, conferring corporate powers, extending prohibited); N. Y. Const. (1894), art. 8, § 4 (legislature prohibited from enacting special charters for banking associations).

Stock of corporations not to be increased except by general laws and with consent of majority of shareholders, etc.

Idaho.— Const. (1899), art. 11, § 9, and all fictitious increase of stock or indebtedness declared void.

Louisiana.— Const. (1898), art. 267.

North Dakota.— Const. (1889), § 138, majority of shareholders at a meeting to be held after sixty days.

South Dakota.— Const. (1889), art. 17, § 8, same provision.

Utah.— Const. (1895), art. 12, § 5, after notice given as prescribed by law.

Which general laws or special acts are subject to alteration, amendment, or repeal. 1 Thompson Corp. § 541.

Alabama.— Const. (1875), art. 13, § 1, in part.

Arkansas.— Const. (1874), art. 12, § 6.

California.— Const. (1879), art. 12, § 1.

Idaho.— Const. (1889), art. 11, §§ 2, 3.

Iowa.— Const. (1857), art. 8, § 12.

Kentucky.— Const. (1891), § 205, general assembly empowered to provide for revocation of charters of corporations when guilty of abuse or misuse of corporate powers.

Maryland.— Const. (1867), art. 3, § 48.

South Dakota.—Const. (1889), art. 17, § 9, whenever deemed injurious to citizens of the state, but must be done so that no injustice be done to incorporators.

Utah.— Const. (1895), art. 12, § 1.

Washington.— Const. (1889–1890), art. 12, § 1.

Wyoming.— Const. (1889), art. 10, § 2, police power of state over corporations declared to be supreme, and legislature may forfeit their franchises for neglect of duty or abuse of power.

Legislature not to extend charters or remit forfeitures of them. 1 Thompson Corp. § 542; Cal. Const. (1879), art. 12, § 7; Mo. Const. (1875), art. 12, § 3; Wash. Const. (1889–1890), art. 12, § 3.

Corporations not to have remission of forfeiture of charters or any beneficial legislation except on condition of submission to constitutional provisions. 1 Thompson Corp. § 543.

Alabama.— Const. (1875), art. 13, § 3.

Arkansas.— Const. (1874), art. 17, § 8.

Georgia.— Const. (1877), art. 4, § 2, par. 1.

Idaho.— Const. (1889), art. 11, § 7.

Mississippi.— Const. (1890), § 179.

North Dakota.— Const. (1889), § 133.

Pennsylvania.— Const. (1873), art. 16, § 2.

South Dakota.— Const. (1889), art. 17, § 3.

Utah.— Const. (1895), art. 12, § 2.

Legislature may alter, revoke, or annul existing charters.— 1 Thompson Corp. § 544; Ala. Const. (1875), art. 13, § 10 (in part); Colo. Const. (1876), art. 15, § 3; Mont. Const. (1889), art. 15, § 3; Pa. Const. (1873), art. 16, § 10.

The legislature shall enact no law creating, extending or renewing the charter of more than one corporation. 1 Thompson Corp. § 545; Ala. Const. (1875), art. 13, § 10; Pa. Const. (1873), art. 16, § 10; S. D. Const. (1889), art. 17, § 9.

Existing charters, special privileges, etc., annulled where no bona fide organization has taken place under them. 1 Thompson Corp. § 546.

Alabama.—Const. (1875), art. 13, § 2, with the word "ratification" instead of "adoption."

Arkansas.— Const. (1874), art. 12, § 1.

Colorado.— Const. (1876), art. 15, § 1, in substance.

Idaho.— Const. (1889), art. 11, § 1, in substance.

Illinois.— Const. (1870), art. 11, § 2.

Mississippi.— Const. (1890), § 180.

Missouri.— Const. (1875), art. 12, § 1.

Montana.— Const. (1889), art. 15, § 1, in substance.

Nebraska.— Const. (1875), art. 11, § 6.

North Dakota.— Const. (1889), § 132.

Pennsylvania.— Const. (1873), art. 16, § 1.

South Dakota.— Const. (1889), art. 17, § 2.

Washington.— Const. (1889–1890), art. 12, § 2, in substance.

West Virginia.—Const. (1872), art. 11, § 3.

Wyoming.— Const. (1889), art. 10, § 3.

Other provisions requiring acceptance of new constitutions see Ky. Const. (1891), § 190 (constitution must be accepted by corporations); Wyo. Const. (1889), art. 10, §§ 5, 6 (existing corporations must accept and file acceptance of this constitution).

The state shall not become a shareholder in or loan its credit to, or in any manner grant pecuniary aid to any corporation — provisions in a great variety of language. 1 Thompson Corp. § 547.

Arkansas.— Const. (1874), art. 12, § 7.

California.— Const. (1879), art. 12, § 13; art. 4, § 22.

Florida.— Const. (1868), art. 12, § 8; Const. (1887), art. 9, § 10.

Idaho.— Const. (1889), art. 8, § 2.

Indiana.— Const. (1851), art. 11, § 12.

Iowa.— Const. (1857), art. 8, § 3; art. 7, § 1.

Kentucky.— Const. (1850), art. 2, § 33.

Maryland.— Const. (1867), art. 3, § 34.

Michigan.— Const. (1850), art. 14, §§ 6, 8.

Mississippi.— Const. (1868), art. 12, § 5.

Missouri.— Const. (1875), art. 4, §§ 45, 46, 49.

Nevada.— Const. (1864), art. 8, § 9.

New York.— Const. Amendm. (1874), art. 8, § 10; Const. (1894), art. 8, § 9 (credit or money of state not to be given or loaned in aid of).

corporate charters, or remitting forfeitures thereof, has been said to be "to inaugurate the policy of placing all corporations of the same kind upon a perfect

North Carolina.— Const. Amendm. (1876), art. 5, § 4.
Ohio.— Const. (1851), art. 8, § 4.
Oregon.— Const. (1857), art. 11, § 6.
Pennsylvania.— Const. (1873), art. 3, § 18; art. 9, § 6.
Tennessee.— Const. (1870), art. 2, §§ 31, 33.
Texas.— Const. (1876), art. 3, §§ 50, 51.
Virginia.— Const. (1870), art. 10, §§ 12, 14.
Washington.— Const. (1889–1890), art. 8, § 5; art. 12, § 9.
West Virginia.— Const. (1872), art. 10, § 6.
Wisconsin.— Const. (1848), art. 7, § 3.
Wyoming.— Const. (1889), art. 10, § 5, state, counties, townships, school-districts, and municipal corporations, forbidden to give or loan their credit or make donations to railroads or to telegraph companies, but this provision not to apply to obligations contracted before adoption of constitution.

Debts due by corporations to the state or to municipalities shall not be released or commuted, corporate debts assumed, or liens upon railways released or extinguished except upon full payment — variety of provisions. 1 Thompson Corp. § 548.
Arkansas.— Const. (1874), art. 12, § 12.
California.— Const. (1879), art. 4, § 25, div. 16.
Idaho.— Const. (1889), art. 3, § 19.
Illinois.— Const. (1870), art. 4, § 23.
Missouri.— Const. (1875), art. 4, §§ 50, 51.
Montana.— Const. (1889), art. 5, § 39.
Texas.— Const. (1876), art. 3, § 54.
Virginia.— Const. (1870), art. 10, § 21.

No municipal aid whatever by counties, cities, towns, townships, etc., in whatever form, etc., shall be granted to private corporations. 1 Thompson Corp. § 549.
Arkansas.— Const. (1874), art. 12, § 5.
Idaho.— Const. (1889), art. 8, § 4.
Iowa.— Const. (1858), art. 8, § 4.
Louisiana.— Const. (1898), art. 270, but municipal aid to railroads permitted.
Mississippi.— Const. (1890), § 183, state forbidden to become shareholder in.
Missouri.— Const. (1875), art. 4, § 47.
Nebraska.— Const. (1875), art. 11, § 1.
New Hampshire.— Const. Amendm. (1877), pt. 2, § 5, proviso.
New Jersey.— Const. Amendm. (1875), art. 1, par. 19.
New York.— Const. (1894), art. 8, § 10, counties, cities, and towns, not to give or loan money or credit in aid of.
Ohio.— Const. (1851), art. 8, § 6.
Oregon.— Const. (1857), art. 11, § 9.
Pennsylvania.— Const. (1873), art. 9, § 7.
Texas.— Const. (1876), art. 3, § 52; art. 11, § 3.

No such aid shall be granted except upon certain prescribed conditions.— 1 Thompson Corp. § 550.
Georgia.— Const. (1868), art. 3, § 6, No. 4.
Maryland.— Const. (1867), art. 3, § 54.
Mississippi.— Const. (1868), art. 12, § 14.
Montana.— Const. (1889), art. 5, § 38.
Nevada.— Const. (1864), art. 8, § 10.
Tennessee.— Const. (1870), art. 2, § 29.

Neither state nor municipal aid nor loan of public credit shall ever be granted to corporations. 1 Thompson Corp. § 551; Cal. Const. (1879), art. 4, § 31; Fla. Const. (1868), art. 3, Addendum § 7; Ind. Const. (1851), art. 10, § 6; N. J. Const. Amendm. (1875), art. 1, par. 20.

Provisions of the constitution of Minnesota as to state aid to corporations and as to the "Minnesota Railroad Bonds." 1 Thompson Corp. § 552; Const. (1857), art. 9, § 10; Const. Amendm. (1858), art. 9, § 10; Const. Amendm. (1860), art. 9, § 10; Const. Amendm. (1871), art. 4, § 32 (a); Const. Amendm. (1872), art. 9, § 15.

The power to levy taxes shall not be delegated to private corporations or associations. 1 Thompson Corp. § 553; Ala. Const. (1875), art. 10, § 2; Cal. Const. (1879), art. 11, § 13; Mont. Const. (1889), art. 5, § 36 (with slight verbal variations); Pa. Const. (1873), art. 3, § 20.

Taxing power shall not be relinquished or suspended in favor of private corporations.
Georgia.—Const. (1877), art. 7, § 2, par. 5.
Idaho.— Const. (1899), art. 7, § 8.
Kentucky.— Const. (1891), § 174, corporate property to be taxed the same as individual property.
Louisiana.— Const. (1898), art. 230, permitting exemption from taxation of corporations engaged in certain manufacturing operations and of railroads completed prior to Jan. 1, 1904, with certain restrictions.
Mississippi.— Const. (1890), § 181 (property of private corporations for pecuniary gain, taxed the same as individuals); § 182 (permitting the legislature to exempt manufacturing corporations from taxation for five years); § 192 (permitting cities and towns to exempt from taxation for ten years, manufactures, waterworks, gas-works, and other public utilities, except railroads).
South Carolina.— Const. (1894), art. 12, § 2, property of corporations subject to taxation except where exempted by the constitution.

The legislature shall not pass any law permitting the leasing or alienation of any corporate franchise so as to relieve the franchises or properties held thereunder from the liabilities of the lessor or grantor. 1 Thompson Corp. § 554.
California.— Const. (1879), art. 12, § 10.
Idaho.— Const. (1889), art. 11, § 15.
Kentucky.— Const. (1891), § 203.
Montana.— Const. (1889), art. 15, § 17.
Utah.— Const. (1895), art. 12, § 7.
Washington.— Const. (1889–1890), art. 12, § 8.

Corporations shall not employ Chinese or equality as to all future grants of power; of making such laws applicable to all parts of the state, and thereby securing the vigilance and attention of its whole representation; and finally, of making all judicial constructions of their powers, or the restrictions imposed upon them, equally applicable to all corporations of the same class." [15]

3. Provisions Not Retroactive. Such constitutional provisions are not retroactive unless declared so in express terms; and if by their terms retroactive they would be unconstitutional in so far as they impose additional burdens upon existing corporations,[16] except those imposed by virtue of those reserved and inalienable powers of government, the police power [17] and the power of eminent Mongolian labor. 1 Thompson Corp. § 555; Cal. Const. (1879), art. 19, § 2.

Existing rights shall be saved as though the particular constitution had not been adopted. 1 Thompson Corp. § 556; Conn. Const. (1818), art. 10, § 3; Nev. Const. (1864), art. 8, § 4; Tex. Const. (1876), art. 12, § 7.

No retrospective law for the benefit of a corporation shall be passed. 1 Thompson Corp. § 557; Colo. Const. (1876), art. 15, § 12; Ida. Const. (1899), art. 11, § 12; Mo. Const. (1875), art. 12, § 19; Mont. Const. (1889), art. 15, § 13.

The legislature shall not grant charters for banking purposes or renew those in existence, except upon condition that shareholders shall be liable to the amount of their respective shares of stock for all its debts and liabilities upon note, bill, or otherwise. S. C. Const. (1894), art. 12, § 6.

The legislature shall not extend or validate franchises.— Utah Const. (1895), art. 12, § 3.

The legislature shall not grant privileges to corporations, etc. Ga. Const. (1877), art. 3, § 7, par. 18.

Provision as to banking corporations.— N. D. Const. (1889), § 145, general banking law shall provide for registry and countersigning by state officers of bills for circulation, and security for full amount required to be deposited with state treasurer for their redemption.

Certain legislation with respect to corporations shall not take place except by a two-thirds vote of each house. 1 Thompson Corp. § 558; Del. Const. (1831), art. 2, § 17; Ga. Const. (1868), art. 3, § 6, No. 2; Mich. Const. (1850), art. 15, § 8.

Duration of corporations hereafter created shall be limited to a stated number of years. 1 Thompson Corp. § 559; Del. Const. (1831), art. 2, § 17; Mich. Const. (1850), art. 15, § 10 (construed in Atty.-Gen. v. Perkins, 73 Mich. 303, 41 N. W. 426); Miss. Const. (1890), § 178 (life of charters to corporations for pecuniary gain limited to ninety-nine years).

Special provision of the constitution of Georgia restricting the power of the legislature as to granting corporate franchises and devolving it upon the courts. 1 Thompson Corp. § 560; Ga. Const. (1868), art. 3, § 6, No. 5. Provision of the constitution of the same state saving corporate privileges and immunities which became vested during the Civil war. 1 Thompson Corp. § 561; Ga. Const. (1868), art. 11, No. 5.

Provisions specially relating to religious corporations.— 1 Thompson Corp. § 562; Kan. Const. (1859), art. 12, § 3; Va. Const. (1870), art. 5, § 17; W. Va. Const. (1872), art. 6, § 47.

The police power of the state over corporations shall never be abridged.—1 Thompson Corp. § 563; Mo. Const. (1875), art. 12, § 5.

Bills introduced in the legislature creating corporations, other than certain kinds, shall not be passed at the same session, but shall stand over until the next session. 1 Thompson Corp. § 564; R. I. Const. (1842), art. 4, § 17.

Laws shall be passed protecting laborers employed by corporations. 1 Thompson Corp. § 565; Tex. Const. (1876), art. 61, § 35.

A certain bonus or organization tax shall be paid to the state upon the creation of certain corporations. 1 Thompson Corp. § 566; Mo. Const. (1875), art. 10, § 21.

Consent of local authorities to certain grants.— The legislature shall not grant the right to construct and operate railroad, telegraph, etc., companies within the limits of municipal corporations, without the consent of the local authorities.

Georgia.— Const. (1877), art. 3, § 7, par. 20, street railways.

Idaho.— Const. (1899), art. 11, § 11, street and other railways.

North Dakota.— Const. (1889), § 139, street railroads, telegraphs, telephones, or electric light plants.

South Dakota.— Const. (1889), art. 17, § 10, street railroad.

Utah.— Const. (1895), art. 12, § 8, street railways, telegraphs, telephones, or electric light plants.

The legislature shall not authorize the investment of trust funds held by executors, administrators, or trustees in the bonds or stock of any corporation. 1 Thompson Corp. § 568; Mont. Const. (1889), art. 5, § 37.

15. Atkinson v. Marietta, etc., R. Co., 15 Ohio St. 21, 35 [quoted with approval in San Francisco v. Spring Valley Water Works, 48 Cal. 493, 518]. See also Van Riper v. Parsons, 40 N. J. L. 1.

16. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629.

17. Brown, J., in Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838.

domain,[18] although they do not operate to revoke special charters which have been granted prior to the establishment of the constitutional provision, which charters have been accepted and acted upon in good faith.[19] But the effect of the subsequent constitutional ordinance will not extend so far as to prevent the legislature from amending former special acts of incorporation so as to make them less onerous to the public, provided the amendment does not make it more onerous to the corporation.[20] If prior to the establishment of such a constitutional ordinance, the legislature has passed an act clothing the county courts with power to grant aid to a railroad company, and the power remains unexecuted at the time when the constitutional provisions come into operation, the ordinance will not operate to prevent the execution of the power conferred by the statute, for the reason that the benefit accruing to the corporation from the exercise of this power is in the nature of a franchise or privilege conferred upon it.[21] Most of the constitutional provisions contain saving clauses preserving acts of incorporation for municipal purposes in force until such time as the legislature should in its discretion repeal or modify the same.[22] When therefore a city had the power under a former constitution of the state to subscribe to stock in chartered companies for making roads and other internal improvements, these powers remained unimpaired under the Extent to which police power may be exerted.— The following among other cases show to what extent and to what purposes the police power may be exerted:

Colorado.— Platte, etc., Canal Co. v. Dowell, 17 Colo. 376, 30 Pac. 68, holding that corporations may occupy with relation to the police power the same position as individuals.

Iowa.— Rodemacher v. Milwaukee, etc., R. Co., 41 Iowa 297, 20 Am. Rep. 592, holding that a statute making railroad companies liable for damages caused by fire is not unconstitutional as to railroads in existence when the act was passed.

Mississippi.— Moore v. State, 48 Miss. 147, 12 Am. Rep. 367.

Vermont.— Thorpe v. Rutland, etc., R. Co., 27 Vt. 140, 62 Am. Dec. 625.

United States.— Douglas v. Kentucky, 168 U. S. 488, 18 S. Ct. 199, 42 L. ed. 553 (lotteries not protected by doctrine of Dartmouth College case); Eagle Ins. Co. v. Ohio, 153 U. S. 446, 14 S. Ct. 868, 38 L. ed. 778; Lawton v. Steele, 152 U. S. 133, 14 S. Ct. 499, 38 L. ed. 385; Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Illinois, 146 U. S. 387, 13 S. Ct. 110, 36 L. ed. 1018; Charlotte, etc., R. Co. v. Gibbes, 142 U. S. 386, 12 S. Ct. 255, 35 L. ed. 1051; New Orleans v. New Orleans Water Works Co., 142 U. S. 79, 12 S. Ct. 142, 35 L. ed. 943; Barbier v. Connolly, 113 U. S. 27, 5 S. Ct. 357, 28 L. ed. 923; Stone v. Mississippi, 101 U. S. 814, 25 L. ed. 1079; Northwestern Fertilizing Co. v. Hyde Park, 97 U. S. 659, 24 L. ed. 1036 [affirming 70 Ill. 634]; Patterson v. Kentucky, 97 U. S. 501, 24 L. ed. 1115; Boston Beer Co. v. Massachusetts, 97 U. S. 25, 24 L. ed. 989; Butchers Benev. Assoc. v. Crescent City Livestock Landing, etc., Co., 16 Wall. 36, 21 L. ed. 394.

Illustrations.—For example a constitutional prohibition against the passage of local or special laws granting to corporations special or exclusive rights, privileges, or immunities (Cal. Const. (1879), art. 4, § 25, div. 19) does not disable the legislature from regulating the practice of medicine in the promotion of the public act, by conferring upon certain existing medical societies the power of appointing boards of examiners to examine candidates for authority to practise medicine, and prohibiting the same power to other corporations (Ex p. Fraser, 54 Cal. 94). Under a constitutional provision that corporations "shall not be created by special act, except for municipal purposes" it was not competent for the legislature to pass a special act conferring upon existing municipal corporations the power to subscribe to the shares of a corporation created for commercial purposes, such as a steam navigation company. Consequently, a statute authorizing a municipal corporation, in the face of such a constitutional prohibition, to lend its credit "to any improvement," was restrained so as to mean any improvement which was the proper subject of police and municipal control, such as gas, water, almshouses, hospitals, and the like. Low v. Marysville, 5 Cal. 214, 216.

18. Central Bridge Corp. v. Lowell, 4 Gray (Mass.) 474; Boston Water Power Co. v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 23 Pick. (Mass.) 360; Greenwood v. Union Freight R. Co., 105 U. S. 13, 26 L. ed. 961; Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Louisa R. Co., 13 How. (U. S.) 71, 14 L. ed. 55; West River Bridge Co. v. Dix, 6 How. (U. S.) 507, 12 L. ed. 535. Compare Monongahela Nav. Co. v. U. S., 148 U. S. 312, 13 S. Ct. 622, 37 L. ed. 463.

19. Little Rock, etc., R. Co. v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 36 Ark. 663.

20. Little Rock, etc., R. Co. v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 36 Ark. 663. Compare Quincy, etc., R. Co. v. Morris, 84 Ill. 410.

21. Slack v. Maysville, etc., R. Co., 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 1; State v. Union Tp., 8 Ohio St. 394.

22. Ind. Const. (1850), Schedule Specification 4. See also Demarest v. New York, 74 N. Y. 161; New Town Cut v. Seabrook, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 380.

new constitution.[23] The provision of another state constitution[24] that all existing charters or grants of special or exclusive privileges under which organization shall not have taken place, or which shall not have been in operation within ten days of the time of the taking effect of the new constitution, shall thereafter have no validity, was held to refer only to corporations which were then unorganized, or which were then not in operation, and was not so interpreted as to take in special or exclusive privileges to corporations organized and in operation.[25] But a corporation created under a special act of legislation could not, after the establishment of such a constitutional prohibition, accept its charter and reorganize so as to create a valid corporation; but it was regarded as a naked assumption whose existence might be assailed by way of defense to a promissory note given for shares therein.[26]

4. INVALIDITY OF GENERAL LAWS PERPETUATING PRIVILEGES BY PREVIOUS SPECIAL CHARTERS. Where special charters are granted conferring peculiar privileges, at a time when there is no constitutional inhibition against the creation of corporations by special acts, and subsequently such a constitutional inhibition is established, the result will be that the peculiar privileges granted by such special statutes will expire by the terms of limitation therein prescribed. After the establishment of such a constitutional inhibition, it will not be competent for the legislature to enact a general law of such a nature that, by reorganizing under it the corporation so specially chartered, the corporators can perpetuate their peculiar privileges indefinitely.[27]

5. EFFECT OF PROHIBITIONS AGAINST SPECIAL ACTS OF LEGISLATION CONFERRING CORPORATE POWERS. Some state constitutions provide that "the general assembly shall pass no special act conferring corporate powers."[28] This means what it says, which is, that the legislature is by it disabled from either creating a corporation or conferring powers upon an existing corporation by a special act of legislation.[29]

6. PROHIBITION AGAINST INCORPORATION CARRIES PROHIBITION AGAINST AMENDING. A prohibition against creating corporations by special statutes manifestly carries with it a prohibition against amending by special statutes charters already in existence; otherwise the power of amendment might, by legislative ingenuity or by extensive amendment, extend to recreating a corporation.[30]

23. Aurora v. West, 9 Ind. 74.

24. Ill. Const. (1870), art. 11, §§ 1, 2.

25. Illinois v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 33 Fed. 730.

26. Gillespie v. Ft. Wayne, etc., R. Co., 17 Ind. 243. See also Harriman v. Southam, 16 Ind. 190.

27. When therefore a bridge company was chartered by a special act, there being no constitutional inhibition, for the period of twenty-one years with the franchise of taking tolls, and it attempted to organize under such a general law enacted after the establishment of such a constitutional inhibition, it was held that it could not by thus organizing perpetuate its franchise of taking tolls, but that its bridge thereafter became a public highway, and it would be ousted of the franchise of taking tolls by an information in the nature of a quo warranto. State v. Lawrence Bridge Co., 22 Kan. 438.

28. Ohio Const. (1851), art. 13, § 1.

29. Atkinson v. Marietta, etc., R. Co., 15 Ohio St. 21, where, with this prohibition in force, a railroad company which by its charter did not have the power to sell its franchise of being a corporation, mortgaged its properties and these properties were sold under the mortgage; and the purchasers thereafter procured a special act of the legislature, which undertook to give effect to the sale, by authorizing them to reorganize and form a corporation, to create a new stock, and to elect a new board of directors. It was held that this in substance and legal effect was an attempt to create a corporation and to confer corporate power by a special act, and that it was in conflict with the constitutional prohibition above quoted. Compare Wallace v. Loomis, 97 U. S. 146, 24 L. ed. 895.

30. Ex p. Pritz, 9 Iowa 30. To the same effect see State v. Barbee, 3 Ind. 258; McGregor v. Baylies, 19 Iowa 43; Baker v. The Steamboat Milwaukee, 14 Iowa 214; Davis v. Woolnough, 9 Iowa 104.

A contrary view was taken by a federal circuit judge who, in an ingenious course of reasoning, held that an act of the legislature of a state which merely granted to an existing railroad corporation authority to change the line of its road was not an act creating a corporation, in whole or in part, within the meaning of the provision of the constitution of California prohibiting the legislature from creating corporations by special acts ex-

7. PROVISIONS RESTRAINING AMENDMENTS TO CHARTERS BY SPECIAL ACTS WHICH ENLARGE EXISTING POWERS. While constitutional provisions restraining the legislature from creating corporations or granting corporate privileges by special laws are unquestionably to be construed as disabling the legislature from amending existing special charters so as to enlarge the powers or privileges existing under them, they do not prohibit the legislature from passing special acts regulating existing corporations in the exercise of powers already conferred upon them by special laws, assuming that the legislature otherwise has the power to enact such special laws. They do not for example disable the legislature (having the power to pass special laws) from passing a special act with reference to an elevated railroad in a city providing for changes of structure and in the manner of occupying the streets, which changes tend rather to restrain than to enlarge the powers of the corporation under these special statutes.[31] But with such a restraint imposed upon it the legislature cannot by a special act amend the charter of an existing corporation empowered to transport freight and passengers through a pneumatic tube so as to enable it to construct the ordinary railway for that purpose, with any motive power which it might see fit to use, not emitting smoke, cinders, etc.; since this would be to make a new grant of rights by a private act.[32]

8. INVALIDITY OF SPECIAL ACTS CONFERRING PRIVILEGES ON CORPORATIONS TO BE THEREAFTER CREATED UNDER GENERAL LAWS. A constitutional prohibition against creating corporations by special laws cannot be evaded by the passage of a special act conferring corporate privileges upon a body of associates to be thereafter incorporated under a general law. An act which grants to individuals and to their assigns certain powers and privileges, and then provides that the act shall not take effect unless the persons to whom the grant is made shall within a certain time organize themselves into a corporation under existing laws is a grant not to the individuals as persons but to the corporation when formed. Such an act is an attempt on the part of the legislature to confer powers and privileges upon a corporation by a special act in the face of the constitutional prohibition. When such persons organize themselves into a corporation under the general law, the corporation possesses no power or privileges except such as are conferred by such law.[33]

9. DISTINCTIONS AS TO WHAT ARE AND WHAT ARE NOT CORPORATE PRIVILEGES. It has been suggested that constitutional provisions of this kind do not restrain the legislature from passing special laws conferring upon existing corporations powers which are not essentially corporate powers, but which might be conferred upon individuals.[34] On the other hand it has been held that such a constitutional provision disables the legislature from passing an act granting to an existing water-cept for municipal purposes, as it did not involve the creation of any new corporate powers. Southern Pac. R. Co. v. Orton, 32 Fed. 457, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,188*a*, 6 Sawy. 157, where the court declined to follow the decision in San Francisco v. Spring Valley Water Works, 48 Cal. 493, for reasons already stated.

31. Gilbert El. R. Co. v. Handerson, 70 N. Y. 361.

32. Astor v. New York Arcade R. Co., 113 N. Y. 93, 20 N. E. 594, 22 N. Y. St. 1, 2 L. R. A. 789.

33. San Francisco v. Spring Valley Water Works, 48 Cal. 493 [overruling California State Tel. Co. v. Alta Tel. Co., 22 Cal. 398]. Compare Spring Valley Water Works v. San Francisco, 22 Cal. 434.

The privilege with which it was attempted to endow, by a patent piece of legislative fraud and manipulation, a corporation to be hereafter created was the privilege of laying down water-pipes in the city of San Francisco. Rhodes, C. J., dissented on the ground that this was not a corporate power. San Francisco v. Spring Valley Water Works, 48 Cal. 493. In view of the supposed conflict between this and a previous decision of the same court a circuit court of the United States (Southern Pac. R. Co. v. Orton, 32 Fed. 457, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,188*a*, 6 Sawy. 157), regarding the question as unsettled by the state tribunal, adopted the view of the supreme court of California, as laid down in California State Tel. Co. v. Alta Tel. Co., 22 Cal. 398, and declined to follow that subsequently adopted by the court in San Francisco v. Spring Valley Water Works, 48 Cal. 493.

34. See reasoning of Sawyer, J., in Southern Pac. R. Co. v. Orton, 32 Fed. 457, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,188*a*, 6 Sawy. 157.

supply corporation, by special act, a conditional easement to lay its water mains in the public streets, since its chief franchise consists of such an easement.[35]

10. Special Statutes Permitted Where General Statutes Cannot Be Made Applicable. Some of the constitutional provisions annex to the prohibition against the passage of local or special laws creating corporations or granting corporate powers or privileges, the qualifications that such local or special laws shall not be passed where general laws can be made applicable.[36] Although there is a division of opinion on the question, the weight of judicial authority tends to the conclusion that the legislature is the exclusive judge of the question whether a general law can be made applicable under particular circumstances.[37] Some of the constitutional provisions expressly commit the question whether a general law can be enacted to the decision of the legislature. Where such a provision exists the question whether a general law can be made applicable or not rests fully in the judgment and discretion of the legislature, which is not subject to judicial review.[38] But whether the limitation on the prohibition considered in the next preceding paragraph exists or not, an act which purports on its face to be, and is in fact a special act, cannot be converted into a general act by a declaration of the legislature in another act which shall be considered a general act;[39] otherwise the legislature might lift itself above the constitutional prohibition by merely declaring that what it was doing was not within the prohibition.[40]

11. General Enabling Acts Applicable to All Existing Corporations Not Restrained. Constitutional provisions of this kind do not restrain the passage of general enabling acts, applicable to all existing corporations, although created under special statutes, such as acts authorizing such corporations to change their names.[41]

12. Validity of Curative Acts Healing Defects in Organization of Particular Corporations. Curative acts of legislation which operate merely to cure defects in the organization of particular corporations — defects which the state has the power to waive — and which do not operate to create substantially new corporations, to enlarge, or to extend the franchises of existing corporations, are generally held to be constitutional and valid.[42] Thus it is competent for the

35. San Francisco v. Spring Valley Water Works, 48 Cal. 493.

36. See for example Ind. Const. (1850), art. 4, § 22.

37. Colorado.— Darrow v. People, 8 Colo. 426, 8 Pac. 924; Carpenter v. People, 8 Colo. 116, 5 Pac. 828; Brown v. Denver, 7 Colo. 305, 3 Pac. 455.

Indiana.— It was at first held to be a judicial question (Thomas v. Clay County, 5 Ind. 4), but this decision was subsequently overruled, and it is now held to be a question for the exclusive decision of the legislature (State v. Tucker, 46 Ind. 355; Longworth v. Evansville, 32 Ind. 322; Gentile v. State, 29 Ind. 409).

Kansas.— Knowles v. Board of Education, 33 Kan. 692, 7 Pac. 561; Harvey v. Rush County, 32 Kan. 159, 4 Pac. 153; Norton County v. Shoemaker, 27 Kan. 77; Francis v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 19 Kan. 303; Beach v. Leahy, 11 Kan. 23; State v. Hitchcock, 1 Kan. 178, 81 Am. Dec. 503.

Missouri.— The rule was formerly applied (Board of Com'rs, etc. v. Shields, 62 Mo. 247; Hall v. Bray, 51 Mo. 288; State v. New Madrid County Ct., 51 Mo. 82; State v. Boone County Ct., 50 Mo. 317, 11 Am. Rep. 415; Murdock v. Woodson, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,942, 2 Dill. 188, but under the present constitution the question cannot arise, for the exception has been eliminated.

Nevada.— Evans v. Joh, 8 Nev. 322.

In Iowa the early Indiana doctrine (since overruled) was followed. Von Phul v. Hammer, 29 Iowa 222; Ex p. Pritz, 9 Iowa 30.

In New Jersey the question has been held not a question for the exclusive determination of the legislature. State v. Newark, 40 N. J. L. 71.

38. Johnson v. Joliet, etc., R. Co., 23 Ill. 202; People v. Bowen, 21 N. Y. 517 [reversing 30 Barb. (N. Y.) 24]; Mosier v. Hilton, 15 Barb. (N. Y.) 657.

39. Belleville, etc., R. Co. v. Gregory, 15 Ill. 20, 58 Am. Dec. 589.

40. San Francisco v. Spring Valley Water Works, 48 Cal. 493.

41. Hazelett v. Butler University, 84 Ind. 230.

42. Alabama.— Lockhart v. Troy, 48 Ala. 579.

Indiana.— Johnson v. Wells County, 107 Ind. 15, 8 N. E. 1.

Massachusetts.— Foster v. Essex Bank, 16 Mass. 245, 8 Am. Dec. 135.

New York.— Syracuse City Bank v. Davis, 16 Barb. 188; Butler v. Palmer, 1 Hill 324; Cochran v. Van Surlay, 20 Wend. 365, 32 Am. Dec. 570.

legislature by a curative act to render valid the organization of a corporation which might otherwise have been invalid by reason of the non-performance of something which the law required to be done as a condition precedent to the corporate existence. In other words where the state prescribes certain conditions as essential to the organization of a corporation it is competent for the state to waive or dispense with such conditions; and the state waives such conditions by enacting a subsequent statute recognizing the existence of the association as a corporate body, and approving or ratifying its organization and amending its charter.[43] So in New York the conclusion has been reached that notwithstanding a constitutional probibition against the passage of special charters creating banking corporations it is competent for the legislature by a special curative act to give validity to the corporate organization of a banking company which had been informally organized by reason of the insufficiency of its instrument of incorporation, and the acknowledgment and recording thereof.[44] The test by which to determine the validity of an act curing the defective organization of a corporation is to consider whether the legislature had the power to create the corporation in the first instance, since it will not be denied that it has the same power to cure defects in the organization of an informally and irregularly organized corporation as it has to bring into existence a new one.[45] Numerous curative acts have been passed with reference to municipal corporations, only one class of which seems to deserve notice here: Acts validating municipal subscriptions to the stock of private corporations, which statutes have been held valid,[46] but on extremely doubtful grounds.

13. What Are "Local," as Distinguished from "General," Laws. In the constitutions of some of the states, as already seen,[47] prohibitions will be found against the passage of local or special laws relating to many subjects, among them the subject of corporations. Some of them in terms prohibit the passage of "local" acts where there is a general law embracing the same subject-matter. A local act therefore concerning corporate elections in a particular county to determine whether municipal bonds should be issued was void, where there was a general statute in force on the same subject;[48] and so was a statute granting to a particular railroad corporation the right to lay down railway tracks in a particular place or granting to it any exclusive privilege, immunity, or franchise whatsoever.[49] On the other hand statutes which are general and uniform in their operation upon all persons coming within the class to which they apply are not obnoxious to constitutional provisions against special legislation. Accordingly a statute which embraces all persons who are or may come into certain situations and circumstances, and which is "general and uniform, not because it operates upon every person in the state, for it does not, but because every person who is brought within the relations and circumstances provided for is affected by the Pennsylvania.— Hepburn v. Curts, 7 Watts 300, 32 Am. Dec. 760.

But it is not within the power of the legislature to pass an act obliging the courts to construe and apply a previous law, in reference to past transactions, according to the legislative judgment; the power of interpreting and applying the law lies wholly with the courts. Lincoln Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Graham, 7 Nebr. 173.

43. Central Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Alabama Gold L. Ins. Co., 70 Ala. 120.

44. People v. Newburgh, etc., Plank Road Co., 86 N. Y. 1; Syracuse City Bank v. Davis, 16 Barb. (N. Y.) 188.

45. Mitchell v. Deeds, 49 Ill. 416, 95 Am. Dec. 621.

46. Bridgeport v. Housatonuc R. Co., 15 Conn. 475; Winn v. Macon, 21 Ga. 275; New Orleans First Municipality v. Orleans Theater Co., 2 Rob. (La.) 209.

47. See supra, I, I, 1.

48. Dougherty County v. Boyt, 71 Ga. 484.

49. Astor v. New York Arcade R. Co., 113 N. Y. 93, 20 N. E. 594, 22 N. Y. St. 1, 2 L. R. A. 789. Another court held that "An act to incorporate the Yellow River Improvement Company," which besides creating the corporation with ordinary corporate powers authorized it to improve the Yellow river within two specified counties for the purpose of facilitating the running of logs, etc., and after expending a certain sum of money for that purpose to collect toll on logs, etc., floated down the river, was a local act within a meaning of the constitutional provision touching the entitling of laws; but whether it was a special or private law the court did law," is not within such prohibition. Thus legislation which classifies railroads and imposes restrictions in respect to tariffs is valid if it bears uniformly upon each class.[50] But this again is subject to the qualification that the classification adopted by the legislature has some reasonable foundation in the nature of things, such as will in some reasonable degree at least account for or justify the restriction of the legislation; and this renders void legislation which is controlled in its operation as to locality by some arbitrary distinction, having no affinity to or connection with the subject-matter of the legislation, which legislation falls within the constitutional interdiction, and is hence invalid.[51] This principle has operated to overthrow statutes relating to corporations which by their terms were operative only in cities, towns, or villages having a stated population.[52] But this principle of constitutional interpretation does not operate to prohibit the formation of a corporation to carry on operations in a specific locality, which from their nature could not be carried on elsewhere in the state; as for instance a corporation for the promotion of slack-water navigation in certain counties; since these are natural and not arbitrary conditions and classifications.[53] Omitting from consideration the very great number of cases dealing with this question which relate to the validity of acts of legislation relating to municipal corporations and dealing only with such as relate to private corporations, we find that the principle under consideration has operated to condemn a statute purporting to authorize the establishment of a single ferry at a designated point on a particular river, in the face of a constitutional provision against licensing ferries by local or special laws;[54] a statute limiting the right to use boats and carry freight and passengers to "such railroad companies as own the landing for such water-craft," in the face of a constitutional prohibition against the passage of special laws granting special or exclusive privileges to corporations;[55] a statute providing for the incorporation of street railways in cities of the second and third class, in the face of a constitutional provision against the passage of local and special laws, the court taking the view that the act was local because confined to cities of the second and third class, and special because it related to a certain class of street railway corporations only.[56] Confining our examination again to statutes relating to private corporations organized for pecuniary gain, we find the following instances of statutes which have been held not to be obnoxious to constitutional prohibitions against the passage of local or special laws: An act making it punishable for railroad employees to burn, mutilate, haul off, or bury stock killed by trains;[57] appropriating five thousand dollars to aid the Farmers' Protective Association of Iowa, a corporation organized to provide the farmers of not determine. Yellow River Imp. Co. v. Arnold, 46 Wis. 214, 221, 49 N. W. 971.

50. Arkansas.—Dow v. Beidelman, 49 Ark. 325, 5 S. W. 297; Little Rock, etc., R. Co. v. Hanniford, 49 Ark. 291, 5 S. W. 294.

Iowa.—Iowa R. Land Co. v. Soper, 39 Iowa 112; McAunich v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 20 Iowa 338.

Missouri.— Humes v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 82 Mo. 221, 52 Am. Rep. 369.

Tennessee.— Davis v. State, 3 Lea 376.

United States.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Cutts, 94 U. S. 155, 24 L. ed. 94; Thomas v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 40 Fed. 126, 7 L. R. A. 145.

51. Atlantic City Water-Works Co. v. Consumers' Water Co., 44 N. J. Eq. 427, 15 Atl. 581.

52. Indiana.— Lafayette v. Jenners, 10 Ind. 70.

Iowa.— Von Phul v. Hammer, 29 Iowa 222.

Minnesota.— St. Paul v. Colter, 12 Minn. 41, 90 Am. Dec. 278; Tierney v. Dodge, 9 Minn. 166.

Nevada.— Virginia City v. Chollar Potosi Gold, etc., Min. Co., 2 Nev. 86.

Ohio.— Welker v. Potter, 18 Ohio St. 85.

Pennsylvania.— McCarthy v. Com., 110 Pa. St. 243, 2 Atl. 423.

Wisconsin.— Stevens Point Boom Co. v. Reilly, 44 Wis. 295; Kimball v. Rosendale, 42 Wis. 407, 24 Am. Rep. 421; Atty.-Gen. v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 35 Wis. 425.

53. Atty.-Gen. v. McArthur, 38 Mich. 204, opinion by Graves, J.

54. Frye v. Partridge, 82 Ill. 267.

55. Thomas v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 40 Fed. 126, 7 L. R. A. 145.

56. Weinman v. Wilkinsburg, etc., R. Co., 118 Pa. St. 192, 12 Atl. 288. But see as opposed to this conclusion cases cited in the next succeeding notes.

57. Bannon v. State, 49 Ark. 167, 4 S. W. 665.

that state with barbed wire at the actual cost of manufacture, and to defend suits for the alleged infringement of patents;[58] providing that foreign corporations created for the purpose of making and guaranteeing bonds may be accepted as sureties by the courts, etc., the court holding this not unconstitutional as a special law regulating the practice of the courts;[59] regulating rates of charges for the carriage of passengers by railroad companies, imposing a penalty for overcharges, and including in such penalty a reasonable attorney's fee;[60] authorizing the organization of annuity, safe deposit, and trust companies, and granting to such corporations the power to act as guardians of the estates of insane persons, such a statute being a general law for the organization of corporations for certain purposes and defining their powers;[61] exempting seaside railroads from the receivership imposed by the body of the act on railroads which fail to run trains for a given time, this not being a special law conferring corporate privileges;[62] providing for the organization of loan associations, and enacting that no premiums, fines, or interest on such premiums that may accrue under the act shall be deemed usurious, this not being a local or special law regulating the rate of interest on money;[63] requiring all electric wires, in any city having a population of five hundred thousand or more, to be placed under the surface of the streets, and providing for a board of commissioners of electric subways, etc.;[64] enabling a particular foreign corporation to be sued within the state, the same not being a private or local bill within the same constitutional provision;[65] authorizing a plank-road company to mortgage its road, the same not being "a private or special law" providing for the sale or conveyance of any real estate belonging to any persons, but merely an amendment of a charter;[66] fixing the rate of compensation to be paid by a boom company to the surveyor-general of logs, for surveying logs coming within its boom, at a rate less than that fixed by the general law, the statute affecting equally the rights and interests of all owners of logs within the designated territory, this not being partial or unequal legislation;[67] amending the charter and enlarging the powers of a corporation previously existing;[68] authorizing an existing railroad corporation to purchase the railroad and franchises of another preëxisting corporation, and after so doing to change its own name to a name stated in the statute, this not being a grant of new corporate powers or franchises within the prohibition of the statute against the creation of corporations by special act, except for municipal purposes.[69]

14. Restraints as to Titles of Statutes Creating Corporations or Enlarging Corporate Powers — a. Nature of Provisions. The constitutions of some of the states contain provisions like the following, taken from the constitution of Missouri: "No bill . . . shall contain more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title."[70] Others contain similar provisions restricted to private or local bills like the following, which is found in the constitution of 58. Merchants' Union Barb Wire Co. v. Brown, 64 Iowa 275, 20 N. W. 434, construing Iowa Laws (1884), c. 202.

59. Cramer v. Tittel, 72 Cal. 12, 12 Pac. 869.

60. Dow v. Beidelman, 49 Ark. 455, 5 S. W. 718.

61. Minnesota L. & T. Co. v. Beebe, 40 Minn. 7, 41 N. W. 232, 2 L. R. A. 418.

62. Delaware Bay, etc., R. Co. v. Markley, 45 N. J. Eq. 139, 16 Atl. 436.

63. Winget v. Quincy Bldg., etc., Assoc., 128 Ill. 67, 21 N. E. 12.

64. Western Union Tel. Co. v. New York City, 38 Fed. 552.

65. Fall Brook Coal Co. v. Lynch, 47 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 520.

66. Joy v. Jackson, etc., Plank Road Co., 11 Mich. 155.

67. Merritt v. Knife Falls Boom Corp., 34 Minn. 245, 25 N. W. 403. See also Augusta, etc., R. Co. v. Randall, 79 Ga. 304, 4 S. E. 674.

68. State v. Clark, 23 Minn. 422.

69. Wallace v. Loomis, 97 U. S. 146, 24 L. ed. 895.

Trust companies in New York.— Under the constitution of New York it was competent for the legislature to create corporations other than banks by special charter. N. Y. Const. art. 8, § 1. The United States Trust Company of New York was held not to be a "bank" within the meaning of this provision, and hence to have been chartered by the legislature in the valid exercise of its powers. U. S. Trust Co. v. Brady, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 119.

70. Mo. Const. (1875), art. 4, § 28.

New York: "No private or local bill which may be passed by the legislature shall embrace more than one subject and that shall be expressed in the title."[71] It is perceived that these provisions require two things, each relating to a different part of the bill: (1) It must be single in respect of its subject-matter; (2) that single subject-matter must be expressed in its title. If therefore the statute embraces more than one subject it is void, whether or not the subject is expressed in its title. Moreover although a statute may embrace but one subject, it is still void if that subject be not expressed in its title.[72]

b. Object and Design of Restraints. The object and design of such restraints, which may be collected from a great number of judicial decisions, was to prevent frauds upon legislation by securing a separate consideration for every distinct subject presented for legislative action and a conspicuous declaration of that subject. Judicial expressions found in some of these decisions have been collected in a recent work on the law of corporations,[73] quoting from the opinions of the court in the cases noted below.[74]

c. Provisions Mandatory but Construed Liberally in Support of Legislation. Such constitutional provisions are mandatory, and not merely directory to the legislature; the courts and not the legislature are the final judges as to whether they have been complied with; and if a statute is passed in violation of such provision the courts will set it aside in whole or in part according to its nature. The legislature cannot evade a constitutional provision that no private or local law shall be passed embracing more than one subject, and that expressed in the title, by declaring that such an act is a public law.[75] Notwithstanding this fact the courts construe such statutes liberally in support of legislation, and in their effort to uphold legislation which infringes upon this species of constitutional restraint they have in many cases no doubt upheld statutes which were in reality frauds upon the constitutional provisions and upon honest legislation.[76] In short it is not the purpose of these constitutional provisions to require details and particu-

71. N. Y. Const. art. 3, § 16.

72. In some of the state constitutions the word "object" is used instead of "subject," the prohibition being against the enactment of statutes which contain more than one object. Where the word "object" is used, distinctions have been made turning upon the use of that word, but their propriety seems doubtful. People v. Lawrence, 36 Barb. (N. Y.) 177; Stone v. Brown, 54 Tex. 330; Tadlock v. Eccles, 20 Tex. 782, 73 Am. Dec. 213 (opinion by Wheeler, J.).

73. 1 Thompson Corp. § 609.

74. Montgomery Mut. Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Robinson, 69 Ala. 413 (opinion by Brickell, C. J.); People v. Mahaney, 13 Mich. 481 (opinion by Cooley, J.); Rader v. Union Tp. 39 N. J. L. 509; Astor v. New York Arcade R. Co., 113 N. Y. 93, 20 N. E. 594, 22 N. Y. St. 1, 2 L. R. A. 789 (per Earl, J.); Sun Mut. Ins. Co. v. New York, 8 N. Y. 241; Conner v. New York, 5 N. Y. 285. See also People v. New York Tax, etc., Com'rs, 47 N. Y. 501; Brewster v. Syracuse, 19 N. Y. 116; People v. Lawrence, 36 Barb. (N. Y.) 177.

75. Weaver v. Lapsley, 43 Ala. 224; People v. Fleming, 7 Colo. 230, 3 Pac. 70; State v. Miller, 45 Mo. 495; Cannon v. Hemphill, 7 Tex. 184.

To this statement exceptions exist in California and Ohio, where the provision is held to be merely directory to the legislature, which is tantamount to frittering it away entirely. Pierpont v. Crouch, 10 Cal. 315; Washington v. Page, 4 Cal. 388; Pim v. Nicholson, 6 Ohio St. 176.

76. As illustrating the tendency of the courts to sustain, rather than to overthrow, statutes which have been thus enacted see the following among other cases:

Alabama.— Montgomery Mut. Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Robinson, 69 Ala. 413 (opinion by Brickell, J.); Ex p. Upshaw, 45 Ala. 234; Gunter v. Dale County, 44 Ala. 639; Ex p. Pollard, 40 Ala. 77 (opinion by Walker, C. J.).

Georgia.— Hope v. Gainesville, 72 Ga. 246, opinion by Blandford, J.

Illinois.— Mix v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 116 Ill. 502, 6 N. E. 42; Blake v. People, 109 Ill. 504; Fuller v. People, 92 Ill. 182, 185 [quoting with approval Cooley Const. Lim. (4th ed.), p. 144, § 2]; Binz v. Weber, 81 Ill. 288; Ottawa v. People, 48 Ill. 233; O'Leary v. Cook County, 28 Ill. 534; Belleville, etc., R. Co. v. Gregory, 15 Ill. 20, 58 Am. Dec. 589 (opinion by Caton, J.).

Kentucky.— McReynolds v. Smallhouse, 8 Bush 447; Phillips v. Covington, etc., Bridge Co., 2 Metc. 219. See also Louisville, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Ballard, 2 Metc. 165.

Louisiana.— Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Wooten, 36 La. Ann. 441, opinion by Bermudez, C. J.

Maryland.— Maryland Agricultural College v. Keating, 58 Md. 580; Baltimore v. Reitz, 50 Md. 574; Dorchester County v. Meekins, 50 Md. 28.

lars to be specified in the titles of statutes, or the means by which the purposes of the act are to accomplished, or to require the title to furnish an index of the subject-matter of the statute; but it is their purpose to prevent the uniting of different or incongruous subjects in one act, and to require the single subject embraced in each act of the legislature to be fairly and reasonably indicated by its title.[77] Such a constitutional inhibition does not imply that no act shall have any operation beyond what is expressed in the title;[78] but in general if the title is not misleading or the subject disguised or concealed thereby it is sufficient.[79]

New York.— Astor v. New York Arcade R. Co., 113 N. Y. 93, 20 N. E. 594, 22 N. Y. St. 1, 2 L. R. A. 789 (by Earl, J.); In re Mayer, 50 N. Y. 504 (opinion by Church, C. J.); Brewster v. Syracuse, 19 N. Y. 116; Sun Mut. Ins. Co. v. New York, 8 N. Y. 240 (opinion by Gardner, J.); Harris v. Niagara County, 33 Hun 279.

Pennsylvania.— Rogers v. Manufacturers' Imp. Co., 109 Pa. St. 109, 1 Atl. 344; In re Phœnixville Road, 109 Pa. St. 44; Beckert v. Allegheny, 85 Pa. St. 191; Allegheny County Home's Case, 77 Pa. St. 77; Dorsey's Appeal, 72 Pa. St. 192; Com. v. Green, 58 Pa. St. 226; Blood v. Mercelliott, 53 Pa. St. 391. Compare with the last case Rogers v. Manufacturers' Imp. Co., 109 Pa. St. 109, 1 Atl. 344; In re Phœnixville Road, 109 Pa. St. 44.

Texas.— Stone v. Brown, 54 Tex. 330 (opinion by Bonner, J.); Giddings v. San Antonio, 47 Tex. 548, 26 Am. Rep. 321; Austin v. Gulf, etc., R. Co., 45 Tex. 234.

United States.— Mahomet v. Quackenbush, 117 U. S. 508, 6 S. Ct. 858, 29 L. ed. 982; Ackley School Dist. v. Hall, 113 U. S. 135, 5 S. Ct. 371, 28 L. ed. 954; Otoe County v. Baldwin, 111 U. S. 1, 4 S. Ct. 265, 28 L. ed. 331; Montclair Tp. v. Ramsdell, 107 U. S. 147, 2 S. Ct. 391, 27 L. ed. 431 (opinion by Harlan, J.).

77. Alabama.— Lockhart v. Troy, 48 Ala. 579.

California.— People v. Henshaw, 76 Cal. 436, 18 Pac. 413.

Florida.— State v. Palmes, 23 Fla. 620, 3 So. 171; State v. Duval County, 23 Fla. 483, 3 So. 193.

Georgia.— Atlanta v. Gate City St. R. Co., 80 Ga. 276, 4 S. E. 269; Martin v. Broach, 6 Ga. 21, 50 Am. Dec. 306; Green v. Savannah, R. M. Charlt. 368.

Illinois.— Dolese v. Pierce, 124 Ill. 140, 16 N. E. 218; Blake v. People, 109 Ill. 504; Fuller v. People, 92 Ill. 182; Guild v. Chicago, 82 Ill. 472; People v. Brislin, 80 Ill. 423; People v. Wright, 70 Ill. 388; Neifing v. Pontiac, 56 Ill. 172; Fireman's Benev. Assoc. v. Lounsbury, 21 Ill. 511, 74 Am. Dec. 115.

Indiana.— Jarrard v. State, 116 Ind. 98, 17 N. E. 912; Indianapolis v. Huegele, 115 Ind. 581, 18 N. E. 172.

Iowa.— State v. Davis County Judge, 2 Iowa 280; Santo v. State, 2 Iowa 165, 63 Am. Dec. 487.

Kentucky.— Graham v. Conger, 85 Ky. 582, 4 S. W. 327, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 133; Johnson v. Higgins, 3 Metc. 566.

Louisiana.— Edwards v. Police Jury, 39 La. Ann. 855, 2 So. 804; State v. Dubois, 39 La. Ann. 676, 2 So. 558; State v. Daniel, 28 La. Ann. 38; Lanzetti's Succession, 9 La. Ann. 329; Walker v. Caldwell, 4 La. Ann. 291.

Maryland.— Davis v. State, 7 Md. 151, 61 Am. Dec. 331.

Michigan.—Gillett v. McLaughlin, 69 Mich. 547, 37 N. W. 551; Sanilac County v. Auditor-Gen., 68 Mich. 659, 36 N. W. 794; People v. Kirsch, 67 Mich. 539, 35 N. W. 157; People v. Gobles, 67 Mich. 475, 35 N. W. 91; Boyce v. Sebring, 66 Mich. 210, 33 N. W. 815; Wilcox v. Paddock, 65 Mich. 23, 31 N. W. 609.

Minnesota.— Meyer v. Berlandi, 39 Minn. 438, 40 N. W. 513, 12 Am. St. Rep. 663, 1 L. R. A. 777. Compare State v. Kinsella, 14 Minn. 524.

New Jersey.— Rader v. Union Tp., 39 N. J. L. 509. Compare State v. Union, 33 N. J. L. 350.

New York.— In re Knaust, 101 N. Y. 188, 4 N. E. 338; People v. Whitlock, 92 N. Y. 191; In re Department Public Parks, 86 N. Y. 437; Sweet v. Buffalo, etc., R. Co., 79 N. Y. 293; In re New York, etc., Bridge, 72 N. Y. 527; Nuendorff v. Duryea, 69 N. Y. 557, 25 Am. Rep. 235; People v. Briggs, 50 N. Y. 553; In re Mayer, 50 N. Y. 504; People v. Lawrence, 41 N. Y. 123; Brewster v. Syracuse, 19 N. Y. 116; New York v. Colgate, 12 N. Y. 140; Freeman v. Panama R. Co., 7 Hun 122; Central Crosstown R. Co. v. Twenty-third St. R. Co., 54 How. Pr. 168.

Oregon.— David v. Portland Water Committee, 14 Oreg. 98, 12 Pac. 174.

Pennsylvania.— Carothers v. Philadelphia Co., 118 Pa. St. 468, 12 Atl. 314; Union Pass. R. Co.'s Appeal, 81* Pa. St. 91; Allegheny County Home's Case, 77 Pa. St. 77; Blood v. Marcelliott, 53 Pa. St. 391; Shoemaker v. Harrisburg, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 86.

Texas.— San Antonio v. Gould, 34 Tex. 49; Battle v. Howard, 13 Tex. 345.

Washington.— Baker v. Prewett, 3 Wash. Terr. 474, 19 Pac. 149.

Wisconsin.— Phillips v. Albany, 28 Wis. 340.

United States.— Carter County v. Sinton, 120 U. S. 517, 7 S. Ct. 650, 30 L. ed. 701; Jonesboro v. Cairo, etc., R. Co., 110 U. S. 192, 4 S. Ct. 67, 28 L. ed. 116.

78. State v. Wands, 23 Mich. 385. Compare Washington County v. Franklin R. Co., 34 Md. 159.

79. Fredericks v. Pennsylvania Canal Co., 109 Pa. St. 50, 2 Atl. 48.

d. Acts Creating Corporations Need Not Enumerate All Powers Conferred — (I) In General. An application of this principle of liberal construction in support of legislation is found in the view that an act creating a corporation or amending the charter of an existing corporation need not, in order to be valid, enumerate in its title all the powers conferred.[80] Thus a penalty for running a toll-gate without paying toll may be included in an act under the title, "An act authorizing the construction of plank, macadamized, and gravel roads"; and so may provisions for appointment of, and reports by, inspectors of turnpikes.[81] So the fact that the limit of the taxing power of the state over a railroad company is not expressed or indicated in the title of the act of incorporation does not render the provision of the charter unconstitutional.[82] So an act "to establish a charter for the city of Troy" need not enumerate in its title all the powers intended to be conferred upon the corporation.[83] So an act creating a railroad corporation is not void because it confers upon the corporation the power to construct branch roads, to purchase lands, to mine for coal, to purchase or lease ferry franchises, etc., without expressing these powers in the title.[84] So of an act the title of which was to incorporate a certain railroad company which stated in its body, among other subjects of the incorporation, that of "purchasing and navigating such steam or sailing vessels as may be proper and convenient to be used in connection with said road."[85] An act the title of which is, "An act to incorporate the Montgomery Mutual Building and Loan Association," is not void under this constitutional principle, because it sets out in its body the entire constitution of the company, defining the rights and liabilities of its members, providing specially for the management, loan, and investment of its funds, and prescribing the number, duties, and powers of these officers, etc.[86]

(II) Providing For Municipal Aid in Acts Incorporating, or Amending Charters of, Railway Companies. The doctrine of the preceding paragraph is illustrated by a collection of cases embracing the decided weight of authority which hold that an act which by its title simply incorporates a railway company

80. Lockhart v. Troy, 48 Ala. 579; Goldsmith v. Rome R. Co., 62 Ga. 473.

81. Hunter v. Burnsville Turnpike Co., 56 Ind. 213.

82. Goldsmith v. Georgia R. Co., 62 Ga. 485. Compare Goldsmith v. Rome R. Co., 62 Ga. 473.

83. Lockhart v. Troy, 48 Ala. 579.

84. Belleville, etc., R. Co. v. Gregory, 15 Ill. 20, 58 Am. Dec. 589, opinion by Caton, J. So held as to branch road in Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Wooten, 36 La. Ann. 441, and as to extensions which do not constitute a part of the main line, in Ross v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 77 Ill. 127. See also Ottawa v. People, 48 Ill. 233. Again "An act for the relief" of a certain railroad company has been held sufficiently broad as to title to include a provision authorizing an extension of the road of such company. Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Odum, 53 Tex. 343.

85. Freeman v. Panama R. Co., 7 Hun (N. Y.) 122, 125.

86. Montgomery Mut. Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Robinson, 69 Ala. 413.

Other illustrative cases.— The following cases will also illustrate the doctrine of the text and show the liberality with which the courts have construed and applied these constitutional provisions, the particular question ruled in each of the cases cited being detailed with frequent quotations from the different judicial opinions, in 1 Thompson Corp. §§ 612, 618.

Colorado.— Golden Canal Co. v. Bright, 8 Colo. 144, 6 Pac. 142.

Georgia.— Davis v. Fulton Bank, 31 Ga. 69.

Illinois.— Sykes v. People, 127 Ill. 117, 19 N. E. 705, 2 L. R. A. 461; O'Leary v. Cook County, 28 Ill. 534; Firemen's Benev. Assoc. v. Lounsbury, 21 Ill. 511, 74 Am. Dec. 115.

Indiana.— Hunt v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 112 Ind. 69, 13 N. E. 263; Wishmeier v. State, 97 Ind. 160; Ross v. Davis, 97 Ind. 79; Miami County v. Bearss, 25 Ind. 110; Coffman v. Keightley, 24 Ind. 509; Madison, etc., R. Co. v. Whiteneck, 8 Ind. 217.

Iowa.— Porter v. Thomson, 22 Iowa 391.

Kansas.— Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Merrill, 40 Kan. 404, 19 Pac. 793.

Kentucky.— McReynolds v. Smallhouse, 8 Bush 447; Louisville, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Ballard, 2 Metc. 165; Chiles v. Drake, 2 Metc. 146, 74 Am. Dec. 406.

Louisiana.— Bridgeford v. Hall, 18 La. Ann. 211.

Maryland.—Maryland Agricultural College v. Keating, 58 Md. 580.

Michigan.— Tolford v. Church, 66 Mich. 431, 33 N. W. 913; Atty.-Gen. v. Joy, 55 Mich. 94, 20 N. W. 806; Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Dunlap, 47 Mich. 456, 11 N. W. 271.

or amends a charter of an existing railway company may properly embrace in its body a provision authorizing municipal corporations to subscribe for its stock and to issue its bonds therefor;[87] although there is some authority to the effect that such a statute, in so far as it embraces such a provision for municipal aid, is void, and that the bonds issued in pursuance of it are void.[88] Accordingly it has been held that an act empowering a railroad corporation to extend its road through a certain county and the county to subscribe for its capital stock embraces only one object.[89] So it has been held that a statute legalizing elections held in a county, on a question of issuing county bonds to aid certain railroad companies, and authorizing townships lying on or near a certain railroad to subscribe for its stock and issue bonds therefor, does not conflict with such constitutional provision.[90] So an act "in relation to" a particular railroad company may embrace provisions validating town bonds previously but irregularly issued to such company.[91]

e. Statutes Void Because Embracing More Than One Subject. Confining ourselves to private corporations, the following instances may be given of statutes which were held void because embracing more than one subject: A statute incorporating three distinct corporations or reviving by name three distinct charters which had become obsolete;[92] an act providing for the expenditure of the non-resident highway taxes, for the improvement of two state roads, and for the construction and improvement of another state road, the latter object not being expressed in the title;[93] an act releasing the interest of the state in certain real estate to certain named persons, and for other purposes;[94] an act "relating to the Mississippi Boom Corporation" imposing additional duties upon another and separate corporation;[95] an act "to provide for the incorporation of merchants' mutual insurance companies, and to regulate the business of insurance by merchants' and manufacturers' mutual insurance companies," nor could the Missouri.— State v. State Bank, 45 Mo. 528; State v. Miller, 45 Mo. 495.

New York.— People v. New York Tax, etc., Com'rs, 47 N. Y. 501; People v. Lawrence, 41 N. Y. 123; People v. McCann, 16 N. Y. 58, 69 Am. Dec. 642; Conner v. New York, 5 N. Y. 285; Astor v. New Arcade R. Co., 48 Hun 562, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 174, 16 N. Y. St. 141; Mosier v. Hilton, 15 Barb. 657; Wilson v. New York, etc., R. Co., 2 N. Y. Suppl. 65.

Pennsylvania.— In re Phœnixville Road, 109 Pa. St. 44.

Wisconsin.— Yellow River Imp. Co. v. Arnold, 46 Wis. 214, 49 N. W. 971; Phillips v. Albany, 28 Wis. 340.

United States.— Hoboken v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 124 U. S. 656, 8 S. Ct. 643, 31 L. ed. 543; Illinois v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 33 Fed. 730 (opinion by Harlan, J.).

87. Georgia.— Hope v. Gainesville, 72 Ga. 246.

Illinois.— Abbington v. Cabeen, 106 Ill. 200; Schuyler County v. People, 25 Ill. 181 [overruled in People v. Hamill, (1888) 17 N. E. 799].

Kansas.— Marion County v. Harvey County, 26 Kan. 181.

Kentucky.— Phillips v. Covington, 2 Metc. 219.

South Carolina.— Whitesides v. Neely, 30 S. C. 31, 8 S. E. 27; Floyd v. Perrin, 30 S. C. 1, 8 S. E. 14, 2 L. R. A. 242.

Wisconsin.— Phillips v. Albany, 28 Wis. 340.

United States.— Mahomet v. Quackenbush, 117 U. S. 508, 6 S. Ct. 858, 29 L. ed. 982.

88. People v. Hamill, (Ill. 1888) 17 N. E. 799; Peck v. San Antonio, 51 Tex. 490 [disapproving San Antonio v. Lane, 32 Tex. 405; San Antonio v. Mehaffy, 96 U. S. 312, 24 L. ed. 816]; Giddings v. San Antonio, 47 Tex. 548, 26 Am. Rep. 321.

In conformity with the weight of authority as above shown it has been held that "An act to amend the charter of" a bridge company is not invalid, although it authorizes it to increase its capital stock, and empowers a particular city to subscribe therefor, and to issue its bonds in payment therefor. Phillips v. Covington, etc., Bridge Co., 2 Metc. (Ky.) 219, 221.

89. Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Jefferson County, 29 Fed. 305.

90. Unity v. Burrage, 103 U. S. 447, 26 L. ed. 405.

91. Hardenbergh v. Van Keuren, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 43. Some fluctuation on this subject in the decisions of the supreme court of Illinois will be discovered by a perusal of the following cases: Welch v. Post, 99 Ill. 471; Middleport v. Ætna L. Ins. Co., 82 Ill. 562; Lockport v. Gaylord, 61 Ill. 276. Compare Mahomet v. Quackenbush, 117 U. S. 508, 6 S. Ct. 858, 29 L. ed. 982, where the authority of Welch v. Post, 99 Ill. 471, is questioned.

92. Ex p. Conner, 51 Ga. 571.

93. People v. Denahy, 20 Mich. 350.

94. Johnston v. Spicer, 107 N. Y. 185, 13 N. E. 753, 11 N. Y. St. 436.

95. Mississippi, etc., Boom Co. v. Prince, 34 Minn. 79, 24 N. W. 361.

act be maintained as to one of its objects and rejected as to the other;[96] an act "to release the Fishkill and Beekman Plank Road Company from the construction of part of their road, and for other purposes";[97] and an act to authorize a certain railroad company "to declare dividends quarterly and to lay additional tracks of railway."[98] So it was held that an act entitled, "An act to tax and regulate" certain named foreign corporations, could not, under such a constitutional inhibition, contain any provision in relation to other foreign corporations.[99] It was held by the supreme court of California that an act "to promote drainage," which provided for the control of débris from mining operations which raised the natural bed of rivers and caused them to overflow the surrounding country, was void as containing more than one subject.[1]

f. Statutes Void Because Containing Subjects Not Embraced in Titles. Confining ourselves again to statutes relating to private corporations, we find the following instances of statutes which were held void under these constitutional provisions, because containing subjects not embraced in their titles: "An Act relating to the Ridge Avenue Passenger Railway Company," ratifying the consolidation of the company with another company and repealing the provisions in the charters of the two companies so as to release them from the control of the city.[2] So of "An act to facilitate the carriage and transfer of passengers and property by railroad companies" which authorized all railroad companies having a terminus on any navigable river bordering on the state to own, for their own use, any water-craft necessary in carrying across such river any property or passengers transferred on their lines, and which provided "that no right shall exist under this act to condemn any real estate for landing for such water-craft, or for any other purpose," and that the act should apply only to "such railroad companies as own the landing for such water-craft," where the title was held misleading and not sufficiently broad to include the proviso.[3] So of "An act authorizing the acquisition of turnpikes, roads, or highways, heretofore or hereafter constructed, near or through any borough or township in this commonwealth, upon which tolls are charged the traveling public;" because (1) its title excludes turnpikes in cities, and the body of the act includes them; (2) it is confined to such turnpikes as lie wholly within the bounds of single counties; and (3) the title of the act does not indicate that counties are in any way affected.[4] So of "An act for the incorporation of insurance companies, defining their powers and prescribing their duties," in respect of a section which regulates the agencies of foreign insurance companies doing business within the state.[5] So also as to "An act to regulate the manner of voting in Bourbon county on questions of tax for subscriptions to railroad companies" containing a clause providing that no tax should be imposed for such purpose upon the property of those residing outside the limits of a certain city, unless the votes of a majority of the voters residing outside such limits should be cast in favor of such subscription.[6] So of "An act to incorporate" a certain railroad company, in so far as it conferred upon the company the power to construct and lease its road, and authorized other railroad companies to accept such lease.[7] So of an act expressing in its title that its object was to provide a means for the collection of claims for cattle and other stock, etc., destroyed by

96. Skinner v. Wilhelm, 63 Mich. 568, 571, 30 N. W. 311.

97. Fishkill v. Fishkill, etc., Plank Road Co., 22 Barb. (N. Y.) 634, 642, where the first section of the act, which did not relate to "other purposes," was held valid.

98. West Philadelphia Pass. R. Co. v. Union Pass. R. Co., 9 Phila. (Pa.) 495, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 196.

99. Oregon, etc., Trust Invest. Co. v. Rathburn, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,555, 5 Sawy. 32.

1. People v. Parks, 58 Cal. 624; Doane v. Weil, 58 Cal. 334 (Myrick and Sharpenstein, JJ., dissenting).

2. Philadelphia v. Ridge Ave. Pass. R. Co., 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 283.

3. Thomas v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 40 Fed. 126, 7 L. R. A. 145.

4. In re Carbondale, etc., Turnpike, etc., Road, (Pa. 1888) 13 Atl. 913.

5. Grubbs v. State, 24 Ind. 295.

6. Kentucky, etc., R. Co. v. Bourbon, 85 Ky. 98, 2 S. W. 687, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 881.

7. Camden, etc., R. Co. v. May's Landing, etc., R. Co., 48 N. J. L. 530, 7 Atl. 523.

railroads, with the conclusion that it could not embrace in its body a provision creating an absolute liability on the part of railroad companies for the killing of cattle, which liability did not exist prior to its passage,[8] a decision which does not seem to be sound. So of "An act relating to the Mississippi Boom Corporation," in so far as it contained a provision imposing additional duties upon another corporation, in effect amending its charter.[9] So of a special act of incorporation, the title of which was "An Act to incorporate the Manufacturers' Improvement Company," the body of which expressed the object of incorporation to be to clear out, improve, and render navigable a certain stream and its tributaries. Here the title expressed in no sense the principal purpose of the act, since the word "manufacturer" gave no clue to it. The whole act was therefore void.[10]

g. What May Be Embodied Under General Titles of Enabling Acts Authorizing Formation of Corporations. A statute in the nature of an enabling act which embodies a general scheme of incorporation may embrace the greatest variety of subjects germane to corporations, under a title couched in the most general form of words, such as an act concerning private corporations. In treating of railroad corporations it may confer upon them the power to condemn land for right of way and to receive subscriptions of municipalities to their stock, and all this without coming within such a constitutional inhibition.[11] An act "to revise the laws providing for the incorporation of railroad companies" does not violate such a constitutional provision, by including the substantial provisions of a former law which imposes a liability upon railroad companies for injuries resulting from neglecting to fence their tracks.[12] "An act to authorize the organization of annuity, safe-deposit, and trust companies," may properly embrace a provision granting to such corporations the power to act as guardians of the estates of insane persons.[13]

h. Titles of Acts Which Purport to Amend Former Acts. It may be stated as a general proposition that an act which by its title merely purports to amend a former act, which it recites by its title, is unconstitutional and void, under the provisions which we are considering, if it introduces a subject not germane to the title of the former act. The test by which to determine whether a subject can be embraced within a title "An act to amend" a former act is to consider whether the subject could have been embraced within the original act under its title.[14] To 8. Savannah, etc., R. Co. v. Geiger, 21 Fla. 669, 58 Am. Rep. 697.

9. Mississippi, etc., Boom Co. v. Prince, 34 Minn. 79, 24 N. W. 361.

10. Rogers v. Manufacturers' Imp. Co., 109 Pa. St. 109, 1 Atl. 344.

11. Marion County v. Harvey County, 26 Kan. 181.

12. Continental Imp. Co. v. Phelps, 47 Mich. 299, 11 N. W. 167.

13. Minnesota L. & T. Co. v. Beebe, 40 Minn. 7, 41 N. W. 232, 2 L. R. A. 418.

14. Brandon v. State, 16 Ind. 197; Morford v. Unger, 8 Iowa 82; Yellow River Imp. Co. v. Arnold, 46 Wis. 214, 49 N. W. 971 (opinion by Taylor, J.).

Amendatory acts void under foregoing principle.— By a special act a corporation had been created whose business was the transmission of letters, packages, and merchandise through pneumatic tubes under the streets of New York and Brooklyn. A supplementary act expressing in its title the same purpose, contained in its body provisions, which in effect authorized the purposes of the corporation to be changed to the construction and maintenance of an underground steam or horse railroad. It was held that this was so wide a departure from the purpose of the act expressed in its original title and in the title of the amendatory act as to render it void. Astor v. New York Arcade R. Co., 113 N. Y. 93, 20 N. E. 594, 22 N. Y. St. 1, 2 L. R. A. 789. In another case the title of an act of incorporation of a passenger railway company authorized them to lay their tracks in a number of designated streets. Subsequently an act was passed entitled "a supplement" (to the first-named act) authorizing the company to declare dividends quarterly and to lay additional tracks of railway. It was held that this latter clause did not warrant a provision in the body of the amendatory act authorizing the company to extend its railway into new territory not hitherto authorized to be used. Union Pass. R. Co.'s Appeal, 81 Pa. St. 91. So where a title of the original act was "An act for the incorporation of manufacturing companies," and the title of the amendatory act was "An act to amend section one, of an act entitled 'An act for the incorporation of manufacturing companies,'" etc., and this amendatory act contained a provision for the incorporation of companies to carry on a mercantile business, it was held that it was void. Eaton illustrate this principle it has been held that where the title to the original act was an act to incorporate the Yellow River Improvement Company, an amendatory act whose title merely purported to amend the former act might embrace a provision empowering the company to run logs and lumber on the river after the same had been improved by it and to take tolls therefor. This was not so disconnected with and foreign to the business of improving the river as to form a new subject which could not be legitimately connected with the business of the improvement company created by the original act, and which might not therefore have been embraced under its title.[15] An act is not necessarily invalid because, being amendatory of a previous act, the title does not expressly so state.[16]

i. Void as to Matter Not Embraced in Title, Although Valid as to Rest. On a principle hereafter more fully explained[17] an act creating corporations or conferring corporate privileges may be held void as to the matter not embraced in its title, although valid as to the rest, provided the incongruous matter is not so interwoven with the good matter as to be unseverable.[18]

15. Restraints as to Mode of Passing Laws — a. Requiring Assent of Two Thirds of Each House. A constitutional provision that "the legislature shall pass no act of incorporation, unless with the assent of at least two-thirds of each house," prevents the legislature from passing a single act creating more than one corporation.[19]

b. Whether Provisions Mandatory or Directory. The weight of authority

v. Walker, 76 Mich. 579, 43 N. W. 638, 6 L. R. A. 102.

Amendatory acts valid under foregoing principle.— An act to "amend the charter" of a railroad company may embrace a provision that "actions for injuries to stock and other property on said road by the company or its agents must be brought within six months after such injury," the court saying: "This act relates to but one subject, and that is clearly expressed in the title, and the legislation under it is in reference to the subject-matter of the title, and has a direct connection with it." O'Bannon v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 8 Bush (Ky.) 348, 352. An act to amend a certain chapter of the general statutes entitled, "An act to provide for the formation of corporations," has been held sufficiently specific to embrace a provision requiring the payment of a fee to the secretary of state of a corporation filing its certificate of organization. Edwards v. Denver, etc., R. Co., 13 Colo. 59, 21 Pac. 1011. "An act to amend the charter" of a certain turnpike company provided that "the charter of the [said] turnpike company be and the same is hereby repealed as follows, to wit," providing that the company should be relieved from the provisions of a general statute relating to the election of officers and prescribing the manner in which the stock owned by the society should be voted. It was held that the subject of this act was sufficiently expressed in the title, the word "repealed" having been used instead of "amended" by an obvious mistake. It was an amendment according to legislative intent. Cassell v. Lexington, etc., Turnpike Co., (Ky. 1888) 9 S. W. 502, 503.

15. Yellow River Imp. Co. v. Arnold, 46 Wis. 214, 49 N. W. 971.

16. Timm v. Harrison, 109 Ill. 509.

17. See infra, I, I, 18.

18. Mississippi, etc., Boom Co. v. Prince, 34 Minn. 79, 24 N. W. 361; Dewhurst v. Allegheny, 95 Pa. St. 437.

19. The Michigan Banking Law of 1837 was held to be unconstitutional after many banks had been organized under it and after many rights had thereby become vested, on the ground that it had been enacted in violation of a constitutional provision of that state th t "the legislature shall pass no act of incorporation, unless with the assent of at least two-thirds of each house." Farmers', etc., Bank v. Troy City Bank, 1 Dougl. (Mich.) 457; Green v. Graves, 1 Dougl. (Mich.) 351. Mr. Justice McLean at circuit twice held the same statute to be valid, once in his very elaborate judgment in Falconer v. Campbell, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,620, 2 McLean 195; and again in White v. How, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,548, 3 McLean 111. But the supreme court of Michigan finally declared it unconstitutional and the federal court being bound by the state decision in respect of the interpretation of its own constitution, Mr. Justice McLean subsequently, in Nessmith v. Shelden, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,125, 4 McLean 375, declared the act unconstitutional, and his decision was affirmed on error in 7 How. (U. S.) 812, 12 L. ed. 925.

Such a provision existed in the constitution of New York. It was at first held that it did not apply to public corporations, but that it applied only to private corporations, such as banking institutions, etc. (People v. Morris, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 325), but this doctrine was denied and overruled in subsequent cases (Purdy v. People, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 384 [reversing 2 Hill (N. Y.) 31, and overruling People v. Morris, 13 Wend. N. Y. 325]. See also De Bow v. People, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 9 [overruled in Gifford v. Livingston, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 380]). In another case two mem-unquestionably is that such provisions are mandatory, and that it is obligatory upon the judicial courts to refuse to give effect to statutes not passed in conformity with them;[20] although one decision is found to the effect that constitutional provisions as to the mode of passing such acts are directory merely.[21]

c. Whether Courts Will Go Behind Enrolment of Bill. According to one view, the presumption which springs from the fact of the bill being signed and enrolled by the proper legislative officers is conclusive, and the courts will not look either to the journals of the houses of the legislature or hear any evidence for the purpose of overthrowing that presumption.[22] The other view is that it is competent for the courts to go behind the official enrolment or publication and to look to the journals of the two houses of the legislature for the purpose of ascertaining whether the statute was passed in conformity with the requirements of the constitution, and that they are at liberty to declare it to be no law if they find that it was not so passed.[23] The question whether the presumption in favor of the conclusion that a statute was regularly passed and became a law in conformity with the constitution, which is created by its publication in a public volume of statutes, is a prima facie presumption or a conclusive presumption which cannot be overthrown by references to the journals of the houses or by extrinsic facts, takes us into the domain of constitutional law, and will not be further specially pursued.[24]

bers of the court of errors of New York advanced the opinion that this constitutional provision did not apply to private corporations such as banks, provided they were created under general laws which authorized everybody to form corporations. Warner v. Beers, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 103. But this view was thought to be opposed to the subsequent decisions of the court of errors. Purdy v. People, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 384. See the observations of Bronson, C. J., in De Bow v. People, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 9. The struggle finally ended with the decision of the court of errors, by a vote of fifteen members against seven, in which it was resolved, on the authority of Warner v. Beers, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 103, that the statute was enacted in conformity with the constitution, although it may not have received the assent of two thirds of the members elected to each branch of the legislature, and that the decision in that case was conclusive. Gifford v. Livingston, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 380. See also Palmer v. Lawrence, 5 N. Y. 389; Curtis v. Leavitt, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 309; Watertown Bank v. Watertown, 25 Wend. (N. Y.) 686; Hunt v. Van Alstyne, 25 Wend. (N. Y.) 605; Thomas v. Dakin, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 9.

20. See supra, I, I, 14, c. See a learned note on this question by W. W. Thornton, Esq., in 26 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 304 note, also a learned note in 85 Am. Dec. 356, discussing the subject at length with an exhaustive list of authorities.

21. McClinch v. Sturgis, 72 Me. 288.

22. Alabama.— Jones v. Hutchinson, 43 Ala. 721.

Georgia.— Danielly v. Cabaniss, 52 Ga. 211.

Illinois.— Ryan v. Lynch, 68 Ill. 160.

Indiana.— Paine v. Lake Erie, etc., R. Co., 31 Ind. 283; Evans v. Browne, 30 Ind. 514, 95 Am. Dec. 710.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Jackson, 5 Bush 680.

Louisiana.— Whited v. Lewis, 25 La. Ann. 568.

Mississippi.— Ex p. Wren, 63 Miss. 512, 56 Am. Rep. 825 [overruling Brady v. West, 50 Miss. 68].

New York.— People v. Highway Com'rs, 54 N. Y. 276, 13 Am. Rep. 581.

North Carolina.— Brodnax v. Groom, 64 N. C. 244, private act.

Texas.— Usener v. State, 8 Tex. App. 177 [overruled by Hunt v. State, 22 Tex. App. 396, 3 S. W. 233].

Utah.— People v. Clayton, 5 Utah 598, 18 Pac. 628.

Compare Jordan v. Wapello County Cir. Ct., 69 Iowa 177, 28 N. W. 548.

23. Arkansas.— Smithee v. Garth, 33 Ark. 17.

Florida.— State v. Brown, 20 Fla. 407.

Illinois.— Ryan v. Lynch, 68 Ill. 160.

Maryland.— Berry v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 41 Md. 446, 20 Am. Rep. 69.

Nebraska.— State v. Robinson, 20 Nebr. 96, 29 N. W. 246, journals made competent evidence by statute.

Texas.— Hunt v. State, 22 Tex. App. 396, 3 S. W. 233 [disapproving Blessing v. Galveston, 42 Tex. 641, and overruling Usener v. State, 8 Tex. App. 177].

West Virginia.—Osburn v. Staley, 5 W. Va. 85, 13 Am. Rep. 640.

Wyoming.— Brown v. Nash, 1 Wyo. 85.

United States.—Amoskeag Nat. Bank v. Ottawa, 105 U. S. 667, 26 L. ed. 1204; Gardner v. Barney, 6 Wall. 499, 18 L. ed. 890.

24. See as speaking upon this question the following cases:

Arkansas.— Glidewell v. Martin, 51 Ark. 559, 11 S. W. 882.

Florida.— State v. Brown, 20 Fla. 407.

Illinois.— Hensoldt v. Petersburg, 63 Ill. 157.

Minnesota.— State v. Sannerud, 38 Minn.

d. Provisions Requiring Amendments of Charters to Be Submitted to Vote of People. A constitutional provision prohibiting the legislature from creating banking corporations without submitting the act to a vote of the people did not according to one decision prevent the legislature from amending a general banking law without submitting the amendment to a popular vote.[25] On the contrary the banking law of Wisconsin, which was held to be in the nature and to have the force and effect of a constitutional provision,[26] could not be amended without a vote of the people.[27]

e. Provisions That No Law Shall Create, Renew, or Extend the Charter of More Than One Corporation. A constitutional provision that no law shall create, renew, or extend the charter of more than one corporation has been held to mean that it shall not make a charter which never existed before, shall not revive and restore one which has expired, and shall not increase the time for the existence of one which would otherwise reach its period of expiration at an earlier time.[28]

16. Objection on Ground of Delegation of Legislative Power. The principle that legislative power cannot be delegated[29] restrains a state legislature from enacting laws creating corporations or enlarging their powers, which are to take 229, 36 N. W. 447; State v. Olson, 38 Minn. 150, 36 N. W. 446; State v. Peterson, 38 Minn. 143, 36 N. W. 443.

Missouri.— State v. Reed, 71 Mo. 200.

New York.— People v. Chenango, 8 N. Y. 317.

Tennessee.— State v. Algood, 87 Tenn. 163, 10 S. W. 310; Williams v. State, 6 Lea 549.

Texas.— Day Land, etc., Co. v. State, 63 Tex. 526, 4 S. W. 865; Blessing v. Galveston, 42 Tex. 641.

United States.— Illinois v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 33 Fed. 730.

Parol evidence will not be admitted to contradict the journals of the houses of the legislature for the purpose of overthrowing a statute. State v. Smith, 44 Ohio St. 348, 7 N. E. 447, 12 N. E. 829. Contra, Fowler v. Pierce, 2 Cal. 165. See also Berry v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 41 Md. 446, 20 Am. Rep. 69.

Parties will not be allowed to stipulate or agree or admit in their pleadings that a statute was not constitutionally passed, unless the informality is shown by the printed journals of the houses or the certificate of the secretary of state. Atty.-Gen. v. Rice, 64 Mich. 385, 31 N. W. 203.

Supplying certificate of presiding officer by parol.— That the certificate of the presiding officer of the two houses that three fifths of the members were present at the time of the passage of the bill may be supplied by parol evidence where it is omitted see People v. Chenango, 8 N. Y. 317.

That the bill must be signed by the governor or else be regarded as no law see Fowler v. Pierce, 2 Cal. 165; State v. Glenn, 18 Nev. 34, 1 Pac. 186; Hunt v. State, 22 Tex. App. 396, 3 S. W. 233. Compare Taylor v. Wilson, 17 Nebr. 88, 22 N. W. 119. Bill signed by the governor by mistake, immediately notified to speaker of house and read aloud, and bill held no law. People v. Hatch, 19 Ill. 283.

25. Smith v. Bryan, 34 Ill. 364.

26. State v. Hastings, 12 Wis. 47.

27. Van Steenwyck v. Sackett, 17 Wis. 645.

28. Cleveland, etc., R. Co. v. Erie, 27 Pa. St. 380.

29. See as to this principle the following cases:

Arkansas.— Boyd v. Bryant, 35 Ark. 69, 37 Am. Rep. 6.

California.— Houghton v. Austin, 47 Cal. 646.

Delaware.— Rice v. Foster, 4 Harr. 479.

Indiana.— Groesch v. State, 42 Ind. 547; Meshmeier v. State, 11 Ind. 482; Maize v. State, 4 Ind. 342.

Iowa.— State v. Weir, 33 Iowa 134, 11 Am. Rep. 115; State v. Beneke, 9 Iowa 203; State v. Geebrick, 5 Iowa 491; Santo v. State, 2 Iowa 165, 63 Am. Dec. 487.

Maryland.— Fell v. State, 42 Md. 71, 20 Am. Rep. 83.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Bennett, 108 Mass. 27.

Michigan.— People v. Collins, 3 Mich. 343.

Minnesota.— State v. Young, 29 Minn. 474, 9 N. W. 737 [recognized in State v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 38 Minn. 281, 37 N. W. 782].

Missouri.— State v. Pond, 93 Mo. 606, 6 S. W. 469; Lammert v. Lidwell, 62 Mo. 188, 21 Am. Rep. 411; State v. Wilcox, 45 Mo. 458; State v. Weatherby, 45 Mo. 17.

New York.— Clarke v. Rochester, 28 N. Y. 605; Starin v. Genoa, 23 N. Y. 439; Rome Bank v. Rome, 18 N. Y. 38; Barto v. Himrod, 8 N. Y. 483, 59 Am. Dec. 506; Bradley v. Baxter, 15 Barb. 122; Thorne v. Cramer, 15 Barb. 112.

Ohio.— Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Clinton County, 1 Ohio St. 77.

Oregon.— Brown v. Fleischner, 4 Oreg. 132.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Locke, 72 Pa. St. 491, 13 Am. Rep. 716 [overruling Parker v. Com., 6 Pa. St. 507, 47 Am. Dec. 480]; Com. v. Judge Quarter Sess., 8 Pa. St. 391.

Rhode Island.— State v. Copeland, 3 R. I. 33.

Texas.— State v. Swisher, 17 Tex. 441.

Utah.— Winters v. Hughes, 3 Utah 443, 24 Pac. 759.

effect only when approved by a vote of the people, unless the constitution so provides.[30] It does not, according to a view now largely prevailing, restrain the legislature from enacting laws subject to approval by a popular vote, which are to take effect within limited districts, such as "local option laws" relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors, prohibiting domestic animals from running at large, or the like.[31] Nor does it operate to prevent the legislature from enacting laws submitting many details which may be regarded either as administrative or as quasi-legislative to local boards or officials, such as the power to grant a license or franchise for the collection of wharfage dues for the use of piers on navigable rivers,[32] or giving the state board of agriculture the power to issue licenses for mining phosphates.[33] This principle does not disable the legislature from enacting a law conferring on the judicial courts the power of creating corporations on applications made to them and good cause shown,[34] or from prescribing by general laws the conditions upon which corporations may be organized by the voluntary action of individuals subject to the superintendence of a ministerial officer of the state.[35]

17. Constitutional Power to Grant Exclusive Privileges — a. In General. In the absence of any constitutional prohibition it is a sound conclusion that the legislature of a state has the power to grant an exclusive privilege to a corporation, in consideration of the performance by it of public services. Such legislation is not unconstitutional from the circumstance that it may create what is ordinarily called a monopoly.[36] In the absence of any constitutional restraint, the legislature may therefore confer upon a private corporation the exclusive privilege of laying down gas-pipes and of manufacturing, distributing, and vending illuminating gas in a city,[37] or the exclusive privilege of erecting and maintaining a system of waterworks and of supplying the city and its inhabitants with water.[38] Such grants are customarily conferred upon corporations concurrently with their creation; but it has been held that in the absence of any constitutional restraint an existing corporation may receive from the legislature a direct grant of special privileges and franchises.[39] Under a constitution which declares that "no man, or set of men, are entitled to exclusive, separate public emoluments or privileges from the community, but in consideration of public services," it is beyond the power of the legislature to allow a particular corporation, which Vermont.— State v. Parker, 26 Vt. 357.

Wisconsin.— State v. O'Neill, 24 Wis. 149.

30. California.— Ex p. Wall, 48 Cal. 279, 17 Am. Rep. 425.

Iowa.— State v. Beneke, 9 Iowa 203; Santo v. State, 2 Iowa 165, 63 Am. Dec. 487.

Michigan.— People v. Collins, 3 Mich. 343.

Missouri.— Lammert v. Lidwell, 62 Mo. 188, 21 Am. Rep. 411.

New York.— Barto v. Himrod, 8 N. Y. 483, 59 Am. Dec. 506.

Rhode Island.— State v. Copeland, 3 R. I. 33.

Nor can the legislature submit the question of the repeal of a law to the decision of the people. State v. Weir, 33 Iowa 134, 11 Am. Rep. 115; State v. Geebrick, 5 Iowa 491.

31. See for example, Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Davidson, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 637, 62 Am. Dec. 424; State v. O'Neill, 24 Wis. 149.

32. Farnum v. Johnson, 62 Wis. 620, 22 N. W. 751.

33. State v. Hagood, 30 S. C. 519, 9 S. E. 686, 3 L. R. A. 841.

34. Blake v. People, 109 Ill. 504.

35. See infra, I, L, 3.

Condition requiring consent of third party. — A condition in a legislative grant that the grantee should obtain the consent of a third party before enjoyment is not a delegation of legislative power and will not render the act unconstitutional. Morgan v. Monmouth Plank Road Co., 26 N. J. L. 99.

36. California State Tel. Co. v. Alta Tel. Co., 22 Cal. 398; In re Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 6 Whart. (Pa.) 25, 36 Am. Dec. 202; State v. Milwaukee Gas Light Co., 29 Wis. 454, 9 Am. Rep. 598. Contra, Norwich Gas Light Co. v. Norwich City Gas Co., 25 Conn. 19. Compare San Francisco v. Spring Valley Water Works, 48 Cal. 493.

37. Louisville Gas. Co. v. Citizens' Gas-Light Co., 115 U. S. 683, 6 S. Ct. 265, 29 L. ed. 510; New Orleans Gas-Light Co. v. Louisiana Light, etc., Producing, etc., Co., 115 U. S. 650, 6 S. Ct. 252, 29 L. ed. 516. Contra, Norwich Gas Light Co. v. Norwich City Gas Co., 25 Conn. 19.

38. New Orleans Water Works Co. v. Rivers, 115 U. S. 674, 6 S. Ct. 273, 29 L. ed. 575.

39. California State Tel. Co. v. Alta Tel. Co., 22 Cal. 398.

renders no public service in return for the grant of its franchise, to charge a greater rate of interest than that allowed by the general statutes of the state to other persons.[40] The cases where the legislature may make the grant of franchises exclusive are those in which the grant contemplates the rendition of public services by the grantees in return for the grant; and consequently the constitutional provision warrants a grant of the exclusive right to keep a ferry, to construct and operate a highway,[41] to take tolls for the use of an artificially improved navigation in consideration of keeping it in repair,[42] or to enjoy the exclusive privilege of occupying the streets of a city with mains and pipes for the distribution of illuminating gas, in consideration of the public services thus rendered.[43] Such a grant of an exclusive privilege, valid when made, is in the nature of a contract and cannot be impaired by subsequent legislation granting the same privileges to a newly created corporation.[44]

b. Such Grants Cannot Be Impaired by Subsequent Grants of Same Privileges Without Compensation. There is nothing in the constitution of the United 40. Gordon v. Winchester Bldg., etc., Assoc., 12 Bush (Ky.) 110, 114, 23 Am. Rep. 713.

41. Com. v. Whipps, 80 Ky. 269.

42. McReynolds v. Smallhouse, 8 Bush (Ky.) 447.

43. Louisville Gas Co. v. Citizens' Gas-Light Co., 115 U. S. 683, 6 S. Ct. 265, 29 L. ed. 510 [reversing Citizens' Gaslight Co. v. Louisville Gas Co., 81 Ky. 263]. See also Com. v. Whipps, 80 Ky. 269; Com. v. Bacon, 13 Bush (Ky.) 210, 26 Am. Rep. 189; Gordon v. Winchester Bldg., etc., Fund Assoc., 12 Bush (Ky.) 110, 23 Am. Rep. 713 (views of Cofer, J.); O'Hara v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 1 Dana (Ky.) 232.

44. Louisville Gas Co. v. Citizens' Gas Co., 115 U. S. 683, 6 S. Ct. 265, 29 L. ed. 510; New Orleans Gas-Light Co. v. Louisiana Light, etc., Producing, etc., Co., 115 U. S. 650, 6 S. Ct. 252, 29 L. ed. 516. One court has held that in the face of a constitutional prohibition that "no title of nobility, hereditary emolument, privilege, or distinction, shall be granted," it is beyond the power of the legislature to grant to a private corporation the exclusive privilege of making and vending gas within the limits of the city. St. Louis Gas Light Co. v. St. Louis Gas, etc., Co., 16 Mo. App. 52, 64. But the view seems untenable.

The amendment of 1875 to the former constitution of New York forbade the legislature from passing any special act granting to any corporation the right to lay down railway tracks, or any exclusive privilege, immunity, or franchise. This did not prohibit the legislature from amending the charter of an underground railroad company, by authorizing it to widen its excavation and to change its motive power; since this was not the grant of an exclusive privilege. Astor v. New York Arcade R. Co., 48 Hun (N. Y.) 562, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 174, 16 N. Y. St. 141; Bailey v. New York Arcade R. Co., 1 N. Y. Suppl. 304, 16 N. Y. St. 1007. Compare Astor v. New York Arcade R. Co., 113 N. Y. 93, 20 N. E. 594, 22 N. Y. St. 1, 2 L. R. A. 789.

A provision of the constitution of Illinois against "granting to any corporation, association or individual any special or exclusive privilege, immunity or franchise whatever" has been held to extend only to the passing of special or local laws for such purposes. Accordingly a statute regulating public warehouses and the warehousing and inspection of grain was not in contravention of this constitutional provision. Munn v. People, 69 Ill. 80, 85 [affirmed in 94 U. S. 113, 24 L. ed. 77].

A provision of the constitution of Tennessee forbidding perpetuities and monopolies left the right to construct waterworks in the city, which involves the privilege of taking up the pavements of the streets, of occupying the streets with water-mains, and of doing such other things as were necessary and proper in completing works for the distribution of water to the inhabitants, exclusively in the city until the legislature took it away and conferred it upon a private corporation, with the conclusion that this was not a monopoly in the sense of the constitutional provision, and that an act of the legislature conferring the right on a private corporation was valid. Memphis v. Memphis Water Co., 5 Heisk. (Tenn.) 495.

In Louisiana the constitutionality of a statute giving to a private corporation the exclusive right to keep a slaughter-house, and also the exclusive control and supervision over the inspection of all animals slaughtered for market in the city of New Orleans, and at the same time prohibiting any other person from the business of purchasing or slaughtering live stock or selling the meats thereof in the markets of the city, was sustained against the objection that it violated a clause of the constitution of that state which provides that all persons shall enjoy the same civil, political, and public rights and privileges. It was also sustained in the same court, against the objection that it violated the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, and that it interfered with commerce among the states. State v. Fagan, 22 La. Ann. 545. The decision in this latter aspect was affirmed by the supreme court of the United States. Butchers Benev. Assoc. v. Crescent City Live-

States which imposes upon the legislatures of the states any restraint against granting monopolies and exclusive privileges; and whether such a grant is valid will depend upon the interpretation put by the highest court of the state making the grant upon its own constitution. The supreme court of errors of Connecticut has held that a grant by the legislature of that state of the exclusive privilege of building and operating a toll-bridge or a railroad within certain prescribed limits does not constitute a monoply in the odious sense of that term; but that such a grant is, when accepted by the corporation, in the nature of a contract, the obligation of which cannot be impaired by granting the same privilege to others.[45] The obligation of the contract is that the state will not authorize a similar structure within the prescribed limits.[46] The grant of exclusive ferry privileges is of this character, and between the points designated in the grant cannot be infringed by the grant of a similar franchise to a rival corporation.[47] If such a grant is made in express terms by the legislature of a state to a corporation or to an individual, and is valid under the constitution of the state, and the grant has been accepted by the grantees, it then becomes a contract between the state and the grantees which cannot be impaired by conferring a like franchise upon another corporation or person without making compensation for the impairment or destruction of the franchise previously granted;[48] although as elsewhere seen the privilege first granted may be appropriated for public use in the exercise of the right of eminent domain.[49] The same constitutional principle protects exclusive grants of the right to occupy the streets of a city for railway purposes, assuming the grant to have been valid in the first instance.[50] So if a corporation be chartered by a state with power to construct and maintain a turnpike, to erect toll-gates, and to collect tolls from travelers, or to improve a navigation and to collect tolls from persons using the navigation so improved, such a franchise is protected by the federal constitution as so interpreted; but always subject to the power of the state or of the United States in case of a navigation to take for public use its franchises and property under the power of eminent domain upon rendering just compensation.[51] The same constitutional principle operates to protect grants of franchises, commonly called "licenses," made by municipal corporations under authority granted by the legislature in their charters or stock Landing, etc., Co., 16 Wall. (U. S.) 36, 21 L. ed. 394.

45. Enfield Toll Bridge Co. v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 17 Conn. 40, 42 Am. Dec. 716.

46. Chenango Bridge Co. v. Binghamton Bridge Co., 3 Wall. (U. S.) 51, 18 L. ed. 137; Passaic, etc., Rivers Bridge v. Hoboken Land, etc., Co., 1 Wall. (U. S.) 116, 17 L. ed. 571. See also Des Moines St. R. Co. v. Des Moines Broad Gauge St. R. Co., 73 Iowa 513, 33 N. W. 610, 35 N. W. 602.

47. Costar v. Brush, 25 Wend. (N. Y.) 628.

48. California.— California State Tel. Co. v. Alta Tel. Co., 22 Cal. 398.

Connecticut.—Citizens' Water Co. v. Bridgeport Hydraulic Co., 55 Conn. 1, 10 Atl. 170; Enfield Toll Bridge Co. v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 17 Conn. 40, 42 Am. Dec. 716.

Maine.— State v. Noyes, 47 Me. 189.

Mississippi.— Aberdeen Female Academy v. Aberdeen, 13 Sm. & M. 545; Aberdeen v. Saunderson, 8 Sm. & M. 663; Townsend v. Blewett, 5 How. 503.

New Hampshire.— Piscataqua Bridge v. New Hampshire Bridge, 7 N. H. 35.

New Jersey.— Raritan, etc., R. Co. v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 18 N. J. Eq. 546.

New York.— Benson v. New York, 10 Barb. 223; Costar v. Brush, 25 Wend. 628; Tyack v. Brumley, 1 Barb. Ch. 519 [modifying 4 Edw. 258]. Compare St. Louis v. St. Louis Gas Light Co., 5 Mo. App. 484 [reversed on appeal, 70 Mo. 69]; St. Clair County Turnpike Co. v. Illinois, 96 U. S. 63, 24 L. ed. 651.

United States.—St. Tammany Water Works Co. v. New Orleans Water Works Co., 120 U. S. 64, 7 S. Ct. 405, 30 L. ed. 563 [affirming 14 Fed. 194]; Louisville Gas Co. v. Citizens' Gas-Light Co., 115 U. S. 683, 6 S. Ct. 265, 29 L. ed. 510; New Orleans Gas-Light Co. v. Louisiana Light, etc., Producing, etc., Co., 115 U. S. 650, 6 S. Ct. 252, 29 L. ed. 516; Chenango Bridge Co. v. Binghamton Bridge Co., 3 Wall. 51, 18 L. ed. 137; Passaic, etc., Rivers Bridge v. Hoboken Land, etc., Co., 1 Wall. 116, 17 L. ed. 571.

49. See infra, I, I, 22.

50. Boston, etc., R. Corp. v. Salem, etc., R. Co., 2 Gray (Mass.) 1 [doctrine recognized and this case cited in Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 663, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838].

51. Monongahela Nav. Co. v. U. S., 148 U. S. 312, 13 S. Ct. 622, 37 L. ed. 463.

governing statutes.[52] Nor is the grant of a franchise any the less protected by the contract clause of the federal constitution because extended to the adventurers who organized the corporation or to the corporation itself by a general enabling statute, the provisions of which they voluntarily accepted by reorganizing a corporation thereunder, or in case of a corporation already organized by acting thereunder, than in the case of a corporation created by, or organized under, a special charter.[53]

c. Grant Not Expressly Declared to Be Exclusive Does Not Prevent Grants of Similar Franchises — (I) In General. The settled rule for the interpretation of charters and grants of privileges to corporations that the grant is to be strictly construed in favor of the public and against the grantees[54] has resulted in the conclusion that the grant of a franchise to a corporation is not to be construed as exclusive, unless it is so declared in express language or by necessary implication, so as to disable the legislature from making a similar grant to another corporation, although the second grant will operate to render the first valueless.[55] When therefore the legislature has granted to a corporation the franchise of building and maintaining a toll-bridge across a stream, but has not in terms made the privilege exclusive, it may grant a subsequent franchise to another corporation to build and maintain another bridge across the same stream near the former bridge, although the necessary effect of the second bridge will be to diminish the revenues

52. Indiana.— Indianapolis v. Consumers' Gas Trust Co., 140 Ind. 107, 39 N. E. 433, 49 Am. St. Rep. 183, 27 L. R. A. 514.

Iowa.— Burlington v. Burlington St. R. Co., 49 Iowa 144, 31 Am. Rep. 145.

Louisiana.— East Louisiana R. Co. v. New Orleans, 46 La. Ann. 526, 15 So. 157; Conery v. New Orleans Water Works Co., 41 La. Ann. 910, 7 So. 8; New Orleans v. Great Southern Telephone, etc., Co., 40 La. Ann. 41, 3 So. 533, 8 Am. St. Rep. 502.

Missouri.— State v. Corrigan Consol. St. R. Co., 85 Mo. 263, 55 Am. Rep. 361.

New Jersey.— Hudson Telephone Co. v. Jersey City, 49 N. J. L. 303, 8 Atl. 123, 60 Am. Rep. 619, designation of places to plant telephone poles in a public street not revocable.

New York.— New York v. Second Ave. R. Co., 32 N. Y. 261.

United States.—St. Louis v. Western Union Tel. Co., 148 U. S. 92, 13 S. Ct. 485, 37 L. ed. 380; Sioux City St. R. Co. v. Sioux City, 138 U. S. 98, 11 S. Ct. 226, 34 L. ed. 898; New Orleans Water Works Co. v. Rivers, 115 U. S. 674, 6 S. Ct. 273, 29 L. ed. 525; New Orleans Gas Light Co. v. Louisiana Light, etc., Producing, etc., Co., 115 U. S. 650, 6 S. Ct. 252, 29 L. ed. 516; New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Delamore, 114 U. S. 501, 5 S. Ct. 1009, 29 L. ed. 244; Greenwood v. Union Freight Co., 105 U. S. 13, 26 L. ed. 961; Wright v. Nagle, 101 U. S. 791, 25 L. ed. 921; Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Richmond, 96 U. S. 521, 24 L. ed. 734; Shields v. Ohio, 95 U. S. 319, 24 L. ed. 357; New Jersey v. Yard, 95 U. S. 104, 24 L. ed. 352; Chicago v. Sheldon, 9 Wall. 50, 19 L. ed. 594; Baltimore Trust, etc., Co. v. Baltimore, 64 Fed. 153; Citizens' St. R. Co. v. Memphis, 53 Fed. 715; Coast Line R. Co. v. Savannah, 30 Fed. 646; Saginaw Gas-Light Co. v. Saginaw, 28 Fed. 529.

53. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Cutts, 94 U. S. 155, 24 L. ed. 94; Miller v. New York, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 478, 21 L. ed. 98; Capital City Gaslight Co. v. Des Moines, 72 Fed. 829.

54. Chillicothe Bank v. Chillicothe, 7 Ohio, Pt. II, 31, 30 Am. Dec. 185; Roanoke Gas Co. v. Roanoke, 88 Va. 810, 14 S. E. 665; Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Richmond, 26 Gratt. (Va.) 83; Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838; Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Miller, 132 U. S. 75, 10 S. Ct. 34, 33 L. ed. 267; Northwestern Fertilizing Co. v. Hyde Park, 97 U. S. 659, 24 L. ed. 1036; Washington, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Maryland, 3 Wall. (U. S.) 210, 18 L. ed. 180; Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 11 Pet. (U. S.) 420, 9 L. ed. 773, 938; Providence Bank v. Billings, 4 Pet. (U. S.) 514, 7 L. ed. 939.

55. Alabama.— Dyer v. Tuskaloosa Bridge Co., 2 Port. 296, 27 Am. Dec. 655.

Connecticut.— Salem, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Lyme, 18 Conn. 451. Compare Enfield Toll Bridge Co. v. Connecticut River Co., 7 Conn. 28.

Georgia.— Shorter v. Smith, 9 Ga. 517.

Illinois.— East St. Louis Connecting R. Co. v. East St. Louis Union R. Co., 108 Ill. 265; Illinois, etc., Canal v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 14 Ill. 314.

Indiana.— Indianapolis Cable St. R. Co. v. Citizens' St. R. Co., 127 Ind. 369, 24 N. E. 1054, 8 L. R. A. 539; Lafayette Plank-Road Co. v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 90, 74 Am. Dec. 246; Newcastle, etc., R. Co. v. Peru, etc., R. Co., 3 Ind. 464; Bush v. Peru Bridge Co., 3 Ind. 21.

Kentucky.—Piatt v. Covington, etc., Bridge Co., 8 Bush 31; Richmond, etc., Turnpike Road v. Rogers, 1 Duv. 135.

Maryland.—Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. State, 45 Md. 596.

derived from the former.[56] Where in like manner the legislature of a state grants to a corporation the franchise of maintaining a bridge across a stream, but without making the privilege in express terms exclusive, a subsequent grant to another corporation of the privilege of maintaining a ferry is not prohibited by the constitutional provision under consideration.[57] So the grant of a ferry franchise containing no words making it an exclusive privilege does not restrain the legislature from making a subsequent grant to another grantee of the franchise of maintaining a bridge near the ferry.[58] So a grant by the legislature or by a municipal corporation acting under authority derived from the legislature of the franchise of laying a railway track and maintaining a passenger railway upon a street of a city does not preclude the state or the municipal corporation from granting to another company the right to lay another track for the same purpose upon the same street.[59] Such a grant, not being by intendment of law exclusive, the company receiving it cannot have an injunction to restrain another company from laying another track upon the same street; but if the act of the second company amounts to a public nuisance it is for the public and not for the former company to redress the injury.[60] So where the legislature granted a charter to a company to construct a canal through the valley of a stream and to take the profits of it, without any provision against the exercise of the power to charter other rival companies, the legislature was not prohibited from granting a charter to a company to construct a railroad through the same valley, although it might afford the same public accommodation as the canal and impair or annihilate its profits.[61]

(II) Construction of Conflicting Grants With Reference to This Principle. The underlying basis of this principle of constitutional law being that nothing is to be taken in a public grant against the public which is not Mississippi.— Collins v. Sherman, 31 Miss. 679.

New Hampshire.— Piscataqua Bridge v. New Hampshire Bridge, 7 N. H. 35.

New Jersey.— Delaware River Bridge v. Trenton City Bridge Co., 13 N. J. Eq. 46.

New York.— In re Brooklyn, 143 N. Y. 596, 38 N. E. 983, 62 N. Y. St. 809, 26 L. R. A. 270; Ft. Plain Bridge Co. v. Smith, 30 N. Y. 44; New York, etc., R. Co. v. Forty-Second St., etc., R. Co., 50 Barb. 285, 26 How. Pr. 68 [affirmed in 50 Barb. 309, 32 How. Pr. 481]; Brooklyn City, etc., R. Co. v. Coney Island, etc., R. Co., 35 Barb. 364; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Northern Turnpike Co., 16 Barb. 100; In re Hamilton Ave., 14 Barb. 405; Oswego Falls Bridge Co. v. Fish, 1 Barb. Ch. 547; Mohawk Bridge Co. v. Utica, etc., R. Co., 6 Paige 554.

Tennessee.— Hydes Ferry Turnpike Co. v. Davidson County, 91 Tenn. 291, 18 S. W. 626.

Texas.— Ft. Worth St. R. Co. v. Rosedale St. R. Co., 68 Tex. 169, 4 S. W. 534; Gulf City St. R. Co. v. Galveston City R. Co., 65 Tex. 502.

Vermont.— White River Turnpike Co. v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., 21 Vt. 590.

Virginia.— Tuckahoe Canal Co. v. Tuckahoe, etc., R. Co., 11 Leigh 42, 36 Am. Dec. 374.

United States.— Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838; Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Miller, 132 U. S. 75, 10 S. Ct. 34, 33 L. ed. 267; Washington, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Maryland, 3 Wall. 210, 18 L. ed. 180; East Hartford v. Hartford Bridge Co., 10 How. 511, 541, 13 L. ed. 518, 531 [affirming 17 Conn. 79]; Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 11 Pet. 420, 9 L. ed. 773, 938; Providence Bank v. Billings, 4 Pet. 514, 7 L. ed. 939; Citizens' St. R. Co. v. Jones, 34 Fed. 579; Stein v. Bienville Water Supply Co., 34 Fed. 145.

England.— Hopkins v. Great Northern R. Co., 2 Q. B. D. 224, 46 L. J. Q. B. 265, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 898 [overruling Reg. v. Cambrian R. Co., L. R. 6 Q. B. 422, 40 L. J. Q. B. 169, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 84, 19 Wkly. Rep. 1138].

56. Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 11 Pet. (U. S.) 420, 9 L. ed. 773, 938 [affirming 7 Pick. (Mass.) 344].

57. Hartford Bridge Co. v. Union Ferry Co., 29 Conn. 210.

58. Hydes Ferry Turnpike Co. v. Davidson County, 91 Tenn. 291, 18 S. W. 626.

59. Indianapolis Cable St. R. Co. v. Citizens' St. R. Co., 127 Ind. 369, 24 N. E. 1054, 8 L. R. A. 539; New York, etc., R. Co. v. Forty-Second St. R. Co., 50 Barb. (N. Y.) 285, 26 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 68; Sixth Ave. R. Co. v. Kerr, 45 Barb. (N. Y.) 138; Ft. Worth St. R. Co. v. Rosedale St. R. Co., 68 Tex. 169, 4 S. W. 534; Gulf City St. R. Co. v. Galveston City R. Co., 65 Tex. 502; Citizens' St. R. Co. v. Jones, 34 Fed. 579.

60. Brooklyn City, etc., R. Co. v. Coney Island, etc., R. Co., 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 364.

61. Tuckahoe Canal Co. v. Tuckahoe, etc., R. Co., 11 Leigh (Va.) 43, 36 Am. Dec. 374.

expressly granted,[62] it follows that whenever the legislature does grant a privilege in exclusive language and makes a subsequent grant, and the former grantee challenges the subsequent grant as an infringement of its exclusive privilege, the question whether it is an infringement will in every doubtful case be resolved in favor of the public right and consequently in favor of the second grantee.[63] Contrary to early decisions in Connecticut[64] it is now settled, so far as the highest federal judicial authority and the great weight of opinion in the state judicatories can settle it, that a grant by the legislature to a corporation of an exclusive privilege of maintaining a toll-bridge over a given stream between certain defined limits is not impaired by the subsequent grant by the legislature to a corporation of the right to erect a railroad bridge over the same stream near the toll-bridge.[65] So if the charter of a toll-bridge company prohibits the establishment of a ferry within a certain distance from the toll-bridge, the building of a railroad bridge within that distance is no infringement of the chartered rights of the toll-bridge company.[66] So if the legislature has granted an exclusive right to maintain a ferry within certain limits this does not disable it from granting a right to erect and maintain a toll-bridge within the same limits, without compensation to the ferry company, if the locus in quo of the ferry company is not taken.[67] So a grant of the exclusive right to supply a city with water from a certain creek is not impaired by a subsequent grant to others of a right to supply water to the city from other sources.[68] So a similar grant with authority to appropriate water from a designated pond, saving the rights of mill-owners, etc., does not give to the grantee company the exclusive right to such waters, and the legislature does not impair the grant by chartering another water company, and authorizing it to supply the same city from the same sources, it not appearing that the water is insufficient for the needs of both companies.[69] On the same principle a statute empowering a railroad company to construct a branch road has been construed as not creating a contract prohibiting a state from authorizing the construction of another railroad between the places connected by the branch road.[70] It is only where the grant of the second franchise is tantamount to a taking of the first that the two are deemed to be conflicting, and not where the use of the second merely diminishes the emoluments derived from the use of the first.[71] So an 62. See supra, I, I, 17, c, (I).

63. Connecticut.— Hartford Bridge Co. v. Union Ferry Co., 29 Conn. 210.

Georgia.— Savannah, etc., R. Co. v. Coast-Line R. Co., 49 Ga. 202.

Maryland.— Washington, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 10 Gill & J. 392.

New York.— Brooklyn City, etc., R. Co. v. Coney Island, etc., R. Co., 35 Barb. 364; Oswego Falls Bridge Co. v. Fish, 1 Barb. Ch. 547; Mohawk Bridge Co. v. Utica, etc., R. Co., 6 Paige 554; McLaren v. Pennington, 1 Paige 102; Thompson v. New York, etc., R. Co., 3 Sandf. Ch. 625.

Vermont.— White River Turnpike Co. v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., 21 Vt. 590.

Virginia.— Tuckahoe Canal Co. v. Tuckahoe, etc., R. Co., 11 Leigh 43, 36 Am. Dec. 374.

United States.— Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 11 Pet. 420, 9 L. ed. 773, 938 [affirming 7 Pick. (Mass.) 344].

64. Enfield Toll Bridge Co. v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 17 Conn. 40, 42 Am. Dec. 716, 17 Conn. 454, 44 Am. Dec. 556. See also the wretched case of Raritan, etc., R. Co. v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 18 N. J. Eq. 546.

65. Massachusetts.— Inland Fisheries v. Holyoke Water Power Co., 104 Mass. 446, 6 Am. Rep. 247.

Nevada.— Lake v. Virginia, etc., R. Co., 7 Nev. 294.

New Jersey.— Passaic, etc., Rivers Bridge Co. v. Hoboken Land, etc., Co., 13 N. J. Eq. 81, 503 [affirmed in 1 Wall. (U. S.) 116, 17 L. ed. 571].

New York.— Thompson v. New York, etc., R. Co., 3 Sandf. Ch. 625.

North Carolina.— McRee v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 47 N. C. 186.

Vermont.— White River Turnpike Co. v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., 21 Vt. 590, in which case the legislative grant did not purport to create an exclusive right.

66. Mohawk Bridge Co. v. Utica, etc., R. Co., 6 Paige (N. Y.) 554.

67. Piscataqua Bridge v. New Hampshire Bridge, 7 N. H. 35.

68. Stein v. Bienville Water Supply Co., 34 Fed. 145.

69. Rockland Water Co. v. Camden, etc., Water Co., 80 Me. 544, 15 Atl. 785, 1 L. R. A. 388.

70. Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. State, 45 Md. 596.

71. In re Hamilton Ave., 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 405.

exclusive franchise for transporting passengers and freight by railway across the state of New Jersey, between the cities of New York and Philadelphia, was not violated by the incorporation of a railroad company to construct a railroad across the state from Camden to the sea, or by the incorporation of a railroad company to construct a railroad from Raritan bay to Cape island; although these roads might be so connected as to form, with the aid of steamboats, a continuous line which by possibility might be used for the transportation of passengers and merchandise across the state between New York and Philadelphia. The same grant was construed as operating to protect merely the through business between New York and Philadelphia, and not the business between the intermediate places, and through any and every part of the route between those cities.[72] So an exclusive right to light a city with gas for thirty years is not "impaired," in the sense of the constitutional provision under consideration, by a subsequent contract between the city and another company to light the streets of the city with electricity.[73] So an exclusive right granted to a corporation, at a time when the underground cable as a means of propelling railway cars had not been invented, to operate horse railways upon the streets of a city, does not restrain the subsequent grant of a franchise of operating a cable railway.[74] So an exclusive right to construct and operate a horse railway in a city is not impaired by the construction of a railway in the same city to be operated by steam.[75]

18. Statutes Granting Corporate Powers and Privileges May Be Valid in Part and Void in Part. It is a principle of constitutional law that a statute may be valid in part and void in part. If a provision which is not obnoxious to any constitutional objection is found, even in the same section, with another provision which is repugnant to the constitution, the provision which is in itself valid must be sustained, unless the two are so united that it must be presumed that the legislature would not have adopted the one without the other.[76] An appropriate case for the application of this principle arises where the objects of the statute which are held to be unconstitutional and those parts of it which are valid are wholly independent of each other, so that the latter may be carried into effect without reference to the former.[77] When the parts of a statute are so mutually connected and dependent, as conditions, considerations, or compensations for each other, as to warrant a belief that the legislature intended them as a whole, and that if all

72. Delaware, etc., Canal Co. v. Camden, etc., R. Co., 16 N. J. Eq. 321.

73. Saginaw Gas Light Co. v. Saginaw, 28 Fed. 529.

74. Omaha Horse R. Co. v. Cable Tramway Co., 30 Fed. 324, holding that the fact that plaintiff's charter prohibited "the running of locomotives or cars propelled by steam," or the running upon plaintiff's railway of the cars of any other railway company, did not have the effect of granting to plaintiff a monopoly of every form of street railway transportation, except that of cars drawn by engines. See also Des Moines St. R. Co. v. Des Moines Broad-Gauge St. R. Co., 73 Iowa 513, 524, 33 N. W. 610, 35 N. W. 602, supplemental opinion.

75. Denver, etc., R. Co. v. Denver City R. Co., 2 Colo. 673.

76. Ex p. Fraser, 54 Cal. 94; People v. Nally, 49 Cal. 478; Robinson v. Bidwell, 22 Cal. 379; Com. v. Hitchings, 5 Gray (Mass.) 482.

77. Alabama.—South, etc., Alabama R. Co. v. Morris, 65 Ala. 193; Mobile, etc., R. Co. v. State, 29 Ala. 573.

California.— Ex p. Fraser, 54 Cal. 94; Rood v. McCargar, 49 Cal. 117; Mills v. Sargent, 36 Cal. 379; French v. Teschemaker, 24 Cal. 518; Robinson v. Bidwell, 22 Cal. 379; Lathrop v. Mills, 19 Cal. 513; People v. Hill, 7 Cal. 97.

Colorado.— People v. Jobs, 7 Colo. 475, 589, 4 Pac. 798, 1124; Gunnison County Com'rs v. Owen, 7 Colo. 467, 4 Pac. 795; Tripp v. Overocker, 7 Colo. 72, 1 Pac. 695.

Illinois.— Nelson v. People, 33 Ill. 390.

Indiana.— McCulloch v. State, 11 Ind. 424.

Iowa.— Santo v. State, 2 Iowa 165.

Massachusetts.— Fisher v. McGirr, 1 Gray 1, 61 Am. Dec. 381.

Mississippi.—Campbell v. Mississippi Union Bank, 6 How. 625.

Missouri.— State v. Clarke, 54 Mo. 17, 14 Am. Rep. 471; St. Louis v. St. Louis R. Co., 14 Mo. App. 221.

New York.— Harris v. Niagara County, 33 Hun 279; Matter of De Vaucene, 31 How. Pr. 289.

Ohio.— State v. Perry County, 5 Ohio St. 497; Columbus Exch. Bank v. Hines, 3 Ohio St. 1.

Rhode Island.— State v. Snow, 3 R. I. 64; State v. Copeland, 3 R. I. 33.

could not be carried into effect the legislature would not have passed the residue, independently, if some parts are unconstitutional and void, all the provisions, which are thus dependent, conditional, or connected, must fall with them.[78] It has already been seen that if a part of a statute is not expressed in the title, and such part is severable from the rest, it may be declared void and the rest allowed to stand, under a constitutional provision that an act shall contain but one subject, which shall be expressed in its title.[79] So if we refer to some of the principles discussed in a preceding subdivision in regard to the restraints upon the enacting of laws, we shall find that where it is ascertained from the journals of the two houses of the legislature that a particular amendment to a bill was not passed in conformity with the requirements of the constitution, but that the bill without the amendment was passed, the courts may, it has been held, sever the amendment from the bill and declare the amendment void and the rest of the law valid.[80] A general act authorizing the formation of corporations may, like any other statute, be valid in part although void in part. For instance, although a statute authorizing the creation of rafting or boom companies may be invalid in so far as it gives a corporation the right to take exclusive possession of a navigable stream and bar the rights of all others therein, yet in so far as it merely provides for the formation of corporations with the power to make contracts it is constitutional and valid.[81] By analogy to the rule that a statute may be valid in part and void in part, it has been held that an order of court made in pursuance of such a legislative authorization, organizing a corporation for the purpose provided by a general law, is valid to the extent of the provisions of that law, and void only so far as it confers powers or privileges in excess of those authorized by the statute.[82] As an illustration of the principle it has been held that a portion of a section of a general statute regulating the incorporation of cities, which prescribes the form of judgment to be rendered on appeal, may be judicially stricken out as unconstitutional, without impairing the rest or without impairing the rights of suitors.[83] Applying this principle, it has been held that a statute imposing a tax on telegraphic messages being invalid as to interstate messages the whole statute must fall.[84]

19. ESTOPPEL TO QUESTION OF CONSTITUTIONALITY OF ACT CREATING CORPORATION. On the principle elsewhere considered, that a party who contracts with a corporation as such thereby estops himself from thereafter questioning the validity of the existence of the corporation, and that a similar estoppel arises against the corporation itself, preventing it from setting up its own non-existence as a defense to actions to enforce obligations which it has assumed to make in a corporate character, it must follow on the one hand that a party who has borrowed money of a banking corporation cannot, when sued by the corporation to recover it according to the contract, be permitted dishonestly to set up that the act creating the corporation was passed in violation of the constitution of the state.[85]

20. DOCTRINE THAT UNCONSTITUTIONAL LAW MAY OPERATE AS LEGISLATIVE LICENSE.

United States.— Hamilton Bank v. Dudley, 2 Pet. 492, 7 L. ed. 496; Duer v. Small, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,116, 4 Blatchf. 263.

78. California.— San Francisco v. Spring Valley Water Works, 48 Cal. 493.

Illinois.— Hinze v. People, 92 Ill. 406.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Pomeroy, 5 Gray 486 note; Com. v. Hitchings, 5 Gray 482; Com. v. Clapp, 5 Gray 97; Warren v. Charlestown, 2 Gray 84.

Michigan.— Campau v. Detroit, 14 Mich. 276.

Minnesota.— O'Brien v. Krenz, 36 Minn. 136, 30 N. W. 458.

Ohio.— State v. Pugh, 43 Ohio St. 98, 1 N. E. 439.

West Virginia.— Eckhart v. State, 5 W. Va. 515.

Wisconsin.— Slauson v. Racine, 13 Wis. 398.

79. 1 Thompson Corp. § 625; People v. Hall, 8 Colo. 485, 9 Pac. 34. See also supra, I, I, 14, i.

80. Berry v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 41 Md. 446, 20 Am. Rep. 69.

81. Ames v. Port Huron Log Driving, etc., Co., 6 Mich. 266, where the court does not decide that the statute is void even in the particular case.

82. 1 Thompson Corp. § 659.

83. Allen v. Silvers, 22 Ind. 491.

84. Western Union Tel. Co. v. State, 62 Tex. 630.

85. Snyder v. State Bank, 1 Ill. 122. For a case which sanctioned a dishonest violation of this principle see Green v. Graves, 1

A decision in favor of a lottery — which decisions in former times were always subject to suspicion — was to the effect that a statute incorporating a lottery company, although passed in violation of the constitution, might operate as legislative license to carry on a lottery, so as to estop the state from punishing the incorporators for carrying it on; that is to say, might operate as a license to violate the constitution.[86]

21. Charters Exempting Corporations From General Laws. A constitutional provision empowering the legislature to grant "such charters of incorporation as they may deem expedient for the public good" has been held not to empower them to grant a charter of incorporation exempting the corporation from the usury laws of the state, by authorizing it to issue its mortgage bonds, bearing a higher rate of interest than that fixed by the general law.[87]

22. Governmental Rights Which Legislature Cannot Bargain Away. There are moreover rights of so high a nature — rights which concern the power of the people to carry on a free and wholesome government, and to provide the means for so doing — that the legislature cannot bargain them away to private corporations or to individuals, so as to preclude future legislatures from regaining them. In this category is the police power, which concerns the right of the legislature to enact wholesome laws to promote the public safety, the public health, and the public morals;[88] the power of eminent domain, which enables the legislature to condemn private property, including the property and franchises of corporations for public uses upon the payment of just compensation;[89] and the taxing power which concerns the very right of the state to exist, the right of the legislature to lay and collect taxes for the purpose of carrying on the government, in pursuance of which the franchises of corporations may be taxed as other property, unless the state has entered into an express stipulation not to tax them.[90]

Dougl. (Mich.) 351. For another like case holding that a foreclosure of a mortgage could not be had to secure an obligation given to a bank which had been incorporated under an unconstitutional statute see Hurlbut v. Britain, 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 191. For a case where a circuit court of the United States felt itself obliged to follow this miserable state doctrine see Nessmith v. Shelden, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,125, 4 McLean 375. This decision was affirmed as to the point that it was the duty of the federal to follow the state court, by the supreme court of the United States, on a certificate of division, sub nom. Nesmith v. Sheldon, 7 How. (U. S.) 812, 12 L. ed. 925. Compare Gifford v. Livingston, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 380 (this case differs from the next on the ground that the act was constitutional); De Bow v. People, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 9.

86. Brent v. State, 43 Ala. 297.

87. McKinney v. Memphis Overton Hotel Co., 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 104.

88. New Orleans Gas Light Co. v. Louisiana Light, etc., Co., 115 U. S. 650, 6 S. Ct. 252, 29 L. ed. 516; Butchers' Union Slaughter-House, etc., Co. v. Crescent City Live-Stock Landing, etc., Co., 111 U. S. 746, 4 S. Ct. 652, 28 L. ed. 585.

89. Cooley Const. Lim. (3d ed.) 525; Hyde Park v. Oakwoods Cemetery Assoc., 119 Ill. 141, 7 N. E. 627.

90. Alabama.— Mobile v. Stonewall Ins. Co., 53 Ala. 570; Judson v. State, Minor 150.

Connecticut.— Coite v. Savings Soc., 32 Conn. 173.

Mississippi.— Reed v. Beall, 42 Miss. 472 [citing Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629].

Missouri.— Washington University v. Rowse, 42 Mo. 308.

United States.— West River Bridge Co. v. Dix, 6 How. 507, 12 L. ed. 535; Planters' Bank v. Sharp, 6 How. 301, 12 L. ed. 447.

Qualifications of doctrine.— The supreme court of the United States at a comparatively early day held that the legislature can relinquish to a corporation the right of levying taxes upon its property, so as to disable future legislatures from exercising the power. Chenango Bridge Co. v. Binghamton Bridge Co., 3 Wall. (U. S.) 51, 18 L. ed. 137; Jefferson Branch Bank v. Skelley, 1 Black (U. S.) 436, 17 L. ed. 173; Providence Bank v. Billings, 4 Pet. (U. S.) 514, 7 L. ed. 939. But these decisions have been a source of great regret on the part of some of the judges of the same court, and they have been restrained by applying the principle of interpretation that before it can be adjudged that the right of taxation has been surrendered it must be shown by clear, unambiguous language, which will admit of no reasonable construction consistent with the reservation of the power, and that if a doubt arises as to the intention of the legislature to grant or to reserve the power, that doubt must be resolved in favor of the state. Memphis v. Union, etc., Bank, 91 Tenn. 546, 19 S. W. 758; Herrick v. Randolph, 13 Vt. 525; Minot v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 18 Wall. (U. S.) 206, 21 L. ed. 888. Another qual-

J. Creation by Special Charter — 1. Can Be Created Only by Sovereign Power — a. Rule Stated. Corporations can be created only by or under authority of an act of the legislature.[91] They cannot be constituted by a mere agreement of the parties,[92] and companies so constituted, however numerous, are, as respects the rights of third persons, regarded as mere partnerships.[93]

b. Power Cannot Be Delegated. This power cannot be delegated to another corporation or to an individual;[94] but it can be and has been devolved on the judicial courts[95] and upon ministerial officers of the state acting in pursuance of general laws,[96] and has been and constantly is devolved by congress upon the territories, and is constantly exercised as an incident of the general legislative power conferred on the territories in their enabling acts.[97] Nor is this deemed a delegation of legislative power. In like manner, under the statutes of many states, subordinate administrative boards have received from the legislature the power to grant what have been inaptly called franchises, but what are merely licenses, such as a license to a turnpike company to collect tolls.[98]

2. To What Extent Legislative Power of Creating Corporations by Special Acts Is Exempt From Judicial Review. The power of creating corporations, thus pos-ification of this constitutional doctrine is that the right of a corporation to exemption from taxation is not protected from subsequent legislative abrogation where the charter of the corporation, a constitutional provision, or a general statute of the state operative when the corporation was created, reserves the right to alter, amend, or repeal the charters of corporations, which right has been exercised by abrogating the exemption. Tomlinson v. Jessup, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 454, 21 L. ed. 204 [recognized in Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838]. See also West Wisconsin R. Co. v. Trempealeau County, 93 U. S. 595, 23 L. ed. 814 (where the doctrine is conceded); Tucker v. Ferguson, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 527, 22 L. ed. 805. In another decision the same court speaking through Waite, C. J., has said: "No government dependent upon taxation for support can bargain away its whole power of taxation, for that would be substantial abdication. All that has been determined thus far is that, for a consideration, it may, in the exercise of a reasonable discretion, and for the public good, surrender a part of its powers in this particular." The doctrine that the legislature of a state has the power to bargain away or to abrogate the taxing power of the state has met with denials in many cases.

Alabama.— Ex p. Tate, 39 Ala. 254.

Illinois.— East St. Louis v. East St. Louis Gas Light, etc., Co., 98 Ill. 415, 38 Am. Rep. 97 (powerful and scathing separate opinion by Walker, C. J.); People v. Soldiers', etc., Union Home, 95 Ill. 561 (dissenting opinion of Walker, C. J.).

Kentucky.— Com. v. Farmers' Bank, 97 Ky. 590, 31 S. W. 1013, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 465, per Pryor, J., concurring with the within expression of Miller, J.

Ohio.— Skelly v. Jefferson State Branch Bank, 9 Ohio St. 606; Sandusky City Bank v. Wilbor, 7 Ohio St. 481; Matheny v. Golden, 5 Ohio St. 361; Milan, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Husted, 3 Ohio St. 578; Toledo Bank v. Toledo, 1 Ohio St. 622; Knoup v. Piqua State Branch Bank, 1 Ohio St. 603; Mechanics', etc., State Branch Bank v. Debolt, 1 Ohio St. 591; Debolt v. Ohio L. Ins., etc., Co., 1 Ohio St. 563.

United States.— New Jersey v. Yard, 95 U. S. 104, 24 L. ed. 352, where Miller, J., said: "The writer of this opinion has always believed and believes now, that one Legislature of a State has no power to bargain away the right of any succeeding Legislature to levy taxes in as full a manner as the Constitution will permit."

91. Franklin Bridge Co. v. Wood, 14 Ga. 80.

92. Stowe v. Flagg, 72 Ill. 397.

93. Wells v. Gates, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 554.

94. Black River, etc., R. Co. v. Barnard, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 258. Compare Geneva College Medical Institute v. Patterson, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 61.

95. Observations in Franklin Bridge Co. v. Wood, 14 Ga. 80.

96. Where the legislature has, by a general law, prescribed the conditions upon which a corporation may be created, it is no objection to the validity of such law that the ministerial duties, such as the issuing of a certificate of incorporation, are left to be performed by some officer, such as the secretary of state, before the incorporation takes effect. Granby Min., etc., Co. v. Richards, 95 Mo. 106, 8 S. W. 246. See also infra, I, L, 3.

97. Douglas v. State Bank, 1 Mo. 20; Riddick v. Amelin, 1 Mo. 5. And see supra, I, G, 2.

That the power of the legislature of the state to create corporations need not be expressly granted in the constitution of the state, but arises by implication from a general grant of legislative power see State v. Simonds, 3 Mo. 414. See also Ruggles v. Washington County, 3 Mo. 348.

98. Truckee, etc., Road v. Campbell, 44 Cal. 89.

sessed by the legislatures of the states and territories, and, within its constitutional sphere of action, by the congress of the United States, is obviously a power which like any other subject of legislative discretion is not subject to judicial review,[99] except on constitutional grounds. The departments of our national and state governments being independent of each other it necessarily follows that each department must give full faith and credit to the acts of the others, and that it is not competent for a judicial court to investigate the question whether an act creating a corporation has been fraudulently obtained,[1] or obtained in consequence of fraudulent or improper practices on the part of some of the members of the legislature concerned in passing it.[2]

3. Act of Incorporation Need Not Declare Body to Be Such in Express Words. It is not necessary to the conclusion that a body exercising corporate powers is in the rightful exercise of them, that the body should have been declared a corporation by the legislature in express words.[3] As hereafter seen a corporation may exist by legislative recognition;[4] and for stronger reasons where there is a statute conferring on an existing collective body powers which are appropriate to corporations alone, it is a sound conclusion that it makes it a corporation.[5] Thus a grant of lands to individuals by the state, to be possessed and enjoyed by them in a corporate character, in itself confers upon them a capacity to take and hold in that character.[6] But it is essential to the operation of this rule that the legislature should have attributed to the persons named some of the essential powers of a corporation.[7]

4. Special Charters Granted to Certain Individuals Named and "Their Associates." It was customary in former times in special acts of incorporation to describe the grantees of the corporate powers and privileges as certain persons by name and their "associates" or "associates and successors." The word "associates" might refer either to those already associated with the persons named or to those who might come in afterward; and this being a case of ambiguity in the charter, parol or other extrinsic evidence might be heard to show who were meant by the word "associates."[8]

5. Creation by Reference to Another Act. An act creating a corporation and conferring upon it all the rights and advantages which in preceding portions of the same act were conferred upon another corporation named, and further declaring that all of the provisions, sections, and clauses in the charter of the first-named company not inconsistent with the particular provisions of the charter of the second company should be fully extended to the president and directors of the

99. U. S. Trust Co. v. Brady, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 119.

1. Clarke v. Brooklyn Bank, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 361.

The charter of a railroad company cannot be attacked collaterally for bad faith in obtaining it. Garrett v. Dillsburgh, etc., R. Co., 78 Pa. St. 465.

2. Ferguson v. Miners', etc., Bank, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 609.

3. Denton v. Jackson, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 320.

4. See infra, I, M, 10.

5. Com. v. West Chester R. Co., 3 Grant (Pa.) 200.

6. North Hempstead v. Hempstead, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 109.

Other illustrations of this doctrine will be found in actions relating to the proprietors of townships in New Hampshire (Atkinson v. Bemis, 11 N. H. 44; Coburn v. Ellenwood, 4 N. H. 99); and to the case of the sale of state canals to individuals under a statute reciting that they shall have the rights, privileges, and franchises of other grantors (Delaware Division Canal Co. v. Com., 50 Pa. St. 399); and in Dean v. Davis, 51 Cal. 406 (levee district); Blanchard v. Kanll, 44 Cal. 440 (plank-road company, although designated a "joint stock company").

7. Shelton v. Banks, 10 Gray (Mass.) 401 (resolution of executive council advising that a company of artillery be established); Neil v. Ohio Agricultural, etc., College, 31 Ohio St. 15 (statute creating Agricultural College, with a board of trustees authorized to make contracts and maintain actions for its benefit, and to exercise other powers similar to those conferred on bodies corporate); State v. Davis, 23 Ohio St. 434 (statute "regulating the Commercial College of Cincinnati").

8. Lechmere Bank v. Boynton, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 369. As to the effect of a grant of land to a person named and "his associates" see Duncan v. Beard, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 400.

latter corporation, is a sufficient charter for such company, in the absence of constitutional restraints upon this mode of legislative action.[9]

6. Legislative Deviations From Rules of Common Law. Corporations originating according to the rules of the common law must be governed by it in their mode of organization, in the manner of exercising their powers, and in the use of the capacities conferred; and where one claims its origin from such a source, its rules must be regarded in deciding upon its legal existence. But in the absence of constitutional restraints the legislature has the power to create a corporation, not only without conforming to such rules, but in disregard of them; and where a corporation is thus created, its existence, powers, capacities, and the mode of exercising them must depend upon the law creating it.[10]

7. Acceptance of Charter — a. Necessity of Acceptance. Where a corporation is created by a special act of legislation, two things must concur in order to the creation of the artificial body: (1) The granting of a charter by the legislature. (2) An acceptance of the charter by the corporators.[11]

9. In former times it was not unusual, nor was it deemed objectionable, to grant vast corporate powers in a short act, merely by referring to and adopting the provisions of some other incorporating act, and in terms conferring them on the corporation thus created. Chenango Bridge Co. v. Binghampton Bridge Co., 3 Wall. (U. S.) 51, 18 L. ed. 137.

Where the charter of a corporation contains provisions in terms similar to provisions of a general act, and provides that the corporation shall be subject to such provisions of the general act as are applicable, the provisions in the charter will be deemed a substitute for the provisions of the general act. Briggs v. Cape Cod Ship Canal Co., 137 Mass. 71.

10. Penobscot Boom Corp. v. Lamson, 16 Me. 224, 33 Am. Dec. 656. Character and purposes of an incorporated institution are to be gathered solely from its charter. Nicholson's Succession, 37 La. Ann. 346.

11. Maine.— Lincoln, etc., Bank v. Richardson, 1 Me. 79, 10 Am. Dec. 34.

Massachusetts.— Wright v. Tukey, 3 Cush. 290; Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Chandler, 13 Metc. 311.

North Carolina.— Durham Fertilizer Co. v. Clute, 112 N. C. 440, 17 S. E. 419.

South Carolina.— Haslett v. Wortherspoon, 1 Strobh. Eq. 209.

United States.— Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. 518, 4 L. ed. 629.

England.— London, etc., Tobacco Pipe Makers Co. v. Woodroffe, 7 B. & C. 838, 5 D. & R. 530, 4 L. J. K. B. O. S. 301, 14 E. C. L. 374.

That in the case of a strictly private corporation an acceptance is necessary is shown by the obvious proposition that no man can be forced into such a corporation without his consent. Hampshire County v. Franklin, 16 Mass. 76; Ellis v. Marshall, 2 Mass. 269, 3 Am. Dec. 49; Oliver v. Collins, Brownl. & G. Rep. 100 (applying this doctrine even to a town); Rex v. Larwood, Comb. 315 (same doctrine applied to a town incorporated by roval charter); Bagg's Case, 1 Rolle 224.

Cannot be accepted in part.— A charter must be accepted or rejected as offered by the state. It cannot be accepted in so far as it is not burdensome. Kenton County Ct. v. Bank Lick Turnpike Co., 10 Bush (Ky.) 529; Lyons v. Orange, etc., R. Co., 32 Md. 18. And so as to the charter granted by the crown. Rex v. Westwood, 4 B. & C. 781. 10 E. C. L. 799, 7 Bing. 1, 20 E. C. L. 11, 4 Bligh N. S. 213, 5 Eng. Reprint 76, 2 Dow. & Cl. 21, 6 Eng. Reprint 637, 7 D. & R. 267.

Accepted by what body or constituency.— The acceptance of a special act of incorporation, to be binding must obviously be made by the corporators named therein, acting in their constituent capacity; although, unless the language of the grant imports the contrary, the acceptance need not be by all of them, but may be by a majority who thereupon become the corporation. McGinty v. Athol Reservoir Co., 155 Mass. 183, 29 N. E. 510. After the charter has been accepted an amendment to it may be accepted by the directors, if the shareholders acquiesce therein. Marlborough Mfg. Co. v. Smith, 2 Conn. 579; Brown v. Fairmount Gold, etc., Min. Co., 10 Phila. (Pa.) 32, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 124; Germantown Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Stokes, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 80, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 100. Compare Banks v. Judah, 8 Conn. 145; Blatchford v. Ross, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 42, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 434, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 110. See as to acceptance of amendments of charters infra, I, K, 2 et seq.

Until accepted may be withdrawn.— A grant made by the state to individuals, of a charter or of a corporate franchise of any nature, does not become operative until accepted in some form. State v. Dawson, 16 Ind. 40; Little v. Bowers, 46 N. J. L. 300. Until then the protection of the constitution of the United States as judicially construed does not extend to it, and it may be modified or withdrawn by the state.

Georgia.— Central R., etc., Co. v. State, 54 Ga. 401.

Illinois.— Dissenting opinion of Scofield, J., in Grinnell v. Hoffman, 116 Ill. 587, 5 N. E. 596, 8 N. E. 788.

Indiana.— State v. Dawson, 16 Ind. 40.

b. How Acceptance Shown. To this it may be added that this acceptance need not be in any express form, unless the statute so provides, but is generally evidenced by user thereunder, and is sufficiently shown by proof that the incorporating act was passed at the request of the designated directors.[12] But it may take place by the concurrent act in general meeting of seven of the corporators named in the incorporating act, although one of them does not attend the meeting.[13] It is not necessary that the acceptance of the charter should be shown by the records of the corporation,[14] unless the charter in terms requires some express act of acceptance on the part of the grantees.[15] It may be inferred from acts of the corporators or of the corporation,[16] such as organizing the corporation and exercising the franchises conferred,[17] expending money in furtherance of the purposes of the charter without proof of formal organization,[18] or by proving a notice of a meeting to organize, signed by the incorporators.[19]

Maine.— Lincoln, etc., Bank v. Richardson, 1 Me. 79, 10 Am. Dec. 34.

New Jersey.— State v. Blake, 35 N. J. L. 208.

Tennessee.— State v. Planters' F. & M. Ins. Co., 95 Tenn. 203, 31 S. W. 992.

Virginia.— Yeaton v. Old Dominion Bank, 21 Gratt. 593.

Wisconsin.— Atty.-Gen. v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 35 Wis. 425 (holding that it was quite competent for the state constitution to have repealed all laws to the contrary which had not ripened into contracts under the rule of Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629); Stephens v. Marshall, 3 Pinn. 203, 3 Chandl. 222.

United States.— Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838 [reversing 73 Fed. 933].

See also for analogy Galveston County v. Tankersley, 39 Tex. 651.

An acceptance after a new constitution has gone into effect prohibiting the creation of corporations by special acts of legislation is void. State v. Dawson, 16 Ind. 40.

An acceptance by the corporators may be presumed from a variety of circumstances, such as the exercise of the corporate powers conferred (Penobscot Boom Corp. v. Lamson, 16 Me. 224, 33 Am. Dec. 656; Americoggin Bridge v. Bragg, 11 N. H. 102; Astor v. New York Arcade R. Co., 48 Hun (N. Y.) 562, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 174, 16 N. Y. St. 141); from the mere fact that a charter has been applied for (Atlanta v. Gate City Gas-Light Co., 71 Ga. 106); or from user of the franchises or powers conferred (Illinois River R. Co. v. Zimmer, 20 Ill. 654 [case of an amendment]; Newton v. Carbery, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,190, 5 Cranch C. C. 632). In case of a grant to an existent corporation, the principle applies, as in case of individuals, that an acceptance of the grant is presumed where it is beneficial to the grantee. Atty.-Gen. v. State Bank, Harr. (Mich.) 315 [citing Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629].

Effect of acceptance of charter.—After the charter has been accepted, the duties and liabilities expressed or implied therein attach to the corporators, and they cannot cast them off without consent of the state. Goshen, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Sears, 7 Conn. 86; Com. v. Worcester Turnpike Corp., 3 Pick. (Mass.) 327; Riddle v. Proprietors Merrimack River Locks, etc., 7 Mass. 169, 5 Am. Dec. 35. By accepting the charter they become bound by all its provisions, and are estopped from claiming that some burdensome provision was thrust into it through fraud, and is hence void. Bushwick, etc., Bridge, etc., Co. v. Ebbets, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 353.

Meeting to accept charter — Where held.— Unless the act of incorporation or some other governing statute otherwise provides the meeting of the corporators to accept the charter and organize the corporation thereunder can be held only in the state by whose act of legislation the charter is granted, and any proceeding at such a meeting held outside the state will be void. Miller v. Ewer, 27 Me. 509, 46 Am. Dec. 619, opinion by Shepley, J. [quoted and reaffirmed in Smith v. Silver Valley Min. Co., 64 Md. 85, 54 Am. Rep. 760, 20 Atl. 1032]. See also Freeman v. Machias Water Power, etc., Co., 38 Me. 343. Compare the following cases:

Connecticut.— McCall v. Byram Mfg. Co., 6 Conn. 428.

Maine.— Copp v. Lamb, 12 Me. 312.

Maryland.— Keene v. Van Reuth, 48 Md. 184.

Missouri.— Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. McPherson, 35 Mo. 13, 86 Am. Dec. 12.

Vermont.— Arms v. Conant, 36 Vt. 744.

The doctrine applies only to constituent acts, and does not apply to acts done or authorized by the directors in their capacity of agents or trustees of the corporation. Smith v. Silver Valley Min. Co., 64 Md. 85, 20 Atl. 1032, 54 Am. Rep. 760.

12. St. Joseph, etc., R. Co. v. Shambaugh, 106 Mo. 557, 17 S. W. 581.

13. McGinty v. Athol Reservoir Co., 155 Mass. 183, 29 N. E. 510.

14. Russell v. McLellan, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 63.

15. Logan v. McAllister, 2 Del. Ch. 176.

16. Taylor v. Newberne, 55 N. C. 141, 65 Am. Dec. 566.

17. Logan v. McAllister, 2 Del. Ch. 176.

18. McKay v. Beard, 20 S. C. 156.

19. Gleaves v. Brick Church Turnpike Co., 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 491.

e. Evidence of Non-Acceptance. The presumption of the acceptance of a charter is rebutted by evidence that no proceedings were ever had under it, although seven years had elapsed since its date.[20] A judgment of ouster for non-user of corporate franchises is conclusive evidence not impeachable collaterally that the franchises were not accepted.[21]

d. Whether Acceptance Question of Law or Fact. The question of the acceptance of an act of incorporation is a question of fact for a jury,[22] except where it arises upon the interpretation of a written instrument, as in other cases.[23]

e. Conditions Precedent to Acceptance Must Be Fulfilled. If the charter or other governing statute names certain conditions precedent to be performed by the coadventurers, then, till these conditions are performed, no act or declaration of theirs will amount to a valid acceptance of the charter, for the reason that it cannot be accepted in part and rejected in part.[24]

8. When Charters Take Effect. It is not necessary that a legislative act granting franchises to a corporation or to corporations should in form extend the grant to a person or persons in esse. On the contrary the grant may be extended to any members of the public possessing the qualifications prescribed in the grant who will organize the corporation in compliance with the terms of the grant.[25] This is illustrated by the every-day occurrence of the organization of corporations under general laws. Such statutes are merely permissive to the public generally, and are not in the nature of a grant to particular individuals. But when particular individuals avail themselves of the privilege thereby extended to the public, and organize themselves into an association in conformity with the statute, they become a corporation and the statute becomes their charter.[26] Moreover, when a special charter is granted and the corporation is to be brought into existence by some future acts of the corporators, the franchises which the charter grants to the body remain in abeyance until such acts are done; and when the corporation is brought into life the franchises attach.[27] But for the purpose of saving the rights conferred by the special charter and preventing the implication of a repeal by a subsequent constitutional prohibition of such charters, it has been held that where the legislature incorporates a body of adventurers by a special act the corporation springs into existence ipso facto et eo instanti.[28]

9. How Legislative Grant Made and Corporation Organized Thereunder. This subject has almost entirely lost its significance with the disuse of the practice of creating corporations by special acts, under constitutional prohibitions elsewhere referred to; but it may be briefly said that the special act generally named commissioners to open books and receive subscriptions to the capital stock; that, when the prescribed amount of capital had been subscribed and the necessary payments made, the shareholders elected directors, who appointed a president and secretary, or, in the case of a bank, a cashier; the performance of which acts completed the organization and called the artificial being into existence.[29] If in the organization of a corporation all the requirements of a charter are observed, although not in the order prescribed, the organization is sufficient. Thus where the charter

20. Newton v. Carbery, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,190, 5 Cranch C. C. 632.

21. Thompson v. New York, etc., R. Co., 3 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 625.

22. Hammond v. Straus, 53 Md. 1; 1 Thompson Tr. 1114.

23. 1 Thompson Tr. 1065.

24. Lyons v. Orange, etc., R. Co., 32 Md. 18.

25. Falconer v. Campbell, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,620, 2 McLean 195, in substance.

26. O'Brien v. Cummings, 13 Mo. App. 197.

27. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629.

28. Little Rock, etc., R. Co. v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 36 Ark. 663.

Where the charter declares certain persons named a corporation, this makes it such ab initio, and a subsequent charter requirement as to the election of directors is merely directory. Stoops v. Greensburgh, etc., Plank-Road Co., 10 Ind. 47. See also Judah v. American Live Stock Ins. Co., 4 Ind. 333.

29. Falconer v. Campbell, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,620, 2 McLean 195.

requires that the directors shall be named in the articles of association it is sufficient compliance with the requirement that the articles are adopted at the time of electing directors, and the requirement is only directory.[30]

K. Amendment of Charters — 1. State Cannot Amend Against Will of Corporators Unless Power Reserved. It is a settled principle of law that a state cannot, by any form of action to which it gives the effect of law, whether by a constitutional ordinance,[31] by an act of legislation,[32] or by a municipal ordinance,[33] amend the charter of a private corporation against the will of its members, unless the state, either in the charter itself[34] or in a general statute[35] or constitutional 30. Eakright v. Logansport, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 404; Covington, etc., Plank-Road Co. v. Moore, 3 Ind. 510.

Where the commissioners refused to act it was held that a minority might proceed with the organization of the corporation. Com. v. McKean County Bank, 32 Pa. St. 185. While a mandamus might be granted in a proper case to compel them to act, yet this was not necessary where a majority of them were willing to act. Matter of White River Bank, 23 Vt. 478.

31. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Loftin, 30 Ark. 693; Oliver v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 30 Ark. 128; In re Gibson, 21 N. Y. 9; Union Bank v. State, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 490; New Orleans Water-Works v. Louisiana Sugar Refining Co., 125 U. S. 18, 8 S. Ct. 741, 31 L. ed. 607; Keith v. Clark, 97 U. S. 454, 24 L. ed. 1071; Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. McClure, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 511, 19 L. ed. 997.

32. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629.

33. Connecticut.— Enfield Toll Bridge Co. v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 17 Conn. 40, 42 Am. Dec. 716; Derby Turnpike Co. v. Parks, 10 Conn. 522, 27 Am. Dec. 700.

Delaware.— Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Bowers, 4 Houst. 506.

Georgia.— Young v. Harrison, 6 Ga. 130. Compare State v. Augusta, etc., R. Co., 54 Ga. 401.

Illinois.— Union Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Frear Stone Mfg. Co., 97 Ill. 537, 37 Am. Rep. 129; Bruffett v. Great Western R. Co., 25 Ill. 353.

Louisiana.—Montpelier Academy v. George, 14 La. 395, 33 Am. Dec. 585; Boisdere v. Citizens' Bank, 9 La. 506, 29 Am. Dec. 453.

Maine.— New Gloucester School Fund v. Bradbury, 11 Me. 118, 26 Am. Dec. 515; Bowdoinham v. Richmond, 6 Me. 112, 19 Am. Dec. 197.

Maryland.— State University v. Williams, 9 Gill & J. 365, 31 Am. Dec. 72.

Massachusetts.— Wales v. Stetson, 2 Mass. 143, 3 Am. Dec. 39.

Mississippi.— New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 27 Miss. 517; Commercial Bank v. State, 6 Sm. & M. 599.

New Hampshire.— Backus v. Lebanon, 11 N. H. 19, 35 Am. Dec. 466.

New Jersey.— Zabriskie v. Hackensack, etc., R. Co., 18 N. J. Eq. 178, 90 Am. Dec. 617.

New York.— People v. Manhattan Co., 9 Wend. 351; Livingston v. Lynch, 4 Johns. Ch. 573 (unanimous consent of shareholders necessary).

North Carolina.— State Bank v. Cape Fear Bank, 35 N. C. 75.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Cullen, 13 Pa. St. 133, 53 Am. Dec. 450; Brown v. Hummel, 6 Pa. St. 86, 47 Am. Dec. 431; Second, etc., St. Pass. R. Co. v. Green, etc., St. Pass. R. Co., 3 Phila. 430, 16 Leg. Int. 197.

South Carolina.— State v. Heyward, 3 Rich. 389.

Tennessee.— Officer v. Young, 5 Yerg. 320, 26 Am. Dec. 268; Tate v. Bell, 4 Yerg. 202, 26 Am. Dec. 221.

Vermont.— Pingry v. Washburn, 1 Aik. 264, 15 Am. Dec. 676.

United States.— Mechanics', etc., Bank v. Debolt, 18 How. 380, 15 L. ed. 458; Dodge v. Woolsey, 18 How. 331, 15 L. ed. 401; Piqua Branch Ohio Bank v. Knoop, 16 How. 369, 14 L. ed. 977.

34. Kentucky.— Owensboro Deposit Bank v. Daviess County, 102 Ky. 174, 39 S. W. 1030, 1041, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 248, 44 L. R. A. 825 [affirmed in 173 U. S. 663, 19 S. Ct. 875, 43 L. ed. 850].

Michigan.—Atty.-Gen. v. Looker, 111 Mich. 498, 69 N. W. 929.

Pennsylvania.—Com. v. Fayette County R. Co., 55 Pa. St. 452.

Tennessee.— Ferguson v. Miners', etc., Bank, 3 Sneed 609.

Wisconsin.— West Wisconsin R. Co. v. Trempealeau County, 35 Wis. 257.

United States.— Boston Beer Co. v. Massachusetts, 97 U. S. 25, 24 L. ed. 989; Miller v. New York, 15 Wall. 478, 21 L. ed. 98; Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. 518, 4 L. ed. 629, per Story, J. [reversing 1 N. H. 511].

35. Georgia.— Winter v. Muscogee R. Co., 11 Ga. 438.

Kentucky.— Covington v. Covington, etc., Bridge Co., 10 Bush 69; Hamilton v. Keith, 5 Bush 458; Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. 314.

Maine.— Bangor, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 47 Me. 34.

Mississippi.— New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 27 Miss. 517.

Missouri.— Watson Seminary v. Pike County Ct., 149 Mo. 57, 50 S. W. 880, 45 L. R. A. 675.

New Jersey.— State v. Person, 32 N. J. L. 134; Montclair v. New York, etc., R. Co., 45 N. J. Eq. 436, 18 Atl. 242.

New York.— In re Gibson, 21 N. Y. 9; ordinance[36] operative at the date of the granting of the charter, has reserved the right of amendment; or unless the amendment is made in the exercise of the police power of the state[37] or in the exercise of the right of eminent domain.[38]

Close v. Noye, 2 Misc. 226, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 751, 52 N. Y. St. 271.

Pennsylvania.— Indiana, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Phillips, 2 Penr. & W. 184; Allen v. Buchanan, 9 Phila. 283, 30 Leg. Int. 76.

South Carolina.— State v. Heyward, 3 Rich. 389.

United States.— Holyoke Water Power Co. v. Lyman, 15 Wall. 500, 21 L. ed. 133; Miller v. New York, 15 Wall. 478, 21 L. ed. 98; Tomlinson v. Branch, 15 Wall. 460, 21 L. ed. 189; Tomlinson v. Jessup, 15 Wall. 454, 21 L. ed. 204; Northern Bank v. Stone, 88 Fed. 413; Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78.

36. Delaware.— Delaware R. Co. v. Tharp, 5 Harr. 454.

Maryland.— Jackson v. Walsh, 75 Md. 304, 23 Atl. 778; State v. Northern Cent. R. Co., 44 Md. 131.

Michigan.— Wellman v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 83 Mich. 592, 47 N. W. 489.

New York.— In re Gibson, 21 N. Y. 9.

Wisconsin.— West Wisconsin R. Co. v. Trempealeau County, 35 Wis. 257.

United States.— Miller v. New York, 15 Wall. 478, 21 L. ed. 98.

Such reservations are embodied in many of the state constitutions.— Md. Const. (1850), art. 3, § 47; Md. Const. (1851), art. 3, § 47; N. Y. Const. (1826), art. 8, § 1. And see Delaware R. Co. v. Tharp, 5 Harr. (Del.) 454; Smith v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 114 Mich. 460, 72 N. W. 328 [reversed in 173 U. S. 684, 19 S. Ct. 565, 43 L. ed. 858].

37. Connecticut.— State v. New Haven, etc., Co., 43 Conn. 351.

Georgia.— Southwestern R. Co. v. Paulk, 24 Ga. 356.

Illinois.— Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Deacon, 63 Ill. 91; Galena, etc., R. Co. v. Appleby, 28 Ill. 283; Galena, etc., R. Co. v. Loomis, 13 Ill. 548, 56 Am. Dec. 471.

Indiana.— Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Townsend, 10 Ind. 38.

Iowa.— Rodemacher v. Milwaukee, etc., R. Co., 41 Iowa 297, 20 Am. Rep. 592, imposing liability for railway fires.

Kentucky.— Board of Internal Imp. v. Scearce, 2 Duv. 576.

Maine.— Wilder v. Maine Cent. R. Co., 65 Me. 332, 20 Am. Rep. 698 (requiring railway companies to fence their tracks); State v. Noyes, 47 Me. 189; Veazie v. Mayo, 45 Me. 560, 49 Me. 156.

Massachusetts.—Com. v. Certain Intoxicating Liquors, 115 Mass. 153; Lyman v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 4 Cush. 288.

Missouri.— Clark v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 36 Mo. 202; Gorman v. Pacific R. Co., 26 Mo. 441, 72 Am. Dec. 220. See in supposed illustration of the text State v. Greer, 9 Mo. App. 219, changing mode of voting at corporate elections.

Tennessee.— Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Burke, 6 Coldw. 45.

United States.— New Orleans Gas-Light Co. v. Louisiana Light, etc., Producing Co., 115 U. S. 650, 6 S. Ct. 252, 29 L. ed. 516. Compare Boston Beer Co. v. Massachusetts, 97 U. S. 25, 24 L. ed. 989.

38. Alabama.— Alabama, etc., R. Co. v. Kenney, 39 Ala. 307.

Connecticut.— New York, etc., R. Co. v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 36 Conn. 196; East Hartford v. Hartford Bridge Co., 17 Conn. 79, 16 Conn. 149; Enfield Toll Bridge Co. v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 17 Conn. 40, 42 Am. Dec. 716, 17 Conn. 454, 44 Am. Dec. 556.

Illinois.— East St. Louis Connecting R. Co. v. East St. Louis Union R. Co., 108 Ill. 265; Lake Shore, etc., R. Co. v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 97 Ill. 506; St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Sprinfigeld, etc., R. Co., 96 Ill. 274; Metropolitan City R. Co. v. Chicago City R. Co., 87 Ill. 317; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Lake, 71 Ill. 333; Illinois, etc., Canal v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 14 Ill. 314.

Indiana.— Crossley v. O'Brien, 24 Ind. 325, 87 Am. Dec. 329; Lafayette Plank-Road Co. v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 90, 74 Am. Dec. 246.

Maine.— State v. Noyes, 47 Me. 189; Belfast Academy v. Salmond, 11 Me. 109.

Maryland.— Baltimore, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Union R. Co., 35 Md. 224, 6 Am. Rep. 397; Bellona Co.'s Case, 3 Bland 442.

Massachusetts.— Eastern R. Co. v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 111 Mass. 125, 15 Am. Rep. 13; Haverhill Bridge Proprietors v. Essex County, 103 Mass. 120, 4 Am. Rep. 518; Proprietors Merrimack River Locks, etc. v. Lowell, 7 Gray 223; Central Bridge Corp. v. Lowell, 4 Gray 474; Boston Water Power Co. v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 23 Pick. 360.

Michigan.— Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 62 Mich. 564, 29 N. W. 500, 4 Am. St. Rep. 875; East Saginaw Mfg. Co. v. East Saginaw, 19 Mich. 259, 2 Am. Rep. 82.

New Hampshire.— Crosby v. Hanover, 36 N. H. 404; Northern R. Co. v. Concord, etc., R. Co., 27 N. H. 183; Backus v. Lebanon, 11 N. H. 19, 35 Am. Dec. 466; Pierce v. Somersworth, 10 N. H. 369; Barber v. Andover, 8 N. H. 398; Piscataqua Bridge v. New Hampshire Bridge, 7 N. H. 35.

New Jersey.— Black v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 24 N. J. Eq. 455.

New York.— New York Cent., etc., R. Co. v. Metropolitan Gaslight Co., 63 N. Y. 326; Sixth Ave. R. Co. v. Kerr, 45 Barb. 138 [affirmed in 72 N. Y. 330]; In re Kerr, 42 Barb. 119; Miller v. New York, etc., R. Co., 21 Barb. 513.

North Carolina.— North Carolina, etc., R. Co. v. Carolina Cent. R. Co., 83 N. C. 489.

Ohio.— Kinsman St. R. Co. v. Broadway, etc., St. R. Co., 36 Ohio St. 239.

2. Necessity of Acceptance of Amendment — a. In General. Where the inviolability of a corporate charter is protected under the constitution of the United States, as just explained, an onerous amendment of a charter, in order to be valid, must have the concurrence of all the shareholders or members,[39] unless the concurrence of a smaller number is provided for in the charter itself, in the constitution of the state, or in a statute operative at the time when the charter was granted. Where the power to alter or amend a charter is reserved to the state under these principles the state may make such alterations or amendments as it may see fit,[40] so that it does not amount to a confiscation of the rights of individuals or to a taking of property without due process or law, within the meaning of the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution,[41] and possibly so that it does not violate what a judge may deem to be the principles of natural justice.[42] Nor does the rule of constitutional law which protects charters from legislative amendment without consent of the members of the corporation apply to strictly public corporations in respect of matters committed to them in their public or governmental capacity.[43]

b. What Amendments Release Non-Assenting Subscribers. The relation between the corporators or subscribers to the shares is founded in contract. It follows that onerous amendments, amendments making material changes in the purposes of the corporation, or amendments not in aid of the original object, imposed upon the corporation by the legislature, release the dissenting corporators, shareholders, or members, provided their dissent is signified before the rights of innocent third persons have supervened; otherwise the amendment to the charter would have the effect of impairing the obligation of a contract and would hence be void,[44] although of course under any theory the assenting shareholders or members are bound.[45] There are also decisions which proceed upon the strict Oregon.— Oregon Cascade R. Co. v. Baily, 3 Oreg. 164.

Pennsylvania.— Philadelphia, etc., Pass. R. Co.'s Appeal, 102 Pa. St. 123; In re Towanda Bridge Co., 91 Pa. St. 216; Com. v. Pennsylvania Canal Co., 66 Pa. St. 41, 5 Am. Rep. 329.

Tennessee.—Red River Bridge Co. v. Clarksville, 1 Sneed 176, 60 Am. Dec. 143.

Vermont.— White River Turnpike Co. v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., 21 Vt. 590; West River Bridge Co. v. Dix, 16 Vt. 446 [affirmed in 6 How. (U. S.) 507, 12 L. ed. 535]; Armington v. Barnet, 15 Vt. 745, 40 Am. Dec. 705.

Virginia.—James River, etc., Co. v. Thompson, 3 Gratt. 258; Tuckahoe Canal Co. v. Tuckahoe, etc., R. Co., 11 Leigh 43, 36 Am. Dec. 374.

United States.— Monongahela Nav. Co. v. U. S., 148 U. S. 312, 13 S. Ct. 622, 37 L. ed. 463 (not necessary that such franchises should be taken and appraised like land); Greenwood v. Union Freight R. Co., 105 U. S. 13, 26 L. ed. 961; Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Louisa R. Co., 13 How. 71, 14 L. ed. 55.

39. Livingston v. Lynch, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 573. See also Natusch v. Irving, 2 Coop. Ch. 358.

40. Iowa.—Miners' Bank v. U. S., 1 Greene 553, Morr. 482, 43 Am. Dec. 115.

New York.— Hyatt v. McMahon, 25 Barb. 457; Joslyn v. Pacific Mail Steamship Co., 12 Abb. Pr. N. S. 329.

Ohio.—State v. Granville Alexandrian Soc., 11 Ohio 1.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Fayette County R. Co., 55 Pa. St. 452.

Rhode Island.— Gardner v. Hope Ins. Co., 9 R. I. 194, 11 Am. Rep. 238.

United States.— Close v. Glenwood Cemetery, 107 U. S. 466, 2 S. Ct. 267, 27 L. ed. 408; Lothrop v. Stedman, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,519, 13 Blatchf. 134; Sala v. New Orleans, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,246, 2 Woods 188.

41. Ferguson v. Miners,' etc., Bank, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 609; West Wisconsin R. Co. v. Trempealeau County, 35 Wis. 257.

42. Lothrop v. Stedman, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,519, 13 Blatchf. 134; Sala v. New Orleans, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,246, 2 Woods 188.

43. Louisville v. Louisville University, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 642; People v. Morris, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 325; Cole v. East Greenwich Fire Engine Co., 12 R. I. 202; Head v. Missouri State University, 19 Wall. (U. S.) 526, 22 L. ed. 160.

44. State v. Bailey, 16 Ind. 46, 79 Am. Dec. 405; Martin v. Junction R. Co., 12 Ind. 605; Booe v. Junction R. Co., 10 Ind. 93; McCray v. Junction R. Co., 9 Ind. 358; Sparrow v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 7 Ind. 369; Middlesex Turnpike Corp. v. Swan, 10 Mass. 384, 6 Am. Dec. 139; Middlesex Turnpike Corp. v. Locke, 8 Mass. 268; Proprietors Union Locks, etc., Co. v. Towne, 1 N. H. 44, 8 Am. Dec. 32; Angell & A. Corp. § 537.

45. Chesapeake, etc., Canal Co. v. Robertson, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,652, 4 Cranch C. C. 291.

view that any change made against the will of a shareholder releases him, on the ground that his private reasons for objecting to the change cannot be the subject of inquiry, and that he has the right to say non hæc in fœdera veni.[46] But the general view is that an acceptance by the majority of a material, radical, or fundamental change in the charter binds only the assenting parties and discharges the dissenting shareholders from their contract of subscription.[47] Of this nature are amendments to the charters of railway companies which essentially vary the route of the road,[48] which essentially alter its plan or change its terminus,[49] which extend it beyond its original charter limits,[50] or which provide for a consolidation of the corporation with another;[51] authorizing a "life and accident" insurance 46. Central R. Co. v. Collins, 40 Ga. 582; Proprietors Union Locks, etc., Co. v. Towne, 1 N. H. 44, 8 Am. Dec. 32; Zabriskie v. Hackensack, etc., R. Co., 18 N. J. Eq. 178, 90 Am. Dec. 617.

47. Georgia.— Winter v. Muscogee R. Co., 11 Ga. 438.

Illinois.— Fulton County v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 338.

Indiana.— Shelbyville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Barnes, 42 Ind. 498; Booe v. Junction R. Co., 10 Ind. 93; McCray v. Junction R. Co., 9 Ind. 358.

Kentucky.— Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. 314.

Louisiana.— Hoey v. Henderson, 32 La. Ann. 1069; State v. State Accommodation Bank, 26 La. Ann. 288.

Maine.— Oldtown, etc., R. Co. v. Veazie, 39 Me. 571.

Massachusetts.— Middlesex Turnpike Corp. v. Swan, 10 Mass. 384, 6 Am. Dec. 139; Middlesex Turnpike Corp. v. Locke, 8 Mass. 268.

Michigan.— Tuttle v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 35 Mich. 247.

Mississippi.— Champion v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 35 Miss. 692; Hester v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 378; New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 27 Miss. 517.

New Hampshire.—Proprietors Union Locks, etc. v. Towne, 1 N. H. 44, 8 Am. Dec. 32.

New Jersey.— Black v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 24 N. J. Eq. 455; Kean v. Johnson, 9 N. J. Eq. 401.

New York.— Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Pottle, 23 Barb. 21; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. 581; Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Croswell, 5 Hill 383, 40 Am. Dec. 354.

Ohio.— Marietta, etc., R. Co. v. Elliott, 10 Ohio St. 57.

Pennsylvania.— Manheim, etc., Turnpike, etc., Co. v. Arndt, 31 Pa. St. 317; Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685; Indiana, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Phillips, 2 Penr. & W. 184; Brown v. Fairmount Gold, etc., Min. Co., 10 Phila. 32, 30 Leg. Int. 124 (holding that shareholders and not directors must assent).

Vermont.—Stevens v. Rutland, etc., R. Co., 29 Vt. 545.

Wisconsin.—Kenosha, etc., R. Co. v. Marsh, 17 Wis. 13.

United States.— American Printing House for Blind v. Louisiana Bd. Trustees American Printing House for Blind, 104 U. S. 711, 26 L. ed. 902; Chicago City R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. 233, 21 L. ed. 902; Ferguson v. Meredith, 1 Wall. 25, 17 L. ed. 604; Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78; Ashton v. Burbank, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 582, 2 Dill. 435.

England.—In re Empire Assur. Corp., L. R. 8 Ch. 540, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 649, 21 Wkly. Rep. 495; Clinch v. Financial Corp., L. R. 4 Ch. 117, 38 L. J. Ch. 1, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 334, 17 Wkly. Rep. 84; Simpson v. Denison, 10 Hare 51, 16 Jur. 828, 44 Eng. Ch. 50.

Contra, Witter v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 463; Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Cross, 20 Ark. 443, which hold that the act of the majority is binding.

48. Winter v. Muscogee R. Co., 11 Ga. 438; Champion v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 35 Miss. 692; Hester v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 378; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Pottle, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 21.

49. Middlesex Turnpike Corp. v. Swan, 10 Mass. 384, 6 Am. Dec. 139; Middlesex Turnpike Corp. v. Locke, 8 Mass. 268; Thompson v. Guion, 58 N. C. 113; Marietta, etc., R. Co. v. Elliott, 10 Ohio St. 57; Manheim, etc., Turnpike, etc., Co. v. Arndt, 31 Pa. St. 317.

50. Stevens v. Rutland, etc., R. Co., 29 Vt. 545.

51. Indiana.— Shelbyville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Barnes, 42 Ind. 498; Booe v. Junction R. Co., 10 Ind. 93; McCray v. Junction R. Co., 9 Ind. 358; Carlisle v. Terre Haute, etc., R. Co., 6 Ind. 316.

Michigan.— Tuttle v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 35 Mich. 247.

New Jersey.— New Jersey Midland R. Co. v. Strait, 35 N. J. L. 322. Compare Kean v. Johnson, 9 N. J. Eq. 401.

New York.— Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 86 N. Y. 107; Abbott v. Johnstown, etc., Horse R. Co., 80 N. Y. 27, 36 Am. Rep. 572, in these two cases leases, and not consolidation.

Pennsylvania.— Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685.

United States.— Ferguson v. Meredith, 1 Wall. 25, 17 L. ed. 604; Pearce v. Madison, etc., R. Co., 21 How. 441, 16 L. ed. 184; Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78. Compare Thomas v. West R. Co., 101 U. S. 71, 25 L. ed. 950.

Compare Middletown v. Boston, etc., Air Line R. Co., 53 Conn. 351, 5 Atl. 706; Macgregor v. Dover, etc., R. Co., 18 Q. B. 618, 17 Jur. 21, 22 L. J. Q. B. 69, 7 R. & Can. Cas. 227, 83 company to go into the business of "fire, marine, and inland insurance";[52] authorizing a subdivision of the corporation;[53] authorizing a lease of corporate property to another corporation for nine hundred and ninety-nine years;[54] conferring on a railroad company the privilege of selling the road;[55] reducing the minimum number of subscribed shares, thus rendering a shareholder liable, who otherwise would not be;[56] increasing the capital stock of the corporation;[57] changing the method of voting at corporate elections so as provide for cumulative voting;[58] requiring corporations employing labor to pay their laborers weekly under a penalty;[59] converting a gas and electric lighting company into a street railway company;[60] or an amendment to the charter of a corporation organized to manufacture preserves, syrups, and the like, authorizing it to engage in the sale of liquor.[61]

c. What Amendments Do Not Require Unanimous Consent. On the other hand unanimous consent of the members to an amendment is not required where the change is trifling or immaterial;[62] but changes which merely have the effect of clothing the corporation with additional immunities and privileges in furtherance of the original design will, when adopted according to the method of voting prescribed by the charter or governing statute,[63] bind the whole corporation, and

E. C. L. 618; In re Empire Assur. Corp., L. R. 8 Ch. 540, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 649, 21 Wkly. Rep. 495; Clinch v. Financial Corp., L. R. 4 Ch. 117, 38 L. J. Ch. 1, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 334, 17 Wkly. Rep. 84; East Anglian R. Co. v. Eastern Counties R. Co., 11 C. B. 775, 16 Jur. 249, 21 L. J. C. P. 23, 73 E. C. L. 775; Eastern Counties R. Co. v. Hawkes, 5 H. L. Cas. 331, 24 L. J. Ch. 601, 3 Wkly. Rep. 609.

Right of dissenter to appraisement and purchase of shares.—Laws have been enacted in some of the states providing that on the consolidation of two or more corporations a dissenting shareholder may have his shares appraised and purchased by the consolidated company. N. J. Laws (1873), p. 58, § 2; N. J. Laws (1881), p. 222, § 8; N. J. Laws (1883), p. 242, § 2; N. Y. Laws (1884), c. 367. So in England. 25 & 26 Vict. c. 89, §§ 161, 175.

Equity will restrain such a consolidation at the suit of a dissenting shareholder until his interests are secured. Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685.

52. Ashton v. Burbank, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 582, 2 Dill. 435.

53. Fulton County v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 338; Indiana, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Phillips, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 184.

54. Black v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 24 N. J. Eq. 455, restrained in equity.

55. Kean v. Johnson, 9 N. J. Eq. 407.

56. Oldtown, etc., R. Co. v. Veazie, 39 Me. 571.

57. Eidman v. Bowman, 58 Ill. 444, 11 Am. Rep. 90; Chicago City R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 233, 21 L. ed. 902. Compare Venner v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 28 Fed. 581; Nashua, etc., R. Corp. v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 27 Fed. 821. But according to one view the shareholder takes his shares subject to the implication that the legislature may authorize the board of directors to make an increase of the capital stock. Pacific R. Co. v. Hughes, 22 Mo. 291, 64 Am. Dec. 265; Payson v. Withers, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,864, 5 Biss. 269. Another view is that the validity of an increase of the capital stock without unanimous consent of the shareholders cannot be raised by a shareholder under a plea of non assumpsit in a suit on his contract of subscription, but can only be raised by the state. Pullman v. Upton, 96 U. S. 328, 24 L. ed. 818, per Strong, J. Under any view a shareholder who, after an increase of the capital stock, fails to dissent and participates in the profits of the enterprise will be estopped from claiming exemption from liability as a shareholder on this ground. Byers v. Rollins, 13 Colo. 22, 21 Pac. 894; Bailey v. Champlain Min., etc., Co., 77 Wis. 453, 46 N. W. 539; Chicago City R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 233, 21 L. ed. 902; Stutz v. Handley, 41 Fed. 531 [reversed on other grounds in 139 U. S. 417, 35 L. ed. 227]; Payson v. Stoever, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,863, 2 Dill. 427. But the rule may be different where the increase was wholly unauthorized, and where the question arises between the subscribers and the corporation in an action for calls, the rights of innocent third persons not having supervened. Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523.

Examples of amendments increasing the capital stock which did not have the effect of discharging the dissenting shareholders may be found in Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Schenectady, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Thatcher, 11 N. Y. 102.

58. Loewenthal v. Rubber Reclaiming Co., 52 N. J. Eq. 440, 28 Atl. 454.

59. Braceville Coal Co. v. People, 147 Ill. 66, 35 N. E. 62, 37 Am. St. Rep. 206, 22 L. R. A. 340.

60. State v. Taylor, 55 Ohio St. 61, 44 N. E. 513.

61. In re Pennsylvania Bottling, etc., Co., 6 Pa. Dist. 530, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 593.

62. Milford, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Brush, 10 Ohio 111, 36 Am. Dec. 78.

63. Witter v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 463.

dissenting shareholders will remain liable on their subscriptions.[64] A more extreme view is that amendments bind the dissenting minority where the general scope and character of the undertaking remain the same, although they work a grave alteration in the organization or in respect of the undertaking which it was originally created to perform.[65] According to this view the will of the majority should govern, unless there is fraud or an entire change in the purpose for which the corporation was created,[66] validating such amendments as an unimportant change in the route of the railroad;[67] an amendment conferring power to build a branch road;[68] extending the road beyond its charter terminus,[69] or even changing its termini,[70] reducing its length,[71] directing material alterations in its terminus, including the abandonment of one depot and the erection of another,[72] changing the name of the corporation,[73] in case of a railroad charter extending the time for the completion of the road,[74] in increasing the number of directors from five to nine,[75] in case of the charter of a turnpike road, changing the location of the

64. Georgia.— Wilson v. Wills Valley R. Co., 33 Ga. 470.

Iowa.— Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Preston, 35 Iowa 115.

Kentucky.— Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. 314.

Louisiana.— State v. State Accommodation Bank, 26 La. Ann. 288.

Maine.— Bucksport, etc., R. Co. v. Buck, 68 Me. 81; Lincoln, etc., Bank v. Richardson, 1 Me. 79, 10 Am. Dec. 34.

Maryland.— Taggart v. Western Maryland R. Co., 24 Md. 563, 89 Am. Dec. 760.

Massachusetts.— Eastern R. Co. v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 111 Mass. 125, 15 Am. Rep. 13; Agricultural Branch R. Co. v. Winchester, 13 Allen 29; Fall River Iron Works Co. v. Old Colony, etc., R. Co., 5 Allen 221.

Michigan.—Joy v. Jackson, etc., Plank Road Co., 11 Mich. 155.

New York.— Poughkeepsie, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Griffin, 24 N. Y. 150.

Pennsylvania.— Everhart v. West Chester, etc., R. Co., 28 Pa. St. 339; Clark v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 10 Watts 364; Irvin v. Susquehanna, etc., Turnpike Co., 2 Penr. & W. 466, 23 Am. Dec. 53.

Tennessee.— Greeneville, etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 8 Baxt. 332; Woodfork v. Union Bank, 3 Coldw. 488.

65. Delaware.— Delaware R. Co. v. Tharp, 1 Houst. 149.

Florida.— Martin v. Pensacola, etc., R. Co., 8 Fla. 370, 73 Am. Dec. 713.

Illinois.— Ross v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 77 Ill. 127; Illinois Grand Trunk R. Co. v. Cook, 29 Ill. 237; Rice v. Rock Island, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 94; Illinois River R. Co. v. Zimmer, 20 Ill. 654; Sprague v. Illinois River R. Co., 19 Ill. 174; Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Elting, 17 Ill. 429; Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 504.

Missouri.— Pacific R. Co. v. Hughes, 22 Mo. 291, 64 Am. Dec. 265; Pacific R. Co. v. Renshaw, 18 Mo. 210.

Ohio.— Dayton, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 1 Disn. 84, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 501.

Pennsylvania.— Cross v. Peach Bottom R. Co., 90 Pa. St. 392; Gray v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 2 Watts & S. 156, 37 Am. Dec. 500.

Virginia.— Currie v. Mutual Assur. Soc., 4 Hen. & M. 315, 4 Am. Dec. 517.

66. Ross v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 77 Ill. 127; Illinois River R. Co. v. Zimmer, 20 Ill. 654; Sprague v. Illinois River R. Co., 19 Ill. 174. Compare Irvin v. Susquehanna, etc., Turnpike Co., 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 466, 23 Am. Dec. 53; Marsh v. Fulton County, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 676, 19 L. ed. 1040.

67. Georgia.— Wilson v. Wills Valley R. Co., 33 Ga. 466.

Illinois.— Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 504.

Kentucky.— Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. 314.

Massachusetts.—Fall River Iron Works Co. v. Old Colony, etc., R. Co., 5 Allen 221.

Pennsylvania.— Irvin v. Susquehanna, etc., Turnpike Co., 2 Penr. & W. 466, 23 Am. Dec. 53.

68. Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Preston, 35 Iowa 115.

69. Rice v. Rock Island R. Co., 21 Ill. 93; Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Elting, 17 Ill. 429; Cross v. Peach Bottom R. Co., 90 Pa. St. 392.

70. Sprague v. Illinois River R. Co., 19 Ill. 174. See also Ross v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 77 Ill. 127; Illinois River R. Co. v. Zimmer, 20 Ill. 654.

71. Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 581. Contra, Kenosha, etc., R. Co. v. Marsh, 17 Wis. 13.

72. Worcester v. Norwich, etc., R. Co., 109 Mass. 103. One court has gone so far as to hold that the subscriber's contract is not impaired unless he is obliged to pay more money on his subscription. Delaware R. Co. v. Tharp, 1 Houst. (Del.) 149.

73. Reading v. Vedder, 66 Ill. 80; Bucksport, etc., R. Co. v. Buck, 68 Me. 81; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Milwaukee, etc., R. Co. v. Field, 12 Wis. 340.

74. Agricultural Branch R. Co. v. Winchester, 13 Allen (Mass.) 29. Such an amendment, being beneficial, will be presumed to have been made with the consent of the shareholders. San Antonio v. Jones, 28 Tex. 19.

75. Mower v. Staples, 32 Minn. 284, 20 N. W. 225.

road, where there is no implication or expression to the contrary in the original charter,[76] in case of a navigation company extending its privileges, although its liabilities may be thereby extended,[77] or, in case of a railway company chartered to build a railway "from Dublin to Mullingar, and Athlone," an act of parliament authorizing the company to buy and work a canal from Mullingar to Athlone and to build their road from Dublin to Mullingar only;[78] or, it seems, an amendment changing the denomination of the shares, so long as the proportion of the interests of each member in the corporation is left unchanged;[79] or, in case of a gas-light company, an amendment authorizing it to use both gas and electricity;[80] or, in case of a medical and surgical college, an amendment conferring upon it the power to confer degrees incidental to surgery, and to issue diplomas therefor;[81] or, in case of a banking corporation, an act of legislation increasing the amount of taxation laid upon it beyond that prescribed by its charter.[82]

d. Amendment Authorizing Surrender of Franchises. An amendment to the charter of a strictly private corporation, owing no public duties to the state, authorizing it to surrender its franchises and dissolve, does not impair the obligation of any contract subsisting between the state and the corporation, but merely operates to give the consent of the state to what the corporation can do without its consent.[83]

e. Materiality of Amendment Question of Law For Court. The materiality of the amendment, within the foregoing principles, is a question of law for the court and is not to be submitted to a jury.[84]

3. Effect of Reservation of Power to Alter or Repeal — a. In General. A reservation in the charter, constitutional provision, or a general statute, operative at the date of the granting of the charter, of the power in the legislature to alter or repeal the charter, enters into the grant, qualifies it, and becomes a part of it, so as to make it a mere privilege conferred by the legislature, which may at any future time be withdrawn or modified in compliance with the legislative will.[85]

76. Irvin v. Susquehanna, etc., Turnpike Co., 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 466, 23 Am. Dec. 53, opinion by Gibson, C. J. [followed in Gray v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 156, 37 Am. Dec. 500; Union Canal Co. v. Young, 1 Whart. (Pa.) 410, 30 Am. Dec. 212]. Compare Central Plank Road Co. v. Clemens, 16 Mo. 359; Mercer County v. Coovert, 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 70 (where the first of these cases is commented upon).

77. Gray v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 156, 37 Am. Dec. 500.

78. Midland Great Western R. Co. v. Gordon, 11 Jur. 440, 16 L. J. Exch. 166, 16 M. & W. 804, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 76. Many other cases are found tending to establish the same doctrine. Middlesex Turnpike Co. v. Locke, 8 Mass. 268; New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 27 Miss. 517; Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Croswell, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 383, 40 Am. Dec. 354; Indiana, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Phillips, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 184.

79. Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Waters, 34 Me. 369; In re New Zealand Banking Corp., L. R. 3 Ch. 131, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 2, 16 Wkly. Rep. 381; In re Financial Corp., L. R. 2 Ch. 714. Compare In re International Contract Co., L. R. 7 Ch. 485, 41 L. J. Ch. 564, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 487, 20 Wkly. Rep. 430.

80. Picard v. Hughey, 58 Ohio St. 577, 51 N. E. 133.

81. In re Philadelphia Medico-Chirurgical College, 190 Pa. St. 121, 43 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 481, 42 Atl. 524.

82. Owenshoro Deposit Bank v. Daviess County, 102 Ky. 174, 39 S. W. 1030, 1041, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 248, 44 L. R. A. 825 [affirmed in 173 U. S. 662, 19 S. Ct. 875, 43 L. ed. 850].

83. Houston v. Jefferson College, 63 Pa. St. 428.

84. Witter v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 463; Memphis Branch R. Co. v. Sullivan, 57 Ga. 240. For an unsound case where it was held proper to submit to the jury the question of the materiality of the change made by the amendment see Southern Pennsylvania, etc., R. Co. v. Stevens, 87 Pa. St. 190.

Yet if the court erroneously submits it to a jury and they decide it rightly their verdict will not be set aside. Memphis Branch R. Co. v. Sullivan, 57 Ga. 240. That this is an established rule of procedure see Bernstein v. Humes, 78 Ala. 134; Jones v. Pullen, 66 Ala. 306; Thornburgh v. Mastin, 93 N. C. 258; Glenn v. Charlotte, etc., R. Co., 63 N. C. 510; Woodbury v. Taylor, 48 N. C. 504.

Court decides upon facts found.— That the question, although one of law, is to be decided by the court upon facts found see Witter v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 463.

85. Sprigg v. Western Tel. Co., 46 Md. 67; Perrin v. Oliver, 1 Minn. 202; In re New-

One view is that such a reserved power to alter or amend charters extends only to the protection of public rights and public interests, and not to the control of the affairs of the members inter sese.[86] Another view is that it extends not only to the power of altering the charter for purposes connected with the public rights and interests, but also to altering it for the mere purpose of changing the rights of the corporators as among themselves.[87] But there must be a limit to this power on the part of the legislature; since there are implied reservations of power upon legislation in free governments,[88] and since as already seen[89] the legislature cannot force a man to become a member of a corporation against his will. If therefore, he having agreed to become a member of one kind of a corporation, it endeavors to force him to become against his will a member of another kind of a corporation, it seems that it subjects his property embarked in the original corporation to a confiscation and takes it without due process of law, in violation of the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution.[90]

b. Such Reservation in General Law Applies to Future Special Charters. Contrary to the general rule of statutory construction expressed in the maxim generalia specialibus non derogant, it is a settled rule that the power reserved to the legislature in a general statute or constitutional provision to alter or repeal the charters of corporations reads itself into the charter of every corporation created while the general statute is in force, and makes such charters subject to legislative alteration or repeal, against the will of the corporators or shareholders, to the extent of the principle already stated.[91] Where the legislature has, in granting a special charter, reserved the power to alter or repeal it, this power may be exerark Library Assoc., 64 N. J. L. 217, 43 Atl. 435; Hyatt v. Esmond, 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 601; Hyatt v. Whipple, 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 595.

86. Zabriskie v. Hackensack, etc., R. Co., 18 N. J. Eq. 178, 90 Am. Dec. 617.

87. Illinois.— Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 504.

Maine.— South Bay Meadow Dam Co. v. Gray, 30 Me. 547.

Massachusetts.— Durfee v. Old Colony, etc., R. Co., 5 Allen 230.

Missouri.— Pacific R. Co. v. Hughes, 22 Mo. 291, 64 Am. Dec. 265; Pacific R. Co. v. Renshaw, 18 Mo. 210.

New York.—Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Schenectady, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Thatcher, 11 N. Y. 102; White v. Syracuse, etc., R. Co., 14 Barb. 559; Northern R. Co. v. Miller, 10 Barb. 260.

Proviso that right shall not be exercised to impair vested rights.— Where the power of amendment is reserved in a charter or general statute, but with the proviso that it shall not be exercised so as to impair rights previously vested, the proviso does not disable the state from changing an exemption from taxation contained in the original charter. The proviso is deemed to refer to property rights of the members and to contract rights of the corporation merely. Northern Bank v. Stone, 88 Fed. 413.

88. Citizens' Sav., etc., Assoc. v. Topeka, 20 Wall. (U. S.) 665, 22 L. ed. 455.

89. See supra, I, J, 7, a, note 11.

90. People v. O'Brien, 111 N. Y. 1, 18 N. E. 692, 19 N. Y. St. 173, 7 Am. St. Rep. 684, 2 L. R. A. 255; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Minnesota, 134 U. S. 418, 10 S. Ct. 462, 33 L. ed. 970.

A statute requiring an existing railroad company to issue family mileage tickets at reduced rates cannot be upheld as an exercise of a reserved power of amendment, or as an exercise of a power of amendment reserved to the legislature in the charter of the railway company, when it does not purport to be an amendment of the charter, and contains no provision for rendering compensation to the company for the loss of its exclusive right granted by its charter to fix its fares. Pingree v. Michigan, etc., R. Co., 118 Mich. 314, 76 N. W. 635, 53 L. R. A. 274.

Reservation prevents grant from becoming irrevocable contract.— A reservation in a charter of the power to amend or repeal prevents a grant made therein to the corporation, such as a grant limiting the power of taxation of the state with respect to it, from becoming an irrevocable contract; but such taxes may be increased at the pleasure of the state. Owensboro Deposit Bank v. Daviess County, 102 Ky. 174, 39 S. W. 1030, 1041, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 248, 44 L. R. A. 825 [affirmed in 173 U. S. 662, 19 S. Ct. 875, 43 L. ed. 850].

91. Connecticut.— Lothrop v. Stedman, 42 Conn. 583.

Kentucky.— Griffin v. Kentucky Ins. Co., 3 Bush 592, 96 Am. Dec. 259; Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. 314.

Maine.— State v. Maine Central R. Co., 66 Me. 488.

Massachusetts.— Roxbury v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 6 Cush. 424.

New Jersey.— State v. Railroad Taxation Commissioner, 37 N. L. L. 228; State v. Person, 32 N. J. L. 134 [affirmed in 32 N. J. L. 566]; Story v. Jersey City, etc., R. Co., 16 N. J. Eq. 13, 84 Am. Dec. 134.

cised by a subsequent general law, such as a subsequent statute requiring all railroad companies to fence their tracks.[92]

4. WHAT BODY MAY GIVE ASSENT TO AMENDMENTS — a. In General. The directors of a corporation are merely its managing agents for the purposes of its business.[93] Unless power thereto has been specially conferred upon them by the legislature, they have no power to make constituent changes in the corporation itself.[94] In the absence of power specially conferred they have therefore no power to sanction amendments of its charter.[95] They cannot for example sanction an increase[96] or reduction[97] of its capital stock. Without the sanction of the shareholders they cannot apply to the legislature for amendments of the charter;[98] but such applications can be made only by or under the authority of the shareholders.[99] Acceptance of the amendment of a charter involving fundamental changes in the corporation can be made, in case of a joint-stock company, only by the share-

New York.— Suydam v. Moore, 8 Barb. 358.

Wisconsin.— West Wisconsin R. Co. v. Trempealeau County, 35 Wis. 257.

United States.— Holyoke Water Power Co. v. Lyman, 15 Wall. 500, 21 L. ed. 433; Miller v. New York, 15 Wall. 478, 21 L. ed. 98; Pennsylvania College Cases, 13 Wall. 190, 20 L. ed. 350; Sala v. New Orleans, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,246, 2 Woods 188.

This does not mean that the hands of a legislature are tied so that it cannot enact in a special charter that which is inconsistent with a prior general law. Scotland County v. Missouri, etc., R. Co., 65 Mo. 123. Nor does it abrogate the rule that a special provision relating to the particular corporation embodied in its special charter will override a different provision in an existent general statute. Wood v. Wellington, 30 N. Y. 218. And although by reason of the reservation in the general law the legislature has the power to alter or repeal a special charter granted while the general law was in force, yet it will not be intended as doing so by reason of subsequent general enactments, which do not have this effect by their terms. State v. Macon County Ct., 41 Mo. 453.

92. Durand v. New Haven, etc., Co., 42 Conn. 211. Contra, and seemingly unsound, Pingree v. Michigan, etc., R. Co., 118 Mich. 314, 76 N. W. 635, 53 L. R. A. 274.

The power of amendment reserved in the general law will be construed as applicable to an existing charter, although the legislature tendered to the corporation an extension of its charter, expressly reserving the power of amendment, which was rejected by the corporation, after which the legislature granted an extension, which was accepted without such an express reservation. Northern Bank v. Stone, 88 Fed. 413.

The reservation of the power to amend, alter, or repeal a charter may be exercised by changing the term of office of a director, and by providing for a representation in the board of directors of a minority of the shareholders. Atty.-Gen. v. Looker, 111 Mich. 498, 69 N. W. 929.

Where a charter has been granted and extended under successive constitutions, it will become subject to the provisions of the constitution in force when its final extension takes effect. State v. Citizens' Bank, 52 La. Ann. 1086, 27 So. 709.

The acceptance by a corporation of an act of the legislature passed for its benefit operates to bring the corporation under the dominion of the constitution of the state in force when its acceptance takes place. State v. Citizens' Bank, 52 La. Ann. 1086, 27 So. 709.

93. Chicago City R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 233, 21 L. ed. 902.

94. Gill v. Balis, 72 Mo. 424; Com. v. Cullen, 13 Pa. St. 133, 53 Am. Dec. 450; Brown v. Fairmount Gold, etc., Min. Co., 10 Phila. (Pa.) 32, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 124; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 233, 21 L. ed. 902.

That directors cannot change essentially the business of the corporation see Cherokee Iron Co. v. Jones, 52 Ga. 276; Abbot v. American Hard Rubber Co., 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 578.

95. Marlborough Mfg. Co. v. Smith, 2 Conn. 579; Stark v. Burke, 9 La. Ann. 341; Boisdere v. Citizens' Bank, 9 La. 506, 29 Am. Dec. 453; State v. Adams, 44 Mo. 570; Zabriskie v. Hackensack, etc., R. Co., 18 N. J. Eq. 178, 90 Am. Dec. 617.

An exception to this statement of doctrine was made in Illinois, where it was held that the directors of a corporation have power to accept an amended charter. Illinois River R. Co. v. Zimmer, 20 Ill. 654 [citing Sprague v. Illinois River R. Co., 19 Ill. 174; Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 508]. The language above quoted was reaffirmed in Illinois River R. Co. v. Beers, 27 Ill. 185.

96. Chicago City R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 233, 21 L. ed. 902; Heath v. Erie R. Co., 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,306, 8 Blatchf. 347.

97. Hatridge v. Rockwell, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 260; Percy v. Millaudon, 3 La. Ann. 568.

98. Stark v. Burke, 9 La. Ann. 341.

99. Marlborough Mfg. Co. v. Smith, 2 Conn. 579; Boisdere v. Citizens' Bank, 9 La. 506, 29 Am. Dec. 453; State v. Adams, 44 Mo. 570; Zabriskie v. Hackensack, etc., R. Co., 18 N. J. Eq. 178, 90 Am. Dec. 617. Compare Dayton, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 1 Disn. (Ohio) 84, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 501, holding it to be a power of the directors.

holders, unless the legislature has previously provided for an acceptance by the directors or by some other body.[100]

b. Action of Directors Validated by Ratification or Acquiescence of Shareholders. But although the directors may have in strictness no power to accept an amendment of the charter, yet their action in so doing may be validated by the acquiescence of the shareholders, on the principle of ratification or estoppel.[1] This principle applies where the directors have, without authority from the shareholders, taken it upon themselves to procure new legislation respecting the corporation. Here, if the legislation is beneficial to the corporation and is not repudiated by the shareholders by some distinct act, slight evidence of acquiescence will found a presumption of acceptance,[2] such as persisting in the prosecution of an action which could be maintained only under the charter as amended,[3] taking a continuous course of action which could be lawfully maintained only under the amended charter,[4] or, in case of an amendment procured by the directors, changing the voting power of the shares, by a unanimous acceptance and action upon it for twenty years.[5] Nor can a shareholder plead his ignorance of the amendment so as to make it a ground of escaping his liability under his contract of subscription, since it is his duty to know it,[6] especially where, subsequently to the amendment, he has voted at corporate meetings and otherwise acted in a manner consistent only with the conclusion of his being a shareholder.[7]

5. Evidence of Acceptance of Amendment — a. In General. The acceptance of an amendment to a charter need not be proved by formal corporate action, but may be established by evidence of user thereunder, that is to say, of action by the corporation which could not be taken properly but for the amendment;[8] and it may be inferred from such acts or omissions as would raise a presumption of

100. Opinion of Judges, 120 N. C. 623, 28 S. E. 18.

1. Arkansas.— Ex p. Booker, 18 Ark. 338.
Connecticut.— Danbury, etc., R. Co. v. Wilson, 22 Conn. 435; Marlborough Mfg. Co. v. Smith, 2 Conn. 579.
Florida.— Martin v. Pensacola, etc., R. Co., 8 Fla. 370, 73 Am. Dec. 713.
Georgia.— Memphis Branch R. Co. v. Sullivan, 57 Ga. 240.
Indiana.— Hayworth v. Junction R. Co., 13 Ind. 348.
New Jersey.— Zabriskie v. Hackensack, etc., R. Co., 18 N. J. Eq. 178, 90 Am. Dec. 617; Gifford v. New Jersey R., etc., Co., 10 N. J. Eq. 171.
Ohio.— Goodin v. Evans, 18 Ohio St. 150; Owen v. Purdy, 12 Ohio St. 73.
Pennsylvania.— Houston v. Jefferson College, 63 Pa. St. 428; Bedford R. Co. v. Bowser, 48 Pa. St. 29; Brown v. Fairmount Gold, etc., Min. Co., 10 Phila. 32, 30 Leg. Int. 124; Germantown Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Stokes, 9 Phila. 80, 29 Leg. Int. 100.
Vermont.— Vermont, etc., R. Co. v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., 34 Vt. 1.
United States.— Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523; Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78; Upton v. Jackson, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,802, 1 Flipp. 413.
Compare Banks v. Judah, 8 Conn. 145; Blatchford v. Ross, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 42, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 434, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 110.

2. Penobscot Boom Corp. v. Lamson, 16 Me. 224, 33 Am. Dec. 656; Trott v. Warren, 11 Me. 227; Ameriscoggin Bridge Co. v. Bragg, 11 N. H. 102; U. S. Bank v. Dandridge, 12 Wheat. 64, 71, 6 L. ed. 552; Newling v. Francis, 3 T. R. 189, 1 Rev. Rep. 687.

3. Lincoln, etc., Bank v. Richardson, 1 Me. 79, 10 Am. Dec. 34; Com. v. Cullen, 13 Pa. St. 133, 53 Am. Dec. 450.

4. Rex v. Amery, 1 T. R. 575, 2 T. R. 515.

5. Rogers v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 91 Fed. 299, 33 C. C. A. 517.

6. Eppes v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 35 Ala. 33; Sparrow v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 7 Ind. 369.

7. Bedford R. Co. v. Bowser, 48 Pa. St. 29. But see contra, Oldtown, etc., R. Co. v. Veazie, 39 Me. 571.
Circumstances under which an acceptance of enabling statutes by the shareholders is not necessary to authorize the directors to take land for corporate purposes. See Eastern R. Co. v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 111 Mass. 125, 15 Am. Rep. 13.

8. Jackson v. Walsh, 75 Md. 304, 23 Atl. 778; Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Cole, 29 Ohio St. 126, 23 Am. Rep. 729; Zabriskie v. Cleveland, etc., R. Co., 23 How. (U. S.) 381, 16 L. ed. 488.
Although the board of directors may have no power to procure or to accept an amendment of the charter, yet where a new power is conferred by the amendment and is exercised by the directors without dissent on the part of the shareholders this will be evidence of an acceptance of the amendment by the corporation. Eastern R. Co. v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 111 Mass. 125, 15 Am. Rep. 13 [citing Bangor, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 47 Me. 34;

acceptance in the case of a natural person.[9] A presumption of acceptance arises where the grant is beneficial to the corporation or to the shareholders.[10] Such an acceptance may be shown by showing the exercise by the corporation of the powers conferred by the amendment,[11] by showing that the corporation has done particular corporate acts authorized by the amendment, but without which such acts would not have been authorized,[12] by the fact that the officers of the corporation have exercised the powers conferred by it,[13] or in general by any acts or omissions done or had by the corporation which are inconsistent with any hypothesis save that of an acceptance of the amendment.[14]

b. By Shareholders. The doctrine that action under an amendment which could not take place lawfully without an acceptance of the amendment is prima facie evidence of its acceptance does not apply as against shareholders who have not lost their rights by acquiescence or laches. The reason is that they have a right to have their dissent heard and discussed in a corporate meeting.[15] Circumstances may of course exist from which the assent of a subscriber to shares of the corporation, to an amendment to the charter procured subsequently to his subscription, may be inferred without direct evidence of such assent.[16] Where there is an attempt upon the part of a shareholder or of his personal representative to escape liability on his contract of subscription, on the ground that the charter was altered subsequently thereto without his consent, it seems that his assent, in the absence of any evidence speaking upon the question, will be presumed, and that his dissent must be affirmatively shown.[17]

Middlesex Husbandmen, etc., Soc. v. Davis, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 133; Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 344].

9. Sumrall v. Sun Mut. Ins. Co., 40 Mo. 27; Com. v. Cullen, 13 Pa. St. 133, 53 Am. Dec. 450.

10. "Where the new grant is beneficial in its aspect, it is thought, very little is required to found a presumption of acceptance." Bell, J., in Com. v. Cullen, 13 Pa. St. 133, 140, 53 Am. Dec. 450. See also Bangor, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 47 Me. 34.

11. Wetumpka, etc., R. Co. v. Bingham, 5 Ala. 657; Palfrey v. Paulding, 7 La. Ann. 363; Bangor, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 47 Me. 34; Penobscot Boom Corp. v. Lamson, 16 Me. 224, 33 Am. Dec. 656; Goodin v. Evans, 18 Ohio St. 150.

A general act amounting to an amendment of all railroad charters was deemed to have been accepted by action under it by the officers, who had power to request amendments, no shareholders ever objecting to it. Smead v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 104. And this rule applies when the powers are conferred by a general law which is declared applicable to any one of a class of corporations that may accept its provisions. Goodin v. Evans, 18 Ohio St. 150.

12. Kenton County Ct. v. Bank Lick Turnpike Co., 10 Bush (Ky.) 529.

13. Story, J., in U. S. Bank v. Dandridge, 12 Wheat. (U. S.) 64, 6 L. ed. 552.

14. Alabama.— Wetumpka, etc., R. Co. v. Bingham, 5 Ala. 657.

Kentucky.— Covington v. Covington, etc., R. Co., 10 Bush 69.

Louisiana.— Palfrey v. Paulding, 7 La. Ann. 363.

Maine.— Bangor, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 47 Me. 34.

Massachusetts.— Blandford School Dist. No. 3 v. Gibbs, 2 Cush. 39.

Minnesota.— State v. Sibley, 25 Minn. 387.

Missouri.— Hope Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Koeller, 47 Mo. 129; Hope Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Beckmann, 47 Mo. 93; Sumrall v. Sun Mut. Ins. Co., 40 Mo. 27.

New York.— People v. Law, 34 Barb. 494; Beals v. Benjamin, 29 How. Pr. 101.

Ohio.— Goodin v. Evans, 18 Ohio St. 150. See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," §§ 125, 126.

The election of corporate officers in pursuance of the terms of the amended charter is presumptive evidence of its acceptance. Com. v. Cullen, 13 Pa. St. 133, 53 Am. Dec. 450.

15. Maryland.— Lyons v. Orange, etc., R. Co., 32 Md. 18.

Mississippi.— New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 27 Miss. 517.

Ohio.— Owen v. Purdy, 12 Ohio St. 73.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Cullen, 13 Pa. St. 133, 53 Am. Dec. 450.

Vermont.— Vermont, etc., R. Co. v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., 34 Vt. 1.

16. Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

17. Martin v. Pensacola, etc., R. Co., 8 Fla. 370, 73 Am. Dec. 713; Western North Carolina R. Co. v. Rollins, 82 N. C. 523; North Carolina, etc., R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340; Mills v. Williams, 33 N. C. 558.

In Ohio it has been reasoned that the burden of showing such assent rests with the party seeking to hold the shareholder liable. Ireland v. Palestine, etc., Turnpike Co., 19 Ohio St. 369. It is obvious that this conclusion may be varied either way by the state of the pleadings and the form of the issues. Bery v. Marietta, etc., R. Co., 26 Ohio St. 673.

6. Estoppel to Deny Acceptance of Amendment — a. Of Shareholders. Although there may have been a fundamental change wrought by an amendment to the charter or act of incorporation, such as might release a shareholder seasonably dissenting therefrom in the proper mode, yet unless he does so dissent and make a fair attempt to procure a rescission of his contract of subscription on that ground, or to prevent the corporation from acting in conformity with the amendment, he will become estopped from subsequently claiming that he has been released from his contract of subscription by reason of the amendment.[18] This is merely a branch of the general doctrine under which a shareholder when sued upon his contract of subscription to the shares of the corporation becomes estopped by his conduct in various ways from denying the regularity or the legality of the organization of the corporation.[19] Judicial opinion upon this question has gone so far as to hold that the shareholder must challenge the validity of the amendment by a proceeding in the nature of quo warranto, and cannot be heard in an action to enforce his contract of subscription to set it up in a collateral way.[20]

b. Of Third Parties. As hereafter seen,[21] one who contracts with a corporation by its corporate name, becomes thereby estopped to deny its corporate existence when sued upon the contract. So one who contracts with a corporation, acting under an amended charter and by its amended name, will not be heard to complain that the amendment has not been properly accepted by the corporation.[22] Persons who have entered into contracts with the corporation have no standing to object to acts of legislation concurred in by the corporation changing, repealing, or surrendering its charter, provided their contracts are left intact and their legal remedies preserved.[23]

c. Of Corporation. On the same principle, where the corporation itself exercises the powers conferred by the amendment, it becomes estopped from denying that it has formally accepted the amendment by filing the evidence of acceptance required by the governing statute.[24]

One case is found where it was held that it was a question for the jury whether a combination to change the fundamental purpose of the corporation as established by its original act of incorporation was not a fraud upon a shareholder so as to release him from his contract of subscription. Southern Pennsylvania Iron, etc., Co. v. Stevens, 87 Pa. St. 190.

18. Doane v. Pickaway, Wright (Ohio) 752.

19. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344.

Connecticut.— Lane v. Brainerd, 30 Conn. 565.

Illinois.— Tarbell v. Page, 24 Ill. 46; Rice v. Rock Island, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 93.

Kansas.— McCune Min. Co. v. Adams, 35 Kan. 193, 10 Pac. 468.

Kentucky.— Ferguson v. Landram, 5 Bush 230, 96 Am. Dec. 350.

Massachusetts.— Holyoke Bank v. Goodman Paper Mfg. Co., 9 Cush. 576; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128.

Michigan.— Parker v. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co., 33 Mich. 23.

New York.— Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119; Abbott v. Aspinwall, 26 Barb. 202; Mead v. Keeler, 24 Barb. 20.

Ohio.— Owen v. Purdy, 12 Ohio St. 73.

Pennsylvania.— McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32.

Tennessee.— Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 8 Baxt. 332.

United States.— Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S. 673, 680, 24 L. ed. 168, 307.

The principle that a minority of shareholders may, by laches, lose the right to object to a reorganization, seems to have been first decided in Connecticut in 1830. Banks v. Judah, 8 Conn. 145.

20. Hope Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Beckmann, 47 Mo. 93. For a similar expression see Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523.

21. See infra, I, N, 1.

22. Eppes v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 35 Ala. 33.

23. Houston v. Jefferson College, 63 Pa. St. 428.

24. Zabriskie v. Cleveland, etc., R. Co., 23 How. (U. S.) 381, 16 L. ed. 488. Compare Lanesborough Cong. Soc. v. Curtis, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 320.

That a formal acceptance of an amendment which releases all demands of the corporation against the state will be operative as a contract between the corporation and the state, and cannot be set aside on the ground that it was executed by the governing body of the corporation in ignorance of its real nature and effect see St. John's College v. Purnell, 23 Md. 629.

7. Amendment by Substitution of New Charter. The alteration of a charter may be as lawfully made by the substitution of a new charter as by an amendment of the old, provided such substituted charter be germane and necessary to the objects and purposes for which the company was organized.[25] It has been held that a statute which in form is a new charter of an existing corporation, which does not purport to be an amendment of the old charter, but which contains precisely the same title, and which embodies most of the provisions of the old charter with the addition of certain new provisions, is to be treated merely as an amendment of the old charter, the court, upon an examination of the terms of the new act, being of the opinion that such was the legislative intent.[26]

8. Injunction to Restrain Corporation From Petitioning Legislature For Amendment of Charter. In England, where corporations are created and where their charters are amended by special acts of legislation, the protection of minority shareholders is secured by bills in equity restraining the majority of the shareholders or the directors from using the funds of the corporation in promoting applications to parliament for the passage of amendatory legislation changing the fundamental purposes for which the corporation was originally created, and consequently altering the contracts into which the complainants entered in becoming members of it.[27] In America it has been held that an attempt by injunction to restrain the directors of a corporation from applying to the legislature for an amendment of the charter, where they do not use the corporate fund to promote the application, would be opposed to the spirit of our institutions, and would involve an impertinent interference by the judicial branch of the government with the right of the legislature to have full information from its constituents upon subjects of legislation, and with the right of the people to petition the legis-

25. Sprigg v. Western Tel. Co., 46 Md. 67.

26. Hope Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Beckmann, 47 Mo. 93.

27. Stevens v. South Devon R. Co., 13 Beav. 48; Munt v. Shrewsbury, etc., R. Co., 13 Beav. 1, 15 Jur. 26, 20 L. J. Ch. 169; Great Western R. Co. v. Rushout, 5 De G. & Sm. 290, 16 Jur. 238, 10 Eng. L. & Eq. 72; Simpson v. Denison, 10 Hare 51, 16 Jur. 828, 44 Eng. Ch. 50; Bagshawe v. Eastern Union R. Co., 7 Hare 114, 13 Jur. 602, 18 L. J. Ch. 193, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 152, 27 Eng. Ch. 114; Lancaster, etc., R. Co. v. Northwestern R. Co., 2 Kay & J. 293, 25 L. J. Ch. 223, 4 Wkly. Rep. 220; Atty.-Gen. v. Norwich, 16 Sim. 225, 39 Eng. Ch. 225. In Stevens v. South Devon R. Co., 13 Beav. 48, it was held that the funds of a railroad company could not be used to promote an act of parliament changing the rights of two classes of shareholders in the company. In Munt v. Shrewsbury, etc., R. Co., 13 Beav. 1, 15 Jur. 26, 20 L. J. Ch. 169, a railway company was enjoined from using its funds to promote an act of parliament designed to improve the navigation of a river on which the terminus of its railway was situated. See also Stockton, etc., R. Co. v. Leeds, etc., R. Co., 12 Jur. 735, 2 Phil. 666, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 695; Ware v. Grand Junction Water Works Co., 2 Russ. & M. 470, 11 Eng. Ch. 470 (where the nature of the jurisdiction is stated by Lord Cottenham). Such injunctions are not regarded as attempts to restrain the proceedings of parliament.

This practice of restraining by injunction applications to parliament appears to be of recent origin in England, and there are not many reported cases in which it has been exercised. Such an injunction was granted by Vice-Chancellor Shadwell, in 1831, in Cunliff v. Manchester, etc., Canal Co., 2 Russ. & M. 481, note a, 11 Eng. Ch. 481, note a; and in Ware v. Grand Junction Water Works Co., 2 Russ. & M. 470, 11 Eng. Ch. 470. The former case was compromised on appeal, and the latter was reversed on appeal by the lord chancellor. In Stockton, etc., R. Co. v. Leeds, etc., R. Co., 12 Jur. 735, 2 Phil. 666, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 695, Anno. 1848, an injunction was granted by Vice-Chancellor Shadwell to restrain a railroad company from opposing a bill brought before parliament by another railroad company for the amalgamation of the two companies; but on appeal the injunction was dissolved on the merits by Lord Cottenham, although the jurisdiction of the court was maintained by him. In Heathcote v. North Staffordshire R. Co., 2 Hall & T. 382, 14 Jur. 859, 2 Macn. & G. 100, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 358, 48 Eng. Ch. 78, Anno. 1850, an injunction was granted by the vice-chancellor restraining defendants from making an application to parliament for any act to authorize them to abandon certain branch railways or to authorize anything to be done or omitted by the company inconsistent with, or repugnant to, a covenant entered into by them with the complainant. This injunction was also dissolved by Lord Cottenham upon the merits. In no one of these cases was the injunction restraining a party from making application to parliament, either in support of, or in opposition to, a bill finally sustained.

lature for changes in the laws; and this principle is supposed to have special application where, in the constitution of the state or in a general law of the state applicable to all corporations, the right is reserved to the legislature to alter or repeal corporate charters; since in such a case all contracts, express or implied, resulting from the act of incorporation and its acceptance by the shareholders, are deemed to have been entered into by both parties, subject to such constitutional or statutory reservation.[28]

L. Organization Under General Laws — 1. Methods of. Corporations are organized under general enabling statutes in two ways: (1) By procuring a charter from a judicial court — a mode of organization which, so far as the writer knows, exists in a few states only, and which is for the most part confined to ideal corporations, that is to say, to societies organized for ideal, social, religious, or mutually beneficial purposes, and not having a joint stock.[29] (2) By entering into articles of association, by signing and acknowledging them in a prescribed way, and presenting them to some ministerial officer of the state, generally the secretary of state, who examines them and, having ascertained that they comply with the governing statute both as to the purposes named therein for which the corporation is formed, the amount of capital stock, the mode by which it is to be raised, and as to matters of form and detail therein prescribed, grants to the applicants a document usually called a certificate of incorporation; whereupon the document is recorded in the office or offices designated for such recordation by the governing statute, generally in the office of the secretary of state, and also in the office of the recorder or register of deeds of the county which is designated in the articles as the principal place of business of the corporation.[30]

2. Procuring Charters From Judicial Courts — a. Validity of Statutes Devolving Power of Creating Corporations Upon Judicial Courts. In the absence of a provision in the constitution of the state conferring such power on the legislature, it has no power to authorize the judicial courts to grant special charters of incorporation, since it is not competent for the legislature to delegate its powers to another department of the government.[31] The legislature may, however, even in the absence of a direct constitutional authorization, prescribe by general laws the conditions under which, and the purposes for which corporations may be organized, and may devolve upon the judicial department of the government the execution of those laws, by examining the charters and determining whether they are in compliance with law, and if so, passing a decree of incorporation. In all these cases the distinction lies between creating and organizing corporations. In the absence of an explicit constitutional authorization to the contrary, the legislature alone can create corporations; without the aid of such an authorization it may, however, empower the judicial courts to organize them under a general law, provided there is no prohibition in the constitution which disables the legislature from devolving ministerial duties on the judicial courts.[32] The theory is that in such a case the legislature merely uses the courts for the purpose of giving legal form to the corporation, and that the act required by the statute to be done by the courts is not an act involving even judicial discretion, but is a purely ministerial act in such a sense that its performance could be compelled by mandamus.[33]

28. Story v. Jersey City, etc., R. Co., 16 N. J. Eq. 13, 84 Am. Dec. 134. Compare Durfee v. Old Colony, etc., R. Co., 5 Allen (Mass.) 230.

29. See infra, I, L, 2.

30. See infra, I, L, 3.

31. Ex p. Chadwell, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 98; State v. Armstrong, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 634.

32. Ex p. Chadwell, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 98; State v. Armstrong, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 634. See the reasoning in Greeneville, etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 8 Baxt. (Tenn.) 332; Ex p. Chadwell, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 98; Ex p. Burns, 1 Tenn. Ch. 83.

33. Franklin Bridge Co. v. Wood, 14 Ga. 80. Accordingly it has been held that the legislature may, in the absence of a direct constitutional authorization, provide by law for the creation of village, town, or city corporations, by presenting a petition therefor to the county court, that body having no discretion to refuse the petition when it conforms

b. Purposes For Which Charters May Be Obtained From Courts. In general the purposes for which so-called charters may be obtained from the judicial courts in Pennsylvania relate to ideal corporations merely. But the statute laws of Pennsylvania, conferring the power upon the court of common pleas of that state to grant so-called charters of incorporation, include within the purposes for which corporations may be organized: . . . (4) Mutual savings fund, loan and building associations.[34] . . . (5) Associations for the purpose of insuring horses, cattle, and other live stock, against loss by death from disease or accident, or from being stolen; water, hook and ladder companies, building associations, . . . hotel companies . . . fire companies, fire-insurance companies.[35] (6) Saving-fund associations, or societies for the accumulation of funds and the distribution of the same among their members, without banking or discounting privileges.[36]

c. Proceedings to Obtain Charters Under Such Statutes. Proceedings to obtain charters under such statutes from a judicial court ought to be public, preceded by the advertisement required by the statute, and fulfilling the condition of publicity intended by the legislature.[37] to the statute, but being required merely to spread it upon its minutes, which done, the corporation becomes ipso facto legally organized. Morristown v. Shelton, 1 Head (Tenn.) 24. Under the Tennessee act of 1871 authorizing the chancery courts to grant letters of incorporation, it was held that such courts had no power to organize a corporation for any purpose not authorized by general law; since this would be to create corporations, which was an attribute of legislative power, and not merely to organize them. Ex p. Chadwell, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 98. In other words the action of the court extends no further than to furnish evidence of organization. Greeneville, etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 8 Baxt. (Tenn.) 332.

34. Pa. Act April 12, 1859; Purd. Dig. 129, pl. 1; P. L. 544.

35. Pa. Act March 26, 1867; Purd. Dig. 1456, pl. 3; P. L. 44.

36. Pa. Act April 12, 1867; Purd. Dig. 1456, pl. 4; P. L. 70.

37. In re Church of Holy Communion, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 121, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 124.

The requisites of such a charter were catalogued by Paxson, J., in fourteen separate paragraphs in In re Philadelphia Artisans' Institute, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 229. As to the requisites of a charter under the Pennsylvania act of 1874, which statute has been held mandatory, see In re Stevedores' Beneficial Assoc., 14 Phila. (Pa.) 130, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 262. Under this statute as amended by the acts of April 17, 1876, and June 10, 1893, which authorize the chartering of corporations for the encouragement and protection of trade and commerce, the court of common pleas has no authority to grant a charter for the purpose of promoting and encouraging the business and general welfare of all granite and blue-stone dealers engaged in supplying stone to the city of Philadelphia and vicinity, protecting and increasing the business of buying and selling stone by obtaining and imparting prompt, reliable, just, and valuable information and methods, adjusting all difficulties and differences which may arise between its members, to secure a general use of granite and blue-stone in Philadelphia and vicinity, and to otherwise further and advance the business and trade of dealing in stone by use of such means and methods as may be lawful and proper. In re Master Granite, etc., Cutters' Assoc., 9 Pa. Dist. 357, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 517.

A catalogue of reasons for which such charters have been refused in Pennsylvania will be found in In re The Rev. David Mulholland Benev. Soc., 10 Phila. (Pa.) 19, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 85. Charters have been refused which confer upon the corporation an undefined and unlimited power of expelling its members (In re Brotherly Unity Beneficial Assoc., 38 Pa. St. 299; In re Butchers' Beneficial Assoc. No. 1, 38 Pa. St. 298; In re Butchers' Beneficial Assoc., 35 Pa. St. 151; In re Philadelphia Journalists Fund, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 272); which undertake to confer upon the corporation powers beyond those granted by the governing statute, since the court cannot confer corporate powers which would be an act of legislation (Medical College's Case, 3 Whart. (Pa.) 445; Com. v. Conover, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 55, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 200), such as a provision that each share should be entitled to one vote (Com. v. Conover, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 55, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 200. Compare In re St. Mary's Church, 7 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 517) or a provision which authorizes the corporation, a medical college, to confer degrees — no such power being given in the governing statute (Medical College's Case, 3 Whart. (Pa.) 445. Compare In re Medico-Chirurgical College, 190 Pa. St. 121, 43 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 481, 42 Atl. 524); and so of a charter authorizing the intended corporation to confer degrees in medicine or electricity, and for the same reason (In re American Electropathic Institute, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 128, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 262). And so of a mutual marriage benefit association, the objects of the association being regarded as against public policy (In re Helping-Hand Marriage Assoc., 15 Phila. (Pa.) 644, 38 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 423; Matter of Mutual Aid Assoc. of North America, 15 Phila. (Pa.) 625, 38

d. Referring Application to an Amicus Curiæ. In Missouri some of the courts are in the habit, upon their own motion and without any statutory direction, of

Leg. Int. (Pa.) 423), of a charter which embodies matters which are the proper subject of by-laws merely (In re Stevedores' Beneficial Assoc., 14 Phila. (Pa.) 130, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 262), and of a charter the application for which was not written on a single sheet of paper (In re Monroe Republican Club, 6 Pa. Dist. 515, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 568, 3 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 285, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 52 [fastened together with eyelets]; In re Society Principesso Montenegro Savoya, 6 Pa. Dist. 486, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 42 [half sheets tacked together, etc.]; In re Accountants' Assoc., 5 Pa. Dist. 699, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 159, 27 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 103 [tied together with tape]; In re Stevedores' Beneficial Assoc., 14 Phila. (Pa.) 130, 37 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 262) or was full of erasures and interlineations (In re Zion Church Charter, 5 Pa. Dist. 780; In re C. Columbus Italian-American Citizens' Assoc., 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 47). And so of a charter to aliens, the court presuming alienage from the alien names of the intended corporators (In re St. Ladislaus Roman Catholic Sick, etc., Assoc., 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 25); of a charter the applicants for which could not speak and write the English language (In re Society Principesso Montenegro Savoya, 6 Pa. Dist. 486, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 42), especially where the intended corporators were natives of a foreign country, organized for the purpose of arming, drilling, and disciplining as a military company (In re Russian-American Guards' Charter, 3 Pa. Dist. 673, 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 148); of a charter, the declared objects of which were "the cultivation of German song, and the cultivation and improvement of German manners and customs" (In re Germania Sangerbund, 2 Pa. Dist. 73. For another case where a charter was refused to a society of foreigners, although not on the express ground of the alienage of the corporators, see In re Lodge Duch Nove Doby, No. 165, 3 Pa. Dist. 215); of a charter requiring the use of the Hungarian and prohibiting the use of the English language (In re St. Ladislaus Roman Catholic Sick, etc., Assoc., 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 25); and of a charter of a religious society requiring all services, teachings, and business to be conducted in the German language (German Evangelical Lutheran Church's Petition, 6 Pa. Dist. 412, 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 472). Other defects for which charters of corporations for ideal purposes were refused will be found dealt with at length in 7 Thompson Corp. § 8168 [citing and examining the following cases: In re Americus Club, 6 Pa. Dist. 760, 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 237; In re Monroe Republican Club, 6 Pa. Dist. 515, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 568, 3 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 285, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 52; In re McKee Rocks Volunteer Fireman's Relief Assoc., 6 Pa. Dist. 477, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 537, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 38; In re Accountants' Assoc. of Pittsburgh, 5 Pa. Dist. 699, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 159, 27 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 103; In re Gas Companies, 5 Pa. Dist. 396, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 136; In re Permanent Relief Assoc., 3 Pa. Dist. 236; In re Skandinaviska, 3 Pa. Dist. 235; In re Nether Providence Assoc., 2 Pa. Dist. 702, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 666; In re Ton-a-lu-ka Club, 1 Pa. Dist. 460; In re Burger's Military Band Assoc., 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 651; In re St. Ladislaus Roman Catholic Sick, etc., Assoc., 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 25; In re Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Assoc., 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 576; In re Jacksonian Club, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 19; In re Newton Hamilton Oil, etc., Co., 10 Pa. Co. Ct. 452; In re Pittsburgh Stock Exch., 26 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 308].

Requisites of application for charter.— An application for a charter to create a corporation for ideal purposes of the most general and diffuse character should set forth the means intended to be adopted for the accomplishment of those objects, and should provide for the creation of a membership and for the mode of succession (In re Right Worthy Grand Ct., 8 Pa. Dist. 127, 22 Pa. Co. Ct. 270), and generally the purposes of a proposed corporation should be expressed in such an application in specific terms, so that it can be seen that those purposes are lawful (Xantha Beneficial, etc., Assoc., 8 Pa. Dist. 142), especially where corporate franchises are not necessary to enable the applicants to carry out the purposes named in their application (In re C. Columbus Italian-American Citizens' Assoc., 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 47). An application will be refused which is signed by only four instead of five persons, as the statute requires. In re C. Columbus Italian-American Citizens' Assoc., 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 47.

Defects in applications for charters for business corporations under Pennsylvania statute.— In considering whether a charter ought to be granted or refused, the executive department of Pennsylvania look only to the application itself, and do not refuse a charter for reasons not apparent on the face of it. In re Seneca Bridge Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 416, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 337, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 200. It will not on such an application determine disputed questions of fact, but will leave such questions to be determined by the courts. Union Water Co. v. Edgeworth Water Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 536, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 371; In re Seneca Bridge Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 416, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 337, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 200. Thus where a water-supply company applies for a charter under the act of April 29, 1874, covering the identical territory embraced in a previous exclusive charter to a like company, the charter will be refused, although there be testimony that the first company has failed to supply the public with water and has never attempted to acquire the necessary supplies for that purpose. Union Water Co. v. Edgeworth Water Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 536, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 371. It manifestly follows from this that the application must show on its face a clear referring any such an application to a member of the bar as amicus curiæ, and it has been held in that state that it is competent for the court to allow the amicus curiæ a reasonable compensation for his services, to be taxed as costs against the proposed incorporators.[38]

e. No Appeal From Decree Refusing. Under the Tennessee act of 1871, authorizing the chancery courts to grant letters of incorporation, no appeal lay to the supreme court from the refusal of a chancery court to grant such letters.[39]

f. Charters Amended by Judicial Courts. Statutes have existed in Pennsylvania empowering the judicial courts to grant amendments to charters of incorporation enacted by the legislature; but as these enactments seem to refer only to societies not having a joint stock the subject will not be considered here.[40]

3. Procuring Charters From Ministerial Officers — a. Nature of Charter Where Corporation Organized Under General Law — (i) What Constitutes Charter. It cannot properly be said that a corporation has no "charter" where it is organized by the voluntary action of its members, with the consent and approval of an officer of the state, under an enabling statute permitting corporations of the particular description to be organized. In such a case the provisions of the articles of association or the articles of incorporation, by whatever name called, constitute the charter of the corporation, in so far as such provisions are authorized by the statute law of the state under which the corporation is formed.[41] An instrument of incorporation which conforms to the provisions of the general enabling statute under which it is made becomes a charter within the protection of that clause of the constitution of the United States which provides that "no State shall pass any law impairing the obligation of contracts";[42] and is hence protected as a contract from subsequent impairment by state action, under the doctrine of the Dartmouth College case[43] in like manner as special charters are so protected.[44]

(ii) Presumption Where Articles Are Indefinite. If the articles are indefinite in a given particular — if they go no further than to use the general words employed in the statute, describing the purposes of the incorporation — it will be presumed that the coadventurers intended to create a corporation of the same general nature, and with the same general powers in respect to which incorporation is granted by the statute, rather than that by such words they sought to apply intended special limitations on the powers of the corporation which they created.[45]

(iii) Effect of Including Illegal Matter in Articles. If the coadventurers, in drawing their articles of association, incorporate therein a grant of greater powers or privileges than the governing statute allows, this will not necessarily prevent them from becoming incorporate, since the law will reject the right to the charter; and in order that it may appear whether or not it will conflict with a charter previously granted to another company, if it be a water-supply company, a gas company, or the like, the district which it is proposed to supply must be specifically defined in the application. In re New Gas Light Co., 7 Pa. Dist. 151. Thus an application for the charter of a water company which shows only that the company desires to take water from a certain stream between specified townships, without stating where the company is located, or into what town, borough, city, or district it proposes to introduce water, was refused. In re Perkiomen Water Storage, etc., Co., 2 Pa. Dist. 466, 32 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 280.

38. In re St. Louis Christian Science Institute, 27 Mo. App. 633.

39. Ex p. Chadwell, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 98.

40. In re St. Mary's Church, 7 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 517.

As to the body or constituency that may give assent to amendments granted by the judicial court see Matter of Mercantile Library Co., 2 Brewst. (Pa.) 447.

41. O'Brien v. Cummings, 13 Mo. App. 197; North Point Consol. Irr. Co. v. Utah, etc., Canal Co., 16 Utah 246, 52 Pac. 168, 67 Am. St. Rep. 607, 40 L. R. A. 851.

42. U. S. Const. art. 1, § 10.

43. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629.

44. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Cutts, 94 U. S. 155, 24 L. ed. 94; Miller v. New York, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 478, 21 L. ed. 98; Capital City Gaslight Co. v. Des Moines, 72 Fed. 829.

45. Whetstone v. Ottawa University, 13 Kan. 320.

excessive powers as surplusage. In such a case all acts done in pursuance of the illegal matter embodied in their articles will be invalid; but the title of the corporation as to all matters authorized by the governing statute will not be subject to collateral impeachment by reason of the illegal matter.[46] Thus where the governing statute provided among other things that the term of existence of corporations formed under it should not exceed twenty years,[47] and the articles of association provided for a term of existence for the corporation of fifty years, it was held in a proceeding by quo warranto that this was no ground of ouster before the expiration of twenty years. It did not prevent the corporation from coming into existence. It could not without renewal live for fifty years, but it might exercise the rights and privileges of a corporation for twenty years.[48] So the articles of association in a plank-road company, under a general law of New York,[49] were not void because they contained a provision authorizing the directors of the company to increase its capital stock without consent of a majority in amount of the shareholders, as required by the statute. It was said that all the acts of the directors pursuant to such a provision would be void; but it was held that the articles being in other respects in accordance with law the existence of such a clause did not prevent the association from becoming incorporate.[50]

b. When Life of Corporation Commences. "The life of a corporation dates from its organization, and not from the time it begins to do business."[51] Where the governing statute points out the manner in which the corporation shall be organized, and the direction of the statute is followed, this brings the corporation into existence, so that it may enter upon the objects of its creation.[52] Thus the corporation is generally deemed to exist from the time when the certificate of incorporation prescribed by the governing statute is executed, acknowledged, and recorded, or filed for record, in accordance with the governing statute; and thereafter the lawfulness of the existence of the corporation cannot be collaterally attacked or denied in controversies between the corporation and private parties, but can be assailed only in an action by the state to vacate its franchises.[53]

c. Necessity of Valid Articles or Certificate of Incorporation — (i) In General. Where a collection of persons claim to have organized themselves into a corporation under a general law, their claim will not be good, even when questioned collaterally, provided they file no articles of association at all.[54] The rule is the same where they file articles which are fatally defective, by reason of not conforming to the essential requirements of the governing statute.[55]

46. Albright v. Lafayette Bldg., etc., Assoc., 102 Pa. St. 411.

47. Colo. Gen. Stat. § 238.

48. People v. Cheeseman, 7 Colo. 376, 2 Pac. 716.

49. N. Y. Laws (1847), c. 210, § 40.

50. Eastern Plank Road Co. v. Vaughan, 14 N. Y. 546.

51. Hanna v. International Petroleum Co., 23 Ohio St. 622, 625.

52. Columbia Bottom Levee Co. v. Meier, 39 Mo. 53; People v. Bowen, 30 Barb. (N. Y.) 24. When the charter of a railway was deemed to be in operation within the meaning of a clause of the constitution of Illinois abrogating corporate charters not in operation see McCartney v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 112 Ill. 611.

53. Hunt v. Kansas, etc., Bridge Co., 11 Kan. 412; Palmer v. Lawrence, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 161; Valk v. Crandall, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 179. Thus under the statutes of Pennsylvania, where articles of association have been approved by the attorney-general and the supreme court of the state and duly enrolled, such association becomes a corporation and its articles cannot be collaterally questioned. Society for Visitation, etc. v. Com., 52 Pa. St. 125, 91 Am. Dec. 139.

54. Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416; Childs v. Smith, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 45.

55. McCallion v. Hibernia Sav., etc., Soc., 70 Cal. 163, 12 Pac. 114; Washington City Fifth Baptist Church v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 4 Mackey (D. C.) 43; New York Cable Co. v. New York, 104 N. Y. 1, 10 N. E. 332.

It was so held where the certificate was not signed by the shareholders, but by the directors only (Valk v. Crandall, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 179); where it failed to set forth that a majority of the members voted at the prescribed election (People v. Selfridge, 52 Cal. 331); and where it failed to state the date of the election or appointment of the trustees, the length of time for which they were elected or appointed, and was not verified by an affidavit of one of the persons making the certificate (Washington City Fifth Baptist Church v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 4 Mackey (D. C.) 43).

(II) Substantial Compliance With Statute Sufficient and Necessary. On the other hand a literal compliance with the recitals prescribed by the governing statute to be contained in the certificate of incorporation is not necessary, but a substantial compliance will be deemed sufficient to call the corporation into existence.[56] On the other hand a substantial compliance with the requirements of the governing statute is necessary, or the corporation is not deemed to have been called into existence.[57]

(III) Failing to Specify Objects of Association. It has been held that failing to specify the objects of the association, in substantial compliance with the governing statute,[58] or failing to state a purpose for which the statute authorizes corporations to be formed,[59] renders the articles fatally defective.

(IV) Failing to State Manner of Carrying on Business. Where the governing statute requires the certificate of incorporation to show "the manner of carrying on the business of said association," a certificate of incorporation which sets forth that "the manner of carrying on the business" shall be such as the association may "from time to time prescribe" is insufficient.[60]

(V) What Defects in Articles or Certificate Do Not Vitiate. The following irregularities in articles of association or certificates of incorporation have been held not sufficient to prevent the corporation from acquiring a valid existence: The failure of the notary to certify that those who signed the articles of incorporation were personally known to him;[61] the failure of the affidavit annexed to the articles of association to state that the payment of the ten per cent of the capital stock required by the statute had been made "to the directors," and "in good faith," as both will be implied;[62] omitting to state the residence of the corporators;[63] omitting to refer to the statute under which the corporation is organized;[64] failing to name the directors in the articles of association, where they are drawn up (under a special charter) with the view of being adopted at the first meeting at which the directors are to be elected;[65] antedating the articles of incorporation by the secretary of state at the time of their filing;[66] signing by the initial letter of the christian name instead of using the full prænomen;[67] the use of double comma (,,) following the name of a subscriber, under the name of a certain specified locality, for the purpose of designating the subscriber's resi-

56. People v. Stockton, etc., R. Co., 45 Cal. 306, 13 Am. Rep. 178; Spring Valley Water Works v. San Francisco, 22 Cal. 440; In re Spring Valley Water Works, 17 Cal. 132; Hughes v. Antietam Mfg. Co., 34 Md. 316; Thompson v. People, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 537.

57. Harris v. McGregor, 29 Cal. 124; Mokelumne Hill Canal, etc., Co. v. Woodbury, 14 Cal. 424, 73 Am. Dec. 658; Bigelow v. Gregory, 73 Ill. 197; Unity Ins. Co. v. Cram, 43 N. H. 636.

58. O'Reiley v. Kankakee Valley Draining Co., 32 Ind. 169; West v. Bullskin Prairie Ditching Co., 32 Ind. 138; Atty.-Gen. v. Lorman, 59 Mich. 157, 26 N. W. 311, 60 Am. Rep. 287.

59. Atty.-Gen. v. Lorman, 59 Mich. 157, 26 N. W. 311, 60 Am. Rep. 287.

The purpose and intent of the incorporation must be ascertained solely from the articles, and they cannot be aided, varied, or contradicted by evidence outside the instrument itself. Atty.-Gen. v. Lorman, 59 Mich. 157, 26 N. W. 311, 60 Am. Rep. 287. But see Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 20 N. Y. 157.

For a statute under which it was sufficient to recite that "the objects for which the said company is formed are as follows, namely, the mining of gold, silver and lead, in the territory of Utah," see People v. Beach, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 259. For a statute under which it was sufficient to state that the purposes of the incorporation were "to put up, pack and manufacture for market, Detroit River and lake ice and to distribute and sell the same" see Atty.-Gen. v. Lorman, 59 Mich. 157, 26 N. W. 311, 60 Am. Rep. 287, where the articles were held good against proceedings by quo warranto.

60. State v. Central Ohio Mut. Relief Assoc., 29 Ohio St. 399.

61. People v. Cheeseman, 7 Colo. 376, 2 Pac. 716.

62. Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 20 N. Y. 157.

63. State v. Foulkes, 94 Ind. 493; Rogers v. Danby Universalist Soc., 19 Vt. 187. See also infra, I, L, 3, c, (VI).

64. Rogers v. Danby Universalist Soc., 19 Vt. 187.

65. Eakright v. Logansport, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 404.

66. State v. Foulkes, 94 Ind. 493.

67. State v. Beck, 81 Ind. 500.

dence;[68] failing to state that the subscribers constitute an existing society with rules and regulations or that the trustees named were chosen in accordance with such rules and regulations;[69] failing to set forth in so many words that more than one thousand dollars per mile have been subscribed, as required by a statute providing for the incorporation of railway companies, where the articles stated that eighty-four thousand one hundred dollars had been in good faith subscribed and ten per cent thereof paid in, and it otherwise appeared that the length of the proposed road was about seventy-five miles;[70] stating in the certificate of incorporation that "said capital stock shall consist of five hundred shares at $100 per share," where the statute requires the certificate to state "the amount of the capital stock," stating the term of existence of the corporation to be "at least forty years," where the statute required the certificate to state "the terms of its existence not to exceed forty years," and failing to state in the name of the company the particular trade which it is intended to carry on;[71] stating in the statutory affidavit annexed to the articles that ten per cent of the stock subscribed "in cash had been actually paid in," omitting the statutory words, "in good faith," where those words appeared in the body of the articles, so as to withstand an action by the state to vacate the franchises of the company;[72] failing to state "the methods and conditions upon which members shall be accepted, discharged or expelled," this clause of the statute[73] not applying to joint-stock corporations.[74]

(VI) STATING RESIDENCE OF CORPORATORS. Under some of the enabling statutes permitting the formation of corporations, it is necessary that the articles or certificate should state the residence of the corporators, and that all or a prescribed number of them should be residents of the state. In Texas the residence of the incorporators need not appear, even if it is necessary that two of them should be citizens.[75]

(VII) STATING PLACE WHERE BUSINESS OF CORPORATION IS TO BE CARRIED ON. Many of the statutory schemes of incorporation require the articles or certificate to state the place in which the business of the corporation is to be carried on. Under such a statute[76] it is not enough to state in the articles that the office of the corporation shall be in a specified city.[77] Under the New Jersey statute[78] a statement in a certificate of incorporation of the place or places in the state or elsewhere where the business of the corporation is to be conducted does not impose such a limitation on the future action of the shareholders as will prevent the

68. Steinmetz v. Versailles, etc., Turnpike Co., 57 Ind. 457.

69. Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum v. Abrams, 49 Cal. 455.

70. Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 20 N. Y. 157.

71. Hughes v. Antietam Mfg. Co., 34 Md. 316.

72. People v. Stockton, etc., R. Co., 45 Cal. 306, 13 Am. Rep. 178.

73. In this case Wis. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 1772.

74. Edgerton Tobacco Mfg. Co. v. Croft, 69 Wis. 256, 34 N. W. 143.

In Iowa articles of incorporation providing that the total indebtedness of the corporation shall at no time exceed three hundred dollars except by a majority vote of the shareholders are in substantial compliance with Iowa Code, § 1061, providing that "such articles of incorporation must fix the highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation is at any time to be subject," and are valid, notwithstanding the articles also provide that a change therein can be made only by a two-thirds vote of the shareholders. Thornton v. Balcom, 85 Iowa 198, 200, 52 N. W. 190.

The provisions of Nebr. Comp. Stat. c. 16, that the certificate of organization of a railroad company shall state the names of the termini and the county or counties through which the road will pass, apply only to the main line, and not to branch lines within the state. Trester v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 33 Nebr. 171, 49 N. W. 1110.

75. Halbert v. San Saba Springs Land, etc., Assoc., (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 34 S. W. 636. See also supra, I, L, 3, c, (v). That a certificate of incorporation showing that only one of the directors named therein for the first year is a resident of the state is good under the New York statute see People v. McDonough, 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 652, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 45.

76. In this case N. H. Pub. Stat. c. 147, § 2.

77. Kennett v. Woodworth-Mason Co., 68 N. H. 432, 39 Atl. 585.

78. N. J. Act April 7, 1875.

corporation from carrying on its business at other places than those specified, by consent of two thirds in interest of the shareholders, under the provision of another section of the statute.[79]

(VIII) ASSUMING IN ARTICLES FRANCHISES WHICH CONFLICT WITH EXCLUSIVE FRANCHISES ALREADY GRANTED TO OTHERS. The grant of an exclusive franchise — assuming it to be valid under the constitution of the state — is protected from impairment by a subsequent grant of the same franchise to others, by the contract clause of the constitution of the United States, as construed in the Dartmouth College case,[80] although a grant will not be construed as being exclusive unless the intent of the state to make it so clearly appears.[81] So also if the state has already granted an exclusive franchise to one corporation, and if the grant is valid, a grant of the same franchise to another corporation is merely void.[82] It follows that the officer of the state who is charged with the duty of making grants of corporate charters, or of passing upon the validity of schemes of incorporation which are presented to him, and of issuing certificates of incorporation, ought to refuse to sanction a charter which contains a grant of an exclusive franchise already granted to another corporation.[83] The officer of the executive department of the state to whom the application for the charter is made will not try the question whether the old corporation has forfeited its franchise, or whether, for some other reason which is more or less doubtful, the new charter will impair the privileges of the old company; but that must be first settled in a judicial proceeding.[84] In case of a reasonable doubt as to whether the old corporation has an exclusive right or privilege which would be invalid by the new

79. Meredith v. New Jersey Zinc, etc., Co., (N. J. 1899) 44 Atl. 55.

No corporation organized under the constitution and laws of Kentucky is exempt from the obligation of filing with the secretary of state a statement giving the location of its office, the name of its agent on whom process can be served, etc. Johnson v. Mason Lodge No. 33, I. O. O. F., 51 S. W. 620, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 493.

Sufficiency of compliance.— That a certificate of incorporation which stated that "the said company is formed for the purpose of carrying on some part of its business outside the state of New York namely, in Big Cottonwood District, Utah, and the name of the place in which the principal part of the business of the said company is to be transacted as in the city and county of New York" was a sufficient compliance with the statute of that state see People v. Beach, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 259. But a statute requiring a certificate of incorporation to state the name of the city or town and county in which the principal place of business is to be located is not complied with by a certificate which states that the operations of the corporation are to be carried on in the county of Calaveras, state of California, because this does not state the city or town. Harris v. McGregor, 29 Cal. 124.

80. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629.

81. Warren Gas Light Co. v. Pennsylvania Gas Co., 161 Pa. St. 510, 29 Atl. 101 [affirming 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 310]; Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 11 Pet. (U. S.) 420, 9 L. ed. 773, 938; Detroit v. Detroit City R. Co., 56 Fed. 867.

82. Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838 (per Brown, J.); Louisville Gas Co. v. Citizens' Gas Light Co., 115 U. S. 683, 6 S. Ct. 265, 29 L. ed. 510; New Orleans Water Works Co. v. Rivers, 115 U. S. 674, 6 S. Ct. 273, 29 L. ed. 525; New Orleans Gas-Light Co. v. Louisiana Light, etc., Producing, etc., Co., 115 U. S. 650, 6 S. Ct. 252, 29 L. ed. 516.

83. The manner in which the executive department of the state of Pennsylvania acts upon this principle is shown by the following cases: Warren Gas Light Co. v. Pennsylvania Gas Co., 161 Pa. St. 510, 29 Atl. 101 [affirming 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 310]; Lansdowne Gas Co. v. Swarthmore Light Co., 3 Pa. Dist. 492, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 518; Suburban Gas Co. v. Darby Gas Co., 3 Pa. Dist. 491, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 519; Keystone Fuel Gas Co. v. Williamsport Gas Co., 2 Pa. Dist. 85, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 302, 31 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 231; Union Water Co. v. Edgeworth Water Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 536, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 371: In re Levis Water Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 146, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 178, 29 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 409; In re Bryn Mawr Water Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 89, 10 Pa. Co. Ct. 670, 29 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 156.

84. German Evangelical Soc. v. Prospect Hill Cemetery, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 310; Union Water Co. v. Edgeworth Water Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 536, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 371; In re Park Incline Plane Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 535, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 486, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 256; Granite Water Co. v. Girard Water Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 534, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 417; In re Seneca Bridge Co., 1 Pa. Dist. 416, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 337, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 200.

charter, the new charter may be granted, and the question of its validity left for judicial determination.[85]

(IX) Signing and Acknowledging Articles. This subject is entirely statutory. Some of the statutory schemes of organization contemplate that an election of officers shall precede the filing of the instrument of incorporation, and that the instrument shall be authenticated by the signatures of the officers thus elected.[86] Under others an acknowledgment by the president and directors elected for the first year is not required, and an acknowledgment by all the subscribers was not required, an acknowledgment by five of them being sufficient.[87] Under a statute providing that articles of incorporation must be subscribed by five or more persons and acknowledged by each, it was held that a corporation was not rightfully such, but might be deprived of its charter where, although five of the incorporators signed the articles, they were acknowledged by only four of them.[88] Under a statute requiring the incorporators to "prepare and sign" an act either in authentic or private form, it is not essential that each of the incorporators shall be able to sign his name, but he may make his mark.[89]

(X) Fatal Defects in Articles Cannot Be Supplied by Parol Evidence. A defect which is deemed a substantial one under the foregoing principles cannot be healed by parol evidence,[90] as for example an omission to state that a majority of the members of the association were present and voted at the election of directors.[91]

d. Conditions Precedent Must Be Complied With — Conditions Directory Need Not Be — (I) Rule Stated. Another distinction under this head is between conditions which the governing statute makes precedent and essential to the existence of the corporation and subsequent conditions, or conditions of such an unimportant character that the courts have concluded to regard them as directory merely. Conditions precedent must be substantially complied with or there is no corporation, and this may be shown collaterally.[92] But if conditions of the latter kind are not complied with, the corporation becomes responsible only to the government, and the government alone can take advantage of the delinquency of its organizers.[93]

(II) What Statutory Conditions Have Been Deemed Conditions Precedent. Within the meaning of the foregoing rule, the following have been deemed conditions precedent in various cases: To the organization of a water-supply company, a resolve of the municipal corporation that it is expedient to have waterworks and inexpedient for the municipal corporation to build them;[94] filing the articles of incorporation with the county clerk;[95] recording them in the proper county;[96] obtaining the authorization or certificate of the district attorney

85. Suburban Gas Co. v. Lansdowne-Yeadon Gas Co., 3 Pa. Dist. 597, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 126.

86. Officers chosen at the first meeting of a joint-stock company established by voluntary association under Mass. Stat. c. 133, may sign the certificate required by section 4. The requirement of Mass. Rev. Stat. c. 38, §§ 3, 4, is not applicable thereto. Boston Acid Mfg. Co. v. Moring, 15 Gray (Mass.) 211.

87. Hughes v. Antietam Mfg. Co., 34 Md. 316.

88. People v. Montecito Water Co., 97 Cal. 276, 32 Pac. 236, 33 Am. St. Rep. 172.

89. Seventh St. Colored M. E. Church v. Campbell, 48 La. Ann. 1543, 21 So. 184.

90. People v. Selfridge, 52 Cal. 331; Atty.-Gen. v. Lorman, 59 Mich. 157, 26 N. W. 311, 30 Am. Rep. 287; Hallett v. Harrower, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 537.

91. People v. Selfridge, 52 Cal. 331.

92. Heinig v. Adams, etc., Mfg. Co., 81 Ky. 300; Atty.-Gen. v. Hanchett, 42 Mich. 436, 4 N. W. 182; Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co. 4 Nebr. 416.

93. Mokelumne Hill Canal, etc., Co. v. Woodbury, 14 Cal. 424, 73 Am. Dec. 658. The doctrine of this case and of the text is supported by the following among many other cases: Kaiser v. Lawrence Sav. Bank, 56 Iowa 104, 8 N. W. 772, 41 Am. Rep. 85; Granby Min., etc., Co. v. Richards, 95 Mo. 106, 8 S. W. 246; Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416.

94. Atty.-Gen. v. Hanchett, 42 Mich. 436, 4 N. W. 182.

95. Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416.

96. Childs v. Hurd, 32 W. Va. 66, 9 S. E. 362.

or judge, and having the act of incorporation duly recorded;[97] and publishing the articles and filing a certificate of the purposes of the organization.[98]

(III) What Statutory Conditions Have Been Deemed Conditions Subsequent. A proviso in a special charter that the corporation shall commence business within a stated time, where the words of the grant purport a grant of corporate existence to take effect immediately;[99] the failure to elect directors, where the conditions under which the statute predicates the existence of the corporation have been otherwise complied with;[1] the failure to serve notice of the first meeting upon each corporator in compliance with the statute;[2] and, in case of a manufacturing corporation, the failure to take a bond of its treasurer as required by the statute[3] have been deemed conditions subsequent.

e. Filing, Recording, and Publishing the Instrument of Incorporation — (I) In General. Where a general law provides that persons may become a body politic and corporate upon complying with the provisions of the law, one of which is that before any such corporation shall commence business its articles of association shall be published in a certain way, and the certificate of the purposes of the organization shall be filed in certain public offices, the performance of these acts is a necessary prerequisite to the existence of such corporation, for the purpose of relieving the corporators from individual liability.[4] Where the other steps required by the statute are complied with, the failure to file with the secretary of state a duplicate or copy of the certificate or articles of incorporation will not vitiate the organization,[5] unless the governing statute imports the con-

97. Field v. Cooks, 16 La. Ann. 153.

98. Bigelow v. Gregory, 73 Ill. 197.

99. Cheraw, etc., R. Co. v. Garland, 14 S. C. 63; Cheraw, etc., R. Co. v. White, 14 S. C. 51.

1. Ashtabula, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 15 Ohio St. 328.

2. McClinch v. Sturgis, 72 Me. 288; Braintree Water-Supply Co. v. Braintree, 146 Mass. 482, 16 N. E. 420; Walworth v. Brackett, 98 Mass. 98; Newcomb v. Reed, 12 Allen (Mass.) 362.

3. Boston Acid Mfg. Co. v. Moring, 15 Gray (Mass.) 211.

4. Arkansas.— Garnett v. Richardson, 35 Ark. 144.

Illinois.— Gent v. Manufacturers', etc., Ins. Co., 107 Ill. 652; Diversey v. Smith, 103 Ill. 378, 42 Am. Rep. 14; Bigelow v. Gregory, 73 Ill. 197 [overruling, it seems, Cross v. Pinckneyville Mill Co., 17 Ill. 54]; Ricker v. Larkin, 27 Ill. App. 625; Cresswell v. Oberly, 17 Ill. App. 281.

Indiana.— Indianapolis, etc., Min. Co. v. Herkimer, 46 Ind. 142.

Iowa.— Clegg v. Hamilton, etc., County Grange Co., 61 Iowa 121, 15 N. W. 865; Kaiser v. Lawrence Sav. Bank, 56 Iowa 104, 8 N. W. 772, 41 Am. Rep. 85.

Louisiana.— Field v. Cooks, 16 La. Ann. 153.

Missouri.— Hurt v. Salisbury, 55 Mo. 310.

West Virginia.— Childs v. Hurd, 32 W. Va. 66, 9 S. E. 362.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 62.

By the constitution of Mississippi charters of corporations must be recorded in the office of the clerk of the chancery court in the county in which the principal office or place of business is located. Miss. Const. (1890), § 189.

By the constitution of Utah corporations must file articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. Utah Const. (1895), art. 12, § 9.

Under Wis. Laws (1874), c. 113, § 4, providing that articles of incorporation shall be signed by the persons forming the corporation, and "a copy thereof, verified under oath" by two or more of the persons signing the same as a true copy of the original articles of incorporation, shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds, the recording of the original articles of incorporation in lieu of a verified copy is not such a compliance with the statute as will enable the incorporators to avoid liability to creditors of the incorporation as copartners. Slocum v. Head, 105 Wis. 431, 81 N. W. 673, 50 L. R. A. 324.

Delivery to proper officer — How proved.— The delivery of the articles to the officer whose duty it is to put them on file may be proved by evidence other than his indorsement. Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280. That this is the proper conception of a "filing" see Engleman v. State, 2 Ind. 91, 52 Am. Dec. 494.

The date of filing is no part of the articles, and therefore may be proved by parol, regardless of the statute provision for the proof of the articles. Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280.

Failure of the probate judge, upon request, to make the statutory certificate does not, in Alabama, prevent the corporation from coming into existence, if the proper antecedent steps have been taken. Sparks v. Woodstock Iron, etc., Co., 87 Ala. 294, 6 So. 195.

5. California.—Mokelumne Hill Canal, etc., Co. v. Woodbury, 14 Cal. 424, 73 Am. Dec. 658. Compare Spring Valley Water Works v. San Francisco, 22 Cal. 434.

trary,[6] as where the governing statute provides that the corporate existence shall date from the filing of the articles.[7] Where the instrument of incorporation has been duly filed for record it is plain that the incorporation is not prevented by reason of the fact that the document is, through the mistake of a ministerial officer of the state, recorded in the wrong book, as for instance in the book provided by law for the recording of ordinary deeds.[8] If a certificate of organization is fraudulently and surreptitiously recorded by one of the projectors of the corporation, contrary to the agreement had among themselves, the recording is of no effect, and the corporation is not brought into existence, the reason being that fraud vitiates all engagements.[9] Moreover, if the articles which are filed for record fail in some substantial or material respect to comply with the requirements of the governing statute, the recording of them will be nugatory and the corporation will not come into existence, as where it fails to state the highest amount of indebtedness or liability which the corporation may incur.[10] It seems hardly necessary to do more than suggest that coadventurers cannot acquire corporate powers not granted by the state by merely assuming them in their instruments of incorporation, whether it be an original instrument or an amendment.[11] On somewhat similar grounds the filing in the office of the register of deeds of the certificate of incorporation granted by an officer of the state as prescribed by statute does not cure the filing of a defective "charter" understood to mean the original articles of incorporation, in the office of the secretary of state.[12] So unless the certificate of incorporation complies substantially with the governing statute, there will be no incorporation, as where it fails to state the city, Illinois.—Cross v. Pinckneyville Mill Co., 17 Ill. 54 [distinguished in Biglow v. Gregory, 73 Ill. 197].

Indiana.— Williamson v. Kokomo Bldg., etc., Assoc., 89 Ind. 389; Baker v. Neff, 73 Ind. 68.

Iowa.— Davenport First Nat. Bank v. Davies, 43 Iowa 424.

Kentucky.— Portland, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Bobb, 88 Ky. 226, 10 S. W. 794, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 796.

Minnesota.— In re Shakopee Mfg. Co., 37 Minn. 91, 33 N. W. 219.

Texas.— Guadalupe, etc., River Stock Assoc. v. West, 70 Tex. 391, 9 S. W. 817.

United States.— Hyde v. Doe, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,969, 4 Sawy. 133.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 62.

6. Granby Min., etc., Co. v. Richards, 95 Mo. 106, 8 S. W. 246.

7. Hurt v. Salisbury, 55 Mo. 310. See also Richardson v. Pitts, 71 Mo. 128.

For illustrations of the conflicting doctrine on this subject see 1 Thompson Corp. § 241.

The requirement of Wis. Rev. Stat. § 1460, that the certificate of organization, together with a copy of the constitution of the corporation, shall be filed in the office of the register of deeds is a condition precedent to the coming into existence of the corporation; and the provision is not complied with by the recording of the necessary papers by the register of deeds, where it is not the intention of the corporators to leave the papers with him, and they are in fact withdrawn after being recorded. Bergeron v. Hobbs, 96 Wis. 641, 71 N. W. 1056, 65 Am. St. Rep. 85.

8. Walton v. Riley, 85 Ky. 413, 3 S. W. 605, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 29.

Filing original in lieu of verified copy.— There is a seemingly strange holding to the effect that if the governing statute (Wis. Laws (1874), c. 113, § 4), prescribing that a verified copy of the original articles shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds, the recording of the original articles will not satisfy the statute and will not bring the corporation into existence, but the shareholders will be liable to creditors as partners. Slocum v. Head, 105 Wis. 431, 81 N. W. 673, 50 L. R. A. 324. See as tending to the contrary conclusion Carolina Iron Co. v. Abernathy, 95 N. C. 545.

9. Ricker v. Larkin, 27 Ill. App. 625.

As to the effect of a ratification in giving vitality to a deed fraudulently and surreptitiously put upon record see Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. McCullough, 59 Ill. 166; Hadlock v. Hadlock, 22 Ill. 384.

10. Heuer v. Carmichael, 82 Iowa 288, 47 N. W. 1034; Kaiser v. Lawrence Sav. Bank, 56 Iowa 104, 8 N. W. 772, 41 Am. Rep. 85 (instrument not acknowledged by the statutory number of subscribers). Compare Humphreys v. Mooney, 5 Colo. 282, a decision which does not seem to be tenable. See also supra, I, L, 3, c.

For what was deemed a sufficient compliance with such a statute see Thornton v. Balcom, 85 Iowa 198, 52 N. W. 190; Sweney v. Talcott, 85 Iowa 103, 52 N. W. 106.

11. People v. Green, 116 Mich. 505, 74 N. W. 714.

12. Kaiser v. Lawrence Sav. Bank, 56 Iowa 104, 8 N. W. 772, 41 Am. Rep. 85.

town, or county in which the principal business of the corporation is to be located.[13]

(II) Failing to Publish Articles. Considering specially the question of the failure to publish the instrument of incorporation in compliance with the governing statute, it may be said that these statutes generally provide that publication of the instrument of incorporation shall be made in a certain way before the corporation shall commence business, and the prevailing view is that such a publication is not a condition precedent to the coming into existence of the corporation.[14] There are, however, statutes which require the publication of a notice of the fact of the incorporation to be made in a certain way, before immunity from personal liability for the debts of the corporation shall attach to the shareholders.[15]

f. Requirement That Given Percentage of Capital Stock Be Subscribed. Neither a subscription of the entire amount of the potential capital stock, nor of any proportion or percentage thereof, is a condition precedent to the coming into existence of a corporation, unless it is made such by the governing statute.[16] There are, however, statutes which make it a prerequisite to the valid organization of a corporation that shares to a certain amount shall be subscribed.[17] In order to satisfy such a statute, the subscriptions must have been made in good faith by persons having a reasonable expectation of being able to pay, otherwise

13. Harris v. McGregor, 29 Cal. 124. That incorporation will not be prevented through the failure of some one in the office of the secretary of state to state the term of the existence of the corporation see Bendall v. Jackson, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 183.

14. Holmes v. Gilliland, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 568.

15. Davenport First Nat. Bank v. Davies, 43 Iowa 424.

Interpreting the Iowa statute, the supreme court of that state first held that a failure to file the articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state did not prevent the character of a corporation from attaching to the organization or render the shareholders liable to creditors. Davenport First Nat. Bank v. Davies, 43 Iowa 424 [followed in Eisfeld v. Kenworth, 50 Iowa 389; Stokes v. Findlay, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,478, 4 McCrary 205]. This case did not really decide anything more than that the corporation in question was a railway company, and hence excepted by the statute. They next held that a failure to publish such a notice as required by the statute, or a failure to publish any notice whatever, prevented an immunity from personal liability for the debts of the corporation from attaching to the shareholders. Clegg v. Hamilton, etc., County Grange Co., 61 Iowa 121, 15 N. W. 865; Marshall v. Harris, 55 Iowa 182, 7 N. W. 509. Where the articles of incorporation do not contain all the statements which the statute requires the published notice to contain, the publication of the articles in lieu of such notice was not a compliance with the statute, but the shareholders remained liable to creditors of the corporation. Heuer v. Carmichael, 82 Iowa 288, 47 N. W. 1034. It was so held where the articles failed to fix the limit of indebtedness which the corporation might incur. Clegg v. Hamilton, etc., County Grange Co., 61 Iowa 121, 15 N. W. 865. But where the articles of incorporation contain all that is required by the statute requiring the publication of the notice of the fact of the incorporation, then the publication of the articles will be a substantial compliance with so much of the statute as relates to the publication of the notice. Heuer v. Carmichael, 82 Iowa 288, 47 N. W. 1034. It was so held where the paper that was published was a synopsis or abstract of the article, but contained all that the statute relating to the publication required. Thornton v. Balcom, 85 Iowa 198, 52 N. W. 190. Where the publication had been commenced, although not completed, within the ninety days prescribed by the statute, it was held that corporate liability had attached and that the shareholders were not personally liable to the creditors of the company. Thornton v. Balcom, 85 Iowa 198, 52 N. W. 190.

16. Iowa.— Johnson v. Kessler, 76 Iowa 411, 41 N. W. 57.

Kansas.— Massey v. Citizens' Bldg., etc., Assoc., 22 Kan. 624.

Maryland.— Lafiin, etc., Powder Co. v. Sinsheimer, 46 Md. 315, 24 Am. Rep. 522.

Massachusetts.— Salem First Nat. Bank v. Almy, 117 Mass. 476; Boston Acid Mfg. Co. v. Moring, 15 Gray 211.

New York.— Schenectady, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Thatcher, 11 N. Y. 102; Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. 157.

Texas.— Jefferson Nat. Bank v. Texas Invest. Co., 74 Tex. 421, 12 S. W. 101; Hamilton v. James A. Cushman Mfg. Co., 15 Tex. Civ. App. 338, 39 S. W. 641.

United States.— Minor v. Mechanics Bank, 1 Pet. 46, 7 L. ed. 47.

England.— Waterford, etc., R. Co. v. Dalbiac, 6 Exch. 443, 20 L. J. Exch. 227, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 753, 4 Eng. L. & Eq. 455.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 23.

17. Such for example is a statute of Nebraska, construed in Livesey v. Omaha Hotel the corporation will not withstand a proceeding by information in the nature of a quo warranto. But it seems that this rule operates only where the validity of the organization of the corporation is challenged in a direct proceeding; in a collateral proceeding it is not admissible to show the insolvency of subscribers to the shares of the corporation,[18] as for example in an action by the corporation upon an unconditional subscription to its shares.[19] It must be kept in mind that there is an important distinction between the question whether the filling up of the whole or of a statutory proportion or percentage of the capital stock is necessary to call the corporation into existence, and the question whether the corporation, being in existence, can maintain an action against a subscriber to its shares to collect his proportion of a call or assessment made upon the shares. This again depends upon the proper construction of the applicatory provision of the governing statute. There are decisions to the effect that an assessment against a subscriber to the shares of a corporation cannot be enforced by the corporation until the minimum amount of shares required by the governing statutes has been subscribed, by persons apparently able to pay, not counting the subscriptions of insolvents and of persons incapable of contracting, in arriving at such minimum amount.[20] It is enough to say, with reference to this question, that if the terms of the governing statute require the filling up of the subscription list as a condition precedent to the right of a corporation to make and enforce calls upon the subscribers to its shares, then, until all the shares are subscribed for, the corporation cannot maintain an action upon any single share subscription.[21]

g. Requirement That Certain Percentage of Capital Stock Be Paid in. Many of the statutory schemes of incorporation provide that a certain percentage of the capital stock named in the instrument of incorporation must be paid in before the instrument is filed. According to a view already considered,[22] the payment of this amount is not a condition precedent to the coming into existence of a corporation, at least where the question is raised in a collateral proceeding.[23] This principle applies where something is required to be done by the governing statute within a stated period, and the corporation enters upon its business and continues therein as a corporation for a long time thereafter, in which case it will be presumed, where the question is raised in a collateral proceeding, that the thing required by the statute to be done was done.[24] If the thing required to be done is the payment into the treasury of the corporation of a stated percentage of its capital stock in gold or silver, within a stated period after receiving its charter, Co., 5 Nebr. 50. Compare New Haven, etc., R. Co. v. Chapman, 38 Conn. 56.

18. Holman v. State, 105 Ind. 569, 5 N. E. 702.

19. Miller v. Wild Cat Gravel Road Co., 52 Ind. 51.

20. Phillips v. Covington, etc., Bridge Co., 2 Metc. (Ky.) 219; Lewey's Island R. Co. v. Bolton, 48 Me. 451, 77 Am. Dec. 236.

21. Central Turnpike Corp. v. Valentine, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 142; Salem Mill-Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 187, 19 Am. Dec. 363, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 23; Norwich, etc., Nav. Co. v. Theobald, M. & M. 151, 22 E. C. L. 491.

This branch of legal doctrine does not relate to the question whether the corporation has come into existence, but relates to the question whether it can collect its share subscriptions. It will therefore not be discussed here, but will be reserved for consideration in its proper place. See infra, VI, N, 2.

A bank incorporated with the privilege of creating a stock of not less than a given amount, nor greater than another given amount, may commence business with the smaller capital and afterward increase it to the larger. Gray v. Portland Bank, 3 Mass. 364, 3 Am. Dec. 156.

22. See supra, I, L, 3, d.

23. Eastern Plank Road Co. v. Vaughan, 14 N. Y. 546; Palmer v. Lawrence, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 161.

A clause in a charter that the commissioners appointed to organize the corporation should receive no subscriptions to the stock unless five per cent thereof in cash should be paid to them at the time of subscribing, and that if they should receive subscriptions without such payments they should be personally liable to pay the same to the corporation when organized, was held not to make the payment of such percentage a condition precedent to the coming into existence of the corporation, but merely to fix a personal liability on the commissioners. Blair v. Rutherford, 31 Tex. 465.

24. Agricultural Bank v. Burr, 24 Me. 256.

the certificate of the proper officer of the state that it has been done will be evidence of that fact;[25] and, as we shall see, the certificate of the proper officer of the state that the corporation has been duly created will be conclusive against everyone except the state itself.[26] It is enough that the percentage of the capital stock required to be paid in by the governing statute is paid in in substantial conformity thereto, and it is not material by whom it is paid in.[27] The payment may be made in a gross sum, if the sum equals the required percentage of the capital stock.[28] If the governing statute requires the payment to be made in cash, and by a connivance with the directors a subscriber executes his promissory notes to the corporation therefor, he will not be permitted to set up as a defense to an action on those notes that the corporation had no power to accept them, but a court of chancery will enforce them.[29] Where the governing statute requires, as a condition precedent to incorporation, that a certain percentage of the capital stock shall be subscribed therefor and that ten per cent thereof shall be paid in, in good faith, in cash, this is complied with by the delivery of a check drawn against sufficient funds in the hands of a solvent banker, which check would be paid on presentation.[30] This is especially true where the practice prevails of certifying checks, and where the banker certifies the check as good.[31] But a simulated payment by a check drawn upon a banker with whom the subscriber has no funds, where the check is never presented for payment, but is long afterward surrendered to the drawer on a settlement of accounts between him and the corporation, is not a payment in cash such as satisfies a statute of this kind.[32] The same was held of a simulated payment where the subscriber handed over the statutory amount to the treasurer of the corporation and immediately received it back again.[33]

h. Failing to Fill up Requisite Capital Stock. The failure of those who pretend to organize an insurance company to create the capital stock required by the governing statute and to cause the amount to be paid in which the statute requires entitles the state to a judgment of ouster against them.[34] In other words a provision of the charter of a corporation authorizing it to do business if a certain amount of its capital stock shall be subscribed and paid in within a specified time makes such subscription and payment within such time conditions precedent to the legal organization of the company; and a failure in this particular will justify a proceeding by the attorney-general to forfeit the company's charter.[35] The principle has been carried further. In a contest between individuals, it has been held that where persons attempt to organize a corporation, but go no further than to file articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state, and then, without raising the capital stock which the law requires, incur debts in the name of the corporation, the persons so proceeding are answerable for such debts as partners.[36] A better view would seem to be that an inchoate subscription is a

25. Agricultural Bank v. Burr, 24 Me. 256.
26. See infra, I, M, 7.
27. Lake Ontario, etc., R. Co. v. Mason, 16 N. Y. 451.
28. Spartanburg, etc., R. Co. v. Ezell, 14 S. C. 281.
29. McLaren v. Pennington, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 102.
30. People v. Stockton, etc., R. Co., 45 Cal. 306, 13 Am. Rep. 178.
31. In re Staten Island Rapid Transit R. Co., 37 Hun (N. Y.) 422. Compare Thorp v. Woodhull, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 411, where the check does not appear to have been certified.
32. People v. Chambers, 42 Cal. 201; Crocker v. Crane, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 211, 34 Am. Dec. 228. See also Excelsior Grain Binding Co. v. Stayner, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 91, 61 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 456.
33. State v. Jefferson Turnpike Co., 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 305.
34. State v. Webb, 97 Ala. 111, 12 So. 377, 38 Am. St. Rep. 151.
35. Dominion Salvage, etc., Co. v. Atty.-Gen., 21 Can. Supreme Ct. 72. See also Eastern Archipelago Co. v. Reg., 2 C. L. R. 145, 2 E. & B. 856, 18 Jur. 481, 23 L. J. Q. B. 82, 2 Wkly. Rep. 77, 75 E. C. L. 856; Niagara Falls Road Co. v. Benson, 8 U. C. Q. B. 307.
36. Walton v. Oliver, 49 Kan. 107, 30 Pac. 172, 33 Am. St. Rep. 355. In Ohio, where the state is a party to the controversy, and the question relates to the existence de jure of a corporation, it is not sufficient, in pleading that a certain corporation has been or-proposal which the corporation can accept when it comes into existence, so as to make a binding contract.[37] One court has held that in the absence of any requirement in the charter of a corporation or in the general law that a joint stock shall be raised before the corporation can enter upon the work which it was created to perform, it can, on this ground, plead its non-existence as a corporation when sued as such by a private individual.[38] Decisions are not wanting, however, which overlook this defect in a collateral proceeding, especially where it was necessary to hold that the body was a corporation in order to preserve the rights of innocent creditors.[39]

i. Compliance With Statute as to Manner of Making Payment For Shares. A provision in a statute that the "charter" shall set forth "the time when and the manner in which the stock shall be paid for," is satisfied by a charter which requires that the stock shall be paid for in cash, and that no certificate of stock shall issue until this payment is made.[40] So where, under the same law, the charter declared "that the stock shall be paid in cash, at such times and in such amounts, and with such notices to the subscribers, as the managers and directors . . . shall deem for the best of all parties in interest," this was held a substantial compliance with the law.[41]

j. Amendments of Applications For Charters, of Articles of Association, and of Certificates of Incorporation. If the governing statute prescribe a method for amending such an instrument, by whatever name called, the statute must of course be followed; but if the statute is silent upon the subject, then it seems that amended articles must be drawn up, signed, acknowledged, and filed as required by the statute in the case of original articles,[42] in which case the existence of the corporation will date from the filing of the amended document and not from the date of the filing of the original and abortive instrument.[43] This, it seems, applies only in cases where the defects in the original instrument which require amendment are radical in their character. The rule would not prohibit amendments of the original document, which were merely intended to supply omissions not of an essential or radical character from taking effect by relation. One reason for the distinction is that an amendment which materially alters the original instrument of incorporation may require unanimous consent, or the release of dissenting subscribers or shareholders.[44] So after a company has become incorporated it cannot ganized, merely to allege that "articles of incorporation have been made, and filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State," since "articles of incorporation do not make an incorporated company; they are simply authority to do so." Such a pleading is defective in not averring that officers or directors have been chosen, that any of the stock has been subscribed, or that any organization whatever has been perfected. State v. Insurance Co., 49 Ohio St. 440, 31 N. E. 658, 34 Am. St. Rep. 573, 16 L. R. A. 611.

In an action by an alleged corporation to recover from a subscriber to its shares the amount of his subscription, the same having been made after articles of association were filed but prior to the organization of the company, it has been held that there can be no recovery because there is no corporation, unless the statutory amount is subscribed after the filing of the articles of incorporation. Fairview R. Co. v. Spillman, 23 Oreg. 587, 32 Pac. 688. Compare Guckert v. Hacke, 159 Pa. St. 303, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 41, 28 Atl. 249, opinion of the court by Sterrett, J. [citing Smith v. Warden, 86 Mo. 382; Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416; Childs v. Smith, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 45].

37. 1 Thompson Corp. § 1170; Greenbrier Industrial Exposition v. Rodes, 37 W. Va. 738, 17 S. E. 305.

38. McGinty v. Athol Reservoir Co., 155 Mass. 183, 29 N. E. 510.

39. Fargason v. Oxford Mercantile Co., 78 Miss. 65, 27 So. 877.

40. New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Frank, 39 La. Ann. 707, 2 So. 310.

41. Baltimore, etc., Tel. Co. v. Morgan's Louisiana, etc., Steamship Co., 37 La. Ann. 883.

42. Day v. Mill-Owners' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 75 Iowa 694, 38 N. W. 113; Altoona Gas Co. v. Altoona Gas Co., 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 662. Compare In re Waverly Ladies of Red Cross, 1 Pa. Dist. 605, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 257, where a court in Pennsylvania allowed just such an amendment.

43. In re New York Cable R. Co., 109 N. Y. 32, 15 N. E. 882, 14 N. Y. St. 51.

44. Burrows v. Smith, 10 N. Y. 550. See also supra, I, K, 2, b. For example a building association whose articles do not author-have its certificate of incorporation amended so as to change the original purpose for which the corporation has been formed; as for instance where it has been incorporated to manufacture preserves, syrups, etc., so as to enable it to engage in the wholesale selling of intoxicating liquors; but it must reincorporate.[45] As in case of an original incorporation, so in case of an amendment to an instrument of incorporation, an amendment by which the incorporators assume to take to themselves a franchise not warranted by the governing statute, as for example by extending the period of their corporate existence from thirty to fifty years, where there is no statute allowing such a duration of corporate existence the amendment will be void; but not if made after the passage of an act of the legislature authorizing such amendment.[46] The directors or trustees of a corporation have no power, unless clothed with such power by express law, to alter the fundamental character of the corporation itself;[47] and this is especially true of directors who are not such de jure but only de facto. In dealing with this subject, it must be kept constantly in mind that the manner in which instruments of incorporation may be amended is provided for in detail in the legislation of most of the states, and that the subject is one of local legislation. The tendency of this legislation has no doubt been to apply to the subject the principle of the rule of the majority, or of a stated majority, and to prevent one or two recalcitrant members from balking, until they can be bought off, a scheme of amendment deemed necessary by most of the others. Some of these statutes, and the rulings of the courts thereupon, are referred to in the marginal note.[48] ize the corporation to wind up and close its existence short of a period of eight years, unless all its stock is redeemed at its value, cannot dissolve itself by a resolution passed at a corporate meeting without the consent of all its shareholders; since this would be to amend its charter without unanimous consent and in a material particular, and to execute the amendment at the same time. Barton v. Enterprise Loan, etc., Assoc., 114 Ind. 226, 16 N. E. 286, 5 Am. St. Rep. 608. See Endlich Bldg. Assoc. § 479.

45. In re Pennsylvania Bottling, etc., Co., 6 Pa. Dist. 530, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 593.

46. People v. Green, 116 Mich. 505, 74 N. W. 714.

47. State v. Oftedal, 72 Minn. 498, 75 N. W. 692.

48. In Michigan an incorporated chamber of commerce, created under one statute (Howell Anno. Stat. Mich. c. 108), may amend its articles so as to increase its capital stock, under the provisions of another statute (Howell Anno. Stat. Mich. § 4866) applicable to all corporations, where the statute law has made no special provision applicable to the case. Detroit Chamber of Commerce v. State Secretary, 109 Mich. 691, 67 N. W. 897.

In New York, under N. Y. Laws (1892), c. 867, a corporation may file an amended certificate of incorporation to cure an informality or defect, or to strike out unauthorized matter in its original certificate; but this does not entitle a railroad company to change the route of its road under the pretense of making such an amendment. Matter of Riverhead, etc., R. Co., 36 N. Y. App. Div. 514, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 938.

In Pennsylvania, according to departmental rulings, a radical amendment to an application for a charter will not be permitted, but the applicants must begin over again. Such an application cannot be amended by altering the title and readvertising, so that the proceedings will relate to the date of the filing of the original application and retain all rights of priority (In re Amendment of Applications for Charter, 5 Pa. Dist. 299); but an amendment of an application must be treated as a new application and must conform to all the requirements of an original proceeding (Altoona Gas Co. v. Altoona Gas Co., 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 662. Contra, that an application for a charter of a gas company may be amended after its refusal, by leaving out territory claimed as exclusive by a rival corporation. Suburban Gas Co. v. Lansdowne-Yeadon Gas Co., 3 Pa. Dist. 597, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 126). An application for a charter to the "Altoona Gas Company" cannot be amended to make the name "The Consumers' Gas Company of Altoona." Altoona Gas Co. v. Altoona Gas Co., 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 662. Rehearing of an application for a charter in Pennsylvania, after it has been refused by the secretary of state, not granted, but applicant left to the courts. In re Bradley Fertilizer Co., 6 Pa. Dist. 423, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 271.

Amendment increasing capital stock.—For state of the statute law under which it was held that an amendment increasing capital stock is inoperative until the certificate of amendment is left for record with the register of deeds of the proper county see Wood v. Union Gospel Church Bldg. Assoc., 63 Wis. 9, 22 N. W. 756. Amendment of articles of incorporation so as to provide for an increase of capital stock, authorized under Minn. Gen. Stat. (1878), c. 33. Palmer v. Zumbrota Bank, 72 Minn. 266, 75 N. W. 380.

k. Evading Constitutional Requirements as to Payment of Organization Tax. Where the constitution of the state imposes a specific tax upon the granting of certificates of incorporation for corporations of a certain class and relieves from the payment of the tax corporations of another class, such for example as those formed for benevolent, religious, scientific, or educational purposes, the payment of the tax cannot be evaded by incorporating under a statute by which the legislature undertakes to classify a corporation formed for pecuniary objects, such as a building and loan association, under the description of benevolent societies. "Such legislative legerdemain is to be condemned, not approved."[49] Hence a statute[50] which provides for the incorporation of pleasure clubs without requiring them to pay the tax prescribed by the constitution upon their capital stock is void in so far as it undertakes to allow the creation of corporations other than those formed for benevolent, religious, scientific, or educational purposes.[51]

M. Evidence of Corporate Existence — 1. In General. Corporate existence is ordinarily proved by the production of a charter granted by the state or by showing a valid organization under a general enabling statute, and in either case by proof of user of the corporate powers and privileges thereby conferred and acquired. Stated otherwise, the existence of a corporation is proved by showing a valid instrument of incorporation and of user thereunder.[52] The instrument of incorporation may consist of a special charter, that is to say, of a special act of the legislature incorporating the particular company,[53] or of a certificate or articles of incorporation, by whatever name designated, executed and filed in some public office in pursuance of a general statute.[54]

2. Judicial Notice of Charters. The charter, if a special act of the legislature, under the ancient and strict rule, is not judicially noticed by the courts, unless the charter itself[55] or some general statute[56] requires that it shall be so noticed.

3. Mode of Proving Charters When Not Noticed Judicially. Where this strict rule prevails it is supposed to be necessary to prove such a charter by an exemplified copy of the special act duly certified by the secretary of state. But it is believed that in most jurisdictions, whether in pursuance of the statute law,[57] or of the common sense of the courts, such a statute, like any other, may be proved, prima facie at least, by producing the book of public statutes in which it is printed.[58]

4. Presumption of Ancient Charter. Under the principles of the common law, where a body of men have been for a long time in the exercise of corporate powers, a presumption arises of an ancient charter, granted to their predecessors, 49. State v. McGrath, 95 Mo. 193, 197, 8 S. W. 425.

50. Mo. Rev. Stat. (1889), § 2834.

51. State v. Le Sueur, 99 Mo. 552, 13 S. W. 237, 7 L. R. A. 734.

52. See supra, I, J, 7, b.

53. Creation by special charter see supra, I, J.

54. Organization under general law see supra, I, L.

55. Eel River Draining Assoc. v. Topp, 16 Ind. 242; Anderson v. Kerns Draining Co., 14 Ind. 199, 77 Am. Dec. 63; Agnew v. Gettysburg Bank, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 478. As where the charter contains a clause declaring it to be a public act (White Water Valley Canal Co. v. Boden, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 130; Brookville Ins. Co. v. Records, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 170), or where the statute law provides that acts of incorporation of a certain description shall be deemed public acts and shall be noticed judicially without being proved in the ordinary mode (Delawter v. Sand Creek Ditching Co., 26 Ind. 407; Ewing v. Robeson, 15 Ind. 26; Methodist Episcopal Union Church v. Pickett, 19 N. Y. 482; Dutchess Cotton Manufacturing Co. v. Davis, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459). The rule is the same with reference to a charter of a private corporation, which has been recognized by the constitution of the state. It thereby acquires the character of a public statute of which the courts are bound to take judicial notice. Vance v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 80.

56. Haven v. State Asylum, 13 N. H. 532, 38 Am. Dec. 512.

Such a statute is Mass. Rev. Stat. (1836), c. 2, § 3.

57. Terry v. Merchants', etc., Bank, 66 Ga. 177; Davis v. Fulton Bank, 31 Ga. 69.

58. U. S. Bank v. Stearns, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 314; Chenango Bank v. Noyes [cited in Wood v. Jefferson County Bank, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 194, 205]; U. S. v. Johns, 4 Dall. (U. S.) 412, 1 L. ed. 888.

making the exercise of such powers by them lawful and rightful.[59] This principle is no doubt operative in the United States with respect to corporations whose existence has come down from colonial times; but with respect to modern corporations there is no room for its operation, because such corporations are either created by special acts of legislation which are easily accessible or by organization under general enabling statutes, which organization can take place only by matter of record.[60]

5. Modes of Proving Acceptance of Grants of Corporate Powers and Privileges. The distinction must be kept in mind between judicial notice of a charter and judicial notice of a corporation. Except in the case of municipal corporations, where charters are imposed upon the inhabitants by the legislature and need not be accepted by them, something more is required to create a corporation than a mere charter: There must have been an acceptance[61] of the charter by the corporators named therein; and as we have seen a user of the powers and privileges thereby conferred upon them and upon their associates and successors. Until the grant has been accepted, it remains inchoate and is not deemed to be a contract between the state and the coadventurers within the rule of the Dartmouth College case, but may be modified or withdrawn by the legislature at pleasure.[62] But this distinction is of no great importance, since, as in the case of other grants which on their face are beneficial to the grantees, an acceptance is presumed[63] or is provable by slight evidence. Outside of this presumption of acceptance the general rule remains that, while a court will take judicial notice of the statute under which the corporation is created, it will not take judicial notice of the fact that the incorporators have accepted the privileges thereby conferred.[64] An exception to this rule has been admitted by some courts with reference to the supposed case where a corporation is unconditionally created by an act of the legislature, the statute declaring the persons named therein to be a corporation without anything to be done on their part as a condition precedent to their becoming such;[65] in which case, if the incorporating statute is a public act, the court will take judicial notice of its existence, and a plea nul tiel corporation founded on the assumption that the statute of incorporation has not been proved

59. Angell & A. Corp. c. 1, § 70; Shrewsbury v. Hart, 1 C. & P. 113, 12 E. C. L. 76.

60. Douthitt v. Stinson, 63 Mo. 268.

Operation of presumption so as to protect titles of proprietors of common lands in New England who are able to show record of their incorporation under an enabling statute forty or fifty years prior to the controversy see Brackett v. Persons Unknown, 53 Me. 228; Dolloff v. Hardy, 26 Me. 545; Copp v. Lamb, 12 Me. 312; Jeffries Neck Pasture v. Ipswich, 153 Mass. 42, 26 N. E. 239.

61. St. Joseph, etc., R. Co. v. Shambaugh, 106 Mo. 557, 17 S. W. 581. Compare supra, I, J, 7, a.

62. Georgia.—Central R., etc., Co. v. State, 54 Ga. 401.

Illinois.— Grinnell v. Hoffman, 116 Ill. 587, 5 N. E. 596, 8 N. E. 788, in the dissenting opinion of Scholfield, J.

Indiana.— State v. Dawson, 16 Ind. 40.

Maine.— Lincoln, etc., Bank v. Richardson, 1 Me. 79, 10 Am. Dec. 34.

New Jersey.— State v. Blake, 35 N. J. L. 208.

Tennessee.— State v. Planters' F. & M. Ins. Co., 95 Tenn. 203, 31 S. W. 992.

Virginia.— Yeaton v. Old Dominion Bank, 21 Gratt. 593.

Wisconsin.— Atty.-Gen. v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 35 Wis. 425, holding that it was quite competent for the state constitution to have repealed all laws to the contrary which had not ripened into contracts under the rule of Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629.

See also Galveston County v. Tankersley, 39 Tex. 651, grant of land for school purposes.

63. Atty.-Gen. v. State Bank, Harr. (Mich.) 315 [citing Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629].

64. Hammett v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 204.

65. Arkansas.— Mahoney v. State Bank, 4 Ark. 620.

Georgia.— Wood v. Coosa, etc., R. Co., 32 Ga. 273.

Michigan.— Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457; Farmers', etc., Bank v. Troy City Bank, 1 Dougl. 457.

New York.— Brouwer v. Appleby, 1 Sandf. 158; Southhold v. Horton, 6 Hill 501; New York Fire Dept. v. Kip, 10 Wend. 266.

Vermont.— Vermont Cent. R. Co. v. Clayes, 21 Vt. 30.

United States.— U. S. v. Johns, 4 Dall. 412, 1 L. ed. 888.

will be bad on demurrer.[66] But this principle can have no just application except with reference to public corporations, where the assent of the persons incorporated is not required. As we have seen,[67] a man cannot be forced to enter into a contract against his will, unless he has agreed so to do. Neither can he be forced to become a member of a private corporation against his will. Therefore a court cannot take judicial notice of the existence of a private corporation; but there must be evidence of the consent of the persons named in the incorporating act to become incorporated; and the fact of this consent must be established by proof, when properly controverted, like any other fact in issue.[68]

6. Modes of Proving User of Corporate Powers and Privileges. The acceptance of a charter or other grant of corporate powers and privileges may like any other fact be proved by circumstances; and the ordinary mode of proving such an acceptance is to prove a user by the incorporators, their associates or successors, of the franchises of the corporation and of the other powers and privileges granted in the act of incorporation. This proof of user may be made in any appropriate way, as by producing the books and records of the corporation, which are primary evidence of the fact of its organization and existence as an artificial body,[69] or by producing instruments of writing executed by the corporation under its corporate name.[70] The book of entries of the corporation containing its articles of association, signed by all the associates, and containing the other records of its proceedings, is properly admitted in evidence to prove the fact of its organization as a corporation;[71] and the fact may be proved by producing the minutes of the corporation, without producing a list of the subscribers to its shares.[72] Thus in the case of a corporation created to build and operate a railroad an acceptance of the grant is shown by proving that the act was passed at the request of the direct-

66. Hammett v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 204; McKiel v. Real Estate Bank, 4 Ark. 592.

67. See supra, I, J, 7, a, note 11.

68. Dutton v. Kendrick, 12 Me. 381; Towson v. Havre-de-Grace Bank, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 47, 14 Am. Dec. 254; Portsmouth Livery Co. v. Watson, 10 Mass. 91.

69. Indiana.— Vawter v. Franklin College, 53 Ind. 88.

Massachusetts.— Narragansett Bank v. Atlantic Silk Co., 3 Metc. 282.

New York.— McFarlan v. Triton Ins. Co., 4 Den. 392; Wood v. Jefferson County Bank, 9 Cow. 194; Bill v. Fourth Great Western Turnpike Co., 14 Johns. 416; Highland Turnpike Co. v. McKean, 10 Johns. 154, 6 Am. Dec. 324.

North Carolina.— Buncombe Turnpike Co. v. McCarson, 18 N. C. 306.

Vermont.— Reynolds v. Myers, 51 Vt. 444.

Virginia.— Crump v. U. S. Mining Co., 7 Gratt. 352, 56 Am. Dec. 116; Gray v. Lynchburg, etc., Turnpike Co., 4 Rand. 578.

But see Lucas v. Georgia Bank, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 147.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 118.

70. In an action by a corporation on a promissory note purporting to be executed in favor of the corporation in its corporate name, where defendant pleaded nul tiel corporation, it was aptly held that the existence of the corporation was proved by reading its charter in evidence, since the taking of the note in its corporate name was evidence of user under its charter. Ramsey v. Peoria Mar., etc., Ins. Co., 55 Ill. 311. It should be added that the giving of the note to the corporation in its corporate name created an estoppel against the maker of the note from denying the corporate character of the payee, under a principle about to be considered. See infra, I, N, 1.

For other illustrations of the principle of the text see Provident Sav. Inst. v. Burnham, 128 Mass. 458; Anderson v. Kanawha Coal Co., 12 W. Va. 526.

71. Foster v. White Cloud City Co., 32 Mo. 505; Reynolds v. Myers, 51 Vt. 444.

72. Crump v. U. S. Mining Co., 7 Gratt. (Va.) 352, 56 Am. Dec. 116.

So the books of the commissioners appointed under a charter to receive subscriptions to the stock of a projected railway are competent evidence to establish the facts recorded therein which relate to the performance of their duty. Wood v. Coosa, etc., R. Co., 32 Ga. 273. But these books are not the only evidence. No express vote of the corporators to accept the charter need be shown; but the grant being presumably beneficial to them a presumption of acceptance arises from a continued exercise of the granted powers; and where the powers have been exercised for a considerable length of time this assumption becomes irresistible. Whitmore v. Plymouth Fourth Cong. Soc., 2 Gray (Mass.) 306; Narragansett Bank v. Atlantic Silk Co., 3 Metc. (Mass.) 282; Middlesex Husbandmen, etc., Soc. v. Davis, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 133; Stone v. East Berkshire Cong. Soc., 14 Vt. 86; Manchester Bank v. Allen, 11 Vt. 302.

ors designated therein, or by proving the fact of the construction and use by the company of a part of the railroad which it was created to build.[73] So, after a notice to produce the books of a corporation containing the records of its organization, and a refusal of the agent of the corporation to do so, the party giving the notice may prove the de facto existence of the corporation by witnesses, and may show that the certificate of incorporation was filed with the proper officers of the state as required by law.[74] With regard to proof of the acceptance of a grant of corporate privileges by proof of user of the powers conferred in the grant, it has been reasoned that where it is sought to make this proof by proving acts in pais, if such acts and proceedings might be performed by individuals without an incorporating act or a grant of corporate franchises, then the existence of a corporation cannot be inferred therefrom.[75] The acts or admissions of a party to the action, such as that he has served as president of the corporation or has given a note to it in its corporate name, constitute as against him prima facie evidence of user of the corporate franchises under a rule which will be hereafter considered.[76] Statutes have been enacted which still further simplify the mode of proof of corporate existence by allowing it to be proved by showing that the body whose corporate existence is questioned acted or did business as a corporation.[77] One of the usual modes of proving user under a charter is to prove that the company subsequently to the passage of the act of incorporation had an office at a particular place and there carried on the business for which it was incorporated, its affairs being managed by directors chosen for that purpose from time to time.[78] So in case of a turnpike company it was sufficient proof of user to prove the completion of the road of the company, the acceptance of it, as required by its charter, the erection of toll-gates, etc.[79] In general proof of user may consist of evidence of the acts of the corporation showing that they are doing business under their charter; for example, keeping an open office, or having officers acting in the name and as the agents of the company.[80] It may be made by showing acts in pais; it is not necessary that it should be made by the introduction of matter of record. Accordingly where, in a suit by a mutual insurance company upon a premium note, evidence in proof of user was offered that they had received, under their charter, applications for policies, and that policies had been issued by them from the year 1838 to the time of the trial, it was held that this was not error.[81] In like manner, where a corporation purports to derive its franchises from a general law, proof of its existence, for the purposes of ordinary litigation, is sufficiently made by showing the existence of a general law under which it might exist, and by showing the exercise on its part of the franchises which it might properly have acquired by a due organization

73. St. Joseph, etc., R. Co. v. Shambaugh, 106 Mo. 557, 17 S. W. 581.

74. Dooley v. Cheshire Glass Co., 15 Gray (Mass.) 494.

75. Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 414 [citing Greene v. Dennis, 6 Conn. 293, 16 Am. Dec. 58].

76. Williams v. Michigan Bank, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 539. See also infra, I, N, 1.

Supposed distinction between user under a special charter and compliance with conditions under a general law, with the conclusion that in cases against individuals who claim exemption from personal liability on the ground of having become incorporated under a general statute, a stricter measure of compliance with statutory requirements ought to be required. Bigelow v. Gregory, 73 Ill. 197.

77. Proof under Cal. Civ. Code, § 358, by showing that the body has been acting as a corporation. Lakeside Ditch Co. v. Crane, 80 Cal. 181, 22 Pac. 76. See also Pacific Bank v. De Ro, 37 Cal. 538; Oroville, etc., R. Co. v. Plumas County, 37 Cal. 354; People v. Frank, 28 Cal. 507; Dannebroge Gold Quartz Min. Co. v. Allment, 26 Cal. 286.

Proof under Mich. Laws of 1871 to 1876, by showing that the company has been doing business under a particular name. Lake Superior Bldg. Co. v. Thompson, 32 Mich. 293.

That the Texas act of 1845, regulating evidence in regard to corporations, is only applicable to cases in which the corporation or the assignee of the corporation is plaintiff see Reynolds v. Skelton, 2 Tex. 516.

78. Utica Ins. Co. v. Tilman, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 555.

79. Searsburgh Turnpike Co. v. Cutler, 6 Vt. 315.

80. Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457.

81. Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457.

under such general law.[82] On the other hand carrying on business in a corporate name is not evidence which can be considered for the purpose of establishing the existence of a corporation, where there is no law authorizing the members to file articles of association or to become incorporated.[83] Another way of stating the same principle and reaching the same result is to say that proof of user, under a charter or general enabling statute, is a sufficient mode of proving the existence of a corporation de facto, although it may not exist de jure; in other words, of proving the existence in fact of a corporation which might have lawfully existed under the charter or governing statute.[84] Very slight evidence is generally held sufficient to establish the user necessary to show the existence of a de facto corporation. In some jurisdictions it is only necessary to show that the corporation assumed to act as such,[85] or in other words to show a continued user of the franchises of an incorporated and organized company by persons assuming to act as its directors, this being not only competent evidence of its continued corporate existence, but also evidence that such persons were its legal directors.[86] Doing business as a bank;[87] choosing directors and officers;[88] adopting by-laws, buying a piece of ground, and erecting and leasing a building upon it;[89] and entering an appearance to an action in the name by which it is sued and filing an answer[90] have been held to furnish sufficient evidence of user for the purpose of proving the existence of a corporation and organization in good faith, in substantial or colorable compliance with some statute under which a corporation might lawfully exist, and as much as can be demanded in a litigation between private parties, where questions of the rightfulness of the existence of the corporation arises collaterally, and where the state suffers the assumed corporation to exist without interference,[91] although there may have been irregularities or omissions in perfecting the organization.[92]

7. Proof of Incorporation by Proving Letters Patent, Articles of Association, Certificates of Incorporation, Etc. If the corporation purports to be organized under a general law of the state of the forum, it will usually be sufficient to prove the making and filing of the certificate of incorporation, the articles of association, or other instrument of incorporation, by whatever name called, which is required by the applicatory statute, and to prove acts of user thereunder.[93] But it is no doubt competent for the legislature to declare what shall be evidence prima facie of the formation of a corporation;[94] and many of the statutes provide that a duly certified copy of the articles of incorporation shall be prima facie evidence of the fact of incorporation.[95] If, as is usually the case, the gov-

82. Finnegan v. Noerenherg, 52 Minn. 239, 53 N. W. 1150, 38 Am. St. Rep. 552, 18 L. R. A. 778; Crenshaw v. Ullman, 113 Mo. 633, 20 S. W. 1077; Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416.

83. Eaton v. Walker, 76 Mich. 579, 43 N. W. 638, 6 L. R. A. 102.

84. Searsburgh Turnpike Co. v. Cutler, 6 Vt. 315. See to this effect, generally, Jeffries Neck Pasture v. Ipswich, 153 Mass. 42, 26 N. E. 239; Benesch v. John Hancock Mut. L. Ins. Co., 11 N. Y. Suppl. 348, 32 N. Y. St. 73; Manchester Bank v. Allen, 11 Vt. 302.

85. Reynolds v. Myers, 51 Vt. 444.

86. St. Paul F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Allis, 24 Minn. 75.

87. Farmers', etc., Bank v. Williamson, 61 Mo. 259.

88. Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75.

89. Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 52 Minn. 239, 53 N. W. 1150, 38 Am. St. Rep. 552, 18 L. R. A. 778.

90. Derrenbacher v. Lehigh Valley R. Co., 21 Hun (N. Y.) 612, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 283. Compare Stoddard v. Onondaga Annual Conference, 12 Barb. (N. Y.) 573.

91. Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 52 Minn. 239, 53 N. W. 1150, 38 Am. St. Rep. 552, 18 L. R. A. 778; Welch v. Old Dominion Min., etc., Co., 10 N. Y. Suppl. 174, 31 N. Y. St. 916.

92. Marsh v. Astoria Lodge No. 112, I. O. O. F., 27 Ill. 421.

93. Leonardsville Bank v. Willard, 25 N. Y. 574; Toledo Bank v. International Bank, 21 N. Y. 542; Spokane, etc., Lumber Co. v. Loy, 21 Wash. 501, 58 Pac. 672, 60 Pac. 1119 (under a statute, and although a copy of the certificate of incorporation had not been filed with the secretary of state as provided by the statute).

94. Holmes v. Gilliland, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 568, per Leonard, J.

95. See for example Wash. Gen. Stat. § 1499; Knapp v. Strand, 4 Wash. 686, 30 Pac. 1063.

erning statute requires the articles or certificate of incorporation to be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county wherein the principal place of business of the corporation is established, then the usual proof of incorporation is to introduce in evidence a copy of the instrument of incorporation, filed in the office of the secretary of state, and also a transcript of it from the record in the office of the register of deeds.[96] Some of them call for a duly certified copy of the articles, and also require that an affidavit of stated facts shall be annexed thereto. The effect of a compliance with such a statutory requirement is to make prima facie proof of the existence of the corporation and to cast the burden of disproving the validity of its organization upon the party assailing it.[97] It may be stated as a general rule that instruments of incorporation under general laws, such as letters patent issued by the governor of Pennsylvania,[98] articles of incorporation, sometimes called certificates of incorporation, filed in the public office or offices of the state,[99] the certificate of the proper public officer, generally the secretary of state,[1] in the case of national banks the certificate of the comptroller of the currency,[2] furnish at least prima facie evidence of the fact of due incorporation in connection with evidence of user of the franchises conferred by the statute and assumed by the coadventurers. But this assumes that the instrument so appealed to as evidence of a legal incorporation is not defective on its face for want of a compliance with the essential provisions of the governing statute.[3] Unless the governing statute empowers the particular officer of the state to determine that the provisions of the law have been complied with, his certificate to that effect is not evidence of the fact, but it must otherwise appear.[4] But clearly the certificate of the officer of the state or of the government of the United States, to whom is committed the duty of passing upon the document filed by the coadventurers and of issuing to them an instrument showing their incorporation, is prima facie evidence of that fact, and if sufficient upon its face constitutes them a corporation as against everyone except the state itself or the government. It enables them to act as a corporation and to acquire rights and incur liabilities as such, which will be enforced in the judicial courts.[5] The law

96. As was done with approval in Brown v. Corbin, 40 Minn. 508, 42 N. W. 481.

97. Eastern Plank Road Co. v. Vaughan, 14 N. Y. 546.

For statutes under which articles of incorporation were of themselves proof that they were signed and executed until the person by whom they purported to be signed and executed denied the signatures and execution under oath see Pennsylvania Ins. Co. v. Murphy, 5 Minn. 36.

Assent of the prescribed majority may be proved by indirect acts of acquiescence, and need not be proved by matter of record. Columbia Bottom Levee Co. v. Meier, 39 Mo. 53.

98. Dorsey Harvester Revolving Rake Co. v. Marsh, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,014, 6 Fish. Pat. Cas. 387. That the validity of such letters patent cannot be questioned collaterally see Cochran v. Arnold, 58 Pa. St. 399.

99. California.— Fresno Canal, etc., Co. v. Warner, 72 Cal. 379, 14 Pac. 37; Dannebroge Gold Quartz Min. Co. v. Allment, 26 Cal. 286.

Colorado.— Bates v. Wilson, 14 Colo. 140, 24 Pac. 99.

Illinois.— McCoy v. World's Columbian Exposition, 87 Ill. App. 605 [affirmed in 186 Ill. 356, 57 N. E. 1043, 78 Am. St. Rep. 288], articles of incorporation certified by secretary of state prima facie evidence that stock was fully subscribed.

Nebraska.— Equitable Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Baird, 60 Nebr. 173, 82 N. W. 385; Equitable Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Bidwell, 60 Nebr. 169, 82 N. W. 384.

New Jersey.— Vanneman v. Young, 52 N. J. L. 403, 20 Atl. 53.

Washington.— Knapp v. Strand, 4 Wash. 686, 3 Pac. 1063.

1. See supra, I, L, 3.

2. Mix v. Bloomington Nat. Bank, 91 Ill. 20, 33 Am. Rep. 44; Rock Island First Nat. Bank v. Loyned, 28 Minn. 396, 10 N. W. 421; Memphis First Nat. Bank v. Kidd, 20 Minn. 234; Merchants' Exch. Nat. Bank v. Cardozo, 35 N. Y. Super. Ct. 162; Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S. 673, 680, 24 L. ed. 168, 307.

3. McCallion v. Hibernia Sav., etc., Soc., 70 Cal. 163, 12 Pac. 114; Bates v. Wilson, 14 Colo. 140, 24 Pac. 99.

4. Boyce v. Towsontown Station M. E. Church, 46 Md. 359. Where there was a statute prohibiting corporations, doing business as such in good faith, from being overthrown in collateral proceedings, it was held that a certificate of incorporation was admissible in a private action to show the fact of incorporation, although not acknowledged by all of the corporators. Dannebroge Gold Quartz Min. Co. v. Allment, 26 Cal. 286.

5. Cochran v. Arnold, 58 Pa. St. 399 [overruling Paterson v. Arnold, 45 Pa. St. 410].

goes further than this: Where commissioners have been appointed to superintend the organization of intended corporations under statutory powers of attorney, and the statute empowers them to certify the fact of the organization of the corporation, their certificate is conclusive evidence of that fact for every purpose of collateral attack;[6] and their acts can be reviewed only in a proceeding brought by the state directly against the corporators to inquire into the validity of their incorporation.[7] The general rule is that where the statute appoints an official or body of officials of the government to pass upon an application for the grant of corporate powers, and to determine whether the conditions precedent required by the statute have been complied with, and they make such determination and grant a certificate of incorporation, that certificate is not merely prima facie evidence of the rightful creation of the corporation but is conclusive evidence of it.[8] Nor will it make any difference that such officer has made a provable mistake, as where he has miscounted the shares and found that the statutory number have been subscribed, when the fact is otherwise.[9] The reason is that where, by reason of such a certificate, a corporation is held out to the world as ready to undertake business, most disastrous consequences would follow to commercial undertakings if any person was allowed to go back and enter into an examination of the circumstances attending the original incorporation.[10]

8. Proving the Filing of Articles of Incorporation and Election of Corporate Officers. The filing of an instrument of incorporation, such as complies with the governing statute, in the proper offices designated by such statute, followed by an election of corporate officers, furnishes sufficient proof of the grant and assumption of corporate powers and privileges and of a user of such powers and privileges, creating at least a corporation de facto, although the percentage of capital prescribed by the governing statute may not in fact have been paid in.[11]

9. Proof of Corporate Existence by Reputation. Closely allied to the foregoing are holdings to the effect that the existence of a corporation may be proved by reputation, and by its actual use for a length of time of the powers and privileges of a corporation;[12] and this, we shall see, is the mode of proof in criminal cases.[13] And it seems that in any case where a body professing to be a corporation is sued, proof of its corporate existence by reputation is sufficient, although the better theory is that on grounds of public policy defendant is in such a case estopped from denying its corporate existence.[14]

10. Proof of Corporate Existence by Legislative Recognition. It has been said that corporate powers cannot be created by implication or extended by construc-

6. Litchfield Bank v. Church, 29 Conn. 137; Tar River Nav. Co. v. Neal, 10 N. C. 520; Pilbrow v. Pilbrow's Atmospheric R., etc., Propulsion Co., 5 C. B. 440, 5 D. & L. 551, 17 L. J. C. P. 166, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 89, 57 E. C. L. 440.

As to the powers of such commissioners and the conclusiveness of their acts see Napier v. Poe, 12 Ga. 170. And compare Mitchell v. Rome R. Co., 17 Ga. 574.

7. Tar River Nav. Co. v. Neal, 10 N. C. 520. See as apparently opposed to this Bill v. Fourth Great Western Turnpike Co., 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 416.

That the original articles are competent evidence although the statute prescribes the copy see Carolina Iron Co. v. Abernathy, 94 N. C. 545.

8. Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S. 673, 680, 24 L. ed. 168, 307 (comptroller of the currency with respect to national banks); Re Canada Cent. Bank, 25 Can. L. J. 238; Lake Superior Nav. Co. v. Morrison, 22 U. C. C. P. 217 (conclusive evidence of letters patent incorporating a company in Canada).

9. Bird's Case, 1 Sim. N. S. 47, 40 Eng. Ch. 47.

10. In re Barned's Banking Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 674, 36 L. J. Ch. 757, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 780, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1100; Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808.

11. Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119; Abbott v. Aspinwall, 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 202. See also Wood v. Coosa, etc., R. Co., 32 Ga. 273. Compare Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389.

12. Stockbridge v. West Stockbridge, 12 Mass. 399; Dillingham v. Snow, 5 Mass. 547.

13. See infra, I, M, 11.

14. See the reasoning of Shaw, C. J., in Narragansett Bank v. Atlantic Silk Co., 3 Metc. (Mass.) 282.

tion.[15] It is also said in an earlier case that individuals acting together for the benefit of a society are not to be considered as a corporation unless they expressly show their title to act as such.[16] But this was before the doctrine which upholds the acts of de facto corporations and declines to contest in a private proceeding the validity of the existence of a corporation which had become established. A doctrine now frequently admitted by American courts is that where a body of persons act as a corporation, and the legislature passes an act which distinctly recognizes their corporate character, they may be deemed to be rightfully a corporation in consequence of such legislative recognition. It has been frequently ruled that defects in the organization of corporations which have been organized under a general law may be cured by subsequent legislative recognition of the corporation.[17] The rule is that, although the organization of a corporation may be irregular in such a sense that it could be overthrown in a direct proceeding by the state, yet where its corporate existence has been recognized by the legislature this will make it a good corporation for the purposes of collateral proceedings.[18] Under the operation of this principle the defects in the organization of corporations have been deemed to be waived by subsequent legislative acts which have the effect of recognizing the existence of the corporation as a valid and properly constituted body.[19] Such an operation has been ascribed to a special act of the legislature changing the name of a corporation,[20] recognizing it by name and extending and continuing its corporate rights and privileges;[21] and in case of a municipal corporation authorizing its president and trustees to subscribe for shares in a railway company, and also in a plank-road company, and to issue the bonds of the corporation therefor.[22] As the state alone can question the rightfulness of the existence of a corporation irregularly organized, so it can heal the irregularity by a curative act of legislation. A special act of the legislature, passed within the purview of the constitution, recognizing a corporation as a valid existing one and authorizing it to exercise corporate rights, cures all charter defects in its original certificate of organization.[23]

11. Proof of Corporate Existence in Criminal Proceedings. In criminal prosecutions, when the question arises whether a company is incorporated, for instance, in the case of a prosecution for a larceny of the property of an alleged corporation or for a forgery of the bills of an alleged banking corporation, it is only necessary to show that the corporation exists de facto,[24] and this may be proved by general reputation;[25] in other words, by proving by oral testimony that it is a corporation de facto, doing business as such. In such a proceeding proof of the existence of the corporation may indeed be demanded,[26] but it seems that it is never necessary to produce the charter;[27] and in a criminal prosecution for a trespass upon the property of an alleged corporation it has been reasoned that it is enough that the body described as a corporation is in the possession of 15. Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Canal Com'rs, 21 Pa. St. 9.

16. Ernst v. Bartle, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 319.

17. People v. Ferrin, 56 Cal. 345; Basshor v. Dressel, 34 Md. 503; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. St. Louis, 66 Mo. 228.

18. Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. St. Louis, 66 Mo. 228; Black River, etc., R. Co. v. Barnard, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 258.

19. Central Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Alabama Gold L. Ins. Co., 70 Ala. 120; Black River, etc., R. Co. v. Barnard, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 258.

20. White v. Ross, 4 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 589.

21. Kanawha Coal Co. v. Kanawha, etc., Coal Co., 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,606, 7 Blatchf. 391.

22. Jameson v. People, 16 Ill. 257, 63 Am. Dec. 304.

23. Koch v. North Ave. R. Co., 75 Md. 222, 23 Atl. 463, 15 L. R. A. 377.

24. People v. Frank, 28 Cal. 507; Smith v. State, 28 Ind. 321; People v. Caryl, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 547.

25. State v. Thompson, 23 Kan. 338, 33 Am. Rep. 165; Reed v. State, 15 Ohio 217. See also People v. Barric, 49 Cal. 342; Johnson v. People, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 364; People v. Davis, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 309; People v. Chadwick, 2 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 163; Sasser v. State, 13 Ohio 453. And so by statute in Missouri.

26. U. S. v. Johns, 4 Dall. (U. S.) 412, 1 L. ed. 888.

27. Searsburgh Turnpike Co. v. Cutler, 6 Vt. 315, per Phelps, J.

the land described in the indictment, under its corporate name, and was so in possession long before the commission of the trespass.[28] Statutes exist, like that in Missouri, under which in a criminal proceeding the existence of a corporation may be proved by parol.[29] Some of the decisions go further and hold that where the validity of the existence of a corporation is drawn in question in a criminal case, it is enough that it exists as a corporation de facto, and that if the state permits it to exist and to exercise corporate functions, defendant in the criminal proceeding is estopped from questioning its existence.[30]

12. Proof of Existence of Foreign Corporation. Foreign corporations are not allowed to sue in domestic tribunals except upon allegation and proof of the fact that they are corporations, unless the defendant has, in some manner hereafter pointed out, estopped himself from denying the fact of their existence.[31] Courts do not take judicial notice of foreign laws, in which statement is included the laws of other states of the American Union; but it is necessary to prove them as facts.[32] In order to prove the existence of a foreign corporation, it is therefore necessary to do something more than to prove the papers and proceedings of incorporation, but it is also necessary to make proof of the statute authorizing the incorporation.[33] In the absence of a local statute providing for the manner of authenticating a copy of the certificate of incorporation of a corporation organized under the laws of another state, a certificate by the original custodian of the document in the state of its origin, under the laws thereof, under his seal of office, is a sufficient authentication. Therefore a certificate of incorporation under the laws of another state, duly acknowledged before a notary public, and authenticated by the certificate of the secretary of state and by a certificate of a commissioner of the state of the forum, was held a good authentication.[34] In the case of a corporation created in a foreign country, the introduction of an examined copy of its charter, as found in the office where such charters are usually kept in the foreign country, is, it seems, sufficient.[35] But a court which would require evidence of user under a charter in the case of domestic corporations will clearly require the same proof of foreign corporations.[36] Where a foreign corporation has entered the domestic state to do business there, and under the domestic statute has filed and caused to be recorded a certified copy of its

28. White v. State, 69 Ind. 273.

29. State v. Cheek, 63 Mo. 364.

30. State v. Fuller, 96 Mo. 165, 9 S. W. 583. Compare Fredericktown v. Fox, 84 Mo. 59; Catholic Church v. Tobbein, 82 Mo. 418.

Proof of a statute creating a corporation under a particular name, and of the subsequent public exercise of the privileges thereby granted, for many years, by an association under that name, satisfies the above principle and warrants a finding of the actual existence of the corporation and of the fact that it is in the management and ownership of the property which it employs in exercising its franchises, for the purposes of the criminal proceeding. Com. v. Bakeman, 105 Mass. 53.

There is a holding, seemingly untenable, to the effect that in a criminal prosecution for uttering a forged order of a certain corporation it is necessary to prove not only a charter but an organization under it. State v. Murphy, 17 R. I. 698, 24 Atl. 473, 16 L. R. A. 550.

31. Savage v. Russell, 84 Ala. 103, 4 So. 235; Michigan Bank v. Williams, 5 Wend. (N. Y.) 478.

32. 1 Thompson Tr. § 1054.

33. Savage v. Russell, 84 Ala. 103, 4 So. 325.

34. Hammer v. Garfield Min., etc., Co., 130 U. S. 291, 9 S. Ct. 548, 32 L. ed. 964.

35. Thus in a suit by a foreign banking corporation in England, plaintiff claimed to have been incorporated by the king of Spain. The proof was as follows: A witness produced a copy of a charter of the king of Spain incorporating this bank. The witness stated that he had procured this copy from the office of the Council of Castile, which was the proper place for charters of this kind to be kept, and that he had examined this copy with the original charter. A translation of the charter was proved and put in evidence. St. Charles Nat. Bank v. De Bernales, 1 C. & P. 569, 12 E. C. L. 325. See also Society for Propagating Gospel v. Young, 2 N. H. 310. In an early Maryland case, a bank charter granted by the governor of a sister state, reciting his authority, under the laws of that state, to make such grants, and authenticated by the seal of the state, was held to be prima facie evidence of the legal existence of the bank. Agnew v. Gettysburg Bank, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 478.

36. Gaines v. Mississippi Bank, 12 Ark. 769.

charter, articles of association, or other constating instrument, in the office of the secretary of state, in pursuance of the domestic statute, a copy of such instrument and of the instrument appointing its local agent, certified by the secretary of the domestic state as being of record in his office, is prima facie evidence of the existence of such corporation, and of its right to transact business in the state.[37] If the statute of incorporation is a special law of a foreign state, the mode of proving it will usually be by an exemplified copy, certified by the secretary of state, or otherwise authenticated as provided by the act of congress. If the corporation is organized under a general law of another state of the Union, it will usually be sufficient, under the rules of evidence in most states — statutory or resting in adjudged cases — to prove it by the production of a book of the statutes of such other state, which purports on its face to be published by the authority of such state.[38] If the charter is the act of the legislature of another state of the Union, then the act of congress of May 26, 1790, which provides for the manner in which the official acts of one state shall be authenticated in order to have full faith and credit in another state, governs; and this statute provides that "the acts of the legislatures of the several states shall be authenticated by having the seals of their respective states affixed thereto."[39] Under such circumstances it is therefore not necessary that there should be the certificate of a secretary of state, or other official authentication; but the seal of the state affixed thereto is a sufficient authentication.[40]

13. Proof of Incorporation by Acts or Admissions of Party Challenging Fact. A familiar mode of proving the existence of a corporation (or possibly of dispensing with such proof) is to show acts or admissions of the party challenging its rightful existence, such as necessarily admit the fact of its incorporation; as for example by proving that such party has executed to the body which assumes to act as a corporation the instrument sued on, in its corporate name, has taken an instrument from it executed in its corporate name,[41] or has acted with respect to it in such a manner as necessarily admits the rightfulness of its existence as a corporation,[42] as by suffering himself to be elected and to act as its president, and to sign the note which is the subject of the action as such president.[43] It may be added that neither a corporation nor the persons claiming under it can object that a copy of the certificate filed by its incorporators, pursuant to the governing statute, to procure their incorporation, is not sufficient in form and contents,[44] on the principle that those who assert the powers of a corporation will not be heard to deny that they are such.[45] This brings us to another important subdivision of this subject.

N. Corporations by Estoppel — 1. When Private Persons Estopped to Deny Corporate Existence — a. General Statement of Doctrine. Although, as against the state, a corporation cannot be created by the mere agreement, admission, assent, or other act or omission of private persons, yet, as between themselves and for the purposes of their own private litigations and contestations, they may, by their agreements, their admissions, or their conduct, estop themselves from denying the fact of the existence of the corporation; so that for the purpose of such private litigations the body claiming to be a corporation and having a colorable 37. Knapp v. Strand, 4 Wash. 686, 30 Pac. 1063.

38. Harryman v. Roberts, 52 Md. 64; Pacific Pneumatic Gas Co. v. Wheelock, 80 N. Y. 278; Union Cent. L. Ins. Co. v. Pollard, 94 Va. 146, 26 S. E. 421, 64 Am. St. Rep. 715, 36 L. R. A. 271; U. S. v. Noelke, 1 Fed. 426, 17 Blatchf. 554.

39. U. S. Rev. Stat. (1872), § 905.

40. State v. Carr, 5 N. H. 367. To same effect see U. S. v. Johns, 4 Dall. (U. S.) 412, 1 L. ed. 888, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,481, 1 Wash. 363.

41. Bon Aqua Imp. Co. v. Standard F. Ins. Co., 34 W. Va. 764, 12 S. E. 771. See also infra, I, N, 1.

42. Williams v. Michigan Bank, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 539.

43. Haynes v. Brown, 36 N. H. 545.

44. Evans v. Lee, 11 Nev. 194.

45. Narragansett Bank v. Atlantic Silk Co., 3 Metc. (Mass.) 282.

existence as such becomes such to all intents and purposes as much as though it were a corporation de jure.[46]

b. Persons Contracting or Dealing With Corporation as Such Estopped to Deny Its Corporate Existence. A leading branch of the doctrine is that whenever a private person enters into a contract with a body purporting to be a corporation, in which contract the body is described by the corporate name which it has assumed, such private person solemnly admits the existence of the corporation for the purposes of the suit brought to enforce the obligation, and in such an action will not be permitted to plead nul tiel corporation or otherwise to deny the corporate existence of plaintiff.[47]

46. See infra, I, N, 1, b et seq.

47. Alabama.— Greenville v. Greenville Water Works Co., 125 Ala. 625, 27 So. 764 (city contracting by ordinance with water company to pay rent for certain hydrants); Snider v. Troy, 91 Ala. 224, 8 So. 658, 24 Am. St. Rep. 887, 11 L. R. A. 515; Montgomery R. Co. v. Hurst, 9 Ala. 513.

Arkansas.— Searcy v. Yarnell, 47 Ark. 269, 1 S. W. 319; Gaines v. Mississippi Bank, 12 Ark. 769.

California.—Fresno Canal, etc., Co. v. Warner, 72 Cal. 379, 14 Pac. 37; Pacific Bank v. De Ro, 37 Cal. 538.

Colorado.—Cripple Creek First Cong. Church v. Grand Rapids School-Furniture Co., 15 Colo. App. 46, 60 Pac. 948, executing note to corporation.

Connecticut.— West Winsted Sav. Bank, etc., Assoc. v. Ford, 27 Conn. 282, 71 Am. Dec. 66; Danbury, etc., R. Co. v. Wilson, 22 Conn. 435.

Dakota.— School Dist. No. 61 v. Alderson, 6 Dak. 145, 41 N. W. 466.

Georgia.— Torras v. Raeburn, 108 Ga. 345, 33 S. E. 989; Wood v. Coosa, etc., R. Co., 32 Ga. 273; Mitchell v. Rome R. Co., 17 Ga. 574.

Illinois.— Ramsey v. Peoria Mar., etc., Ins. Co., 55 Ill. 311; Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240; Tarbell v. Page, 24 Ill. 46; Hamilton v. Carthage, 24 Ill. 22; Rice v. Rock Island, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 93; Mendota v. Thompson, 20 Ill. 197; Hargrave v. State Bank, 1 Ill. 122; Forest Glen Brick, etc., Co. v. Gade, 55 Ill. App. 181.

Indiana.— Bradford v. Frankfort, etc., R. Co., 142 Ind. 383, 40 N. E. 741, 41 N. E. 819; Brickley v. Edwards, 131 Ind. 3, 30 N. E. 708; Cravens v. Eagle Cotton Mills Co., 120 Ind. 6, 21 N. E. 981, 16 Am. St. Rep. 298; Smelser v. Wayne, etc., Turnpike Co., 82 Ind. 417; Jones v. Kokomo Bldg. Assoc., 77 Ind. 340; Baker v. Neff, 73 Ind. 68; Mullen v. Beech Grove Driving Park, 64 Ind. 202; Ransom v. Priam Lodge, 51 Ind. 60; McBroom v. Lebanon, 31 Ind. 268; Williams v. Franklin Tp. Academical Assoc., 26 Ind. 310; Bartholomew County v. Bright, 18 Ind. 93; Brownlee v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 68; Meikel v. German Sav. Fund Soc., 16 Ind. 181; Hubbard v. Chappel, 14 Ind. 601; Blake v. Holley, 14 Ind. 383; Jones v. Cincinnati Type Foundry Co., 14 Ind. 89; Ft. Wayne, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Deam, 10 Ind. 563; Ensey v. Cleveland, etc., R. Co., 10 Ind. 178; Brookville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. McCarty, 8 Ind. 392, 65 Am. Dec. 768; Ryan v. Vanlandingham, 7 Ind. 416; Judah v. American Live Stock Ins. Co., 4 Ind. 333; John v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 2 Blackf. 367, 20 Am. Dec. 119.

Iowa.— Franklin v. Twogood, 18 Iowa 515.

Kentucky.— Henderson, etc., R. Co. v. Leavell, 16 B. Mon. 358; Jones v. Tennessee Bank, 8 B. Mon. 122, 46 Am. Dec. 540; Gallipolis Bank v. Trimble, 6 B. Mon. 599; Woodson v. Gallipolis Bank, 4 B. Mon. 203; Hughes v. Somerset Bank, 5 Litt. 45.

Maryland.— Boyce v. Methodist Episcopal Church, 46 Md. 359.

Massachusetts.— Butchers', etc., Bank v. McDonald, 130 Mass. 264; Topping v. Bickford, 4 Allen 120; Worcester Medical Inst. v. Harding, 11 Cush. 285; Case v. Benedict, 9 Cush. 540; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128.

Michigan.— Kalamazoo v. Kalamazoo Heat, etc., Co., 124 Mich. 74, 82 N. W. 811; Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389; Owen v. Farmers' Bank, 2 Dougl. 134 note; Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457.

Minnesota.— Perine v. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W., 48 Minn. 82, 50 N. W. 1022.

Missouri.— Ragan v. McElroy, 98 Mo. 349, 7 S. W. 735; Studebaker Bros. Mfg. Co. v. Montgomery, 74 Mo. 101; Board of Com'rs, etc. v. Shields, 62 Mo. 247; National Ins. Co. v. Bowman, 60 Mo. 252; Farmers', etc., Ins. Co. v. Needles, 52 Mo. 17; Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. McPherson, 35 Mo. 13, 26, 86 Am. Dec. 128; Kayser v. Bremer, 16 Mo. 88; Hamtramck v. Edwardsville Bank, 2 Mo. 169; St. Louis Gas Light Co. v. St. Louis, 11 Mo. App. 55; Real Estate Sav. Inst. v. Fisher, 9 Mo. App. 593; German Bank v. Stumpf, 6 Mo. App. 17; Owens, etc., Mach. Co. v. Pierce, 5 Mo. App. 576.

Nebraska.— Platte Valley Bank v. Harding, 1 Nebr. 461.

New Hampshire.— Low v. Connecticut, etc., R. Co., 45 N. H. 370, 378; Troy Cong. Soc. v. Perry, 6 N. H. 164, 25 Am. Dec. 455; State v. Carr, 5 N. H. 367.

New Jersey.— Vanneman v. Young, 52 N. J. L. 403, 20 Atl. 53; Stout v. Zulick, 48 N. J. L. 599, 7 Atl. 362; Den v. Van Houten, 10 N. J. L. 270.

New York.— Commercial Bank v. Pfeiffer, 108 N. Y. 242, 15 N. E. 311; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; Toledo Bank v.

c. Theory and Scope of Rule. One theory of the rule is that by entering into a contract with the assumed corporation as such the contracting party admits its existence and will not thereafter be permitted to change front and deny it.[48] Another theory is that the contract with the corporation into which the litigant has entered is prima facie evidence of the valid existence of the corporation so far as he is concerned,[49] or of the existence of a charter and user thereunder.[50] Therefore in a private litigation with an assumed corporation its legal existence may be proved for the purpose of the litigation by showing that the objecting party has dealt with it generally as a corporation.[51] Nor will a person so dealing with a corporation be afterward heard to assert that by reason of some irregularity in its organization it is a mere nnincorporated voluntary association.[52] One statement of the rule is that the person contracting with an association assuming to be, and believed by the person to be, incorporated, and acting in a corporate capacity, cannot, after having received the benefit of the contract, set up as a defense to an action brought by the company or its assignee that the company was not legally incorporated.[53] Similarly it has been held that a person who has

International Bank, 21 N. Y. 542; Rockland, etc., F. Ins. Co. v. Bussey, 48 N. Y. App. Div. 359, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 86 (policyholder in insurance company sued for an assessment, estopped to question regularity of organization of company); Eagle Sav., etc., Co. v. Samuels, 43 N. Y. App. Div. 386, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 91 (mortgagor estopped in foreclosure proceedings from setting up that the plaintiff was not a corporation at the time when he gave the mortgage); Loaners' Bank v. Jacoby, 10 Hun 143; Kennedy v. Cotton, 28 Barb. 59; East River Bank v. Rogers, 7 Bosw. 493; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 6 Duer 176 [affirmed in 19 N. Y. 119]; All Saints Church v. Lovett, 1 Hall 191; Connecticut Bank v. Smith, 17 How. Pr. 487; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459. The doctrine was denied in a forcible opinion by Nelson, J., of the supreme court of New York, in Welland Canal Co. v. Hathaway, 8 Wend. 480, 24 Am. Dec. 51. The case was that of a Canadian corporation, and there are indications here and there in the opinion of that celebrated jurist that he did not take kindly to the assertion of rights or privileges in the courts of this country on behalf of British corporations or British subjects. Although his opinion is still regarded as authority on the general law of estoppel, it has been generally overruled in respect to this particular question. See also U. S. Bank v. Stearns, 15 Wend. 314; Williams v. Michigan Bank, 7 Wend. 539 [affirming 5 Wend. 478]. Nevertheless this doctrine has been followed to some extent in subsequent cases in the same state and elsewhere. Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; Loaners' Bank v. Jacoby, 10 Hun 143; De Witt v. Hastings, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 463; Caryl v. McElrath, 3 Sandf. 176; First Baptist Soc. v. Rapalee, 16 Wend. 605.

North Carolina.— Tar River Nav. Co. v. Neal, 10 N. C. 520.

Pennsylvania.— Hooven Mercantile Co. v. Evans Min. Co., 193 Pa. St. 28, 44 Atl. 277 (creditor in winding-up proceeding cannot impeach title to corporation for irregularities in organization); Cochran v. Arnold, 58 Pa. St. 399.

Tennessee.— Tennessee Automatic Lighting Co. v. Massey, (Ch. App. 1899) 56 S. W. 35.

Texas.— Holloway v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 23 Tex. 465, 76 Am. Dec. 68; Alabama State Bank v. Simonton, 2 Tex. 531.

Utah.— Jackson v. Crown Point Min. Co., 21 Utah 1, 59 Pac. 238, 81 Am. St. Rep. 651; McCord, etc., Mercantile Co. v. Glen, 6 Utah 139, 21 Pac. 500.

West Virginia.— Bon Aqua Imp. Co. v. Standard F. Ins. Co., 34 W. Va. 764, 12 S. E. 771; Singer Mfg. Co. v. Bennett, 28 W. Va. 16.

Wisconsin.— Farmers', etc., Bank v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 17 Wis. 372.

United States.— Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523; Douglas County v. Bolles, 94 U. S. 104, 24 L. ed. 46; Sanger v. Upton, 91 U. S. 56, 23 L. ed. 220; Venner v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 90 Fed. 348, 33 C. C. A. 95; Automatic Phonograph Exhibition Co. v. North American Phonograph Co., 45 Fed. 1.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 84.

48. Southern Bank v. Williams, 25 Ga. 534; Franz v. Teutonia Bldg. Assoc. No. 2, 24 Md. 259.

49. Brown v. Scottish American Mortg. Co., 110 Ill. 235.

50. Montgomery R. Co. v. Hurst, 9 Ala. 513.

51. Circleville Bank v. Renick, 15 Ohio 322; Spahr v. Farmers' Bank, 94 Pa. St. 429. Compare Freeland v. Pennsylvania Cent. Ins. Co., 94 Pa. St. 504.

52. Lehman v. Warner, 61 Ala. 455 [restated in Sherwood v. Alvis, 83 Ala. 115, 3 So. 307, 3 Am. St. Rep. 695]; Tarbell v. Page, 24 Ill. 46.

One court has reduced the doctrine to the statement that a third person dealing with an assumed corporation is estopped by that fact to deny its corporate existence, except where there are no facts which make it legally unjust to forbid such denial. Estey Mfg. Co. v. Runnels, 55 Mich. 130, 20 N. W. 823.

53. Booske v. Gulf Ice Co., 24 Fla. 550, 5 So. 247.

made a promissory note to a body claiming or purporting to be a corporation cannot, in an action thereon, avoid the estoppel resulting from such admission of the existence of the corporation at the time, by an answer alleging that when he made the note he believed the payee was a corporation, but afterward discovered that it was not.[54]

d. Necessity of Colorable Organization. It must be constantly kept in mind that corporations cannot be created by mere private admissions and estoppels, but there must be at least a colorable organization.[55] Some of the cases merely state the fact, as shown by the evidence, of the de facto existence of the corporation under a colorable organization, to strengthen the rule which raises the estoppel,[56] without implying that even a de facto organization is necessary to the rule. Others distinctly imply that proof of a de facto organization is also necessary, such as evidence of the proceedings in professed compliance with a law authorizing the organization of the corporation and slight evidence of subsequent user.[57] "The distinction," says one court, "is between an entire absence of authority in the organic law itself, and a failure to comply with some prerequisite which the law has made a condition precedent to the exercise of corporate functions. In the one case, there is a want of power to act; in the other, only an abuse of power conferred."[58] The rule has been said to be that one who contracts with a corporation which has a de facto existence, that is to say, the reputation of being a legal corporation, and which actually exercises, in the face of the state, the franchises attributable to such corporations, is estopped from denying its existence as such when sued upon the contract.[59]

e. Necessity of Law Under Which Corporation Might Exist. On a principle already explained, this estoppel cannot operate to create a corporation, even for the purpose of a private litigation, where there is no law under which such a corporation could have been organized or, what is the same thing, where the law under which it has been organized is unconstitutional and void — in other words no law at all.[60]

f. Whether Fact That It Is a Corporation Should Be Stated in Contract. Some courts have taken the view that in order to raise this estoppel by contracting with the assumed corporation, the fact of its incorporation must be stated in the contract.[61] But the contrary and more general statement of the rule is that

54. Ransom v. Priam Lodge, 51 Ind. 60.

55. Winget v. Quincy Bldg., etc., Assoc., 128 Ill. 67, 21 N. E. 12; Butchers', etc., Bank v. McDonald, 130 Mass. 264; White v. Ross, 4 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 589.

56. Providence F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Murphy, 8 R. I. 131; National Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Yeomans, 8 R. I. 25, 86 Am. Dec. 610; Douglas County v. Bolles, 94 U. S. 104, 24 L. ed. 46.

57. Merriman v. Magiveny, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 494.

58. Sherwood v. Alvis, 83 Ala. 115, 118, 3 So. 307, 3 Am. St. Rep. 695, opinion by Stone, C. J.

59. Central Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Alabama Gold L. Ins. Co., 70 Ala. 120.

60. Snyder v. Studebaker, 19 Ind. 462, 81 Am. Dec. 415 [overruling upon this point Harriman v. Southam, 16 Ind. 190]; Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430; Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Evansville, 15 Ind. 395; Brown v. Killian, 11 Ind. 449; Eaton v. Walker, 76 Mich. 579, 43 N. W. 638, 6 L. R. A. 102 (holding that even a de facto corporation cannot be created by estoppel where there is no law under which a corporation with the powers which it has assumed might lawfully be created); Merchants', etc., Bank v. Stone, 38 Mich. 779 (dissenting opinion of Marston, J.).

In Texas, after the statute permitting the organization of mercantile corporations had been repealed, it was held that no rule of comity required the state to permit foreign corporations of that character to do business therein, and consequently that a domestic creditor who dealt with such a body as a corporation did not thereby become estopped from denying its corporate capacity, but might hold its members liable as partners. Empire Mills v. Alston Grocery Co., (Tex. App. 1891) 15 S. W. 505, 12 L. R. A. 366 [affirming 15 S. W. 200].

61. Welland Canal Co. v. Hathaway, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 480, 24 Am. Dec. 51; Williams v. Michigan Bank, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 539; Holloway v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 23 Tex. 465, 76 Am. Dec. 68.

Thus the mere fact of indorsing a bill of exchange does not, it has been held, admit that the bank which has drawn it is a corporation. Hargrave v. State Bank, 1 Ill. 122.

So the mere fact of mentioning a particular bank as the place of payment of a note one who executes a written obligation to an obligee, by a name which imports that it is a corporation, is by that fact estopped in an action thereon to deny the corporate existence of the payee.[62]

g. Estoppel to Set up Fraudulent Organization. Creditors of a corporation who have dealt with it knowing that it was fraudulently constituted, and shareholders who have accepted the charter and assisted in putting it in operation, cannot show in a suit by or against a corporation that the charter was obtained by fraud.[63] And generally one who has entered into a contract with a corporation is estopped by his contract from setting up the fraudulent organization of the corporation in defense to a suit brought by it against him.[64]

h. Estoppel to Set up Organization For Illegal Purpose. The rule of estoppel under consideration extends so far as to prevent a party when sued by an assumed corporation from setting up the evidence that plaintiff was illegally organized and for an illegal purpose.[65]

i. Estoppel to Set up That Contract Sued on Was Ultra Vires. A person contracting with an ostensible corporation to do an act which is not prohibited by law becomes estopped in an action by the corporation to enforce the contract, either to deny the existence of the corporation, or its power to enter into such a contract.[66]

j. Cases to Which Rule of Estoppel Does Not Apply. This principle of estoppel does not cut off the right of a creditor, where those who have professedly organized a corporation have not filled up the joint stock or fund on the basis of which the law authorizes them to commence business; but where an innocent person extends credit to them on the faith of their having complied with the law and in ignorance of the fact that they have not, there is no sound principle that will estop him from proceeding against the members of the pretended corporation as joint undertakers or partners.[67] Nor does such an estoppel arise where the recognition of the existence of the corporation is fraudulently procured for the purpose of entrapping the party into an action upon which the recognition is based.[68] Estoppels in pais can only take place upon knowledge and a full under-does not preclude the maker of the note from disputing the corporate existence of the bank. Hungerford Nat. Bank v. Van Nostrand, 106 Mass. 559.

That a traffic agreement between two street railway companies by which one is restrained from competing with the other does not estop the latter to question the corporate existence of the former — such question not arising out of the contract — see Wilmington City R. Co. v. Wilmington, etc., St. R. Co. (Del. 1900) 46 Atl. 12.

62. U. S. Express Co. v. Bedbury, 34 Ill. 459; Studebaker Bros. Mfg. Co. v. Montgomery, 74 Mo. 101; Barbaro v. Occidental Grove No. 16, 4 Mo. App. 429. So held where a note was made payable to the order of "the Missouri City Savings Bank." Much less can it be reasoned that where the payee does, by the name by which it is described in the note, bring a suit thereon and recover a judgment, the judgment is void and not a lien upon real estate. Stoutimore v. Clark, 70 Mo. 471.

63. Bear-Camp-River-Co. v. Woodman, 2 Me. 404; Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 344; Smith v. Heidecker, 39 Mo. 157; Cochran v. Arnold, 58 Pa. St. 399.

64. Indiana.— Bartholomew County v. Bright, 18 Ind. 93; Brownlee v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 68; Meikel v. German Sav. Fund Soc., 16 Ind. 181; Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Evansville, 15 Ind. 395; Hubbard v. Chappel, 14 Ind. 601; Jones v. Cincinnati Type Foundry Co., 14 Ind. 89; John v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 2 Blackf. 367, 20 Am. Dec. 119.

Iowa.— Washington College v. Duke, 14 Iowa 14.

Missouri.— Camp v. Byrne, 41 Mo. 525; Hamtramck v. Edwardsville Bank, 2 Mo. 169.

New Hampshire.—Troy Cong. Soc. v. Perry, 6 N. H. 164, 25 Am. Dec. 455.

New York.—All Saints Church v. Lovett, 1 Hall 191.

Pennsylvania.— Cochran v. Arnold, 58 Pa. St. 399.

65. Lincoln Bldg. Assoc. v. Graham, 7 Nebr. 173.

66. Searcy v. Yarnell, 47 Ark. 269, 1 S. W. 319; Oregonian R. Co. v. Oregon R., etc., Co., 23 Fed. 232, 10 Sawy. 464.

67. Guckert v. Hacke, 159 Pa. St. 303, 28 Atl. 249, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 41, holding that this is especially so where the name which they have assumed does not necessarily import that they are a corporation, such as the name Hughes & Gawthorp Co., and that the acceptance of a note from such a concern does not create an estoppel against a creditor from showing that it is not a corporation.

68. Doyle v. Mizner, 40 Mich. 160, 42 Mich. 332, 3 N. W. 968.

standing of the facts. Silence without knowledge will not work an estoppel, except where the circumstances are such that negligent ignorance is in law tantamount to actual knowledge.[69]

k. Operation of Rule as Against Shareholders and Members. Within the operation of this principle, one who has subscribed for shares in a corporation by its corporate name, is, when sued to enforce his subscription, estopped from setting up as a defense that plaintiff has no corporate existence.[70] As we shall see, estoppel also operates to prevent one who has participated in the organization of a corporation from denying the validity of its corporate existence, or his relation to it as a member or shareholder,[71] and this estoppel extends equally to its members in any proceeding instituted to charge them with liability in respect of their membership.[72] If beyond this it appears that the subscriber to the stock participated in the organization of the corporation, as by attending and voting at an election of directors,[73] by serving as a trustee himself, or otherwise repeatedly recognizing it as a corporation de facto,[74] he will be estopped from disputing the validity of its organization on grounds which we shall not turn aside to discuss now, but which will be more fully considered hereafter.[75]

2. When Corporation Estopped to Deny Its Own Existence. The rule of estoppel works both ways. A body which has held itself out as a corporation and which has incurred obligations in a corporate name and character is, when proceeded against by the obligee, estopped to deny the regularity of its organization[76] or otherwise to deny the validity of its corporate existence,[77] or to set up against

69. Frederick v. Missouri River, etc., R. Co., 82 Mo. 402; Spurlock v. Sproule, 72 Mo. 503; Evans v. Snyder, 64 Mo. 516. See for an illustration of this Eaton v. Walker, 76 Mich. 579, 43 N. W. 638, 6 L. R. A. 102.

Total denial of principle.— The principle that a party can be estopped by his conduct from showing that a pretended corporation is not such de jure was denied in toto in Boyce v. Methodist Episcopal Church, 46 Md. 359.

70. Illinois.— The Joliet v. Frances, 85 Ill. App. 243.

Indiana.— Ft. Wayne, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Deam, 10 Ind. 563; Ensey v. Cleveland, etc., R. Co., 10 Ind. 178; Stoops v. Greensburgh, etc., Plank Road Co., 10 Ind. 47.

Massachusetts.— Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128.

Missouri.— Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. McPherson, 35 Mo. 13, 86 Am. Dec. 128.

New York.— Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459.

71. Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389; Ossipee Hosiery, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Canney, 54 N. H. 295.

72. Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389; Ossipee Hosiery, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Canney, 54 N. H. 295. See also infra, VI, P, 6, a, (I), (D).

73. Henderson, etc., R. Co. v. Leavell, 16 B. Mon. (Ky.) 358.

74. Hunt v. Kansas, etc., Bridge Co., 11 Kan. 412; Phœnix Warehousing Co. v. Badger, 67 N. Y. 294.

75. See infra, VI, P, 6, e.

76. Southern Bank v. Williams, 25 Ga. 534; Dooley v. Cheshire Glass Co., 15 Gray (Mass.) 494.

77. Alabama.— McCullough v. Talladega Ins. Co., 46 Ala. 376.

Delaware.— Brady v. Delaware Mut. L. Ins. Co., 2 Pennew. 237, 45 Atl. 345.

Illinois.— U. S. Express Co. v. Bedhury, 34 Ill. 459.

Indiana.— Adams Express Co. v. Hill, 43 Ind. 157; Ewing v. Robeson, 15 Ind. 26.

Michigan.— Ten Eyck v. Pontiac, etc., R. Co., 74 Mich. 226, 41 N. W. 905, 16 Am. St. Rep. 633, 3 L. R. A. 378.

Minnesota.—Scheufler v. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W., 45 Minn. 256, 47 N. W. 799; Jewell v. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W., 41 Minn. 405, 43 N. W. 88.

Missouri.— Knapp, etc., Co. v. Joy, 9 Mo. App. 575.

New York.— Abbott v. Aspinwall, 26 Barb. 202; De Witt v. Hastings, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 463.

North Carolina.— Rush v. Halcyon Steamboat Co., 84 N. C. 702.

Ohio.— Callender v. Painesville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ohio St. 516.

Utah.— Liter v. Ozokerite Min. Co., 7 Utah 487, 27 Pac. 690.

Vermont.— Stone v. East Berkshire Cong. Soc., 14 Vt. 86.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 94.

That the execution of an obligation in a corporate name is such an admission of incorporation as dispenses with the necessity of proving the fact on the part of the obligee see Real Estate Sav. Inst. v. Fisher, 9 Mo. App. 593.

Untenable view that the fact that a body has held itself out as a corporation and treated with plaintiff as such does not estop it, as against him, from denying its liability as a corporation, where there is a statute which expressly prescribes certain acts to be done in order to constitute a corporation, and those acts had not been done see Boyce v. Methodist Episcopal Church, 46 Md. 359.

itself some fact which might warrant a judicial decree forfeiting its charter.[78] So a corporation may be, for the purposes of a particular action in which it is impleaded, estopped from denying the corporate name and character in which it is sued, by appearing and pleading to the merits in any form [79] or by executing in that name an appeal-bond.[80]

3. EXCEPTION WHERE CORPORATION HAS EXPIRED BY LAPSE OF TIME. There is much judicial authority for the proposition that where a corporation is brought to an end by lapse of time, that is, by the expiration of the distinct limitation of its life in its charter, any further exercise of its corporate powers may be questioned collaterally.[81] The governing principle here is that upon the expiration of the term limited by the charter for the existence of the corporation its dissolution is complete. "The dissolution in such a case," it has been said, "is declared by the act of the Legislature itself. The limited time of existence has expired and no judicial determination of that fact is requisite. The corporation is de facto dead." [82] In line with this view it is held that the estoppel already spoken of does not extend so far as to preclude a party from showing that since the contract with the corporation was entered into it has ceased to exist.[83] As hereafter more fully shown,[84] when a corporation expires by limitation of time or is judicially dissolved it can no longer prosecute or defend an action, in the absence of some saving provision in its governing statute. An action can no more be prosecuted against a dead corporation than against a dead man.[85] In such a case the opposing party suggests the death of the corporation, and upon the fact being admitted or proved the suit abates,[86] just as an action for an injury to the person abates on suggestion of the death of defendant, unless there is a saving statute allowing it to be revived against his legal representative.[87] The estoppel already spoken of relates therefore only to the time of entering into the contract with the corporation, and does not involve an admission at the date of the action that there cannot be or has not been a dissolution of it.[88] Carrying this view still further, it has been held that if the corporate existence has been terminated by an act of forfeiture or otherwise before the commencement of the suit, the facts producing this result may be specially set forth by plea,[89] in order that the court may judge whether

78. Hughes v. Somerset Bank, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 45. See also Searsburgh Turnpike Co. v. Cutler, 6 Vt. 315.

79. See infra, XXII, D, 2, e.

80. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co. v. Evans, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 607.

81. Wilson v. Tesson, 12 Ind. 285 (per Perkins, J.); Morgan v. Lawrenceburg Ins. Co., 3 Ind. 285 (per Blackford, J.); Grand Rapids Bridge Co. v. Prange, 35 Mich. 400, 24 Am. Rep. 585; People v. Manhattan Co., 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 351 (per Southerland, J.); Dobson v. Simonton, 86 N. C. 492.

82. Sturges v. Vanderbilt, 73 N. Y. 384, 390, per Rapallo, J. See also U. S. Bank v. McLaughlin, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 928, 2 Cranch C. C. 20.

83. Ft. Wayne, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Deam, 10 Ind. 563; Ensey v. Cleveland, etc., R. Co., 10 Ind. 178.

84. See infra, VIII, P, 3, a et seq.

85. Pomeroy v. Indiana Bank, 1 Wall. (U. S.) 23, 17 L. ed. 500; Mumma v. Potomac Co., 8 Pet. (U. S.) 281, 8 L. ed. 945 (opinion by Story, J.).

86. Terry v. Bank of Americus, 77 Ga. 528, 7 S. E. 154.

87. See Galliopolis Bank v. Trimble, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 599. See also ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL, 1 Cyc. 47.

88. Vernon Soc. v. Hills, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 23, 16 Am. Dec. 429.

89. Jones v. Tennessee Bank, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 122, 46 Am. Dec. 540.

Applying this doctrine, we find a ruling to the effect that a shareholder who, after the expiration of the charter of a corporation, has sold land belonging to it, as if recognizing its continued existence, is not thereby estopped to set up such expiration in defense of an action for the proceeds, brought in the name of the corporation. Krutz v. Paola Town Co., 20 Kan. 397.

On the other hand it has been ruled in Missouri that the question whether the charter of a corporation has expired by limitation of time can be adjudicated only in a direct proceeding by the state, that such a defense cannot be set up collaterally in an action by the corporation. St. Louis Gas Light Co. v. St. Louis, 84 Mo. 202 [affirming 11 Mo. App. 55]. And in West Virginia a private business corporation, duly organized under the laws of that state, which failed to wind up its business when its charter expired, but continued in its charter name to carry on its corporate business, might be sued in its corporate name for a tort committed by it after its charter had expired. Miller v. Newburg Orrel Coal Co., 31 W. Va.

they have this effect. But this question of pleading is reserved for future consideration.[90]

O. Irregular and De Facto Corporations — 1. Presumption of Rightfulness of Corporate Existence From Fact of Exercising Corporate Powers — a. Statement of Doctrine. Where the question arises merely between the body which assumes to be and to act as a corporation and a third person; in other words, when it arises collaterally, and not when it arises between the state and the assumed corporation or the persons composing it, the rightfulness of the existence of the corporation is supported by the general presumption of right-acting, under the operation of which, where persons come publicly as officers of a corporation possessing given powers, they are presumed to be rightfully in office, and it is assumed that all steps necessary to enable the corporation to act as an artificial body and to exercise such powers have been taken.[91] The sovereign alone has the right to complain; for, if it is an usurpation it is upon his rights alone, and not upon the rights of particular individuals; and his acquiescence is consequently evidence that all necessary conditions precedent to the lawful exercise of those rights have been performed.[92] Under this rule, as has been seen,[93] the existence of a charter will be presumed from the long existence of the body acting in the character of a corporation, and from the long continued user of privileges which apply exclusively to corporations, acquiesced in by the state.[94] Even the state may be precluded by lapse of time from questioning the validity of the organization of a corporation.[95] The rule acquires greater force where private rights have been acquired on the good faith of the body being rightfully a corporation, which rights would be disturbed by declaring it to be otherwise.[96] It is in conformity with, and for the purpose of satisfying, the principle that a corporation may exist by prescription, although those in the exercise of the corporate powers cannot produce a charter, but, assuming that they have been long in the exclusive, continued, and unchanged possession of those powers, the rightfulness of their exercise of them is supported by the presumption of a grant.[97] In such a case the law presumes that all merely formal requisites to the due creation of the body as a corporation have been complied with.[98]

836, 8 S. E. 600, 13 Am. St. Rep. 903. If the fact that the expiration of the charter is not suggested by the opposing party, the suggestion may be made by the attorney who has represented the corporation in the litigation. Foster v. Essex Bank, 16 Mass. 245, 8 Am. Dec. 135; Greeley v. Smith, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,748, 3 Story 657. There is authority to the effect that the fact that the corporation has ceased to exist prior to the commencement of the suit may be pleaded in abatement, although not in bar. Meikel v. German Sav. Fund Soc., 16 Ind. 181; Dental Vulcanite Co. v. Wetherbee, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,810, 2 Cliff. 555, 3 Fish. Pat. Cas. 87.

90. See infra, XXII, D, 2, e.

91. Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344.

92. Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Johnston, 70 N. C. 348; Wilmington, etc., R. Co. v. Saunders, 48 N. C. 126; Elizabeth City Academy v. Lindsey, 28 N. C. 476, 45 Am. Dec. 500; Tar River Nav. Co. v. Neal, 10 N. C. 520.

93. See supra, I, M, 4.

94. Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344; Greene v. Dennis, 6 Conn. 293, 16 Am. Dec. 58.

95. State v. Bailey, 19 Ind. 452 (judgment of ouster refused against a railroad company on account of defective organization after a lapse of eight or nine years); West Manayunk Gas Light Co. v. New Gas Light Co., 21 Pa. Co. Ct. 369 (charter not declared void in a collateral proceeding after a lapse of twenty years because of defects and irregularities in the application for the charter, to which no objection was made at the time).

The rule was applied where the trustees of a church corporation had acted in their assumed corporate name and character for nearly twenty-five years. White v. State, 69 Ind. 273.

96. Hager's-Town Turnpike Co. v. Creeger, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 122, 9 Am. Dec. 495. Compare Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344; Greene v. Dennis, 6 Conn. 293, 16 Am. Dec. 58.

97. Blackston v. Martin, Latch. 112.

98. All Saints Church v. Lovett, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 191.

Manner of pleading the prescriptive right to be a corporation at common law see Rex v. Beardwell, 2 Keb. 52.

Due incorporation presumed.— Where it was proved that, although no record of the organization of a school-district could be produced, yet that the trustees of the district and their predecessors, by the same name and title, had exercised their corporate functions during forty years without objection, the due

b. Illustration of Doctrine. The usual presumption in favor of right-acting, which attends official action, operates with the same force where the validity of the organization of the corporation is questioned collaterally so as to lead to the conclusion that the corporation was legally organized, where there is no allegation to the contrary, and where it affirmatively appears that two of the three persons named in the certificate of incorporation as trustees for the first year were shareholders, and it does not appear that the third was not.[99] But it has been held that the mere fact that a company has a president, secretary, or treasurer does not raise a presumption of its incorporation, because voluntary associations may, and constantly do, act through the agency of such officers.[1] Proof by any appropriate mode that the corporation has commenced business, coupled with the production of a duly authenticated copy of its charter, is sufficient, prima facie at least, to show that the conditions on which the charter was to become operative have been performed.[2]

2. Distinction Between Corporation De Jure and Corporation De Facto — a. General Statement of Doctrine. A corporation de jure is said to be one whose right to exercise a corporate function would prove invulnerable if assailed by the state in a quo warranto proceeding.[3] An intended corporation cannot become such de jure where an essential step required by statute to be taken as a prerequisite to incorporation is omitted entirely, as a failure to file articles of incorporation,[4] or filing them in the wrong county.[5] The definition given by Selden, J., of a corporation de facto was this: "1. The existence of a charter, or some law under which a corporation with the powers assumed might lawfully be created; and 2. A user by the party to the suit, of the rights claimed to be conferred by such charter or law."[6] It is perceived that under this statement of doctrine if a collection of men assume merely to use corporate powers, which they might have acquired by complying with the law, that is, assume merely to call themselves a corporation and to act as such, this makes them such as to all persons save the state. It has been pointed out that this statement is defective in that it leaves out of view any attempt to organize a corporation under a charter or an enabling statute.[7] We must, then, reform the above definition so as to make it incorporation and organization of the district were presumed. Robie v. Sedgwick, 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 319.

The effect of prescriptive proof of the existence of a corporation of a particular kind is to establish the conclusion that the body possesses all the powers usually given by law to such corporations. Robie v. Sedgwick, 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 319. But in general, in order to give rise to this presumption, the acts appealed to must be such as only a corporation could rightfully perform. Kirkpatrick v. Keota United Presb. Church, 63 Iowa 372, 19 N. W. 272. See for example Greene v. Dennis, 6 Conn. 293, 16 Am. Dec. 58, Quaker community.

No presumption of incorporation arises from the fact that the business was transacted by a body having a president and secretary. Clark v. Jones, 87 Ala. 474, 6 So. 362.

An unincorporated bank exclusively owned by one person is not a corporation de facto, although the business was conducted by a president and cashier. Longfellow v. Barnard, 59 Nebr. 455, 81 N. W. 307 [affirming 58 Nebr. 612, 79 N. W. 255, 76 Am. St. Rep. 117].

99. Welch v. Importers', etc., Nat. Bank, 122 N. Y. 177, 25 N. E. 269, 33 N. Y. St. 452.

1. Cunyus v. Guenther, 96 Ala. 564, 11 So. 649; Clark v. Jones, 87 Ala. 474, 6 So. 362.

2. Lucas v. Georgia Bank, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 147; Judah v. American Live Stock Ins. Co., 4 Ind. 333; Dunning v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 2 Ind. 437; Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389; All Saints Church v. Lovett, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 191.

3. Capps v. Hastings Prospecting Co., 40 Nebr. 470, 58 N. W. 956, 42 Am. St. Rep. 677, 24 L. R. A. 259.

4. Capps v. Hastings Prospecting Co., 40 Nebr. 470, 58 N. W. 956, 42 Am. St. Rep. 677, 24 L. R. A. 259.

5. Martin v. Deetz, 102 Cal. 55, 36 Pac. 368, 41 Am. St. Rep. 151.

6. Methodist Episcopal Union Church v. Pickett, 19 N. Y. 482, 485 [criticized in Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 52 Minn. 239, 53 N. W. 1150, 38 Am. St. Rep. 552, 18 L. R. A. 778]. Compare East Norway Lake Church v. Froslie, 37 Minn. 447, 35 N. W. 260 (where the New York definition is seemingly adopted); Gibbs' Estate, 157 Pa. St. 59, 27 Atl. 383, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 120, 22 L. R. A. 276.

7. Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 52 Minn. 239, 53 N. W. 1150, 38 Am. St. Rep. 552, 18 L. R. A. 778.

It has been held that if there has been no say that a corporation de facto exists when there is: (1) A charter or statute under which a corporation with the powers assumed might have been organized.[8] (2) A bona fide attempt to organize a corporation under such a charter or statute. (3) An actual user of the corporate powers or some of them which might have been rightfully used by such an organization.[9] Such being the proper conception of a corporation de facto it follows that a substantial compliance with the law in effecting a corporate organization is not necessary to constitute the body and corporation de facto, because that makes it a corporation de jure.[10]

b. Expressions and Explanations of Doctrine. It is frequently said that in controversies between citizens generally and a corporation, the existence of the latter, when put in issue, is established by showing a corporation de facto.[11] By this it is not to be understood that evidence of user alone will be conclusive of the question of corporate existence. Otherwise, as just suggested, corporations might spring into existence without any warrant of law. "The least proof which has been held sufficient," said Savage, C. J., "is the production of an exemplification of the act incorporating the plaintiffs, and evidence of user, under their charter."[12] It has been said by an eminent writer, in explanation of this principle, that if it appear to be acting under color of law, and is recognized by the state as such, such a question should be raised by the state itself, by quo warranto or other direct proceeding. And the rule would not be different if the constitution itself prescribed the manner of incorporation. Even in such a case proof that the corporation was acting as such under legislative sanction would be sufficient evidence of right, except as against the state; and private parties could not enter upon any question of irregularity.[13] This doctrine has met with frequent judicial approval.[14] Subject to the above principles the rule under consideration validates attempt to organize, under some law before the parties assume to act as a corporation, the concern is not even a de facto corporation, but a sham and fraud, and all connected with it will be held liable as copartners, and not as members of a corporation. Bradley Fertilizer Co. v. South Pub. Co., 4 Misc. (N. Y.) 172, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 675, 53 N. Y. St. 214 [reversing 1 Misc. (N. Y.) 512, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 472, 49 N. Y. St. 924]. On the contrary, the doctrine that mere user of corporate powers makes the usurping body a corporation de facto was thus expressed by Mr. U. S. Circuit Judge Taft: "When persons assume to act as a body, and are permitted by acquiescence of the public and the state to act, as if they were legally a particular kind of corporation, for the organization, existence, and continuance of which there is express recognition by general law, such body of persons is a corporation de facto, although the particular persons thus exercising the franchise of being a corporation may have been ineligible and incapacitated by the law to do so." Continental Trust Co. v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 82 Fed. 642, 650. This inaccurate definition was not called for, because the parties making the objection were estopped from making it, by reason of having dealt with the corporation as such. See 1 Thompson Corp. § 518; 6 Thompson Corp. §§ 7647, 7658.

8. That there can be no de facto corporations in the absence of a statute authorizing the organization of a de jure corporation see Duke v. Taylor, 37 Fla. 64, 19 So. 172, 53 Am. St. Rep. 232, 31 L. R. A. 484; Hanstein v. Johnson, 112 N. C. 253, 17 S. E. 155; Guthrie v. Territory, 1 Okla. 188, 31 Pac. 190, 21 L. R. A. 841. Compare Bain v. Clinton Loan Assoc., 112 N. C. 248, 17 S. E. 154. That no corporation de facto can be effected by an attempted consolidation where there is no law permitting a consolidation see American L. & T. Co. v. Minnesota, etc., R. Co., 157 Ill. 641, 42 N. E. 153. For the same doctrine applied to a public office see Norton v. Shelby County, 118 U. S. 425, 6 S. Ct. 1121, 30 L. ed. 178.

9. This definition, in the author's language, is in substance the definition given in Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 52 Minn. 239, 53 N. W. 1150, 38 Am. St. Rep. 552, 18 L. R. A. 778; and in Gibbs' Estate, 157 Pa. St. 59, 27 Atl. 383, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 120, 22 L. R. A. 276.

10. Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 52 Minn. 239, 53 N. W. 1150, 38 Am. St. Rep. 552, 18 L. R. A. 778.

11. McAuley v. Columbia, etc., R. Co., 83 Ill. 348; Reisner v. Strong, 24 Kan. 410; Wilcox v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 43 Mich. 584, 5 N. W. 1003; Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389.

12. U. S. Bank v. Stearns, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 314, 315. See also Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430; Methodist Episcopal Union Church v. Pickett, 19 N. Y. 482; Searsburgh Turnpike Co. v. Cutler, 6 Vt. 315.

13. Cooley Const. Lim. 254.

14. Board of Com'rs, etc. v. Shields, 62 Mo. 247.

The rule applies to religious societies as irregularities in the organization of corporations except when questioned by the state in a proceeding in the nature of a quo warranto.[15]

c. Exceptions to, and Qualifications of, Doctrine. Further possible exceptions exist in cases where the particular thing which the associates have failed to do is made by the governing statute a condition precedent to the coming into existence of the corporation;[16] or where a pretending corporate body are suing to secure rights which can inhere in them only provided they are a corporation, as in a case where such a body attempts to enforce the right to take tolls,[17] or to assess the owners of land for work undertaken by an assumed gravel-road company;[18] or in case of a railroad company which occupied the streets of a town with its tracks;[19] or to condemn land for private uses.[20] Always keeping in mind the principle that the corporation was one which might lawfully exist if it had been regularly organized,[21] it makes a bona fide attempt to organize and a compliance with the governing statute all that is necessary to establish the rightful existence of a corporation as between the corporation and all persons other than the state under whose laws it assumes to be incorporated.[22] well as to others. Vernon Soc. v. Hills, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 23, 16 Am. Dec. 429.

Rule under civil code of California.— The rule is substantially the same under the civil code of California which declares that "the due incorporation of a company claiming in good faith to be a corporation" and doing business as such, shall not be inquired into collaterally, in any private suit to which such de facto corporation may be a party. See Pacific Bank v. De Ro, 37 Cal. 538.

15. Illinois.— Baker v. Backus, 32 Ill. 79; Tarbell v. Page, 24 Ill. 46.

Maryland.— Lord v. Essex Bldg. Assoc. No. 4, 37 Md. 320.

Minnesota.— East Norway Lake Church v. Froislie, 37 Minn. 447, 35 N. W. 260.

New Hampshire.— Ossipee Mfg. Co. v. Canney, 54 N. H. 295.

New York.— Childs v. Smith, 46 N. Y. 34.

16. Boyce v. Methodist Episcopal Church, 46 Md. 359; Lord v. Essex Bldg. Assoc. No. 4, 37 Md. 320.

17. Grand Rapids Bridge Co. v. Prange, 35 Mich. 400, 24 Am. Rep. 585.

18. Piper v. Rhodes, 30 Ind. 309.

19. New York Cable Co. v. New York, 104 N. Y. 1, 10 N. E. 332.

20. Atkinson v. Marietta, etc., R. Co., 15 Ohio St. 21; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Sullivant, 5 Ohio St. 276.

21. Alabama.— Bibb v. Hall, 101 Ala. 79, 14 So. 98; Central Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Alabama Gold L. Ins. Co., 70 Ala. 120.

California.— Rondell v. Fay, 32 Cal. 354.

Illinois.— Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Danville, etc., R. Co., 75 Ill. 113; Thompson v. Candor, 60 Ill. 244; Baker v. Backus, 32 Ill. 79; Tarbell v. Page, 24 Ill. 46; The Joliet v. Frances, 85 Ill. App. 243 (final certificate not recorded, but associates do business as a corporation for more than five years); Edwards v. Cleveland Dryer Co., 83 Ill. App. 643 (honest attempt to organize; had transacted business for years — not liable as partners).

Indiana.— Doty v. Patterson, 155 Ind. 60, 56 N. E. 668; Williams v. Citizens' R. Co., 130 Ind. 71, 29 N. E. 408, 30 Am. St. Rep. 201, 15 L. R. A. 64; Crowder v. Sullivan, 128 Ind. 486, 28 N. E. 94, 13 L. R. A. 647; Hasselman v. U. S. Mortgage Co., 97 Ind. 365; Williamson v. Kokomo Bldg., etc., Assoc., 89 Ind. 389 (and cases cited); Baker v. Neff, 73 Ind. 68.

Michigan.— Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389.

Minnesota.— Johnson v. Okerstrom, 70 Minn. 303, 73 N. W. 147; Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 52 Minn. 239, 53 N. W. 1150, 38 Am. St. Rep. 552, 18 L. R. A. 778.

New York.— Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; De Witt v. Hastings, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 463 (irregularity of filing certificate of incorporation).

Tennessee.— Tennessee Automatic Lighting Co. v. Massey, (Ch. App. 1899) 56 S. W. 35.

Utah.— Marsh v. Mathias, 19 Utah 350, 56 Pac. 1074.

Wisconsin.— Franke v. Mann, 106 Wis. 118, 81 N. W. 1014, 48 L. R. A. 856 (articles of incorporation not properly acknowledged, corporation nevertheless capable of suing to prevent certain members from perverting the use of its property); Slocum v. Head, 105 Wis. 431, 81 N. W. 673, 50 L. R. A. 324 (although original articles of incorporation recorded in lieu of a verified copy thereof as required by the governing statute). Compare Bergeron v. Hobbs, 96 Wis. 641, 71 N. W. 1056, 65 Am. St. Rep. 85.

It validates for instance such irregularities as failure to file a duplicate of the certificate of incorporation in the county where the operations of the company are to be carried on. Humphreys v. Mooney, 5 Colo. 282.

It cures the mistake of failing to adopt articles of incorporation until after all the shares have been subscribed and the business of the corporation begun. Heald v. Owen, 79 Iowa 23, 44 N. W. 210.

22. Spring Valley Water Works v. San Francisco, 22 Cal. 434; Mokelumne Hill Canal, etc., Co. v. Woodbury, 14 Cal. 424, 73 Am. Dec. 658; Marsh v. Astoria Lodge No. 112, I. O. O. F., 27 Ill. 421; Baker v. Neff, 73 Ind. 68; Methodist Episcopal Union Church v. Pickett, 19 N. Y. 482.

d. Necessity of Law Under Which Corporation Might Rightfully Exist. As stated in the next preceding paragraph, the rule of law which militates against de facto corporations when their existence is assailed collaterally extends only to those cases where there is a law under which the corporation might exist. If there is no law under which it might exist, its non-existence may be set up even in a collateral proceeding,[23] and the rule is the same where there is only an Whether failure to perform conditions precedent can be shown collaterally.— There is some early and discredited authority to the effect that, where under the charter or governing statute the body does not acquire corporate powers until certain acts have been performed which the statute makes conditions precedent to the coming into existence of the corporation, the failure to perform those acts may be shown even in a collateral proceeding. Lucas v. Georgia Bank, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 147; Mokelumne Canal, etc., Co. v. Woodbury, 14 Cal. 424, 73 Am. Dec. 658; Southhold v. Horton, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 501; U. S. Bank v. Stearns, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 314; New York Fire Dept. v. Kip, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 266; Utica Ins. Co. v. Cadwell, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 296; Utica Ins. Co. v. Tilman, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 555; Wood v. Jefferson County Bank, 9 Cow. (N. Y.) 194; Auburn Bank v. Aikin, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 137; Guckert v. Hacke, 159 Pa. St. 303, 28 Atl. 249, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 41 [citing Smith v. Warden, 86 Mo. 382; Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416; Childs v. Smith, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 45], in which last case it is said to have been uniformly held in Pennsylvania that the requirements as to filing charters are imperative, and where Sterrett, J., in giving the opinion of the court, undertook to epitomize the law of that state upon the subject. So in West Virginia, if the statutory provision requiring the preliminary agreement for the formation of a corporation to be acknowledged before the certificate of incorporation is issued be not satisfied, the body does not acquire a corporate existence and subscriptions are not binding. W. Va. Code, c. 54, § 6; Greenbrier Industrial Exposition v. Rodes, 37 W. Va. 738, 17 S. E. 305. Moreover a fundamental variance between the certificate of incorporation and such preliminary agreement relieves from their contract those who have subscribed for their shares on the faith of the preliminary agreement. Greenbrier Industrial Exposition v. Rodes, 37 W. Va. 738, 17 S. E. 305 On the same principle a failure to record the certificate of incorporation "in the office for the recording of deeds, in and for the county where the chief operations are to be carried on," in compliance with the statute of Pennsylvania, will render the incorporators liable to persons who deal with the body without knowledge of the attempted incorporation. Guckert v. Hacke, 159 Pa. St. 303, 306, 28 Atl. 249, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 41. Long-continued user, however, has great weight in support of the presumption that such conditions precedent have been performed. Dunning v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 2 Ind. 437; All Saints Church v. Lovett, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 191. In pursuing this inquiry the courts usually hold that it is unnecessary to prove that the body have complied with those statutory requisitions, which are not in terms, or by necessary or reasonable implication, made conditions precedent to their existence or capacity to do particular acts. Narragansett Bank v. Atlantic Silk Co., 3 Metc. (Mass.) 282; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119; Manchester Bank v. Allen, 11 Vt. 302; U. S. Bank v. Dandridge, 12 Wheat. (U. S.) 64, 6 L. ed. 552. The decided cases afford no statutory test of what are to be deemed conditions precedent within this rule — if it be a rule; but above all is the paramount rule that the validity of the organization of a corporation cannot be contested except as between the corporation and the state where there has been a bona fide attempt to organize under a statute authorizing the creation of the corporation. Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389; McFarlan v. Triton Ins. Co., 4 Den. (N. Y.) 392. See also Rose Hill, etc., R. Co. v. People, 115 Ill. 133, 3 N. E. 725, provision requiring the filing of a copy of the by-laws, a list of the shareholders, and the amount of stock subscribed, directory merely.

For illustrations of de facto corporations see also the following cases:

Colorado.—Duggan v. Colorado Mortg., etc., Co., 11 Colo. 113, 17 Pac. 105, private litigant not permitted to show that the articles of incorporation had not been duly acknowledged.

Illinois.— Baker v. Backus, 32 Ill. 79, omission to file certificate of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state.

Maine.—Bear-Camp-River-Co. v. Woodman, 2 Me. 404, private litigant could not show that the corporation had not done an act, the failure to do which within one year rendered its incorporation void according to its charter.

Missouri.— Catholic Church v. Tobbein, 82 Mo. 418 (corporation suing to establish a will containing a bequest to it); Franklin Ave. German Sav. Inst. v. Board of Education, 75 Mo. 408.

New York.— Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75 (defect in the statutory affidavit required to be annexed to the articles of association); Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119.

23. Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430; Krutz v. Paola Town Co., 20 Kan. 397; Eaton v. Walker, 76 Mich. 579, 43 N. E. 638, 6 L. R. A. 102.

unconstitutional law.[24] "To be a corporation de facto, it must be possible to be a corporation de jure, and acts done in the former case must be legally authorized to be done in the latter, or they are not protected or sanctioned by the law. Such acts must have an apparent right."[25] It is an easy step from this view to the general rule that to establish the existence of a de facto corporation a charter or law authorizing the existence of the corporation must be shown, and user under such authority.[26]

P. Collateral Attack Upon Rightfulness of Corporate Existence — 1. Doctrine That Validity of Existence Cannot Be Litigated Collaterally. This brings us to a doctrine, founded in public policy and convenience and supported by an almost unanimous consensus of judicial opinion, which is that the rightfulness of the existence of a body claiming to act, and in fact acting, in the face of the state, as a corporation, cannot be litigated in actions between private individuals or between private individuals and the assumed corporation, but that the rightfulness of the existence of the corporation can be questioned only by the state; in other words that the question of the rightful existence of the corporation cannot be raised in a collateral proceeding.[27] 10-1087-16-1276

24. Snyder v. Studebaker, 19 Ind. 462, 81 Am. Dec. 415 [overruling on this point Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Evansville, 15 Ind. 395]; Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430; Harriman v. Southam, 16 Ind. 190; Brown v. Killian, 11 Ind. 449; Eaton v. Walker, 76 Mich. 579, 43 N. W. 638, 6 L. R. A. 102; State v. How, 1 Mich. 512; Hurlbut v. Britain, 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 191; Green v. Graves, 1 Dougl. (Mich.) 351.

25. Evenson v. Ellingson, 67 Wis. 634, 646, 31 N. W. 342, opinion by Orton, J.

The mere acting as a corporation for any length of time is not sufficient to establish the existence of a corporation de facto. A charter or law which of itself creates, upon its acceptance, a corporation is necessary; or if the law provides that a corporation may be formed upon a subsequent compliance with prescribed regulations and forms some of those regulations and forms must have been observed, although others have been omitted. De Witt v. Hastings, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 463.

26. Miami Powder Co. v. Hotchkiss, 17 Ill. App. 622; Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416. See also Mahoney v. State Bank, 4 Ark. 620, where it was held that nul tiel corporation may be pleaded in an action by a corporation where the incorporating act does not unconditionally create the corporation.

This principle was applied to the early banking corporations of Michigan, organized under a statute subsequently declared to be unconstitutional, with the conclusion that they were not corporations de facto in such a sense as to enable their receivers to maintain an action to collect debts due them (Green v. Graves, 1 Dougl. (Mich.) 351), as to enable them to foreclose mortgages given to secure such debts (Hurlbut v. Britain, 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 191) or to render their shareholders liable as partners to their creditors (State v. How, 1 Mich. 512), although it was held that if these corporations had not been organized for an unlawful purpose the receivers of their assets might demand in equity an accounting for the debts purporting to be secured by mortgages made to them (Burton v. Schildbach, 45 Mich. 504, 8 N. W. 497 [citing Medill v. Collier, 16 Ohio St. 599]). These early Michigan decisions exhibit an amazing amount of judicial stupidity. The mischief done by recognizing banking corporations under an unconstitutional law should have been minimized by judicial administration so as to allow the receivers appointed to wind up the unlawful concerns to foreclose mortgages made to them, and otherwise to gather in their assets for the benefit of their creditors; and on principles hereafter considered (see infra, VIII, C), their shareholders should be held liable as partners for the benefit of their creditors. See the observations of Cooley, J., in Burton v. Schildbach, 45 Mich. 504, 8 N. W. 497; and the following cases:

Connecticut.— Mechanics', etc., Mut. Sav. Bank, etc., Assoc. v. Allen, 28 Conn. 97.

Illinois.—Parmelee v. Lawrence, 48 Ill. 331.

Minnesota.— Thompson v. Morgan, 6 Minn. 292.

Ohio.— Lewis v. McElvain, 16 Ohio 347.

Virginia.— Danville v. Pace, 25 Gratt. 1, 18 Am. Rep. 663.

A simple rule, and one that should apply to all cases, is that where the obligations of a pretended corporation are neither inequitable nor immoral the judicial courts should enforce them against the corporators as partners. Hill v. Beach, 12 N. J. Eq. 31.

27. Alabama.— Snider's Sons' Co. v. Troy, 91 Ala. 224, 8 So. 658, 24 Am. St. Rep. 887, 11 L. R. A. 515; Georgia Importing, etc., Co. v. Locke, 50 Ala. 332; Hudgins v. State, 46 Ala. 208; Harris v. Nesbit, 24 Ala. 398; Duke v. Cahawba Nav. Co., 16 Ala. 372; Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344.

Arkansas.— Searcy v. Yarnell, 47 Ark. 269, 1 S. W. 319; West v. Carolina L. Ins. Co., 31 Ark. 476; Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Cross, 20 Ark. 443; Hammett v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 204.

California.— People v. Linda Vista Irr.

2. Circumstances Under Which Principle Has Been Applied. This rule has been applied so as to prevent the rightfulness of the exercise of a corporate franchise from being questioned in an action to enforce a penalty imposed by Dist., 128 Cal. 477, 61 Pac. 86 (irrigation company is a quasi-public corporation, the validity of whose organization cannot be collaterally attacked); Los Angeles Holiness Bank v. Spires, 126 Cal. 541, 58 Pac. 1049; People v. Montecito Water Co., 97 Cal. 276, 32 Pac. 236, 33 Am. St. Rep. 172; San José First Baptist Church v. Branham, 90 Cal. 22, 27 Pac. 60; Golden Gate Mill, etc., Co. v. Joshua Hendy Mach. Works, 82 Cal. 184, 23 Pac. 45; People v. La Rue, 67 Cal. 526, 8 Pac. 84; Bakersfield Town Hall Assoc. v. Chester, 55 Cal. 98; Stockton, etc., Road Co. v. Stockton, etc., R. Co., 45 Cal. 680; Rondell v. Fay, 32 Cal. 354; Spring Valley Water Works v. San Francisco, 22 Cal. 434; Mokelumne Hill Canal, etc., Co. v. Woodbury, 14 Cal. 424, 73 Am. Dec. 658.

Colorado.— Grand River Bridge Co. v. Rollins, 13 Colo. 4, 21 Pac. 896; Duggan v. Colorado Mortg., etc., Co., 11 Colo. 113, 17 Pac. 105; Denver, etc., R. Co. v. Denver City R. Co., 2 Colo. 673; Union Gold Min. Co. v. Rocky Mountain Nat. Bank, 1 Colo. 531.

Connecticut.— Pearce v. Olney, 20 Conn. 544; Kellogg v. Union Co., 12 Conn. 7; Spencer v. Champion, 9 Conn. 536.

Georgia.— Atlanta v. Gate City Gas Light Co., 71 Ga. 106; Wood v. Coosa, etc., R. Co., 32 Ga. 273; Union Branch R. Co. v. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 14 Ga. 327; Young v. Harrison, 6 Ga. 130.

Idaho.— Boise City Canal Co. v. Pinkham, 1 Ida. 790.

Illinois.— Dubs v. Egli, 167 Ill. 514, 14 N. E. 766; Smith v. Mayfield, 163 Ill. 447, 45 N. E. 157; Baker v. Backus, 32 Ill. 79; Williams v. State Bank, 6 Ill. 667; The Joliet v. Frances, 85 Ill. App. 243; Singer, etc., Stone Co. v. Hutchison, 72 Ill. App. 366.

Indiana.—Brookville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. McCarty, 8 Ind. 392, 65 Am. Dec. 768; John v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 2 Blackf. 367, 20 Am. Dec. 119.

Kansas.— Walton v. Oliver, 49 Kan. 107, 30 Pac. 172, 33 Am. St. Rep. 355; Matter of Short, 47 Kan. 250, 27 Pac. 1005; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Stafford County, 36 Kan. 121, 12 Pac. 593.

Kentucky.— Walton v. Riley, 85 Ky. 413, 3 S. W. 605, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 29; Galliopolis Bank v. Trimble, 6 B. Mon. 599.

Louisiana.— State v. Fagan, 22 La. Ann. 545; Atchafalaya Bank v. Dawson, 13 La. 497.

Maine.— Taylor v. Portsmouth, etc., St. R. Co., 91 Me. 193, 39 Atl. 560, 64 Am. St. Rep. 216, that a private person cannot claim charter void for constitutional reasons. Compare Day v. Stetson, 8 Me. 365.

Maryland.— Keene v. Van Reuth, 48 Md. 184; Taggart v. Western Maryland R. Co., 24 Md. 563, 89 Am. Dec. 760; Planters' Bank v. Alexandria Bank, 10 Gill & J. 346; State University v. Williams, 9 Gill & J. 365, 31 Am. Dec. 72; Chesapeake, etc., Canal Co. v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 4 Gill & J. 1; Hamilton v. Annapolis, etc., R. Co., 1 Md. Ch. 107.

Massachusetts.— Chase's Patent Elevator Co. v. Boston Tow-Boat Co., 155 Mass. 211, 29 N. E. 470, 9 L. R. A. 339; Boston Glass Manufactory v. Langdon, 24 Pick. 49, 35 Am. Dec. 292; Charles River Bridge v. Warren Bridge, 7 Pick. 344; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128; Com. v. Union F. & M. Ins. Co., 5 Mass. 230, 4 Am. Dec. 50.

Michigan.— Wyandotte Electric Light Co. v. Wyandotte, 124 Mich. 43, 82 N. W. 821; Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 49 Mich. 148, 13 N. W. 492; Montgomery v. Merrill, 18 Mich. 338.

Minnesota.— East Norway Lake Church v. Froislie, 37 Minn. 447, 35 N. W. 260.

Mississippi.— Bohannon v. Binns, 31 Miss. 355; Grand Gulf Bank v. Archer, 8 Sm. & M. 151; Bayless v. Orne, Freem. 161.

Missouri.—Finch v. Ullman, 105 Mo. 255, 16 S. W. 863, 24 Am. St. Rep. 383; Keith, etc., Coal Co. v. Bingham, 97 Mo. 196, 10 S. W. 32; Haskell v. Worthington, 94 Mo. 560, 7 S. W. 481; State Bank v. Snelling, 35 Mo. 190; State Bank v. Merchants' Bank, 10 Mo. 123; Cayuga County Nat. Bank v. Dunklin, 29 Mo. App. 442; Staunton Copper Min. Co. v. Thurmond, 7 Mo. App. 587.

New Hampshire.— Sewall's Falls Bridge v. Fisk, 23 N. H. 171; State v. Fourth New Hampshire Turnpike Road, 15 N. H. 162, 41 Am. Dec. 690; Peirce v. Somersworth, 10 N. H. 369; State v. Carr, 5 N. H. 367.

New Jersey.— Mueller v. Egg Harbor, 55 N. J. L. 245, 26 Atl. 89; New Jersey, etc., R. Co. v. Long Branch, 39 N. J. L. 28; Jersey City Gas Light Co. v. Consumers' Gas Co., 40 N. J. Eq. 427, 2 Atl. 922; Hackensack Water Co. v. De Kay, 36 N. J. Eq. 548.

New York.— Matter of Cutchogue Cong. Church, 131 N. Y. 1, 30 N. E. 43, 42 N. Y. St. 701; Day v. Ogdensburgh, etc., R. Co., 107 N. Y. 129, 13 N. E. 765; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119; People v. Ulster, etc., R. Co., 58 Hun 266, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 303, 34 N. Y. St. 983 [affirmed in 128 N. Y. 240, 28 N. E. 635, 40 N. Y. St. 280]; Ormsby v. Vermont Copper Min. Co., 65 Barb. 360; Mechanics' Bldg. Assoc. v. Stevens, 5 Duer 676; All Saints Church v. Lovett, 1 Hall 191; Demarest v. Flack, 16 Daly 337, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 83, 32 N. Y. St. 675 [affirmed in 128 N. Y. 205, 28 N. E. 645, 40 N. Y. St. 383, 13 L. R. A. 854]; Welch v. Old Dominion Min., etc., Co., 10 N. Y. Suppl. 174, 31 N. Y. St. 916; Matter of Arden, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 177, 1 Connoly Surr. 159; People v. Manhattan Co., 9 Wend. 351; Vernon Soc. v. Hills, 6 Cow. 23, 16 Am. Dec. 429; Thompson v. New York, etc., R. Co., 3 Sandf. Ch. 625.

North Carolina.— Tar River Nav. Co. v. Neal, 10 N. C. 520.

Ohio.— Johnson v. Bentley, 16 Ohio 97; statute for passing a toll-gate without paying toll;[28] so as to make a transfer of property by or to a de facto corporation valid and binding as against all parties except the state;[29] so as to prevent plaintiff's title, derived from a deed of a de facto corporation, from being called in question in an action for a trespass;[30] so as to prevent the failure of a railway company to comply with a statutory requirement that its charter must be registered in any county other than that of its principal office, where it may establish an agency, from being made a ground for questioning the validity of its corporate existence in a private litigation;[31] so as to prevent the raising of the question of irregularities in organizing a corporation in any private litigation by or against it;[32] so as to prevent a body assum-Circleville Bank v. Renick, 15 Ohio 322; Webb v. Moler, 8 Ohio 548.

Pennsylvania.— Olyphant Sewage Drainage Co. v. Olyphant, 196 Pa. St. 553, 46 Atl. 896; Monongahela Bridge Co. v. Pittsburgh, etc., Traction Co., 196 Pa. St. 25, 46 Atl. 99, 79 Am. St. Rep. 685 (holding that in an action of assumpsit by a bridge company against a street railway company to enforce a written contract, defendant cannot plead, as a defense, the fact that the city had purchased the entire stock of plaintiff, and had continued its corporate existence without authority of law); Hinchman v. Philadelphia, etc., Turnpike Road, 160 Pa. St. 150, 28 Atl. 652, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. 129; Com. v. Allegheny Bridge Co., 20 Pa. St. 185; Com. v. Burrell, 7 Pa. St. 34; Com. v. Farmers' Bank, 2 Grant 392; Irvine v. Lumbermen's Bank, 2 Watts & S. 190; Lehigh River Bridge v. Lehigh Coal, etc., Co., 4 Rawle 9, 26 Am. Dec. 11; Centre, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. McConaby, 16 Serg. & R. 140 [affirmed in 1 Penr. & W. 426]; Goodbread v. Philadelphia, etc., Turnpike Co., 13 Pa. Super. Ct. 82; In re New Gas Light Co., 7 Pa. Dist. 151; Travaglini v. Societa Italiane, 5 Pa. Dist. 441 (holding that a charter cannot be attacked by a private party on the ground of having been obtained by fraud); German Ins. Co. v. Strahl, 13 Phila. 512, 35 Leg. Int. 333.

Tennessee.— Carpenter v. Frazier, 102 Tenn. 462, 52 S. W. 858 (holding that the validity of a corporation's existence cannot be attacked on the ground that the certificate of registration given by the secretary of state was not registered in the register's office of the county in which the principal place of business of the corporation was situated, with the facsimile of the great seal of the state, as required by law [Shannon Code Tenn. §§ 2026, 2542], where it appears that the certificate was registered, but the fac-simile of the seal not accurately drawn); La Grange, etc., R. Co. v. Rainey, 7 Coldw. 420; Tennessee Automatic Lighting Co. v. Massey, (Ch. App. 1899) 56 S. W. 35 (holding that the fact that one of the purposes of incorporation set forth in a charter is unauthorized by the statute under which the incorporation is effected does not impair the validity of the rest of the charter; that an objection that the validity of a charter of incorporation cannot be attacked in a collateral proceeding may, in pleading, be made by answer; that a bill attacking the validity of a charter on the ground that "said charter is not properly executed, acknowledged, and proved," without pointing out the specific defects relied on, is insufficient; and that in the absence of fraud the validity of articles of incorporation cannot be attacked on the ground that they are not properly executed and acknowledged).

Texas.— San Antonio v. Jones, 28 Tex. 19; The Oriental v. Barclay, 16 Tex. Civ. App. 193, 41 S. W. 117 (action for damages against hotel company for personal injuries, not a good objection that two of the incorporators did not live in the state as required by the governing statute).

Vermont.— Vermont, etc., R. Co. v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., 34 Vt. 1; Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

Virginia.— Crump v. U. S. Mining Co., 7 Gratt. 352, 56 Am. Dec. 116; Gray v. Lynchburg, etc., Turnpike Co., 4 Rand. 578; Commonwealth Bank v. Poitiaux, 3 Rand. 136, 15 Am. Dec. 706.

West Virginia.— Greenbrier Lumber Co. v. Ward, 30 W. Va. 43, 3 S. E. 227; Moore v. Schoppert, 22 W. Va. 282; Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Marshall County, 3 W. Va. 319.

United States.— Mackall v. Chesapeake, etc., Canal Co., 94 U. S. 308, 24 L. ed. 161; Andrews v. National Foundry, etc., Works, 77 Fed. 774, 23 C. C. A. 454, 36 L. R. A. 153 [denying rehearing in 76 Fed. 166, 22 C. C. A. 110, 36 L. R. A. 139].

England.— Colchester v. Seaber, 3 Burr. 1866, 1 W. Bl. 591; Smith's Case, 4 Mod. 53; Rex v. Amery, 1 T. R. 575, 2 T. R. 515.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 78.

28. Canal St. Gravel Road Co. v. Paas, 95 Mich. 372, 54 N. W. 907. See also Pontiac, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Hilton, 69 Mich. 115, 36 N. W. 739.

29. Finch v. Ullman, 105 Mo. 255, 16 S. W. 863, 24 Am. St. Rep. 383.

30. Crenshaw v. Ullman, 113 Mo. 633, 20 S. W. 1077.

31. Anderson v. Middle, etc., Cent. R. Co., 91 Tenn. 44, 17 S. W. 803.

32. Doyle v. Peerless Petroleum Co., 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 239; Persse, etc., Paper-Works v. Willett, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 416; Frost v. Frostburg Coal Co., 24 How. (U. S.) 278, 16 L. ed. 637; U. S. v. Williams, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,713, 5 Cranch C. C. 62; Vermont v. Society for Propagation, etc., 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,919, 1 Paine 652.

ing to exercise corporate functions from denying its corporate existence in a proceeding by mandamus to reinstate a member whom it has expelled;[33] so as to prevent the question of corporate existence from being litigated in an action by a corporation on a contract under which it claims as equitable assignee,[34] in a suit in equity to enjoin it from constructing its works, or by way of defense to its proceedings to acquire land,[35] or on a bill filed by shareholders for mismanagement;[36] so as to prevent a stranger to contracts made with shareholders of a company which has not completed its organization as a corporation, but which has assumed to act as such, from objecting to the validity of contracts made in its corporate character, on the ground that it has not been organized as a corporation;[37] so as to prevent defendant in an action on a promissory note given to aid in the building of a railroad from setting up the defense that the railroad company had not complied with the statute under which it was organized by having its road completed and in full operation within seven years from its organization, since this might involve disputed questions of fact which could not be determined in a collateral proceeding;[38] so as to invalidate evidence, in an action by a corporation, that it had not performed its corporate duties as to the payment in of the cash capital required by its governing statute;[39] so as to render unavailing, in a criminal prosecution by the state for selling liquor within a prescribed distance from an academy contrary to the terms of the statute, that the academy had done acts whereby its charter had become forfeited, no adjudication of such forfeiture having taken place;[40] so as to prevent third persons, in an action to restrain them from interfering with the franchises of a corporation, from showing that the corporation has forfeited its franchises by reason of not completing its works within the time prescribed by its governing statute;[41] so as to render unavailing an answer in an action by a corporation setting up that it has forfeited its charter by non-user, but not averring a judicial declaration of forfeiture;[42] and so as to prevent the question whether a corporation has forfeited its charter and lost its legal existence from being raised in a proceeding to contest a will in which the corporation is a legatee, except by direct proceedings against it for the purpose of declaring the forfeiture.[43]

3. FURTHER EXPLANATIONS OF DOCTRINE. So, although in every action brought by a corporation, the corporate existence of plaintiff must be averred and proved, yet, where its incorporation has been prima facie proved in any of the modes elsewhere considered,[44] its corporate existence cannot be contested by defendant, by any evidence short of that which is properly admissible as showing that it has been judicially dissolved,[45] and as already seen[46] this rule applies in actions brought by corporations against subscribers to their shares to recover assessments laid thereon;[47] and it equally applies in actions brought by corporations to recover

33. Meurer v. Detroit Musicians' Benev., etc., Assoc., 95 Mich. 451, 54 N. W. 954.

34. Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 55 Mich. 456.

35. Aurora, etc., R. Co. v. Miller, 56 Ind. 88; Aurora, etc., R. Co. v. Lawrenceburgh, 56 Ind. 80.

36. Merchants', etc., Line v. Waganer, 71 Ala. 581.

37. New Haven Wire Co. Cases, 57 Conn. 352, 16 Atl. 393, 18 Atl. 266, 5 L. R. A. 300.

38. Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 49 Mich. 148, 13 N. W. 492.

39. Staunton Copper Min. Co. v. Thurmond, 7 Mo. App. 587.

40. Hudgins v. State, 46 Ala. 208.

41. State v. Fagan, 22 La. Ann. 545.

42. West v. Carolina L. Ins. Co., 31 Ark. 476.

43. Matter of Arden, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 177, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 159.

44. See supra, I, M.

45. Idaho.— Boise City Canal Co. v. Pinkham, 1 Ida. 790.

Indiana.— John v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 2 Blackf. 367, 20 Am. Dec. 119.

Maine.— Penobscot Boom Corp. v. Lamson, 16 Me. 224, 33 Am. Dec. 656.

Michigan.— Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457.

Mississippi.— Grand Gulf Bank v. Archer, 8 Sm. & M. 151.

New York.— Vernon Soc. v. Hills, 6 Cow. 23, 16 Am. Dec. 429.

Pennsylvania.— Coil v. Pittsburgh Female College, 40 Pa. St. 439.

46. See supra, I, N, 1, k.

47. Alabama.— Duke v. Cahawba Nav. Co., 16 Ala. 372.

debts due to them from individuals,[48] and in an action brought by a building association to foreclose a mortgage given for a building loan.[49] Nor does the fact that a corporation has forfeited its charter, unless the forfeiture has been judicially adjudged, afford any defense to an indictment against it for the neglect of a public duty.[50] So one who has granted lands to a corporation cannot maintain an action to recover them, on the ground that, by reason of the neglect to elect trustees and the acquisition of all the stock in the company by one person, the corporation has been dissolved and the land has reverted. It must be regarded as having a legal existence until a judgment of forfeiture has been had in a direct proceeding.[51] So under a statute providing that if the annual license-tax of a corporation is not paid before a certain date the corporation shall forfeit its charter, and making it the duty of the auditor of the state to publish a list of such corporations,[52] the publication does not of itself work a forfeiture of a charter, but the discretionary power to bring an action for such forfeiture still resides in the state.[53]

4. LIMITATIONS OF DOCTRINE. As already seen, the state alone can create corporations[54] and endow natural individuals with corporate capacities and franchises.[55] Hence a collection of men cannot make themselves a corporation by merely calling themselves such. There must have been at least a colorable attempt to form themselves into a corporation under a statute permitting them to become such; and then the question whether they have rightfully become such will not, on grounds of public convenience, be litigated in private proceedings, so long as the state is willing that they shall exist as a corporation and exercise corporate powers.[56]

Connecticut.— Pearce v. Olney, 20 Conn. 544.

Georgia.— Young v. Harrison, 6 Ga. 130.

Illinois.— Baker v. Backus, 32 Ill. 79; Wilmans v. State Bank, 6 Ill. 667.

Indiana.— Stoops v. Greensburgh, etc., Plank Road Co., 10 Ind. 47; Brookville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. McCarty, 8 Ind. 392, 65 Am. Dec. 768; John v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 2 Blackf. 367, 20 Am. Dec. 119.

Kentucky.— Galliopolis Bank v. Trimble, 6 B. Mon. 599.

Maryland.— Planters' Bank v. Alexandria Bank, 10 Gill & J. 346; Chesapeake, etc., Canal Co. v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 4 Gill & J. 1; Hamilton v. Annapolis, etc., R. Co., 1 Md. Ch. 107.

Michigan.— Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457.

Mississippi.— Bayless v. Orne, Freem. 161.

Missouri.— State Bank v. Merchants' Bank, 10 Mo. 123.

New Hampshire.— Sewall's Falls Bridge v. Fisk, 23 N. H. 171.

New York.— Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; Towar v. Hale, 46 Barb. 361.

North Carolina.— Buncombe Turnpike Co. v. McCarson, 18 N. C. 306.

Ohio.— Johnson v. Bentley, 16 Ohio 97; Circleville Bank v. Renick, 15 Ohio 322; Webb v. Moler, 8 Ohio 548.

Pennsylvania.— Dyer v. Walker, 40 Pa. St. 157; Irvine v. Lumbermen's Bank, 2 Watts & S. 190; McConachy v. Centre, etc., Turnpike Co., 1 Penr. & W. 426; Com. v. Morris, 1 Phila. 411, 9 Leg. Int. 176.

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

Virginia.— Crump v. U. S. Mining Co., 7 Gratt. 352, 56 Am. Dec. 116.

England.— Waterford, etc., R. Co. v. Dalbiac, 6 Exch. 443, 20 L. J. Exch. 227, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 753, 4 Eng. L. & Eq. 455.

48. Hughes v. Somerset Bank, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 45; Coil v. Pittsburgh Female College, 40 Pa. St. 439.

49. Mechanics' Bldg. Assoc. v. Stevens, 5 Duer (N. Y.) 676.

50. Com. v. Worcester Turnpike Corp., 3 Pick. (Mass.) 327.

51. Bohannon v. Binns, 31 Miss. 355.

52. West Va. Acts (1885), c. 20, § 8.

53. Greenbrier Lumber Co. v. Ward, 30 W. Va. 43, 3 S. E. 227.

54. Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Canal Com'rs, 21 Pa. St. 9. See also supra, I, J, 1.

55. Ernst v. Bartle, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 319.

56. The following cases are to this general effect:

Alabama.— Central Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Alabama Gold L. Ins. Co., 70 Ala. 120; Lehman v. Warner, 61 Ala. 455; Thorington v. Gould, 59 Ala. 461.

Georgia.— Pattison v. Albany Bldg., etc., Assoc., 63 Ga. 373.

Indiana.— North v. State, 107 Ind. 356, 8 N. E. 159.

Missouri.— Clark v. Middleton, 19 Mo. 53.

New York.— Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119.

Pennsylvania.— Cochran v. Arnold, 58 Pa. St. 399.

Tennessee.— State v. Butler, 15 Lea 104.

United States.— Fortier v. New Orleans Nat. Bank, 112 U. S. 439, 5 S. Ct. 234, 28

5. WHETHER FACT THAT PRETENDED ORGANIZATION WAS FRAUDULENT MAY BE SHOWN IN PRIVATE PROCEEDING. It is said that fraud vitiates all engagements; and there seems to be no good reason why the rule should not be extended to the subject under consideration. If a pretended corporation has been concocted for the purpose of cheating and defrauding a party to a proceeding, the analogies of the law furnish no reason why he should be obliged to turn to the state for redress — to its attorney-general — and receive or be denied redress according to the promptness, the honesty, the dilatoriness, or the corruption of that officer instead of having a direct road to justice in a proceeding by himself. Accordingly it has been held that a party who has not estopped himself by the manner in which he has dealt with the pretended corporation may attack its existence in a private litigation by showing that its organization is a mere fraudulent device; that, although on the face of the proceedings there is a regular and complete incorporation, yet there was no bona fide purpose and effort to organize a real corporation with a capital; but the purpose and effort were to put forward a sham corporation without capital or assets to cover a real partnership, and to avoid the liability incident to a real partnership.[57] So in Pennsylvania, where a so-called charter of a corporation granted by a public officer of the state is on its face conclusive evidence of its own validity, yet that fact does not cover any frauds perpetrated by the coadventurers in procuring it; but creditors of the pretended corporation may show such frauds, in order to charge the shareholders as partners.[58] Other courts hold that the validity of the corporate charter or organization cannot be attacked by a private litigant on the ground of having been concocted by fraud.[59] It is hardly necessary to add that this rule will for stronger reasons work against the corporation to prevent it from pleading fraud in its own organization.[60]

6. FORFEITURE FOR MISUSER OR NON-USER NOT PLEADABLE COLLATERALLY. In the absence of an express statute otherwise providing, the question whether the charter of a corporation has been forfeited for misuser or non-user of its franchises, or for any other cause save the efflux of time, cannot be determined in a collateral proceeding, but can be determined only in a direct proceeding instituted by the state.[61] Although a statute expressly declares that upon the happen-

1281-92

L. ed. 764; Reynolds v. Crawfordsville First Nat. Bank, 112 U. S. 405, 5 S. Ct. 213, 28 L. ed. 733; Genesee Nat. Bank v. Whitney, 103 U. S. 99, 26 L. ed. 443; St. Louis Union Nat. Bank v. Matthews, 98 U. S. 621, 25 L. ed. 188; Union Gold Min. Co. v. Rocky Mountain Nat. Bank, 96 U. S. 640, 24 L. ed. 648; Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523; Smith v. Sheeley, 12 Wall. 358, 20 L. ed. 430; Upton v. Hansbrough, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,801, 3 Biss. 417.

57. Christian, etc., Grocery Co. v. Fruitdale Lumber Co., 121 Ala. 340, 25 So. 566.

58. Paterson v. Arnold, 45 Pa. St. 410. Substantially to the same effect see Chesapeake, etc., R. Co. v. Howard, 14 App. Cas. (D. C.) 262, 27 Wash. L. Rep. 146; Montgomery v. Forbes, 148 Mass. 249, 19 N. E. 342; Lehigh Min., etc., Co. v. Kelly, 160 U. S. 327, 16 S. Ct. 307, 40 L. ed. 444.

59. Travaglini v. Societa Italiane, 5 Pa. Dist. 441.

60. Southern Bank v. Williams, 25 Ga. 534. Compare Mitchel v. Rome R. Co., 17 Ga. 574; Napier v. Poe, 12 Ga. 170.

61. Arkansas.— Hammett v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 204.

Connecticut.— Pahquioque Bank v. Bethel Bank, 36 Conn. 325, 4 Am. Rep. 80.

Georgia.—Atlanta v. Gate City Gas Light Co., 71 Ga. 106.

Illinois.— Rice v. Rock Island, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 93; Williams v. State Bank, 6 Ill. 667.

Indiana.— Barren Creek Ditching Co. v. Beck, 99 Ind. 247; Logan v. Vernon, etc., R. Co., 90 Ind. 552; John v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 2 Blackf. 367, 20 Am. Dec. 119.

Kentucky.— Galliopolis Bank v. Trimble, 6 B. Mon. 599; Hughes v. Somerset Bank, 5 Litt. 45.

Maryland.— Planters' Bank v. Alexandria Bank, 10 Gill & J. 346.

Missouri.— Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. McPherson, 35 Mo. 13, 86 Am. Dec. 128; Farmers' Bank v. Garten, 34 Mo. 119; State Bank v. Bredow, 31 Mo. 523.

New York.— Merrick v. Van Santvoord, 34 N. Y. 208; All Saints Church v. Lovett, 1 Hall 191; McFarlan v. Triton Ins. Co., 4 Den. 392; Vernon Soc. v. Hills, 6 Cow. 23, 16 Am. Dec. 429; Slee v. Bloom, 5 Johns. Ch. 366; Barclay v. Talman, 4 Edw. 123.

North Carolina.—Asheville Div. No. 15, S. of T. v. Aston, 92 N. C. 578; Buncombe Turnpike Co. v. McCarson, 18 N. C. 306.

Ohio.— Circleville Bank v. Renick, 15 Ohio 322.

Pennsylvania.— Lehigh River Bridge v. Leing of certain events the corporation "shall be deemed to have surrendered the rights, privileges, and franchises granted by any act of incorporation, or acquired under the laws of this State, and shall be adjudged to be dissolved," [62] and it further appears that the conditions upon which such dissolution may be declared have been fulfilled, the corporation nevertheless remains in esse, and may be sued by its creditors unless restrained by injunction, until the surrender of its franchises has been judicially declared in a direct proceeding.[63] So it is no defense to a suit brought by a corporation for goods sold, etc., that, for a failure to pay a license-tax to the state, the secretary of state by publication had declared the corporate charter forfeited.[64] But when the forfeiture has been judicially declared, the corporation is dead, and upon that fact being admitted or shown, the suit abates, unless there is a saving statute permitting it to go on.[65]

Q. Promoters — 1. Meaning of Word "Promoter." A promoter is one who takes it upon himself to organize a corporation: To procure the necessary legislation, where that is necessary; to procure the necessary subscribers to the articles of incorporation, where the corporation is organized under general laws; to see that the necessary document is presented to the proper officer of the state to be recorded and the certificate of incorporation issued; and generally to "float the company." [66]

2. Promoters Not Agents of Future Corporation. Those who undertake to organize a corporation are not in any sense its agents before it comes into existence. They cannot affect it by their declarations or representations,[67] or bind it by their engagements made in its behalf;[68] but after coming into existence the high Coal, etc., Co., 4 Rawle 9, 26 Am. Dec. 111.

United States.— Vermont v. Society for Propagation, etc., 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,919, 1 Paine 652.

62. 1 N. Y. Rev. Stat. 463, § 38.

63. Kincaid v. Dwinelle, 59 N. Y. 548; Mickles v. Rochester City Bank, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 118, 42 Am. Dec. 103.

64. Greenbrier Lumber Co. v. Ward, 30 W. Va. 43, 3 S. E. 227.

65. See cases cited supra; and Sutherland v. Largo, etc., Plank-Road Co., 19 Ind. 192.

66. The meaning of the word may be collected from Ladywell Min. Co. v. Brookes, 35 Ch. D. 400, 56 L. J. Ch. 684, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 677, 35 Wkly. Rep. 785; Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Lewis, 4 C. P. D. 396, 48 L. J. C. P. 257, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 168, 27 Wkly. Rep. 836; opinion of Bramwell, J., in Twycross v. Grant, 2 C. P. D. 469, 46 L. J. C. P. 636, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 812, 25 Wkly. Rep. 701.

67. U. S. Vinegar Co. v. Schlegel, 143 N. Y. 537, 38 N. E. 729, 62 N. Y. St. 826; Lynde v. Anglo-Italian Hemp Spinning Co., [1896] 1 Ch. 178, 65 L. J. Ch. 96, 73 L. T. Rep. N. S. 502.

68. Alabama.— Moore, etc., Hardware Co. v. Towers Hardware Co., 87 Ala. 206, 6 So. 41, 13 Am. St. Rep. 23.

California.— San Joaquin Land, etc., Co. v. West, 94 Cal. 399, 29 Pac. 785; Hawkins v. Mansfield Gold Min. Co., 52 Cal. 513; Morrison v. Gold Mountain Gold Min. Co., 52 Cal. 306.

Colorado.— Ruby Chief Min., etc., Co. v. Gurley, 17 Colo. 199, 29 Pac. 668.

Illinois.— Western Screw, etc., Co. v. Cousley, 72 Ill. 531; Stowe v. Flagg, 72 Ill. 397; Rockford, etc., R. Co. v. Sage, 65 Ill. 328, 16 Am. Rep. 587; Safety Deposit L. Ins. Co. v. Smith, 65 Ill. 309.

Indiana.— Smith v. Parker, 148 Ind. 127, 45 N. E. 770; Davis, etc., Bldg., etc., Co. v. Hillsboro Creamery Co., 10 Ind. App. 42, 37 N. E. 549.

Michigan.— Carmody v. Powers, 60 Mich. 26, 26 N. W. 801.

Minnesota.— McArthur v. Times Printing Co., 48 Minn. 319, 51 N. W. 216, 31 Am. St. Rep. 653.

Missouri.— Davis v. Maysville Creamery Assoc., 63 Mo. App. 477; Joy v. Manion, 28 Mo. App. 55.

Nebraska.— Davis v. Ravenna Creamery Co., 48 Nebr. 471, 67 N. W. 436.

Nevada.— Paxton v. Bacon Mill, etc., Co., 2 Nev. 257.

New Jersey.— Braddock v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 45 N. J. L. 363.

New York.— Munson v. Syracuse, etc., R. Co., 103 N. Y. 58, 8 N. E. 355; Bradley Fertilizer Co. v. South Pub. Co., 4 Misc. 172, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 675, 53 N. Y. St. 214 [reversing 1 Misc. 512, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 472, 49 N. Y. St. 924]; Oaks v. Cattaraugus Water Co., 21 N. Y. Suppl. 851, 50 N. Y. St. 922; Hecla Consol. Gold Min. Co. v. O'Neill, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 592, 47 N. Y. St. 211 [affirmed in 67 Hun 652, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 130, 51 N. Y. St. 436, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 143 (affirmed in 148 N. Y. 724)].

Pennsylvania.— Tift v. Quaker City Nat. Bank, 141 Pa. St. 550, 21 Atl. 660.

Tennessee.— Pittsburgh, etc., Copper Min. Co. v. Quintrell, 91 Tenn. 693, 20 S. W. 248.

Texas.— Weatherford, etc., R. Co. v. Granger, 86 Tex. 350, 24 S. W. 795, 40 Am. St.

corporation may make their engagements its own by express agreement[69] or by ratification;[70] and this ratification or adoption may be by express corporate action[71] or by any of the other modes by which corporations may ratify or adopt the unauthorized or officious acts of others made in their behalf,[72] as where the corporation voluntarily accepts the benefits accruing to it from the engagement of its promoters, after full knowledge, and having full liberty to decline the same.[73]

3. Engagement With Promoters Is Merely Proposal For Contract to Future Corporation. An engagement made through promoters with a corporation which has not yet been called into existence may have the legal effect of a proposal to the future corporation for a contract.[74] Upon this principle many courts hold that a subscription to the capital stock of an intended corporation, made before it comes into existence, becomes a binding contract when the corporation on coming into existence accepts it, either expressly by issuing to the subscriber his share certificate, or impliedly by otherwise recognizing him as a shareholder and extending to him the rights which pertain to that relation. This is the general doctrine of many cases, variously expressed.[75] But in order to the operation of Rep. 387 [reversing (Civ. App. 1893) 23 S. W. 425].

Wisconsin.— Buffington v. Bardon, 80 Wis. 635, 50 N. W. 776.

United States.— Winters v. Hub Min. Co., 57 Fed. 287.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 1789.

Nor have the corporators power to bind the corporation by their contracts unless thereto authorized by the charter or governing statute. Gent v. Manufacturers', etc., Ins. Co., 107 Ill. 652 [affirming 13 Ill. App. 308]; Joslin v. Stokes, 38 N. J. Eq. 31; Munson v. Syracuse, etc., R. Co., 103 N. Y. 58, 8 N. E. 355.

69. Reichwald v. Commercial Hotel Co., 106 Ill. 439; Wood v. Whelen, 93 Ill. 153; Rockford, etc., R. Co. v. Sage, 65 Ill. 328, 16 Am. Rep. 587; Paxton Cattle Co. v. Arapahoe First Nat. Bank, 21 Nebr. 621, 33 N. W. 271, 59 Am. Rep. 852; Low v. Connecticut, etc., R. Co., 45 N. H. 370; Bell's Gap R. Co. v. Christy, 79 Pa. St. 54, 21 Am. Rep. 39 (reasoning of the court).

70. Brunner v. Brown, 139 Ind. 600, 38 N. E. 318; Seymour v. Spring Forest Cemetery Assoc., 144 N. Y. 333, 63 N. Y. St. 672, 39 N. E. 365, 26 L. R. A. 859; Burden v. Burden, 8 N. Y. App. Div. 160, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 499; Lexow v. Pennsylvania Diamond Drill Co., 5 Pa. Dist. 491.

71. It has been held that where formal action of the board of directors would not be necessary to the making of the agreement by the corporation in the first instance, its adoption, when made for it by its promoters, will not require that formality. Battelle v. Northwestern Cement, etc., Co., 37 Minn. 89, 33 N. W. 327.

72. Huron Printing, etc., Co. v. Kittelson, 4 S. D. 520, 57 N. W. 233.

When the president has the power to ratify for the corporation see Oakes v. Cattaraugus Water Co., 143 N. Y. 430, 38 N. E. 461, 62 N. Y. St. 445, 26 L. R. A. 544.

The requirement of a statute that thirty days' notice must be given to the shareholders of a corporation before its property can be mortgaged does not apply to an equitable mortgage created by a contract with promoters and adopted by the corporation. Bridgeport Electric, etc., Co. v. Meader, 72 Fed. 115, 18 C. C. A. 451.

Circumstances under which a corporation may adopt a previous engagement made by its promoters, varying its terms. Davis v. Dexter Butter, etc., Co., 52 Kan. 693, 35 Pac. 776.

73. Colorado.— Arapahoe Invest. Co. v. Platt, 5 Colo. App. 515, 39 Pac. 584.

Illinois.— Rockford, etc., R. Co. v. Sage, 65 Ill. 328, 16 Am. Rep. 587.

Nebraska.— Paxton Cattle Co. v. Arapahoe First Nat. Bank, 21 Nebr. 621, 33 N. W. 271, 59 Am. Rep. 852.

New Hampshire.— Low v. Connecticut, etc., R. Co., 45 N. H. 370, leading case.

New York.— Rogers v. New York, etc., Land Co., 134 N. Y. 197, 32 N. E. 27, 48 N. Y. St. 263.

Oregon.—Schreyer v. Turner Flouring Mills Co., 29 Oreg. 1, 43 Pac. 719.

Pennsylvania.—Bell's Gap R. Co. v. Christy, 79 Pa. St. 54, 21 Am. Rep. 39, doctrine recognized.

United States.— Bridgeport Electric, etc., Co. v. Meader, 72 Fed. 115, 18 C. C. A. 451.

England.— Edwards v. Grand Junction R. Co., 1 Myl. & C. 650, 13 Eng. Ch. 650.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 1790.

74. Gent v. Manufacturers', etc., Ins. Co., 107 Ill. 652 [affirming 13 Ill. App. 308].

75. California.— Mahan v. Wood, 44 Cal. 462.

District of Columbia.— Glenn v. Busey, 5 Mackey 233.

Illinois.— Johnston v. Ewing Female University, 35 Ill. 518; Tonica, etc., R. Co. v. McNeely, 21 Ill. 71; Cross v. Pinckneyville Mill Co., 17 Ill. 54.

Indiana.— New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337.

Iowa.— Nulton v. Clayton, 54 Iowa 425, 6 N. W. 685, 37 Am. Rep. 213.

Maine.— Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me.

this principle, there must be an acceptance in some form, such as will bind and fix the rights of both parties.[76]

4. WHETHER CORPORATION BOUND FOR SERVICES RENDERED IN CALLING IT INTO EXISTENCE. Unless the charter or statute law otherwise provides, the corporation will not ordinarily be bound to pay for services rendered by the promoters in bringing the corporation into existence.[77] There is some authority for the proposition that the corporation is so liable where a majority of the corporators authorize the rendition of the services;[78] but it is difficult to understand the principle on which this conclusion rests, since when the corporation is in existence it is not bound by contracts or engagements made by a majority of its shareholders,[79] but is only bound by engagements made by its governing body, its board of directors or trustees, acting within the scope of their powers, and by ministerial officers created and empowered to make such engagements.[80] But it has been held that where an association of individuals unite to carry on a certain business, and before becoming incorporated contract debts in the conduct of the business, and afterward become incorporated without taking in any outside person or outside capital, the corporation may become liable in equity for the payment of such debts.[81] But by analogy to the rule with reference to the liability of an incoming partner, and on obvious principles of justice, it is held that the foregoing rule can have no application where the corporation has been created in part with funds or property contributed by new corporators, who had no connection with the previous association. Liens on the property of the association would follow it into the hands of the corporation, and the members of the association would remain personally liable for its debts as partners, as though no corporation had been organized, and their interest in the corporation might be seized and sold upon executions against them personally; but the corporation could not be charged with the debts of the previous voluntary association, composed of a part only of its members.[82] If, however, after the corporation has been created, the promoters render further services necessary to complete the organization, with the common understanding that compensation is to be paid for such services, then, the corporation being in existence, and having power to accept or reject the benefit of such services, if it accepts them it must pay for them, on the principle of estoppel or ratification already considered.[83] One court has applied the same principle to the case where the services were rendered before the creation of the corporation, and for the purpose of assisting in bringing it into existence, placing its conclusion upon the principle of estoppel or ratification by accept-

512, 66 Am. Dec. 257; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Palmer, 34 Me. 366.

Massachusetts.—Thompson v. Page, 1 Metc. 565.

Michigan.—Michigan Midland, etc., R. Co. v. Bacon, 33 Mich. 466.

Minnesota.—Red Wing Hotel Co. v. Friedrich, 26 Minn. 112, 1 N. W. 827.

New Hampshire.—Ashuelot Boot, etc., Co. v. Hoit, 56 N. H. 548.

New York.—Lake Ontario, etc., R. Co. v. Mason, 16 N. Y. 451; Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. 157.

Pennsylvania.—Bell's Appeal, 115 Pa. St. 88, 8 Atl. 177, 2 Am. St. Rep. 532.

Tennessee.—Gleaves v. Brick Church Turnpike Co., 1 Sneed 491.

Texas.—Belton Compress Co. v. Saunders, 70 Tex. 699, 6 S. W. 134.

76. Penn Match Co. v. Hapgood, 141 Mass. 145, 7 N. E. 22. The statement made by Vice-Chancellor Green of New Jersey, that "no rights, legal or equitable, arise in favor of a corporation in respect of transactions, whether complete or inchoate, merely because entered into in contemplation of the creation of such corporation" (Plaquemines Tropical Fruit Co. v. Buck, 52 N. J. Eq. 219, 230, 27 Atl. 1094), cannot possibly be the law.

77. Marchand v. Loan, etc., Assoc., 26 La. Ann. 389.

78. Bell's Gap R. Co. v. Christy, 79 Pa. St. 54, 21 Am. Rep. 39.

79. See infra, IX, C, 5.

80. See infra, IX; X.

81. Paxton v. Bacon Mill, etc., Co., 2 Nev. 257, opinion by Lewis, C. J.

82. Paxton v. Bacon Mill, etc., Co., 2 Nev. 257. And see Chicago Coffin Co. v. Fritz, 41 Mo. App. 389.

83. Low v. Connecticut, etc., R. Co., 45 N. H. 370. Compare Preston v. Liverpool, etc., R. Co., 21 L. J. Ch. 61, 1 Sim. N. S. 586, 7 Eng. L. & Eq. 124, 40 Eng. Ch. 586.

ing the benefits.[84] But it is difficult to understand how the corporation could be estopped by accepting benefits which it had no power to reject, without uncreating itself. Under any theory with respect to this question, in order to bind the corporation for such services, they must have been necessary and reasonable, and must have been performed under a contract with the promoter or promoters, assuming to act in behalf of the future corporation, with the intention and expectation that they should be paid for by the corporation, and should not be mere gratuities.[85] The services performed must be intended at the time to inure to the benefit of the future corporation; must be made or done in its behalf, and with the expectation and confidence that the company will be bound and not the credit of the individuals.[86]

5. Distinction Between Cases Where Remedy Is in Equity and at Law. Where the contract made by the promoters is intended to inure to the benefit of the future corporation when organized, the other contracting party may, under circumstances, acquire an equity to have the contract carried into effect. But it becomes a legal right only where the corporation affirms the contract or does some act from which an affirmance may be implied. At law the rule obtains that corporations cannot be bound by acts done or promises made by others in their behalf before they come into existence, and this on the simple conception that there is no privity of contract.[87]

6. Liability to Subscribers For Deposits Where Undertaking Proves Abortive — a. Statement of Liability. A person who has paid money for shares in a company which never comes into existence, or who has paid money afterward to a scheme which is abandoned before it is carried into execution, has paid it on a consideration which has failed, and he may therefore recover it back in an action at law as so much money had and received to his use, unless it can be shown that he has consented to or has acquiesced in the application of the money which those into whose hands it has come have made of it;[88] and he may maintain a bill in equity for the same purpose.[89] Where a person has paid money to the pro-

84. Low v. Connecticut, etc., R. Co., 45 N. H. 370.

Other cases where the corporation, after coming into existence, was held liable on the theory of implied contract or of estoppel are Hawkins v. Mansfield Gold Min. Co., 52 Cal. 513; Morrison v. Gold Mountain Gold Min. Co., 52 Cal. 306; Reichwald v. Commercial Hotel Co., 106 Ill. 439; Paxton Cattle Co. v. Arapahoe First Nat. Bank, 21 Nebr. 621, 33 N. W. 271, 59 Am. Rep. 852.

85. Bellows, J., in Low v. Connecticut, etc., R. Co., 45 N. H. 370.

86. Perry v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 44 Ark. 383, 396, per Eakin, J.

87. This principle is stated in Perry v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 44 Ark. 383. It was ground of decision in Bommer v. American Spiral Spring Butt Hinge Mfg. Co., 81 N. Y. 468, where an action in the nature of an action at law was sustained on the ground of ratification. See also Little Rock, etc., R. Co. v. Perry, 37 Ark. 164, where there is a full discussion of the subject. It was there announced that the doctrine cannot apply to cases in which private persons, contracting exclusively for their individual benefit, afterward create a corporation for the more convenient management and enjoyment of the benefits acquired by the contract. The same doctrine is found in the leading case of Low v. Connecticut, etc., R. Co., 45 N. H. 370.

88. Nockels v. Crosby, 3 B. & C. 814, 5 D. & R. 751, 27 Rev. Rep. 497, 10 E. C. L. 367; Ashpitel v. Sercombe, 5 Exch. 147, 19 L. J. Exch. 82, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 224; Chaplin v. Clarke, 4 Exch. 403; Vollans v. Fletcher, 1 Exch. 20, 16 L. J. Exch. 173; Ward v. Londesborough, 12 C. B. 252, 74 E. C. L. 252.

89. Williams v. Page, 24 Beav. 654, 4 Jur. N. S. 102, 27 L. J. Ch. 425; Kempson v. Saunders, 4 Bing. 5, 13 E. C. L. 373, 2 C. & P. 366, 12 E. C. L. 621, 12 Moore C. P. 44 (holding that in getting at the original projectors "a great service will be done"); Grand Trunk, etc., R. Co. v. Brodie, 9 Hare 823, 41 Eng. Ch. 823; Williams v. Salmond, 2 Jur. N. S. 251, 2 Kay & J. 463, 4 Wkly Rep. 64 (where the principle was recognized, although the bill was dismissed); Green v. Barrett, 6 L. J. Ch. O. S. 6, 1 Sim. 45, 2 Eng. Ch. 45; Walstab v. Spottiswoode, 15 L. J. Exch. 193, 15 M. & W. 501; Colt v. Woollaston, 2 P. Wms. 154, 24 Eng. Reprint 679. For a case where the provisional directors of a railway company promised to pay a landowner £3000 for a right of way through his land, which he in consideration of this sum agreed to convey to the proposed company, and where, the company having proved abortive, it was held that the projectors must nevertheless pay the £3000 see Bland v. Crowley, 6 Exch. 522, 20 L. J. Exch. 218, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 756. Compare Webb v. Direct London, etc., R. Co., 9 Hare 129, 41 Eng. Ch.

moters of a projected corporation, under an agreement that shares shall be issued to him when the company is formed, he will be entitled to recover his money back from them unless the organization of the company is accomplished within a reasonable time.[90]

b. Grounds of Recovery — (i) At Law. In such cases there are two grounds of recovery at law: (1) Failure of the project; and (2) the want of acquiescence in the expenditure of the money paid in its support, both of which are questions of fact, and in such an action they must both be determined in favor of plaintiff in order to enable him to recover. As to the first ground of recovery, that the undertaking has failed, the burden of proof is on plaintiff; as to the second, that plaintiff has not consented to, or acquiesced in, the application of his money which has been made, the burden is on defendant; since, in the absence of all proof on this point, such acquiescence will not be presumed. On familiar grounds these questions are to be determined by the jury, unless the evidence arises wholly out of documents, which are to be construed and their meaning expounded by the court. If a case arises in which there is evidence on the first ground of recovery, namely, that the undertaking has proved abortive, and no evidence, either for the court or for the jury, that plaintiff has acquiesced in the use of his money which has been made, then it is not a misdirection for the judge to leave out of view the second ground of recovery, namely, a want of acquiescence on the part of plaintiff in the expenditure of his money, which has been made, and to tell the jury that if the project has been abandoned as abortive, plaintiff is entitled to recover his deposit.[91] While partners cannot recover contribution from copartners in actions at law, yet even in England, where joint-stock companies, when fully formed, were deemed no more than extensive partnerships, it was held that one who had subscribed for shares in a proposed company did not, so long as it remained a mere project, become a partner or even a quasi-partner with the promoters of it.[92] This is in accordance with the rule already stated, that a partnership is not created by a mere agreement to organize a partnership under common law. The same principle may be stated by saying that the shareholders in a corporation are in no legal sense partners with the promoters of it, unless they have specially agreed to become such and to share profits and losses, from which it easily follows that the shareholders of an abortive corporation are not, as shareholders merely, liable for the debts of the concern.[93]

(ii) In Equity. The jurisdiction of equity to entertain suits by subscribers to abortive corporations, to recover from the promoters or directors money which they have advanced in support of the scheme rests upon the two grounds of fraud and trust. Where the undertaking is a swindle in its inception — a bubble, such as a proposition to extract oil from English radishes — courts of equity will sustain a bill by a subscriber to the shares of the concern to recover back the money which he has paid as deposit on such shares on the ground of fraud.[94]

129 [reversed in 1 De G. M. & G. 521, 16 Jur. 323, 21 L. J. Ch. 337, 50 Eng. Ch. 400].

90. Hudson v. West, 189 Pa. St. 491, 42 Atl. 190, 29 Pittsb. L. J. (Pa.) 283.

91. Ashpitel v. Sercombe, 5 Exch. 147, 19 L. J. Exch. 82, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 224.

92. Walstab v. Spottiswoode, 15 L. J. Exch. 193, 15 M. & W. 501.

93. Fay v. Noble, 7 Cush. (Mass.) 188.

94. Williams v. Page, 24 Beav. 654, 4 Jur. N. S. 102, 27 L. J. Ch. 425; Green v. Barrett, 5 L. J. Ch. O. S. 6, 1 Sim. 45, 2 Eng. Ch. 45; Colt v. Woollaston, 2 P. Wms. 154, 24 Eng. Reprint 679.

Circumstances relieving subscribers from liability to promoters.— For circumstances under which, after the organization of the corporation, it made a contract with the promoters for their services, different from the arrangement between the promoters and the subscribers to shares, made prior to the organization, which was held to release the subscribers from their liability to the promoters see Mildenberg v. James, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 607, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 77; Kent v. Freehold Land, etc., Co., L. R. 4 Eq. 588, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 77; Twycross v. Grant, 2 C. P. D. 469, 46 L. J. C. P. 636, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 812, 25 Wkly. Rep. 701 (judgment of Lord Coleridge, C. J.). In Henderson v. Lacon, L. R. 5 Eq. 249, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 527, 16 Wkly. Rep. 328, similar relief was granted against directors of a company under similar circumstances, although the promoters were not par-

A promoter who makes a fraudulent overissue of shares to himself, and who thereafter sells them to innocent persons, may be compelled to account to his associates for the money thus acquired.[95]

c. Measure of Recovery in Equity. A promoter participating in the fraud of his personal representative is liable to bona fide subscribers, not only for their due proportions of the profits he himself has realized, but also for their due proportions of the fund which he has received as trustee and misappropriated by paying it over to those privately interested with him.[96]

d. In Restoring Deposits, Breach of Trust to Prefer Particular Shareholders. If it appears that the managing committee of a company which has proved abortive, in restoring to the subscribers for its shares what remains of their advances after the payment of expenses, prefer certain of such subscribers by treating their advances as loans, and by paying them in full, while the others get back only a percentage of their deposits, the transaction will be undone by a court of equity in a bill by a subscriber for an accounting.[97] It follows that if the promoters or managers of the company give effect to such a fraudulent agreement, by restoring in full and not pro rata with other subscribers, the moneys which the particular subscriber has advanced in pursuance of it, they will be subject to account for it in equity to those whose rights have been prejudiced by the transaction.[98] The ties to the suit. Compare Foss v. Harbottle, 2 Hare 461, 24 Eng. Ch. 461, where a bill of two shareholders, filed on behalf of themselves and all other shareholders, was dismissed on the ground that it showed no obstacle to the bringing of a bill by the company for the relief prayed for. For a case in which Vice-Chancellor Bacon thought that it was no fraud on subscribers to shares for a person to purchase a colliery for £16,000, and then to promote a company to purchase it from him, to sell it to the company for £23,000, to become manager therein, and to conceal the real facts of the transactions from subscribers see Craig v. Phillips, 3 Ch. D. 722, 46 L. J. Ch. 49, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 198. But it seems that this case should be regarded as having been overruled by Erlanger v. New Sombrero Phosphate Co., 3 App. Cas. 1218, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 26 Wkly. Rep. 65 [affirming 5 Ch. D. 73, 46 L. J. Ch. 425, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 222, 25 Wkly. Rep. 436]; Twycross v. Grant, 2 C. P. D. 469, 46 L. J. C. P. 636, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 812, 25 Wkly. Rep. 701, and as being opposed to the doctrine of the house of lords, in Erlanger v. New Sombrero Phosphate Co., 3 App. Cas. 1218, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 26 Wkly. Rep. 65.

That the remedy in equity may be lost by laches, although the period of time may be extended, where plaintiff has been prevented by fraud, concealment, or obstruction from obtaining the facts necessary to support his suit see Williams v. Page, 24 Beav. 654, 4 Jur. N. S. 102, 27 L. J. Ch. 425.

That equity repels actions of this kind when brought for barratrous purposes see Grand Trunk, etc., R. Co. v. Brodie, 9 Hare 823, 41 Eng. Ch. 823. But not where plaintiff has an interest in the success of the suit, although small, even if he is prosecuting it under a barratrous contract with a solicitor. Williams v. Page, 24 Beav. 654, 4 Jur. N. S. 102, 27 L. J. Ch. 425.

As to the necessary parties to such a bill see Williams v. Page, 24 Beav. 654, 4 Jur. N. S. 102, 27 L. J. Ch. 425; Clements v. Bowes, 1 Drew. 684; Grand Trunk, etc., R. Co. v. Brodie, 9 Hare 823, 41 Eng. Ch. 823; Williams v. Salmond, 2 Jur. N. S. 251, 2 Kay & J. 463, 4 Wkly. Rep. 64.

95. Huiskamp v. West, 47 Fed. 236.

96. Getty v. Devlin, 70 N. Y. 504, 54 N. Y. 403. Contra, Bent v. Priest, 10 Mo. App. 543, Lewis, P. J., dissenting.

97. Williams v. Page, 24 Beav. 654, 4 Jur. N. S. 102, 27 L. J. Ch. 425.

98. Williams v. Page, 24 Beav. 654, 4 Jur. N. S. 102, 27 L. J. Ch. 425.

That secret arrangements for releasing particular shareholders, the same not being bona fide forfeitures for non-payment of calls, are void, will be shown when dealing with shareholders; and see specially on the subject In re United Service Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 707, 39 L. J. Ch. 730, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 331, 18 Wkly. Rep. 1058.

Release by contract of right to recover deposits.— That applicants in English railway companies released their rights to recover deposits under what was termed the "Subscriber's Agreement and Parliamentary Contract" see Chaplin v. Clarke, 4 Exch. 403; Willey v. Parratt, 3 Exch. 211, 18 L. J. Exch. 82, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 32; Jones v. Harrison, 2 Exch. 52, 12 Jur. 122, 17 L. J. Exch. 132, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 138; Clements v. Todd, 1 Exch. 268, 17 L. J. Exch. 31, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 132. That such an agreement estopped subscriber where the money advanced by him had been expended as therein authorized, although the scheme of incorporation became abortive, but not if the agreement tendered him for execution contained provisions not authorized by law see Ashpitel v. Sercombe, 5 Exch. 147, 19 L. J. Exch. 82, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 224. That this agreement did not estop them in the absence of fraud see Atkinson v. Pocock, 1 Exch. 796, 12 Jur. 60. That the fact that deposits had been made on but little more than one-half the shares which case is rendered worse by the fact that the money repaid to subscribers was in consideration of their making a colorable subscription to defraud the legislature, to whom an application had been made for a charter.[99] In all such cases the governing principle is that whoever makes a colorable subscription for shares in a company, for the mere purpose of deceiving others, with an understanding between himself and the promoters or managers that he is not to be held to the liabilities of a subscriber, will nevertheless be held, both at law and in equity, to the very form of the contract which he has made and published.[1]

7. Liability of Promoters — a. In Actions For Damages For Deceit. If the promoters of a corporation put forth a fraudulent prospectus or otherwise make fraudulent representations whereby persons are induced to become subscribers to the shares of the projected company, by reason of which they sustain damages, they have, under the principles of the common law, a direct action against those who have been guilty of the fraud, to recover the damages which they have thereby suffered.[2] In an action at law for this kind of deceit, the measure had been allotted, which fact was not communicated to the subscriber, did not constitute such fraud as would release him see Vane v. Cobbold, 1 Exch. 798.

What provisional committeemen were not liable.— The committeeman not shown to have received the money advanced by the plaintiff subscriber, but whose name had been published as a provisional committeeman, but who attended one meeting only of the committee, at which he presided as chairman, but at which he dissented from the proceedings, was not liable in an action by a subscriber for the repayment of his deposit money. Burnside v. Dayrell, 3 Exch. 224, 19 L. J. Exch. 46, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 67.

99. Williams v. Page, 24 Beav. 654, 4 Jur. N. S. 102, 27 L. J. Ch. 425; Clements v. Bowes, 1 Drew. 684.

1. Litchfield Bank v. Church, 29 Conn. 137; White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 134; Custar v. Titusville Gas, etc., Co., 63 Pa. St. 381; Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489; Centre, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. McConaby, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 140. See also Miller v. Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co., 87 Pa. St. 95, 30 Am. Rep. 349.

2. Walker v. Anglo-American Mortg., etc., Co., 72 Hun (N. Y.) 334, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 432, 55 N. Y. St. 54; Gerhard v. Bates, 1 C. L. R. 868, 2 E. & B. 476, 17 Jur. 1097, 22 L. J. Q. B. 364, 1 Wkly. Rep. 383, 20 Eng. L. & Eq. 129, 75 E. C. L. 476.

Liability ex contractu.— It has been held that an action ex contractu will not lie. Haines v. Franklin, 87 Fed. 139. But this does not appear to be sound, since, as already seen, such actions have been frequently maintained in England, as actions for money had and received upon a consideration which has failed. This right of action has been placed upon a supposed fiduciary relation, arising between promoters and those whom they solicit to become shareholders in the corporation, and upon the consequent obligation on the part of the promoters to exercise the utmost good faith toward the shareholders. Walker v. Anglo-American Mortg., etc., Co., 72 Hun (N. Y.) 334, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 432, 55 N. Y. St. 54. But it does not seem that there is any such fiduciary relation, and it is perfectly clear that no such fiduciary relation is necessary in order to sustain an action at law for damages for deceit.

Priorities between mortgage bondholders.— Where promoters, by falsely representing to the owner of property that improvements of great value will be placed upon the property and paid for, induce him to convey the property to the corporation, and to accept in part payment second-mortgage bonds of the corporation, so as to let in, as a first lien, first-mortgage bonds which are held by themselves, and issue to themselves shares of the corporation for which they pay nothing, they will not be allowed to assert the lien of the first mortgage in priority to the second mortgage. Hooper v. New York Central Trust Co., 81 Md. 559, 32 Atl. 505, 29 L. R. A. 262.

Where promoters by various devices cause shares of stock to be issued and assigned to themselves as full-paid, in consideration of property acquired by the corporation, when in fact the property has not been paid for by the shares, and the promoters also hold bonds on the corporate estate secured by a first mortgage, they will not be allowed to recover from the corporation, as first-mortgage bondholders, without paying what is due from them to the corporation as shareholders, if the rights of one who sold the property to the corporation are thereby put in jeopardy. One promoter in such case is affected by the fraud of another in making the guaranty that the money placed in his hands will be used in putting improvements upon the property, and in such a case a promoter of a corporation who has not paid his stock subscription will not be permitted to take an assignment of a claim for improvements made on corporate property, so as to enforce the same in priority to valid mortgages on such property. Hooper v. New York Cent. Trust Co., 81 Md. 559, 32 Atl. 505, 29 L. R. A. 262.

Statutes making "officers" of corporations liable for making false certificates or public notices do not apply to a case where a false certificate is made by an incorporator to bring the corporation into being; since, until the corporation is brought into existence, it of damages of the defrauded sharetaker is, it seems, the money which he has paid on account of his subscription for the shares, with interest, giving a credit to defendants for what the shares were really worth, at the time when they were bought, but not for any fictitious value which they had acquired by reason of the false representation by which they had been imposed upon the public.[3]

b. Injunction Against Promoters For Nuisance After Formation of Company. A continuing nuisance, such as the unlawful occupation of a street by a railway company, will not authorize an injunction against the promoters of a company, where the company has been duly incorporated, although the nuisance may have been commenced by the promoters; but the injunction, if any, should be against the corporation.[4]

c. Personal Liability of Promoters on Contracts Made For Projected Company — (i) Recent American Doctrine. The promoters of a corporation are personally liable for debts which they assume to contract in its name and behalf, before it has acquired a de facto organization, such as cannot be attacked except by the state,[5] and if the governing statute prescribes a condition precedent to corporate existence, such as filing of articles of incorporation, they are personally liable for engagements which they have assumed to make in the name of the supposed corporation before that condition has been fulfilled.[6] So, if they assume to make contracts in the name of the proposed corporation and then voluntarily abandon their purpose of forming it, they become personally liable to make good those contracts, and each becomes liable to make good such as he has directly or indirectly authorized or ratified.[7] So the promoters of a corporation were liable personally for materials purchased by one elected by them as superintendent and general manager, necessary for the proposed business, where they procured a charter in which they were named as directors for the first year, and as such directors elected themselves officers, but no bona fide subscription of stock, or arrangements for the payment of debts or liabilities were ever made.[8] So, although there may be a corporation in existence for which work is being done, it is quite possible that the person contracting to do such work may not be aware of that fact, and may contract with its promoters as individuals, so as to make it a question of fact for the jury whether the contract is a contract of the individuals as partners or of the corporation.[9] With regard to the liability of one promoter for the engagements of others made in the name of the corporation before it has been brought into existence, a person who signs articles of incorporation which are filed for record and recorded may be liable as a partner for permitting the use of his name as an officer of the corporation by other signers of the articles who, without being legally incorporated, carry on business in the assumed name of the corporation, where he has knowledge of such use of his name or is guilty of negligence in not knowing it.[10]

(ii) In Case of Parol Contracts, Liability Question of Fact For has no "officers." Thomson-Houston Electric Co. v. Murray, 60 N. J. L. 20, 37 Atl. 443.

3. Twycross v. Grant, 2 C. P. D. 469, 46 L. J. C. P. 636, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 812, 25 Wkly. Rep. 701, judgment of Lord Coleridge, C. J. See also the views of Lord Cockburn on the same question, at pp. 542–546.

4. Deiter v. Estill, 95 Ga. 370, 22 S. E. 622.

5. Hersey v. Tully, 8 Colo. App. 110, 44 Pac. 854; Colorado Land, etc., Co. v. Adams, 5 Colo. App. 190, 37 Pac. 39; McLennan v. Hopkins, 2 Kan. App. 260, 41 Pac. 1061.

6. McLennan v. Hopkins, 2 Kan. App. 260, 41 Pac. 1061; Queen City Furniture, etc., Co. v. Crawford, 127 Mo. 356, 30 S. W. 163; Wechselberg v. Flour City Nat. Bank, 64 Fed. 90, 12 C. C. A. 56, 26 L. R. A. 470.

7. Hersey v. Tully, 8 Colo. App. 110, 44 Pac. 854; McLennan v. Anspaugh, 2 Kan. App. 269, 41 Pac. 1063; Roberts Mfg. Co. v. Schlick, 62 Minn. 332, 64 N. W. 826.

8. Whetstone v. Crane Bros. Mfg. Co., 1 Kan. App. 320, 41 Pac. 211.

9. Rust-Owen Lumber Co. v. Wellman, 10 S. D. 122, 72 N. W. 89.

10. Wechselberg v. Flour City Nat. Bank, 64 Fed. 90, 12 C. C. A. 56, 26 L. R. A. 470. Construction of statute creating an individual liability for omitting the word "limited" from the corporate name see Lehman v. Knapp, 48 La. Ann. 1148, 20 So. 674.

A promoter cannot be held liable for engagements made by his associates with which he had no part, in behalf of the corporation,

Jury. If the contract rests in parol, then it will ordinarily be a question of fact for the jury whether the party advancing the supplies or the money to the promoters did so on the credit of the promoters or on the credit of the prospective corporation.[11] For example it has been held that the character in which the members of what has been called in England the provisional committee of a projected corporation are liable, upon contracts for work and labor, etc., is a question of fact for a jury.[12]

(III) In Case of Written Contracts, Liability Question of Interpretation For Court. But if the contract is in writing, and is unambiguous in such a sense as excludes the aid of parol evidence in its interpretation, then the question is a mere question of interpretation for the court, and the promoters will stand bound or discharged from liability according to the terms of the contract by which the parties have seen fit to bind themselves. For example, if the contract stipulates that the obligee will not look to the promoters for payment of indemnity, but will take his chances of their succeeding in organizing the proposed company, and of the company when organized ratifying the contract which they thus assume to make for it, then there will be no room for controversy, and the promoters will not be liable.[13] So if a person agrees with the promoters of a company to bear, himself, the expense of promoting it, he cannot recover such expense from the company when organized, although (it being organized under a special act of legislation) the act contains a provision to the effect that the company shall pay the costs of the passing of the bill — the reason being that the previous agreement inures to the benefit of the company.[14]

(IV) When Promoters Liable on Theory of Breach of Warranty of Agency. The obligee in the contract being innocent, and not being aware of the fact that the corporation has not been called into existence, if the promoters assume to hold it out to him as an existent body capable of contracting, and if they assure him that as its agents they have a right to bind it by the contract into which they induce the obligee to enter, and if in point of fact the corporation is not yet existent, then the promoters will be liable to the obligee to make good the contract, on the theory that they have been guilty of a breach of warranty of their agency.[15] The importance of this principle lies in the fact that unless the promoters can be thus charged no one is liable, and the innocent third parties whom they have duped into making the contract and the advance under it must be compelled to bear the loss; since, as already seen, the corporation is where all the necessary steps to bring it into existence have been taken. Railroad Gazette v. Wherry, 58 Mo. App. 423.

Circumstances under which defective acknowledgment of articles of incorporation does not make promoters liable for a purchase of land made in behalf of the intended corporation. See Shields v. Clifton Hill Land Co., 94 Tenn. 123, 28 S. W. 668, 45 Am. St. Rep. 700, 26 L. R. A. 509.

11. Higgins v. Hopkins, 3 Exch. 163, 18 L. J. Exch. 113, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 75.

12. Reynell v. Lewis, 16 L. J. Exch. 25, 15 M. & W. 517, 4 R. & Can. Cas. 351.

Considerations which under the English law are to govern the jury in determining the question. Bailey v. Macaulay, 13 Q. B. 815, 14 Jur. 80, 19 L. J. Q. B. 73, 66 E. C. L. 815; Kerridge v. Hesse, 9 C. & P. 200, 38 E. C. L. 126.

13. Such was the contract in Landman v. Entwistle, 7 Exch. 632, 21 L. J. Exch. 208; Higgins v. Hopkins, 3 Exch. 163, 18 L. J. Exch. 113, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 75. Compare Thomas v. Edwards, 2 M. & W. 215, Tyrw. & G. 872.

14. Savin v. Hoylake R. Co., L. R. 1 Exch. 9, 4 H. & C. 67, 11 Jur. N. S. 934, 35 L. J. Exch. 52, 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 374, 14 Wkly. Rep. 109.

15. Arkansas.— Garnett v. Richardson, 35 Ark. 144.

Illinois.— Biglow v. Gregory, 73 Ill. 197; Pettis v. Atkins, 60 Ill. 454.

Iowa.— Kaiser v. Lawrence Sav. Bank, 56 Iowa 104, 8 N. W. 772, 41 Am. Rep. 85.

Louisiana.— Field v. Cooks, 16 La. Ann. 153.

Michigan.— Eaton v. Walker, 76 Mich. 579, 43 N. W. 638, 6 L. R. A. 102.

Minnesota.— Johnson v. Corser, 34 Minn. 355, 25 N. W. 799.

Missouri.— Hurt v. Salisbury, 55 Mo. 310.

Nebraska.— Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416.

New Jersey.— Hill v. Beach, 12 N. J. Eq. 31.

not ordinarily bound by contracts made in its behalf by its promoters before it comes into existence, but is at liberty to ratify or reject them as it may see fit.[16] For example, where the signers of a promissory note affixed their names to it, with the addition of the words "directors," and "as directors," and in the body of the instrument promised "as directors" of the [corporation] to pay to the person named or to his order a certain sum, and the corporation had not yet acquired a legal existence, they were held liable to pay the same as partners.[17] Where a contract made in behalf of a pretended corporation is signed by one who professes to be signing "as agent," but who has no principal existing at the time, and the contract would be wholly inoperative unless binding upon the person who signed it, he is personally liable on it; and a stranger cannot, by a subsequent ratification, relieve him from liability.[18] This rule applies with full force to the managers of a pretended corporation who have carried on business and acquired credit in its pretended name, and especially where the business is such that the corporation if in existence would be prohibited from doing it.[19] It applies with peculiar force where the circumstances are such that the corporation could not have existed at all, as where the associates have assumed to form a corporation under a statute which is void.[20]

(v) When Promoters Liable on Ground of Fraud. If the promoters who assume to make contracts in the name of a corporation before it has been called into existence do so with the fraudulent purpose of deceiving the other party to the contract, they ought at least to pay the damages which they have thus visited upon the other party to it, on another principle which, stated in the most general terms, is that fraud followed by damage gives a right of action in tort for an indemnification. But, more particularly stated, the principle here is that they who cause injury to others by a fraudulent use of corporate powers are liable in damages therefor.[21]

(vi) Promoters Not Necessarily Liable as Partners. Promoters may or may not become liable as partners, each for the others, and consequently each for the whole indebtedness, according to the character in which they bind themselves, which, as already seen, will be a question of fact, except where that character is shown by an unambiguous writing; and this will be in an action at law a question of fact for the jury, and in a suit in equity a question of fact for the decision of the chancellor, depending upon the terms of the agreement and the circumstances of the case.[22] The doctrine of the English courts seems to be that persons who serve on provisional committees, appointed at public meetings or otherwise, for the purpose of getting up a company, are not ipso facto partners, so that one will be liable upon contracts made by the others, although special facts may exist which will make them liable as such.[23] The reason of the Pennsylvania.— Hess v. Werts, 4 Serg. & R. 356.

16. Erle, C. J., in Kelner v. Baxter, L. R. 2 C. P. 174, 12 Jur. N. S. 1016, 36 L. J. C. P. 94, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 313, 15 Wkly. Rep. 278.

17. Hurt v. Salisbury, 55 Mo. 310.

18. Kelner v. Baxter, L. R. 2 C. P. 174, 12 Jur. N. S. 1016, 36 L. J. C. P. 94, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 313, 15 Wkly. Rep. 278.

Other illustrative cases where promoters, assuming to contract for an existing corporation, were held personally liable are Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416; Scott v. Ebury, L. R. 2 C. P. 255, 36 L. J. C. P. 161, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 506, 15 Wkly. Rep. 517.

19. Fay v. Noble, 7 Cush. (Mass.) 188; Medill v. Collier, 16 Ohio St. 599.

20. Eaton v. Walker, 76 Mich. 579, 43 N. W. 638, 6 L. R. A. 102.

21. Trowbridge v. Scudder, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 83; Vose v. Grant, 15 Mass. 505; Medill v. Collier, 16 Ohio St. 599; Bartholomew v. Bentley, 1 Ohio St. 37; Bartholomew v. Bentley, 15 Ohio 659, 45 Am. Dec. 596.

22. Johnson v. Corser, 34 Minn. 355, 25 N. W. 799.

23. Bailey v. Macaulay, 13 Q. B. 815, 14 Jur. 80, 19 L. J. Q. B. 73, 66 E. C. L. 815; Newton v. Belcher, 12 Q. B. 921, 13 Jur. 253, 18 L. J. Q. B. 53, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 38, 64 E. C. L. 921; Forrester v. Bell, L. R. 10 Ir. 555; Matter of Wolverhampton, etc., R. Co., 1 Drew. 204, 2 Hall & T. 391, 16 Jur. 681, 19 L. J. Ch. 368, 2 Macn. & G. 192, 48 Eng. Ch. 148 [affirming 3 De G. & Sm. 205, 14 Jur. 539 note, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 310]; Land-

rule is said to be that a partnership is not created by agreement to organize a future partnership.[24] Another reason is that an agreement to form a corporation does not make the coadventurers partners with respect to their engagements made prior to the existence of the corporation, for the reason that there is no agreement among them to share any profit or loss.[25]

(VII) PROMOTERS NOT AS SUCH CONTRIBUTORIES. Promoters, being neither partners nor members of the company in virtue of the fact that they are promoters, are not liable, on the company being wound up, to contribute to the fund raised to pay its debts and to pay the expenses of the winding-up.[26] In the United States the rule would be substantially the same, and for substantially the same reasons. If the corporation had never become organized, then, in case of its being wound up in equity, the promoters would or would not be liable to contribute to the payment of its debts and to the expenses of its winding-up, according to the position in which, by their contracts, they had placed themselves, which would be a question of fact, or of fact and law, in each particular case. If the corporation had been called into existence, then they would not ordinarily be liable to contribute to the payment of its debts, for the reason that as promoters they are neither shareholders nor members of it.

(VIII) WHETHER ONE PROMOTER CAN SUE ANOTHER AT LAW—(A) In General. If promoters have assumed, as among themselves, the character of partners — which, as already seen, is prima facie not the case — then one of them cannot sue another for contribution in respect of a debt which they have contracted in their character as partners, under a well-known rule.[27] If, however, the defendant promoter personally undertook to pay the plaintiff promoter the rule would be different.[28] Thus if a person who is an inventor of a scheme gets gentlemen to act as a committee, with the intention of forming a joint-stock company to carry it into effect, and he himself acts as secretary to the committee, he cannot maintain an action against one of the committee for his services as such secretary, man v. Entwistle, 7 Exch. 632, 21 L. J. Exch. 208; Burnside v. Dayrell, 3 Exch. 224, 19 L. J. Exch. 46, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 67 [overruling Barnett v. Lambert, 15 M. & W. 489]; Higgins v. Hopkins, 3 Exch. 163, 18 L. J. Exch. 113, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 75; Norris v. Cottle, 2 H. L. Cas. 647, 14 Jur. 703; Carrick's Case, 15 Jur. 645, 20 L. J. Ch. 670, 1 Sim. N. S. 505, 40 Eng. Ch. 505; Wood v. Argyll, 13 L. J. C. P. 96, 6 M. & G. 928, 7 Scott N. R. 885, 46 E. C. L. 928; Matter of Wolverhampton, etc., R. Co., 2 Macn. & G. 185, 48 Eng. Ch. 143; Reynell v. Lewis, 15 M. & W. 517. See the observations of Lord Brougham in Norris v. Cottle, 2 H. L. Cas. 647, 14 Jur. 703. The cases of Holmes v. Higgins, 1 B. & C. 74, 2 D. & R. 196, 1 L. J. K. B. O. S. 47, 8 E. C. L. 33; Lucas v. Beach, 4 Jur. 631, 1 M. & G. 417, 1 Scott N. R. 350; 39 E. C. L. 831, and Hutton v. Upfill, 2 H. L. Cas. 674, are overruled on this point.

24. Forrester v. Bell, L. R. 10 Ir. 555. See to the general question Fay v. Noble, 7 Cush. (Mass.) 188; Bourne v. Freeth, 9 B. & C. 632, 1 L. J. K. B. O. S. 292, 4 M. & R. 512, 17 E. C. L. 285; Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 776, 8 L. J. C. P. O. S. 257, 4 M. & P. 676, 31 Rev. Rep. 536, 19 E. C. L. 347 [affirmed in 9 Bing. 115, 1 L. J. C. P. 180, 2 Moore & S. 146, 23 E. C. L. 509]. It is upon this ground that an allottee of shares in an abortive company is not a contributory. There never was a contract of partnership on his part, but only an agreement to become a partner in case the company should be formed under an act of parliament. Hutton v. Thompson, 3 H. L. Cas. 161.

25. Reynell v. Lewis, 16 L. J. Exch. 25, 15 M. & W. 517, 4 R. & Can. Cas. 351.

26. Matter of Direct Exeter, etc., R. Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 205, 14 Jur. 539 note, 6 R. & Can. 310 [affirmed in 1 Drew. 204, 2 Hall & T. 391, 16 Jur. 681, 19 L. J. Ch. 368, 2 Macn. & G. 192, 48 Eng. Ch. 148]; Bright v. Hutton, 3 H. L. Cas. 341, 16 Jur. 695 [overruling Hutton v. Upfill, 2 H. L. Cas. 674, and many previous English cases].

27. Milburn v. Codd, 7 B. & C. 419, 1 M. & R. 238, 14 E. C. L. 191.

28. Holmes v. Higgins, 1 B. & C. 74, 2 D. & R. 196, 1 L. J. K. B. O. S. 47, 8 E. C. L. 33; Goddard v. Hodges, 1 Cromp. & M. 33, 2 L. J. Exch. 20, 3 Tyrw. 209; Wilson v. Curzon, 11 Jur. 47, 16 L. J. Exch. 122, 16 M. & W. 532, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 24. But one who had entered into a contract to perform work and furnish materials with a committee associated together for the purpose of obtaining an act of parliament for making a turnpike road was not precluded from maintaining such an action by the fact that, subsequently to such contract, he became a shareholder in the company; although it would prevent him from recovering for the value of any services rendered subsequently to the time when he became a shareholder. Lucas v. Beach, 4 Jur. 631, 1 M. & G. 417, 1 Scott N. R. 350, 39 E. C. L. 831.

for his trouble, or for journeys which he undertakes in furtherance of the execution of the scheme, unless upon express evidence that the member of the committee whom he sues employed him.[29]

(B) Circumstances Under Which One Can Maintain Action Against Others For Contribution. If one promoter pays a debt for which all the promoters are liable, he may of course have contribution from the others in a proper proceeding. In such a case it seems that each pays an aliquot portion of the original indebtedness and no more — not being liable to contribute to make up deficiencies caused by the death or insolvency of any of the others.[30] Circumstances may of course arise in which one promoter will be entitled to maintain an action at law against another promoter to recover advances made at the special instance and request of such other — as where one committeeman incurs and pays costs, at the request of another committeeman, in bringing actions against still other committeemen to recover the amount of his claim, in which case he might at common law recover the amount of such costs from the committeeman at whose instance he sued, under the common count for money paid.[31]

29. Parkin v. Fry, 2 C. & P. 311, 12 E. C. L. 590.

30. Batard v. Hawes, 3 C. & K. 277, 2 E. & B. 287, 17 Jur. 1154, 22 L. J. Q. B. 443, 1 Wkly. Rep. 387, 75 E. C. L. 287. See to the same effect Edger v. Knapp, 1 D. & L. 73, 7 Jur. 583, 5 M. & G. 753, 6 Scott N. R. 707, 44 E. C. L. 393. Thus A, B, and C hired premises of D, for the purposes of a company, of which A, B, and C were the contract committeemen. The company having suffered the rent to get in arrear, D sued and recovered it of A. It was held that A could maintain separate actions at law against B and C for contribution. Boulter v. Peplow, 9 C. B. 493, 14 Jur. 248, 19 L. J. C. P. 190, 67 E. C. L. 493.

31. Bailey v. Macaulay, 13 Q. B. 815, 14 Jur. 80, 19 L. J. Q. B. 73, 66 E. C. L. 815. As to the action at law to recover upon an undertaking for the payment of money when an incorporated company which the parties proposed to form shall be organized see Childs v. Smith, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 45.

That a committeeman subsequently joining is not liable for engagements of committeemen made prior to his joining, unless made so by his own special agreement or conduct, see Beale v. Mouls, 10 Q. B. 976, 11 Jur. 845, 16 L. J. Q. B. 410, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 105, 59 E. C. L. 976. Compare for a similar rule in respect of incoming partners Woods v. Russell, 5 B. & Ald. 942, 1 D. & R. 587, 24 Rev. Rep. 621, 7 E. C. L. 512; Helsby v. Mears, 5 B. & C. 504, 8 D. & R. 289, 4 L. J. K. B. O. S. 214, 11 E. C. L. 559. And see further Clarke v. Spence, 4 A. & E. 448, 5 L. J. K. B. 161, 6 N. & M. 399, 31 E. C. L. 206; Maudslay v. Le Blanc, 2 C. & P. 409, 12 E. C. L. 643; Whitehead v. Barron, 2 M. & Rob. 248; Ex p. Peele, 6 Ves. Jr. 602; Ex p. Jackson, 1 Ves. Jr. 131, 1 Rev. Rep. 91.

Members of provisional committee in England are not, as matter of law, liable for the engagements of the managing committee appointed by them (Williams v. Pigott, 2 Exch. 201, 12 Jur. 313, 17 L. J. Exch. 196, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 544), in the absence of proof of an intention or an agreement to be so bound (Brown v. Andrew, 13 Jur. 938, 18 L. J. Q. B. 153), which would be a question of fact for a jury (Williams v. Pigott, 2 Exch. 201, 12 Jur. 313, 17 L. J. Exch. 196, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 544). If judgments are obtained in separate actions against persons who are jointly liable, for the same subject-matter, a satisfaction of one judgment is in effect a satisfaction of both. Bailey v. Haines, 15 Q. B. 533, 14 Jur. 835, 19 L. J. Q. B. 402, 69 E. C. L. 533; Turner v. Davies, 2 Saund. 137*l*. If therefore separate actions are brought against several committeemen of a projected corporation upon a demand for which they are jointly liable, and pending such actions one of them pays the whole debt and the costs in the suit against himself, the others will be entitled to have the proceeding against them stayed without payment of costs. Newton v. Blunt, 3 C. B. 675, 4 D. & L. 674, 16 L. J. C. P. 121, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 29, 54 E. C. L. 675. "A plaintiff who, to multiply his chances of success, brings several actions for a joint debt against the co-contractors, has no reason to complain if his success in obtaining payment of the debt and costs in one, deprives him of the right to recover costs in the other actions." Joint contractors are entitled, under this rule, to be discharged without payment of costs, even after verdict, if judgment against them has not been signed. Nor does it make any difference that separate evidence may be necessary to establish the joint liability of each of the committeemen separately sued; for it frequently happens, where actions on joint contracts are brought against several, that it is necessary to establish the case against each by separate evidence. Bailey v. Haines, 15 Q. B. 533, 538, 14 Jur. 835, 19 L. J. Q. B. 402, 69 E. C. L. 533, per Lord Campbell, C. J. Upon the question of what evidence may be resorted to to charge committeemen with the debts incurred in promoting a corporation see Bailey v. Macaulay, 13 Q. B. 815, 14 Jur. 80, 19 L. J. Q. B. 73, 66 E. C. L. 815; Matter of Direct Exeter, etc., R. Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 224 [affirmed in 2 d. Liability of Promoters to Company—(i) Promoters Must Account to Future Corporation For Secret Profits. Although the promoters of a corporation are not its agents for the purpose of binding it by their acts and engagements,[32] yet they are its fiduciaries; they occupy such a relation of trust and confidence toward the body which they are calling into existence — or, more properly speaking, toward those whom they invite to join them in the intended enterprise by becoming members of such body — as requires the same good faith on their part which the law exacts of the directors of corporations and of other fiduciaries. They are trustees in a sense which disables them from taking to themselves a secret profit made out of their trust, to the detriment of the future corporation or its members; and they will be required to account for such profits to the corporation, to its shareholders, or to its receiver or other representative in insolvency proceedings.[33]

Macn. & G. 176, 48 Eng. Ch. 137 (reversed in 3 Macn. & G. 287, 49 Eng. Ch. 217)] (committeeman leaving the room before passage of resolution incurring the liability, not bound to contribute to its liquidation); Matter of Direct Exeter, etc., R. Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 205, 14 Jur. 539 note, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 310 [affirmed in 1 Drew. 204, 2 Hall & T. 391, 16 Jur. 681, 19 L. J. Ch. 368, 2 Macn. & G. 192, 48 Eng. Ch. 148]; Reynell v. Lewis, 16 L. J. Exch. 25, 15 M. & W. 517, 4 R. & Can. Cas. 351. That a member of such committee, who takes part in its affairs so as to make himself liable for contracts made on a given day, does not thereby make himself liable for services rendered after that day where the order for such services was given before it see Newton v. Belcher, 12 Q. B. 921, 13 Jur. 253, 18 L. J. Q. B. 53, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 38, 64 E. C. L. 921. For further illustrations of evidence to charge committeemen under the English law see Abbott v. Cobb, 17 Vt. 593; Newton v. Belcher, 12 Q. B. 921, 13 Jur. 253, 18 L. J. Q. B. 53, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 38, 64 E. C. L. 921; Riley v. Packington, L. R. 2 C. P. 536, 36 L. J. C. P. 204, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 382, 15 Wkly. Rep. 746; Patrick v. Reynolds, 1 C. B. N. S. 727, 87 E. C. L. 727; Matter of Direct Exeter, etc., R. Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 214; Wood v. Duke of Argyll, 13 L. J. C. P. 96, 6 M. & G. 928, 7 Scott N. R. 885, 46 E. C. L. 928; Reynell v. Lewis, 16 L. J. Exch. 25, 15 M. & W. 517, 4 R. & Can. Cas. 351; Matter of Direct Exeter, etc., R. Co., 3 Macn. & G. 287, 49 Eng. Ch. 217 [reversing 2 Macn. & G. 176, 48 Eng. Ch. 137 (affirming 3 De G. & Sm. 224)]. Compare Braithwaite v. Skofield, 9 B. & C. 401, 7 L. J. K. B. O. S. 274, 17 E. C. L. 184; Hole's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 241; Rennie v. Clarke, 5 Exch. 292, 19 L. J. Exch. 278.

For a collection of facts which were held sufficient to charge all the members of an abortive corporation with expenses incurred in prosecuting the work which it was intended the corporation should prosecute when called into existence see Johnson v. Corser, 34 Minn. 355, 25 N. W. 799.

Evidence to charge the associates with liability for the expenses of an agent chosen by them to procure a charter for the corporation where the agent failed in his quest see Sproat v. Porter, 9 Mass. 300.

32. See supra, I, Q, 2.

33. California.— Burbank v. Dennis, 101 Cal. 90, 35 Pac. 444; Ex-Mission Land, etc., Co. v. Flash, 97 Cal. 610, 32 Pac. 600.

Connecticut.— Yale Gas Stove Co. v. Wilcox, 64 Conn. 101, 29 Atl. 303, 42 Am. St. Rep. 159, 25 L. R. A. 90.

Kentucky.— Paducah Land, etc., Co. v. Mulholland, 24 S. W. 624, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 624.

Massachusetts.— Emery v. Parrott, 107 Mass. 95.

Missouri.— South Joplin Land Co. v. Case, 104 Mo. 572, 16 S. W. 390; St. Louis, etc., Min. Co. v. Jackson, 5 Centr. L. J. 317.

New Jersey.— Woodbury Heights Land Co. v. Loudenslager, 55 N. J. Eq. 78, 35 Atl. 436; Plaquemines Tropical Fruit Co. v. Buck, 52 N. J. Eq. 219, 27 Atl. 1094.

New York.— Getty v. Devlin, 54 N. Y. 403, 70 N. Y. 504.

Pennsylvania.— Densmore Oil Co. v. Densmore, 64 Pa. St. 43; Simons v. Vulcan Oil, etc., Co., 61 Pa. St. 202, 100 Am. Dec. 628; McElhenny's Appeal, 61 Pa. St. 188.

Virginia.— Central Land Co. v. Obenchain, 92 Va. 130, 22 S. E. 876.

Wisconsin.— Fountain Spring Park Co. v. Roberts, 92 Wis. 345, 66 N. W. 399, 53 Am. St. Rep. 917; Pittsburg Min. Co. v. Spooner, 74 Wis. 307, 42 N. W. 259, 17 Am. St. Rep. 149; Cook v. Berlin Woolen Mill Co., 43 Wis. 433; In re Taylor Orphan Asylum, 36 Wis. 534; Pickett v. Wiota School Dist. No. 1, 25 Wis. 551, 3 Am. Rep. 105; Puzey v. Senier, 9 Wis. 370.

United States.— Krohn v. Williamson, 62 Fed. 869; Chandler v. Bacon, 30 Fed. 538.

England.— Whaley Bridge Calico Printing Co. v. Green, 5 Q. B. D. 109, 49 L. J. Q. B. 326, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 674, 28 Wkly. Rep. 351; Kimber v. Barber, L. R. 8 Ch. 56, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 526, 21 Wkly. Rep. 65; Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Grant, 11 Ch. D. 918, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 804; Bagnall v. Carlton, 6 Ch. D. 371, 47 L. J. Ch. 30, 37 L. T. Rep. N. S. 481, 26 Wkly. Rep. 243; New Sombrero Phosphate Co. v. Erlanger, 5 Ch. D. 73, 46 L. J. Ch. 425, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 222, 25 Wkly. Rep. 436; Tyrrell v. London Bank, 10 H. L. Cas. 26, 8 Jur. N. S. 849, 31 L. J. Ch. 369, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 1, 10 Wkly. Rep. 359; Beck v. Kantorowicz, 3 Kay & J. 230; Fawcet v. Whitehouse, 4 L. J. Ch. O. S. 64,

(II) Bound to Provide Company With Independent Board of Directors and to Make Full Disclosures to Them— (A) Rule Stated. The foregoing principle requires two things on the part of the promoter: (1) In organizing the intended corporation, to see that it is provided with a board of directors which in dealing with him will act independently and individually for the company and not for him.[34] (2) To make a full and fair disclosure to such directors of his interest and of all the facts which the corporation ought to know before entering into the intended contract.[35]

(B) What Is Full and Fair Disclosure. The promoter must faithfully state to the governing body of the company, or to its shareholders, all material facts relating to the property which they propose to sell to the company which would be likely to influence the company or the shareholders in deciding the question of the desirability of purchasing it.[36] It has been held that the mere statement in a prospectus inviting subscriptions to the stock of a corporation of the date and parties to an agreement, by which a seller of property taken by the corporation offers the promoters a certain sum for the formation of the company, is a sufficient disclosure.[37] If — as happened in several of the foregoing cases — there was not only not a full and fair disclosure, but affirmative misrepresentation, fraud, and deceit, then not only the promoter, but other persons as well, who stand in no fiduciary relation toward the corporation or its members, but who, with knowledge of the fraud, concur with the promoter in carrying out his fraudulent scheme, will become liable to the corporation for what it has lost thereby.[38]

(III) Cannot Purchase at One, and Sell to Company at Higher, Valuation, Without Full Disclosure. The common form which the breaches of trust by promoters toward the future company and toward those whom they may induce to join the future company assume is the purchasing of property at one valuation, and then, without making a full and fair disclosure of the facts to those whom they induce to join the enterprise, or to the managing body of the future company whom they in a sense create, the selling of it to the company at a

8 L. J. Ch. O. S. 50, 1 Russ. & M. 132, 5 Eng. Ch. 132; Charlton v. Hay, 31 L. T. Rep. N. S. 437, 23 Wkly. Rep. 129; Hichens v. Congreve, 1 Russ. & M. 150, 5 Eng. Ch. 150.

Canada.— Matter of Hess Mfg. Co., 23 Can. Supreme Ct. 644 [affirming 21 Ont. App. 66].

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 98.

34. Erlanger v. New Sombrero Phosphate Co., 3 App. Cas. 1218, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 26 Wkly. Rep. 65 [affirming 5 Ch. D. 73].

A later case denies this doctrine and holds that there is no duty imposed on the promoters of a company to provide it with an independent board of directors, if the real truth is disclosed to those who are induced by the promoters to join the company; so that where the promoters are vendors to the company the contract of sale cannot be set aside under such circumstances merely because the board of directors were not independent. Lagunas Nitrate Co. v. Lagunas Syndicate, [1899] 2 Ch. 392, 68 L. J. Ch. 699, 81 L. T. Rep. N. S. 334, 48 Wkly. Rep. 74.

35. Erlanger v. New Sombrero Phosphate Co., 3 App. Cas. 1218, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 26 Wkly. Rep. 65 (per Lord Penzance); Lagunas Nitrate Co. v. Lagunas Syndicate, [1899] 2 Ch. 392, 68 L. J. Ch. 699, 81 L. T. Rep. N. S. 334, 48 Wkly. Rep. 74 [distinguishing Salomon v. Salomon, [1897] A. C. 22, 66 L. J. Ch. 35, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 426, 4 Manson 89, 45 Wkly. Rep. 193, which does not seem to have been well decided]. Where land has been bought by the promoters at one price and sold to the corporation at a much higher price, the fact that one of the promoters, in selling the shares which he received for his interest in the land, represented that the land had been turned over to the corporation at what it had cost the promoters does not give a right of action to the corporation against such promoter, unless, in the state of the law, such a right of action otherwise exists. Spaulding v. North Milwaukee Town Sits Co., 106 Wis. 481, 81 N. W. 1064.

36. Erlanger v. New Sombrero Phosphate Co., 3 App. Cas. 1218, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 26 Wkly. Rep. 65 [affirming 5 Ch. D. 73].

37. Re Sale Hotel, 78 L. T. Rep. N. S. 368, 46 Wkly. Rep. 617 [reversing 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 681].

38. Fountain Spring Park Co. v. Roberts, 92 Wis. 345, 66 N. W. 399, 53 Am. St. Rep. 917. For a case where a corporation was defrauded by having land transferred to it at one thousand five hundred dollars an acre, taking its shares in payment, which had been bought by the promoters for one thousand dollars an acre, and where under the circumstances the fraud was regarded as that of one of them perpetrated upon another, vesting the right of action in that other, see Spaulding v. North Milwaukee Town Site Co., 106 Wis. 481, 81 N. W. 1064.

higher price, and thereby taking to themselves a secret profit. Such transactions can never be allowed to stand where justice is properly administered, but they will be enjoined in equity, and the promoters will be compelled to account for and to disgorge the secret profit which they have thus made fraudulently and in breach of their trust; and in some jurisdictions the corporation may sue and recover the sum in actions at law.[39] The theory upon which the courts work out this conclusion and apply the remedy may not be material; at least, it will be sufficient to say that when the corporation, through its governing body, acquires full knowledge of all the facts of the transaction, it may, like any other trustee under similar circumstances, elect to affirm or disaffirm or to charge the profits made by the trustee or agent with an implied trust for his benefit.[40] It is immaterial that the company gets the property at a good bargain. This does not relieve the promoter from liability, for the company has a right to the best bargain which those acting in its interest as fiduciaries can, with full knowledge of the facts, give it.[41] Nor is it an answer to such an action that the company is a fluctuating body, and that it may be that no person who was a member at the time of the transactions is a member at the time of the bringing of the suit; but in such case the court is bound to consider the company as having a perpetual existence, and is not at liberty to go into the question of what individuals compose it.[42]

(IV) Company May Proceed Against Promoters to Recover Secret Profits Either in Equity or at Law. Promoters who thus, in breach of their trust and in fraud of the corporation, take to themselves secret profits are liable to account for the same in equity at the suit of the corporation;[43] and it may maintain an action of assumpsit against them and recover such profits where an accounting is not necessary, as so much money had and received by them to its use, although the gravamen of the action is fraud and deceit.[44] The fact that

39. See infra, I, Q, 7, d, (IV).

40. Kansas.— St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Tiernan, 37 Kan. 606, 15 Pac. 544.

Massachusetts.— Parker v. Nickerson, 137 Mass. 487; Parker v. Nickerson, 112 Mass. 195.

Pennsylvania.— Simonds v. Vulcan Oil, etc., Co., 61 Pa. St. 202, 100 Am. Dec. 628.

Wisconsin.— Cook v. Berlin Woolen Mill Co., 43 Wis. 433; In re Taylor Orphan Asylum, 36 Wis. 534; Pickett v. Wiota School Dist. No. 1, 25 Wis. 551, 3 Am. Rep. 105; Puzey v. Senier, 9 Wis. 370.

England.— Kimber v. Barber, L. R. 8 Ch. 56, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 526, 21 Wkly. Rep. 65; Society, etc. v. Abbott, 2 Beav. 559, 4 Jur. 453, 9 L. J. Ch. 307, 17 Eng. Ch. 559; In re British Seamless Paper Box Co., 17 Ch. D. 467, 50 L. J. Ch. 497, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 498, 29 Wkly. Rep. 690; New Sombrero Phosphate Co. v. Erlanger, 5 Ch. D. 73, 46 L. J. Ch. 425, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 222, 25 Wkly. Rep. 436; Tyrrell v. London Bank, 10 H. L. Cas. 26, 8 Jur. N. S. 849, 31 L. J. Ch. 369, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 1, 10 Wkly. Rep. 359.

See also Morowitz Priv. Corp. (1st ed.) § 279 [commenting on New Sombrero Phosphate Co. v. Erlanger, 5 Ch. D. 73, 46 L. J. Ch. 425, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 222, 25 Wkly. Rep. 436]. And note the strong language of Sir Nathaniel Lindley in the first edition of his celebrated work on Partnership. Lindley Partn. (1st ed.) 497. See also the opinion of Sir John Romilly, M. R., in London Bank v. Tyrrell, 5 Jur. N. S. 924 [distinguishing Great Luxembourg R. Co. v. Magnay, 25 Beav. 586, 4 Jur. N. S. 839, 6 Wkly. Rep. 711]; and the language of Thompson, J., in Simons v. Vulcan Oil, etc., Co., 61 Pa. St. 202, 100 Am. Dec. 628.

41. Beck v. Kantorowicz, 3 Kay & J. 230.

42. Phosphate Sewage Co. v. Hartmont, 5 Ch. D. 394, 46 L. J. Ch. 661, 37 L. T. Rep. N. S. 9, 24 Wkly. Rep. 530.

For illustrative cases see Chandler v. Bacon, 30 Fed. 538; Atwool v. Merryweather, L. R. 5 Eq. 464 note; Erlanger v. New Sombrero Phosphate Co., 3 App. Cas. 1218, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 26 Wkly. Rep. 65 [affirming 5 Ch. D. 73]; Nant-y-glo, etc., Ironworks Co. v. Grave, 12 Ch. D. 738, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 345, 26 Wkly. Rep. 504; Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Grant, 11 Ch. D. 918, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 804; In re British Provident L., etc., Assoc., 5 Ch. D. 306, 46 L. J. Ch. 360, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 329, 25 Wkly. Rep. 476; In re Moriah Consols Tin Min. Co., 2 Ch. D. 1, 45 L. J. Ch. 148, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 517, 24 Wkly. Rep. 49; In re Western of Canada Oil, etc., Co., 1 Ch. D. 115, 45 L. J. Ch. 5, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 645, 24 Wkly. Rep. 165.

43. Atwool v. Merryweather, L. R. 5 Eq. 464 note; Lydney, etc., Iron Ore Co. v. Bird, 33 Ch. D. 85, 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 558, 34 Wkly. Rep. 749; Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Grant, 11 Ch. D. 918, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 804. Compare Hayward v. Leeson, 176 Mass. 310, 57 N. E. 656, 49 L. R. A. 725; Cumberland Coal, etc., Co. v. Sherman, 30 Barb. (N. Y.) 553.

44. Simons v. Vulcan Oil, etc., Co., 61 Pa. St. 202, 100 Am. Dec. 628; Whaley Bridge the directors may have had knowledge of the fraud when it was perpetrated by the promoters will be no defense, as matter of law, to such an action, since they may have been in collusion with the promoters in defrauding the company.[45]

(v) Cases in Which Promoters Are Not Required to Account For Profits. The foregoing principles do not apply where the contract is made at a time when no fiduciary relation exists, before the relation of promoter has been assumed. In such a case the person selling property to the company is not bound to disclose what he gave for the property; the case stands precisely like a case of bargain and sale between two strangers; and if without fraud he gets a good bargain from the company it is so much good fortune for him.[46] So the mere fact that a person sells property to a corporation and afterward becomes a director in it does not make him liable for the profit which he acquired, if he acted openly and honestly and as an independent vendor.[47] Even where the fiduciary relation exists, the rule prohibits only the taking of secret profits by the promoter from the corporation which he promotes. It does not inhibit the taking of open profits. It does not prevent a promoter from buying property, and then organizing a corporation and selling the property to the corporation at a profit to himself, so that he does it fairly and openly, and so that there is a body representing the corporation independently of himself with whom he may deal — a body acting independently for the corporation, and not merely his own dummies.[48]

(vi) Company May Affirm Promoters' Contract and Enforce It For Its Own Benefit. It is not at all necessary to the right of the company, as against its promoters, to recover whatever secret profits they have made in violation of their trust that there should be a rescission of the contract between them and the strangers from whom they may have purchased the property which they have conveyed to the company at an enhanced price.[49] On the contrary it is within the pleasure of the company to elect to disaffirm and recover specifically what it has parted with, where such a recovery can be had, or to affirm and compel its promoters to account for their profits.[50] And if part of the "promotion money," as it is termed in the English books, remains unpaid, the company may recover it, in an action at law against the vendors, as so much money belonging to the company and not to its promoters.[51]

(vii) Not Necessary That Company Rescind Whole Transaction. It is not necessary for the company, when it comes into existence, to rescind the whole transaction. It may affirm the transaction in so far as it is honest, and disaffirm it in so far as it is fraudulent and against its rights.[52]

Calico Printing Co. v. Green, 5 Q. B. D. 109, 49 L. J. Q. B. 326, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 674, 28 Wkly. Rep. 351; Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Lewis, 4 C. P. D. 396, 48 L. J. C. P. 257, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 168, 27 Wkly. Rep. 836 (holding that such an action at law may be maintained on the ground of conspiracy). Unsuccessful action for damages by shareholder against a promoter, on the ground that he had received promotion money not stated in the prospectus. Arkwright v. Newbold, 17 Ch. D. 301, 50 L. J. Ch. 372, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 393, 29 Wkly. Rep. 455.

45. Simons v. Vulcan Oil, etc., Co., 61 Pa. St. 202, 100 Am. Dec. 628.

46. In re Coal Economising Gas Co., 1 Ch. D. 182, 45 L. J. Ch. 83, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 619, 24 Wkly. Rep. 125. See also Erlanger v. New Sombrero Phosphate Co., 3 App. Cas. 1218, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 26 Wkly. Rep. 65 [affirming 5 Ch. D. 73, and reversing the decision of Vice-Chancellor Malins in 5 Ch. D. 91, which proceeded on the authority of Gover's case].

47. Densmore Oil Co. v. Densmore, 64 Pa. St. 43; Lungren v. Pennell, 10 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 297; Albion Steel, etc., Co. v. Martin, 1 Ch. D. 580, 45 L. J. Ch. 173, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 660, 24 Wkly. Rep. 134.

48. Plaquemines Tropical Fruit Co. v. Buck, 52 N. J. Eq. 219, 27 Atl. 1094; Erlanger v. New Sombrero Phosphate Co., 3 App. Cas. 1218, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 26 Wkly. Rep. 65.

49. Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Lewis, 4 C. P. D. 396, 48 L. J. C. P. 257, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 168, 27 Wkly. Rep. 836. Compare Ladywell Min. Co. v. Brookes, 35 Ch. D. 400, 56 L. J. Ch. 684, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 677, 35 Wkly. Rep. 785.

50. Chandler v. Bacon, 30 Fed. 538.

51. Whaley Bridge Calico Printing Co. v. Green, 5 Q. B. D. 109, 49 L. J. Q. B. 326, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 674, 28 Wkly. Rep. 351.

52. This was held in Lydney, etc., Iron Ore Co. v. Bird, 33 Ch. D. 85, 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 558, 34 Wkly. Rep. 749. It is illustrated by the following cases, in none of which

(VIII) RIGHT OF PROMOTERS TO REIMBURSEMENT OR DEDUCTIONS FOR EXPENSES INCURRED IN PROMOTING COMPANY. In a proceeding whereby the promoters of a corporation are held to account for secret profits they will be entitled to reimbursements or deductions to the extent of expenses which they have bona fide incurred and paid in promoting the corporation; as for example in procuring options upon property for the benefit of the prospective corporation;[53] and to the extent of the money charged for the report, the fees paid to solicitors and brokers, the sums paid for printing, advertising, etc., but not for payments made by a fraudulent promoter in procuring the issue of shares or for a sum which such a promoter had expended in obtaining from another person a guarantee to a sharetaker who had been induced to subscribe for some of the shares.[54]

(IX) NO DEFENSE TO PROMOTER THAT COMPANY HAS COMPROMISED SUIT AGAINST VENDORS. The fact that the company has compromised a suit against the vendors, for rescission of the contract of sale, affords no defense, in an action against the promoters, to compel them to account for secret profits; since the promoters occupy toward the company a position entirely different from that of vendors who are strangers to it.[55]

(X) PROMOTERS BOUND TO DISCLOSE WHAT THEY ARE TO GET FOR THEIR SERVICES. It is a part of this doctrine that the promoters of a company are bound to disclose to those whom they induce to become members of the company what their compensation for promoting the company is to be — concealment of which fact is treated as a fraud upon the future company.[56]

(XI) NATURE AND INSTANCES OF REMEDY IN EQUITY. To enable the corporation to sue and recover the secret profits thus made by a promoter, no offer to rescind is necessary; and this, although the property which the corporation was induced to purchase was worth as much or more than was paid for it.[57] If the promoters, while they are still shareholders, vote to issue their shares to themselves in payment for their services rendered to it in securing options on land which they assign to it, the stock so issued equalizing the estimated profits to be

was the whole transaction set aside: Whaley Bridge Calico Printing Co. v. Green, 5 Q. B. D. 109, 49 L. J. Q. B. 326, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 674, 28 Wkly. Rep. 351; Bagnall v. Carlton, 6 Ch. D. 371, 47 L. J. Ch. 30, 37 L. T. Rep. N. S. 481, 26 Wkly. Rep. 243; Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Lewis, 4 C. P. D. 396, 48 L. J. C. P. 257, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 168, 27 Wkly. Rep. 836; Beck v. Kantorowicz, 3 Kay & J. 230.

53. Hayward v. Leeson, 176 Mass. 310, 57 N. E. 656, 49 L. R. A. 725. Or, in England, in securing the services of directors, and providing their qualifications, and in payments made to the brokers and officers of the company, and to the public press in advertising it. Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Grant, 11 Ch. D. 918, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 804.

54. Lydney, etc., Iron Ore Co. v. Bird, 33 Ch. D. 85, 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 558, 34 Wkly. Rep. 749.

55. Bagnall v. Carlton, 6 Ch. D. 371, 47 L. J. Ch. 30, 37 L. T. Rep. N. S. 481, 26 Wkly. Rep. 243.

56. In re Hereford, etc., Waggon, etc., Co., 2 Ch. D. 621, 45 L. J. Ch. 461. But the concealment of a subagreement between the promoters of a company and four of its directors by which a part of a sum which, according to the articles of association, is to be paid to the promoters for their labor and expense in getting up the concern is in fact paid to such directors vitiates the whole contract between the company and promoters. In re Madrid Bank, L. R. 2 Eq. 216, 35 L. J. Ch. 474, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 456, 14 Wkly. Rep. 706. But where H, a contractor, obtained from one of the cantons of Switzerland a concession for building a railroad, which concession he transferred to a company formed for that purpose, it was held no ground for relieving a shareholder in such company from his contract of subscription that H secretly agreed to give to a certain director paid-up shares in consideration of his consenting to act as a director; or that he had secretly given to two other persons, who afterward became directors, a sum of money in bills, in consideration of their procuring a credit company to bring out the railway company in question. The reason assigned by Lord Romilly, M. R., for so holding was that these transactions were not such as materially affected the success of the undertaking, and hence the fact that they had been concealed from the shareholder would not entitle him to say that if he had known of them he would not have taken the shares. Heymann v. European Cent. R. Co., L. R. 7 Eq. 154.

57. Yale Gas Stove Co. v. Wilcox, 64 Conn. 101, 29 Atl. 303, 42 Am. St. Rep. 159, 25 L. R. A. 90. Circumstances under which a derived from such options, and thereafter invite the public to subscribe for shares, without disclosing to the subscribers the consideration for which they have acquired them, or without getting the consent of the subscribers to the payment of such remuneration, they are guilty of a fraud upon the subscribers and the company; and the company can, without reconveying the lands acquired under the options, maintain an action for the recovery of the shares or for damages for the loss of them. In such a case the fraudulent promoters may not only be compelled to account for the shares so received with the dividends thereon received by them; for the proceeds of any sales of the shares made by them, with interest from the dates of the sales; for the market value of the shares at the time when they were issued and thus acquired by the promoters; or, if they had no market value at the time when they were issued, for the reason that the corporation was not yet launched, then for the value at a time when a market value of them may be found to have been established.[58] It has been said that in such cases equity does not give damages, but decrees a restoration of the thing wrongfully taken, that is, the money received, or an equal sum, with interest.[59] The company recovers from the promoter the amount of profit which he has made out of the secret agreement. This is not necessarily the round sum which he secretly received from the vendor of the property; nor, where the transaction has taken the form of a sale of the property by the vendor to him, and by him to the company, is it necessarily the round difference between the amount which he received from the company and the amount which he paid to the vendor; but it is the net profit which he made out of the transaction — what went into his pocket beyond what would have gone there if no such transaction had taken place. In other words he must surrender to the company the sum he received, less the costs, charges, and expenses properly incurred by him in the promotion of the company.[60] In taking an account of such profits he would be credited with all sums bona fide expended by him in procuring the services of directors and providing their qualification, and all bona fide payments made to promoters and officers of the company, and to the public press in relation to the company.[61] It is needless to add that arrangements by which promoters get secret profits at the expense of the corporation will not be judicially enforced,[62] especially where the rights of innocent third parties have supervened.[63]

(XII) Liable to Company For Fraudulent Misrepresentations or Concealments. Where promoters, through fraudulent misrepresentations, or negative concealments of the truth which it is their duty to disclose, foist property upon the corporation which they are bringing into existence at an excessive valuation the company may maintain an action in equity against them, and also against the directors who concur in the fraud, to recover what it has lost thereby.[64] But judgment setting aside a purchase-money mortgage from a corporation to its promoters need not rescind the sale and restore the land. Ex-Mission Land, etc., Co. v. Flash, 97 Cal. 610, 32 Pac. 600.

58. Hayward v. Leeson, 176 Mass. 310, 57 N. E. 656, 49 L. R. A. 725.

59. McElhenny's Appeal, 61 Pa. St. 188.

60. Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Grant, 11 Ch. D. 918, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 804; Bagnall v. Carlton, 6 Ch. D. 371, 47 L. J. Ch. 30, 37 L. T. Rep. N. S. 481, 26 Wkly. Rep. 243.

61. Emma Silver Min. Co. v. Grant, 11 Ch. D. 918, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 804.

62. Yale Gas Stove Co. v. Wilcox, 64 Conn. 101, 29 Atl. 303, 42 Am. St. Rep. 159, 25 L. R. A. 90.

63. Dillon v. Commercial Cable Co., 87 Hun (N. Y.) 444, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 370, 68 N. Y. St. 449. The supreme court of Canada have reasoned that a sale to a corporation by its promoter, through a board of directors not independent of him, may be rescinded if the property remains in such a position that the parties may be restored to their original status. Matter of Hess Mfg. Co., 23 Can. Supreme Ct. 644 [affirming 21 Ont. App. 66].

64. The ruling principle is found in the leading case of Charitable Corp. v. Sutton, 2 Atk. 400, 9 Mod. 349, 26 Eng. Reprint 642, where Lord Hardwicke held that a corporation can maintain an action against its directors to recover money lost through their gross frauds or breaches of trust. The following cases are to the same effect: St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Tiernan, 37 Kan. 606, 15 Pac. 544; Pittsburg Min. Co. v. Spooner, 74 Wis. 307, 42 N. W. 259, 17 Am. St. Rep. 149; Overend, etc., Co. v. Gibb, L. R. 5 H. L. 480, 42 L. J. Ch. 67; Lindsay Petroleum Co.

promoters are not liable for representations made in good faith, with an honest belief in their truth; since they are not in the fullest sense guarantors of the truth of their representations unless they have agreed to become such,[65] although where they make a representation in unqualified terms, intending that those to whom they make it shall act upon it, but without knowing whether it is true or false, then they are so liable.

e. Who May Bring Action in Equity. On a principle hereafter discussed when treating of the rights of shareholders, it will appear that primarily the right of action lies in the defrauded corporation, as already seen; but if the directors have connived with or participated in the fraud, and, being in control of the machinery of the corporation, refuse to bring the action, a court of equity will open its doors to an action by a defrauded shareholder, on behalf of himself and the other shareholders except the defendants, upon his showing that the directors have refused to allow the action to be brought in the name of the company.[66] But it will be shown hereafter, when treating of the rights of shareholders, that they are not proper plaintiffs, unless they can make it appear that they have made a fair and successful effort to induce the directors to bring the action in the name of the corporation, or unless upon cause shown the court sees fit to allow them to be joined as plaintiffs.[67]

8. Liability of Aiders and Abetters of Fraudulent Promoters. In such an action, where there is more than one defendant, in order to sustain a joint recovery against them, it is necessary to show that they were partners in the fraudulent scheme, or else that they participated in the proceeds of the fraud.[68]

v. Hurd, L. R. 5 P. C. 221, 22 Wkly. Rep. 492; Society, etc. v. Abbott, 2 Beav. 559, 4 Jur. 453, 9 L. J. Ch. 307, 17 Eng. Ch. 559; Phosphate Sewage Co. v. Hartmont, 5 Ch. D. 394, 46 L. J. Ch. 661, 37 L. T. Rep. N. S. 9, 24 Wkly. Rep. 530; In re Morvah Consols Tin Min. Co., 2 Ch. D. 1, 45 L. J. Ch. 148, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 517, 24 Wkly. Rep. 49. See also Panama, etc., Tel. Co. v. India Rubber, etc., Co., L. R. 10 Ch. 515, 45 L. J. Ch. 121, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 517, 23 Wkly. Rep. 583; Ireland Land Credit Co. v. Fermoy, L. R. 5 Ch. 763, 39 L. J. Ch. 477, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 439, 18 Wkly. Rep. 1089; Joint Stock Discount Co. v. Brown, L. R. 8 Eq. 381, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 844, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1037. As to the like liability of the directors see infra, IX, O, 9. The same result has been reached in England by putting the fraudulent promoters on the list of contributories in the event of insolvency and winding-up. In re Royal Victoria Palace Theatre Syndicate, L. R. 18 Eq. 661, 43 L. J. Ch. 751, 31 L. T. Rep. N. S. 83, 22 Wkly. Rep. 873.

65. Petrie v. Guelph Lumber Co., 11 Can. Supreme Ct. 451. It has been thought by some courts that, while this doctrine is sound in its application to the fraudulent misrepresentations or concealments of existing corporations, it does not apply to the same misrepresentations or concealments when made by commissioners whose office it is to procure subscriptions to a future corporation. Rutz v. Esler, etc., Mfg. Co., 3 Ill. App. 83; Smith v. Heidecker, 39 Mo. 157. But this view is plainly untenable.

For a case illustrating the text, where certain persons obtained a mining option for twenty thousand dollars, and, by fraudulently representing to the persons whom they induced to join them to complete the purchase that it would cost ninety thousand dollars, and the profit of seventy thousand dollars was pocketed by the fraudulent promoters, and the corporation maintained an action to recover it, see Pittsburg Min. Co. v. Spooner, 74 Wis. 307, 42 N. W. 259, 17 Am. St. Rep. 149, Lyon, J., dissenting.

It is no defense to such an action that the corporation raised the money to make the purchase from the fraudulent promoters, by making an illegal issue of stock. Pittsburg Min. Co. v. Spooner, 74 Wis. 307, 42 N. W. 259, 17 Am. St. Rep. 149, opinion by Taylor, J.

66. Atwool v. Merryweather, 37 L. J. Ch. 35. Compare Beatty v. Neelon, 13 Can. Supreme Ct. 1. That shareholders who have been defrauded by such a secret arrangement on the part of the promoters are proper plaintiffs in a suit in equity to compel them to account for the secret profits was held in Getty v. Devlin, 70 N. Y. 504, 54 N. Y. 403 [affirming 9 Hun (N. Y.) 603].

67. That latitude is allowed in the admission of evidence in actions for the redress of such frauds see Massey v. Young, 73 Mo. 260; Simons v. Vulcan Oil, etc., Co., 61 Pa. St. 202, 100 Am. Dec. 628.

68. Simons v. Vulcan Oil, etc., Co., 61 Pa. St. 202, 100 Am. Dec. 628. Thus, in the celebrated case of Colt v. Woollaston, 2 P. Wms. 154, 157, 24 Eng. Reprint 679, it was held just that one of the defendants named Arnold as well as the principal defendant Woollaston, should be charged; "for as Woollaston was the first projector and procurer of the patent, and purchaser of the land, so Arnold was his trustee, accepted the conveyance, was the treasurer, received the money, II. REORGANIZATION AND REINCORPORATION.

A. General Considerations — 1. Distinction Between Continuation of Old Corporation and Creation of New. It is often a matter of great importance to determine whether the effect of a statutory provision or a corporate act is to revive and continue an old corporation or to create a new one.[69] If it has the latter effect, the new corporation does not possess the rights and is not subject to the liabilities of the old one,[70] but if the effect is simply to renew or continue an old corporation its identity remains unchanged and its liabilities unimpaired.[71] and gave the receipts, was partner in the fraud, and plainly particeps criminis." Whether the liability of managing committeemen under English law, when proceeded against in equity for fraud, is joint or several see Matter of London, etc., Extension, 5 De G. & Sm. 402, 16 Jur. 900, 21 L. J. Ch. 835.

69. The question is one of intention. Miller v. English, 21 N. J. L. 317; Marshall v. Western, etc., R. Co., 92 N. C. 322; Young v. Rollins, 85 N. C. 485.

Where answer to question sought.— If the change is wrought by a special act of the legislature, the answer must be sought in the act itself. Wyman v. Hallowell, etc., Bank, 14 Mass. 58, 7 Am. Dec. 194; Bellows v. Hallowell, etc., Bank, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,279, 2 Mason 31. If it is accomplished by a corporate act under general laws, the answer must be drawn from an interpretation of what the officers have done. Grand River College v. Robertson, 67 Mo. App. 329; Miller v. English, 21 N. J. L. 317.

Whether question of law or fact.— In the former case it is a question of law for the court, in the latter it is one of fact for the jury. Miller v. English, 21 N. J. L. 317.

70. Smith v. Morse, 2 Cal. 524; Union Canal Co. v. Young, 1 Whart. (Pa.) 410, 30 Am. Dec. 212; Bellows v. Hallowell, etc., Bank, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,279, 2 Mason 31; Colchester v. Seaber, 3 Burr. 1866, 1 W. Bl. 591; Luttrel's Case, 4 Coke 86*a*; Scarborough v. Butler, 3 Lev. 237; Rex v. Pasmore, 3 T. R. 199, 1 Rev. Rep. 688; Angell & A. Corp. (11th ed.) § 780.

A reorganization after foreclosure creates a new corporation. See infra, II, B, 1, b.

Rechartering corporation already existing in another state.— One state may incorporate a corporation of another state as such, without any specific provision for the stock or internal government of the new corporation, and it will not be a license to be a foreign corporation, but will be its own domestic corporation. Louisville Trust Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 75 Fed. 433, 22 C. C. A. 378. The result is the creation of two corporations with the same name but having a different paternity. State v. Tompkins, 48 S. C. 49, 25 S. E. 982; Bradley v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 78 Fed. 387 [reversing 119 N. C. 744, 26 S. E. 169]; Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Mech, 69 Fed. 753, 16 C. C. A. 510, 30 L. R. A. 250. And where a corporation is created by the concurring action of the legislatures of two or more states, or where two or more corporations created by the legislatures of as many states consolidate, the corporation created is a domestic corporation in each state and not domestic in one and foreign in the rest. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Meeh, 69 Fed. 753, 16 C. C. A. 510, 30 L. R. A. 250. See also Quincy R. Bridge Co. v. Adams County, 88 Ill. 615; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Auditor-Gen., 53 Mich. 79, 18 N. W. 586.

71. Miller v. English, 21 N. J. L. 317; St. Philip's Church v. Zion Presb. Church, 23 S. C. 297.

The effect of a reincorporation is the same. See infra, II, C.

Effect of renewal of charter.— It has been held that the renewal of a charter has not the effect of creating a new corporation, but merely continues the existence of the old one. St. Philip's Church v. Zion Presb. Church, 23 S. C. 297, where the court held that, although the application was delayed by the carelessness of an officer, the renewal, when granted, related back so as to prevent a reverter of property, applying by analogy the rule that a sheriff's deed may relate back to the time of sale so as to protect a defendant in possession. See also Kingman v. Glover, 3 Rich. (S. C.) 27, 45 Am. Dec. 756; State Bank v. South Carolina Mfg. Co., 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 190, 49 Am. Dec. 640; Colchester v. Seaber, 3 Burr. 1866, 1 W. Bl. 591 (where it was held that where a corporation by the death of some of its members becomes disabled to act, a grant and acceptance of a new charter does not create a new corporation but only revives the old one); Haddock's Case, 1 T. Raym. 435 (holding that a new charter does not merge or extinguish ancient privileges). To the same effect see Rex v. Pasmore, 3 T. R. 199, 1 Rev. Rep. 688. See also People v. Marshall, 6 Ill. 672; Union Canal Co. v. Young, 1 Whart. (Pa.) 410, 30 Am. Dec. 212.

Reorganization under National Banking Act. — The identity of a state bank reorganized under an enabling act of a state and the provisions of the National Banking Act (U. S. Stat. at L. p. 112, c. 106, § 44) is not changed and its obligations remain the same (Coffey v. National Bank, 46 Mo. 140, 2 Am. Rep. 488; Grocers' Nat. Bank v. Clark, 48 Barb. (N. Y.) 26; Thorp v. Wegefarth, 56 Pa. St. 82, 93 Am. Dec. 789). See also Banks and Banking, 5 Cyc. 574, note 34.

Reincorporation of municipal and other public corporations.— The same effect has

2. FRANCHISE TO BE CORPORATION NOT TRANSFERABLE. A franchise to be a corporation is distinct from a franchise, as a corporation, to carry on a certain business, e. g., to maintain and operate a railway. The latter is in the nature of private property, is vendible on execution, is the subject of mortgage, and may pass to a purchaser at a foreclosure sale; but the franchise to be a corporation is not the subject of sale and transfer, unless made so by a statute, which provides a mode for exercising it,[72] and a mortgage of the franchises of a corporation, made in the exercise of a power given by statute, confers no right upon the purchasers at a foreclosure sale to exist as the same corporation.[73]

B. Reorganization — 1. BY PURCHASERS AT FORECLOSURE SALE — a. Statutory Provisions. The position of purchasers at such a foreclosure sale, as owners of property that requires a franchise of corporate existence to make it operative or valuable, has therefore led to the enactment of statutes giving them a right or imposing upon them the duty of reorganization as a new corporation, to exercise the privileges and perform the duties of the old.[74] In many states such statutes exist permitting a reorganization after the sale upon the performance of certain specified acts by the purchasers.[75] been given to the reincorporation of a municipal corporation. Goulding v. Clark, 34 N. H. 148. The privileges of the old corporation are not extinguished. Smith v. Morse, 2 Cal. 524. See also Hopkins v. Swansea, 4 M. & W. 621. It has been held that the corporate rights and powers of the University of Alabama, a public corporation subject to the control of the legislature, were not affected by subsequent legislation or by the constitution of 1868. State University v. Moody, 62 Ala. 389. See also Atty.-Gen. v. Joy, 55 Mich. 94, 20 N. W. 806.

Extension of corporate existence.— The identity of a corporation is not changed by the renewal or extension of its term of existence by a special act (National Exch. Bank v. Gay, 57 Conn. 224, 17 Atl. 555, 4 L. R. A. 343. See also Day v. Mill-Owners' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 75 Iowa 694, 38 N. W. 113; Frostburg Min. Co. v. Cumberland, etc., R. Co., 81 Md. 28, 31 Atl. 698), or under a general law (Ovid Elevator Co. v. State Secretary, 90 Mich. 466, 51 N. W. 536; Grand River College v. Robertson, 67 Mo. App. 329). Construction of statutes relating to renewal of charter in the state of Michigan (Taggart v. Perkins, 73 Mich. 303, 41 N. W. 426) and in the state of New York (People v. James, 5 N. Y. App. Div. 412, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 313).

Waiver of penalty by revival of charter.— An act of a legislature reviving the charter of a corporation may operate as a waiver, on the part of the state, of penalties incurred by the corporation on account of its failure to comply with conditions imposed upon it by its original charter and estop the state from claiming the enforcement of those penalties. Matter of Mechanics' Soc., 31 La. Ann. 627.

72. Com. v. Smith, 10 Allen (Mass.) 448, 87 Am. Dec. 672. See also Hall v. Sullivan R. Co., 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,948, Brunn. Col. Cas. 613; and infra, XVI, C, 1.

Corporate life can be prolonged only by the state. Virginia Cañon Toll Road Co. v. People, 22 Colo. 429, 45 Pac. 398, 37 L. R. A. 711; Asheville Division No. 15, S. of T. v. Aston, 92 N. C. 578.

73. Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Berry, 112 U. S. 609, 5 S. Ct. 299, 28 L. ed. 837. Compare Metz v. Buffalo, etc., R. Co., 58 N. Y. 61, 17 Am. Rep. 201; Acres v. Moyne, 59 Tex. 623; Stephenson v. Texas, etc., R. Co., 42 Tex. 162.

74. People v. Brooklyn, etc., R. Co., 89 N. Y. 75. See also Pratt v. Munson, 84 N. Y. 582.

75. For example the New York Stock Corporation Law (N. Y. Laws (1890), c. 564, § 2, as amended by N. Y. Laws (1901), c. 354, § 3) provides that the purchasers at foreclosure may form a corporation to take and possess the property and franchises sold, upon making, acknowledging, and filing a certificate, naming the law under which the reorganization takes place, the corporation whose property is sold, the court ordering the sale, the date of the judgment, and a description of the property, together with the name of the new corporation, the location of its principal office, the amount of capital stock, the number of shares, their par value and classification, if any, with rights pertaining to each class. Permission is given to insert in the certificate any provisions relating to the new corporation or its management contained in any plan under which the reorganization may take place. And it is provided that the new corporation "shall be vested with, and be entitled to exercise and enjoy, all the rights, privileges and franchises, which at the time of such sale belonged to, or were vested in the corporation, last owning the property sold, or its receiver, and shall be subject to all the provisions, duties and liabilities imposed by law on such corporations."

Rights of purchaser pending reorganization.— Such statutes give a purchaser no right to exercise purely corporate powers before reorganization. Rogers v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 91 Fed. 299, 33 C. C. A. 517.

Property to be transferred.— On reorgani-

b. Effect of Reorganization. The right to be a corporation, not being the subject of mortgage, does not pass by the sale, but is obtained by a direct grant from the state. A reorganization after a foreclosure sale therefore creates a new and entirely distinct corporation.[76] The new corporation succeeds to the powers, limitations, and duties of the old.[77] The old corporation, however, zation the property should be transferred by the purchasers to the new corporation, although the purchasers are the shareholders. Thayer v. Wathen, 17 Tex. Civ. App. 382, 44 S. W. 906.

When minority of bondholders bound by reorganization by majority.— It has been held that where a railroad has taken private property and constructed its road it assumes the obligation of carrying into effect the objects of its charter, and its franchises and property stand charged primarily with this public trust even in the hands of mortgagees, and that a statute is therefore valid which empowers the bondholders, by a vote of a majority, to reorganize as a new corporation with the rights of the old corporation, as such action is merely a mode of securing the performance of the paramount public trust. Gates v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 53 Conn. 333, 5 Atl. 695. This is in accordance with views which have been expressed by Mr. Chief Justice Waite of the supreme court of the United States: "Railroad mortgages are a peculiar class of securities. The trustee represents the mortgage, and in executing his trust may exercise his own discretion within the scope of his powers. If there are differences of opinion among the bondholders as to what their interests require, it is not improper that he should be governed by the voice of the majority, acting in good faith and without collusion, if what they ask is not inconsistent with the provisions of his trust." Shaw v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 100 U. S. 605, 25 L. ed. 757. A stricter view is that the scheme of reorganization can be made effective only by the consent of all the original bondholders, enforced by a foreclosure cutting off their lien; that a bondholder has a right to stand upon his contract, and the trustees have no power to compel him to make a new and different one. It is a part of this conclusion that the trustees and a majority of the bondholders have no right to enter into a scheme of reorganization, against the dissent of a minority, which shall involve a waiver of default in the payment of principal and interest on the bonds. Hollister v. Stewart, 111 N. Y. 644, 19 N. E. 782, 20 N. Y. St. 941 [distinguishing Canada Southern R. Co. v. Gebhard, 109 U. S. 527, 3 S. Ct. 363, 27 L. ed. 1020, denying Ketchum v. Duncan, 96 U. S. 659, 24 L. ed. 868]. Nor will equity compel minority bondholders to assent to a scheme of reorganization, the result of which will be to scale their bonds and give the benefits, if any, to the shareholders. Lake St. El. R. Co. v. Ziegler, 99 Fed. 114, 39 C. C. A. 431. But under British and Canadian arrangement acts the minority may be compelled to surrender their rights to the will of the majority. Canada Southern R. Co. v. Gebhard, 109 U. S. 527, 3 S. Ct. 363, 27 L. ed. 1020; In re Cambrian R. Co.'s Scheme, L. R. 3 Ch. 278, 37 L. J. Ch. 409, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 522, 16 Wkly. Rep. 346; Jones v. Canada Cent. R. Co., 46 U. C. Q. B. 250. The validity of such legislation depends upon the supremacy of parliament. Such a result could not be accomplished by the legislatures of the American states. See supra, I, K, 1.

Right to object lost by laches.— The holder of a corporate security may lose his right to object to a scheme of foreclosure and arrangement by standing by until the rights of third parties have intervened in such a manner that the arrangement could not be broken up so as to place the parties in statu quo. Matthews v. Murchison, 15 Fed. 691; Wetmore v. St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 3 Fed. 177, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,469, 5 Dill. 531.

76. State v. Hannibal, etc., Gravel Road Co., 138 Mo. 332, 39 S. W. 910, 36 L. R. A. 457; People v. Cook, 110 N. Y. 443, 18 N. E. 113, 18 N. Y. St. 100. See also Augusta, etc., R. Co. v. Augusta, 100 Ga. 701, 28 S. E. 126.

Organization tax.— The fact that a new corporation is created subjects the incorporators to the payment of the organization tax required of other corporations; and this is in nowise an impairment of the original obligation of the contract of mortgage. New York v. Cook, 148 U. S. 397, 13 S. Ct. 645, 37 L. ed. 498 [affirming 110 N. Y. 443, 18 N. E. 113, 18 N. Y. St. 100].

77. Vicksburg, etc., R. Co. v. Elmore, 46 La. Ann. 1237, 15 So. 701; Daniels v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 62 Mo. 43; Downingtown Gas, etc., Co. v. Downingtown, 193 Pa. St. 255, 44 Atl. 282.

Transmission of privileges and duties.— On the one hand it has been held that special privileges under the charter of the old company are transferred by reorganization to the new and are not abrogated by the provisions of a general law existing at the time of reorganization. Daniels v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 62 Mo. 43; Campbell v. Marietta, etc., R. Co., 23 Ohio St. 168; Ball v. Rutland R. Co., 93 Fed. 513. See also State v. Newman, 51 La. Ann. 833, 25 So. 408, 72 Am. St. Rep. 476; Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Sly, 65 Pa. St. 205. On the other hand the doctrine of strict construction of corporate grants has been held to confine the new corporation to the duties imposed upon the old, unless a contrary intention unmistakably appears from the language of the statute. State University v. Moody, 62 Ala. 389; Gage v. Pontiac, etc., R. Co., 105 Mich. 355, 63 N. W. 318. In all such cases the solution of the question must be sought in the intent of the governing statute and applicatory constitutional provisions. Dow v. Beidelman, 49 is not destroyed, but continues for the purpose of legal remedies until regularly dissolved.[78]

c. Effect of Foreclosure. The valid foreclosure of a mortgage upon all the property and franchises of a corporation cuts off absolutely the rights of the shareholders. Thereafter they have no rights in the reorganized corporation, except such as are secured to them, if any, by the decree of foreclosure or by voluntary arrangements among the parties in interest.[79]

d. Under Plan or Agreement. In some states the statute authorizes the purchasers at foreclosure to buy the mortgaged property in pursuance of a plan for the readjustment of the respective interests therein of the mortgage creditors and shareholders of the company, permitting the latter to come into the new company on complying with the conditions of the plan.[80] Notwithstanding the formation of such a plan, however, the foreclosure becomes absolute against the corporation, and all its rights and all the proprietary interests of the shareholders are absolutely barred and cut off. The only property interest which a shareholder of the old company has left is in the surplus, if any, after satisfying the mortgage; all the statute secures to him is the option or privilege of joining the new company by a compliance with the terms of the plan within the required time.[81]

Ark. 325, 5 S. W. 297; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Allen, 15 Fla. 637; Covington, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Sandford, 164 U. S. 578, 17 S. Ct. 198, 41 L. ed. 560. Of course the new corporation can have no powers except such as are derived from the statute authorizing the reorganization. Savannah v. Georgia Steam Boat Co., R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 342.

78. Cary v. Schoharie Valley Mach. Co., 4 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 280; Coe v. Columbus, etc., R. Co., 10 Ohio St. 372, 75 Am. Dec. 518; Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Berry, 112 U. S. 609, 5 S. Ct. 299, 28 L. ed. 837. But where after a consolidation there is a subsequent reorganization of one of the constituent companies and an attempt by it to claim the property transferred under the consolidation agreement it was held that equity would protect the consolidated company in the possession of the property transferred. New Jersey Zinc Co. v. Boston Franklinite Co., 15 N. J. Eq. 418.

79. Vatable v. New York, etc., R. Co., 96 N. Y. 50; Thornton v. Wabash R. Co., 81 N. Y. 462.

80. For example the New York Stock Corporation Law (N. Y. Laws (1890), c. 564, § 4, as amended by N. Y. Laws (1901), c. 354, § 4) provides that the purchasers at or previous to the sale may form a plan or agreement "for or in anticipation of the readjustment of the respective interests therein of any creditors, mortgagees, and stockholders, or any of them," and for the representation of such interests in the bonds and stock of the new company. The plan may regulate the voting rights of the corporate securities involved, and when consistent with the laws of the state is to be binding on the corporation until changed as therein provided or otherwise provided by law, and the new company may issue bonds and stock as provided in the plan; may within six months compromise, settle, or assume debts or liabilities of the old company on terms approved by a majority of the agents or trustees intrusted with the carrying out of the plan; may establish preferences in favor of any portion of its capital stock, and may divide its stock into classes; but the capital stock of the new company must not exceed in the aggregate the amount mentioned in the certificate of incorporation.

81. Vatable v. New York, etc., R. Co., 96 N. Y. 50 [reversing 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 133]; Carpenter v. Catlin, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 75.

When fairness of plan of reorganization not questioned.— Upon a shareholder's application to defend a foreclosure the fairness of a reorganization plan will not be questioned; the sale being public, the shareholders may buy if they believe the assets to exceed the liabilities. Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 67 Fed. 49.

Shareholders bound to take notice and come in.— In the absence of a statutory provision to the contrary, shareholders are not entitled to special notice of a scheme of reorganization after foreclosure under a plan; they are bound to take notice of it and, where a reasonable time is allowed them to come in and assent to the scheme and comply with its terms, unless they do so within the prescribed time they will be barred and can have no relief in a court of equity. Vatable v. New York, etc., R. Co., 96 N. Y. 50 [reversing 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 133].

No action necessary to bar non-assenting shareholder.— Where the plan provides that the privileges thereunder of shareholders who fail to assent and pay their assessments within the prescribed time shall be ratably distributed among the shareholders who have assented and paid, the conditions of the agreement execute themselves, and the rights of non-assenting shareholders are transferred to assenting shareholders without further action on the part of the reorganization committee. Dow v. Iowa Cent. R. Co., 70 Hun (N. Y.) 186, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 292, 53 N. Y. St. 898 [affirmed in 144 N. Y. 426, 39 N. E. 398].

2. Without Foreclosure — a. Statutory Provisions. A statute exists in Maine under which a majority of the holders of the mortgage bonds of an insolvent corporation may reorganize the corporation and take possession of the property without a foreclosure proceeding.[82] In New Jersey a corporation which has been declared insolvent has power to take steps toward a reorganization and a resumption of its property and business pending an injunction and receivership under the New Jersey Corporation Act and may employ agents to aid in carrying out

It has, however, been held that a provision in a plan for the reorganization of a railroad corporation whereby the non-acceptance of the plan by the holders of securities within a specified time would exclude them from all rights of participation in the reorganization, which was to be brought about by the purchase of the property under foreclosures of receiver's certificates, should not be looked upon with favor and ought not to be enforced, if its enforcement would be inequitable. Raleigh v. Earle, 5 Pa. Dist. 111.

Rights of subscribers to the agreement.— The terms of the agreement must be substantially complied with or the signers will be entitled to stand on their original rights (Miller v. Rutland, etc., R. Co., 40 Vt. 399, 94 Am. Dec. 413), and to secure its benefits the signers must fulfil their obligations under it or lose their rights (Carpenter v. Catlin, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 75; Van Alstyne v. Houston, etc., R. Co., 56 Tex. 373). Equities of particular bondholders or shareholders under arrangements for the reorganization of insolvent corporations see Ex p. White, 2 S. C. 469. Agreements void as against public policy see Bliss v. Matteson, 45 N. Y. 22; Munson v. Syracuse, etc., R. Co., 29 Hun (N. Y.) 76. Compare Harts v. Brown, 77 Ill. 226; Carter v. Ford Plate Glass Co., 85 Ind. 180; Kitchen v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 69 Mo. 224; Twin-Lick Oil Co. v. Marbury, 91 U. S. 587, 23 L. ed. 328; Jackson v. Ludeling, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 616, 22 L. ed. 492. Where the agreement provides that the bonds of the new company shall be a first lien, an arrangement by which prior liens may be paid off or extended at the option of the holders is not a substantial compliance. Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Coster, 97 Fed. 519.

Exclusion of general creditors.— A plan of reorganization which lets shareholders in the old company into the new organization upon agreed terms, but which does not include general creditors or tender them an opportunity to join therein, is not invalid, unless the scheme is one to give shareholders that which should go to creditors or otherwise to defraud creditors. Thompson v. Gross, 106 Wis. 34, 81 N. W. 1061; Paton v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 85 Fed. 838 [distinguishing Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Howard, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 392, 19 L. ed. 117]. On the contrary when such schemes of reorganization are equitable they are favored by the courts. Central Trust Co. v. U. S. Rolling Stock Co., 56 Fed. 5; Robinson v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 28 Fed. 340. See also Riker v. Alsop, 27 Fed. 251.

Creditors may purchase at foreclosure.— Creditors of a corporation may combine for the purpose of protecting themselves by purchasing the property when legally brought to sale at foreclosure, provided it is not part of an agreement to prevent competition at the sale or to acquire any unfair advantage over others. Kitchen v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 69 Mo. 224; Pennsylvania Transp. Co.'s Appeal, 101 Pa. St. 576. See also Sage v. Iowa Cent. R. Co., 99 U. S. 334, 25 L. ed. 394.

Expenses under an agreement.— The parties to an agreement should be charged with the expenses under that agreement and no other, although the transactions of a prior one may have resulted beneficially to them. Van Siclen v. Bartol, 95 Fed. 793.

Acts of committee of reorganization.— These schemes of reorganization are generally carried out by committees appointed by the bondholders from their number. Such schemes — often complicated — and the doings of the committees thereunder have been the subjects of frequent adjudication, but from these judgments in general it would be difficult to extract any rule of law or equity. The reorganization agreement is of course the source of the authority of the committee. The construction of such agreements, the powers conferred thereby upon the committee, and the validity of their acts thereunder is considered in the following cases: Cox v. Stokes, 156 N. Y. 491, 51 N. E. 316 (increase of bond issue); Coppell v. Hollins, 91 Hun (N. Y.) 570, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 500, 71 N. Y. St. 529 (action by two of a committee of three); Barnard v. Fitzgerald, 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 181, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 309 (reduction of bond issue); Van Siclen v. Bartol, 95 Fed. 793 (change of plan); Central Trust Co. v. Carter, 78 Fed. 225, 24 C. C. A. 73 (settlement of claims of doubtful priority). The liability of the reorganized company for the acts of the committee is considered in the following cases: Hayward v. Graham Book, etc., Co., 59 Mo. App. 453; Houston, East, etc., Texas R. Co. v. Keller, 8 Tex. Civ. App. 537, 28 S. W. 724. The personal liability of the members of the committee for their acts is considered in the following cases: Gerding v. Funk, 48 N. Y. App. Div. 603, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 423 (for services rendered); Glens Falls Paper Mill Co. v. Trask, 29 N. Y. App. Div. 449, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 977 (for payment of debt of corporation); Venner v. Fitzgerald, 91 Fed. 335 (for misconduct).

82. Somerset R. Co. v. Pierce, 88 Me. 86, 33 Atl. 772, where it was held that a bondholder could not be compelled to exchange his bonds for shares of a new corporation, but that dividends of the new corporation must be distribsuch purposes, for whose compensation it will be liable if the injunction is dissolved and the receiver removed.[83]

b. Transfer of Corporate Assets. A reorganization may take place by the formation of a new corporation and the transfer to it of the assets of the old corporation in consideration of the issue of stock of the new company to shareholders of the old,[84] but the rights of creditors cannot be prejudiced thereby;[85] nor, in the absence of statutory provisions, can a majority of the shareholders force a minority into such a scheme against their will or compel them to accept an arbitrary value for their shares.[86] uted to its shareholders and to the holders of the exchanged bonds of the old corporation in equal proportions.

83. Linn v. Joseph Dixon Crucible Co., 59 N. J. L. 28, 35 Atl. 2.

84. Post v. Beacon Vacuum Pump, etc., Co., 84 Fed. 371, 28 C. C. A. 431. The New York court of appeals, however, looks upon this process as a species of corporate suicide, an unauthorized termination of the life of the corporation, and, in a case where the directors of a New York corporation, pursuant to the vote of a majority, but against the protest of a minority, of the shareholders, transferred its property and business to a California corporation, the court permitted the attorney-general in behalf of the state to maintain an action to remove the directors and compel them to account for the property thus unlawfully diverted. The court further held that while the shareholders who consented might be estopped by their acts, those who did not consent could take advantage of this violation of their rights and the state could demand that those who did the wrong should make restitution. People v. Ballard, 134 N. Y. 269, 32 N. E. 54, 48 N. Y. St. 166, 17 L. R. A. 737 [rehearing denied in 136 N. Y. 639, 32 N. E. 611, 48 N. Y. St. 846].

85. Island City Sav. Bank v. Sachtleben, 67 Tex. 420, 3 S. W. 733; Post v. Beacon Vacuum Pump, etc., Co., 84 Fed. 371, 28 C. C. A. 431.

Liability of new corporation.— Although the new corporation may not be liable at their suit, the corporate assets may be followed into the hands of the new corporation and subjected to the payment of their claims. See infra, II, B, 3, b. The new corporation is of course liable for obligations incurred by it after the transfer. Calumet Paper Co. v. Stotts Invest. Co., 96 Iowa 147, 64 N. W. 782, 59 Am. St. Rep. 362; Davis Provision Co. v. Fowler, 20 N. Y. App. Div. 626, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 205; Glidden, etc., Varnish Co. v. Interstate Nat. Bank, 69 Fed. 912, 16 C. C. A. 534.

86. Post v. Beacon Vacuum Pump, etc., Co., 84 Fed. 371, 28 C. C. A. 431; Mason v. Pewabic Min. Co., 25 Fed. 882. See also Gresham v. Island City Sav. Bank, 2 Tex. Civ. App. 52, 21 S. W. 556.

Right to object lost by laches.— But a minority shareholder may by laches lose his right to object to such a transfer. Post v. Beacon Vacuum Pump, etc., Co., 84 Fed. 371, 28 C. C. A. 431. See also Stoddard v. Decatur Cracker Co., 184 Ill. 53, 56 N. E. 327. Where, although objecting to the scheme, a shareholder subscribes for his proportion of the shares of the new company and stands by for eighteen months before bringing suit, he loses his right to set aside the transfer. Post v. Beacon Vacuum Pump, etc., Co., 84 Fed. 371, 28 C. C. A. 431. But mere delay will not prevent a shareholder from asserting any rights, if the transaction was without his concurrence, although he may no longer seek the aid of equity to reinstate him as a shareholder. Gresham v. Island City Sav. Bank, 2 Tex. Civ. App. 52, 21 S. W. 556.

Continuation of business by new corporation.— Where a corporation has expired by limitation, the majority of the shareholders cannot by a reorganization bind the minority so as to continue their property in the new corporate venture. The minority are therefore not bound by a scheme of reorganization concocted by the majority, whereby the corporate property is to be transferred to the new corporation at a certain valuation, unless at an attempted cash sale at auction no more can be procured. Mason v. Pewabic Min. Co., 25 Fed. 882. See also Mills v. Hurd, 29 Fed. 410. But where stock in a new corporation represents large additional contributions, non-assenting shareholders of the old corporation are entitled to recognition only to the extent of the proportionate interest their stock continues to represent. Gresham v. Island City Sav. Bank, 2 Tex. Civ. App. 52, 21 S. W. 556.

Members of shareholders' committee cannot purchase at sale.— On the principle that an agent or trustee cannot be both seller and buyer of the same property, a sale in which some of the committee appointed to sell turn out to be interested in the purchase will be set aside at the instance of other beneficiaries, although the price be adequate and the purchaser acquire no advantage. Reilly v. Oglebay, 25 W. Va. 36. This principle has been applied to a case where one of a majority of shareholders voting to sell corporate property buys it for the benefit of such members as should within a certain time pay their proportion of the debts and of the purchase-money, and a majority of the shareholders comply with the terms of the purchase and form a new corporation. It was held that the sale was void, but that a shareholder who failed to disaffirm the sale and delayed to move for relief for an unreasonable length of time, thereby avoiding risks, lost his right to object. Banks v. Judah, 8 Conn. 145.

3. Liability For Debts of Old Corporation — a. On Part of New Corporation. With regard to liability for debts of the old corporation the general rule is that a new corporation organized to succeed an old one is not liable for the debts of the latter.[87] The new corporation will, however, be liable for the debts of the old one: (1) Where the circumstances are such as to warrant the conclusion that the former is not a separate and distinct corporation, but merely a continuation of the latter, and hence the same person in law;[88] and (2) where it has in express terms or by reasonable implication assumed the debts of the old corporation,[89] where this liability is imposed by the statute under which the reorganization takes place,[90]

87. Arkansas.— Sappington v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 37 Ark. 23.

Illinois.— Hatcher v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 62 Ill. 477. See also Morgan County v. Thomas, 76 Ill. 120.

Massachusetts.—Ewing v. Composite Brake Shoe Co., 169 Mass. 72, 47 N. E. 241; Child v. New York, etc., R. Co., 129 Mass. 170.

Michigan.— Cook v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 43 Mich. 349, 5 N. W. 390.

Missouri.— Helton v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 25 Mo. App. 322.

Nebraska.— Austin v. Tecumseh Nat. Bank, 49 Nebr. 412, 68 N. W. 628, 59 Am. St. Rep. 543, 35 L. R. A. 444.

New York.— Fernschild v. D. G. Yuengling Brewing Co., 154 N. Y. 667, 49 N. E. 159; Thornton v. Wabash R. Co., 81 N. Y. 462; Ferguson v. Ann Arbor R. Co., 17 N. Y. App. Div. 336, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 172.

Pennsylvania.— Campbell v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 137 Pa. St. 574, 20 Atl. 949; Stewart's Appeal, 72 Pa. St. 291.

Tennessee.— Memphis Water Co. v. Magens, 15 Lea 37.

Texas.— Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Shirley, 54 Tex. 125.

West Virginia.— Donnally v. Hearndon, 41 W. Va. 519, 23 S. E. 646.

Wisconsin.— Pennison v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 93 Wis. 344, 67 N. W. 702; Menasha v. Milwaukee, etc., R. Co., 52 Wis. 414, 9 N. W. 396; Neff v. Wolf River Boom Co., 50 Wis. 585, 7 N. W. 553; Gilman v. Sheboygan, etc., R. Co., 37 Wis. 317; Right v. Milwaukee, etc., R. Co., 25 Wis. 46; Smith v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 18 Wis. 17; Vilas v. Milwaukee, etc., R. Co., 17 Wis. 497.

United States.—Wiggins Ferry Co. v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 142 U. S. 396, 12 S. Ct. 188, 35 L. ed. 1055; Hoard v. Chesapeake, etc., R. Co., 123 U. S. 222, 8 S. Ct. 74, 31 L. ed. 130; Sullivan v. Portland, etc., R. Co., 94 U. S. 806, 24 L. ed. 324; Venner v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 90 Fed. 348, 33 C. C. A. 95; Kittel v. Augusta, etc., R. Co., 78 Fed. 855.

Extent of liability.— A party seeking to recover of the new corporation for a debt of the old must prove at least that the new received some portion of its funds or property which was chargeable with his debt. Hopper v. Moore, 42 Iowa 563. See also infra, II, B, 3, b. Where a new corporation is established in the place of an old one whose property it has purchased, neither this property, except so far as it is subject to prior liens, nor the future earnings of the new company, can be taken to pay the debts of the old. Bruffett v. Great Western R. Co., 25 Ill. 353.

Pending reorganization.— The purchaser at foreclosure and not the reorganized company is liable for expenses incurred between the date of foreclosure and the organization of the new company (Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Tierst, 96 Pa. St. 144), and the old company is not liable for such expenses after the foreclosure sale, provided the purchaser has in point of fact taken possession (Wellsborough, etc., Plank-Road Co. v. Griffin, 57 Pa. St. 417).

88. Benesh v. Mill Owners' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 103 Iowa 465, 72 N. W. 674; Calumet Paper Co. v. Stotts Invest. Co., 96 Iowa 147, 64 N. W. 782, 59 Am. St. Rep. 362; Austin v. Tecumseh Nat. Bank, 49 Nebr. 412, 68 N. W. 628, 59 Am. St. Rep. 543, 35 L. R. A. 444; Reed Bros. Co. v. Weeping Water First Nat. Bank, 46 Nebr. 168, 64 N. W. 701; Eureka Fire Hose Co. v. Good Will Fire Co. No. 2, 7 Del. Co. (Pa.) 28. Compare Livingston County Agricultural Soc. v. Hunter, 110 Ill. 155; Grand River College v. Robertson, 67 Mo. App. 329.

89. Benesh v. Mill Owners' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 103 Iowa 465, 72 N. W. 674; Calumet Paper Co. v. Stotts Invest. Co., 96 Iowa 147, 64 N. W. 782, 59 Am. St. Rep. 362; Austin v. Tecumseh Nat. Bank, 49 Nebr. 412, 68 N. W. 628, 59 Am. St. Rep. 543, 35 L. R. A. 444; Davidson v. Mexican Nat. R. Co., 11 N. Y. App. Div. 28, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 1015. See also Fernschild v. D. G. Yuengling Brewing Co., 154 N. Y. 667, 49 N. E. 151 [affirming 15 N. Y. App. Div. 29, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 106]; Smith v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 18 Wis. 17.

90. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Miller, 43 Ill. 199; Plainview v. Winona, etc., R. Co., 36 Minn. 505, 32 N. W. 745; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Lundstrom, 16 Nebr. 254, 20 N. W. 198, 49 Am. Rep. 718; Western Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Johnston, 59 Pa. St. 290. As to the liability of a successor railway corporation for damages for taking land compare Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Hall, 135 Ind. 91, 34 N. E. 704, 23 L. R. A. 231; Campbell v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 137 Pa. St. 574, 20 Atl. 949. But a statute providing that the reorganization shall in no way affect the liability of the old corporation has not the effect of making the contracts of the old binding on the new corporation. Keeler v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 92 Fed. 545, 34 C. C. A. 523. Nor does a statute permitting share-or where such liability is imposed upon it by the decree of the court on foreclosure.[91]

b. On Part of Corporate Assets. But the assets of the old corporation remain liable in the hands of the new one, where the circumstances are such as to render the transaction a diversion of corporate property as a trust fund for the payment of creditors,[92] or a conveyance for the purpose of hindering, delaying, or defrauding creditors.[93]

C. Reincorporation. A company, taking advantage of a statute permitting a corporation organized under a former statute to reincorporate under a statute superseding it, does not thereby become a new corporation; its identity is unchanged and its liabilities continue.[94]

III. CONSOLIDATION OR AMALGAMATION OF CORPORATIONS.

A. Power to Consolidate — 1. No Consolidation Without Consent of State. As the effect of the consolidation of two or more corporations is to create an holders of the old corporation to come into the new without payment of money impose upon the new company the payment of the debts of the old. Stewart's Appeal, 72 Pa. St. 291.

91. Campbell v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 137 Pa. St. 574, 20 Atl. 949.

92. Livingston County Agricultural Soc. v. Hunter, 110 Ill. 155; Ewing v. Composite Brake Shoe Co., 169 Mass. 72, 47 N. E. 241; Marshall v. Western, etc., R. Co., 92 N. C. 322; Dobson v. Simonton, 86 N. C. 492; Western North Carolina R. Co. v. Rollins, 82 N. C. 523; Von Glahn v. De Rosset, 81 N. C. 467; Chicago R. Co. v. Howard, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 392, 19 L. ed. 117 [recognized in Vose v. Cowdrey, 49 N. Y. 336]. See also Austin v. Tecumseh Nat. Bank, 49 Nebr. 412, 68 N. W. 628, 59 Am. St. Rep. 543, 35 L. R. A. 444; Georgia Cent. R. Co. v. Paul, 93 Fed. 878, 35 C. C. A. 639.

Effect of foreclosure.— A valid foreclosure of course relieves the corporate assets of subsequent liens (Child v. New York, etc., R. Co., 129 Mass. 170; Cook v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 43 Mich. 349, 5 N. W. 390; Thornton v. Wabash R. Co., 81 N. Y. 462; Vose v. Cowdrey, 49 N. Y. 336; Memphis Water Co. v. Magens, 15 Lea (Tenn.) 37; National Foundry, etc., Works v. Oconto City Water Supply Co., 105 Wis. 48, 81 N. W. 125; Menasha v. Milwaukee, etc., R. Co., 52 Wis. 414, 9 N. W. 396; Hoard v. Chesapeake, etc., R. Co., 123 U. S. 222, 8 S. Ct. 74, 31 L. ed. 130. See also Davidson v. Mexican Nat. R. Co., 11 N. Y. App. Div. 28, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 1015), but any surplus after satisfaction of the mortgage belongs to the old corporation, in whose hands it is a trust fund for creditors and cannot be distributed to shareholders under an arrangement with the mortgagees pursuant to which the property is bought at foreclosure (Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Howard, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 392, 19 L. ed. 117).

Effect of transforming partnership into corporation.— A corporation formed by and consisting of the members of a partnership to conduct the partnership business by means of the partnership property takes the latter freed from equities subsisting among the partners, all of which are settled and extinguished by the transfer of the assets from the partnership to the corporation. Wellsborough, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Griffin, 57 Pa. St. 417. Such a transfer does not, however, divest any equities which creditors may have in respect of the partnership assets. Francklyn v. Sprague, 121 U. S. 215, 7 S. Ct. 951, 30 L. ed. 936. See also Hoyt v. Sprague, 103 U. S. 613, 26 L. ed. 585.

93. San Francisco, etc., R. Co. v. Bee, 48 Cal. 398; Austin v. Tecumseh Nat. Bank, 49 Nebr. 412, 68 N. W. 628, 59 Am. St. Rep. 543, 35 L. R. A. 444; Montgomery Web Co. v. Dienelt, 133 Pa. St. 585, 19 Atl. 428, 19 Am. St. Rep. 663; McVicker v. American Opera Co., 40 Fed. 861; Blair v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 22 Fed. 36; Hibernia Ins. Co. v. St. Louis, etc., Transp. Co., 13 Fed. 516, 4 McCrary 432. In some jurisdictions the equitable interest of the old corporation in its assets, which have passed into the hands of the new, may be levied upon under an attachment or execution at the suit of a creditor of the old. Georgia Ice Co. v. Porter, 70 Ga. 637.

Liability from use of land.—Although a man may not maintain an action of debt against the new corporation on a judgment against the old corporation for the value of land appropriated by it, if the new one continues to use it, he may have a remedy in equity to compel payment for, or prevention of, its use. Gilman v. Sheboygan, etc., R. Co., 37 Wis. 317.

94. Matter of Consolidated Kansas City Smelting, etc., Co., 13 N. Y. App. Div. 50, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 51, which holds that not being a new corporation it is not bound to pay the organization tax required of other corporations.

Abortive corporations reincorporated under general law.— A company organized under a charter which is void may save its rights, so far as such rights are conferred in a general statute, by reorganizing under such general law. State v. Steele, 37 Minn. 428, 34 N. W. 903; Southern Pac. R. Co. v. Orton, 32 Fed. 457, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,188*a*, 6 Sawy. 157. So it has been held that a corporation entirely new and distinct corporation,[95] and as the consent of the state is necessary in all cases to the creation of a corporation,[96] it follows that there can be no valid consolidation of two or more corporations without the consent of the state expressed in some manner to which the state gives the effect of a law, either in special charter or general enabling act of the legislature.[97] duly incorporated but dormant may without dissolution reincorporate under a different statute and acquire a valid corporate character thereunder. Hyde v. Doe, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,969, 4 Sawy. 133.

95. See infra, III, D, 1, a.

96. See supra, I, J, 1, a.

97. Illinois.—American L. & T. Co. v. Minnesota, etc., R. Co., 157 Ill. 641, 42 N. E. 153; People v. Chicago Gas Trust Co., 130 Ill. 268, 22 N. E. 798, 17 Am. St. Rep. 319, 8 L. R. A. 497.

Indiana.— Shelbyville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Barnes, 42 Ind. 498; State v. Bailey, 16 Ind. 46, 79 Am. Dec. 405.

Kentucky.— Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Com., 97 Ky. 675, 31 S. W. 476, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 427 [affirmed in 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 14, 40 L. ed. 849]; Botts v. Simpsonville, etc., Turnpike Road Co., 88 Ky. 54, 10 S. W. 134, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 669, 2 L. R. A. 594.

Mississippi.—Greenville Compress, etc., Co. v. Planters' Compress, etc., Co., 70 Miss. 669, 13 So. 879, 35 Am. St. Rep. 681.

Nebraska.— State v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 25 Nebr. 156, 41 N. W. 125, 2 L. R. A. 564.

New Jersey.— Black v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 24 N. J. Eq. 455.

New York.— People v. North River Sugar Refining Co., 121 N. Y. 582, 24 N. E. 834, 31 N. Y. St. 781, 18 Am. St. Rep. 843, 9 L. R. A. 33; Davis v. Beth Tephila Israel Congregation, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 424, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 1015; Blatchford v. Ross, 54 Barb. 42; Chevra Bnai v. Israel Aushe Yanove, etc. v. Chevra Bikur Cholim Aushe Rod of Sholem, 24 Misc. 189, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 712; New York, etc., Canal Co. v. Fulton Bank, 7 Wend. 412.

Oklahoma.— Topeka Paper Co. v. Oklahoma Pub. Co., 7 Okla. 220, 54 Pac. 455, no statutory power to consolidate in Oklahoma.

Pennsylvania.— Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685, and note.

Texas.— East Line, etc., R. Co. v. State, 75 Tex. 434, 12 S. W. 690.

United States.— Ferguson v. Meredith, 1 Wall. 25, 17 L. ed. 604; Pearce v. Madison, etc., R. Co., 21 How. 441, 16 L. ed. 184; Kavanaugh v. Omaha L. Assoc., 84 Fed. 295.

England.— Clinch v. Financial Corp., L. R. 5 Eq. 450 [affirmed in L. R. 4 Ch. 117, 38 L. J. Ch. 1, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 334, 17 Wkly. Rep. 84]; Re Era Assur. Co., 1 Hem. & M. 672, 2 Johns. & H. 400, 6 Jur. N. S. 1334, 30 L. J. Ch. 137, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 314, 9 Wkly. Rep. 67; Charlton v. Newcastle, etc., R. Co., 5 Jur. N. S. 1096, 7 Wkly. Rep. 731. Accordingly, it is held in England that, in the absence of any special power for that purpose in their deeds of settlement, an amalgamation between two joint-stock companies is ultra vires and invalid, and that the obligations and liabilities arising out of such attempted amalgamation, and assumed by the directors of the purchasing company, cannot be enforced against the shareholders of such company. Re Era Assur. Co., 1 Hem. & M. 672, 2 Johns. & H. 400, 6 Jur. N. S. 1334, 30 L. J. Ch. 137, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 314, 9 Wkly. Rep. 67. That the power of one company to sell to another company, in consideration of receiving a stated part of shares of the purchasing company, all of the assets of the selling company except certain shares held by it in the purchasing company, is authorized by a clause in the memorandum of association of the selling company, allowing it to "amalgamate" with another company — with the additional conclusion that a provision in such an agreement for distributing the shares received from the purchasing company among the members of the selling company can, upon the question of legality, be severed from the agreement for the sale see Wall v. London, etc., Assets Corp., [1898] 2 Ch. 469, 67 L. J. Ch. 596, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 249, 47 Wkly. Rep. 219.

Statutes conferring power.— For the construction of statutes under which the power to consolidate has been held to exist see 7 Thompson Corp. § 8220, and the following cases:

Alabama.— Beggs v. Edison Electric Illuminating, etc., Co., 96 Ala. 295, 11 So. 381, 38 Am. St. Rep. 94, construing Ala. Code (1886), § 1565.

California.— Market St. R. Co. v. Hellman, 109 Cal. 571, 42 Pac. 225, construing Cal. Civ. Code, §§ 473, 510.

Illinois.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373, holding that one railroad company may, under the Illinois acts of June 30, 1885, and March 26, 1872 (3 Starr & C. Anno. Stat. Ill. (2d ed.) p. 3243, par. 36), be consolidated with another under the name of the latter, which is continued in existence with enlarged powers, franchises, and property rights; and that this consolidation may be brought about by a transfer of all the property, stock, and franchises of the one corporation to the other.

New York.— People v. Rice, 138 N. Y. 151, 33 N. E. 846, 51 N. Y. St. 853; Cameron v. New York, etc., Water Co., 62 Hun 269, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 757, 42 N. Y. St. 912 [affirmed in 133 N. Y. 336, 31 N. E. 104, 45 N. Y. St. 212]. The latter case construing N. Y. Laws (1877), c. 374, since repealed.

United States.— Continental Trust Co. v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 82 Fed. 642, construing Ohio Rev. Stat. § 3380.

Statutes not conferring power.— For the construction of statutes which have been held not to confer the power to consolidate see

2. How Power to Consolidate Conferred — a. Must Be Conferred Upon All the Constituent Corporations. Moreover, in order to a valid consolidation, the power so to consolidate must have been conferred upon each of the constituent corporations by the state under whose laws it exists.[98] For example a provision in a charter of a railroad company empowering it to consolidate with "any other railroad company" does not empower it to consolidate with a company whose charter contains no such provision.[99] Nor does such a provision authorize a company formed by its consolidation with other railroad companies to consolidate with still another company, although the act authorizing their consolidation provides that all the rights, privileges, and franchises granted in the charter of any of the companies shall inure to the consolidated company.[1]

b. State May Impose Such Terms and Conditions as It Sees Fit. As the state has the power to withhold entirely the privileges of consolidating, it manifestly may grant the privilege subject to such terms and conditions as it may see fit to couple with the grant.[2] It must follow, under the doctrine of the preceding paragraph, that if the terms and conditions which the state has annexed to the privilege of consolidation by any one of the constituent companies are too onerous to be accepted that will block the consolidation entirely. Thus if several corporations created under the laws of several different states seek to consolidate, and the legislature of one of those states imposes an onerous condition upon the corporation created under the laws of that state, precedent to such consolidation, such as the payment of a so-called "consolidation tax," that condition must be fulfilled or there can be no such consolidation.[3]

3. State May Withdraw Power to Consolidate Before Consolidation Effected. The power given to a railroad company, by the statute of its creation, to form a union by consolidation with other companies, has been said to be a right in the nature of a contract, when the statute is accepted and acted upon by the corporation, which cannot be subsequently withdrawn or substantially impaired by the state, in consequence of the prohibition of the contract clause of the constitution of the United

7 Thompson Corp. § 8221; Elkins v. Camden, etc., R. Co., 36 N. J. Eq. 5; State v. Vanderbilt, 37 Ohio St. 590; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849 [affirming 97 Ky. 675, 31 S. W. 476, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 427].

Construction of statute for consolidation, but with proviso "that no more than two corporations now existing shall be consolidated into one." See Barrows v. People's Gas Light, etc., Co., 75 Fed. 794.

98. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849 [affirming 97 Ky. 675, 31 S. W. 476, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 427]; St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Terre Haute, etc., R. Co., 145 U. S. 393, 12 S. Ct. 953, 33 L. ed. 748.

99. Morrill v. Smith County, 89 Tex. 529, 36 S. W. 56 [reversing (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 33 S. W. 899]. One court has, however, held that where power is given by statute to one railroad corporation to consolidate with any other, then, whatever other corporation it selects for such a union, and finds willing to join therein, has, by force of the statute, the power to unite with it, although such other corporation is not named in the statute. In re Prospect Park, etc., R. Co., 67 N. Y. 371. But an agreement cannot be made by which one railway company shall turn over its railway to be operated by another company, unless the latter company possesses, under its governing statute, the power to receive and operate it; for the former company cannot delegate or transfer its power to operate the road to the latter. Winch v. Birkenhead, etc., Junction R. Co., 5 De G. & Sm. 562, 16 Jur. 1035. Compare State v. Consolidation Coal Co., 46 Md. 1; South Yorkshire R., etc., Co. v. Great Northern R. Co., 3 De G. M. & G. 576, 22 L. J. Ch. 761, 1 Wkly. Rep. 203, 52 Eng. Ch. 448, which two cases affirm the principle that without legislative authority a railway company cannot mortgage or sell its property to another company.

1. Morrill v. Smith County, 89 Tex. 529, 36 S. W. 56 [reversing (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 33 S. W. 899].

2. See to the governing principle Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849 [affirming 97 Ky. 675, 31 S. W. 476, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 427]; Home Ins. Co. v. New York, 134 U. S. 594, 10 S. Ct. 593, 33 L. ed. 1025; California v Central Pac. R. Co., 127 U. S. 1, 8 S. Ct. 1073, 32 L. ed. 150; Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Maryland, 21 Wall. (U. S.) 456, 22 L. ed. 678; Ducat v. Chicago, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 410, 19 L. ed. 972; Paul v. Virginia, 8 Wall. (U. S.) 168, 19 L. ed. 357; Lafayette Ins. Co. v. French, 18 How. (U. S.) 404, 15 L. ed. 451; Augusta Bank v. Earle, 13 Pet. (U. S.) 519, 10 L. ed. 274.

3. Ashley v. Ryan, 153 U. S. 436, 14 S. Ct. 865, 38 L. ed. 773 [affirming 49 Ohio St. 504, 31 N. E. 721 (affirming 6 Ohio Cir. Ct. 208)].

States.[4] But it is an established exception to the rule in the Dartmouth College case[5] that so long as the grant of a franchise or privilege remains in fieri — unexecuted, and not merely unaccepted — the state is at liberty to recall it.[6] Recent applications of this doctrine made by the supreme court of the United States are to the effect that where the state has granted to corporations the power to consolidate the grant may be withdrawn at the pleasure of the legislature, at any time before a consolidation has actually taken place.[7] Therefore, where parallel and competing railroad companies possess under their charters the power to consolidate, the state may, in the exercise of its police power, prevent such a consolidation at any time before it has actually taken place, by a constitutional amendment or a statute prohibiting the consolidation of parallel and competing lines.[8] From this it follows that a privilege conferred upon corporations by a general statute of consolidating with each other may be withdrawn by a repeal of the statute, at any time before a consolidation has actually taken place under it; but this will not be so where the repealing statute contains a saving clause providing that such a repeal shall not affect or impair any act done or right accruing, accrued, or acquired before the date named. In such a case where a proceeding under the repealed statute to consolidate several corporations into one was begun three days before the date named, but was not consummated, and had not yet received the requisite assent of the shareholders, it was held that the corporations had the right to proceed with the consolidation as though the repealing statute had not been passed.[9]

4. Consolidation of Parallel and Competing Railway Lines — a. Prohibitions Against. Numerous statutes providing for the consolidation of corporations contain express prohibitions against the consolidation of parallel and competing railway lines; and such provisions have been embodied in several recent state constitutions.[10] On the principle that grants of franchises to corporations or to individuals are to be strictly construed in favor of the state and against the grantees, it is held that neither the power of competing railroad companies to consolidate, nor the power of one of such roads to acquire the others by purchase, is conferred by a collection of statutes authorizing railroad companies to purchase and acquire branch roads, although one of such statutes contains the words "and may purchase and hold any road constructed by any company."[11] Nor can a constitutional or statutory prohibition against the consolidation of parallel or competing railway lines be evaded by going through the form of effecting a judicial sale of one of such roads. "The prohibition is not upon the power of the court foreclosing the mortgage to order a judicial sale of the property, but upon its power to confirm a sale made to a parallel or competing road."[12] But it is conceded that the shareholders even of a parallel and competing railway may purchase a railway property at a judicial sale and organize a new corporation, and this will be a separate corporation from the parallel and competing corpora-

4. Zimmer v. State, 30 Ark. 677, per Harrison, J.

5. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629.

6. Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838 [reversing 73 Fed. 933].

7. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849 [affirming 97 Ky. 675, 31 S. W. 476, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 427]; Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838 [reversing 73 Fed. 933].

8. Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838 [reversing 73 Fed. 933].

9. Cameron v. New York, etc., Water Co., 133 N. Y. 336, 31 N. E. 104, 45 N. Y. St. 212 [affirming 62 Hun (N. Y.) 269, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 757, 42 N. Y. St. 912].

10. Of these the following among many others are examples: Ark. Acts (1887), No. 81, p. 113; Fla. Acts (1887), c. 3745, No. 65, p. 117; Mo. Rev. Stat. (1889), § 2569; Mo. Rev. Stat. (1899), § 1062; N. Y. Rev. Stat. (1889), p. 1783 et seq. And see, generally, Railroads.

11. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849 [affirming 97 Ky. 675, 31 S. W. 476, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 427].

12. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 693, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849.

tion, and will not be within the prohibition against the consolidation of parallel and competing lines.[13] The power of the state to forbid one transportation company from purchasing or consolidating with a parallel or competing line has been before the courts in a large number of cases, in some of which, relating to interstate railways, it was said arguendo that such statutes infringe the exclusive power of congress conferred over the regulation of interstate commerce.[14] Frequent decisions of the subordinate federal courts confirm the same power.[15] Finally it has been settled by the only court whose decision can settle the question, that the power to prohibit the consolidation of parallel and competing lines of railway is within the police power of the state, and that this power may be exercised within wide limits of legislative discretion whenever its exercise will not trench upon rights already vested; and further that, although the power to consolidate may have been distinctly conferred, yet so long as it has not been acted upon and consolidations effected thereunder, it may be withdrawn at the will of the legislature;[16] and this although there exists at the time no reserve of power in the state to alter, amend, or repeal charters or acts of incorporation.[17]

b. What Unions Are Within Prohibitions. Upon the question what unions or connections between railway companies are within the meaning of prohibitions of this kind, it has been held, in a judgment destined to acquire a great reputation, that a statute prohibiting a railroad company from consolidating, leasing, or in any way becoming the owner of or controlling any other railroad corporation which owns a parallel or competing line, or any stock thereof, is violated by an agreement by one railroad company to purchase half the stock of a competing line, to make a traffic arrangement with it, and to pay therefor by a guaranty of its bonds, and by an arrangement under which a railroad company, in return for a guaranty of its bonds, turns over to a trustee for the entire body of shareholders of another company owning a parallel road one half of its stock, with an agreement contemplating an interchange of traffic and the use of terminal facilities, and with the probability that the complete control of the former will be obtained by the latter company.[18]

c. What Are Parallel and Competing Lines Within Prohibitions. It seems that such prohibitions against consolidations apply only where the two railroads are both parallel and competing; so that although they are parallel for considerable distances, yet they are not competing lines within the sense of the prohibition where they extend between different termini.[19] So it has been held that railroads which do not touch any two common points, having between them for more than forty miles another road, and one of which is in reality a suburban road, not more than one per cent of whose traffic would in any event pass over

13. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849. See also Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838.

14. Louisiana.— Texas, etc., R. Co. v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 41 La. Ann. 970, 6 So. 888, 17 Am. St. Rep. 445.

Nebraska.— State v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 24 Nebr. 143, 38 N. W. 43, 8 Am. St. Rep. 164.

New Hampshire.— Currier v. Concord R. Corp., 48 N. H. 321.

Ohio.— Hafer v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 11 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 760, 29 Cinc. L. Bul. 68.

Pennsylvania.— Gyger v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 136 Pa. St. 96, 20 Atl. 399, 9 L. R. A. 369; Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Com., (1886) 7 Atl. 368.

Texas.— Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. State, 72 Tex. 404, 10 S. W. 81, 13 Am. St. Rep. 815, 1 L. R. A. 849; East Line, etc., R. Co. v. Rushing, 69 Tex. 306, 6 S. W. 834.

15. Clarke v. Georgia Cent. R., etc., Co., 50 Fed. 338, 15 L. R. A. 683; Hamilton v. Savannah, etc., R. Co., 49 Fed. 412; Kimball v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 46 Fed. 888; Langdon v. Branch, 37 Fed. 449, 2 L. R. A. 120.

16. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849; Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838.

17. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849.

18. Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838 [reversing 73 Fed. 933].

19. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849.

the other, are not competing lines within the meaning of a statute[20] prohibiting the consolidation of such lines, or the purchase, lease, or control of one such line by the other.[21]

5. Consolidation of Connecting Railway Companies. An examination of the statutes will show that many statutes which prohibit the consolidation of parallel and competing railway lines nevertheless in express terms permit the consolidation of connecting lines. Such unions seem to be regarded as tending to the public advantage rather than to the public detriment; and hence it has been held that two railroad companies whose lines connect so that if united they will form a continuous line have the power to enter into a joint arrangement for operating their roads as one line, and to become jointly liable for money borrowed to be used in furtherance of the business of such line.[22] But the power to consolidate or amalgamate the two corporations is not included in a grant of power to one railroad company to unite or connect its road with the other road. The power to unite or connect with another road refers merely to a physical connection of the tracks, and does not authorize the purchase or even the lease of such other road, or any union of the franchises of the two companies.[23] Thus a provision in the charter of a railroad company giving it the right to "connect itself" with any other railroad company and operate and maintain its railroad in "connection or consolidation" with such other company authorizes merely a traffic consolidation and not a corporate consolidation.[24]

6. Construction of Statutes Conferring Power to Consolidate. It has been held that one railroad company which has paid for the construction of the line of another, owns practically all of its capital stock, and is in possession and operation of it for and under an agreement for future consolidation, will be considered as its owner within the meaning of a statute permitting reconsolidation in case of the breaking up of a consolidated road of which a corporation of a state owns a part, although it has no legal title thereto.[25]

B. Consolidation of Domestic With Foreign Corporations — 1. Express and Clear Statutory Authorization Necessary — a. Rule Stated. Upon a well-known principle of interpretation[26] the power of a domestic corporation to consolidate with a foreign corporation does not exist, unless it is distinctly conferred by statute; and if the statute in which such power is sought is doubtful or ambiguous, the doubt must be resolved against the existence of the power.[27]

b. Power Must Be Found in Statute Law of All the Constituent Companies. On a principle already stated,[28] in order to justify the consolidation of connecting railway companies of adjoining states, a power to consolidate must be found in the statute law governing each of the constituent corporations.[29] On a principle already stated,[30] where this power of consolidation is afforded by the statute law of one only of the constituent companies, an attempted consolidation does not

20. Mo. Rev. Stat. (1889), § 2569; Mo. Rev. Stat. (1899), § 1062.

21. Kimball v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 46 Fed. 888.

22. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ayres, 140 Ill. 644, 30 N. E. 687 [affirming 39 Ill. App. 607].

23. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Kentucky, 161 U. S. 677, 16 S. Ct. 714, 40 L. ed. 849 [affirming 97 Ky. 675, 31 S. W. 476, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 427]. See also Tippecanoe County v. Lafayette, etc., R. Co., 50 Ind. 85; St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Terre Haute, etc., R. Co., 145 U. S. 393, 12 S. Ct. 953, 36 L. ed. 748; Oregon R., etc., Co. v. Oregonian R. Co., 130 U. S. 1, 9 S. Ct. 409, 32 L. ed. 837; Pennsylvania R. Co. v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 118 U. S. 290, 6 S. Ct. 1094, 30 L. ed. 83; Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Denver, etc., R. Co., 110 U. S. 667, 4 S. Ct. 185, 28 L. ed. 291.

24. Morrill v. Smith County, 89 Tex. 529, 36 S. W. 56 [reversing (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 33 S. W. 899].

25. Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Continental Trust Co., 95 Fed. 497, 36 C. C. A. 155 [rehearing denied in 96 Fed. 784, 37 C. C. A. 587 (modifying 82 Fed. 642, 86 Fed. 929)].

26. See infra, XVI, B, 1, a.

27. American L. & T. Co. v. Minnesota, etc., R. Co., 157 Ill. 641, 42 N. E. 153.

28. See supra, III, A, 2, a.

29. American L. & T. Co. v. Minnesota, etc., R. Co., 157 Ill. 641, 42 N. E. 153; Continental Trust Co. v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 82 Fed. 642 (doctrine recognized).

30. See supra, I, O, 2, d.

create even a corporation de facto, nor would such an attempted consolidation be validated by a subsequent statute unless in its terms retroactive.[31]

2. VIEW THAT CONSOLIDATION CREATES TWO CORPORATIONS. The early view, first expressed by Mr. Justice Story, at circuit, was that where two corporations, created by the legislation of two states for the purpose of constructing a public improvement extending across the boundary between such states, are united by new concurrent acts of the legislatures of the two states, by which the shareholders of each are made shareholders in the other, they do not cease to exist as distinct corporations, and the effect of such legislation is a mere union of stocks and interests, but not a merger of powers.[32] This doctrine seems to have remained that of the courts of the United States down to the year 1851,[33] and still inheres in our jurisprudence to a qualified extent — the modern conception being that the new corporation formed by the consolidation becomes a domestic corporation within each of the states.[34] The legislature of one state may make a corporation organized under the laws of another state, which has become the purchaser of the properties and franchises of a corporation of the domestic state, a domestic corporation quoad any property thus purchased which has its situs within the domestic jurisdiction.[35] Such statutes, passed by the legislatures of concurring states creating corporations of the same name, clothed with the same powers, organized for the same purposes, having the same board of directors, acting generally at the same place and in the same manner, do not transfer the law of one of the states to the other except permissibly, or displace the local law except as otherwise provided.[36] It cannot escape attention that the effect of this

31. American L. & T. Co. v. Minnesota, etc., R. Co., 157 Ill. 641, 42 N. E. 153. Compare Continental Trust Co. v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 82 Fed. 642, where the statute law of one of the states — Ohio — permitted railway companies to consolidate with other companies whose road extended to the boundary line of the state of Ohio, and yet where judicial ingenuity sanctioned a simultaneous consolidation of three railway corporations created respectively in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois; a decision which, although modified on another point, was subsequently confirmed. Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Continental Trust Co., 95 Fed. 497, 36 C. C. A. 155 [rehearing denied in 96 Fed. 784, 37 C. C. A. 587 (modifying 82 Fed. 642, 86 Fed. 929)], where it was held that a railroad which is mortgaged in two sections is purchased as an entirety within the meaning of a statute permitting a reconsolidation of a road which is formed by consolidation of several parts and is sold as an entirety, although the mortgages are separately foreclosed, where both divisions are sold the same day and conveyed by a single master's deed to one person who purchases in the interest of bondholders, with a view to the reorganization and reconstruction of the railroad.

32. Farnum v. Blackstone Canal Corp., 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,675, 1 Sumn. 46.

33. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Wheeler, 1 Black (U. S.) 286, 17 L. ed. 130.

34. Minnesota.— In re St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 36 Minn. 85, 30 N. W. 432.

Nebraska.—Trester v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 33 Nebr. 171, 49 N. W. 1110.

New York.— Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Kansas Farmers' L. & T. Co., 1 N. Y. Suppl. 44, 21 Abb. N. Cas. 104.

Ohio.— Ashley v. Ryan, 49 Ohio St. 504, 31 N. E. 721 [affirming 6 Ohio Cir. Ct. 208 and affirmed in 153 U. S. 436, 14 S. Ct. 865, 38 L. ed. 773].

West Virginia.— Rece v. Newport News, etc., Co., 32 W. Va. 164, 9 S. E. 212, 3 L. R. A. 572.

United States.— Bradley v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 78 Fed. 387.

For the purpose of service of process it is a domestic corporation. In re St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 36 Minn. 85, 30 N. W. 432.

Is declared to be a domestic corporation by the constitution of Colorado. Colo. Const. (1876), art. 15, § 14.

May increase its capital stock in pursuance of the law of its creation. Atty.-Gen. v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 109 Mass. 99.

35. Clark v. Barnard, 108 U. S. 436, 2 S. Ct. 878, 27 L. ed. 780; Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 12 Wall. (U. S.) 65, 20 L. ed. 354. See also Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Alabama, 107 U. S. 581, 2 S. Ct. 432, 27 L. ed. 518; Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Vance, 96 U. S. 450, 24 L. ed. 752; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Whitton, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 270, 20 L. ed. 571; Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Wheeler, 1 Black (U. S.) 286, 17 L. ed. 130.

36. Pittsburg, etc., R. Co. v. Reich, 101 Ill. 157. Thus a mortgage made by such a consolidated corporation will be valid and operative as the mortgage of a domestic corporation, with respect to so much of the property as is situated in the domestic state. Racine, etc., R. Co. v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 49 Ill. 331, 95 Am. Dec. 595. Such a corporation is also a domestic corporation in each of the states which have concurred in creating it with respect to the taxation of its property in such state. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Weber, anomalous doctrine is that two corporations are created within each state, the one a domestic and the other a foreign corporation.[37] In accomplishing such a union one of the states can dispense with such inconveniences as shareholders, directors, and officers, by merely recreating the foreign corporation as a domestic corporation, with the usual corporate powers;[38] and it may authorize the consolidation of this new "entity" with a similar corporation existing under the laws of a third state.[39]

3. To What Powers and Liabilities New Interstate Corporation Succeeds. The new interstate corporation succeeds to the financial powers, such as the power of issuing its bonds and mortgaging its properties and franchises, which were possessed by both of the preceding companies under their governing statutes respectively.[40] Such a consolidation does not operate to enlarge the rights of lien-holders with respect to the property of either of the precedent corporations, nor is it competent for the legislature to diminish them.[41]

4. Selling Out to Foreign Corporation and Taking Its Shares in Payment. Consolidations have often taken the form of a purchase and sale, that is, a purchase by one corporation of all the shares of stock of another corporation, payment being made in the shares of the purchasing corporation.[42] Of course it is competent for the legislature to authorize one corporation to become consolidated with a foreign corporation, in such a manner as to place the control of the con-

96 Ill. 443 [following Quincy R. Bridge Co. v. Adams County, 88 Ill. 615]. Such concurrent legislation does not displace the local law of either of the concurring states, or import into such state the law of the other state with respect to condemning land for the right of way, unless the concurring statutes otherwise provide. Pittsburg, etc., R. Co. v. Reich, 101 Ill. 157. Nor is the fact of the existence in the foreign state of a foreclosure suit with respect to domestic property which has passed to the consolidated corporation a bar to the prosecution of such an action in the domestic state, since a state will not be considered as having parted with its own jurisdiction unless it has expressed that purpose in the clearest manner. Eaton, etc., R. Co. v. Hunt, 20 Ind. 457 [citing, to the principle just stated, Johns v. State, 19 Ind. 421, 81 Am. Dec. 408; Newcastle, etc., R. Co. v. Peru, etc., R. Co., 3 Ind. 464].

37. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Meeh, 69 Fed. 753, 16 C. C. A. 510, 30 L. R. A. 250.

38. Western, etc., R. Co. v. Roberson, 61 Fed. 592, 9 C. C. A. 646 [quoted by Taft, J., in Louisville Trust Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 75 Fed. 433, 22 C. C. A. 378].

39. Louisville Trust Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 75 Fed. 433, 22 C. C. A. 378.

40. Mead v. New York, etc., R. Co., 45 Conn. 199. For an act of consolidation passed by the concurring legislation of two states which was held to pass to the new company the rights and privileges which the original companies had previously possessed under their respective charters — the rights and privileges which one of the original companies had enjoyed in the state of its creation, and the rights and privileges which the other had in like manner enjoyed in the state of its creation — and not to transfer to either state or to enforce therein the legislation of the other, leaving each company to stand as its constituent company had previously stood in the state of its creation, invested with the same rights and subject to the same liabilities, see Minot v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 18 Wall. (U. S.) 206, 21 L. ed. 888.

41. Eaton, etc., R. Co. v. Hunt, 20 Ind. 457 (per Perkins, J.); Scobey v. Gibson, 17 Ind. 572, 79 Am. Dec. 490; Gantly v. Ewing, 3 How. (U. S.) 707, 11 L. ed. 794. Thus the lien of a mortgage upon the roadway of one of the precedent companies may be foreclosed, although the foreclosure may operate to sell a portion of the new continuous line created by the consolidation; and the consolidated company, having purchased such line after it had been mortgaged, will be estopped to set up the defense in the foreclosure suit that a foreclosure and sale will sever its continuous line. Eaton, etc., R. Co. v. Hunt, 20 Ind. 457.

Power to condemn land. — Being a domestic corporation in each state, it may, if a railroad company, condemn land for its use, just as any other domestic railroad company may. Trester v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 33 Nebr. 171, 49 N. W. 1110.

It is answerable as a domestic corporation for any acts done within either state, in like manner as any other domestic corporation of such state. Bradley v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 78 Fed. 387.

Consolidation with corporation of third state. — The consolidation of a corporation organized in one state, which has been incorporated in another state, with a corporation of a third state, transfers the franchises obtained by the incorporation in the second state to the consolidated organization. Louisville Trust Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 75 Fed. 433, 22 C. C. A. 378.

42. Such was the scheme in the case of Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685.

solidated stock in the board of directors of the foreign company,[43] but this cannot be done without legislative authorization; and the statute authorizing it ought to be express. Such a power will not be allowed to arise upon a doubtful implication.[44] Accordingly it has been held that a corporation organized under the laws of the state of New York has no power to transfer all its property to a foreign corporation carrying on the same business, taking in payment the stock of the foreign company, and thus terminating its own existence. Nor can a majority of the shareholders bind a dissenting minority by a scheme of this kind, which operates to dissolve the domestic corporation and to transfer its property to the foreign one, so as to escape that scrutiny into its affairs which is enjoined by the laws of New York. In such a case a dissenting shareholder may maintain a suit in equity to have the transaction enjoined and the corporation wound up. Said the court: "He became a stockholder under the security of the New York law, and, when that is taken from him, at least he should have the property of his corporation applied to the payment of its debts, and the surplus, if any, divided among the stockholders."[45] Where such an attempt is made a dissenting shareholder may maintain a suit in equity to have the transfer enjoined and to have the corporation wound up.[46]

5. Effect of Consolidations Upon Federal Jurisdiction. The effect of such consolidations upon federal jurisdiction, grounded on diverse state citizenship, is full of anomalies. If the consolidated corporation is sued in a state in which one of the constituent corporations was created, defendant cannot have the cause removed from the state court to the circuit court of the United States, because within that state the corporation is a domestic corporation and hence a citizen of that state; so that both plaintiff and defendant are in theory of the law citizens of the same state.[47] If a Missouri railroad company acquires by consolidation a line in Arkansas, so as to make it quoad its operations in Arkansas, a domestic corporation of that state, and, in operating its lines in Missouri commits an actionable tort against a citizen of Missouri, the Missouri citizen cannot maintain an action against it in the circuit court of the United States in Arkansas, for the reason that in theory of the law the wrong was done by a Missouri corporation, which was a citizen of the same state as that of plaintiff in the action.[48] From these cases the conclusion may be drawn that a corporation formed by the consolidation of corporations of several different states, pursuant to the laws of each state, is within each state a corporation of that state; and hence cannot be sued in any one of such states by a citizen of such state, on the ground of diverse

43. Racine, etc., R. Co. v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 49 Ill. 331, 95 Am. Dec. 595.

44. Thus where a statute authorizes railroad companies to lease their properties, but does not in terms authorize such a company to lease its property to a railroad company created by the legislature of another state, such a power will be held not to exist, on the settled rule of construction, in respect of legislative grants to corporations, that what is not clearly granted is withheld, and that any ambiguity in the terms of the grant must operate against the corporation and in favor of the public. Or, as it has been expressed, "To be in doubt is to be resolved, and every resolution which springs from doubt is against the corporation." Black v. Delaware, etc., R. Co., 24 N. J. Eq. 455.

45. Taylor v. Earle, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 1, 3.

46. Or if this is attempted by the trustees without the authorization of all the shareholders, a dissenting shareholder may recover of the trustees the value of his shares thus wrongfully disposed of by them, in an action proceeding on the theory of a conversion. Frothingham v. Barney, 6 Hun (N. Y.) 366. That a shareholder has a right to have the contract, embodied in the articles of association, performed by the trustees according to its terms, and that he has a right to the aid of a court of equity to compel them to perform it, as for instance to compel them to wind up the company, dispose of its property, and distribute its proceeds as provided in the articles, although some different scheme might be more profitable and more beneficial to all the shareholders, was held in Mann v. Butler, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 362.

47. Bradley v. Ohio River, etc., R. Co., 78 Fed. 387 [overruling Hudson v. Charleston, etc., R. Co., 55 Fed. 248].

48. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. James, 161 U. S. 545, 16 S. Ct. 621, 40 L. ed. 802, Harlan, J., dissenting on the authority of Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Jones, 155 U. S. 333, 15 S. Ct. 136, 39 L. ed. 176.

state citizenship of the parties, both being citizens of the same state.[49] The mere sale by a domestic corporation of all its property to a foreign corporation, and a subsequent registration of the purchasing company in the domestic state as a foreign corporation doing business therein, does not make the purchasing corporation a domestic corporation of that state, under a statute which provides in substance that in case of a consolidation of a domestic with a foreign corporation, the corporation so formed shall be a domestic corporation.[50]

C. Consent of Shareholders and Creditors — 1. Legislature Cannot Compel Consolidation — a. Rule Stated. The legislature cannot compel the consolidation of private corporations unless the state has reserved the power to do so in the instrument creating them or in some other operative instrument; for the reason that it is beyond the scope of legislative power to force a man into a contract or into an association formed for private purposes against his will.[51] In the absence of such a predicate corporate action is necessary. This must be the action of the shareholders or members, and not of the directors or officers merely, unless the latter have been expressly empowered so to act by some valid governing instrument; and the action of the shareholders or members, subject to qualifications hereafter stated, must show unanimous consent.[52] In the absence of a statute permitting a consolidation to take place by the vote of a less number of the shareholders than the whole, those shareholders who do not give their consent to the consolidation are entitled to withdraw from the corporation, and cease to be liable upon their subscriptions to its shares.[53] An enabling act author-

49. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Meeh, 69 Fed. 753, 16 C. C. A. 510, 30 L. R. A. 250, where the applicatory decisions are carefully gone over by Thayer, J. But this question has been so far confused by other decisions as to result in the conclusion that one of the domestic corporations so created can, in its character of domestic corporation in one of the states and in its fictitious character of "citizen" of such state, bring and maintain, in a court of the United States, an action in another state in which it has also been incorporated and in which it is hence a domestic "citizen," against another citizen of the latter state. Nashua, etc., R. Corp. v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 136 U. S. 356, 10 S. Ct. 1004, 34 L. ed. 363; Louisville Trust Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 75 Fed. 433, 22 C. C. A. 378. Whereas, as just seen, if the last-named "citizen" attempts to sue the same corporation in a circuit court of the United States within the state where he resides, he is confronted with the proposition that he cannot do it, because it is a domestic citizen of the state whereof plaintiff is also a citizen. It is, in any one of the states in which it is incorporated, a foreign "citizen" for the purpose of being a plaintiff therein, but a domestic "citizen" for the purpose of being a defendant therein.

50. Rust v. U. S. Waterworks Co., 70 Fed. 129, 17 C. C. A. 16.

51. Mason v. Finch, 28 Mich. 282. And this was conceded in In re Pennsylvania College Cases, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 190, 20 L. ed. 550.

52. Alabama.— Nathan v. Tompkins, 82 Ala. 437, 2 So. 747. See also Tompkins v. Compton, 93 Ga. 520, 21 S. E. 79, holding that the stock of one corporation cannot, under the laws of Alabama, in the absence of express statutory authority, be consolidated with that of another so as to create a consolidated company composed of the shareholders of both corporations, over the objection of a minority of the shareholders in either corporation.

Illinois.— Illinois Grand Trunk R. Co. v. Cook, 29 Ill. 237.

Indiana.— McCray v. Junction R. Co., 9 Ind. 358; Fisher v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 7 Ind. 407.

Kentucky.— Botts v. Simpsonville, etc., Turnpike Road Co., 88 Ky. 54, 10 S. W. 134, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 669, 2 L. R. A. 594; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Howard, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 25.

Michigan.— Mason v. Finch, 28 Mich. 282.

New Jersey.— Kean v. Johnson, 9 N. J. Eq. 401.

New York.— McVicker v. Ross, 55 Barb. 247; Blatchford v. Ross, 54 Barb. 42, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. 434, 37 How. Pr. 110. In an action by a dissenting shareholder to set aside an invalid agreement for a consolidation, the fact that the consolidation may be deemed advantageous is consequently no defense. Davis v. Beth Tephila Israel Congregation, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 424, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 1015.

Ohio.— Chapman v. Mad River, etc., R. Co., 6 Ohio St. 119.

Texas.— Indianola R. Co. v. Fryer, 56 Tex. 609.

United States.— Earle v. Seattle, etc., R. Co., 56 Fed. 909; Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78.

53. State v. Bailey, 16 Ind. 46, 79 Am. Dec. 405; McCray v. Junction R. Co., 9 Ind. 358; Ferguson v. Meredith, 1 Wall. (U. S.) 25, 17 L. ed. 604.

izing the consolidation of corporations has been held to be permissive merely, so as not to bind dissenting shareholders or make them members of the new corporation, although the enabling act may have been accepted by a majority of the members of each of the old companies.[54] But where there is a reservation in the constitution of the state, allowing the legislature of the state "to alter, revoke, or annul any charter of incorporation thereafter granted, whenever in their opinion it may be injurious to the citizens, . . . in such manner, however, that no injustice shall be done to the corporators," an act of consolidation, unless plainly unjust to some of the corporators, is not unconstitutional on the ground of impairing the obligation of a contract.[55]

b. Effect of Reserved Power to Alter or Amend Charters or Statutes Relating to Corporations. If power on the part of the legislature to alter or amend charters or statutes relating to corporations was reserved at the time when the corporation came into existence, then this, it has been held, authorizes the legislature, by a statute passed after a corporation has been formed, to provide that it may be consolidated with another upon the consent of less than a majority of its shareholders.[56]

c. Effect of Law Existing at Date of Share Subscription Authorizing Consolidation. If the constitutional or statute law in existence at the time when a subscription is made to the share capital of a corporation authorizes a subsequent consolidation with another corporation, it will not have the effect of releasing the subscriber, unless the nature of the consolidation is such as to work a material change in the organization and design of the company as originally projected.[57] The governing principle seems to be that a subscriber to the stock of a corporation is released from his subscription by a subsequent alteration of the organization or purpose of the corporation, only when such alteration is at once of a fundamental nature and is not provided for or contemplated either by the charter or the statute under which the corporation was formed, or by any other operative constitutional or statutory law of the state.[58]

2. Purchasing Shares of Dissenting Shareholders. Where the state of the law existing at the time when a consolidation is attempted requires the unanimous consent of the shareholders of the constituent companies, and a minority of them dissent, the supreme court of Pennsylvania has acted upon the principle that the majority may get rid of the dissenting minority by purchasing their shares at their actual value,[59] a conclusion which seems doubtful, unless the state of the law existing at the time when the dissenting shareholders became subscribers authorized such a course of procedure.[60] Where, in order to carry through a scheme for a consolidation, it becomes necessary to buy off a dissenting shareholder, this must be done openly. Nothing less than the unanimous consent of the share-

54. Hamilton Mut. Ins. Co. v. Hobart, 2 Gray (Mass.) 543.

55. In re Pennsylvania College Cases, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 190, 20 L. ed. 550 [affirming 63 Pa. St. 428].

56. Market St. R. Co. v. Hellman, 109 Cal. 571, 42 Pac. 225; Hale v. Cheshire R. Co., 161 Mass. 443, 37 N. E. 307. Nor according to one doubtful decision is it necessary that any action on the part of the shareholders or directors should appear, where the consolidation has been effected by direct legislation. Bishop v. Brainerd, 28 Conn. 289.

A power conferred upon the executive committee and a majority of the trustees to amend the articles of association does not extend so far as to enable them to abrogate a provision in the articles prohibiting a consolidation with any other company without the consent of a majority of the shareholders.

57. Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Stout, 26 Ohio St. 241; Nugent v. Putnam County, 19 Wall. (U. S.) 241, 22 L. ed. 83.

58. Sparrow v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 7 Ind. 369. To the same effect see Bish v. Johnson, 21 Ind. 299. Compare Cork, etc., R. Co. v. Paterson, 18 C. B. 414, 37 Eng. L. & Eq. 398, 86 E. C. L. 414; Nixon v. Brownlow, 3 H. & N. 686, 4 Jur. N. S. 878, 27 L. J. Exch. 509.

59. Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685.

60. See Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78, where the Pennsylvania case (Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685) is criticized by McDonald, J.

holders of a consolidated corporation can justify the withdrawal of its funds to pay a shareholder for the surrender of his shares in one of the constituent corporations, in addition to the consideration contemplated by the consolidation agreement between the constituent corporations, secretly agreed upon between him and a promoter of the consolidation, who is an officer of the consolidated corporation.[61] Statutes have been enacted intended to obviate these difficulties by providing for an appraisement or arbitration as to the value of the shares of dissenting shareholders and by causing the values so ascertained to be paid before the consolidation takes place.[62]

3. How Consent of Shareholders Manifested. Manifestly the proper way to exhibit the consent of the shareholders is by a vote taken at a corporate meeting, duly convened, and not by passing a subscription paper around among them privately — a proceeding which received judicial sanction in one questionable case.[63] The consent of the shareholders may also be manifested by a subsequent ratification, provided it takes place fairly and after full knowledge of the facts. Those entitled to vote at a shareholders' meeting convened for this purpose are as in other cases shareholders who are shown to be such by the books of the corporation; and this of course means those who are holders of shares which have been issued, since merely potential shares will not be counted.[64]

4. Rights of Dissenting Shareholder — a. When Entitled to Injunction to Restrain Consolidation. If the law of the jurisdiction requires the unanimous consent of the shareholders to a consolidation, or if for any reason a shareholder is entitled to dissent from such a proceeding, he will be entitled to an injunction to restrain the directors and officers from carrying the scheme into effect, on the ground of an unlawful diversion of the trust funds in which he has an interest.[65]

b. When Entitled to Action in Equity Against Consolidated Company. Where a consolidation between two corporations is wrongfully effected, a dissenting

61. Trenton Pass. R. Co. v. Wilson, 55 N. J. Eq. 273, 37 Atl. 476.

62. N. Y. Laws (1890), c. 567, § 14; Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Garrett, 50 Ohio St. 405, 34 N. E. 493 (construing 87 Ohio Laws 159).

It has been held that such a statute is not exclusive, and does not prevent the dissenting shareholder from resorting to his remedy in the courts in the exercise of their ordinary powers. Langan v. Francklyn, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 404, 29 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 102.

63. The case alluded to is Market St. R. Co. v. Hellman, 109 Cal. 571, 42 Pac. 225.

64. Market St. R. Co. v. Hellman, 109 Cal. 571, 42 Pac. 225.

65. Alabama.— Nathan v. Tompkins, 82 Ala. 437, 2 So. 747.

Indiana.— State v. Bailey, 16 Ind. 46, 79 Am. Dec. 405.

Pennsylvania.— Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685.

Vermont.— Stevens v. Rutland, etc., R. Co., 29 Vt. 545, a very learned decision on this question, where Chancellor Bennett issued an injunction at the suit of a shareholder to restrain the directors of a railway company from applying its funds or pledging its credit for the purpose of constructing a road beyond the termini fixed by the statute of its creation.

United States.— Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78.

England.— Charlton v. Newcastle, etc., R. Co., 5 Jur. N. S. 1096, 7 Wkly. Rep. 731.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 2346.

The corporation must be made a party defendant in such an action it seems. Ridgway Tp. v. Griswold, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,819, 1 McCrary 151.

Grounds for dissolving injunction.— The injunction will not be dissolved on the ground that the attempt has been abandoned, unless the abandonment is shown by appropriate corporate action. Nathan v. Tompkins, 82 Ala. 437, 2 So. 747. Nor should it be dissolved upon an answer which fails to allege the consent of plaintiff to the consolidation, where unanimous consent is necessary. Botts v. Simpsonville, etc., Turnpike Road Co., 88 Ky. 54, 10 S. W. 134, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 669, 2 L. R. A. 594.

Clause not construed as compelling consent. — A clause in the charter conferring upon it the rights and privileges of the most favored corporations of the kind is not construed as compelling one of its shareholders to consent to a consolidation with another company. Botts v. Simpsonville, etc., Turnpike Road Co., 88 Ky. 54, 10 S. W. 134, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 669, 2 L. R. A. 594.

Extent of the relief granted in such an injunction proceeding see Blatchford v. Ross, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 42, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 434, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 110.

Effect of having interest secured.— That shareholder of one corporation may maintain an action in equity against the consolidated corporation, for the damages which he has sustained, upon the theory of a wrongful appropriation by it of his equitable interest in the original corporation of which he was a member. In such a case he is not debarred by a delay of two years, although such a delay might operate to prevent him from maintaining a suit to restrain the consolidation.[66]

c. Cannot Sue Directors For Damages. Where the consolidation is effected by the action of the shareholders it cannot be made the foundation of an action by a dissenting shareholder against the directors for damages.[67]

d. Effect of Acquiescence and Laches on Part of Shareholders. The shareholders who consent to the consolidation thereby estop themselves, in the absence of fraud, from raising future objections to it.[68] They also become estopped to object to any precedent steps which have formed an inducement to the consolidation.[69] But a shareholder is not precluded from making such an objection by the fact of his having failed to object to an enlargement of the charter of the former company, which did not on its face purport to give the power to consolidate.[70]

5. Right of Consolidated Company to Enforce Share Subscriptions of Shareholders. Generally speaking, upon the consolidation being perfected, a shareholder of one of the old companies becomes a shareholder in the new company, so that it may maintain actions on his share subscription for assessments,[71] although this is a matter which may be varied by the governing statute or the contract.[72] This is generally effected by a formal assignment by the constituent companies of all their properties and rights in action, etc., to the new company.[73] A subscription to the stock of the amalgamated company is manifestly a sufficient con-such an injunction will not be granted at the suit of a shareholder whose interest is secured see the doubtful case of Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685.

For a decree requiring a bond with security, that, upon final judgment, all property transferred to the consolidated company shall, if so required by the judgment, be delivered to the custody of the court for the protection of all the shareholders see McVicker v. Ross, 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 247.

66. International, etc., R. Co. v. Bremond 53 Tex. 96, holding that in such an action the shareholder is not precluded by the erroneous estimates of the officials of the corporation of which he was a member, embodied in a published report, from showing the true value of its assets.

67. International, etc., R. Co. v. Bremond, 53 Tex. 96.

68. To this principle see Zabriskie v. Hackensack, etc., R. Co., 18 N. J. Eq. 178, 90 Am. Dec. 617.

69. Deaderick v. Wilson, 8 Baxt. (Tenn.) 108.

70. International, etc., R. Co. v. Bremond, 53 Tex. 96.

Presumption that director, present at the adoption of the preliminary resolution for consolidation, and not objecting, assents to it, but not estopped, as a shareholder, by such tacit assent. Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78.

Laches.— When bill in equity to undo an alleged fraudulent consolidation will be dismissed for laches see Bell v. Pennsylvania, etc., R. Co. (Pa. 1887) 10 Atl. 741.

71. Wells v. Rodgers, 60 Mich. 525, 27 N. W. 671; Ridgway Tp. v. Griswold, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,819, 1 McCrary 151; Lord v. Copper Miners' Co., 1 Hall & T. 85, 12 Jur. 1059, 18 L. J. Ch. 65, 2 Phil. 716; Foss v. Harbottle, 2 Hare 461, 7 Jur. 163, 24 Eng. Ch. 461; Cooper v. Shropshire Union R., etc., Co., 13 Jur. 443, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 136; Exeter, etc., R. Co. v. Buller, 11 Jur. 527, 16 L. J. Ch. 449, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 211; Mozley v. Alston, 11 Jur. 315, 16 L. J. Ch. 217, 1 Phila. 790, 4 R. & Can. Cas. 636, 19 Eng. Ch. 790.

72. Bishop v. Brainerd, 28 Conn. 289.

73. Bishop v. Brainerd, 28 Conn. 289.

Validity of such transfer as against creditors see Bishop v. Brainerd, 28 Conn. 289.

Ratification of transfer.— Circumstances under which an assignment to the new company of a stock subscription made to the old company may be validated by a subsequent ratification of the board of directors of the new company see Bishop v. Brainerd, 28 Conn. 289.

Circumstances under which equity will refuse to enjoin a call made upon the shareholders of the new company to raise a fund to pay off the indebtedness of one of the old companies see Mozley v. Alston, 11 Jur. 315, 1 Phil. 790, 4 R. & Can. Cas. 636, 19 Eng. Ch. 790.

Injunction to restrain a creditor from enforcing his demands against a shareholder in one of the precedent companies denied, on the ground of an adequate remedy at law. Hardinge v. Webster, 1 Dr. & Sm. 101, 6 Jur. N. S. 88, 29 L. J. Ch. 161, 1 L. T. Rep. N. S. 261, 8 Wkly. Rep. 71.

sent on the part of a shareholder to the amalgamation.[74] A dissenting shareholder will not be exonerated from his subscription where it appears that the consolidation has merely the effect of carrying out the design of the original incorporation of the company in which he is a shareholder;[75] since one corporation may well be created with the purpose of being consolidated with or absorbed by another corporation.[76] But no action can be maintained in the name of the new corporation until the proceedings for consolidation have so far progressed that it has come into being as a distinct entity,[77] by complying with the conditions precedent demanded by the statute under which the proceeding to consolidate has taken place, as by filing the instrument of consolidation in the office of the secretary of state[78] or by electing a new board of directors.[79] The new company must of course show its title to maintain an action on the share subscription made to the old company, that is to say, it must show in what manner it has succeeded to the right of the original company to enforce the contract against the subscriber.[80] In the absence of conduct on the part of defendant which estops him from denying the title of the new company to maintain the action against him, the new company must show that the statutory requirements of a transfer by succession of the subscription from the old company to the new company have been complied with.[81] On the other hand the shareholder in the old company may dispute the title of the new corporation to maintain the action against him upon his share subscription in the old corporation by pleading no corporation, which is in the nature of a plea of nul tiel corporation.[82] He is not precluded from questioning the validity of the steps leading to the formation of the new corporation, although they have been sufficiently formal to create a corporation de facto. The reason is that no change which has proceeded in violation of substantial statutory conditions can bind a dissenting shareholder or compel him to submit to the new order of things against his will.[83]

6. Consent of Creditors and Bondholders Not Necessary. Creditors of the constituent corporations have no standing to object to a consolidation,[84] provided, in case of a railroad, that the consolidation will not confuse the data by which the extent of their security is determined.[85]

74. Fisher v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 7 Ind. 407.

75. Hanna v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 20 Ind. 30.

76. Nugent v. Putnam County, 19 Wall. (U. S.) 241, 22 L. ed. 83; Washburn v. Cass County, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,213, 3 Dill. 251.

The old corporation may maintain an action to enforce a share subscription unless the consolidation is pleaded in abatement, in which case the action may be revived or may proceed in the name of the new corporation. Hanna v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 20 Ind. 30; Swartwout v. Michigan Air-Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389.

77. Midland Great Western R. Co. v. Leech, 3 H. L. Cas. 872, 22 Eng. L. & Eq. 45 [affirmed in 28 Eng. L. & Eq. 17]. But see Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Brown, 26 Ohio St. 223; Cork, etc., R. Co. v. Paterson, 18 C. B. 414, 37 Eng. L. & Eq. 398, 86 E. C. L. 414.

78. Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Brown, 26 Ohio St. 223.

79. Peninsular R. Co. v. Tharp, 28 Mich. 506.

80. Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Drinker, 30 Mich. 124.

81. Tuttle v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 35 Mich. 247; Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Drinker, 30 Mich. 124; Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Brown, 26 Ohio St. 223.

82. Tuttle v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 35 Mich. 247; Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Stout, 26 Ohio St. 241.

83. Tuttle v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 35 Mich. 247. See also Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Drinker, 30 Mich. 124.

It was therefore held that the new corporation must show, in order to maintain such an action, that it had succeeded to the rights of the predecessor corporations by the election of a board of directors of its own. Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Drinker, 30 Mich. 124 (decision under Ohio statute); Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Brown, 26 Ohio St. 223.

If the subscription to the shares in the old company was made upon a valid condition it passes to the new company subject to such condition, and the new company cannot disregard it. Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Pettis, 26 Ohio St. 259.

84. Friedenwald Co. v. Asheville Tobacco Works, etc., Co., 117 N. C. 544, 23 S. E. 490.

85. Hart v. Ogdensburg, etc., R. Co., 69 Hun (N. Y.) 378, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 639, 52 N. Y. St. 799, holding that mortgage bondholders have no right to a vote on the subject of consolidation, although they are empowered to vote at corporate elections.

D. Effect of Consolidation — 1. Upon Existing Rights and Obligations — a. Whether Consolidation Creates New Corporation. This question must be answered upon a consideration of the terms of the statute under which the consolidation takes place. For most purposes a complete consolidation of the capital stock, franchises, and properties of two or more corporations creates a new corporation, but not for all purposes.[86] For example rights of action against the constituent corporations survive against the new corporation. So a corporation may be formed by the consolidation of several street railroad corporations under the civil code of California,[87] and consequently may be organized for a term of fifty years, irrespective of the terms of the constituent corporations.[88] The general rule that the consolidation of two or more corporations into one creates a new company in such a sense as to work a dissolution of the original corporations forming the consolidated company is said to be subject to exceptions, and to depend upon the statute under which the consolidation is effected. One corporation may absorb another, so to speak, by purchasing, under a statutory power, all the shares, franchises, and properties of the other, and this may have the effect of absorbing only the selling corporation without creating a new corporation, but merely continuing the purchasing corporation in existence with an enlarged capital and possibly with enlarged franchises.[89]

b. Whether Consolidation Works Dissolution of Constituent Companies. It has been frequently said that the usual effect of the consolidation of two railway companies is to extinguish the two companies and to make of them one new company, which necessarily has the effect of dissolving the old ones.[90] But it seems that whether the consolidation of two corporations works a dissolution of the constituent companies depends upon the terms of the statute under which the consolidation takes place.[91] One corporation may absorb another by purchasing all its assets, stock, and franchises, and issuing its own shares to the shareholders of the absorbed corporation, in which case the purchasing corporation will not be absorbed, but will continue in existence, with enlarged powers, franchises, and property rights.[92] Or it may simply purchase the shares of the other corporation

86. See the reasoning in State v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 77 Md. 489, 26 Atl. 865. It has been judicially asserted in a case which attracted great attention, that a consolidation of the stock of two or more corporations resulted uniformly and necessarily in the creation of a new corporation. Adams v. Yazoo, etc., R. Co., 77 Miss. 194, 24 So. 200, 317, 28 So. 956. To this principle the court cites: Keokuk, etc., R. Co. v. Missouri, 152 U. S. 301, 14 S. Ct. 592, 38 L. ed. 450; St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Berry, 113 U. S. 465, 5 S. Ct. 529, 28 L. ed. 1055; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Georgia, 98 U. S. 359, 25 L. ed. 185; Ferguson v. Meredith, 1 Wall. (U. S.) 25, 17 L. ed. 604.

87. Cal. Civ. Code, §§ 473, 510.

88. Market St. R. Co. v. Hellman, 109 Cal. 571, 42 Pac. 225.

89. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373. Compare Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. People, 123 Ill. 467, 14 N. E. 874; People v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 120 Ill. 48, 10 N. E. 657; Hart v. Ogdensburg, etc., R. Co., 69 Hun (N. Y.) 378, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 639, 52 N. Y. St. 799.

90. McMahan v. Morrison, 16 Ind. 172, 79 Am. Dec. 418; Fee v. New Orleans Gas Light Co., 35 La. Ann. 413; Tomlinson v. Branch, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 460, 21 L. ed. 189; Ferguson v. Meredith, 1 Wall. (U. S.) 25, 17 L. ed. 604; Ridgway Tp. v. Griswold, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,819, 1 McCrary 151 (per Dillon, J.). Compare the following cases:

Maine.— State v. Maine Cent. R. Co., 66 Me. 488, old corporation continues to exist for the protection of creditors, mortgagees, etc., and ceases to exist when that necessity ceases.

Massachusetts.— Hamilton Mut. Ins. Co. v. Hobart, 2 Gray 543, creates new corporation.

Mississippi.— Adams v. Yazoo, etc., R. Co., 77 Miss. 194, 24 So. 200, 317, 28 So. 956 [overruling Natchez, etc., R. Co. v. Lambert, 70 Miss. 779, 13 So. 33].

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 53 Pa. St. 9, creates new corporation.

Ohio.— State v. Sherman, 22 Ohio St. 411, new corporation becomes subject to the provisions of the existing constitution.

Texas.— Indianola R. Co. v. Fryer, 56 Tex. 609, consolidation extinguishes old corporations so that thereafter no action can be commenced or prosecuted against them.

United States.— Central R., etc., Co. v. Georgia, 92 U. S. 665, 23 L. ed. 757.

91. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373 [affirming 56 Ill. App. 327]; Central R., etc., Co. v. Georgia, 92 U. S. 665, 23 L. ed. 757.

92. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373 [distinguishing Ohio, etc., and merge them, thereby effecting, de facto at least, a dissolution of the old corporation, while its own existence continues as before.[93] Or it may, after purchasing the shares of the old corporation, place them in the hands of its own nominees and thereby cause the old corporation to be continued in existence, although under its own power and control.[94] Again it is possible, although not usual, for one of the consolidating companies to be revived by the legislature as a separate corporation, although this, it is supposed, should rather be regarded as the creation of a new one.[95] If the legislative intent is plain not to discontinue the existence of one of the consolidated corporations, then it will maintain a separate existence at least for the purpose of holding and enjoying an exemption from taxation granted to it by the state before the consolidation.[96]

c. View That Legal Existence of Old Corporations Is Continued in New. One court has held upon a stress of justice that, for the purposes of answering for the liabilities of the constituent corporations, the consolidated company should be deemed to be merely the same as each of its constituents, their existence continuing in it, under the new form and name, their liabilities still existing as before, and being capable of enforcement against the new company the same as if no change had occurred in its organization or name.[97]

d. New Company Estopped to Deny New Name and Character. Where an action is brought against the new company upon an obligation of the old, and the act or acts of consolidation by which it has become the successor of the old in respect of the obligation are pleaded, and the new company pleads the general issue, it is estopped to deny the name in which it is sued, and also to deny that the old company executing the obligation by the name then used has, by force of the consolidation, assumed the name by which the new company is sued;[98] a decision which seems to mean that in such a case the non-liability of defendant must be specially pleaded and proved. The same principle has been declared with reference to a case where an action was depending against one of the old companies at the time of the consolidation, and the consolidated company appeared by its counsel and defended. By so appearing it admitted its corporate existence, its successorship to the precedent corporation, and its liability in case the precedent corporation should be adjudged liable.[99]

e. New Corporation Succeeds to Rights and Obligations of Old Ones — (i) In General. As a general rule the new company succeeds to the rights, duties, obligations, and liabilities of each of the precedent companies, whether arising ex contractu or ex delicto.[1] The charter powers, privileges, and immunities of

R. Co. v. People, 123 Ill. 467, 14 N. E. 874; People v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 120 Ill. 48, 10 N. E. 657].

93. See for example Central R., etc., Co. v. Georgia, 92 U. S. 665, 23 L. ed. 757.

94. For a consolidation between two railroad companies where the absorbing company was held to become the proper legal representative of the absorbed company with regard to a lease executed by the latter, and hence entitled to the benefit of the provisions of such lease, see New York Cent. R. Co. v. Saratoga, etc., R. Co., 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 289.

95. New Jersey Zinc Co. v. Boston Franklinite Co., 15 N. J. Eq. 418.

96. Central R., etc., Co. v. Georgia, 92 U. S. 665, 23 L. ed. 757.

Transfer to new corporation by trustees to wind up.—When directors and managers, acting as statutory trustees to wind up a dissolved corporation, may make a valid transfer to the new corporation of a patent belonging to the old one see Edison Electric Light Co. v. New Haven Electric Co., 35 Fed. 233.

Estoppel of old corporation to deny dissolution.— Circumstances under which one of the old corporations may become estopped from claiming that it remains undissolved, against one seeking to enforce rights which accrue to him by reason of its dissolution. Carey v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 5 Iowa 357.

97. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 29 Ind. 465, 95 Am. Dec. 654, opinion by Frazer, J.

98. Columbus, etc., R. Co. v. Skidmore, 69 Ill. 566.

99. Kinion v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 39 Mo. App. 382.

1. Arkansas.— Sappington v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 37 Ark. 23; Zimmer v. State, 30 Ark. 677.

Georgia.— Montgomery, etc., R. Co. v. Boring, 51 Ga. 582; Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Harbin, 40 Ga. 706. Construction of an agreement of consolidation which was held to bind the new the constituent corporations pass to and become vested in the consolidated company,[2] except so far as otherwise provided by the act under which the consolidation takes place, or by other applicatory constitutional or legislative provisions.[3] It holds the property to which it thus succeeds in its own right, and not in trust for the constituent companies. As the power to amalgamate with another corporation is in the nature of a privilege or franchise, the legislature may grant it on terms. It may, as a condition of the grant, require the new company to assume the liabilities of the old corporations;[4] and in most cases no doubt statutes authorizing consolidations so provide in express terms.[5] The mere fact that a company to carry out the contracts of carriage embraced in mileage and trip tickets issued by the absorbed company the same as if such contracts had been made by the new company. Tompkins v. Augusta Southern R. Co., 102 Ga. 436, 30 S. E. 992.

Illinois.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Moffitt, 75 Ill. 524; Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Coal Valley Min. Co., 68 Ill. 489; St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Miller, 43 Ill. 199.

Indiana.— Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Boney, 117 Ind. 501, 20 N. E. 432, 3 L. R. A. 435; Paine v. Lake Erie, etc., R. Co., 31 Ind. 283; Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 29 Ind. 465, 95 Am. Dec. 654.

Kansas.— Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Phillips County, 25 Kan. 261.

Maryland.— Baltimore v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 6 Gill 288, 48 Am. Dec. 531.

Missouri.—Thompson v. Abbott, 61 Mo. 176; State v. Greene County, 54 Mo. 540.

Pennsylvania.— Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Musselman, 2 Grant 348.

Tennessee.— Miller v. Lancaster, 5 Coldw. 514.

Virginia.— Barksdale v. Finney, 14 Gratt. 338.

United States.— Tomlinson v. Branch, 15 Wall. 460, 21 L. ed. 189; Brum v. Merchants' Mut. Ins. Co., 16 Fed. 140, 4 Woods 156; Harrison v. Union Pac. R. Co., 13 Fed. 522, 4 McCrary 264; Ridgway Tp. v. Griswold, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,819, 1 McCrary 151; Washburn v. Cass County, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,213, 3 Dill. 251.

England.— A railroad company to which the undertaking of a former company has been transferred upon its dissolution by statute, "subject to the obligations and liabilities" of the old company, is liable upon the covenants of such company, as part of the consideration for land purchased, to maintain accommodation works and perform personal services. Fortescue v. Lostwithiel, etc., R. Co., [1894] 3 Ch. 621, 64 L. J. Ch. 37, 71 L. T. Rep. N. S. 423, 8 Reports 664, 43 Wkly. Rep. 138.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 2354.

2. Arkansas.— Zimmer v. State, 30 Ark. 677.

Illinois.— Robertson v. Rockford, 21 Ill. 451.

Michigan.— Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Dunlap, 47 Mich. 456, 11 N. W. 271.

Missouri.— Daniels v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 62 Mo. 43.

New York.— New York Cent. R. Co. v. Saratoga, etc., R. Co., 39 Barb. 289.

United States.— Central R., etc., Co. v. Georgia, 92 U. S. 665, 23 L. ed. 757.

3. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Moffitt, 75 Ill. 524; Greene v. Woodland Ave., etc., St. R. Co., 62 Ohio St. 67, 56 N. E. 642.

4. Day v. Worcester, etc., R. Co., 151 Mass. 302, 23 N. E. 824.

5. 1 Thompson Corp. § 305 et seq. See also Western Union R. Co. v. Smith, 75 Ill. 496; Hatcher v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 62 Ill. 477; Shaw v. Norfolk County R. Co., 16 Gray (Mass.) 407; Lightner v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,343, 1 Lowell 338. It has been observed, in view of numerous decisions, that "it is usual for consolidating statutes to introduce more or less the element of succession, or continuity of legal person as to existing rights and duties, notwithstanding the fact that in other respects the old and new corporations are not the same." Holmes, J., in John Hancock Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Worcester, etc., R. Co., 149 Mass. 214, 220, 21 N. E. 364 [citing Abbott v. New York, etc., R. Co., 145 Mass. 450, 15 N. E. 91; Boston, etc., R. Corp. v. Midland R. Co., 1 Gray (Mass.) 340; Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 115 U. S. 587, 6 S. Ct. 194, 29 L. ed. 499]. Where such is the provision of the statute, the new corporation may lawfully use a patented invention, which both the old corporations had been licensed to use, without a formal assignment of it. Lightner v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,343, 1 Lowell 338. Under such a statute provision a person who was surety by bond to one of the companies before amalgamation, for the conduct of an employee, was liable to the new company for breaches of the bond committed after the amalgamation. Eastern Union R. Co. v. Cochrane, 2 C. L. R. 292, 9 Exch. 197, 17 Jur. 1103, 23 L. J. Exch. 61, 7 R. & Can. Cas. 792, 2 Wkly. Rep. 43, 24 Eng. L. & Eq. 495. The power of a railroad company to begin proceedings for the condemnation of lands in Michigan is not lost by its consolidation with another railroad company into a new organization so as to constitute a corporation subject to the laws of the same state as the original company. Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Dunlap, 47 Mich. 456, 11 N. W. 271.

Succeeds to rights of constituent having fewest privileges.— For the doctrine that the consolidated company succeeds to the rights, powers, privileges, and immunities of that one of the constituent companies which has corporation is created with the same name and with the same franchises as those possessed by a preceding corporation does not make it a continuation of the preceding corporation and liable for its debts.[6] But where the legislature authorizes the surrender of the charter of one company and its incorporation into another existing company, in such a sense that the latter company succeeds to the property, rights, and privileges of the former and becomes merely its successor, it will be bound for its liabilities.[7]

(II) Whether It Succeeds to Exemption From Taxation. If the precedent corporations enjoy, under their statutes, an exemption from taxation, and if the statute authorizing the consolidation provides, by whatever language, that the new company shall succeed to the rights, privileges, and immunities of the old, this exemption from taxation will pass to and become vested in the new corporation,[8] except where at the time of consolidation there exists a constitutional prohibition against exemptions.[9] If one of the precedent corporations enjoys this exemption, it will not be enlarged by the consolidation. Nor will it be diminished; but, as to its property which passes to the new corporation, the latter will take it subject to the exemption.[10] Thus where one of the consolidating companies enjoyed under its charter an exemption from taxation, this exemption did not, by the consolithe fewest privileges see State v. Maine Cent. R. Co., 66 Me. 488.

6. For an example of this see Bruffett v. Great Western R. Co., 25 Ill. 353, and the very lucid opinion of Walker, J.

7. Montgomery, etc., R. Co. v. Boring, 51 Ga. 582.

Right to municipal aid.— That the consolidated railway corporation succeeds to the privilege conferred upon the constituent companies of having municipal corporations subscribe to its bonds or to its shares to aid in building its road, where the aid is voted prior to the consolidation, see Hanna v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 20 Ind. 30; Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Phillips County, 25 Kan. 261; State v. Greene County, 54 Mo. 540; Smith v. Clark County, 54 Mo. 58; Hannibal, etc., R. Co. v. Marion County, 36 Mo. 294; Henry County v. Nicolay, 95 U. S. 619, 24 L. ed. 394; East Lincoln v. Davenport, 94 U. S. 801, 24 L. ed. 322; Scotland County v. Thomas, 94 U. S. 682, 24 L. ed. 219; Callaway County v. Foster, 93 U. S. 567, 23 L. ed. 911; Branch v. Charleston, 92 U. S. 677, 23 L. ed. 750; Nugent v. Putnam County, 19 Wall. (U. S.) 241, 22 L. ed. 83; Tomlinson v. Branch, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 460, 21 L. ed. 189; Washburn v. Cass County, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,213, 3 Dill. 251. That it so succeeds where the aid has not been voted prior to the consolidation see State v. Greene County, 54 Mo. 540; Smith v. Clark County, 54 Mo. 58; Hannibal, etc., R. Co. v. Marion County, 36 Mo. 294; Henry County v. Nicolay, 95 U. S. 619, 24 L. ed. 394; Scotland County v. Thomas, 94 U. S. 682, 24 L. ed. 219; Lewis v. Clarendon, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,320, 5 Dill. 329. When such a consolidation revokes the power of municipalities so to subscribe see Harshman v. Bates County, 92 U. S. 569, 23 L. ed. 747. This case is distinguishable from Scotland County v. Thomas, 94 U. S. 682, 24 L. ed. 219, and the other cases cited above, on the ground that in the latter case there was no question of agency.

8. State v. Woodruff, 36 N. J. L. 94; Southwestern R. Co. v. Georgia, 92 U. S. 676 note, 23 L. ed. 762.

Statute which was held to pass an exemption from taxation to the new company. Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Allen, 15 Fla. 637.

Contrary to the doctrine of the above text, it was recently held in Mississippi, in a case which was earnestly contested, that, notwithstanding the fact that the statute authorizing consolidation provides for the continuation of the exemption, and the further fact that the new constitution of that state provides for the continuation of exemptions to which corporations were "legally entitled" at the time of the adoption of the constitution, and notwithstanding the further fact that the same instrument provides for the continuation of the rights and charters of corporations, yet, as the right of corporations to consolidate is the grant of a franchise, and as the new constitution provides that new grants of franchises shall be subject to the provisions of that instrument, one of which prohibits exemptions from taxation, and further, as the consolidation of two or more companies creates a new corporation, the effect of such a consolidation is to bring the new company under the provisions of the new constitution of the state, and to cut off an exemption from taxation enjoyed by one of the precedent companies. Adams v. Yazoo, etc., R. Co., 77 Miss. 194, 24 So. 200, motion to strike out files denied in 24 So. 317. There were several of these cases, and they were all affirmed by the supreme court of the United States. Yazoo, etc., R. Co. v. Adams, 180 U. S. 1, 21 S. Ct. 240, 45 L. ed. 395, motion for rehearing denied in 181 U. S. 580, 21 S. Ct. 729, 45 L. ed. 1011.

9. Keokuk, etc., R. Co. v. Missouri, 152 U. S. 301, 14 S. Ct. 592, 38 L. ed. 450.

10. State v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 45 Md. 361, 24 Am. Rep. 511; Chesapeake, etc., R. Co. v. Virginia, 94 U. S. 718, 24 L. ed. 310; Branch v. Charleston, 92 U. S. 677, 23

dation, become extended to the new company in respect to its entire road, but only in respect to that portion of it which it had acquired from the company which had enjoyed the exemption.[11] So where one company which under its charter enjoyed an exemption from taxation for a limited period became merged in another company which enjoyed a perpetual exemption, this perpetual exemption did not, by the consolidation, become extended to the road of the company which thus became merged.[12]

(III) What Other Rights and Immunities Pass to Consolidated Corporation. Under various statutes and conditions it has been held that the following rights and immunities pass to the consolidated corporation: The statutory right conferred upon a street railway company to occupy the streets of the city with its tracks upon obtaining the consent of the city,[13] although a subsequent constitutional provision is adopted providing for the organization of corporations and subjecting them to alteration and repeal, and subsequently to this statutes are enacted for the consolidation of corporations, under which the particular consolidation takes place;[14] and special exemption of the officers, agents, and servants of the corporation from military, jury, and road duty.[15]

(IV) New Corporation Succeeds to What Debts and Obligations of Old — (A) In General. The consolidated corporation succeeds to the debts and liabilities of the old ones.[16] According to one view such liabilities are enforceable against it the same as if no change had been made.[17] Under this view the con-

L. ed. 750; Central R., etc., Co. v. Georgia, 92 U. S. 665, 23 L. ed. 707; Minot v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 18 Wall. (U. S.) 206, 21 L. ed. 888; Charleston v. Branch, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 470, 21 L. ed. 193; Tomlinson v. Branch, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 460, 21 L. ed. 189; Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Maryland, 10 How. (U. S.) 376, 13 L. ed. 461.

11. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Maryland, 10 How. (U. S.) 376, 13 L. ed. 461.

12. Tomlinson v. Branch, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 460, 21 L. ed. 189.

What accretions and betterments of railroad property carry the exemption from taxation after consolidation. Branch v. Charleston, 92 U. S. 677, 23 L. ed. 750; Charleston v. Branch, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 470, 21 L. ed. 193; Tomlinson v. Branch, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 460, 21 L. ed. 189.

Exemption does not follow consolidation where it depends upon certain precedent acts to be done by each company, and the new company is neither required, nor able, to perform such acts. State v. Maine Cent. R. Co., 69 Me. 488 [affirmed in 96 U. S. 499, 24 L. ed. 836].

Release of exemption.— When a consolidation of corporations claiming an exemption from general taxation, with corporations not thus exempted, operates to release the exemption as to all, see Bicknell v. Trickey, 34 Me. 273; Miller v. Scherder, 2 N. Y. 262.

13. Africa v. Knoxville, 70 Fed. 729.

14. Citizens' St. R. Co. v. Memphis, 53 Fed. 715, doubtful decision.

Construction of statute.— That a statute (N. Y. Laws (1892), c. 340) authorizing an existing street railway company to consolidate with other street railroads, the consolidated company to succeed to the rights of the existing corporations and to assume their legal burdens, obligations, and liabilities, is not void because it does not require the consent of the abutting property-owners and of the local authorities see Bohmer v. Haffen, 161 N. Y. 390, 55 N. E. 1047 [affirming 35 N. Y. App. Div. 381, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 1030 (affirming 22 Misc. (N. Y.) 565, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 857)].

15. Zimmer v. State, 30 Ark. 677.

16. Thompson v. Abbott, 61 Mo. 176.

17. Montgomery, etc., R. Co. v. Boring, 51 Ga. 582; Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 29 Ind. 465, 95 Am. Dec. 654.

Some of the decisions qualify this statement by the expression, "at least to the extent of the assets received from the old corporation." Jeffersonville, etc., R. Co. v. Hendricks, 41 Ind. 48; Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 29 Ind. 465, 95 Am. Dec. 654; U. S. Capsule Co. v. Isaacs, 23 Ind. App. 533, 55 N. E. 832; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Chicago Third Nat. Bank, 134 U. S. 276, 10 S. Ct. 550, 33 L. ed. 900; Brum v. Merchants' Mut. Ins. Co., 16 Fed. 140, 4 Woods 156; Hibernia Ins. Co. v. St. Louis, etc., Transp. Co., 13 Fed. 516, 4 McCrary 432; Hibernia Ins. Co. v. St. Louis, etc., Transp. Co., 10 Fed. 596, 3 McCrary 368. Compare Indianapolis R. Co. v. Jones, 29 Ind. 465, 95 Am. Dec. 654; Howe v. Boston Carpet Co., 16 Gray (Mass.) 493; Treadwell v. Salisbury Mfg. Co., 7 Gray (Mass.) 393, 66 Am. Dec. 490; Sargent v. Webster, 13 Metc. (Mass.) 497, 46 Am. Dec. 743; Holmes, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Holmes, etc., Metal Co., 127 N. Y. 252, 27 N. E. 831, 38 N. Y. St. 155, 24 Am. St. Rep. 448. While there is no doubt of this principle, as we shall presently see, yet where the consolidating company absorbs the franchises of the old company which consist of the possibility of making money by the exercise of special privileges received from the state, not enjoyed by the inhabitants of the state generally, there is the greatest propriety in holding it personally liable for the debts of the old company without regard to the existence of the assets received; and public policy demands this, and the statute law in most cases requires it. There are, however, unfortunate judicial decisions, which proceed in disregard of this principle. One of these holds that where all the property and franchises of one corporation are sold and transferred to another corporation, and the transaction is bona fide, the purchaser is not responsible for the liabilities of the seller, in the absence of statute or agreement otherwise providing. Chase v. Michigan Telephone Co., 121 Mich. 631, 80 N. W. 717; Pennison v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 93 Wis. 344, 67 N. W. 702. It seems to have been in substance held by the supreme court of the United States that a consolidation was valid, although it did not provide for the payment of all the debts of the absorbed companies, but provided in a schedule for the payment of certain debts from which a valid claim was omitted, so that the omitted claimant could not maintain a suit in equity to have his claim paid in the manner provided by the statute for the payment of the debts which were included in the schedule. Smith v. Chesapeake, etc., Canal Co., 14 Pet. (U. S.) 45, 10 L. ed. 347. Compare Thomas v. Frederick County School, 7 Gill & J. (Md.) 369. But it seems that such a consolidation, by which the assets are passed to the new company under a scheme providing for the payment of some debts and pretermitting others, ought to be regarded as being in the nature of a fraudulent conveyance.

solidated corporation is answerable in a direct action for the torts[18] or the contracts[19] of the constituent corporations; may be compelled specifically to perform their contracts;[20] and may be compelled to perform a public obligation imposed by charter or statute upon one of them, such as, in the case of a street railway company, to pay the cost of paving and repaving the portion of the street occupied by its track.[21] In short any obligation imposed by charter or statute upon one of the constituent companies reads itself into the charter of the consolidated company and becomes a part of its being.[22]

The principle of the text has no application to the case stated in the subdivision relating to reorganization (see supra, II, B, 1, c), where the properties and franchises of the corporation are sold in a proceeding to foreclose a mortgage, in which case the demands of all creditors junior to the mortgage foreclosed are wiped out, unless saved by a statute operative at the time when the mortgage was made, or by some arrangement made between the interested parties at the time of the foreclosure with a view to a reorganization. National Foundry, etc., Works v. Oconto City Water Supply Co., 105 Wis. 48, 81 N. W. 125. If therefore there has been, prior to the consolidation, the foreclosure of a mortgage upon all the property and franchises of one of the companies, the effect of the consolidation is not to make the new company liable for the general debts of the old company existing prior to the mortgage foreclosure. In such a case the general creditor could only claim through the purchasers at the foreclosure sale; and as already seen he can have no rights against them except on the conditions above stated. Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Shirley, 54 Tex. 125. Nor will a statute providing for a consolidation and enacting that the consolidated company shall be liable for all the debts of each company entering into the arrangement be construed as retrospective in such a sense as to revive the general debts of one of the antecedent companies which have been cut off by a mortgage foreclosure, and to make the consolidated company liable therefor; and if such a statute were in terms retroactive, it would be invalid, as impairing the obligation of the contract between the original corporation and its mortgagee. Hatcher v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 62 Ill. 477. For rulings upon this question under the statutes of Texas see Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Shirley, 54 Tex. 125; Galveston, etc., R. Co. v. Cowdrey, 11 Wall. (U. S.) 459, 20 L. ed. 199.

18. Cleveland, etc., R. Co. v. Prewitt, 134 Ind. 557, 33 N. E. 367; Cashman v. Brownlee, 128 Ind. 266, 27 N. E. 560; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Boney, 117 Ind. 501, 20 N. E. 432, 3 L. R. A. 435; Berry v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 52 Kan. 774, 36 Pac. 724, 39 Am. St. Rep. 381 [rehearing denied in 52 Kan. 759, 34 Pac. 805, 39 Am. St. Rep. 371]; State v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 77 Md. 489, 26 Atl. 865; Southern R. Co. v. Bouknight, 70 Fed. 442, 17 C. C. A. 181, 30 L. R. A. 823.

19. Friedenwald v. Asheville Tobacco Works, etc., Co., 117 N. C. 544, 23 S. E. 490. Compare Smith v. Los Angeles, etc., R. Co., 98 Cal. 210, 33 Pac. 53.

20. Cumberland Valley R. Co. v. Gettysburg, etc., R. Co., 177 Pa. St. 519, 35 Atl. 952, 39 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 72.

21. Philadelphia v. Ridge Ave. Pass. R. Co., 143 Pa. St. 444, 22 Atl. 695, 28 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 388.

22. Philadelphia v. Ridge Ave. Pass. R. Co., 143 Pa. St. 444, 22 Atl. 695, 28 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 388.

For the construction of statutes which so provide see Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373 (holding that a judgment creditor of the old corporation may maintain an action of debt on the judgment against the new corporation, such judgment being for a tort); Deer Lake Co. v. Michigan Land, etc., Co., 89 Mich. 180, 50 N. W. 807 (a new corporation bound by the terms of a warranty deed given by one of the old ones); In re Utica Nat. Brewing Co., 154 N. Y. 268, 48 N. E. 521 [affirming 19 N. Y. App. Div. 627, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 1102, holding that the

(B) Liable in Equity to Extent of Assets Received—(1) IN GENERAL. Where several corporations are consolidated and turn over their assets to the new corporation, it becomes liable for the debts of the consolidated companies, under any theory, to the extent of the assets which it receives from them.[23] The governing principle here is that a corporation cannot give away its assets to the prejudice of its creditors,[24] but that a court of equity will follow such assets as a trust fund into the hands of any new custodian, the same not being a creditor or bona fide purchaser.[25] In such a case the consolidated corporation holds the property received from the absorbed company with notice of any trust attaching to it in favor of its creditors, and cannot claim the right of a bona fide purchaser without notice.[26]

(2) EXCEPTION IN CASE OF BONA FIDE SALE OF ASSETS BY ONE CORPORATION TO ANOTHER—(a) STATEMENT OF RULE. It seems that the foregoing rule is not applicable to a bona fide sale by one corporation to another of all its properties for a good consideration, but that in such a case the purchasing corporation would hold the assets discharged of any obligation toward the creditors of the selling corporation.[27] It would be a mere substitution of trust funds, and upon a well-settled principle the purchasing corporation would not be bound to see to the proper application of the trust fund, consisting of the purchase-price which it turned over to the selling corporation.[28]

(b) RIGHTS OF BONA FIDE PURCHASERS FROM CONSOLIDATED COMPANY. In such a case it follows that if, before any judgment or other lien has attached to the property, the consolidated company conveys it to an innocent purchaser, one who brings an action against the original company and prosecutes it to judgment against the consolidated company cannot maintain a suit in equity against the innocent purchaser to charge the property in his hands. In the absence of fraud the case is simply that of a party who is in debt conveying his property to a third person who takes as an innocent purchaser.[29]

(V) ACCEPTANCE BY CREDITORS OF OLD CORPORATION OF NEW CORPORATION AS THEIR DEBTOR. It is optional with the creditors of the old corporations to accept the new or consolidated corporation as their debtor.[30] Such an acceptance is shown by the act of a creditor of the old corporation in bringing an action against the new one for a debt of the old.[31] But creditors of the old corporation are not bound to accept the new one as their debtor. Thus where a railroad com-statutory right of a creditor of one of the constituent corporations to enforce his demand against the consolidated corporation is not impaired by the recovery of a judgment against such corporation; and that the taking of a renewal note will not discharge the recourse of the creditor against the new corporation, where the intent was a mere extension of the original notes, and not a payment of them]; Kavanagh v. Omaha L. Assoc., 84 Fed. 295 (new attempted corporation not liable for debts of old ones, where there was no statute authorizing the consolidation).

23. Georgia.—Tompkins v. Augusta Southern R. Co., 102 Ga. 436, 30 S. E. 992.

Indiana.— U. S. Capsule Co. v. Isaacs, 23 Ind. App. 533, 55 N. E. 832.

New York.— Hurd v. New York, etc., Steam Laundry Co., 29 Misc. 183, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 813.

Virginia.— Barksdale v. Finney, 14 Gratt. 338.

United States.— Harrison v. Union Pac. R. Co., 13 Fed. 522, 4 McCrary 264.

24. Goodwin v. McGehee, 15 Ala. 232.

25. Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412; Bacon v. Robertson, 18 How. (U. S.) 480, 15 L. ed. 499; Curren v. Arkansas, 15 How. (U. S.) 304, 14 L. ed. 705.

26. Montgomery, etc., R. Co. v. Branch, 59 Ala. 139; Young v. The Key City, 14 Wall. (U. S.) 653, 20 L. ed. 896.

27. Powell v. North Missouri R. Co., 42 Mo. 63. See also Bruffett v. Great Western R. Co., 25 Ill. 353; Chase v. Michigan Telephone Co., 121 Mich. 631, 80 N. W. 717; Pennison v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 93 Wis. 344, 67 N. W. 702.

28. Goodwin v. American Nat. Bank, 48 Conn. 550; Fountain v. Anderson, 33 Ga. 372; Shaw v. Spencer, 100 Mass. 382, 97 Am. Dec. 107, 1 Am. Rep. 115; Ashton v. Atlantic Bank, 3 Allen (Mass.) 217; Mason v. Bank of Commerce, 16 Mo. App. 275; Mo. Rev. Stat. (1879), § 3937.

29. McMahan v. Morrison, 16 Ind. 172, 79 Am. Dec. 418.

30. Smith v. Los Angeles, etc., R. Co., 98 Cal. 210, 33 Pac. 53.

31. Smith v. Los Angeles, etc., R. Co., 98 Cal. 210, 33 Pac. 53.

pany agrees to give its bonds in consideration of certain moneys to be paid in instalments, and afterward becoming, by legislative authority, amalgamated with two other companies, tendered the bonds of the consolidated corporation and brought suit for the money, it was held that the action would not lie, the consideration offered not being that agreed for.[32] The governing principle here is that a party to a contract who disables himself from rendering the agreed consideration cannot require the performance of a promise which rests on that consideration.[33]

(VI) Rights of Creditors Not Impaired by Agreements Between Combining Corporations. The rights of creditors of the constituent corporations cannot be impaired, or in a legal sense affected, by agreements which may be made among the combining corporations, to which such creditors are not parties and to which they do not give their assent.[34]

(VII) Power of New Corporation to Deal With Creditors of Old. As the new company succeeds to the rights of each of the precedent companies, it may compromise and settle a claim against one of them, and sustain an action to enforce the settlement;[35] and the directors of the new company have authority, without a vote of the shareholders, to pay and cancel as many of the outstanding obligations of one of the precedent corporations as they may see fit.[36]

(VIII) Right to Recover Damages From New Company For Refusing to Carry Out Obligations of Old. Where the new company is thus made the heir, so to speak, of the obligations of the old, if the new company refuses to carry out such an obligation the obligee can maintain an action against it for the resulting damages.[37]

f. Right of Bondholders of Old Companies to Notice of Privileges Given Them by Act of Consolidation. Upon the consolidation of two corporations, the holder of the bonds of one, containing a clause authorizing their conversion at any time into stock at par, cannot be deprived of his right to demand such conversion, and relegated to different rights conferred by the articles of consolidation, until he has had a fair opportunity, after notice, to exercise his original rights, and has elected not to do so.[38]

g. New Company Must Perform Public Obligations of Old. In the case of consolidations between railroad companies, or other companies which, under their charters or statutes of incorporation, have assumed duties in favor of the public, the principle obtains that such companies cannot cast off their public duties by any agreement which they may make among themselves. Therefore so much of a contract for the consolidation of two railway companies as operates to prevent a 32. New Jersey Midland R. Co. v. Strait, 35 N. J. L. 322.

33. Newcomb v. Brackett, 16 Mass. 161; Frost v. Clarkson, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 24; Planche v. Colburn, 8 Bing. 14, 21 E. C. L. 424, 5 C. & P. 58, 24 E. C. L. 452, 1 Moore & S. 51; Keys v. Harwood, 2 C. B. 905, 15 L. J. C. P. 207, 52 E. C. L. 905.

34. Smith v. Los Angeles, etc., R. Co., 98 Cal. 210, 33 Pac. 53; State v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 77 Md. 489, 26 Atl. 865; In re Utica Nat. Brewing Co., 154 N. Y. 268, 48 N. E. 521 [affirming 19 N. Y. App. Div. 627, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 1102].

Personal liability of officers.—Circumstances under which the officers of one insurance company combining with another were held not to be liable to the policy-holders of the other company upon a guaranty of the obligations of such other company. Wise v. Morgan, 13 Daly (N. Y.) 402.

35. Paine v. Lake Erie, etc., R. Co., 31 Ind. 283.

36. Shaw v. Norfolk County R. Co., 16 Gray (Mass.) 407.

37. John Hancock Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Worcester, etc., R. Co., 149 Mass. 214, 21 N. E. 364.

38. Rosenkrans v. Lafayette, etc., R. Co., 18 Fed. 513.

The words "all the obligations, debts, and liabilities," and "all claims and contracts," in a statute (N. H. Acts (1883), c. 239, and Mass. Acts (1883), c. 129) relating to the liability of a consolidated corporation for claims against one of the old companies, include its liability on a contract to exchange stock for bonds; and where such stock would be exchangeable share for share for the stock of the new company its stock must be delivered. Day v. Worcester, etc., R. Co., 151 Mass. 302, 23 N. E. 824.

Validity of bonds of the old corporation reissued and put in circulation by the new corporation. Eaton, etc., R. Co. v. Hunt, 20 Ind. 457.

faithful discharge by the new company of its public duties is void as against public policy.[39]

h. Consolidated Company Becomes Subject to Existing General Laws Reserving Right of Legislative Alteration or Repeal. Where the scheme of consolidation is such that it operates to create a new corporation, this new corporation, unless the governing statute otherwise provides, comes into existence subject to any right reserved to the legislature of the state or in the constitutional or statute law, to amend, alter, or repeal charters and other statutes of incorporation. Such a constitutional or statutory provision is held to qualify a special act granting the power to consolidate, unless the contrary conclusion is expressed therein.[40] It has been added that rights and interests acquired by the company, not constituting a part of the contract of incorporation, stand on a different footing.[41] This principle applies where the consolidation takes place in such a manner that the act of consolidation is to be deemed in law the creation of a new company.[42] If the merger is, under the governing statute, of such a character as not to create a new company, but merely to continue the existence of the old one,[43] then a different principle may apply.

2. Upon Remedies and Procedure — a. View That Consolidation Dissolves Old Companies and Abates Actions By or Against Them. Upon the question of the effect of consolidation of corporations upon pending actions, a strictly logical, although highly inconvenient, doctrine is that a consolidation operates to create a new corporation and to work a dissolution of the precedent corporations, in such a sense as to abate all pending actions by or against the preceding corporations.[44] Under this doctrine a judgment against the consolidated corporation, rendered in an action pending against one of the precedent corporations, without new process against the new company and proof of the fact of the consolidation and successorship, would be erroneous.[45] But plainly the record ought to show the successorship in some way, especially where the new corporation has taken a different name from the old one against which the action was originally brought. On the other hand the doctrine that the consolidation operates ipso facto to create a new corporation and to dissolve the constituent corporations prohibits the prosecution of actions against the constituent corporations after the consolidation is completed. Necessarily therefore plaintiff in an action against one of the old corporations has the right in some manner to set up the fact of consolidation and successorship; and it has been held error to sustain a demurrer to an amended complaint setting up this fact.[46]

39. Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Coal Valley Min. Co., 68 Ill. 489.

Enforcement of stipulations in contract of consolidation.— The difficulty of the enforcement, in a court of equity, of a stipulation in the agreement of consolidation by an individual shareholder, and even by a class of shareholders, was considered at length in Port Clinton R. Co. v. Cleveland, etc., R. Co., 13 Ohio St. 544, where it was said that the remedy of the class of shareholders who deem themselves aggrieved lies in the election of a new board. See also Lord v. Copper Miners' Co., 1 Hall & T. 85, 12 Jur. 1059, 18 L. J. Ch. 65, 2 Phil. 740.

40. Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Georgia, 98 U. S. 359, 25 L. ed. 185.

41. Maine Cent. R. Co. v. Maine, 96 U. S. 499, 24 L. ed. 836 [affirming 66 Me. 488]. Compare New Jersey v. Yard, 95 U. S. 104, 24 L. ed. 352; Tomlinson v. Jessup, 15 Wall. (U. S.) 454, 21 L. ed. 204.

42. Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Georgia, 98 U. S. 359, 25 L. ed. 185.

43. As was the case in Central R., etc., Co. v. Georgia, 92 U. S. 665, 23 L. ed. 757.

Provision making shareholders personally liable.—If at the time when the consolidation takes place there is a provision in the constitution of the state subjecting the shareholders of such corporations to a personal liability to creditors, the shareholders in the consolidated corporation will become subject to this liability. Gardner v. Minneapolis, etc., R. Co., 73 Minn. 517, 76 N. W. 282.

44. Kansas, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 40 Kan. 192, 19 Pac. 636; Wagner v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 9 Kan. App. 661, 58 Pac. 1018; Copp v. Colorado Coal, etc., Co., 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 109, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 293 [reversing 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 795, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 1101].

45. Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Harbin, 40 Ga. 706.

46. Indianola R. Co. v. Fryer, 56 Tex. 609.

One court has extended this doctrine so far as to hold that where all the assets and franchises of one corporation are transferred

b. Doctrine That Consolidation Does Not Abate Pending Actions. Another, and a more convenient, although less logical, view is that, so far as it affects remedies and procedure, a consolidation between two corporations is like the mingling of two streams, whereby the existence of each of the precedent corporations is continued, so to speak, in the new one.[47] An outgrowth of this doctrine is that a consolidation of two or more corporations is not such a dissolution of either of the constituent ones as will abate an action which was commenced by or against it before the consolidation was completed.[48] The case has been held to be like the case of an action commenced against a feme sole[49] who marries while the action is pending, in which case new process is not necessary, but according to the principles of procedure at common law the action proceeds against her by her former name.[50] This rule also arises under statutes of consolidation, many of which provide that a consolidation shall not affect pending actions, in which case the judgment rendered after the fact of a consolidation will if necessary be treated as having been recovered before the consolidation or purchase, and the debt as having been merged therein.[51] Under this rule new process against the consolito another, a liability of the old corporation, founded on a tort, must be established by a judgment against it before it can be enforced against the transferee corporation. Chase v. Michigan Telephone Co., 121 Mich. 631, 80 N. W. 717.

A backward swing of the judicial pendulum has resulted in the conclusion that where an action is brought against the consolidated company to recover damages for a tort committed by one of the precedent companies and the complaint fails to aver the fact that the tort was committed by the precedent company, and also fails to aver the fact of the consolidation, this constitutes a mere variance which might have been occasion for an amendment at the trial, and which will hence not afford ground for reversing the judgment. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 29 Ind. 465, 95 Am. Dec. 654.

47. In conformity with this view, it has been reasoned that the consolidation of corporations is a merger, a union or amalgamation, by which the stock of the two is made one, their property and franchises combined into one, their powers become the powers of one, their names merge into one, and the identity of the two, practically, if not actually, runs into one. State v. Montana R. Co., 21 Mont. 221, 53 Pac. 623, 45 L. R. A. 271.

48. Hanna v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 20 Ind. 30; Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389; Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Musselman, 2 Grant (Pa.) 348. It has been said that if the rule were different the question could not be raised by a motion in arrest of judgment; and that if the original corporation were to prosecute an appeal to the supreme court and give an appeal-bond in its own name it would thereby be estopped to deny its corporate existence. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co. v. Evans, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 607.

49. For the common-law rule in case of a feme sole see Roosevelt v. Dale, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 581.

50. Shackleford v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 52 Miss. 159, opinion by Campbell, J. Under this rule a suit by one of the consolidated companies, pending at the time of the consolidation, against one of its shareholders, for an assessment in respect to his shares, does not abate by the consolidation. Hanna v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 20 Ind. 30. It seems that in such an action the fact of the consolidation is not pleadable in bar, but only in abatement, by a plea puis darrein continuance, and that if so pleaded, the suit can proceed in the name of the new company upon the proper suggestion being made. Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389.

51. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 56 Ill. App. 327 [affirmed in 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373].

The purchase by one corporation of the property and franchises of another, under the authorization of a statute, has been held to be a consolidation for the purposes of this rule. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 56 Ill. App. 327 [affirmed in 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373].

Under a statute providing that a consolidation shall not affect suits pending to which the constituent corporations are parties, an action instituted against a corporation two years after its consolidation with another, on a contract executed prior thereto, cannot be maintained, since the suit was not pending at the time of the consolidation, and the liability had become that of the new corporation. Copp v. Colorado Coal, etc., Co., 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 241, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 789 [affirmed in 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 773, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 970]. Nor does a statute providing that the dissolution of a corporation shall not take away or impair any remedy against it for liabilities incurred before its dissolution apply to such a case, where the defendant corporation was consolidated with another so as to form a new corporation, with respect to a contract executed by such corporation with the plaintiff prior to the consolidation. Copp v. Colorado Coal, etc., Co., 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 241, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 789 [affirmed in 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 773, 67 N. Y.

dated corporation is not necessary; and it has even been held that an appearance by its attorney and an oral admission that he has been "informed unofficially" that a consolidation has taken place will prevent the reversal of a judgment against the new company in an action commenced against the old.[52]

c. Direct Action by Creditors of Old Company Against New Company. Where the statute authorizing the consolidation substitutes the new corporation in the place of the old with respect to the liabilities of the old, the creditors of the old may maintain a direct action upon debts or obligations of the old against the new corporation.[53] Such actions are supportable on the theory of an implied assumpsit by the new company of the debts and liabilities of the old one.[54] Nor is it necessary that the act of consolidation should in express terms make the new company answerable for the debts of the old, since that is the implication of the law, especially in the case of municipal and other public corporations.[55] Upon this subject it has been well said: "The law abhors circuity of action, and there is no good reason why the defendant who is to pay may not be directly sued."[56]

d. How Fact of Consolidation Proved. The ordinary evidence of a consolidation will be an authenticated copy of the instrument of incorporation on file in the office of the secretary of state, or in such other public office in which it is lodged and kept on file or recorded in compliance of the provisions of the governing statute.[57] And it is assumed that if the act authorizing the consolidation is a private act, and if the rule of the jurisdiction does not require courts to notice private acts of the legislature, the statute must ordinarily be proved by production of the book of statutes, published by public authority, in which it is contained.[58]

e. Binding Effect of Admissions and Other Acts Done in Litigation by One of Precedent Corporations. If a judicial proceeding is prosecuted in the name of one of the original corporations and if the prosecution is continued by the consolidated company, the admissions and acts of the precedent company, made and Suppl. 970]. Compare Chase v. Michigan Telephone Co., 121 Mich. 631, 80 N. W. 717.

52. Kinion v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 39 Mo. App. 574.

Oral evidence of the fact of incorporation, received without objection, is sufficient without a new citation to allow the action to proceed against the new company and to support a judgment against it. Kinion v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 39 Mo. App. 382.

When error to substitute the new company for the old company after the coming in of the report of a referee. Prouty v. Lake Shore, etc.. R. Co., 50 N. Y. 363.

53. Warren v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 49 Ala. 582; Western Union R. Co. v. Smith, 75 Ill. 496; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Boney, 117 Ind. 501, 20 N. E. 432, 3 L. R. A. 435; Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 115 U. S. 587, 6 S. Ct. 194, 29 L. ed. 499; Mt. Pleasant v. Beckwith, 100 U. S. 514, 25 L. ed. 699.

54. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Boney, 117 Ind. 501, 20 N. E. 432, 3 L. R. A. 435 [citing Jeffersonville, etc., R. Co. v. Hendricks, 41 Ind. 48; Columbus, etc., R. Co. v. Powell, 40 Ind. 37; Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 29 Ind. 465, 95 Am. Dec. 654].

55. Thompson v. Abbott, 61 Mo. 176, case of a school-district.

56. Warren v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 49 Ala. 582, 586 [citing Ready v. Tuskaloosa, 6 Ala. 327].

As to what is a necessary averment of the fact of consolidation, not setting out the details, see Collins v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 14 Wis. 492.

For a pleading which was held void for not setting up the facts upon which the averment of a consolidation should have been predicated see Hubbard v. Chappel, 14 Ind. 601 [citing Wright v. Bundy, 11 Ind. 398].

How the averment of a consolidation, made by defendant in quo warranto, is replied to by plaintiff and how defendant rejoins thereto see Com. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 53 Pa. St. 9.

When judgment will be given in favor of defendant on the production of a record of the consolidation deposited with the secretary of state see Com. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 53 Pa. St. 9.

Whether transfer of assets was upon consideration.— In an action against the consolidated company to recover a debt due from one of the constituent companies, where the constituent company turned over assets sufficient to render itself insolvent, in consideration of shares of stock in the new company, it is not necessary to allege and prove that the transfer of its assets was without consideration. U. S. Capsule Co. v. Isaacs, 23 Ind. App. 533, 55 N. E. 832.

57. Columbus, etc., R. Co. v. Skidmore, 69 Ill. 566.

58. See supra, I, M, 3.

done in the litigation, bind the consolidated company, since they are deemed to have been made and done by the same corporation.[59]

f. Effect of Dissolving Consolidation Upon Judgments Against Consolidated Company. Such a dissolution, it has been held, has no effect upon the rights of plaintiff in the action, and after the severance his judgment stands substantially as a judgment against both the constituent companies; so that he may have execution against either.[60]

E. What Steps Necessary to Secure Consolidation — 1. What Arrangements Do Not Create Consolidations. It follows from what has just been said that a corporation, for example a railway company, by "associating, allying, and connecting itself" with another, does not thereby become equitably "amalgamated" with it;[61] although two such companies may form by agreement such traffic arrangements as to operate their roads as a continuous line, and render either company liable to a passenger for the loss of his baggage,[62] or such as to render them jointly liable to shippers.[63] The mere purchase by one railroad company and its acquisition by deed of an undivided one half of the portion of the road of another such company, to enable the former company to reach a waterway, does not create a consolidation of the two companies.[64]

2. What Conditions Precedent Must Be Complied With. As in the case of the original organization of a corporation,[65] the essential steps required by the governing statute, such as have been called conditions precedent, must be complied with. If the governing statute requires a certificate of consolidation to be filed with the secretary of state, then, until this has been done, the new company does not exist.[66] On the other hand the legal effect of the filing of such an instrument is generally to create the new body a corporation de jure within the state.[67] The certificate must comply substantially with the requirements of the governing statute or there will be no new corporation.[68] It must for example state the residence of the directors of the new company;[69] and the same has been held with respect to the filing of a duplicate of the agreement of consolidation.[70] So too the election of a new board of directors may be a condition precedent, the performance of which is necessary to give the new corporation a valid existence.[71] An agreement to consolidate at a future time is no consolidation and will not amalgamate the two corporations under any circumstances or any theory, until the stipulated time arrives and the essential steps required by the governing statute have been taken.[72]

59. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Howard, 13 How. (U. S.) 307, 14 L. ed. 157.

60. Ketcham v. Madison, etc., R. Co., 20 Ind. 260.

61. Shrewsbury, etc., R. Co. v. Stour Valley R. Co., 2 De G. M. & G. 866, 21 Eng. L. & Eq. 628, 51 Eng. Ch. 677.

62. Lee Lin v. Terre Haute, etc., R. Co., 10 Mo. App. 125 (and cases there cited); Hart v. Rensselaer, etc., R. Co., 8 N. Y. 37, 59 Am. Dec. 447; Straiton v. New York, etc., R. Co., 2 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 184.

63. Wyman v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 4 Mo. App. 35.

Circumstances under which equity will interfere to protect rights which one company has acquired as to the joint use by two companies of a railway station. Shrewsbury, etc., R. Co. v. Stour Valley R. Co., 2 De G. M. & G. 866, 21 Eng. L. & Eq. 628, 51 Eng. Ch. 677.

64. U. S. v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 95 Fed. 864, 37 C. C. A. 290.

65. See supra, I, L, 3, d, (I).

66. Peninsular R. Co. v. Tharp, 28 Mich. 506; Com. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 53 Pa. St. 9.

67. Com. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 53 Pa. St. 9.

When it is proved that a certificate of consolidation has been deposited with the secretary of state, as provided by law, the presumption is that the secretary filed the same of record, and that it remains of record, and a mandamus will if necessary issue to the secretary of state to add the date of filing or to do any other ministerial act in the premises required by the governing statute. Com. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 53 Pa. St. 9.

68. State v. Vanderbilt, 37 Ohio St. 590. See also People v. Chambers, 42 Cal. 201; State v. Central Ohio Mut. Relief Assoc., 29 Ohio St. 399; State v. Lee, 21 Ohio St. 662; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Sullivant, 5 Ohio St. 276.

69. State v. Vanderbilt, 37 Ohio St. 590.

70. Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Drinker, 30 Mich. 124.

71. Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Drinker, 30 Mich. 124.

72. Shrewsbury, etc., R. Co. v. Stour Valley R. Co., 2 De G. M. & G. 866, 21 Eng. L. & Eq. 628, 51 Eng. Ch. 677.

3. Consolidation Effected by One Company Purchasing Capital Stock of Other Company. Consolidations frequently take place through the purchase by one company of all the shares of the other company, issuing its own shares or bonds in payment therefor, so that it becomes the sole shareholder so to speak of the sold-out company.[73] But as one corporation cannot, according to the best opinion,[74] become a permanent shareholder in another unless the right is conferred by statute, the more usual form is for the purchasing company to issue its own shares to the shareholders of the selling company in payment or exchange therefor.[75] It seems that a general power to consolidate includes the power to consolidate in this way. Accordingly it has been held that a land company empowered to form a "temporary or permanent consolidation" with any railroad company may purchase all the shares of stock of the railway company, and thereby control the company, if such control is in furtherance of its general powers.[76] A statute[77] authorizing one railroad company, under circumstances named therein, "to purchase and hold, in fee simple or otherwise, and to use and enjoy the railroad property, corporate rights, and franchises of the company or companies owning such other road or roads, upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between the directors and approved by the stockholders," etc., authorizes a consolidation; and such a purchase is a consolidation[78] and not a sale.[79] All this is compatible with the conclusion that the fact that one corporation owns the entire capital stock of another does not vest in the former the legal title to the property of the latter, or render the two corporations identical; but they continue to be separate legal entities. The fact of the sole ownership of the shares of a corporation is the same whether the owner be a natural person or another corporation.[80]

Agreements to consolidate enforceable in equity.— That contracts between different companies for an amalgamation are, in England, recognized and enforced in equity see Mozley v. Alston, 11 Jur. 315, 16 L. J. Ch. 217, 1 Phil. 790, 4 P & Can. Cas. 636, 19 Eng. Ch. 790.

73. Williamson v. New Jersey South. R. Co., 26 N. J. Eq. 398.

74. 1 Thompson Corp. § 1102; 7 Thompson Corp. § 8353.

75. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373 [affirming 56 Ill. App. 327].

Even where the right is given by statute it must be exercised in good faith toward the minority shareholders of the old company, and the dominant company will not be allowed so to exercise it as to own and wreck the other company to the prejudice of a minority of its shareholders. For a nefarious scheme of this nature which was judicially defeated see Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. New York, etc., R. Co., 150 N. Y. 410, 44 N. E. 1043, 55 Am. St. Rep. 689, 34 L. R. A. 76.

76. Tod v. Kentucky Union Land Co., 57 Fed. 47.

77. 3 Starr & C. Anno. Stat. Ill. (2d ed.), p. 3243, par. 36.

78. Continental Trust Co. v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 82 Fed. 642.

79. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373 [affirming 56 Ill. App. 327]. Compare Rust v. United Waterworks Co., 70 Fed. 129, 17 C. C. A. 16.

80. Macon Exch. Bank v. Macon Constr. Co., 97 Ga. 1, 25 S. E. 326, 33 L. R. A. 800.

See as to the effect of the sole ownership of the shares of a corporation 3 Thompson Corp. § 2946, and the following cases:

Connecticut.— Evarts v. Killingworth Mfg. Co., 20 Conn. 447.

Georgia.— Mathis v. Morgan, 72 Ga. 517, 53 Am. Rep. 847; Newton Mfg. Co. v. White, 42 Ga. 148.

Kansas.— Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Cochran, 43 Kan. 225, 23 Pac. 151, 19 Am. St. Rep. 129, 7 L. R. A. 414.

Kentucky.—Louisville Banking Co. v. Eisenman, 94 Ky. 83, 21 S. W. 531, 1049, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 705, 42 Am. St. Rep. 335, 19 L. R. A. 684.

Maryland.— Swift v. Smith, 65 Md. 428, 5 Atl. 534, 57 Am. Rep. 336; Bellona Co.'s Case, 3 Bland 442.

Massachusetts.— England v. Dearborn, 141 Mass. 590, 6 N. E. 837; Russell v. McLellan, 14 Pick. 63.

Minnesota.— Baldwin v. Canfield, 26 Minn. 43, 1 N. W. 261; Winona, etc., R. Co. v. St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 23 Minn. 179, 2 N. W. 489.

New York.— Wilde v. Jenkins, 4 Paige 481.

Wisconsin.— Button v. Hoffman, 61 Wis. 20, 20 N. W. 667, 50 Am. Rep. 131.

United States.— Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 115 U. S. 587, 6 S. Ct. 194, 29 L. ed. 499; Van Allen v. Assessors, 3 Wall. 573, 18 L. ed. 229; Fitzgerald v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 45 Fed. 812.

England.— Reg. v. Arnaud, 9 Q. B. 806, 16 L. J. Q. B. 50, 58 E. C. L. 806.

Power to consolidate includes power to purchase shares.—That power given to a railroad company to consolidate with any other railroad corporation includes the power to purchase a portion of the stock of another com-

The validity of consolidations of this kind necessarily depends upon a grant from the legislature of the power so to consolidate.[81]

4. Fraudulent Amalgamations. Schemes of amalgamation which merely have the effect of one corporation absorbing all the assets of another, withdrawing them from the creditors of the other and leaving its debts unpaid, will be unraveled and set aside in proper proceedings in equity, and, on the theory of following the trust funds, the assets of the old corporation, in the hands of the new, will be laid hold of and applied in discharging the debts of the old.[82] Equity will track, dig up, and annul any scheme by which one of two companies, pending negotiations for a consolidation, commits a fraud upon the shareholders of the other.[83] Consolidations will be set aside in equity, which have been brought about by the action of the directors of the two companies, where the same person or persons are members of both boards of directors. The rule of equity in such cases is said to be inflexible and stubborn, and is designed to diminish the temptation to fraud and breach of trust.[84]

5. De Facto Consolidations. Where the power to consolidate exists and the pany by an agreement to guarantee the bonds of the latter company see Pearsall v. Great Northern R. Co., 73 Fed. 933 [reversed on other grounds in 161 U. S. 646, 16 S. Ct. 705, 40 L. ed. 838].

Validity of notice as to consolidation.— That a notice of a shareholders' meeting under the New York statute for the consolidation of the corporation with another, and proxies to be voted at such meeting, are not invalidated because, in designating the company, they state that it is of a town which has been annexed to a city, instead of the city ward into which the town has been changed, where no shareholders were misled thereby, see Langan v. Francklyn, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 404, 29 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 102.

Necessity of recording articles.— That articles of consolidation of railroad corporations are not, in Nebraska, required to be recorded in the county clerk's office, but that a duplicate of the agreement must be filed with the secretary of state, see Trester v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 33 Nebr. 171, 49 N. W. 1110.

81. For an example of a statute authorizing this species of consolidation, which was held to have had the result of extinguishing a corporation of the state of Indiana and merging it in a corporation of the state of Ohio, see Eaton, etc., R. Co. v. Hunt, 20 Ind. 487. There is judicial authority for the view that where a railroad company, by reason of a lack of proper running arrangements with other roads, is unable to pay its expenses, and it appears unavoidable that it must go to sale, either under a mortgage or under judgments obtained by its general creditors, there is nothing wrong or fraudulent in connecting companies combining and forming an association for purchasing it, and for operating it, under such arrangements as will give it through connections, enable it better to serve the public, and afford profit to its owners. Kitchen v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 69 Mo. 224.

82. Langdon v. Branch, 37 Fed. 449, 2 L. R. A. 120; Brum v. Merchants' Mut. Ins. Co., 16 Fed. 140, 4 Woods 156.

For a fraudulent scheme of twistification and vermification by which one life-insurance company absorbed the assets of another, which was set aside in equity, see Alexander v. Relfe, 74 Mo. 495.

That secret agreements outside the articles of consolidation will not be enforced in equity against the consolidated company see Trenton Pass. R. Co. v. Wilson, 55 N. J. Eq. 273, 37 Atl. 476.

Circumstances under which a judgment at law against the old corporation is not necessary to the exercise of this equitable jurisdiction. Hibernia Ins. Co. v. St. Louis, etc., Transp. Co., 10 Fed. 596, 3 McCrary 368.

83. Bailey v. Citizens' Gas Light Co., 27 N. J. Eq. 196.

84. Munson v. Syracuse, etc., R. Co., 103 N. Y. 58, 8 N. E. 355, opinion by Andrews, J. Where an insurance company, being in difficulties, transferred its assets and liabilities to another insurance company, on a contract that the shares of stock of the selling company should be taken up by shares of stock of equal par value of the purchasing company, issued to the shareholders of the selling company, and that the new shares so issued should be redeemable at par by the purchasing company within a year at the option of the shareholders, a receiver of the selling company could not, after the validity of the contract of transfer had been established in another proceeding, recover of one of such shareholders the redemption money which he had thus received for his shares from the purchasing company. Bent v. Hart, 73 Mo. 641 [affirming 10 Mo. App. 143, Sherwood, C. J., dissenting]. Under a familiar rule of equity, where two corporations have become consolidated through an arrangement under which a portion of the shares of stock of the purchasing company are transferred to a shareholder of the selling company, in lieu of his interest as a shareholder of the selling company, neither the purchasing company nor a shareholder therein can claim, in a court of equity, a cancellation of the shares so issued by the selling company, without offering to return the consideration which the purchasing company received for them. Buford v.

essential steps pointed out by the statute to effect a consolidation have been taken, the question whether the new company has acquired a legal existence, springing out of a doubt as to the legal existence of one of the constituent companies, is, as in other cases, a question which cannot be settled except in a proceeding instituted by the state. For example it cannot be settled in a proceeding instituted by some of the shareholders.[85] This doctrine has been carried so far as to result in the conclusion that the fact that some of the conditions required by the governing statute for the consolidation of two or more railroad corporations is wanting when such consolidation is attempted is not sufficient to prevent the attempted consolidation from forming a corporation de facto, provided that there might be, under the statute, a corporation composed of merely constituent parts, with the powers claimed and exercised by the consolidated corporation.[86] This principle can have no application unless there was a statute in existence under which a valid consolidation might have been made.[87]

6. Validation — a. By Curative Statutes. If the legislature has power in the first instance to authorize the consolidation of certain corporations, it has — subject to any constitutional inhibition against the passage of special laws — the power by a subsequent curative act to validate their consolidation if informally or irregularly made.[88]

b. By Legislative Recognition. As in other cases[89] an informal or defective consolidation may be rendered valid by a subsequent recognition by the legislature of the new corporation as a corporation de jure.[90]

7. Estoppel Against Denying Validity of Consolidation. In conformity with a principle already stated,[91] persons who deal with a corporation formed by a consolidation as though it were a corporation de jure thereby recognize its corporate existence and estop themselves from denying it.[92] Again, in an action against a body created by an attempt at consolidation, seeking to charge it as a corporation, defendant is estopped to deny the validity of the consolidation, and thereby to plead itself out of existence.[93]

Keokuk Northern Line Packet Co., 69 Mo. 611 [affirming 3 Mo. App. 159].

85. Bell v. Pennsylvania, etc., R. Co., (N. J. 1887) 10 Atl. 741.

86. Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Continental Trust Co., 95 Fed. 497, 36 C. C. A. 155 [rehearing denied in 96 Fed. 784, 37 C. C. A. 587 (modifying 82 Fed. 642, 86 Fed. 929)]. In the decision which is here modified, it was said by Mr. Circuit Judge Taft: "It may be safely stated as the rule, that when persons assume to act as a body, and are permitted, by acquiescence of the public and the State, to act as if they were legally a particular kind of corporation, for the organization, existence and continuance of which there is express recognition by general law, such body of persons is a corporation de facto, although the particular persons thus exercising the franchise of being a corporation may have been ineligible and incapacitated by the law to do so." Continental Trust Co. v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 82 Fed. 642, 650 [citing State v. Carroll, 38 Conn. 449, 9 Am. Rep. 409 (case of a public officer); Blackburn v. State, 3 Head (Tenn.) 689; Norton v. Shelby County, 118 U. S. 425, 6 S. Ct. 1121, 30 L. ed. 178 (case of a public corporation); Ashley v. Presque Isle County, 60 Fed. 55, 8 C. C. A. 455 (case of a county and therefore a strictly public corporation)].

87. American L. & T. Co. v. Minnesota, etc., R. Co., 157 Ill. 641, 42 N. E. 153.

Upon this principle it has been held that the mere fact that corporations of different states attempt to consolidate, in the absence of a statute authorizing such consolidation, and assume to act as a consolidated corporation, even in the full belief that they are legally incorporated, will not constitute them a corporation de facto. American L. & T. Co. v. Minnesota, etc., R. Co., 157 Ill. 641, 42 N. E. 153. It follows that the corporate existence of such a body may be assailed collaterally, and that its attempted contracts are void. American L. & T. Co. v. Minnesota, etc., R. Co., 157 Ill. 641, 42 N. E. 153. A supposed corporation thus attempted to be created without authorization is not liable for the debts of one of the precedent corporations. Kavanagh v. Omaha L. Assoc., 84 Fed. 295.

88. Mitchell v. Deeds, 49 Ill. 416, 95 Am. Dec. 621. Compare Racine, etc., R. Co. v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 49 Ill. 331, 95 Am. Dec. 595. See also Fisher v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 7 Ind. 407, where the doctrine is recognized.

89. See supra, I, M, 10.

90. Mead v. New York, etc., R. Co., 45 Conn. 199; McAuley v. Columbus, etc., R. Co., 83 Ill. 348.

91. See supra, I, N, 1, a.

92. Continental Trust Co. v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 82 Fed. 642.

93. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373 [affirming 56 Ill. App. 327]. But it has been held that this prin-

8. PAYMENT OF SHARES ISSUED BY CONSOLIDATED CORPORATION IN "GOOD-WILL." Applying the rule that the capital stock of a corporation may be paid for in property at a reasonable valuation, it has been held that the good-will of a constituent corporation may properly be applied, at its market value, to the payment of stock issued by the consolidated corporation to the members of the constituent corporation.[94]

9. VALIDITY OF "ORGANIZATION TAX" EXACTED IN CASE OF CONSOLIDATION. A state statute requiring the payment of a fee to the secretary of state for filing articles of agreement of incorporation, and also articles of consolidation, which fee is to be proportional to the authorized capital of the corporation so organized, is a valid law, and applies to articles of agreement of consolidation between a domestic corporation and a corporation of another state as well as to consolidations between domestic corporations only. The reason is that the state is not bound to permit corporations to consolidate, and consequently may impose such terms upon consolidations as it may see fit; and corporations which accept the privilege must accept it with the burden.[95] A consolidation of two corporations has been held to create a new corporation in the sense which requires the payment of what has been called the organization tax,[96] and this is so although the new corporation retains the name of one of the old ones.[97]

10. ACCOUNTING BETWEEN CONSTITUENT CORPORATIONS WHERE ATTEMPTED CONSOLIDATION PROVES ABORTIVE. After a bill in equity to enjoin an attempted ultra vires consolidation has been dismissed by reason of a voluntary rescission of the consolidation agreement, a defendant who has in a cross bill prayed for an accounting may have the suit retained for that purpose.[98]

11. NOTICE OF MEETING TO DECIDE QUESTION OF CONSOLIDATION. A failure to give notice of such a meeting, as required by statute, will not invalidate the consolidation, where all the shareholders are present and vote for the measure.[99] In case of a meeting of the shareholders of an Indiana corporation to vote upon the question of a consolidation with companies existing in other states, it is not necessary that the shareholders of the Indiana corporation should be called together by the notice and should conduct the meeting by the methods prescribed by the laws of such other states.[1]

12. OTHER QUESTIONS GROWING OUT OF CONSOLIDATION PROCEEDINGS. An agreement by one insurance company that another, which it has absorbed by purchasing a controlling interest in its stock, shall pay to its president on his retirement a certain sum for his interest in securing the consolidation is invalid, and he cannot recover the amount from the purchasing company on refusal of payment.[2] ciple does not apply so as to estop one who becomes a holder of a county bond issued to a railroad corporation two days after it makes an attempted consolidation with another corporation, but derives title to the bond through the constituent corporations and not through the pretended consolidated corporation, and whose title to the bond may be supposed to depend upon the question whether the corporation receiving it was in existence at the time, from denying the validity of the attempted consolidation, since he has entered into no contract and has done no act recognizing its existence. Morrill v. Smith County, 89 Tex. 529, 36 S. W. 56.

94. Beebe v. Hatfield, 67 Mo. App. 609.

95. Ashley v. Ryan, 49 Ohio St. 504, 31 N. E. 721 [affirming 6 Ohio Cir. Ct. 208; and affirmed in 153 U. S. 436, 14 S. Ct. 865, 38 L. ed. 773].

96. State v. Lesueur, 145 Mo. 322, 46 S. W. 1075.

97. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. State, 153 Ind. 134, 51 N. E. 924.

That an agreement to consolidate is to be treated as the articles of incorporation of the new consolidated corporation, so far as concerns the filing of articles of incorporation and the collection of fees therefor, see Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. State, 153 Ind. 134, 51 N. E. 924.

98. Greenville Compress, etc., Co. v. Planters' Compress, etc., Co., 70 Miss. 669, 13 So. 879, 35 Am. St. Rep. 681.

99. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Ashling, 56 Ill. App. 327 [affirmed in 160 Ill. 373, 43 N. E. 373].

1. Bradford v. Frankfort, etc., R. Co., 142 Ind. 383, 40 N. E. 741, 41 N. E. 819.

2. Wood v. Manchester F. Ins. Co., 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 330, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 427. Circumstances under which a promise made by the chairman of a reorganization committee to pay for services rendered in effecting the

13. Effect of One Company Refusing to Join in Agreement For Consolidation. The validity of the incorporation of a consolidated railroad company is not affected by the fact that one of the companies, whose name is inserted in the agreement and in the title of the new company, did not join in the agreement, where the agreement expressly binds the remaining companies to carry it out, notwithstanding the failure of any one of the companies named to enter into it.[3]

IV. CORPORATE MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

A. Necessity of Electing Board of Directors or Trustees — 1. In General. All of the statutory schemes for the formation and government of corporations created for private purposes with which the writer is acquainted provide for the management of the business of the corporation by a governing body generally called, in the case of business corporations, directors, and in the case of eleemosynary corporations, trustees. The necessity of having such a governing body is so obvious and the custom of having it so general that it has been held that the power to have it is inherent in all private corporations, and that no special power to that end need be conferred by statute.[4] Where the statute authorizes the election of such a board, a scheme of organization which dispenses with it until a large proportion of the proposed works are completed may be regarded as a fraud upon dissenting shareholders, such as will demand and receive relief in equity.[5] Nor can the directors of the corporation who are in office dispute the right of a shareholder holding a majority of the stock to have an election in accordance with the by-laws, on the ground that he intends to use his legal rights for purposes detrimental to the interests of the corporation, and that the desired election is merely a step toward that end.[6]

2. Mandamus to Compel Election. In cases where public rights are involved the holding of corporate elections may also be compelled by mandamus.[7] The modern use of this writ in America is probably such as to make it an appropriate mode of accomplishing the same object, even in the case of a private corporation where no rights of a strictly public nature are involved.[8]

3. Effect of Failure to Elect — a. Does Not Work Dissolution of Corporation. A failure to elect directors at the proper time does not necessarily work a dissolution of the corporation; since as will be presently shown [9] those who are in office hold over until their successors are elected or appointed. Hence an election may be held at any time subsequent to the regular time, assuming that proper notice of it is given.[10] reorganization was the personal obligation of the chairman and not that of the committee. Gerding v. Funk, 48 N. Y. App. Div. 603, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 423.

It has been held that the phrase, "Such terms as they agree upon," in a statute authorizing the consolidation of railroad companies, relates to the mere administrative details attending the consolidation and conveys no substantive powers or rights. Adams v. Yazoo, etc., R. Co., 77 Miss. 194, 24 So. 317, 28 So. 956.

3. Phinizy v. Augusta, etc., R. Co., 62 Fed. 678.

4. Hurlbut v. Marshall, 62 Wis. 590, 22 N. W. 852.

5. Hence where it was provided, in a scheme of organization of a telegraph company, that no general election of the company should be held until two thousand miles of the line should be equipped, an election of a board of directors and a mode of settling for the work already done were decreed in equity. Terwilliger v. Great Western Tel. Co., 59 Ill. 249.

6. Camden, etc., R. Co. v. Elkins, 37 N. J. Eq. 273.

7. Rex v. Cambridge, 4 Burr. 2008. See also In re Borough of Boffiny Case, 2 Str. 1003.

8. American Railway-Frog Co. v. Haven, 101 Mass. 398, 3 Am. Rep. 377 (manufacturing company); People v. Cummings, 72 N. Y. 433; People v. Albany Hospital, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 397.

No defense to the application for mandamus that no demand had been made that such election be held, or that, since the papers were served, defendants had ordered an election, it appearing that they had attempted by altering the by-laws to alter the mode of publishing the annual election, to change the test of the right to vote thereat, and to give persons a right to vote who had not that right previously. People v. Albany Hospital, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 397.

9. See infra, IV, A, 3, b.

10. Hicks v. Lanoeston, 1 Rolle Abr. 514, pl. 6.

b. Those In Office Hold Over Until Successors Elected and Qualified. Nearly all the statutes prescribe that the directors elected shall hold their offices for a stated period, and until their successors are chosen.[11] Where it is not so provided by statute, it is common to make by-laws so providing, and if there were no such statute or by-law, this would be the implication of the law.[12] Not only is this the rule as to ordinary corporate trustees, but it applies equally to the case of a trustee who is elected to fill a vacancy.[13] If a majority of the board of directors become disqualified for holding their offices by reason of having transferred their shares this will not affect the right of the others to remain in office; and therefore the election of an entire new board prior to the expiration of the term of office of those who are not qualified will be invalid.[14]

4. Directors Cannot Enlarge Their Own Tenure of Office. Where the tenure of the office of the directors is fixed by the charter, they cannot enlarge that tenure by establishing a by-law changing the time of holding the election, against the wishes of a majority of the holders of the shares,[15] even where the governing statute confers all the power of the corporation upon the directors, except the power to increase its capital stock.[16] An agreement by a majority of the directors and the owners of a majority of the shares, for the purpose of perpetuating themselves and their successors in office and the control of the company at large salaries during their own lives and for years after their death, without regard to the rights of the minority, is an unlawful combination and involves an abuse of trust.[17]

5. Power of Directors to Fill Vacancies in Board. The directors of a corporation, being the mere managers of its business, and possessing no power to make constituent changes in the corporation unless such power has been expressly conferred, have no valid power to fill vacancies in their own board.[18] Even where this power has been conferred by statute, it cannot be exercised by less than a

11. See for example Colo. Gen. Stat. (1883), c. 19, § 6.

12. Hunter v. Sun Mut. Ins. Co., 26 La. Ann. 13; Vernon Soc. v. Hills, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 23, 16 Am. Dec. 429; People v. Runkle, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 147; Foot v. Prowse, 1 Str. 625. Compare Reg. v. Durham, 10 Mod. 146. See also Chamberlain v. Detroit Stove Works, 103 Mich. 124, 61 N. W. 532, holding that a failure to elect directors at the regular annual meeting does not prevent a subsequent election, and the consequent termination of the employment as secretary of one who was not reëlected as director.

13. Huguenot Nat. Bank v. Studwell, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 13.

Effect of judgment ousting trustees.—That a judgment ousting from office so many of the trustees as not to leave a quorum does not constitute an omission or neglect to choose officers, within the meaning of a statute, so as to invalidate the title of the remaining trustees or to allow the old board to hold over, see People v. Fleming, 59 Hun (N. Y.) 518, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 715, 37 N. Y. St. 157.

Construction of by-laws and statutes as to tenure.—Where there was a by-law providing that the directors should "serve for the term of one year or until such time as their successors shall be elected," it was held that the word "or" should be read "and" and that one having been duly elected must be considered liable as a director until it should be shown by him that a successor was elected. Chemical Nat. Bank v. Colwell, 132 N. Y. 250, 30 N. E. 644, 43 N. Y. St. 876 [reversing 14 Daly (N. Y.) 361, 14 N. Y. St. 682]. Tenure of office of the first directors in New York under N. Y. Laws (1875), c. 611, see Post-Express Printing Co. v. Coursey, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 497, 32 N. Y. St. 748. Tenure of office of the first directors in Pennsylvania see Com. v. Helms, 26 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 358.

14. Nathan v. Tompkins, 82 Ala. 437, 2 So. 747.

Statutes have been enacted empowering corporations to decrease the number of their directors by filing a certificate in the office of the secretary of state, such as N. J. Acts (1888), c. 22, p. 34.

15. Elkins v. Camden, etc., R. Co., 36 N. J. Eq. 467. See also infra, IV, C, 1.

16 Nathan v. Tompkins, 82 Ala. 437, 2 So. 747.

17. Snow v. Church, 13 N. Y. App. Div. 108, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 1072.

18. Moses v. Tompkins, 84 Ala. 613, 4 So. 763; Kearney v. Andrews, 10 N. J. Eq. 70.

Statutes conferring this power have, however, been frequently enacted. A statute conferring the power to fill vacancies created by certain named contingencies, "until the next election," has been construed to mean until the next annual election, although the regular date for holding an election may actually intervene if no election be in fact held thereat. Pennsylvania Milk Producers' Assoc. v. Honeybrook First Nat. Bank, 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 540.

majority of the board; so that if a majority of the board resign, the board cannot be filled up by appointments made by the remaining minority, but there must be a new election.[19] But neither the board of directors nor the body of shareholders can fill vacancies which do not exist; and hence an election of new directors where there are no vacancies to be filled is void; and it has been held that the persons so elected will be restrained at the suit of the shareholders from exercising the office, especially where their interests are antagonistic to the interests of the corporation.[20]

6. Changing Number of Directors to Be Elected. Where the statute empowers the corporation to make by-laws fixing and altering the number of its directors, and vests the power to make and alter by-laws in the shareholders, the shareholders may amend the by-laws by providing for an additional number of directors to take office at once.[21]

7. Shareholders Cannot Decide Questions Committed to Directors. As the directors cannot perform constituent acts,[22] so the shareholders cannot, at a shareholders' meeting, decide upon questions which the governing statute commits to the directors, such as electing a president;[23] or, in case of a mutual insurance company, passing upon claims for loss;[24] or as to issuing bonds to purchase certain property and rights, such vote being overruled by a vote of the directors.[25]

B. Place of Holding Corporate Elections — 1. Ordinarily Must Be Within Limits of State Creating Corporation. Unless the charter of the corporation or some other governing statute expressly confers upon it the power to hold its shareholders' meetings outside the state, the rule is that they can meet only within the limits of the state, for the purpose of electing directors or performing other constituent acts.[26] While corporations may exercise their secondary franchises, in other words conduct their business, through agents whom they may appoint, in states or countries other than the state of their creation,[27] yet it has been held that when their constituent members meet and attempt to act in their constituent capacity beyond the bounds of the sovereignty which has granted their charter the acts done at such meetings are wholly void.[28] Care must be taken to distinguish meetings of the shareholders or members held for constituent purposes from meetings of the directors convened for the purpose of transacting the business of the corporation, as for example to appoint a secretary,[29] to vote on the question of issuing negotiable bonds,[30] or to vote on the question of 19. Moses v. Tompkins, 84 Ala. 613, 4 So. 763.

20. Nathan v. Tompkins, 82 Ala. 437, 2 So. 747.

21. Matter of Griffing Iron Co., 63 N. J. L. 168, 41 Atl. 931 [affirmed in 63 N. J. L. 357, 46 Atl. 1097].

22. See infra, IX, C, 7.

23. Walsenburg Water Co. v. Moore, 5 Colo. App. 144, 38 Pac. 60.

24. Stoehlke v. Hahn, 158 Ill. 79, 42 N. E. 150.

25. Cann v. Eakins, 23 Nova Scotia 475.

26. Florida.— Duke v. Taylor, 37 Fla. 64, 19 So. 172, 53 Am. St. Rep. 232, 31 L. R. A. 484.

Minnesota.— Hodgson v. Duluth, etc., R. Co., 46 Minn. 454, 49 N. W. 197.

Missouri.— Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. McPherson, 35 Mo. 13, 86 Am. Dec. 128, doctrine qualified.

New Jersey.— Hilles v. Parrish, 14 N. J. Eq. 380.

Vermont.— Arms v. Conant, 36 Vt. 744.

United States.— Galveston, etc., R. Co. v. Cowdrey, 11 Wall. 459, 20 L. ed. 199; Runyan v. Coster, 14 Pet. 122, 10 L. ed. 382; Augusta Bank v. Earle, 13 Pet. 519, 10 L. ed. 274.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 145.

27. Thus a corporation may, if not forbidden by its charter, make contracts in another state, providing the comity of such state allows it so to do, which contracts will be valid and enforceable. Lane v. West Tennessee Bank, 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 419.

28. Freeman v. Machias Water Power, etc., Co., 38 Me. 343; Miller v. Ewer, 27 Me. 509, 46 Am. Dec. 619. But see Copp v. Lamb, 12 Me. 312.

29. McCall v. Byram Mfg. Co., 6 Conn. 428.

30. Galveston, etc., R. Co. v. Cowdrey, 11 Wall. (U. S.) 459, 20 L. ed. 199. Compare Hilles v. Parrish, 14 N. J. Eq. 380, where it was held that a resolution of the board of directors of a New Jersey corporation, passed at a meeting held in the city of Philadelphia, in the state of Pennsylvania, whereby certain transfers of stock were authorized, was void.

making an assignment for creditors.[31] Such meetings, unless prohibited by charter or statute, may be held without the limits of the state creating the corporation. A corporation created by the concurrent legislation of two or more states, receiving from each state what is in effect the same charter, although in theory existing as a separate corporation in each of the states, has a legal domicile in each of them, and may therefore hold its corporate elections in any of them.[32]

2. Meetings Held at What Places Within State. Where the charter does not prescribe the place where the annual elections are to be held, the board of managers have the right to fix the place, and the officers elected at the place so fixed will be at least officers de facto with power to hold their offices, unless ousted by quo warranto brought during their official terms.[33]

C. Time of Holding Corporate Elections — 1. Construction of Charters and Statutes. If the charter provides for an annual election of the board of managers, those in power cannot lengthen their term of office by changing the date of the annual election so as to extend their official terms.[34] A charter provision requiring the directors to be chosen at the annual meeting of the corporation has been held to be directory merely, so that its observance is not necessary to the validity of an election.[35] A statute requiring the directors and the treasurer of a corporation to be chosen annually by the shareholders, at such time and place as shall be provided by the by-laws of the company, has been held inapplicable to the first choice of officers upon organizing the corporation.[36] The time of holding Whether directors elected at meeting held outside state are de facto officers.— It has been held that directors elected at a meeting of shareholders convened outside the state will not be even directors de facto, and that their acts will be a nullity. Miller v. Ewer, 27 Me. 509, 46 Am. Dec. 619; Franco-Texan Land Co. v. Laigle, 59 Tex. 339 (meeting held at Paris, in France). A preferable view, and one more in accordance with modern ideas, is that directors elected at such meetings are directors de facto, and that the question of the rightfulness of their tenure of office cannot be raised by third parties. Humphreys v. Mooney, 5 Colo. 282; Wright v. Lee, 2 S. D. 596, 51 N. W. 706. Nor can a creditor who has dealt with a corporation upon the assumption of its being a valid body raise, in a collateral proceeding, the objection that its directors were elected at a meeting held in another state. Wright v. Lee, 2 S. D. 596, 51 N. W. 706. But in the absence of circumstances of estoppel, and in a contest between the directors so elected and existing incumbents of the office, the latter will have the better title thereto. Hodgson v. Duluth, etc., R. Co., 46 Minn. 454, 49 N. W. 197. But the proceedings held at such a meeting will raise an estoppel against and bind all who participated in them without objection. Handley v. Stutz, 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 35 L. ed. 227.

31. Webb v. Midway Lumber Co., 68 Mo. App. 546.

32. Covington, etc., Bridge Co. v. Mayer, 31 Ohio St. 317.

Statutes have been frequently enacted permitting corporations to hold their meetings outside the limits of the state. Dak. Civ. Code, § 412, subs. 3; Minn. Laws (1887), c. 36, p. 85.

33. Corbett v. Woodward, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,223, 5 Sawy. 403. That the president of a corporation may call meetings of the directors at a place within the state other than the principal place of business of the corporation see Com. v. Smith, 45 Pa. St. 59. Mandamus refused to compel a corporation to keep its records at the place where its business of manufacturing was done. Pratt v. Meriden Cutlery Co., 35 Conn. 36. Election of directors void when held at a place other than the principal office of the corporation, although held at such other place for twelve years. Union Nat. Bank v. Scott, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 65, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 145.

The place of holding corporate meetings is very generally prescribed by statute, many of such statutes leaving the matter to be regulated by by-laws. Examples of some of these statutes may be found in 1 Thompson Corp. § 703.

34. Mottu v. Primrose, 23 Md. 482. See also supra, IV, A, 4.

Effect of non-publication of by-law regulating election.— Where the governing statute so provides, an election is not invalid because a by-law regulating the election had not been published as required by the statute. Matter of David Jones Co., 67 Hun (N. Y.) 360, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 318, 51 N. Y. St. 829.

35. Hughes v. Parker, 20 N. H. 58.

36. Boston Acid Mfg. Co. v. Moring, 15 Gray (Mass.) 211.

Where a bank charter provides that directors may be chosen "at any time," and a subsequent act provides that if they shall not be chosen on a day designated the president and directors shall notify an election to be held within thirty days thereafter, the latter is not a repeal of the former, and does not prevent an election being had after the thirty days. McNeely v. Woodruff, 13 N. J. L. 352.

It has been held no ground for postponing the election that the treasurer of the com-corporate meetings for the purpose of choosing directors is very generally regulated by statute. Most of the statutes provide that directors shall be elected annually,[37] of which examples may be found in a recent work on corporations.[38]

2. Validity of Elections For Directors Held at Date Subsequent to That Regularly Appointed. Provisions in statutes and by-laws requiring the election of directors to be had on a specified day are regarded as directory, and the election, if not held on the regular day, may be held at a later day; and the directors then chosen, if there be no other irregularity or informality in their title, will be directors de jure.[39] The reason is that the power of electing officers is, by the common law, inherent in every corporation, and that the power is consequently not lost by failing to exercise it within the appointed time.[40]

3. Adjournment of Meeting to Subsequent Day. Although the members of the corporation have been convened to do certain acts which are required to be done on a stated day and no other, yet if the business cannot be completed on that day, it is competent for them to adjourn to a subsequent day, and no new notice need be sent to the members; the general rule being that the members of a corporation may transact any business at an adjourned meeting which they could have transacted at the original meeting, without giving notice of such adjourned meeting.[41] But it does not apply to sham adjournments, as where a faction, before the voting, withdrew from the meeting and proceeded to elect, in another room, a board of directors of their own, in which case they had no standing to invoke the superintending power of a court over the election, conferred by statute, applicable to cases where it can be shown that by reason of fraud, violence, or other unlawful conduct on the part of some of the shareholders, a fair and honest election cannot be held.[42] Moreover the power to adjourn resides in the shareholders assembled at the meeting, and not in the officials appointed by law to call the meeting. For example the commissioners appointed by law to call a meet-missioners appointed by the statute for the organization of the corporation, according to a course in vogue during the period of special charters (see supra, I, J), withholds the funds which have been received from the control of the commissioners, although they have a right to them. Hardenburgh v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 3 N. J. Eq. 68.

It has been held that inspectors of an election for directors have a discretion to keep open the polls beyond the hour limited by the board from which they derive their authority. In re Mohawk, etc., R. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 135.

The New York statute relative to the observance of Sunday does not apply to the proceedings of business meetings of societies held on that day. The holding of business meetings of a benevolent society, transacting its business, on Sunday, is not forbidden as illegal. People v. Young Men's Father Matthew Benev. Soc., 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 357.

37. Deering Code Cal. pt. 4, § 302; Colo. Gen. Stat. (1883), c. 19, § 86; 2 Sayle Stat. Tex. art. 4125 (railroad companies).

38. 1 Thompson Corp. § 702.

39. Nashua F. Ins. Co. v. Moore, 55 N. H. 48 (in regard to a by-law); Hughes v. Parker, 20 N. H. 58; Beardsley v. Johnson, 121 N. Y. 224, 24 N. E. 380, 30 N. Y. St. 691 [affirming 1 N. Y. Suppl. 608, 16 N. Y. St. 773]. See also Scanlan v. Snow, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 137, 22 Wash. L. Rep. 62; Vandenburgh v. Broadway Underground Connecting R. Co., 29 Hun (N. Y.) 348; Vernon Soc. v. Hills, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 23, 16 Am. Dec. 429; People v. Runkle, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 147.

40. Hicks v. Lanceston, 1 Rolle Abr. 514, pl. 6.

Statutes have been enacted providing that in case of the failure to hold a corporate election at the appointed time the shareholders shall meet and hold one in the manner provided by the by-laws. Deering Code Cal. pt. 4, § 312; 2 Sayle Stat. Tex. (1888), art. 4129.

41. State v. Cronan, 23 Nev. 437, 49 Pac. 41. Compare People v. Batchelor, 22 N. Y. 128; Smith v. Law, 21 N. Y. 296; Warner v. Mower, 11 Vt. 385; Schoff v. Bloomfield, 8 Vt. 472; Scadding v. Lorant, 3 H. L. Cas. 418, 15 Jur. 955; Rex v. Carmarthen, 1 M. & S. 697. That it is the duty of the shareholders to meet and to elect directors on the day fixed by the by-laws and to continue balloting until the board has been filled was held in Forsyth v. Brown, 2 Pa. Dist. 765, 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 576, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 72.

42. Jenkins v. Baxter, 160 Pa. St. 199, 28 Atl. 682, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 114. That it is not competent for a majority of the shareholders, after acquiescing in the organization of the meeting and participating in its business, to withdraw from it and organize another meeting at the same time and place see In re Argus Printing Co., 1 N. D. 434, 48 N. W. 347, 26 Am. St. Rep. 639, 12 L. R. A. 781.

ing to receive subscriptions to the shares of a corporation, after having called, in pursuance of law, a meeting of the subscribers to organize the corporation, have no power to adjourn the meeting; but their powers have become functus officio and the power of adjournment resides in the assembled shareholders only.[43]

D. Assembling the Meeting — 1. Necessity of Having Meeting Duly Assembled. The members of a corporation, public or private, can do no corporate act of a constituent character, such as must be done at a general meeting of all the members or of a quorum of them, unless the meeting is duly assembled, in conformity with the law of its organization.[44] It has been well said that the act of a majority of the corporators does not bind the minority, if it has not been expressed in the form pointed out by law; and accordingly, that the act of a majority, expressed elsewhere than at a meeting of the shareholders, is not binding on the corporation, as where the assent of each one is given separately and at different times.[45] The reason is that each member has the right of consultation with the others, and that the minority have the right to be heard. In the line of authority establishing the foregoing principles no break has been discovered, although it should be added that an election or other proceeding had at a meeting irregularly assembled may be valid if all attend and act or assent.[46]

2. Meetings, Except Stated Meetings, Invalid Unless Duly Notified. This leads to the conclusion that corporate meetings are invalid, and that the business transacted thereat is voidable, unless the members have been duly notified of the meeting in accordance with the governing statute or by-laws, except in the case of stated meetings, of which every member is bound to take notice.[47]

43. Hardenburg v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 3 N. J. Eq. 68.

Invalidity of election held by shareholders who remain after an adjournment has taken place, whether by a formal vote of record or de facto merely, before the time fixed for reassembling. State v. Smalley, 7 Ohio Cir. Ct. 400.

The president of a mining corporation has no authority under the California statutes to adjourn a meeting of the shareholders against their express will, upon his determination that a majority of the subscribed stock is not represented, in the absence of any by-law of the corporation conferring such authority. If the president attempts to adjourn the meeting without the consent of the shareholders, and refuses to proceed or to permit the meeting to be continued in the office of the company, the shareholders have the right to adjourn without his attendance, to another room and there hold their meeting. State v. Cronan, 23 Nev. 437, 49 Pac. 41.

Chairman not bound to adjourn shareholders' meeting, although articles of association give him the power so to do. Salisbury Gold Min. Co. v. Hathorn, [1897] A. C. 268, 66 L. J. P. C. N. S. 62, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 212, 45 Wkly. Rep. 591.

That it is competent for the inspectors, in the exercise of a sound discretion, to adjourn the election from day to day, where no time is fixed by the governing statute for its duration, see In re Chenango County Mut. Ins. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 635.

It has been held that an election of directors at an adjourned meeting is not invalidated by the fact that votes were cast at a previous meeting, where the inspectors, with the acquiescence of the shareholders, after discovering that four of the candidates receiving a majority of the votes were ineligible, adjourned without declaring the result and held a new election regular in form. Matter of Newcomb, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 16, 42 N. Y. St. 442.

When illegal. — If, after a meeting for the election of directors has assembled, a call is addressed to such shareholders as belong to a certain faction to withdraw from the meeting, a meeting held after the disorder occasioned by the withdrawing of the factious shareholders is illegal and is not cured by a subsequent invitation to the other shareholders to participate in it. Com. v. Patterson, 158 Pa. St. 476, 27 Atl. 999, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 45.

Statutes have been enacted providing that in case a quorum does not assemble those who do assemble may adjourn from time to time. 1 Thompson Corp. § 721.

44. German Evangelical Congregation v. Pressler, 14 La. Ann. 799.

Statutes authorizing by-laws. — Many statutes have been enacted committing the time, the place, and the manner of holding corporate elections to the regulation of by-laws. 1 Thompson Corp. § 722.

45. Peirce v. New Orleans Bldg. Co., 9 La. 397, 29 Am. Dec. 448.

Proof of the fact of notice, after the lapse of several years, of a special meeting to reduce capital stock. Forest Glen Brick, etc., Co. v. Gade, 55 Ill. App. 181.

46. People v. Peck, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 604, 27 Am. Dec. 104; Benbow v. Cook, 115 N. C. 324, 20 S. E. 453, 44 Am. St. Rep. 454. See also infra, IV, D, 9.

47. Rex v. May, 5 Burr. 2681; Dillon Mun. Corp. (4th ed.) § 262.

3. If Meeting Is Special All Must Be Notified or It Will Be Void. If the meeting is special, all the members or shareholders must be summoned or the election will be void. The absence of a single member, not summoned by reason of his supposed absence and the consequent impracticability of summoning him, will, it has been held, render the election void.[48]

4. Notice Must Be Given in Statutory Mode. Where the time or manner of giving notice is prescribed by statute, by the charter, or by the by-laws of a corporation, it is necessary, in order to the validity of the acts done at the meeting, that the notice should be given as thus prescribed.[49] For example the provisions of a statute prescribing the time during which notice of a meeting must be given cannot be dispensed with by a by-law.[50] Where the statute prescribes what the notice shall set forth, a compliance with this requirement is considered necessary to the legality of any vote at the corporate meeting.[51]

5. General Statement of Requisites of Notice. The requisites of the notice may be enumerated as follows: (1) It must be issued by one who has authority to issue it.[52] (2) It must state the time of the meeting, unless there is a regular time fixed in the charter or by-laws, of which every member is presumed to have notice.[53]

Where the meeting is held upon a stated day, appointed by the charter or a by-law, no notice of the meeting is required, unless the giving of a notice is prescribed. Morrill v. Little Falls Mfg. Co., 53 Minn. 371, 55 N. W. 547, 21 L. R. A. 174; People v. Peck, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 604, 27 Am. Dec. 104; Rex v. Hill, 4 B. & C. 426, 6 D. & R. 593, 10 E. C. L. 644; Angell & A. Corp. § 488. So if a particular day in the year is appointed for the transaction of business a notice of the particular business to be done is not required. Sampson v. Bowdoinham Steam Mill Corp., 36 Me. 78; People v. Batchelor, 22 N. Y. 128; Warner v. Mower, 11 Vt. 385; Angell & A. Corp. § 488. Nor is it material in what manner the stated meetings of the corporation have been fixed; if they are in fact regularly held on stated days that is sufficient. Atlantic Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Sanders, 36 N. H. 252.

48. Loubat v. Le Roy, 15 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 65 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 138; Com. v. Guardians of Poor, 6 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 469; Rex v. Langhorn, 4 A. & E. 538, 6 N. & M. 203, 31 E. C. L. 243; Rex v. Hill, 4 B. & C. 441, 6 D. & R. 593, 10 E. C. L. 644; Rex v. May, 5 Burr. 2681; Rex v. Grimes, 5 Burr. 2598; Rex v. Doncaster, 2 Burr. 738, 2 Ld. Ken. 391; Rex v. Liverpool, 2 Burr. 723, 2 Ld. Ken. 424; Rex v. Theodorick, 8 East 543, 9 Rev. Rep. 494; Rex v. Shrewsbury, Cas. t. Hardw. 147; Smyth v. Darley, 2 H. L. Cas. 789; Musgrove v. Nevinson, 2 Ld. Raym. 1358, 1 Str. 584; Kynaston v. Shrewsbury, 2 Str. 1051; Rex v. Faversham, 8 T. R. 352, 4 Rev. Rep. 691 (per Lord Kenyon with reference to point whether all must be notified in case of special meetings). Compare People v. Batchelor, 22 N. Y. 128. It was decided in the house of lords, in 1849, that where certain acts of a corporation are to be performed at a special meeting of the members of that corporation, all the persons entitled to be present thereat must be summoned, if they are within a reasonable summoning distance; and that the omission to summon any one entitled to be summoned renders the acts done at such meeting in his absence invalid. Thus the election of a treasurer for the county of the city of Dublin was vested by statute (49 Geo. III, c. 20) in the "Board of Magistrates of the County of said City," and was directed to take place at the sessions court of the city, by vote of the magistrates there present. It was held by the lords that the recorder of Dublin was a member of that board, that he ought to have been summoned to a meeting of the magistrates summoned for that election, and that the omission to summon him rendered the election which took place in his absence invalid. Smyth v. Darley, 2 H. L. Cas. 789, holding further that a finding in a special verdict that a person entitled to be present at a meeting of the corporate body was not summoned, and that he was at the time within summoning distance, throws on the party supporting the validity of the acts done at such meeting the onus of showing sufficient cause for his not being summoned.

That this is the modern doctrine, holding a corporate election void where no sufficient notice of the meeting has been served on a single one of the shareholders, see Barthell v. Hencke, 99 Wis. 660, 75 N. W. 952.

49. Shelby R. Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 12 Bush (Ky.) 62; Hunt v. Norwich School Dist. No. 20, 14 Vt. 300, 39 Am. Dec. 225. Compare Cogswell v. Bullock, 13 Allen (Mass.) 90.

50. Charter Gas Engine Co. v. Charter, 47 Ill. App. 36.

51. Shelby R. Co. v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 12 Bush (Ky.) 62; Cogswell v. Bullock, 13 Allen (Mass.) 90 (holding that a meeting called in any manner prescribed by the by-laws is legal); Hunt v. Norwich School Dist. No. 20, 14 Vt. 300, 39 Am. Dec. 225.

52. Bethany Cong. Soc. v. Sperry, 10 Conn. 200; Evans v. Osgood, 18 Me. 213; Stevens v. Eden Meeting-House Soc., 12 Vt. 688; Angell & A. Corp. § 491.

53. Atlantic Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Sanders, 36 N. H. 252; People v. Batchelor, 22 N. Y. 128; Angell & A. Corp. § 488.

(3) The place where the meeting is to be held, unless the place is settled and established by the charter or by-laws.[54] (4) The business to be transacted thereat.[55]

6. Who May Call Meeting. It is in general essential to the validity of acts done at a special or called meeting of a corporation that the call shall be made by the person or persons appointed by the governing statute or by-law to call such meetings;[56] although under some conditions acts done at a meeting called by unauthorized persons may be regarded as valid until called in question by the state.[57] Where the by-laws of an insurance company provided that a special meeting should be called by the president, or in his absence by the secretary, on application made to them in writing by ten members, this did not preclude the directors from calling a special meeting without such application.[58] So where the articles of association provide only that meetings of shareholders may be called by the board of directors or any three shareholders, proceedings had at a meeting called by the president and cashier do not bind the corporation unless all the shareholders attend and assent.[59] On the other hand if the by-laws provide that meetings of the shareholders shall be called by the trustees, this excludes any power in the president alone to call a meeting.[60] The demand by a shareholder upon the directors or trustees that a meeting for an election of trustees shall be convened must be made on them when they are in session as a board; a demand upon each individual trustee separately is not sufficient.[61] In respect of the officers who may call such a meeting, the principle which vindicates the action of de facto officers of corporations[62] has been held to apply; so that if those who hold under a previous election take measures for holding an election for the succeeding year their successors, chosen at such election, will be officers de jure.[63]

7. Time During Which Notice Must Be Given. If the time during which the

54. Angell & A. Corp. § 496.

55. Merritt v. Farriss, 22 Ill. 303; Sampson v. Bowdoinham Steam Mill Corp., 36 Me. 78; Little v. Merrill, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 543; Hunt v. Norwich School Dist. No. 20, 14 Vt. 300, 39 Am. Dec. 225; Warner v. Mower, 11 Vt. 385.

56. Bethany Cong. Soc. v. Sperry, 10 Conn. 200; Reilly v. Oglebay, 25 W. Va. 36; Matthews v. Columbia Nat. Bank, 79 Fed. 558.

In New Hampshire, where a corporation has no officer by whom a new meeting can be called, its powers are suspended or dormant till it is reorganized under a new charter, or by a meeting called under the statute, by a justice of the peace. Goulding v. Clark, 34 N. H. 148.

57. Walworth v. Brackett, 98 Mass. 98. It is not necessary, upon a collateral inquiry, that the notice for the election should have been given by the person named in the certificate of incorporation. Chamberlain v. Painesville, etc., R. Co., 15 Ohio St. 225.

Whether call made by, or by direction of, persons authorized.— According to one view the call for an original meeting of corporators to elect directors need not be made by a formal order of those authorized to make the call, but it is sufficient if it be made by their direction. Hardenburgh v. New Brunswick Farmers', etc., Bank, 3 N. J. Eq. 68. A stricter view has resulted in the conclusion, under a statute (W. Va. Code, c. 53, § 41) that where the meeting is to be called by the board of directors, or by any number of shareholders holding together at least one tenth of the capital stock, a call made by the secretary, on the authority of shareholders holding one tenth of the capital, is invalid, and all proceedings thereunder illegal. Reilly v. Oglebay, 25 W. Va. 36. A similar strictness has prevailed in New Hampshire, in respect of a call made under a statute by a justice of the peace. The court hold that the statutory power must be strictly complied with, and accordingly that the justice cannot make the call unless on such a petition of proprietors as is prescribed by the statute; and, proceeding by analogy to the view that in such cases the jurisdiction must affirmatively appear, it is also held that the petition to the justice must be shown to be signed by the requisite number of proprietors. Goulding v. Clark, 34 N. H. 148. But as the act devolved upon the justice is merely ministerial the fact that he is a shareholder does not disable him from issuing the warning for the meeting or even from presiding thereat. Ashuelot R. Co. v. Elliot, 57 N. H. 397. For analogies relating to the "calling" and the "warning" of town meetings in New England see Stone v. Hamilton School Dist. No. 4, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 592; Stoughton Third School Dist. v. Atherton, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 105.

58. Citizens' Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Sortwell, 8 Allen (Mass.) 217.

59. Matthews v. Columbia Nat. Bank, 79 Fed. 558.

60. State v. Pettineli, 10 Nev. 141.

61. State v. Wright, 10 Nev. 167.

62. See infra, IX, B.

63. Smith v. Erb, 4 Gill (Md.) 437.

Many statutes have been enacted prescribing who may call meetings of the shareholdd-notice must be given is not specified in any statute or governing instrument, then the implication of the law is that the length of time must be reasonable.[64] But where the governing statute, or a valid by-law, prescribes the time which shall elapse between the giving of the notice and the meeting, the proceedings at the meeting will be voidable unless the notice is given for the prescribed time; nor can a by-law reduce the time prescribed by the charter.[65]

8. Certainty of Notice as to Time and Place. Where such a notice is required, either by the terms of the governing statute or by the operation of the principle just stated, unless it is explicitly given in respect of day, hour, and place, the meeting cannot be legally held, unless the shareholders are all present and consenting, whether in person or by proxy; and the fact that the by-laws fix the day upon which such a meeting shall be held is not a sufficient notice of the time and place.[66] On the other hand the mere fact that the meeting of the board of directors, at which the shareholders' meeting was summoned, was convened without the proper notice is not a good ground of challenging the validity of the action of the shareholders' meeting, provided it was otherwise regularly summoned.[67]

9. Waiver of Formal Notice by Appearing at Meeting and Assenting to Proceedings. It should constantly be kept in mind that no matter where the meeting is held or how defectively the members are notified the proceedings will bind all who appear at the meeting and participate in it without dissent.[68] But if a single member, having the right to be present and vote, is not notified in the prescribed manner, and is absent or refuses to consent to the proceedings held at the meeting, its proceedings will be illegal and void, unless the charter or governing statute otherwise provides.[69]

10. Ratification of Things Done at Meeting Informally Assembled. Acts done at meetings which have been assembled without notice, at least when such acts

ers of corporations, of which examples will be found in 1 Thompson Corp. § 705.

64. In case of a meeting to consider the question of a voluntary dissolution, if there is no statute prescribing the period for which the notice shall be given, a notice for the authorized time prescribed for a corporate election for any purpose will suffice. Titusville Oil Exch. v. Witherop, 2 Pa. Super. Ct. 508, 39 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 185.

65. U. S. v. McKelden, MacArthur & M. (D. C.) 162.

66. San Buenaventura Commercial Min., etc., Co. v. Vassault, 50 Cal. 534; Brown v. Electric Min. Mach. Co., 22 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 343. Where a church canon prescribed that notice of a meeting for the election of vestrymen should be given during divine service upon the Sunday previous thereto, a notice given several hours before divine service was insufficient, and the election was void. Dahl v. Palache, 68 Cal. 248, 9 Pac. 94. That an annual election on a movable day, such as Pinxter Monday, is valid see People v. Runkle, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 147.

67. Browne v. La Trinidad, 37 Ch. D. 1, 57 L. J. Ch. 292, 58 L. T. Rep. N. S. 137, 36 Wkly. Rep. 289.

Statutory provisions as to the manner of giving notice, with respect to length of time, place of meeting, business to be transacted at the meeting, etc., have been frequently enacted, and many examples of them will be found in 1 Thompson Corp. § 711.

68. Indiana.— Jones v. Milton, etc., Turnpike Co., 7 Ind. 547; Judah v. American Live Stock Ins. Co., 4 Ind. 333.

New York.— People v. Peck, 11 Wend. 604, 27 Am. Dec. 104.

North Carolina.— Benbow v. Cook, 115 N. C. 324, 20 S. E. 453, 44 Am. St. Rep. 454.

United States.— Handley v. Stutz, 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 35 L. ed. 227.

England.— Henderson v. Australasia Bank, 40 Ch. D. 170, 58 L. J. Ch. 197, 59 L. T. Rep. N. S. 56, 37 Wkly. Rep. 332.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 742.

69. People v. Batchelor, 22 N. Y. 128 (Denio, J., dissenting); Rex v. May, 5 Burr. 2681; Rex v. Gaborian, 11 East 77; Rex v. Theodorick, 8 East 543, 9 Rev. Rep. 494; Angell & A. Corp. 495.

Some of the statutes, it may be observed, prescribe that the statutory notice may be dispensed with by the unanimous consent in writing of all the members.

Arkansas.— Dig. Stat. (1884), § 963.

California.— Deering Code, pt. 4, § 317.

Minnesota.— Rev. Stat. (1881), § 4008.

Oregon.— Hill Laws, § 3226.

Wisconsin.— Rev. Stat. (1878), § 1761.

The vote of a corporation which affects the liability of those of its members who are its debtors cannot be regarded as having been consented to by them if they were not present at the meeting at which the vote was passed, although they may have had the legal notice of the meeting. American Bank v. Baker, 4 Metc. (Mass.) 164.

This principle does not apply with the same force to public or municipal corporations, at least in New England, where the English relate to the mere business of the corporation, may become valid by a subsequent ratification by the shareholders.[70] As will be seen in a future subdivision,[71] ratifications of informal or irregular corporate action often take place by the concurrent acquiescence, assent, or recognition of the validity of such acts, made by the shareholders, without any record thereof. On a similar principle, it has been held that where all shareholders of a corporation act together in its behalf, although there is no regular meeting or formal vote, their action is substantially corporate action.[72]

11. Stating in Notice Business to Be Transacted at Meeting. If the meeting is a special one, it seems that it is necessary that the notice should state the nature of the business for the transaction of which the meeting is convened; otherwise the transaction of business not embraced in the notice will be void unless all the members are present and consent thereto.[73] And even in the case of stated annual meetings, where any unusual business is to be transacted, it is necessary that notice should be given of that fact; as for example the making of a by-law, and this, although a custom may have existed in the corporation of transacting other business at stated meetings.[74] But here again the extra business so transacted is well done if all the shareholders appear at the meeting and consent to it.[75] A charter provision that two weeks' notice shall be given of a specified annual meeting for the election of directors does not make the transaction of other business at such meeting unlawful, where a long-continued custom has existed to perform other business at such meetings.[76] If a particular day in the year is appointed for the transaction of all business, a notice of the particular business to be transacted is not required.[77] There are holdings to the effect that where the statutory provision in regard to annual meetings is general, such meetings are ex vi termini for the transaction of all business incident to the corporate powers and interests;[78] and that the notice of a special meeting, when it is held for the transaction of ordinary business, need not state the object of the meeting;[79] but that where the meeting is called for the purpose of transacting business of special importance, not within the general routine of corporate business, upon a day not expressly set apart for that particular transaction, unless the notice of the meeting states the nature of such business, all acts done at the meeting will be illegal and void.[80] doctrine that notice may be waived by unanimous consent is denied, and where the transactions had at meetings not duly notified are void, although the meetings are attended by all the voters capable of attending. 1 Dillon Mun. Corp. (4th ed.) § 265.

70. Nelson v. Hubbard, 96 Ala. 238, 11 So. 428, 17 L. R. A. 375, meeting authorized the issue of corporate bonds secured by mortgage on corporate property.

71. See infra, XV, B, 7.

72. Woodbridge v. Pratt, etc., Co., 69 Conn. 304, 37 Atl. 688.

73. People's Mut. Ins. Co. v. Westcott, 14 Gray (Mass.) 440; St. Louis v. Withaus, 16 Mo. App. 247 [affirmed in 90 Mo. 646, 3 S. W. 395, municipal ordinance void if passed at a special meeting and having no reference to anything embraced in the message of the mayor calling the meeting]; Machell v. Nevinson, 2 Ld. Raym. 1355.

Certainty required in the notice of a meeting called to increase the capital stock see Jones v. Concord, etc., R. Co., 67 N. H. 234, 30 Atl. 614, 68 Am. St. Rep. 650.

74. Montgomery County Mutual F. Ins. Co. v. Farquhar, 86 Md. 668, 39 Atl. 527.

75. At least the business so transacted, for example the authorization of a mortgage, will not be void, but voidable only. Campbell v. Argenta Gold, etc., Min. Co., 51 Fed. 1.

76. Montgomery County Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Farquhar, 86 Md. 668, 39 Atl. 527 [citing Sampson v. Bowdoinham Steam Mill Corp., 36 Me. 78; Atlantic Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Sanders, 36 N. H. 252; Warner v. Mower, 11 Vt. 385; State v. Conklin, 34 Wis. 21].

77. Sampson v. Bowdoinham Steam Mill Corp., 36 Me. 78; People v. Batchelor, 22 N. Y. 128; Warner v. Mower, 11 Vt. 385.

78. Sampson v. Bowdoinham Steam Mill Corp., 36 Me. 78.

79. New Haven Sav. Bank v. Davis, 8 Conn. 191.

80. People's Mut. Ins. Co. v. Westcott, 14 Gray (Mass.) 440; Rex v. Doncaster, 2 Burr. 738, 2 Ld. Ken. 391; Rex v. Liverpool, 2 Burr. 723, 2 Ld. Ken. 424; Rex v. Theodorick, 8 East 543, 9 Rev. Rep. 494; Angell & A. Corp. § 489; Potter Corp. § 323. Thus the levying of an assessment upon the shareholders was held to be an act of such importance that it could not be done at a special corporate meeting, unless the shareholders

12. When Personal Notice Is Required. If no mode of giving notice is prescribed by charter, statute, by-law, or other governing instrument, then personal notice must be given to the shareholders; otherwise the proceedings had at the meeting will not be binding.[81]

13. How Many Times Notice Must Be Published. This is almost entirely the the subject of statutory regulation. Where the statute required that the shareholders should meet on the second Monday of January, of which meeting public notice should be given "at least two weeks previously" by the secretary, it was held that the publication of one notice was sufficient, if it was published two weeks previously.[82] were notified that such was the purpose of the meeting. Atlantic De Laine Co. v. Mason, 5 R. I. 463. And the same was held with respect to the meeting of a religious corporation called for the election of officers. Smith v. Erb, 4 Gill (Md.) 437. A notice of a second meeting, made conditional upon the passage of certain resolutions to be proposed to a prior meeting, has been held invalid, and not made good by the fact that the shareholders have acquired information aliunde that such resolutions were passed at the first meeting. Alexander v. Simpson, 43 Ch. D. 139, 59 L. J. Ch. 137, 61 L. T. Rep. N. S. 708, 1 Meg. 457, 38 Wkly. Rep. 161. A resolution passed at a general meeting of shareholders, under the English Joint-Stock Companies Acts, has been held not invalidated by the fact that the notice convening it did not suggest any reason why the contract could not be carried into effect without the sanction of a general meeting. Grant v. United Kingdom Switchback Railways Co., 40 Ch. D. 135, 58 L. J. Ch. 211, 60 L. T. Rep. N. S. 525, 1 Meg. 117, 37 Wkly. Rep. 312. Notice of an annual meeting to act on the report of the directors, choose a new board for the ensuing year, and transact any other business that may be brought before it, will not authorize a vote to increase the capital stock, under a statute permitting such an increase to be made "at any meeting called for the purpose." Jones v. Concord, etc., R. Co., 67 N. H. 119, 38 Atl. 120. Under Cal. Civ. Code, § 320, a mortgage authorized at a meeting, the notice for which does not specify the nature of the business to be transacted, is valid. Granger v. Original Empire Mill, etc., Co., 59 Cal. 678. Although directors may have been elected at a meeting, the notice of which did not specify the business to be transacted, yet the corporation cannot set up that fact as against its creditors, so as to repudiate obligations into which such directors have entered for it. Sampson v. Bowdoinham Steam Mill Corp., 36 Me. 78. A meeting of a mutual fire-insurance company, called "for the purpose of making such alterations in the by-laws of said company as may be deemed necessary, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before them," cannot, after voting to increase the number of directors (which is not limited by the by-laws), elect the additional directors; and an assessment or call made at a meeting of the board of directors, at which only the additional directors so chosen are present, is void. People's Mut. Ins. Co. v. Westcott, 14 Gray (Mass.) 440.

Not a badge of fraud for the secretary to omit to include a resolution in a communication to a shareholder who was represented by proxy at the meeting. Thames v. Central City Ins. Co., 49 Ala. 577, notice of the proxy being notice to his principal.

What notice to the shareholders of a consolidated corporation is not indefinite and uncertain, in case of a meeting called to consider a proposition to create a bonded indebtedness, to retire the existing one, and to increase the bonded indebtedness, although there was no existing bonded indebtedness except that of the constituent corporations. Market St. R. Co. v. Hellman, 109 Cal. 571, 42 Pac. 225. A notice of meeting, stating the general character of the business to be transacted, and that a copy of the proposed new articles may be inspected at the office of the solicitors of the company, is sufficient notice to shareholders of a proposal to alter the articles of association of the corporation. Young v. South African, etc., Exploration, etc., Syndicate, [1896] 2 Ch. 268, 65 L. J. Ch. 638, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 527, 44 Wkly. Rep. 509.

81. New Haven Sav. Bank v. Davis, 8 Conn. 191; Stow v. Wyse, 7 Conn. 214, 18 Am. Dec. 99; Wiggin v. First Freewill Baptist Church, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 301; Lockwood v. Mechanics Nat. Bank, 9 R. I. 308, 11 Am. Rep. 253; Stevens v. Eden Meeting House Soc., 12 Vt. 688.

Where the meeting is of the board of trustees or directors, in the absence of any provision in the charter or by-laws prescribing the kind of notice which shall be given, each member of the board must have personal notice.

California.— Harding v. Vandewater, 40 Cal. 77.

Massachusetts.— Wiggin v. First Freewill Baptist Church, 8 Metc. 301.

New Jersey.—State v. Ferguson, 31 N. J. L. 107.

New York.— People v. Batchelor, 22 N. Y. 128.

England.— Rex v. Doncaster, 2 Burr. 738, 2 Ld. Ken. 391; Rex v. Liverpool, 2 Burr. 723, 2 Ld. Ken. 424; Rex v. Theodorick, 8 East 543, 9 Rev. Rep. 494.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," §§ 1298, 1299.

82. Weckerly v. Fell, etc., R. Co., 8 Pa. Dist. 89, 22 Pa. Co. Ct. 209.

E. The Quorum — 1. Where Body Is Composed of Indefinite Number — a. What Constitutes. The rule of the common law seems to be that where a body is composed of an indefinite number of persons a quorum, for the purposes of elections and voting upon other questions which require the sanction of the members, consists of those who assemble at any meeting regularly called and warned, although such number may be a minority of the whole; in which case a majority of those who assemble may elect, unless there is a different rule established by statute or by a valid by-law.[83] Except where the rule of voting is by shares, this rule of the common law is applicable to joint-stock corporations; because, although the number of shares is definite, yet the number of persons who hold those shares is constantly varying.[84] Under a strict observance of this rule such of the shareholders as actually assemble at a properly convened meeting, although a minority of the whole number and representing only a minority of the stock, even if but one is present, constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, unless it is otherwise provided in the charter or by-laws.[85]

b. Majority of This Quorum Necessary to Elect. It must be kept in mind that the doctrine of the preceding paragraph is inflexible, except where a different rule is established by statute or by-law, that a majority of this quorum is necessary to elect, and that a mere plurality does not elect.[86]

2. Where Body Is Composed of Definite Number. In all cases where an act is to be done by a corporate body, and the number is definite, it has been held that a majority of the whole number is necessary to constitute a legal meeting; and that if the actual number is reduced from any cause, the number necessary to constitute a quorum remains the same; but that at a legal meeting a majority of those present may act.[87] If the meeting is duly assembled and there is a quorum, 83. Minnesota.— Everett v. Smith, 22 Minn. 53.

Missouri.— Columbia Bottom Levee Co. v. Meier, 39 Mo. 53.

New York.— Field v. Field, 9 Wend. 394.

Pennsylvania.— Craig v. Pittsburgh First Presb. Church, 88 Pa. St. 42, 32 Am. Rep. 417.

United States.— Brown v. Pacific Mail Steamship Co., 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,025, 5 Blatchf. 525.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 744.

This is the rule applied to meetings of religious societies.— Madison Ave. Baptist Church v. Oliver St. Baptist Church, 5 Rob. (N. Y.) 649; Craig v. Pittsburgh First Presb. Church, 88 Pa. St. 42, 32 Am. Rep. 417.

84. Morrill v. Little Falls Mfg. Co., 53 Minn. 371, 55 N. W. 547, 21 L. R. A. 174; Columbia Bottom Levee Co. v. Meier, 39 Mo. 53; Brown v. Pacific Mail Steamship Co., 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,025, 5 Blatchf. 525. That, in America, except where otherwise provided, the voting unit is a single share see infra, IV, F, 1.

85. Morrill v. Little Falls Mfg. Co., 53 Minn. 371, 55 N. W. 547, 21 L. R. A. 174. And there are general expressions to the effect that the acts of a majority in a corporation bind the whole (see Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78), expressions which must be qualified by the statement that this rule is not applicable to those acts which work constituent changes in the constitution or purposes of the corporation, and which, in the absence of valid statutes otherwise providing, require the unanimous consent of the shareholders of the corporation.

86. State v. Wilmington City Council, 3 Harr. (Del.) 294. Hence, although illegal votes may have been cast and legal votes rejected, yet if notwithstanding this a majority of legal votes still appear for those who are returned as elected their election is valid. McNeely v. Woodruff, 13 N. J. L. 352. Hence where the governing by-law provides that no business shall be transacted at any meeting of the shareholders unless a majority of the stock is represented, and the stock consists of four hundred shares, and a board of directors is elected at a meeting where only one hundred and thirty-eight shares are represented, the election is void, and they are not even directors de facto. Ellsworth Woolen Mfg. Co. v. Faunce, 79 Me. 440, 10 Atl. 250. There is a seemingly untenable decision to the effect that an election of directors by those holding less than one half of the shares, brought about by the exclusion from voting of the shareholders by an injunction issued by a competent court, is legal. Brown v. Pacific Mail Steamship Co., 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,025, 5 Blatchf. 525.

87. Massachusetts.— Sargent v. Webster, 13 Metc. 497, 46 Am. Dec. 743.

Michigan.— Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457.

Missouri.— Foster v. Mullanphy Planing-Mill Co., 92 Mo. 79, 4 S. W. 260; Columbia Bottom Levee Co. v. Meier, 39 Mo. 53.

New York.— Note to Ex p. Willcocks, 7 Cow. 402, 410, 17 Am. Dec. 525.

shareholders who do not vote when they might are bound by the result.[88] Even where, after an election has been commenced, a majority of those assembled protest that there is no vacancy, but do not cast their votes for some other candidate, a majority of the votes of those assembled, cast for a candidate put in nomination, elects him, provided there is a vacancy.[89] If the membership is divided into separate integral parts or classes, then a majority of the members of each class is necessary.[90]

3. Statutory Provisions as to What Shall Constitute. Numerous statutes governing this subject have been enacted which vary in their provisions as to what shall constitute a quorum, from those who attend by person or by proxy to two thirds of all the shares; and which vary, with respect to the proportion of the quorum necessary to elect directors and to carry this or that measure, from a mere plurality to two thirds of the shares.[91]

Rhode Island.— Lockwood v. Mechanics Nat. Bank, 9 R. I. 308, 11 Am. Rep. 253.

England.— Rex v. Miller, 6 T. R. 268, 3 Rev. Rep. 172; Rex v. Bellringer, 4 T. R. 810.

88. State v. Chute, 34 Minn. 135, 24 N. W. 353. In such a case the consent of the minority of the quorum is taken to be included in the consent of the majority. Reg. v. Ipswich, Holt 443, 2 Ld. Raym. 1232, 2 Salk. 434. See also for the doctrine of the ancient common law as applicable to municipal corporations Cotton v. Davies, 1 Str. 53.

89. Oldknow v. Wainwright, 2 Burr. 1017, 1 W. Bl. 229.

90. State University v. Williams, 9 Gill & J. (Md.) 365, 31 Am. Dec. 72.

Invalidity of corporate act requiring a stated majority where one member, necessary to make the majority, quits the meeting before the act is passed see Ex p. Rogers, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 526. A holding, applicable to a charitable corporation, which rejects the vote in a proceeding to ratify an invalid election of directors, where the member whose title is in controversy is necessary to constitute a quorum in the ratifying board. People v. New York Infant Asylum, 7 N. Y. St. 277, a doctrine which it is believed cannot apply to joint-stock corporations.

91. Many of these statutes are set out in 1 Thompson Corp. § 727.

That acts done at a corporate meeting at which a minority only of the shares is represented are void in such a sense that they cannot be ratified by the subsequent assent of the holders of a majority of the shares, if this assent be given elsewhere than at a meeting of the shareholders duly convened, see Peiree v. New Orleans Bldg. Co., 9 La. 397, 29 Am. Dec. 448.

Three fourths normal amount of issued shares.— Construction of the provision of articles of association of an English company, providing that the quorum shall be members holding or representing by proxy three fourths of the normal amount of the issued shares of the class, although other articles provide that the quorum for a general meeting shall be the holders of one tenth of the issued capital of the company, with the conclusion that the three fourths required by the former clause is necessary, etc. Hemans v. Hotchkiss Ordnance Co., [1899] 1 Ch. 115, 68 L. J. Ch. 99, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 681, 6 Manson 52, 47 Wkly. Rep. 276.

Majority of stock.— Construction of a corporate by-law providing that a majority of the stock, present in person or by proxy, at any meeting of the shareholders, shall constitute a quorum, with the conclusion that this requires a majority of the stock. Matter of Rapid Transit Ferry Co., 19 Misc. (N. Y.) 409, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 538 [affirmed in part and reversed in part in 15 N. Y. App. Div. 530, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 539, where the conclusion was reached that in view of the statutes of New York the by-law should not be held to apply to a meeting of the shareholders for the election of directors].

Majority in interest.— That a majority in interest, and not necessarily a majority in number, is required to amend a by-law at a special meeting, under a charter which requires the vote of a "majority of the shareholders," and which also provides that the New Jersey Corporation Act of 1896 shall apply, etc., and that a majority in interest may constitute a quorum although not a majority in number, under the same charter provision, when read in connection with another charter provision of the New Jersey Corporation Act of 1891, § 21, see Weinburgh v. Union Street Railway Advertising Co., 55 N. J. Eq. 640, 37 Atl. 1026. That "two thirds of the shareholders" in a statute means the holders of two thirds of the stock see State v. Horan, 22 Wash. 197, 60 Pac. 135. That a provision in the by-laws of a corporation that its "constitution" may be altered or amended by a two-thirds vote of the association at any annual meeting will not prevent the amendment of the by-laws by a majority vote see Scanlan v. Snow, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 137, 22 Wash. L. Rep. 62.

The phrase "holding at least one third of the shares of stock," in a by-law of a corporation requiring that to constitute a quorum there must be present at all legal meetings one third of the shareholders holding one third of the shares, refers to the stock issued and not to the stock authorized, especially where less than one third of the stock authorized has been issued. Castner v. Twitchell-Champlin Co., 91 Me. 524, 40 Atl. 558 [citing Greenpoint Sugar Co. v. Whitin, 69

F. Right to Vote at Corporate Elections — 1. Voting Unit Is Single Share. In the absence of constitutional provisions or statutes designed to afford a representation in the board of directors of minority shareholders,[92] and with other possible statutory exceptions, the single share is the voting unit in joint-stock corporations.[93] Where a charter is granted to certain persons, "their associates, successors, and assigns," the grantees can legally elect directors without having made any associates, successors, or assigns.[94]

2. Statutes Changing Rule and Limiting Number of Votes Cast by Single Shareholder. Statutes have been enacted changing this rule and limiting the number of votes which can be cast by a single shareholder, the end in view being the protection of minority shareholders; as for example a statute which provides that no shareholder shall be entitled to cast more than one fourth of the votes at any election of directors. Such a statute will be rigorously upheld, and will not be allowed to be defeated or evaded by the device of a shareholder making nominal transfers of his shares to dummies and having them vote in his interest.[95]

3. Right to Vote Rests in Those Registered as Shareholders on Books of Corporation — a. Rule Stated. In the absence of statutes or valid by-laws changing the rule, the right to vote ordinarily rests in those in whose names the shares stand registered on the corporate books, although in point of fact they may have transferred them by a blank power of attorney to some other party who has not seen fit to execute the power and to have himself registered as a shareholder for the purpose of exercising the voting power attached to the shares.[96] In other

N. Y. 328, and overruling Ellsworth Woolen Mfg. Co. v. Faunce, 79 Me. 440, 10 Atl. 250].

92. As to which see Procter Coal Co. v. Finley, 98 Ky. 405, 33 S. W. 188, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 950; Tomlin v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 52 Mo. App. 430; Wright v. Com., 109 Pa. St. 560, 1 Atl. 794; Dick v. Lehigh Valley R. Co., 4 Pa. Dist. 56.

93. See infra, IV, F, 4, and notes.

By-law authorizing vote for each share valid.— That a by-law providing that at a shareholders' meeting each shareholder shall cast a vote for each share of stock owned by him is valid under Ky. Const. § 207, providing for the cumulative system of voting at the elections of directors, see Procter Coal Co. v. Finley, 98 Ky. 405, 33 S. W. 188, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 950, holding that such a by-law authorizes that manner of voting for the chairman of the meeting, as well as in the election of directors, and that the fact that the chairman has, at all previous meetings of the company, been chosen by consent and by a viva voce vote, does not affect the right.

If the corporation has no power to issue shares of stock, then persons elected as its trustees by the votes of stock which it has assumed to issue have no title to the office, although the governing statute provides for a board of trustees, to "be elected at such times and in such manner as the said company shall by its rules and regulations direct," and although the company, acting in the assumed execution of the power so granted, established the mode of electing by a stock vote. Cooke v. Marshall, 196 Pa. St. 200, 46 Atl. 447 [affirming 191 Pa. St. 315, 43 Atl. 314, 44 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 159].

Members of a reorganization committee, to whom, under the plan of reorganization, stock of the corporation was issued to be held by them for five years, unless in their judgment its distribution among the bondholders was sooner warranted, do not lose their power to vote upon it by selling their individual stock. Haines v. Kinderhook, etc., R. Co., 33 N. Y. App. Div. 154, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 368 [affirming 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 605, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 1061].

94. Hughes v. Parker, 19 N. H. 181. That a statute providing that in every library association every shareholder shall have at least one vote for each share of stock held by him became the law of a particular library association on being assented to by every shareholder therein, notwithstanding a provision in the special charter of the association which limited the voting power of shares held in blocks exceeding five by single owners, see Rankin v. Newark Library Assoc., 64 N. J. L. 265, 45 Atl. 622.

95. Mack v. De Bardeleben Coal, etc., Co., 90 Ala. 396, 8 So. 150, 9 L. R. A. 650.

Such regulation reasonable.— A regulation of an agricultural and mechanical association, providing that shareholders should have one vote for each share held by them up to ten shares, and fixing the proportion which their votes should bear to their shares above that number, has been held reasonable, when uniform in its operation, and binding on all the shareholders. Com. v. Detwiller, 131 Pa. St. 614, 18 Atl. 990, 25 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 329, 7 L. R. A. 357.

96. California.— People v. Robinson, 64 Cal. 373, 1 Pac. 156.

Connecticut.— State v. Ferris, 42 Conn. 560.

Minnesota.— Morrill v. Little Falls Mfg. Co., 53 Minn. 371, 55 N. W. 547, 21 L. R. A. 174.

Nevada.— State v. Pettineli, 10 Nev. 141.

New York.— Matter of Glen Salt Co., 17 words the right to vote follows the legal title to the shares, and this is especially true where the charter, governing statute, or a valid by-law provides that the shares shall be transferred only on the books of the corporation, in which case an unregistered transferee has only an equitable title, the legal title remaining in the transferrer; and the right to vote follows the legal title.[97] The right to vote his shares at corporate elections is an incident of the ownership of the shares; it inheres in the legal holder of them under the principles of the common law, and is in the nature of property.[98]

b. Right as Between Pledger and Pledgee of Shares. Keeping in mind the principle of the preceding paragraph, that, as between the corporation and the person claiming the right to vote, the right follows the legal title to the shares, then the question whether a pledge of the shares will carry with it the legal title to vote in respect of them depends upon whether the contract of pledge was of such a nature as to transfer the legal title to the pledgee. If it gives him the right to have the shares registered in his name on the books of the corporation, and if he exercises this right, then the right to vote with respect to them will become vested in him.[99] The pledger and the pledgee may arrange by contract between themselves which shall possess the voting power,[1] but they cannot so arrange where the arrangement proceeds in face of the governing statute.[2] The N. Y. App. Div. 234, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 568 [affirmed in 153 N. Y. 688, 48 N. E. 1104].

Rhode Island.— Hoppin v. Buffum, 9 R. I. 513, 11 Am. Rep. 291.

Compare People v. Devin, 17 Ill. 84, where a different rule was applied.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 754.

Transfer of shares on corporate books ten days before the meeting for the election is essential to the right of the transferee to vote under New York statutes; and this is so although the transfer may have been sent to the corporation in a registered letter which was received in the post-office in time, but not withdrawn in time by the corporation, because its officials did not know that it had been received by the postmaster. Matter of Glen Salt Co., 17 N. Y. App. Div. 234, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 568 [affirmed in 153 N. Y. 688, 48 N. E. 1104].

The directors may properly adopt a new stock-book for the purpose of enabling holders of stock to have certificates transferred, when an election is imminent and a transfer is necessary to enable holders of stock to vote, and the original stock is inaccessible by reason of the absence of the custodian of it. In re Argus Co., 138 N. Y. 557, 34 N. E. 388, 53 N. Y. St. 270.

97. Miller v. Murray, 17 Colo. 408, 30 Pac. 46; Com. v. Dalzell, 152 Pa. St. 217, 25 Atl. 535, 34 Am. St. Rep. 640 [reversing 1 Pa. Dist. 667, 23 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 69].

98. Com. v. Dalzell, 152 Pa. St. 217, 25 Atl. 535, 31 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 301, 34 Am. St. Rep. 640 [reversing 1 Pa. Dist. 657, 23 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 69].

99. State v. Smith, 15 Oreg. 98, 14 Pac. 814, 15 Pac. 137, 386.

1. Ervin v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 7 R. & Corp. L. J. 87.

2. It has been held that where the right to vote at corporate elections is, by the governing statute, vested in the shareholders, one to whom shares of the corporate stock have been transferred in trust, under a contract of pledge for a third person who has advanced money to the corporation, cannot vote at corporate elections for directors in respect of the shares so held in pledge, although it is provided in the contract of pledge that he shall have the right so to do. The reason is plain; the governing statute having prescribed who shall vote at corporate elections, it is not competent for the corporation to make a different rule, otherwise a corporation could make for itself a new charter or recreate itself. Brewster v. Hartley, 37 Cal. 15, 99 Am. Dec. 237. This case is cited in Griswold v. Seligman, 72 Mo. 110, to the point that a corporation cannot be its own shareholder; but in respect of the conclusion which the supreme court of Missouri deduced from this principle, that the pledgee is a shareholder and liable to creditors as such, the California decision cannot be quoted as authority. Again it has been held that where stock is held, under a written contract with the corporation, as security for advances made by the holders of it to the corporation, it is not competent to show by parol evidence that there was a verbal understanding that the holders of it were to have the privilege of voting in respect of the stock. Griswold v. Seligman, 72 Mo. 110. Compare Union Sav. Assoc. v. Seligman, 92 Mo. 635, 15 S. W. 630, 1 Am. St. Rep. 776; Erskine v. Loewenstein, 82 Mo. 301; Bray v. Seligman, 75 Mo. 31; Fisher v. Seligman, 75 Mo. 13. It has been held that where the legal title, and with it the right to vote, is in the pledger, and the shares stand on the books in the name of the pledgee, the pledger has a remedy in equity against the pledgee to compel him to retransfer the shares or else to give him a proxy to vote in respect of them. Vowell v. Thompson, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,023, 3 Cranch C. C. 428.

Where the pledgee has been registered on the corporate books as holding the shares the conclusion then is that, in the absence of a contrary rule in the governing statute or by-laws authorized thereby, the pledger of shares which have been hypothecated is entitled to vote, unless the pledgee has been made a shareholder as between himself and the corporation, by having the shares transferred to him on the corporate books.[3] And it has been held without qualification, that in a clear case of hypothecation the pledger may vote. The possession may continue with him, consistently with the nature of the contract, and the stock remains in his name. Till enforced, and the title made absolute in the pledgee, and the name changed on the books, he should be received to vote. It is a question between him and the pledgee, with which the corporation has nothing to do.[4] On the other hand, if the stock has been transferred on the books of the corporation to one to whom it has been delivered under a contract of pledge, he is prima facie entitled to vote in respect of the shares, and after he has voted the corporate election will not be set aside because of his having voted, although his vote has determined the result. The corporation is not bound to inquire into the circumstances under which he holds as trustee, but if those circumstances are such that the pledger has a right to a retransfer, he may enforce that right in equity.[5] The general rule is that the right to vote remains in the pledger or mortgagor until the pledge or mortgage has been foreclosed; and while, as elsewhere seen,[6] the inspectors of the election cannot inquire into the equities upon which the shares are held, or look behind what appears on the face of the transfer-books, yet the courts can; and if it appears to them that a pledgee of corporate stock has, without authority from the pledger, caused it to be registered on the company's books in his name as trustee, they will restrain him from voting thereon.[7] Nor need the pledger, in order to maintain an action to restrain such voting, show that his rights would thereby be injuriously affected.[8]

c. Ownership of Shares Must Be Bona Fide. But this right to vote is necessarily predicated upon the bona fide ownership of shares; and under a statute affirming this principle,[9] a dummy to whom a block of shares has been issued by the secretary of a corporation to be voted at an election is not entitled to vote in respect of them, since he is neither a bona fide shareholder nor the representative of one.[10] right to vote vests in him unless it is reserved to the pledger in the contract of pledge. Com. v. Dalzell, 152 Pa. St. 217, 25 Atl. 535, 31 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 301, 34 Am. St. Rep. 640 [reversing 11 Pa. Dist. 657, 23 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 69].

That the right to vote vests in the holder of the legal title to the shares, notwithstanding a contract for the sale thereof, conditioned upon the transfer of the stock upon the books of the corporation, which condition has neither been performed nor waived, see In re Argus Co., 138 N. Y. 557, 34 N. E. 388, 53 N. Y. St. 270.

3. Scholfield v. Union Bank, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,475, 2 Cranch C. C. 115.

4. Ex p. Willcocks, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 402, 17 Am. Dec. 525. This case has been cited in subsequent cases, to the principle that a corporation has no concern with private agreements between holders of its stock and third persons. In re Mohawk, etc., R. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 135; In re Long Island R. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 37, 32 Am. Dec. 429. It has also been cited to the principle that the pledger of hypothecated stock may vote thereon. New York, etc., R. Co. v. Schuyler, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 534, per Ingraham, J.

5. Hoppin v. Buffum, 9 R. I. 513, 11 Am. Rep. 291. See also Vowell v. Thompson, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,023, 3 Cranch C. C. 428. To illustrate: M, the pledgee of stock which stood on the books as "M, Trustee," had repeatedly voted in respect of the shares without objection, and voted them at an election of directors under such circumstances that his vote determined the result. In quo warranto against the officers declared elected, it was held, (1) that M was entitled to vote, in the absence of any claim by the pledgers to do so; (2) that after the election it was too late for the pledgers to ask the court to disturb the result. Hoppin v. Buffum, 9 R. I. 513, 11 Am. Rep. 291. The case might better have been put upon the naked ground that those in whose name the stock is registered are the only ones entitled to vote, and that if the register is not correct it should be rectified prior to the election. Compare State v. Lehre, 7 Rich. (S. C.) 234.

6. See infra, IV, G, 2, a.

7. McHenry v. Jewett, 26 Hun (N. Y.) 453.

8. McHenry v. Jewett, 26 Hun (N. Y.) 453. Compare State v. Smith, 15 Oreg. 98, 14 Pac. 814, 15 Pac. 137, 386.

9. Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 312.

10. Smith v. San Francisco, etc., R. Co., 115 Cal. 584, 47 Pac. 582, 56 Am. St. Rep.

d. Motive Governing Shareholder in Voting Not Subject to Judicial Inquiry. On the principle that a man has the right to do as he pleases with his own property, the motive which governs a shareholder in voting is not ordinarily a subject of judicial inquiry.[11] The fact that he may have a personal interest separate from that of the other shareholders, which he is endeavoring to subserve, does not deprive him of this right.[12] He does not lose the right to vote on a proposition to discontinue an action commenced by the corporation, although he is adversely interested to the corporation by reason of being a defendant in the action,[13] or because the shares in respect of which he claims the right to vote were sold to him in violation of an agreement, of which he had notice, between the seller and other shareholders.[14] Limitations of this principle exist in cases where one corporation purchases the shares of another for the purpose of absorbing that other.[15]

4. Right of Executors and Administrators to Vote. Executors and administrators have the right to vote with respect to stock standing on the corporate books in the name of the testator on exhibiting an exemplified copy of their letters testamentary or of administration; and this without any formal transfer of the shares on the books of the corporation to them.[16] If the legal title to the shares has been vested, under a will, in three executors, they can only vote as joint owners; and if they cannot agree as to the manner in which the shares shall be voted, they cannot vote with respect to them at all; and this although a codicil of the will provided that the shares should be voted as one of the executors should direct, and that the other executors should give him their proxies, where no proxy had in fact been given, and no legal proceedings had been begun to compel the giving of one.[17]

5. Right of Surviving Partners to Vote. A surviving partner has the right, while the partnership business remains unsettled, to vote upon corporate stock standing in the name of the firm, or which, although standing in the name of the deceased partner, is shown actually to be firm property.[18]

6. Right of Trustees to Vote. In like manner one is entitled to vote in respect of stock standing in his name as the trustee of others;[19] and for equally good reasons where the trust is not disclosed on the company's books.[20]

7. Right to Vote With Respect to Stock Standing in Name of Person With Addition of "Cashier," Etc. Stock standing on the corporate books in the name of a person with the addition of "cashier" subjoined, cannot be voted on a proxy given by his successor in office.[21]

119, 35 L. R. A. 309; Stewart v. Mahoney Min. Co., 54 Cal. 149. Compare Mack v. De Bardeleben Coal, etc., Co., 90 Ala. 396, 8 So. 150, 9 L. R. A. 650.

11. Moses v. Scott, 84 Ala. 608, 4 So. 742. See in affirmation of this principle Lewisohn v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 613, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 807, refusing to enjoin a majority of the shareholders of a Montana corporation, at the instance of a minority, from voting to accept an offer for the purchase of mining claims owned by the company.

12. Bjorngaard v. Goodhue County Bank, 49 Minn. 483, 52 N. W. 48.

13. Socerro Mountain Min. Co. v. Preston, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 220, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 1040.

14. In re Argus Co., 138 N. Y. 557, 34 N. E. 388, 53 N. Y. St. 270.

15. See for instance Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Woods, 88 Ala. 630, 7 So. 108, 16 Am. St. Rep. 81, 7 L. R. A. 605. It has been held that power given to one of three executors to control the voting of corporate stock belonging to the estate cannot be abridged because he has used such power for his own interest, where his conduct is not such as will warrant his dismissal from the trust. Lafferty's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 215.

16. Market St. R. Co. v. Hellman, 109 Cal. 571, 42 Pac. 225 (holding that they may so vote on the question of consolidation); In re Cape May, etc., Nav. Co., 51 N. J. L. 78, 16 Atl. 191; In re North Shore Staten Island Ferry Co., 63 Barb. (N. Y.) 556.

17. Tunis v. Hestonville, etc., Pass. R. Co., 149 Pa. St. 70, 24 Atl. 88, 15 L. R. A. 665 [affirming 1 Pa. Dist. 135]. That the provision of the codicil that the other executors should give such a proxy deprives them of any discretion as to the manner in which the stock shall be voted, and leaves them no ground for refusing the proxy, see Lafferty's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 215.

18. People v. Hill, 16 Cal. 113.

19. In re Barker, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 509.

20. Wilson v. Central Bridge, 9 R. I. 590.

21. In re Mohawk, etc., R. C., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 135.

8. Right to Vote With Respect to Shares Held by Joint Owners. Where stock in a corporation is owned by two persons jointly, and they disagree as to the vote to be cast upon the shares at an election for trustees, the vote of one of them upon such stock may be rejected.[22]

9. Right of Assignee in Bankruptcy to Vote in Respect of Shares Held by Bankrupt. An assignment in bankruptcy does not necessarily take away the right of the bankrupt to vote in respect of shares still standing in his name; and where the bankrupt and the assignee vote in respect of such shares, the other shareholders have no interest in the question whether the strict right to vote is in the bankrupt or in the assignee, such as will enable them to object thereto.[23]

10. Right of Corporation to Vote — a. In Respect of Its Own Shares. Corporations have, as hereafter seen,[24] a qualified power to deal in their own shares.[25] They may acquire them from defaulting shareholders, by forfeiture or by sale to foreclose their lien upon them,[26] as in the case of banking corporations that have a lien upon them for a general balance due.[27] But stock thus owned or held by the corporation cannot be voted at corporate elections,[28] although it is held by a trustee in pledge to secure a debt, under a contract which allows him to vote it.[29] It will not be permitted to a company thus to wield its own shares, through officers, for the purposes of an election, thus disturbing the rightful voting equilibrium subsisting among its shareholders.[30] As the right to vote in respect of stock transferred in pledge ordinarily remains in the pledger,[31] for stronger reasons it so remains where the pledge has been made to the corporation itself.[32] The rule which restrains the corporation, through its officers, from voting in respect of shares held by it, or in trust for it, has been held, under particular circumstances, not to apply, where the corporate funds were not used in the transactions by which the shares were deposited with its officers.[33]

22. Matter of Pioneer Paper Co., 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 111. And see supra, IV, F, 4. But that it is not necessary, in order to a right to vote at a corporate election, that the person should be the sole owner of the shares see Ervin v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 7 R. & Corp. L. J. 87.

23. State v. Ferris, 42 Conn. 560.

24. See infra, XVII, B, 5.

25. Monsseaux v. Urquhart, 19 La. Ann. 482.

26. See infra, VI, O, 2, d, (I) et seq.

27. See infra, VII, D, 2, b, (I), note 60.

28. McNeely v. Woodruff, 13 N. J. L. 352; Ex p. Holmes, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 426. By statute in Missouri stock held or hypothecated to the corporation cannot be voted. Mo. Rev. Stat. (1889), § 2487.

29. Brewster v. Hartley, 37 Cal. 15, 99 Am. Dec. 237 (under a California statute); American Railway-Frog Co. v. Haven, 101 Mass. 398, 3 Am. Rep. 377; Union Sav. Assoc. v. Seligman, 92 Mo. 635, 15 S. W. 630, 1 Am. St. Rep. 776; Ex p. Holmes, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 426. This rule does not extend to a case where the stock is held in trust for a shareholder. In re Barker, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 509.

30. Ex p. Holmes, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 426. See also McNeely v. Woodruff, 13 N. J. L. 352; Ex p. Desdoity, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 98.

An agreement among shareholders of a railroad company, vesting in trustees the right to vote the stock at all meetings of the corporation, has been held void, as contrary to public policy, and as substantially amounting to a repeal of the Pennsylvania statute in regard to the right to vote being incident to the ownership of railroad stock. Vanderbilt v. Bennett, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 193.

31. See supra, IV, F, 3, b.

32. Where the question was whether certain shares could be voted at a corporate election, and it appeared that there was a by-law of the corporation providing that when a director was indebted to the corporation eighty-five per cent of his stock should be considered as hypothecated and held as security, and not transferred till the debt was paid, and it appeared that some four hundred and fifty shares of such stock were voted on at an election, the validity of which was in controversy, in favor of the successful ticket, by the persons in whose names it stood, it was held that this could not be called hypothecated stock; that hypothecation is conventional, and implies the power of rendering the subject available by way of sale, to satisfy the debt on default of payment; and that, as the stock stood on the transfer-books in the names of the voters, this fact was conclusive upon the inspectors of the right of the voters to vote in respect of it. Ex p. Willcocks, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 402, 17 Am. Dec. 525.

33. Woodruff v. Dubuque, etc., R. Co., 30 Fed. 91.

Where the charter of an incorporated company has fixed the qualifications of voters by declaring that each share of stock shall be entitled to one vote, which may be cast by the shareholder in person or by proxy, any vote or votes cast by a party at an election of the corporation, without the qualification named,

b. In Respect of Shares Held in Other Corporations. Whether a corporation holding shares of another corporation may vote with respect to them at elections of such other corporation presents a contrariety of views upon the questions: (1) Whether one corporation can be a permanent shareholder in another. (2) Whether, if so, the voting power annexed to the shares passes into the hands of the corporation owning them as an incident of the ownership of the shares. If the first proposition is conceded, then the second one would seem to follow, although it may result in one corporation controlling another.[34] But in the absence of legislative authority or sanction for such a course of proceeding many courts take the view that it is against public policy to allow one corporation to purchase a majority of the shares of another for the purpose of absorbing it, controlling it, or effecting an unlawful consolidation with it; and hence that shares thus purchased cannot be voted by the purchasing corporation at meetings of the victim corporation.[35] A corporation formed under articles of association which assume such a power in the absence of legislative authorization will be dissolved in a proceeding by quo warranto.[36]

11. Right of Bondholders to Vote. The voting power is often attached, by stipulation in corporate mortgages and in the bonds thereby secured, to the holders of such bonds, thus giving them the power to control the officers of the corporation while escaping the responsibility of shareholders. Where the constitution or the statute law provides that directors shall be elected at annual meetings of the shareholders, by the vote of a majority in value of the stock, upon a cumulative system of voting and not otherwise, any by-laws, contracts, or stipulations which attempt to clothe bondholders of the corporation with the voting power are void.[37]

12. Right of Delinquent Shareholders to Vote. Assuming that a shareholder is the legal owner of the shares, in other words, that they stand registered in his name on the books of the corporation, the fact that he is delinquent in the payment of assessments or calls which have been made in respect of them does not deprive him of the right to vote with respect to them, in the absence of a statute is null and void, and the election will be declared and enforced without counting such votes. The right of voting conferred by the charter is not to be tested by the mere ownership of stock, but the transfer of it must be patent on the stock-book; and where the stock of the company stands on the books in the name of an individual as president, and has not been transferred by him on the books of the company, he has no right to vote on it at an election. Nor can stock or shares standing on the books of the company in the name of the corporation itself be voted on by one of its officers. Monsseaux v. Urquhart, 19 La. Ann. 482.

34. So held in Davis v. U. S. Electric Power, etc., Co., 77 Md. 35, 25 Atl. 982; State v. Rohlffs, (N. J. 1890) 19 Atl. 1099 (in respect of a religious corporation holding shares in a building association, and voting them by proxy duly authorized by the board of trustees of such religious corporation); Oelbermann v. New York, etc., R. Co., 77 Hun (N. Y.) 332, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 545, 59 N. Y. St. 881 (under the operation of statutes).

35. Alabama.— Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Woods, 88 Ala. 630, 7 So. 108, 16 Am. St. Rep. 81, 7 L. R. A. 605.

Georgia.— Hazlehurst v. Savannah, etc., R. Co., 43 Ga. 13; Central R. Co. v. Collins, 40 Ga. 582.

Illinois.— People v. Chicago Gas Trust Co., 130 Ill. 268, 22 N. E. 798, 17 Am. St. Rep. 319, 8 L. R. A. 497.

Louisiana.— State v. Newman, 51 La. Ann. 833, 25 So. 408, 72 Am. St. Rep. 476.

New York.— Milbank v. New York, etc., R. Co., 64 How. Pr. 20, although such purchasing corporation has been permitted to vote with respect to the shares at such meetings in previous years.

United States.— Clarke v. Georgia Cent. R., etc., Co., 50 Fed. 338, 15 L. R. A. 683.

36. People v. Chicago Gas Trust Co., 130 Ill. 268, 22 N. E. 798, 17 Am. St. Rep. 319, 8 L. R. A. 497 [reversing 9 R. & Corp. L. J. 536]. That a scheme whereby one railroad company, in the face of a provision in the constitution of the state against monopolies, gets control of the shares of stock of another such company with the view of preventing the construction of its line, is illegal and void, and constitutes all concerned in promoting the scheme, trustees as to the assets which come into their hands, in consequence of which, for the benefit of the persons whose rights have thus been invaded, see Langdon v. Branch, 37 Fed. 449, 2 L. R. A. 120.

37. Durkee v. People, 155 Ill. 354, 40 N. E. 626, 46 Am. St. Rep. 340 [affirming 53 Ill. App. 396], holding that the bondholders are chargeable with notice of such restrictions or valid by-law making a different rule. It has even been held that a corporation has no power to establish a by-law disfranchising delinquent shareholders.[38]

13. Right of Cumulative Voting. Under various constitutional provisions and statutes[39] designed for the protection of minority shareholders any shareholder may at his pleasure vote for an entire "ticket" so to speak, that is, for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or he may cast for one particular director as many times the number of votes as there are directors to be elected. To illustrate: Suppose that there are five directors to be elected, and a particular shareholder is entitled to vote in respect to one fifth of the shares. He may cast one vote for five persons named on his ballot, or he may cast five votes for one person, and so in that proportion. In this way one who receives a majority of the cumulated votes is elected, although he does not receive the votes of the holders of a majority of the shares.[40] This right of cumulative voting does not exist at common law; it must have been conferred, if at all, by an operative constitutional or statutory provision.[41] Such constitutional or statutory provisions are not retroactive; they do not operate upon corporations in existence at the time of their adoption;[42] and if retroactive, they would be void as impairing the obligation of the contract embodied in the charter of the corporation, under a well-known principle of constitutional law.[43] Nor could such a constitutional or statutory provision be upheld so as to operate retroactively on the ground of its being a police regulation;[44] nor can the directors accept such a constitutional provision so as to bind the shareholders, for the directors are merely the business managers of the corporation, and have no power to work or to assent to constituent changes therein.[45] An election held for seven directors of a private corporation created under the Pennsylvania general corporation act of 1873, at which the cumulative system of voting was employed, where five directors only received and consequently of the invalidity of such a provision.

38. Kinnan v. Sullivan County Club, 26 N. Y. App. Div. 213, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 95, holding that an agreement by a shareholder to hold his stock pursuant to the by-laws of the corporation as to dues and transfers does not authorize the subsequent passage of a by-law which takes away from him the right to transfer his stock or vote on the same until payment in full of all dues thereon. If the articles of incorporation provide that the capital stock shall be paid up, and that every shareholder shall be entitled to one vote for every share of stock so held, issued to him under an agreement that he shall pay a designated amount to be used in making improvements, he will be entitled to vote with respect to as many shares as he has paid for, although he has not paid for all of them. Price v. Holcomb, 89 Iowa 123, 56 N. W. 407. But under a section of the National Currency Act (U. S. Rev Stat. § 5144), the language of which is that "no shareholder whose liability is past due and unpaid, shall be allowed to vote," a shareholder who is in default to the corporation in respect of his share subscription is not entitled to vote at a corporate election. The disability being in the nature of a penalty has been restricted to that species of default, and has been held not to extend to a default in respect of any other indebtedness due the corporation. U. S. v. Barry, 36 Fed. 246.

39. Some of these constitutional provisions are set out in 1 Thompson Corp. § 754, and some of the statutory provisions in 1 Thompson Corp. § 755.

40. Schwartz v. State, 19 Ohio Cir. Ct. 350, 10 Ohio Cir. Dec. 413 [affirmed in 61 Ohio St. 497, 56 N. E. 201].

41. State v. Stockley, 45 Ohio St. 304, 13 N. E. 279.

42. State v. Greer, 78 Mo. 188 [reversing 9 Mo. App. 219]; Com. v. Butterworth, 160 Pa. St. 55, 28 Atl. 507; Baker's Appeal, 109 Pa. St. 461; Hays v. Com., 82 Pa. St. 518; Dick v. Lehigh Valley R. Co., 4 Pa. Dist. 56. Nor does the acceptance by a railroad corporation of a statute allowing it to extend its line, to purchase or lease other roads, and to issue stock or bonds to meet the cost of such purchase, operate to render it subject to a statute providing for cumulative voting at shareholders' meetings. Smith v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 64 Fed. 272.

43. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 4 L. ed. 629. See also State v. Greer, 78 Mo. 188 [reversing 9 Mo. App. 219]; Scotland County v. Missouri, etc., R. Co., 65 Mo. 123; Sloan v. Pacific R. Co., 61 Mo. 24, 21 Am. Rep. 397. Compare Hays v. Com., 82 Pa. St. 518, cited by both of the Missouri courts. But see Atty.-Gen. v. Looker, 111 Mich. 498, 69 N. W. 929, 56 L. R. A. 947.

44. State v. Greer, 78 Mo. 188 [reversing 9 Mo. App. 219, and citing Sloan v. Pacific R. Co., 61 Mo. 24, 21 Am. Rep. 397]; Thorpe v. Rutland, etc., R. Co., 27 Vt. 140, 62 Am. Dec. 625.

45. Baker's Appeal, 109 Pa. St. 461.

the necessary pluralities, was valid as to the five so elected, and they had full power to act as a board, even though the two remaining directors were not chosen.[46] Nor can the constitutional and statutory right of a shareholder to vote on the cumulative plan be taken away from him by a resolution or by-law adopted by the other shareholders.[47]

14. Right to Vote by Proxy. At common law there is no right to vote by proxy at a corporate election, but every vote must be personally given.[48] This rule applies in the case of private corporations and even in those having a joint stock.[49] Some courts which follow the analogy of the common law hold that a by-law creating the right to vote by proxy is void,[50] but other courts, conforming to general usage and to practical convenience, take the view that such a by-law is valid.[51] A view has been taken which restrains the right to vote by proxy to mere routine matters, and which denies it in case of a vote for a fundamental change in the corporation or a surrender of its charter.[52] Numerous statutes have been enacted conferring the right to vote by proxy.[53] If the governing statute requires stock to be voted in the name standing on the transfer-book, either in person or by proxy, a proxy from such person must be produced, although he is the cashier of the corporation, and a proxy from his predecessor in office will not be sufficient.[54] A proxy may be revoked, even though given for a valuable consideration, where it is about to be used for a fraudulent purpose;[55] and an injunction will lie to restrain the voting by proxy, in fraud and in violation of the charter of the corporation.[56] The sale by a shareholder of his shares in a 46. Wright v. Com., 109 Pa. St. 560, 1 Atl. 794.

47. Tomlin v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 52 Mo. App. 430, holding that the silence of a shareholder at the time of a unanimous vote of all who vote upon a resolution which attempts to prevent the exercise by him of his constitutional and statutory right to vote on the cumulative plan will not affect his right so to vote.

A certain normal school in Pennsylvania, held to be within the provision of the constitution of Pennsylvania for cumulative voting for directors or managers by members or shareholders. Com. v. Yetter, 190 Pa. St. 488, 43 Atl. 226.

48. Angell & A. Corp. § 128; 1 Bl. Comm. 168.

49. Perry v. Tuskaloosa Cotton Seed Oil Mill Co., 93 Ala. 364, 9 So. 217; Philips v. Wickham, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 590.

50. Taylor v. Griswold, 14 N. J. L. 222, 27 Am. Dec. 33; People v. Twaddell, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 427; Brown v. Com., 3 Grant (Pa.) 209.

51. State v. Tudor, 5 Day (Conn.) 329, 5 Am. Dec. 162; People v. Crossley, 69 Ill. 195; Com. v. Detwiller, 131 Pa. St. 614, 18 Atl. 990, 25 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 329, 7 L. R. A. 357.

Charter provision under which a by-law permitting voting by proxy was valid. Wilson v. American Academy of Music, 2 Pa. Co. Ct. 280.

How view supported.— This view is that a general power conferred upon a corporation to enact by-laws includes the power to establish a rule permitting shareholders to vote by proxy. Archer v. Murphy, 26 Wash. L. Rep. 98. Moreover a long-continued and unvaried usage of a corporation to permit voting by proxy establishes the legality of that method of voting, as much as an express by-law. Archer v. Murphy, 26 Wash. L. Rep. 98; Miller v. Eschbach, 43 Md. 1; Holly Springs Bank v. Pinson, 58 Miss. 421, 38 Am. Rep. 330.

52. Smith v. Smith, 3 Desauss. (S. C.) 557.

53. Many of these are collected in 1 Thompson Corp. § 738.

Under California statutes (Cal. Civ. Code, § 303) shareholders may vote by proxy on the question of issuing bonds of the corporation. Market St. R. Co. v. Hellman, 109 Cal. 571, 42 Pac. 225.

54. In re Mohawk, etc., R. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 135.

55. Reed v. Newburgh Bank, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 337.

56. Campbell v. Poultney, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 94, 26 Am. Dec. 559.

Grounds for injunction.— If on grounds of public policy the shareholder granting the proxy would be enjoined from voting his proxy would also be enjoined. Clarke v. Georgia Cent. R., etc., Co., 50 Fed. 338, 15 L. R. A. 683. While as a general rule the motives or grounds under which a shareholder sees fit to exercise his right of voting cannot be made a subject of judicial inquiry (see supra, IV, F, 3, d), yet where a proxy has been granted, irrevocable for five years, to vote at all shareholders' meetings upon the shares of certain members, in consideration of an agreement to continue one of them as manager at a salary, those who have given the proxy will be entitled to relief by injunction against voting in respect of it, notwithstanding their position in pari delicto. Cone v. Russell, 48 N. J. Eq. 208, 21 Atl. 847.

corporation will ipso facto revoke any proxies made or given to vote in respect of such shares.[57] Shareholders in a building and loan association may legally be

English decisions on this subject have little value in this country, since they turn upon provisions in articles of association under which the voting is by a show of hands, unless a poll is demanded (Reg. v. Government Stock Invest. Co., 3 Q. B. D. 442, 47 L. J. Q. B. 478, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 230), in which latter case the vote is sometimes to be counted according to the number of persons holding proxies and not according to the number of shares held (In re Bidwell, [1893] 1 Ch. 603. Compare In re Horbury Bridge Coal, etc., Co., 11 Ch. D. 109, 48 L. J. Ch. 341, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 353, 27 Wkly. Rep. 433; Re Caloric Engine, etc., Fog Signals Co., 52 L. T. Rep. N. S. 846, 62 L. J. Ch. 549). Proxies allowed by the articles of association of a corporation cannot be used at a general meeting on a vote by show of hands, but only the votes of members present in person at the meeting can be counted. Ernest v. Loma Gold Mines, [1897] 1 Ch. 1, 66 L. J. Ch. 17, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 317, 45 Wkly. Rep. 86 [affirming [1896] 2 Ch. 572, 65 L. J. Ch. 850, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 221].

Election set aside because date of election left blank in proxy. Re Townshend, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 905.

What agreements vesting voting power in committee to settle differences, etc., not against public policy. State v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 6 Ohio Cir. Ct. 412.

Invalidity of a revocable proxy under N. Y. Laws (1892), c. 564, against shareholders selling their votes. Matter of Germicide Co., 65 Hun (N. Y.) 606, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 495, 48 N. Y. St. 294.

Validity, under New York statutes, of a change of the by-laws of a mutual fire-insurance company so as to permit members to vote by proxy. Grobe v. Erie County Mut. Ins. Co., 39 N. Y. App. Div. 183, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 290 [affirming 24 Misc. (N. Y.) 462, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 628].

57. Ryan v. Seaboard, etc., R. Co., 89 Fed. 397.

Revocability of proxy.— Under statutes of New York providing that every proxy shall be revocable at the pleasure of the person executing it, an irrevocable proxy cannot be given, although coupled with an interest. Matter of Germicide Co., 65 Hun (N. Y.) 606, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 495, 48 N. Y. St. 294. A proxy irrevocable for ten years is not within the provision of this statute that every proxy shall be revocable at the pleasure of the person executing it. Such a proxy is not revocable at the pleasure of the other joint owner. Hey v. Dolphin, 92 Hun (N. Y.) 230, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 627, 71 N. Y. St. 794.

Validity of proxy.— Proxies authorizing a vote at a meeting of shareholders and creditors of an insolvent corporation, to determine whether a scheme of reconstruction shall be adopted, are not irregular because the agent is named on the form sent to the creditors for signature. In re English, etc., Chartered Bank, [1893] 3 Ch. 385, 62 L. J. Ch. 825, 69 L. T. Rep. N. S. 268, 2 Reports 574, 42 Wkly. Rep. 4. Validity of proxies sent to the secretary with day and hour of the meeting left in blank to be filled up by him. Ernest v. Loma Gold Mines, [1897] 1 Ch. 1, 66 L. J. Ch. 17, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 317, 45 Wkly. Rep. 86 [affirming [1896] 2 Ch. 572, 65 L. J. Ch. 850, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 221].

Power of judge to order proxy to be sent to the receiver in Australia, of a corporation in process of winding-up. In re English Chartered Bank, [1893] 3 Ch. 385, 62 L. J. Ch. 825, 69 L. T. Rep. N. S. 268, 2 Reports 574, 42 Wkly. Rep. 4.

Power conferrable by proxy.— That a shareholder, having the power to bind himself by his verbal agreement to repay a portion of an advance made by a reorganization committee to the company, may confer the same power upon his proxy see Grant v. Pearce, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 204.

If a state of the Union is a holder of shares in a corporation, and by the charter of such corporation is entitled to vote by proxy and to name a certain number of its directors, the state has the right to change such proxies and to change the state directors as against the objection of the other shareholders. Tucker v. Russell, 82 Fed. 263.

A by-law providing that no proxy should be voted by any one who is not a shareholder of the corporation is invalid under Cal. Civ. Code, § 312, providing generally that shareholders may be represented by proxies. People's Home Sav. Bank v. San Francisco Super Ct., 104 Cal. 649, 38 Pac. 452, 43 Am. St. Rep. 147, 29 L. R. A. 844.

Proxies have the right to vote on motions to take a ballot or adjourn. Forsyth v. Brown, 2 Pa. Dist. 763, 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 576, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 72.

The agreement of a number of persons to unite and purchase a block of shares, and that they will vote it as a unit for five years, in accordance with the decision of a majority of them, to be determined by ballot, operates to create a proxy so to vote such shares. Smith v. San Francisco, etc., R. Co., 115 Cal. 584, 47 Pac. 582, 35 L. R. A. 309.

Right of pledger of stock.— It has been decided that a pledger of stock, which stands on the books of the corporation in the name of the pledgee, may by a suit in equity compel a transfer to him, or oblige the pledgee to give him a proxy to vote. Hoppin v. Buffum, 9 R. I. 513, 11 Am. Rep. 291; Vowell v. Thompson, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,023, 3 Cranch C. C. 428. It has been held that a mortgagor of stock is, until foreclosure and sale, entitled to vote as a shareholder, and accordingly a decree has been passed requiring the mortgagee to give to the mortgagor a power of attorney to vote in respect of the represented by proxy at a meeting at which it is resolved to increase the assets of such association.[58] A proxy cannot bind his principal by waiving objections to a meeting not lawfully called and not attended by all the shareholders.[59] A proxy given to vote the shares of the principal at a shareholders' meeting does not authorize the holder of the proxy to assent to a resolution of the shareholders canceling bonds held by the shareholder who gave the proxy.[60] It is competent for a testator, appointing three executors of his will, to vest in one of them the power of controlling the vote of shares of stock belonging to the estate, and to require the other executors to give proxies for such voting to the one so empowered; and this does not vest in the others any discretion as to the manner in which the stock shall be voted, or entitle them to refuse the proxies on that ground.[61]

15. By-Laws Regulating Corporate Elections. Corporations having the general power, by implication of the law or by express grants, to make by-laws may make such by-laws, within the limits of the constitution of the state, the charter, the governing statute, and the common law, regulating corporate elections. Accordingly it has been well held that a corporation empowered by charter "to make rules, by-laws and ordinances, and to do everything needful for the good government and support of the congregation," may make a by-law giving the president thereof the power of appointing inspectors of the election of corporate officers.[62] But the power of voting conferred by the constitutional or statutory law, or by the charter of the corporation, cannot be limited or restrained by the by-laws;[63] nor can such right be limited by a mere resolution passed by the members at the meeting.[64]

16. Right of Non-Residents and Aliens to Vote. No principle of the common law exists which prevents alien friends from becoming shareholders in domestic corporations or of exercising the same right of voting in respect of their shares which is possessed by domestic shareholders.[65] Foreign executors may be shareholders, and on producing an exemplified copy of their letters testamentary they will be admitted by the rule of comity to vote in respect of the shares of their testator.[66] An alien domiciled and holding property in Pennsylvania can vote as a shareholder and serve as a director in corporations created by the laws of that stock until the foreclosure of the mortgage. Vowell v. Thompson, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,023, 3 Cranch C. C. 428.

58. Broadwell v. Inter-Ocean Homestead, etc., Assoc., 161 Ill. 327, 43 N. E. 1067. See also Building and Loan Societies, 6 Cyc. 125, note 43.

59. Matthews v. Columbia Nat. Bank, 79 Fed. 558.

60. Moore v. Ensley, 112 Ala. 228, 20 So. 744.

61. Lafferty's Estate, 154 Pa. St. 430, 26 Atl. 388 [affirming by a divided court 2 Pa. Dist. 215].

62. Com. v. Woelper, 3 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 29, 8 Am. Dec. 628.

Fixing form of ticket.— It may lawfully make a by-law providing that no ticket shall be counted "if, besides the names, there are other things upon the tickets," where the charter directs that the elections shall be by ballot; hence tickets upon which an eagle was engraved were held to be not legally voted. Com. v. Woelper, 3 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 29, 8 Am. Dec. 628.

63. Archer v. Murphy, 26 Wash. L. Rep. 98.

64. In re Lighthall Mfg. Co., 47 Hun (N. Y.) 258. When therefore the charter provided that life members should be entitled "to vote at all elections for officers thereof by proxy," it was held that a resolution that no proxy should be voted on at any meeting of the society, unless showing within itself that it was specifically intended to be used for such meeting, was repugnant to the charter and void, as an attempt to limit the power given by the member to his proxy. White v. New York State Agricultural Soc., 45 Hun (N. Y.) 580, 10 N. Y. St. 594. A regulation of a corporation that shareholders shall have one vote for each share held by them up to ten shares, and fixing the proportion which their votes shall bear to their shares above that number, is a reasonable regulation, uniform in its operation, conflicts with no law, and is binding on all the shareholders. Com. v. Detwiller, 131 Pa. St. 614, 18 Atl. 990, 25 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 329, 7 L. R. A. 357.

65. Detwiller v. Com., 131 Pa. St. 614, 18 Atl. 990, 25 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 329, 7 L. R. A. 357. See also supra, I, F, 1.

66. In re Cape May, etc., Nav. Co., 51 N. J. L. 78, 16 Atl. 191.

state.[67] But an alien shareholder cannot vote by proxy where, by the terms of the act of incorporation, the right so to vote is given to citizen shareholders.[68]

17. VALIDITY OF AGREEMENTS RESPECTING MANNER IN WHICH STOCK SHALL BE VOTED. The right of the holder of the legal title of corporate shares to vote in respect of them at corporate elections may be restrained by agreements which he may make with third parties.[69] For example he may at common law[70] make an agreement of present sale, under which his shares are delivered to the third person, to be held in escrow, with the contingent right to resume the title on the failure of the purchaser to comply with the terms of the sale, and with the express stipulation that the right to vote shall be in the purchaser in the interim, so as to disable himself from voting until that time.[71] Moreover owners of the majority of the stock in a corporation may lawfully agree to be bound by the will of a majority of themselves in voting the stock.[72] An agreement to retain the power of voting shares of stock for five years, so as to keep the control of the corporation from passing to other persons, made by persons who unite in purchasing a block of stock, is not illegal as in restraint of trade; nor can one of the shareholders who has united in such an agreement withdraw from it at his pleasure, until the lapse of the time agreed upon.[73]

18. SEVERING VOTING POWER OF SHARES FROM THEIR BENEFICIAL OWNERSHIP. Whether the voting power of corporate shares can be severed from the beneficial ownership of the shares by private agreement is a question which does not seem to be uniformly settled. Such an arrangement is in substance and effect the creation of an irrevocable proxy to vote the shares — irrevocable for the time stated in the instrument creating the proxy. One court saw nothing illegal, or in restraint of trade, or against public policy, in such an arrangement, where the period fixed for its continuance was five years.[74] Another court, dealing with the question with reference to a corporation whose charter provided that its shares might be voted by proxy, held that a shareholder might sever the voting power attaching to his shares, from himself and the shares, and vest it irrevocably in a trust company and in holders of the debentures of the corporation, until such debentures should be paid; and that such a contract was not against public policy.[75] Such arrangements are prohibited by statute in New York, the provision of the statute being that no member of a corporation shall sell his vote or issue a proxy to vote to any person for any sum of money or thing of value.[76] This statute extends to transfers which are designed to confer upon the transferee the power to vote with respect to the shares for a certain period, although in point of form the transfer is absolute on its face; and any other shareholder may attack the right of the transferee to vote in respect of the shares.[77] The monopolistic trusts which were created in the early development of the so-called corporate trusts took this form. It seems that the legality of such arrangements will be determined by the design of those entering into them and the purposes they were intended to subserve. They are not necessarily illegal. Shareholders may place their shares in the hands of a depositary, with directions to vote it as directed by a committee appointed by themselves and subject to their control, since this is merely a convenient mode of voting by proxy.[78]

67. Com. v. Detwiller, 131 Pa. St. 614, 18 Atl. 990, 25 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 329, 7 L. R. A. 357.

68. In re Barker, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 509.

69. Com. v. Patterson, 158 Pa. St. 476, 27 Atl. 999, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 45.

70. And also under a statute of Pennsylvania. Pa. Act. May 7, 1889.

71. Com. v. Patterson, 158 Pa. St. 476, 27 Atl. 999, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 45.

72. Smith v. San Francisco, etc., R. Co., 115 Cal. 584, 47 Pac. 582, 56 Am. St. Rep. 119, 35 L. R. A. 309. See also Havemeyer v. Havemeyer, 43 N. Y. Super. Ct. 506.

73. Smith v. San Francisco, etc., R. Co., 115 Cal. 584, 47 Pac. 582, 56 Am. St. Rep. 119, 35 L. R. A. 309.

74. Smith v. San Francisco, etc., R. Co., 115 Cal. 584, 47 Pac. 582, 56 Am. St. Rep. 119, 35 L. R. A. 309.

75. Mobile, etc., R. Co. v. Nicholas, 98 Ala. 92, 12 So. 723.

76. See supra, IV, F, 14.

77. Matter of Glen Salt Co., 17 N. Y. App. Div. 234, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 568 [affirmed in 153 N. Y. 688, 48 N. E. 1104].

78. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. State, 49 Ohio St. 668, 32 N. E. 933.

But where the view obtains that the voting power of shares cannot be separated from their beneficial ownership, then the conclusion will follow that the holders of trust certificates issued upon the deposit of stock in a corporation with a trustee, in pursuance of an agreement by the owner that the trustee shall vote upon it as directed by persons named, are entitled to control the vote of the trustee.[79] Nor can such an agreement be fastened upon or affect merely potential shares which were not issued at the time, but which were afterward issued directly to persons who were not parties to the contract; and this whether or not such parties had notice of the contract; and the takers of such new stock are entitled to have the other shares of the company stand upon an equal footing with their own shares, and to have the affairs of the company managed by a board of directors elected by a majority of the shareholders.[80] A contractual arrangement for the creation of a "voting trust" to control several corporations for the purpose of drawing them into a combination, being illegal under principles hereafter considered,[81] any shareholder can withdraw from such an arrangement; and this it seems without destroying the valid provisions of such contract if any there be.[82] A combination by which (omitting details and particulars) the shareholders of a number of corporations engaged in the same industry transfer all their shares to a central board of trustees, who themselves are not incorporated, with power to vote their shares at the meetings of their respective corporations, and in that way to fill at their pleasure and control the official boards of each corporation, and through them to control the business of each corporation, upon a scheme by which the output of the aggregate corporations is regulated, combinations of labor resisted, prices of the manufactured product advanced, and competition successfully destroyed, has been held unlawful, as being an attempt on the part of the corporations to combine into a partnership without legislative authority.[83] So an arrangement by which all the shareholders of several corporations place their shares in the hands of the same trustees and invest them with the power of voting in respect of the shares, at elections of their respective corporations, as the interests of such trustees may dictate, irrespective of the interests of the owners of the shares, is void as against the policy of statutes governing the formation and management of corporations, and is inconsistent with the purposes for which corporate bodies are created.[84] Where certain persons holding shares in a corporation as executors and trustees enter into a contract with other shareholders, in pursuance of which the former execute a proxy irrevocable for five years to the latter, to vote at all shareholders' meetings, in respect of the shares, upon consid-

79. White v. Thomas Inflatable Tire Co., 52 N. J. Eq. 178, 28 Atl. 75, from which it seems that such an agreement does not operate to restrain one who has entered into it from transferring his shares. Nor does it affect the voting power of the shares in the hands of the transferee. Thus it was held that an agreement between the original parties to the organization of a corporation to exploit patents, giving the promoters who advanced the cash to the enterprise the control and management thereof, although they own but a minority of the stock, giving the patentee a majority of the profits, depositing the stock issued with a trustee, and issuing trust certificates corresponding with the stock deposited, the trustee to vote the stock as directed by such promoters, is not invalid so long as each party retains his original interest and no other rights intervene; but upon the transfer of any of such stock or trust certificates such agreement is invalid as to the transferees, since an indispensable incident of such certificates is that the trustee shall vote as the beneficial owner shall direct.

80. White v. Thomas Inflatable Tire Co., 52 N. J. Eq. 178, 28 Atl. 75.

81. See infra, VII, D, 11, b, (II).

82. State v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 6 Ohio Cir. Ct. 412 [affirmed in 49 Ohio St. 668, 32 N. E. 933].

83. People v. North River Sugar Refining Co., 121 N. Y. 582, 24 N. E. 834, 31 N. Y. St. 781, 25 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 18 Am. St. Rep. 843, 9 L. R. A. 33 [affirming 54 Hun (N. Y.) 354, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 406, 27 N. Y. St. 282, 5 L. R. A. 386 (affirming 3 N. Y. Suppl. 401, 19 N. Y. St. 853, 22 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 164, 2 L. R. A. 33)]. To the same effect see Mallory v. Hanaur Oil Works, 86 Tenn. 598, 8 S. W. 396.

84. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. State, 49 Ohio St. 668, 32 N. E. 933. See also State v. Standard Oil Co., 49 Ohio St. 137, 30 N. E. 279, 34 Am. St. Rep. 541, 15 L. R. A. 145; Gould v. Head, 38 Fed. 886.

eration of an agreement to employ one of the former continuously as manager of the corporation at a stated salary, the former may have relief against the voting of such shares by the latter, by an injunction, although they were in pari delicto; because the agreement is void as against public policy, and also as a breach of their trust as executors and trustees; and it is their duty to recede from it at any time, and where they merely seek to rescind and undo their wrongful act the court will aid them.[85] So where the object of such a proxy is to vest all the shares of a number of competing corporations in the hands of a central board of control, with the view of stifling competition and enhancing the prices of the produce of such corporations, there is an added reason for holding the granting of such voting proxies to be void as against public policy.[86]

19. INVALIDITY OF STIPULATION THAT SHAREHOLDER MAY SELL SHARES BUT CANNOT SELL RIGHT TO VOTE. A stipulation that, although the signers of the agreement may sell their shares, yet they cannot sell the right to vote in respect of them, but that the transferee will only retain the transferrer's right, namely, the right to own, but not the right to vote, is in restraint of the alienation of property, and is void under the principles of the common law.[87]

20. STATUTORY PROVISIONS AS TO WHO ENTITLED TO VOTE. It must be constantly kept in mind that the right to vote at corporate elections has been very generally the subject of statutory regulation, and that advice cannot be safely given upon such a question without carefully searching the governing statute or statutes of the particular corporation.[88]

G. Conduct of the Election[89] — 1. APPOINTMENT OF INSPECTORS. Many statutes have been enacted regulating the conduct of corporate elections and providing for the appointment of inspectors of such elections.[90] Other statutes remit the whole subject of corporate elections to by-laws;[91] and there can can be no doubt, in the absence of statutes, of the power of the corporation to govern the subject by by-laws passed within lawful limits, which by-laws may govern and regulate the appointment of inspectors and prescribe their duties.[92] Where a statute fixes the number of inspectors at three, it has been held that two may act, whether of the class originally appointed or of substitutes legally appointed.[93] It seems that where the power to appoint inspectors has been vested in certain officers, and an emergency arises preventing them from making the appointment, it is competent for the corporators themselves to exercise the power.[94] But the president of the corporation has no power to assume the 85. Cone v. Russell, 48 N. J. Eq. 208, 21 Atl. 847.

86. State v. Standard Oil Co., 49 Ohio St. 137, 30 N. E. 279, 34 Am. St. Rep. 541, 15 L. R. A. 145. This doctrine was applied by Robinson, J., of the superior court of Connecticut, in a case where a syndicate had purchased a majority of the capital stock of a railroad company, which was placed in a "voting trust," to continue for five years or until a consolidation was effected with some other railroad company, when it should be dissolved by agreement. In re Shepaug Voting Trust Cases, 60 Conn. 553, 24 Atl. 32, where it was also held that such a voting power could only be given for one year under the terms of Conn. Gen. Stat. § 1927.

87. Moses v. Scott, 84 Ala. 608, 4 So. 742.

88. Many of these statutes will be found collected in 1 Thompson Corp. § 742.

89. Selection of chairman.— It has been held that a shareholder has no right to put his own motion for the election of a particular shareholder as chairman of the meeting, where the shareholder legally entitled to put nominations before the meeting, because the possession of the floor was conceded to him prior to a recess, refuses to do so; but he should appeal to the house from such refusal; and that a shareholder who puts in nomination a person for chairman at a shareholders' meeting before the proper time for the meeting arrives, and who requires as a condition of postponement that he shall still retain the floor, has the right to make, receive, and put nominations before the meeting when the hour for opening it arrives, no one objecting. Procter Coal Co. v. Finley, 98 Ky. 405, 33 S. W. 138, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 950.

90. Some of these statutes are set out in 1 Thompson Corp. §§ 746, 758.

91. See 1 Thompson Corp. § 722.

92. That an election which pursues neither the charter nor the by-law is void see Barber v. Boulton, 1 Str. 314.

93. Matter of Excelsior F. Ins. Co., 16 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 8.

94. Matter of Wheeler, 2 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 361.

office of inspector, and to pass upon the right of a member to vote in respect of a proxy, unless the charter or by-law gives him such power, although the member by acquiescing may estop himself from claiming that he was thereby deprived of the right to vote.[95] The fact that a shareholder is a candidate for the office of director has been held not to disqualify him from acting as an inspector at an election.[96]

2. Duty of Inspectors — a. Ministerial Merely. Except where statutes have enlarged their powers,[97] it seems that the duties of the inspectors are merely ministerial, and that in case the right of a member to vote is challenged, they must determine the right by what appears on the transfer-books of the company, and cannot look beyond them[98] or require the corporator to prove his right to vote by his oath, as in the case of a public election, when such right is challenged.[99] Certainly, after the ballots have been received by them, without challenge or exception, whatever right they might previously have had to inquire into the right of the voter ceases, and their only remaining duty is to count the ballots and return the number of votes received and the names of those having the highest number.[1] They have no right to inquire into and pass upon the eligibility of candidates, but that question can be raised only in the judicial courts.[2]

b. Cannot Pass Upon Validity of Proxies. Except where they have been clothed with the power to do so by statute or by a valid by-law, it seems that the inspectors of elections have no power to try and determine the genuineness of the proxies offered by the members present; but if a proxy is apparently the act of a shareholder, and regular on its face, they must admit the holder of it to the right to vote in respect of it.[3] They cannot reject a written proxy, regular in form, because the date is omitted in the power of attorney, which fact excites their suspicion;[4] or on the ground that the proxy is not acknowledged or proved by a subscribing witness.[5]

95. State v. Chute, 34 Minn. 135, 24 N. W. 353.

96. Ex p. Willcocks, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 402, 17 Am. Dec. 525.

Elections held void.— Where the inspectors who acted at a corporate election were selected at a meeting at which only the president of the corporation and a director were present, who appointed themselves and another director such inspectors, and the full board was composed of nine directors, it was held that the election was void. Ex p. Willcocks, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 402, 17 Am. Dec. 525. For an instance of an election in a church corporation which was held void because the inspectors were illegally appointed see People v. Peck, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 604, 27 Am. Dec. 104.

That a failure to file the oath of the inspectors in the office of the clerk of the county, as required by statute, will not invalidate the election see Union Nat. Bank v. Scott, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 65, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 145.

97. Such as Pa. Pub. Laws (1899), No. 108, p. 102, which clothes the inspectors with power summarily to try the person tendering the vote, to see whether he is the valid owner of the shares with respect of which he offers to vote, when his right to vote thereon is challenged.

98. People v. Kip, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 382 note.

99. People v. Kip, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 382 note; People v. Tibbets, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 358.

1. Hartt v. Harvey, 32 Barb. (N. Y.) 55, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 321, 19 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 245; People v. White, 11 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 168.

2. In re St. Lawrence Steamboat Co., 44 N. J. L. 529.

That the tellers cannot reject votes made with respect to certain stock deposited by the holder of the share certificates, although he is under an injunction restraining him in general language from exercising any acts of ownership over such shares, it not being the intent of the injunction to affect his right to vote with respect of them at corporate elections, see Com. v. Stevens, 168 Pa. St. 582, 32 Atl. 111.

3. Matter of Cecil, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 477.

4. In re St. Lawrence Steamboat Co., 44 N. J. L. 529.

5. Matter of Cecil, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 477.

What does not entitle holder to complain. — It has been held that the mere announcement by the president that a proxy which has been presented cannot be voted upon does not entitle the holder to complain, if he acquiesces and refrains from offering to vote upon it when the vote is taken; for the action of the president, being unauthorized

3. EFFECT OF FRAUD AND IRREGULARITIES IN CONDUCT OF ELECTIONS. A court possessing, whether by statute or otherwise, the power of superintending corporate elections will set such an election aside or grant other appropriate relief, according to the statute or to the principles of equity, where the successful party has succeeded by means of fraud, trickery, surprise, or other unfair practices.[6] So relief will be granted in case of irregularities in matter of substance so gross as to justify a court in declaring that there has been no election at all.[7] Irregularities in mere matter of form will not vitiate a corporate election fairly held in matter of substance.[8]

4. VOTING. The following holdings have been made by respectable courts of subordinate jurisdiction: That votes cannot be added to the ballot for directors of a corporation after it has been counted and announced; that if seven directors are to be elected, a vote at which four receive a majority of all the votes cast, elects such four, and that a second ballot should be held to fill the three vacant places;[9] and that a ballot cast at an election for secretary cannot be counted for either of two candidates, one of whose names is written and the other printed thereon, neither of which is crossed out, where the president on the day of election directed the name of the former, who was nominated on that day, to be written on all the ballots.[10] A shareholder may change his vote at any time before the polls have been closed, at least where sufficient time is left to allow any other shareholder thereafter to change his vote if he desires to do so.[11]

5. COUNTING VOTE — a. In General. The act of counting the vote is purely ministerial. The inspectors are ordinarily clothed with no power analogous to that of a court of justice in hearing a case of a contested election. In making their count the inspectors cannot reject votes which have been received unless they are illegal on their face, on the ground of the disqualification of the voter, because that is a question on which he is entitled to be heard.[12] They cannot inquire into his intentions except so far as it can be discovered in the ballot which he has deposited in the box. It is not admissible for him to prove that he intended to vote for one man when he actually cast his ballot for another man.[13] If two and nugatory, his vote has not been in fact excluded. State v. Chute, 34 Minn. 135, 24 N. W. 353.

6. People v. Albany, etc., R. Co., 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 344, 7 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 265, 38 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228, where the time of convening the meeting was twelve M., the meeting was called to order fifteen minutes before twelve M., and the election was set aside as a surprise and fraud upon the non-participating shareholders, although the meeting was reorganized at twelve.

7. As where, at a meeting of all the shareholders, only a portion of them participated in the election of trustees; where the president, although present, did not preside; where no president pro tempore was chosen; and where no person who participated was authorized to receive the ballots or to declare the result. State v. Pettineli, 10 Nev. 141.

Effect of denial of right to vote.— It has been held that a denial of his right to vote will not justify one who holds a majority of the stock in withdrawing from the meeting and organizing another meeting and voting there, since his vote at the original meeting may be rendered effective by judicial aid, notwithstanding its rejection. In re Argus Printing Co., 1 N. D. 434, 48 N. W. 347, 26 Am. St. Rep. 639, 12 L. R. A. 781.

8. As where an adjournment takes place during the process of balloting (Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Dunn, 39 Me. 587), or where the inspectors keep the polls open somewhat longer than the hour named in the notice, in the exercise of a reasonable discretion, and for the purpose of enabling shareholders present and offering to vote to do so (People v. Albany, etc., R. Co., 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 344, 7 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 265, 38 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228). The extent to which irregularities of form in elections of directors are overlooked in England may be gathered from In re Great Northern Salt, etc., Works, 44 Ch. D. 472, 59 L. J. Ch. 288, 62 L. T. Rep. N. S. 231, 2 Meg. 46.

9. Forsyth v. Brown, 2 Pa. Dist. 765, 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 576, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 72.

10. People v. Pangburn, 3 N. Y. App. Div. 456, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 217, 73 N. Y. St. 711 [reversing 14 Misc. (N. Y.) 195, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 655, 70 N. Y. St. 428; and attempting to distinguish People v. Saxton, 22 N. Y. 309, 78 Am. Dec. 191; People v. Love, 63 Barb. (N. Y.) 535].

11. State v. McGann, 64 Mo. App. 225.

12. Hartt v. Harvey, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 321.

13. Loubat v. Le Roy, 15 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 1.

ballots are cast together, one for one candidate and the other for the opposing candidate, it is not permissible for the inspector to allow the person voting the double ballot to prove by his oath for which candidate he intended to vote.[14] If the number of officers to be chosen is fixed, a ballot containing the names of a greater number must be rejected as void.[15]

b. Majority of All Shares or Legal Votes Necessary to Elect. In the absence of a constitutional provision or statute otherwise providing, the general rule cannot be doubted that a joint-stock corporation is a body composed of a definite number, within the rule that a majority of that number is required to elect; and further that the number here intended is the number of shares and not the number of members.[16] Where the voting is per capita and not by shares, then the principle already stated applies[17] that a majority of the votes of those present and offering to vote and entitled to vote is necessary to elect; and hence that persons receiving a minority of the votes cast for directors cannot in a quo warranto proceeding be declared elected, although it appear that the judges improperly rejected enough legal votes offered to give them a majority.[18] The reception of illegal votes for a director who has without them a majority of the legal votes does not invalidate his election.[19]

c. Whether Votes For Ineligible Candidates Are Thrown Away. It seems that according to the old law votes cast for ineligible candidates were thrown away, the ineligibility being of course determined in a judicial proceeding.[20] But more recent authority is to the effect that votes cast for an ineligible candidate

14. People v. Seaman, 5 Den. (N. Y.) 409.

15. People v. Loomis, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 396, 24 Am. Dec. 33.

But where the voter casts his ballot for a candidate by his initials instead of by his christian name, for example, for J. R. Eastman, instead of John R. Eastman, he may, in a proceeding in the nature of a quo warranto, give evidence to the jury as to whom he intended to designate by the name as entered upon his ballot. People v. Seaman, 5 Den. (N. Y.) 409. See also People v. Ferguson, 8 Cow. (N. Y.) 102.

Votes cast in two separate polling-places. — In a judicial contest over an election for directors of a corporation, where it appeared that at the appointed time and place the shareholders assembled in two bodies and cast their ballots at separate polling-places, it was held that the court would take into consideration all the votes cast at both places for the purpose of determining who were elected. In re Cedar Grove Cemetery Co., 61 N. J. L. 422, 39 Atl. 1024.

Discretion to order new election. — In such a contest under a statute of Ohio (Ohio Rev. Stat. § 6776), where it appears that illegal votes were received or that legal ones were rejected in such numbers as to change the result, the court has a discretion to order a new election. State v. Schwartz, 19 Ohio Cir. Ct. 350, 10 Ohio Cir. Dec. 413 [affirmed in 61 Ohio St. 497, 56 N. E. 201].

16. Ellsworth Woolen Mfg. Co. v. Faunce, 79 Me. 440, 10 Atl. 250; In re Argus Printing Co., 1 N. D. 434, 48 N. W. 347, 26 Am. St. Rep. 639, 12 L. R. A. 781.

By statute in Indiana there is to be one vote for each share. 2 Ind. Rev. Stat. (1888), § 3021.

17. See supra, IV, E, 1, b.

18. State v. McDaniel, 22 Ohio St. 354.

19. In re Argus Co., 138 N. Y. 557, 34 N. E. 388, 53 N. Y. St. 270.

Directors for first year. — A statute enacting that directors shall be chosen from the shareholders "by a majority of the votes of the shareholders voting" has no application to directors for the first year, named in the certificate of incorporation according to law. Hamilton Trust Co. v. Clemes, 163 N. Y. 423, 57 N. E. 614 [affirming 17 N. Y. App. Div. 152, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 141].

A social club created under N. Y. Laws (1875), c. 237, cannot legally issue stock or confer upon the holders of it the right to vote upon it as in a joint-stock company, but each member is entitled to one vote only. Anderson v. Reid, 19 Misc. (N. Y.) 95, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 742.

In England the person to whom a proxy has been given is counted as one vote without regard to the number of shares held by the person granting the proxy. In re Bidwell, [1893] 1 Ch. 603, 62 L. J. Ch. 549.

20. Reg. v. Boscawen [cited in Oldknow v. Wainwright, 2 Burr. 1017, 1021, 1 W. Bl. 229]; Taylor v. Mayor of Bath, temp. Ld. Ch. J. Lee, B. R. and Rex v. Withers, as quoted by Wilmot, J., in Oldknow v. Wainwright, 2 Burr. 1017, 1020, 1 W. Bl. 229.

Where there was a statute providing that at least three directors of every corporation should be citizens and residents of the state (Kan. Gen. Stat. (1889), § 1190), at a corporate election two opposing factions, voting cumulatively, had succeeded in electing eleven non-resident directors, thus filling the number of the board; but the chairman of the meeting declared that as the law required three directors to be citizens and residents, will not be discarded, so as to give the election to a candidate having a minority of votes, unless it is made to appear that the electors knew of the ineligibility of the candidate so voted for.[21]

6. Certificate of Election. If the governing statute or a valid by-law requires the inspectors of the election to make out and deliver to the persons elected, or to deposit in some public office, a certificate of their election, then such certificate will be prima facie evidence of their right to hold the office; but this applies only to certificates which have no vitiating recitals on their face, and not to a certificate which recites facts which demonstrate that the persons declared elected were not in fact elected.[22] In a judicial contest over a corporate election, the rule is that it is the fact of the election which determines the right, and not the certificate which is merely prima facie evidence of the fact.[23] The certificate is not conclusive for the purpose of a judicial contest, but it is competent to go behind it and ascertain which of the contestants were in fact elected.[24]

H. Judicial Superintendence of Corporate Elections — 1. No Superintendence in Equity, but Equity Possesses Qualified Jurisdiction. As a general rule courts of equity do not undertake to superintend corporate elections, for the reason that any party entitled to complain of the result of such election is deemed to have an adequate remedy at law by an information in the nature of a quo warranto.[25] Courts of equity may and sometimes will interfere, where the circumstances are such that the remedy at law is plainly inadequate, as where it would be necessary to compel a discovery of certain records.[26] And courts of equity, proceeding on the well-recognized heads of equity jurisdiction, fraud, fraudulent conspiracy, and trust, have and sometimes exercise a jurisdiction to superintend or review such elections, even where there may be supposed to be a remedy at law. This jurisdiction has been more frequently exercised in the case of charitable and religious corporations and societies created for ideal purposes; but it also exists and has been exercised in the case of joint-stock corporations; as for instance by enjoining inspectors from holding any elections so long as plaintiffs and other owners of certain stock shall be forbidden to vote upon the same;[27] to review an election and adjudge it fraudulent and void, on the ground of insufficiency of notice and the falsity of the list of shareholders exhibited and acted upon as those three residents and citizens who had received a few scattered votes were elected, and that the eight non-residents who had received the highest number of votes were elected to complete the board and the three non-residents who had been in fact elected, but who were thus excluded by the ruling of the chairman, brought a proceeding in the nature of a quo warranto to be installed, it was held that they could not maintain the proceeding because ineligible. Horton v. Wilder, 48 Kan. 222, 29 Pac. 566.

21. In re St. Lawrence Steamboat Co., 44 N. J. L. 529.

22. Hartt v. Harvey, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 321.

23. Hartt v. Harvey, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 321; People v. Peck, 11 Wend. (N. Y.) 604, 27 Am. Dec. 104.

24. People v. Seaman, 5 Den. (N. Y.) 409; People v. Vail, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 12; People v. Ferguson, 8 Cow. (N. Y.) 102; People v. Van Slyck, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 297.

25. Ogden v. Kip, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 160; Paynter v. Clegg, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 480, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 432; Mozley v. Alston, 11 Jur. 315, 16 L. J. Ch. 217, 1 Phil. 790, 4 R. & Can. Cas. 636, 19 Eng. Ch. 790 (per Lord Lyndhurst); Atty.-Gen. v. Clarendon, 17 Ves. Jr. 491; Atty.-Gen. v. Dixie, 13 Ves. Jr. 519.

26. Hartt v. Harvey, 32 Barb. (N. Y.) 55, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 321, 19 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 245. But in New York, where the legislature has provided a summary remedy by an application to the supreme court to set aside an election of corporate directors if it be illegal (1 N. Y. Rev. Stat. 603, § 5), the later doctrine was that a court of chancery would not take jurisdiction for that purpose; nor would such a court interfere to restrain by injunction the newly elected trustees of a corporation, on the ground that they are usurping the powers of trustees, unless there was an allegation that they were insolvent and irresponsible. Mickles v. Rochester City Bank, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 118, 42 Am. Dec. 103. See further as to the jurisdiction in New York People v. Albany, etc., R. Co., 57 N. Y. 161; Staten Island North Baptist Church v. Parker, 36 Barb. (N. Y.) 171; Hartt v. Harvey, 32 Barb. (N. Y.) 55, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 321, 19 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 245.

27. People v. Albany, etc., R. Co., 55 Barb. (N. Y.) 344, 7 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 265, 38 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228.

entitled to vote;[28] to examine the question of the legality of the election of a board of trustees, where the question arises incidentally, although necessarily, as upon a bill to enjoin an unlawful consolidation;[29] or to supervise and control an election of directors, whenever it is made to appear that by means of fraud, violence, or other unlawful conduct on the part of a portion of the corporators a fair and honest election cannot be held, and to appoint a master to preside over and supervise such election.[30]

28. Johnston v. Jones, 23 N. J. Eq. 216. Compare Owen v. Whitaker, 20 N. J. Eq. 122.

29. Nathan v. Tompkins, 82 Ala. 437, 2 So. 747.

30. But it has been held that an action will not lie by a corporation to recover a judgment for an account of money collected by a person alleged to have acted illegally as a director in the corporation, where the determination of the case would involve the question of the validity of his election, the proper remedy for the determination of that question being an action in the nature of a quo warranto. Carmel Natural Gas, etc., Co. v. Small, 150 Ind. 427, 47 N. E. 11 [rehearing denied in 50 N. E. 476].

Laches.— Minority shareholders of a corporation are not guilty of such laches in commencing suit to restrain the majority shareholders from voting in favor of disposing of all the corporate property as will prevent relief, where the suit is commenced before the time fixed for voting on the question of making the transfer. Forrester v. Butte, etc., Consol. Copper, etc., Min. Co., 21 Mont. 544, 55 Pac. 229 [rehearing denied in 21 Mont. 565, 55 Pac. 353].

Circumstances under which a court will not appoint a master to preside over a corporate election see Dick v. Lehigh Valley R. Co., 4 Pa. Dist. 56.

No equity is shown in a bill by a minority of the shareholders invoking relief against an election, where the gravamen of their complaint is that the majority shareholders agreed among themselves so to vote their stock that a certain policy might be pursued (Hartley v. Welsh, 8 Pa. Dist. 546, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 78), or in a bill brought by a director to enjoin the election of other directors upon a showing as to what the directors so elected intend to do (Greenough v. Alabama Great Southern R. Co., 64 Fed. 22). Nor will an injunction be granted at the suit of one who is a shareholder in two corporations to enjoin the owner of a controlling interest in one of the corporations from voting at a shareholders' meeting therein, in favor of the proposition that such corporation shall engage in a certain business, on the ground that engaging in such business would be an illegal interference with the rights of the other corporation. Converse v. Hood, 149 Mass. 471, 21 N. E. 878, 4 L. R. A. 521.

Reviewing corporate elections under New York statutes.— A summary proceeding has long existed in New York for reviewing, upon motion in the supreme court, all elections in private corporations. N. Y. Rev. Stat. tit. 4, c. 18, § 5; N. Y. Gen. Laws, c. 35, § 27; N. Y. Gen. Corp. Law (1890), c. 563, § 27. This statute has been held not unconstitutional as involving a deprivation of the right of trial by jury. Matter of Newcomb, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 16, 42 N. Y. St. 442. Notice of such a motion to the person who claims to have been elected, and to the corporation, is sufficient. It is not necessary that all the shareholders should have notice. In re Schoharie Valley Railroad Case, 12 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 394. Nor need it be served on the president, on the directors whose election is not questioned, or on the persons whose right to vote is not denied. Ex p. Holmes, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 426. As in ordinary proceedings, counsel on both sides who appear on such motion will be deemed prima facie to be authorized to appear. But any person named as a relator may move to have his name struck from the proceedings if he did not authorize the application. Ex p. Holmes, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 426. Corporation must have notice where the application is for a new election under N. Y. Laws (1890), c. 563, § 15. People v. Simonson, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 934, 44 N. Y. St. 935, 27 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 422. When denial of order for new election no bar to a subsequent application see Matter of Townsend, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 949, 42 N. Y. St. 953. In this state an election of directors of a corporation will be set aside where the holders of sixty per cent of the stock were prevented from participating in the election, by means of a temporary injunction which was set aside after the election. Matter of Townsend, 24 Misc. (N. Y.) 80, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 289. Circumstances under which a corporation will not be restrained from reducing its capital stock and holding an election for directors until a hearing can be had on an application for its dissolution, presented by directors representing less than three hundred shares of its stock, as against shareholders representing more than two thousand six hundred shares, see Matter of Colton, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 571, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 556. Circumstances under which a subscriber to an incorporated dispensary is entitled to invoke this jurisdiction to annul the election of a trustee ineligible for the office see Matter of Northern Dispensary, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 147, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 784. No one but a person "aggrieved" is entitled to be heard under this statute. In re Mohawk, etc., R. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 135. A notice given by one as an attorney for a person named and others entitled only the person named to be heard. In re Mohawk, etc., R. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 135. A share-

2. Injunction to Restrain Fraudulent or Ultra Vires Voting. An injunction will be granted to restrain the voting in respect of stock in a corporation issued in violation of its charter;[31] but not to restrain officers of a corporation from voting upon proxies of the shareholders at an approaching meeting in another state, upon an allegation that the statutes thereof do not provide for voting by proxy.[32]

V. By-Laws, Rules, and Regulations.

A. Nature, Interpretation, and Effect — 1. What Is a By-Law — a. Term Defined. A by-law is a rule or regulation established by a corporation as one of holder is a person aggrieved within the meaning of this statute, and the fact that the trustees in question join in the application forms no objection to granting the relief. Matter of Pioneer Paper Co., 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 111. This provision of law cannot be invoked by one who was not a shareholder at the time of the election complained of, and who received his stock from one of the authors of the wrong complained of. In re Syracuse, etc., R. Co., 91 N. Y. 1. This statute is not restricted to moneyed corporations. Matter of Cecil, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 477. By a later statute (N. Y. Laws (1880), p. 381), manufacturing companies were exempted from the operation of sections 5, 6, and 8 of this chapter; and this exempting statute operated retrospectively, and prevented further prosecution of proceedings theretofore commenced under the former statute. In re New York Express Co., 23 Hun (N. Y.) 615. This exemption was, however, repealed the next year. N. Y. Laws (1881), p. 161. Where votes rejected by inspectors at an election of directors, and which if received would have elected a certain ticket, are adjudged to have been erroneously rejected, the only remedy is to proceed under this statute to set aside the election. In re Long Island R. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 37, 32 Am. Dec. 429.

Reviewing corporate elections under California statute.— Under a similar statute of California authorizing an inquiry by the district court on the application of any person or body corporate "aggrieved by an election held by any corporate body," etc. (Cal. Civ. Code, § 315), the word "election" does not include a mere appointment by the directors to fill a vacancy; and one displaced by such an appointment is not "aggrieved by any election by a corporate body," within the meaning of the statute, so as to confer upon the court jurisdiction to make the inquiry. Wickersham v. Brittan, 93 Cal. 34, 28 Pac. 792, 29 Pac. 51, 15 L. R. A. 106. Under this statute the court has jurisdiction of an action brought by shareholders to review a corporate election for directors and officers and to oust those who have been declared elected, if the election has not been conducted in conformity with the governing statute; and a complaint in such an action is not demurrable for ambiguity merely because it refers to the persons declared to be elected as "the board of directors," when it clearly appears from the whole pleading that they are not the legal board. Where such a complaint alleges that the corporation is controlled by the directors whom it alleges to have been illegally elected, it need not allege a demand on the corporation that the corporation bring the action and the refusal of the corporation so to do, since, the corporation being in the hands of the directors so elected, it would be absurd to bring a demand upon them to oust themselves. Whitehead v. Sweet, 126 Cal. 67, 58 Pac. 376. Under another section of the California code, a shareholder may maintain an action to set aside an election of directors, although at the time of the election no stock had stood in his name on the books of the corporation sufficiently long to entitle him to vote. Wright v. Central California Colony Water Co., 67 Cal. 532, 8 Pac. 70.

Reviewing elections under New Jersey statutes.— A statute of New Jersey (N. J. Rev. Stat. p. 184, § 44) makes it the duty of the supreme court, upon the application of persons complaining regarding an election, to give a hearing, and "thereupon establish the election so complained of, or to order a new election, or to make such order and give such relief in the premises as right and justice may appear to said supreme court to require." It was held that the statute applied to elections of officers of private corporations, and that the court, having determined who would have been elected if all the legal votes tendered had been received, could put such persons in office and put out intruders. In re St. Lawrence Steamboat Co., 44 N. J. L. 529.

31. Webb v. Ridgely, 38 Md. 364; Busey v. Hooper, 35 Md. 15, 6 Am. Rep. 350; Campbell v. Poultney, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 94, 26 Am. Dec. 559.

Such an injunction was allowed, where it appeared that certain shares were transferred without consideration to divers persons, and that powers of attorney were taken back by the real owners to enable them to cast a greater number of votes than the charter would allow to a single holder of the shares. The bill was not faulty for not joining the corporation by name as a party, and also the transferees of the shares, it having alleged that they were unknown. Campbell v. Poultney, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 94, 26 Am. Dec. 559.

32. Woodruff v. Dubuque, etc., R. Co., 30 Fed. 91.

the incidents of its existence, for its internal government or for the government of its officers and members in the management of its affairs as among themselves.[33]

b. Distinguished From Resolution. It is distinguished from a resolution, which is directed to the attainment of a particular object in a given case. A resolution, it has been said, is not necessarily a by-law, although a by-law may be in the form of a resolution.[34] Where the governing statute prescribes that the corporation shall act in a given particular through a by-law, it cannot act through a mere resolution of its board of directors directed against a particular person, as a resolution forfeiting the shares of a particular member for the non-payment of an assessment,[35] or directing the officers of the corporation to exclude a director of the corporation from the enjoyment of his rights.[36]

c. Distinguished From Rule or Regulation Made For Government of Its Conduct Toward Third Persons — (I) In General. Again a corporate by-law is distinguished from those rules and regulations which a corporation may establish for the government of the public, or of those doing business with it, in the prosecution of its intercourse or business with it, of which pertinent examples are afforded by the regulations of common carriers in respect of the conduct of passengers, designed on the one hand to maintain the rights of the carrier, and on the other hand to promote the safety and comfort of the passenger.[37]

(II) On Ground That Validity of By-Law Is Question of Law, While That of Regulation Is Question of Fact. A distinction has been taken between a by-law and a regulation of a corporation to the effect that the validity of the former is a judicial question, while the latter is regarded as a matter in pais.[38] Thus the regulations of a railroad company which operate upon and affect the rights of its passengers are not, it has been said, properly speaking, by-laws of the corporation; and accordingly their validity depends upon the fact of their being reasonable, and their reasonableness depends upon particular circumstances or matters in pais, and is therefore a question for a jury.[39]

2. Members of Corporation Conclusively Presumed to Have Knowledge of Its By-Laws. The members of a corporation are conclusively presumed to have knowledge of its by-laws and cannot escape a liability arising thereunder on a plea of ignorance of them.[40]

33. 1 Thompson Corp. § 935. See also Flint v. Pierce, 99 Mass. 68, 96 Am. Dec. 691; and By-Laws, 6 Cyc. 262.

Analogous to a municipal ordinance.— By-law, from Scandinavian Byr, a town or village; Icelandic Bœr, a collection of farm houses; Anglo-Saxon Bylage, a private law, originally designated a law or regulation of a municipal corporation; and the analogy between corporate by-laws and municipal ordinances has often been pointed out. Blanchard v. Bissell, 11 Ohio St. 96; Robinson v. Franklin, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 155, 34 Am. Dec. 625. See the learned note on municipal ordinances, 34 Am. Dec. 627 et seq.; Dillon Mun. Corp. (4th ed.) § 307 et seq.; and By-Laws, 6 Cyc. 262, note 65.

In an old work a by-law is defined to be "a law made obiter, or by the by" (Termes de la Ley, ed. 1721), but this definition, although established by Webster, seems to be an aberration.

34. Drake v. Hudson River R. Co., 7 Barb. (N. Y.) 508.

35. Budd v. Multnomah St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169.

36. People v. Throop, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 183.

37. Instances of such regulations are found in the following among many other cases: Baltimore City Pass. R. Co. v. Wilkinson, 30 Md. 224; Hadencamp v. Second Ave. R. Co., 1 Sweeny (N. Y.) 490; Harris v. Stevens, 31 Vt. 79, 73 Am. Dec. 337.

For an extensive discussion of this subject in connection with carriers of passengers see 3 Thompson Neg. (2d ed.) § 3104 et seq.

38. Compton v. Van Volkenburgh, etc., R. Co., 34 N. J. L. 134.

39. State v. Overton, 24 N. J. L. 435, 61 Am. Dec. 671. See also Ayres v. Morris, etc., R. Co., 29 N. J. L. 393, 80 Am. Dec. 215.

40. Colorado.— Arapahoe Cattle, etc., Co. v. Stevens, 13 Colo. 534, 22 Pac. 823.

Indiana.— Presbyterian Mut. Assur. Fund v. Allen, 106 Ind. 593, 7 N. E. 317. As enforcing and illustrating this principle see Bauer v. Samson Lodge K. of P., 102 Ind. 262, 1 N. E. 571.

Iowa.— Coles v. Iowa State Mut. Ins. Co., 18 Iowa 425; Simeral v. Dubuque Mut. F. Ins. Co., 18 Iowa 319.

Maine.— Cummings v. Webster, 43 Me. 192.

Missouri.— Palmyra v. Morton, 25 Mo. 593; McLellan v. St. Louis Public Schools, 15 Mo. App. 362.

3. To What Extent a Law. Although a by-law is from its nature applicable only to the particular corporate body, yet it is still in a certain sense a law, and is to be applied in the government of such body whenever the circumstances arise for which it was intended to provide.[41] If made in conformity with the charter or governing statute, it is as binding upon the individual members of the corporation as any public law of the state, although of course its sanctions may be different;[42] and according to the views of some they may be equally binding upon third persons acquainted with the method of business of the corporation,[43] although this is doubtful.

4. May Operate as Contract Among Members and Between Corporation and Members. A by-law may operate as a contract among the members of the corporation, a principle which is constantly brought into play in determining the rights in mutual benefit societies; and it may equally operate as a contract between the corporation on the one side and the members on the other.[44] Thus, although a by-law giving the directors the option to take the shares of any shareholder who desires to sell them at a value appraised by the directors, may be invalid, yet the subscriber may be bound by his agreement adopting the by-law.[45] So a by-law providing that before any dividend can be paid on the common stock a dividend of eight per cent per annum shall be payable on preferred stock, to be paid out of the net earnings of the corporation, has the force of a contract, and is properly given effect by declaring a dividend on the common stock for the balance of the net earnings remaining after paying the stipulated dividends on the preferred stock.[46] So a shareholder who, with notice of a by-law providing that no shareholder owing the company a matured debt shall transfer his stock or receive any dividend thereon until such debt is paid, except by consent of the board of directors, contracts a large debt to the corporation will be held to have pledged his stock for the debt, which pledge is binding between the corporation and such shareholder or his assignee for creditors.[47]

5. To What Extent Binding on Third Persons. There are decisions to the effect that a corporate by-law is binding on third persons doing business with the corporation, who have knowledge of the by-law.[48] But it is suggested that this principle can have no operation except where the by-law has established a course of business on the part of the corporation known to the third person; where it takes the form of a regulation of the business of the corporation as toward the public, as in the case of a common carrier of passengers;[49] or where the third

New York.— Buffalo v. Webster, 10 Wend. 99.

Pennsylvania.— Mitchell v. Lycoming Mut. Ins. Co., 51 Pa. St. 402; Susquehanna Ins. Co. v. Perrine, 7 Watts & S. 348.

For a view that the by-laws of a corporation are evidence against its officers, although they be not corporators, see Wilmington, etc., Bank v. Wollaston, 3 Harr. (Del.) 90.

41. Gosling v. Veley, 7 Q. B. 406, 19 L. J. Q. B. 135, 53 E. C. L. 406. And see Hopkins v. Swansea, 4 M. & W. 621.

42. Alabama.— Weatherly v. Montgomery County Medical, etc., Soc., 76 Ala. 567; Security Loan Assoc. v. Lake, 69 Ala. 456.

Georgia.— Harrington v. Workingmen's Benev. Assoc., 70 Ga. 340.

Louisiana.—German Evangelical Congregation v. Pressler, 17 La. Ann. 127; Union Bank v. Gnice, 2 La. Ann. 249.

Maine.—Cummings v. Webster, 43 Me. 192; Came v. Brigham, 39 Me. 35.

Maryland.— Anacosta Tribe No. 12 I. O. R. M. v. Murbach, 13 Md. 91, 71 Am. Dec. 625.

New York.— Kent v. Quicksilver Min. Co., 78 N. Y. 159; Poultney v. Bachman, 31 Hun 49; McDermott v. Board of Police, 5 Abb. Pr. 422; Brick Presb. Church v. New York, 5 Cow. 538.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 159.

43. Cummings v. Webster, 43 Me. 192.

44. Flint v. Pierce, 99 Mass. 68, 96 Am. Dec. 691.

45. New England Trust Co. v. Abbott, 162 Mass. 148, 38 N. E. 432, 27 L. R. A. 271.

46. Seattle Trust Co. v. Pitner, 18 Wash. 401, 51 Pac. 1048.

47. John C. Grafflin Co. v. Woodside, 87 Md. 146, 39 Atl. 413.

48. Cummings v. Webster, 43 Me. 192. Contra, State v. Overton, 24 N. J. L. 435, 61 Am. Dec. 671.

49. 3 Thompson Neg. (2d ed.) § 3104 et seq.

person has been in some way affected with knowledge of it and brought into privity with it, so that it may operate as a contract between the corporation and himself. In other cases it operates merely as a regulation among the members of the corporation inter sese, or as between the corporation and its members, and has no effect as a law, upon third persons,[50] and no influence upon contracts between the corporation and other parties.[51] A third person can enforce them only when he shows some privity, as where he has advanced money or other value upon the credit of a corporate by-law or the like.[52]

6. Not Noticed Judicially, but Must Be Proved. Like the special charters of corporations, where they consist of private statutes, the by-laws and ordinances of such bodies are not noticed judicially, but must be proved as facts.[53]

7. Whether Capable of Being Waived. In favor of third persons, it seems clear that the provisions of a by-law may be waived by the corporation;[54] although as among the members themselves the officers of a corporation, for example a mutual insurance company, have no authority to waive the provisions of a by-law, because it is in the nature of a private statute by which the members have agreed to be governed.[55] But as the doctrine of waiver in this relation generally arises with respect to contracts of insurance or of mutual insurance, it is not within the purview of the present article and will not be further considered.

8. No Extraterritorial Force. By-laws of corporations cannot have, proprio vigore, any operation outside the state within which the corporation exists,[56] although, as in the case of charters, they may be allowed by comity to operate among the members as the law of the corporation.[57]

9. Interpretation of By-Laws. In the interpretation of by-laws the same principles obtain which govern in the interpretation of statutes, contracts, and other private instruments.[58] As in the case of statutes, so in the case of by-laws, the courts will, in construing them, where two interpretatons are possible, one of which will save them and make them valid and the other of which will render them invalid, so interpret them as to make them valid; since the purpose of violating the law of the land will not be imputed to their authors except where necessary.[59] They should have a reasonable construction.[60]

10. Actions Upon By-Laws. Actions are constantly brought by corporations

50. Flint v. Pierce, 99 Mass. 68, 96 Am. Dec. 691; Mechanics', etc., Bank v. Smith, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 115.

51. Samuel v. Holladay, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,288, Woolw. 400, McCahon (Kan.) 214.

52. Flint v. Pierce, 99 Mass. 68, 96 Am. Dec. 691.

Illustrations of the text.— Accordingly a by-law of a bank that all payments made and received must be examined at the time does not prevent a party dealing with the bank from showing afterward that there was a mistake in his account of deposits and receipts. Mechanics', etc., Bank v. Smith, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 115. The facts that the by-laws of a corporation express an individual liability of members for company debts, and that each member subscribed the by-laws merely to become a member, are not enough to sustain an action by a creditor of the company against a member for the amount due. He must at least show that he gave credit or parted with value on the faith of the by-laws having been so drawn up and signed by the members. Flint v. Pierce, 99 Mass. 68, 96 Am. Dec. 691.

53. Lucas v. San Francisco, 7 Cal. 463; Haven v. New Hampshire Insane Asylum, 13 N. H. 532, 38 Am. Dec. 512.

54. Pennsylvania Ins. Co. v. Murphy, 5 Minn. 36.

55. Behler v. German Mut. F. Ins. Co., 68 Ind. 347; Evans v. Trimountain Mut. F. Ins. Co., 9 Allen (Mass.) 329; Murphy v. People's Equitable Mut. F. Ins. Co., 7 Allen (Mass.) 239; Mulrey v. Shawmut Mut. F. Ins. Co., 4 Allen (Mass.) 116, 81 Am. Dec. 689; Priest v. Citizens' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 3 Allen (Mass.) 602; Brewer v. Chelsea Mut. F. Ins. Co., 14 Gray (Mass.) 203; Hale v. Mechanics' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 6 Gray (Mass.) 169, 66 Am. Dec. 410; Clark v. New England Mut. F. Ins. Co., 6 Cush. (Mass.) 342, 53 Am. Dec. 44; Westchester F. Ins. Co. v. Earle, 33 Mich. 143; Union Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Keyser, 32 N. H. 313, 64 Am. Dec. 375.

56. Mitchell v. Vermont Copper Min. Co., 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 406.

57. See, generally, Foreign Corporations.

58. State v. Conklin, 34 Wis. 21; In re Dunkerson, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,158, 4 Biss. 277.

59. Hibernia Fire Engine Co. v. Com., 93 Pa. St. 264; Poulters' Co. v. Phillips, 6 Bing. N. Cas. 314, 4 Jur. 124, 9 L. J. C. P. 190, 8 Scott 593, 37 E. C. L. 640.

60. Osceola Tribe No. 11 I. O. R. M. v. Rost, 15 Md. 295; Boogher v. Maryland L.

against their members, and, within limits already pointed out,[61] against third persons, upon by-laws, where the by-law operates as a contract between the corporation and a member, by a member against the corporation.[62] By-laws are not noticed judicially, but must be pleaded and proved as facts; the pleader proceeding in the same way in which he would proceed where any other private instrument was the foundation of his action.[63]

B. Power to Enact and Mode of Enacting — 1. Inherent Power to Make. By the principles of the common law, every corporation aggregate possesses the inherent power to make all necessary rules and regulations for its government and operation, although such power may not be expressly conferred in its charter, in the statute of its creation, or in any other statute.[64] It is regarded as a power that is included in the grant of the capacity of being a corporation. It is generally said to be "an incident to a corporation."[65] But if the charter or governing statute contains an express grant of power to enact by-laws, and the grant is by terms limited to specified cases or specified purposes, the grant will operate as a restriction upon the power of legislation possessed by the corporation in this respect, and will exclude all other objects by implication, on the principle expressio unius exclusio alterius.[66]

2. Effect of Failure to Make. Where the governing statute in express terms confers upon the corporation the power to adopt by-laws, the failure to exercise the power will be ascribed to mere non-action, which will not render void any acts of the corporation which would otherwise be valid.[67]

3. Must Be Adopted by Whom — a. When by Corporators, and Not by Directors or Officers. Unless the constitution of the corporation or its governing statute has vested the power of making by-laws in some particular board or body of the corporation, it can be exercised only by the constituent body,[68] and then only by the most numerous body or constituency.[69]

Ins. Co., 6 Mo. App. 592; Higgins v. McCrea, 116 U. S. 671, 6 S. Ct. 557, 29 L. ed. 764; 1 Thompson Trials, § 1057 et seq.

Interpretation of various clauses in by-laws.— Meaning of the words "earnings and dividends," not used in the ordinary sense of declared dividends. Bigbee, etc., River Packet Co. v. Moore, 121 Ala. 379, 25 So. 602. That a shareholder in a corporation organized to establish and maintain a law library is liable for annual dues established by a by-law, although he does not use the library. Omaha Law Library Assoc. v. Connell, 55 Nebr. 396, 75 N. W. 837.

61. See supra, V, A, 5.

62. See Schrick v. St. Louis Mut. House Bldg. Co., 34 Mo. 423, where it was held that such an action could not be maintained if the by-law had been repealed by substitution during the membership of plaintiff and before the bringing of his action.

63. Kehlenbeck v. Logeman, 10 Daly (N. Y.) 447.

64. People v. Erie County Medical Soc., 24 Barb. (N. Y.) 570; Drake v. Hudson River R. Co., 7 Barb. (N. Y.) 508; Martin v. Nashville Bldg. Assoc., 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 418.

65. Mechanics', etc., Bank v. Smith, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 115 (per Woodworth, J.); Rex v. Westwood, 4 B. & C. 781, 10 E. C. L. 799, 7 Bing. 1, 20 E. C. L. 11, 4 Bligh N. S. 213, 5 Eng. Reprint 76, 2 Dow. & Cl. 21, 37, 6 Eng. Reprint 637, 7 D. & R. 267; London City v. Vanacker, Carth. 480 (per Lord Holt, C. J.). Cases are found where the proposition is put forward that corporations must show their power to pass by-laws (Dunham v. Rochester, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 462) and bring themselves by proof within that power (Taylor v. Griswold, 14 N. J. L. 222, 27 Am. Dec. 33), but the proper conception is that the possession of the power is presumed.

66. State v. Ferguson, 33 N. H. 424; State v. Morristown, 33 N. J. L. 57; Child v. Hudson's Bay Co., 2 P. Wms. 207, 24 Eng. Reprint 702; Angell & A. Corp. § 325.

Whether a non-profit corporation has power to make by-laws without express authority see Bailey v. Master Plumbers, 103 Tenn. 99, 52 S. W. 853, 46 L. R. A. 561.

67. Steger v. Davis, 8 Tex. Civ. App. 23, 27 S. W. 1068.

68. Grant Corp. 77 [citing Rex v. Westwood, 4 B. & C. 781, 10 E. C. L. 799, 7 Bing. 1, 20 E. C. L. 11, 4 Bligh N. S. 213, 5 Eng. Reprint 76, 2 Dow. & Cl. 21, 6 Eng. Reprint 637, 7 D. & R. 267].

69. Indiana.— Morton Gravel Road Co. v. Wysong, 51 Ind. 4, where it is said that in Indiana the power to make by-laws resides in the members of the corporation at large, where there is no law or valid usage to the contrary.

Maryland.— Union Bank v. Ridgely, 1 Harr. & G. 324.

Massachusetts.— Salem Bank v. Gloucester Bank, 17 Mass. 1, 9 Am. Dec. 111.

Mississippi.— Holly Springs Bank v. Pinson, 58 Miss. 421, 58 Am. Rep. 330.

b. Where Charters and Statutes Confer Power Upon Directors and Other Officers. Many charters and statutes exist conferring the power to enact by-laws upon the directors and other officers, of which numerous examples have been given in a recent work.[70] These statutes are so numerous and variant and are subject to such frequent changes that no attempt will be made to set them out here. Examples of them may be suggested by saying that one of them gives the directors the power to adopt a by-law prescribing the transfer of shares while the owner is in default.[71] The statutory delegation to a select body of the corporation of the power to make by-laws does not divest the inherent power of the general body so to do, unless the statute so declares in express terms. Thus, although the power of making by-laws is vested in the managers of the corporation, and not in the shareholders, a by-law passed at a meeting called as a shareholders' meeting will be valid, if the shareholders and managers were the same persons, and all were present and participated.[72]

4. Formalities Required in Enacting. If the charter prescribes any formality to be followed in the adoption of by-laws, of course it must be observed;[73] but if the charter is silent as to the formalities to be observed, a by-law may be adopted by acts as well as by words; by the uniform course of proceedings of the corporation as well as by an express vote manifested in writing.[74] It has been said, speaking with reference to the question whether a certain by-law had been enacted, "Even if there was no record or the record was deficient, we consider it settled by the authorities that the enactment of a by-law need not necessarily be in writing, but may be inferred from facts proved."[75]

5. Quorum to Enact. Where a statute authorizes a select body, e. g., the Missouri.— State Sav. Assoc. v. Nixon-Jones Printing Co., 25 Mo. App. 642; Carroll v. Mullanphy Sav. Bank, 8 Mo. App. 249.

Nevada.— State v. Curtis, 9 Nev. 325.

Tennessee.— Martin v. Nashville Building Assoc., 2 Coldw. 418.

England.—Rex v. Westwood, 4 B. & C. 781, 10 E. C. L. 799, 7 Bing. 1, 20 E. C. L. 11, 4 Bligh N. S. 213, 5 Eng. Reprint 76, 2 Dow. & Cl. 21, 6 Eng. Reprint 637, 7 D. & R. 267.

Numerous statutes have been enacted vesting the power to enact by-laws in the corporation or in its members, of which examples may be found in 1 Thompson Corp. § 962 et seq. Many of these statutes reënact the rule of the common law that such by-laws must not be inconsistent with law, etc. (1 Thompson Corp. § 962), and then prescribe in detail what may be the subject-matter of such by-laws, such as the management and regulation of the affairs of the corporation (1 Thompson Corp. § 963), the regulation of the corporation, the management of its affairs, and the transfer of its stock (1 Thompson Corp. § 964), or the holding of corporate meetings (1 Thompson Corp. § 965). Sometimes such subjects as corporate meetings and voting, the forfeiture of shares, penalties, etc., are thrown together in these permissive statutes. 1 Thompson Corp. § 966. In other cases we find thrown together the subjects of officers, of meetings, and of elections. 1 Thompson Corp. § 967. In others the management of the corporate property, the regulation of the affairs of the corporation, the transfer of its shares, the duties of its officers, the number of its directors, penalties, liens upon its shares, etc. 1 Thompson Corp. §§ 968, 969. In some cases we find special provisions applicable to railroad companies. 1 Thompson Corp. § 971. In other cases provisions applicable to boom and navigation companies. 1 Thompson Corp. § 972. In other cases provisions relating to the forfeiture of shares. 1 Thompson Corp. § 974. In other cases provisions prescribing the manner in which by-laws must be enacted, amended, or repealed. 1 Thompson Corp. §§ 975, 976.

70. 1 Thompson Corp. § 978 et seq.

71. Mechanics' Bank v. Merchants' Bank, 45 Mo. 513, 100 Am. Dec. 388.

72. People v. Sterling Burial Case Mfg. Co., 82 Ill. 457.

For another illustration of this principle in the case of a municipal corporation see the decision of the house of lords in Rex v. Westwood, 4 B. & C. 781, 10 E. C. L. 799, 7 Bing. 1, 20 E. C. L. 11, 4 Bligh N. S. 213, 5 Eng. Reprint 76, 2 Dow. & Cl. 21, 6 Eng. Reprint 637, 7 D. & R. 267.

73. Dunston v. Imperial Gas Light, etc., Co., 3 B. & Ad. 125, 1 L. J. K. B. 49, 23 E. C. L. 63.

74. Fairfield Turnpike Co. v. Thorp, 13 Conn. 173; Langsdale v. Bonton, 12 Ind. 467; Dunston v. Imperial Gas Light, etc., Co., 3 B. & Ad. 125, 1 L. J. K. B. 49, 23 E. C. L. 63.

75. Lockwood v. Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 9 R. I. 308, 334, 11 Am. Rep. 253 [citing Union Bank v. Ridgely, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 324; Reuter v. Electric Tel. Co., 6 E. & B. 341, 2 Jur. N. S. 1245, 26 L. J. Q. B. 46, 4 Wkly. Rep. 564, 88 E. C. L. 341; Angell & A. Corp. §§ 238, 328].

directors of a corporation, to make by-laws, a majority of that body at least is necessary to constitute a quorum.[76] Where the charter of a corporation authorizes the president and directors to adopt by-laws, it is held that by-laws may be adopted by a meeting at which the president and a quorum of the directors are present; and where the quorum consists of a majority, the assent of a majority is sufficient in order to make the by-laws valid.[77] Where the by-laws are enacted by the shareholders in their constituent character, there must, on principles already explained,[78] be a quorum consisting of a majority of the whole body; but where the stock subscription has not been entirely filled up, this means a majority of the holders of the subscribed shares and not a majority of the potential shares.[79]

6. Amendment and Repeal of By-Laws. A corporation which is authorized by its charter or governing statute to make such by-laws as may be necessary to attain the objects for which it is created has power to change such by-laws from time to time, when necessary to carry out such objects;[80] but it cannot make such changes, although expressly empowered thereto by the charter or governing statute, as will impair any rights that have become vested by virtue of the previous by-law.[81]

C. Requisites and Validity of By-Laws — 1. Must Not Be Contrary to Charter. By-laws which are contrary to the charter or governing statute of the corporation are void.[82]

2. Must Not Attempt to Enlarge Powers Granted by Charter or Governing Statute. By-laws whereby the members of the corporation undertake to acquire powers or franchises not granted by their charter or governing statute are in like manner void.[83]

3. Must Not Be Contrary to Articles of Incorporation. The articles of incorporation, sometimes called the articles of association, constitute the charter of the corporation when read in connection with the governing statute. A by-law which is contrary to such articles is therefore void, especially where it attempts to change rights among the members thereby established.[84]

76. Ex p. Willcocks, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 402, 17 Am. Dec. 525. See also supra, IV, E.

77. Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457.

78. See supra, IV, E.

79. Castner v. Twitchell-Champlin Co., 91 Me. 524, 40 Atl. 558.

80. Scanlan v. Snow, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 137, 22 Wash. L. Rep. 62 (may be altered or amended at any meeting of the shareholders at which a quorum is present, by a majority vote of those present, although the previous by-laws make no provision for their own alteration or amendment); Schrick v. St. Louis Mut. House Bldg. Co., 34 Mo. 423. Compare Crittenden v. Southern Home Bldg., etc., Assoc., 111 Ga. 266, 36 S. E. 643, determined on a question of pleading.

For a statute and condition of fact under which by-laws were held to be new by-laws and not mere amendments of the former by-laws see Murphy v. Pacific Bank, 130 Cal. 542, 62 Pac. 1059.

81. Kent v. Quicksilver Min. Co., 78 N. Y. 159.

When a shareholder will not be estopped from objecting see Bergman v. St. Paul Mut. Bldg. Assoc., 29 Minn. 275, 13 N. W. 120.

82. California.— Brewster v. Hartley, 37 Cal. 15, 99 Am. Dec. 237.

Illinois.— Huesing v. Rock Island, 128 Ill. 465, 21 N. E. 558, 15 Am. St. Rep. 129.

Indiana.— Presbyterian Mut. Assur. Fund v. Allen, 106 Ind. 593, 7 N. E. 317.

Louisiana.— New Orleans v. Philippi, 9 La. Ann. 44.

Maine.— Andrews v. Union Mut. F. Ins. Co., 37 Me. 256.

Massachusetts.— Supreme Council A. L. of H. v. Perry, 140 Mass. 580, 5 N. E. 634.

Minnesota.— Bergman v. St. Paul Mut. Bldg. Assoc., 29 Minn. 275, 13 N. W. 120.

Nevada.— State v. Curtis, 9 Nev. 325.

New Hampshire.— Great Falls Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Harvey, 45 N. H. 292.

New Jersey.— Kearney v. Andrews, 10 N. J. Eq. 70.

New York.— Kent v. Quicksilver Min. Co., 78 N. Y. 159.

United States.— Chicago City R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. 233, 21 L. ed. 902.

England.— Rex v. Bumstead, 2 B. & Ad. 699, 9 L. J. K. B. O. S. 321, 22 E. C. L. 292; Rex v. Cutbush, 4 Burr. 2204; Rex v. Spencer, 3 Burr. 1827; Harscot's Case, Comb. 202 (per Holt, C. J.); Rex v. Weymouth, 7 Mod. 373.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 154.

83. Brewster v. Hartley, 37 Cal. 15, 99 Am. Dec. 237; Andrews v. Union Mut. F. Ins. Co., 37 Me. 256; Carr v. St. Louis, 9 Mo. 191.

84. Bergman v. St. Paul Mut. Bldg. Assoc., 29 Minn. 275, 13 N. W. 120.

4. Must Not Be Contrary to General Law. Generally speaking a by-law which is contrary to the law of the land, common or statutory, is void.[85]

5. Must Not Be Contrary to Constitution, State or Federal. For stronger reasons a by-law is void if it is contrary to the constitution of the state or the United States, for an act of the legislature in such a case would be void.[86]

6. Must Not Be Contrary to Common Right. Corporate by-laws must not contravene those principles of common right which are embodied in the common law.[87]

7. Must Operate Equally. By-laws must operate equally upon all persons of the class which they are intended to govern.[88]

85. California.— People v. Crockett, 9 Cal. 112.

Connecticut.— Hayden v. Noyes, 5 Conn. 391.

Louisiana.— New Orleans v. Philippi, 9 La. Ann. 44.

Maine.— Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Kendall, 31 Me. 470.

Michigan.— People v. Detroit Fire Dept., 31 Mich. 458.

New York.—People v. New York Operative Masons Benev. Soc., 3 Hun 361; People v. Erie County Medical Soc., 24 Barb. 570.

United States.— Bullard v. National Eagle Bank, 18 Wall. 589, 21 L. ed. 923.

So a municipal ordinance which is repugnant either to the constitution of the United States, the constitution of the particular state, or its general law, whether statute or common, is ipso facto void.

Arkansas.— Vance v. Little Rock, 30 Ark. 435.

Georgia.—Livingston v. Albany, 41 Ga. 21; Savannah v. Hussey, 21 Ga. 80, 68 Am. Dec. 452; Haywood v. Savannah, 12 Ga. 404.

Illinois.—Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Bloomington, 76 Ill. 447.

Indiana.— Indianapolis v. Indianapolis Gas Light, etc., Co., 66 Ind. 396.

Iowa.— Burlington v. Kellar, 18 Iowa 59.

Louisiana.— Walker v. New Orleans, 31 La. Ann. 828; New Orleans v. State Sav. Bank, etc., Co., 31 La. Ann. 637; Cullinan v. New Orleans, 28 La. Ann. 102; Shreveport v. Levy, 26 La. Ann. 671, 21 Am. Rep. 553; State v. Caldwell, 3 La. Ann. 435.

Minnesota.— Judson v. Reardon, 16 Minn. 431.

Nebraska.— State v. Hardy, 7 Nebr. 377.

New York.— Wood v. Brooklyn, 14 Barb. 425.

Pennsylvania.— Wilkesbarre City Hospital v. Luzerne County, 84 Pa. St. 55.

Tennessee.—Pesterfield v. Vickers, 3 Coldw. 205.

England.—In re London Case, 8 Coke 121*b*; Kirk v. Nowill, 1 T. R. 118, 1 Rev. Rep. 160.

Legislature cannot delegate power to enact by-laws contravening general law.— As the legislative power cannot be delegated, it is not competent for the legislature to confer upon a moneyed corporation power to enact by-laws contravening, repealing, or in any wise changing the statutory or common law of the land. Seneca County Bank v. Lamb, 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 595.

Limitation of rule of above text.— A sound limitation of the rule of the above text is believed to be that if a by-law of a corporation is not unreasonable, or contrary to the general policy of the law or to those fundamental principles of right guaranteed by the law, the fact that it introduces a new rule which is different from the rule of the common law does not render it invalid. Goddard v. Merchants' Exch., 9 Mo. App. 290 [affirmed in 78 Mo. 609].

86. State v. Cincinnati, 23 Ohio St. 445.

87. This principle more commonly arises with respect to the ordinances of municipal corporations, but it must be equally applicable to the by-laws of private corporations, and especially to quasi-public corporations, such as railway companies, telegraph companies, and the like. For illustrations of municipal ordinances which have been held contrary to common right see 38 Am. Dec. 636 note; 1 Thompson Corp. § 1017; and the following cases:

Connecticut.— Willard v. Killingworth, 8 Conn. 247; Hayden v. Noyes, 5 Conn. 391.

Illinois.— Stack v. East St. Louis, 85 Ill. 377, 28 Am. Rep. 619.

Indiana.— Pettis v. Johnson, 56 Ind. 139; Evansville v. Martin, 41 Ind. 145.

Louisiana.— Lanfear v. New Orleans, 4 La. 97, 23 Am. Dec. 477.

North Carolina.—Edenton v. Capeheart, 71 N. C. 156.

Tennessee.— Memphis v. Battaile, 8 Heisk. 524, 24 Am. Rep. 285.

88. People v. Young Men's Father Matthew Total Abstinence Benev. Soc. No. 1, 41 Mich. 67, 1 N. W. 931; Goddard v. Merchants' Exch., 9 Mo. App. 290; Budd v. Multnomah St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169.

Under this principle a corporation cannot exercise its power to make by-laws by directing a resolution against the shares of a particular member. Budd v. Multnomah St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169.

Examples of municipal ordinances which have been held void because operating unequally may be found in Ex p. Frank, 52 Cal. 606, 28 Am. Rep. 642; Judson v. Reardon, 16 Minn. 431; Pinkerton v. Verberg, 30 Centr. L. J. 352; Nashville v. Althrop, 5 Coldw. (Tenn.) 554; Pesterfield v. Vickers, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 205.

8. Must Not Disturb Vested Rights. A by-law which disturbs vested rights of the members of a corporation is of course void, since a statute so operating would be void,[89] and, although the power is reserved to a corporation by its charter to alter, amend, or repeal its by-laws, it cannot repeal a by-law so as to impair rights which have become vested thereunder.[90]

9. Must Not Attempt to Make Members Liable For Corporate Debts. It follows from what has just preceded that where neither the charter nor the governing statute imposes on the members a personal liability to pay the debts of the corporation, such a liability cannot be created by any by-law or vote of the corporation so as to be binding on dissenting members,[91] unless the member sought to be charged is in some way connected with the by-laws so as to bring him into privity with the creditor.[92]

10. Must Not Operate Retrospectively. A by-law which attempts to operate retrospectively, disturbing existing rights or creating new penalties, and being hence in the nature of an ex post facto law, is of course void.[93]

11. Must Not Be Unreasonable, Oppressive, or Extortionate — a. Rule Stated. In its operation between the corporation and its members, a by-law in order to be valid must not be unreasonable, oppressive, or extortionate.[94] Included in the foregoing is a principle of the common law, running back so far that its origin cannot be found, that the by-laws of corporations will be set aside by the judicial courts when deemed unreasonable.[95]

89. People v. Crockett, 9 Cal. 112; Gray v. Portland Bank, 3 Mass. 364, 3 Am. Dec. 156; People v. Detroit Fire Dept., 31 Mich. 458.

90. Kent v. Quicksilver Min. Co., 78 N. Y. 159 [affirming 12 Hun (N. Y.) 53].

91. Georgia.— Reid v. Eatonton Mfg. Co., 40 Ga. 98, 2 Am. Rep. 563.

Maine.— Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Kendall, 31 Me. 470.

Massachusetts.— Flint v. Pierce, 99 Mass. 68, 96 Am. Dec. 691; South Parish Free Schools v. Flint, 13 Metc. 539.

Nebraska.— Omaha Law Library Assoc. v. Connell, 55 Nebr. 396, 75 N. W. 837.

New York.— Sullivan County Club v. Butler, 26 Misc. 306, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 1, holder of full-paid shares not bound by a recital in the certificate that he held them pursuant to a by-law authorizing their assessment, which by-law had been passed subsequently to his payment of them.

92. Flint v. Pierce, 99 Mass. 69, 96 Am. Dec. 691.

On the same principle a bank cannot make its shareholders liable for its bills, merely by printing a notice thereon that they are so liable. Lowry v. Inman, 46 N. Y. 119.

So where a city has granted to a street railway company a franchise to operate a railway with a double track, it cannot, after the company has expended money under the grant, restrict it to a single track, by an amendment to the ordinance conferring the franchise. Burlington v. Burlington St. R. Co., 49 Iowa 144, 31 Am. Rep. 145.

93. Howard v. Savannah, T. U. P. Charlt. (Ga.) 173; People v. Detroit Fire Dept., 31 Mich. 458.

94. Shannon v. Howard Mut. Bldg. Assoc., 36 Md. 383; State v. Overton, 24 N. J. L. 435, 61 Am. Dec. 671; Citizens' Mut. Loan, etc., Assoc. v. Webster, 25 Barb. (N. Y.) 263; People v. Throop, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 183; Buffalo v. Webster, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 99; Forrest City United Land, etc., Assoc. v. Gallagher, 25 Ohio St. 208; Hagerman v. Ohio Bldg., etc., Assoc., 25 Ohio St. 186.

95. New York.— People v. Erie County Medical Soc., 24 Barb. 570. See also Stokes v. New York, 14 Wend. 87; Buffalo v. Webster, 10 Wend. 99; Hudson City v. Thorne, 7 Paige 261.

Oregon.— Budd v. Multnomah St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169.

Pennsylvania.— Northern Liberties v. Northern Liberties Gas Co., 12 Pa. St. 318; Com. v. Cain, 5 Serg. & R. 510; Com. v. St. Patrick's Benev. Soc., 2 Binn. 441, 4 Am. Dec. 453.

South Carolina.— Palmetto Lodge No. 5, I. O. O. F. v. Hubbell, 2 Strobh. 457, 49 Am. Dec. 604; St. Luke's Church v. Mathews, 4 Desauss. 578, 585, 6 Am. Dec. 619.

England.— Feltmakers v. Davis, 1 B. & P. 98; Rex v. Spencer, 3 Burr. 1827; Rex v. Richardson, 1 Burr. 517, 2 Ld. Ken. 85; In re Sutton's Hospital Case, 10 Coke 1*a*; Norris v. Staps, Hob. 293; London City v. Vanacker, 1 Ld. Raym. 496; Bacon Abr. tit. By-Law; Comyns Dig. tit. Franchise (F) 10; 2 Kyd Corp. 95.

The principle had its origin when nearly all corporations were public or municipal in their character; and the following cases assert and illustrate the principle that municipal by-laws or ordinances will be set aside by the judicial court when deemed unreasonable.

Arkansas.— Waters v. Leech, 3 Ark. 110.

California.— Ex p. Chin Yan, 60 Cal. 78; Ex p. Frank, 52 Cal. 606, 28 Am. Rep. 642.

Georgia.— Gilham v. Wells, 64 Ga. 192.

b. Limitations of Rule. If, in a strictly private association, the members agree among themselves that a particular rule is reasonable, the same not being opposed to the law in the sense of being immoral or criminal, the courts will give effect to it as a private contract and will not set it aside because they may deem it unreasonable.[96] Neither can a by-law be set aside as unreasonable by the judicial courts, when it is within the powers expressly conferred upon the corporation; for where the legislature, by a valid and constitutional law, have declared that a certain thing is reasonable, the courts cannot say that it is unreasonable.[97] Moreover, before a court will declare a corporate by-law or ordinance unreasonable, its unreasonableness must clearly appear. The courts will not look closely into mere matters of judgment, where there may be a reasonable difference of opinion.[98]

c. Question of Reasonableness One of Law For Court. The question whether a corporate by-law is reasonable, or whether it ought to be set aside as unreasonable, is a question of law for the court and is not to be submitted to a jury.[99] This rule applies to the regulations of public carriers[1] and to the by-laws or ordinances of municipal corporations.[2]

Illinois.— Tugman v. Chicago, 78 Ill. 405.
Iowa.— Davis v. Anita, 73 Iowa 325, 35 N. W. 244; Meyers v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 57 Iowa 555, 10 N. W. 896, 42 Am. Rep. 50.
Kentucky.— Com. v. Steffee, 7 Bush 161.
Massachusetts.—Pedrick v. Bailey, 12 Gray 161; Com. v. Robertson, 5 Cush. 438.
Missouri.—Cape Girardeau v. Riley, 72 Mo. 220.
New Hampshire.— State v. Freeman, 38 N. H. 426.
New Jersey.— Kip v. Paterson, 26 N. J. L. 298; Dayton v. Quigley, 29 N. J. Eq. 77.
New York.— People v. Throop, 12 Wend. 183; Dunham v. Rochester, 5 Cow. 462.
Pennsylvania.— O'Maley v. Freeport, 96 Pa. St. 24, 42 Am. Rep. 527; Northern Liberties v. Northern Liberties Gas Co., 12 Pa. St. 318; Fisher v. Harrisburg, 2 Grant 291.
Tennessee.— Whyte v. Nashville, 2 Swan 364; Memphis v. Winfield, 8 Humphr. 707; Columbia v. Beasly, 1 Humphr. 232, 34 Am. Dec. 646.
Virginia.—Kirkham v. Russell, 76 Va. 956.
Wisconsin.— Atkinson v. Goodrich Transp. Co., 60 Wis. 141, 18 N. W. 764, 50 Am. Rep. 352; Clason v. Milwaukee, 30 Wis. 316.
See further as to the validity of by-laws of municipal corporations Mobile v. Yuille, 3 Ala. 137, 36 Am. Dec. 441; Floyd v. Eatonton, 14 Ga. 354, 58 Am. Dec. 559; Tanner v. Albion, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 121, 40 Am. Dec. 337; Robinson v. Franklin, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 155, 34 Am. Dec. 625. And see note 34 Am. Dec. 627 et seq.

96. Kehlenbeck v. Logeman, 10 Daly (N. Y.) 447.

97. District of Columbia v. Waggaman, 4 Mackey (D. C.) 328; Haynes v. Cape May, 50 N. J. L. 55, 13 Atl. 231.

98. St. Louis v. Weber, 44 Mo. 547.
Municipal ordinance both reasonable and unreasonable.— That a municipal ordinance may be adjudged reasonable as applicable to one state of facts and unreasonable as applicable to another see Knapp, J., in Nicoulin v. Lowery, 49 N. J. L. 391, 8 Atl. 513. See also Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Jersey City, 47 N. J. L. 286.

99. Com. v. Worcester, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 462; St. Louis v. Weber, 44 Mo. 547; Merz v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 14 Mo. App. 459; St. Louis v. St. Louis R. Co., 14 Mo. App. 221; Neier v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 12 Mo. App. 25; Ayres v. Morris, etc., R. Co., 29 N. J. L. 393, 80 Am. Dec. 215; State v. Overton, 24 N. J. L. 435, 61 Am. Dec. 671.

1. Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Whittemore, 43 Ill. 420, 92 Am. Dec. 138; State v. Overton, 24 N. J. L. 435, 61 Am. Dec. 671; Vedder v. Fellows, 20 N. Y. 126.
At the same time it has been held proper to admit testimony in regard to the necessity of such a rule. Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Whittemore, 43 Ill. 420, 92 Am. Dec. 138.
Whether a certain regulation of a railway company is sufficient for the prevention of collisions has been held a question for a jury. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. McLallen, 84 Ill. 109.
Where the facts are undisputed it has been held that the question of the reasonableness of a rule established by a railway company is a question of law for the court. Vedder v. Fellows, 20 N. Y. 126; Old Colony R. Co. v. Tripp, 33 Am. & Eng. R. Cas. 488. But when the question depends upon the existence of particular facts and circumstances, it is said to be a question for the jury, under proper instructions from the court. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Lyon, 123 Pa. St. 140, 16 Atl. 607, 10 Am. St. Rep. 517, 2 L. R. A. 489.

2. Dayton v. Quigley, 29 N. J. Eq. 77; Kneedler v. Norristown, 100 Pa. St. 368, 45 Am. Rep. 383; Northern Liberties v. Northern Liberties Gas Co., 12 Pa. St. 318; Fisher v. Harrisburg, 2 Grant (Pa.) 291; 1 Dillon Mun. Corp. §§ 319, 320, 321.
Instances of by-laws held void because unreasonable see 1 Thompson Corp. § 1023; Sayre v. Louisville Union Benev. Assoc., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 143, 85 Am. Dec. 613; State v. Union Merchants' Exch., 2 Mo. App. 96; Rob-

12. Must Not Be in Restraint of Trade — a. Rule Stated. As a general rule by-laws which operate in restraint of trade are void, as against public policy, under the principles of the common law;[3] and this is also true of municipal ordinances,[4] and especially of municipal ordinances tending to create monopolies, excluding of course those cases where the grant of exclusive franchises is necessary, as in the case of gaslight companies, water-supply companies, and the like.[5]

b. Establishing Combinations Among Workmen to Maintain Prices. It seems that a by-law of an incorporated association of workmen, having the effect of maintaining reasonable prices for the work performed by the members of the association, but without interfering with the freedom of contract of the individual members or interposing the mere will of the association for the views of the individual in determining what price is reasonable, would be unobjectionable, and would not be set aside as unreasonable or as opposed to sound morals or public policy.[6]

c. Restraining Transfer of Corporate Shares — (i) In General. Shares of stock in a corporation being personal property, and the jus disponendi being incident to the very nature of property, it follows that a by-law which undertakes to prohibit a shareholder from freely transferring his shares is ordinarily void, as being in restraint of trade and against common right.[7] inson v. Groscot, Comb. 372; London v. Salisbury, Comb. 221.

Numerous instances of municipal by-laws held void because unreasonable see 1 Thompson Corp. § 1024.

Instances of municipal by-laws held not unreasonable see 1 Thompson Corp. § 1025.

Ancient by-laws touching admission of persons to freedom of corporation or place see 1 Thompson Corp. § 1026; Green v. Durham, 1 Burr. 127; In re Ipswich Tailors Case, 11 Coke 53*a*.

By-law compelling elected members to wear livery and pay initiation fee or suffer a forfeiture see 1 Thompson Corp. § 1027; Vintners' Co. v. Passey, 1 Burr. 235, 1 Ld. Ken. 500; Taverner's Case, T. Raym. 446.

Instances of by-laws of various kinds of corporations held reasonable and valid see 1 Thompson Corp. § 1052.

Validity of by-laws regulating conduct of members of the corporation see London, etc., Tobacco Pipe Makers Co. v. Woodroffe, 7 B. & C. 838, 14 E. C. L. 374.

3. Kentucky.— Sayre v. Louisville Union Benev. Assoc., 1 Duv. 143, 85 Am. Dec. 613.

Massachusetts.— Quiner v. Marblehead Social Ins. Co., 10 Mass. 476.

Missouri.—Moore v. Bank of Commerce, 52 Mo. 377; Chouteau Spring Co. v. Harris, 20 Mo. 382.

Pennsylvania.— In re Butchers' Beneficial Assoc., 35 Pa. St. 151.

England.— Clark v. Le Cren, 9 B. & C. 52, 17 E. C. L. 33; Woolley v. Idle, 4 Burr. 1951; Harrison v. Godman, 1 Burr. 12; In re Ipswich Tailors Case, 11 Coke 53*a*; London v. Compton, 7 D. & R. 597, 4 L. J. K. B. O. S. 49, 16 E. C. L. 299.

See also Angell & A. Corp. 184; 1 Bacon Abr. 547; Will Corp. 142.

One of the beginnings of the ancient law on this subject is found in the cases of In re Ipswich Tailors Case, 11 Coke 53*a*, where it was held that a by-law of a corporation preventing a member from working at his trade of tailoring who had not served an apprenticeship of seven years is void. The case is set out at length in 1 Thompson Corp. § 1029. Compare Silk Throusters v. Fremantee, 2 Keb. 309, where it was held that a by-law providing that no man should work to exceed one hundred and sixty spindles who was not an assistant, and that no man who was an assistant should have more than two hundred and forty spindles, under pain of £3 10s. was not bad.

4. St. Paul v. Traeger, 25 Minn. 248, 33 Am. Rep. 462; State v. Fisher, 52 Mo. 174; St. Louis v. Grone, 46 Mo. 574; Hayes v. Appleton, 24 Wis. 542. See also 1 Thompson Corp. § 1028, note 2.

5. See 1 Thompson Corp. § 1028, note 3, citing numerous cases.

6. See the reasoning of Bullitt, J., in Sayre v. Louisville Union Benev. Assoc., 1 Duv. (Ky.) 143, 85 Am. Dec. 613. See also Snow v. Wheeler, 113 Mass. 179; Carew v. Rutherford, 106 Mass. 1, 8 Am. Rep. 287; Bowen v. Matheson, 14 Allen (Mass.) 499; Com. v. Hunt, 4 Metc. (Mass.) 111, 38 Am. Dec. 346; Reg. v. Rowlands, 17 Q. B. 671, 5 Cox C. C. 466, 2 Den. C. C. 364, 16 Jur. 268, 21 L. J. M. C. 81, 79 E. C. L. 671.

The law of this subject is still in a state of formation.— It has been expounded with great clearness and propriety by Chief Judge Parker, of the court of appeals of New York, in Steam Fitters, etc., Nat. Protective Assoc. v. Cumming, 170 N. Y. 315, 63 N. E. 369, 88 Am. St. Rep. 648, 58 L. R. A. 135. The case of People v. Fisher, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 9, 28 Am. Dec. 501, decided under a statute, does not express the modern law.

7. Victor G. Bloede Co. v. Bloede, 84 Md. 129, 34 Atl. 1127, 33 L. R. A. 107, 57 Am. St. Rep. 373; Brinkerhoff-Farris Trust, etc., Co. v. Home Lumber Co., 118 Mo. 447, 24 S. W. 129 (invalidity of by-law restricting the right of shareholders to convey their

(II) Forbidding Transfer While Shareholder Is Indebted to Corporation. If the charter of a banking corporation authorizes its board of directors to make rules regulating the transfer of its shares, a by-law adopted by them forbidding the transfer of stock so long as the owner is indebted to the bank is valid, although inconsistent with the general law of the state governing the transfer of property.[8]

(III) Restricting or Hampering Mode of Transfer. A by-law requiring transfers of shares to be made only at the office of the corporation, personally or by attorney, with the consent of the president thereof, has been held contrary to the general law of the state respecting the right to transfer personal property,[9] resulting in the conclusion that a transfer, accompanied with a delivery of the share certificates to the vendee, although not made on the books of the corporation, is valid, not only as between the vendor and vendee, but as against an attaching creditor of the vendor, whose attachment was levied before he or the treasurer of the company had notice of the transfer.[10]

(IV) Creating Lien Upon Shares. According to the weight of authority, a by-law creating a lien on the shares of a member for dues owing by him to the corporation is valid and binding,[11] except as against innocent purchasers for value,[12] although this necessarily operates to restrain a transfer of the shares on the books of the corporation until the indebtedness is paid;[13] but it should be shares to any one until the directors have refused to purchase them or while the shareholders are indebted to the corporation; but see the next paragraph); Kinnan v. Sullivan County Club, 26 N. Y. App. Div. 213, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 95; Ireland v. Globe Milling Co., 21 R. I. 9, 41 Atl. 258, 79 Am. St. Rep. 769 (holding that the right of a shareholder to transfer his shares cannot be abridged by a by-law providing that he must first offer them to the corporation for a period of thirty days). And see infra, VII, D, 1, f, (II).

8. Farmers', etc., Bank v. Wasson, 48 Iowa 336, 30 Am. Rep. 398; Mechanics' Bank v. Merchants' Bank, 45 Mo. 513, 100 Am. Dec. 388 [approved in Spurlock v. Pacific R. Co., 61 Mo. 319, and distinguished in Carroll v. Mullanphy Sav. Bank, 8 Mo. App. 249]. Compare Moore v. Bank of Commerce, 52 Mo. 377; Chouteau Spring Co. v. Harris, 20 Mo. 382.

9. Sargent v. Franklin Ins. Co., 8 Pick. (Mass.) 90, 19 Am. Dec. 306.

10. Sargent v. Essex Mar. R. Corp., 9 Pick. (Mass.) 202; Sargent v. Franklin Ins. Co., 8 Pick. (Mass.) 90, 19 Am. Dec. 306.

11. Alabama.— Planters', etc., Ins. Co. v. Selma Sav. Bank, 63 Ala. 585.

California.— Jennings v. State Bank, 79 Cal. 323, 21 Pac. 852, 12 Am. St. Rep. 145, 5 L. R. A. 233; People v. Crockett, 9 Cal. 112.

Connecticut.—Vansands v. Middlesex County Bank, 26 Conn. 144.

Iowa.— Farmers', etc., Bank v. Wasson, 48 Iowa 336, 30 Am. Rep. 398.

Maine.— Bath Sav. Inst. v. Sagadahoc Nat. Bank, 89 Me. 500, 36 Atl. 996.

Mississippi.— Holly Springs Bank v. Pinson, 58 Miss. 421, 38 Am. Rep. 330.

Missouri.— Spurlock v. Pacific R. Co., 61 Mo. 319; Mechanics' Bank v. Merchants' Bank, 45 Mo. 513, 100 Am. Dec. 388.

New Hampshire.— Costello v. Portsmouth Brewing Co., 69 N. H. 405, 43 Atl. 640 (by-law reserving lien on shares for shareholder's indebtedness to the corporation not within the prohibition of a statute forbidding restraints upon the free sale of shares); Hill v. Pine River Bank, 45 N. H. 300.

New Jersey.— Young v. Vough, 23 N. J. Eq. 325.

Rhode Island.— Lockwood v. Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 9 R. I. 308, 11 Am. Rep. 253.

United States.— Knight v. Old Nat. Bank, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,885, 3 Cliff. 429; Pendergast v. Stockton Bank, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,918, 2 Sawy. 108.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 609.

12. California.—Anglo-Californian Bank v. Grangers' Bank, 63 Cal. 359.

Iowa.— Des Moines Nat. Bank v. Warren County Bank, 97 Iowa 204, 66 N. W. 154, holding that failure of a bank to post its by-laws in its principal place of business, as required by statute, defeats its right to enforce such a lien against a purchaser of shares in good faith.

Louisiana.— Pitot v. Johnson, 33 La. Ann. 1286.

Michigan.— Bronson Electric Co. v. Rheubottom, 122 Mich. 608, 81 N. W. 563.

Missouri.—Carroll v. Mullanphy Sav. Bank, 8 Mo. App. 249.

New York.— Driscoll v. West Bradley, etc., Mfg. Co., 59 N. Y. 96; Conklin v. Oswego Second Nat. Bank, 45 N. Y. 655.

Pennsylvania.—Merchants' Bank v. Shouse, 102 Pa. St. 488.

United States.— Bullard v. National Eagle Bank, 18 Wall. 589, 21 L. ed. 923; South Bend First Nat. Bank v. Lanier, 11 Wall. 369, 20 L. ed. 172.

13. Bath Sav. Inst. v. Sagadahoc Nat. Bank, 89 Me. 500, 36 Atl. 996.

understood that there are decisions which deny the right of a corporation to create such liens.[14]

13. Releasing Shareholders From Obligation of Paying For Shares. The assets of a corporation being a trust fund for its creditors, and the indebtedness of shareholders to the corporation for their shares being a part of this trust fund, a by-law which attempts to release shareholders from the obligation incurred by their contract of subscription or by their knowing acquisition of shares which have not been fully paid up, by allowing them to pay a percentage of what is due in respect of their shares and to forfeit their shares and be discharged from the obligation of paying the remainder, is void as to creditors of the corporation.[15]

14. Restricting Right to Sue in Courts. By-laws restricting the right to sue in the courts are generally void;[16] and hence a by-law of an insurance company providing that any suit on a policy must be brought in a certain county is not binding on the assured,[17] although by-laws in the nature of statutes of limitation, prescribing the time within which suits must be brought, are upheld where the time is not unreasonably short.[18]

14. That a corporation is not, under the Missouri statute providing that the stock of any company formed under the act shall be personal estate and shall be "transferable in the manner prescribed by the by-laws of the company," authorized to pass by-laws reserving a lien upon all shares issued or held by any shareholder for the security of any debt due the corporation by him see Atchison County Bank v. Durfee, 118 Mo. 431, 24 S. W. 133, holding, however, that such a by-law may be binding upon one who assisted in passing it, and upon a purchaser from him of the shares with notice of the lien.

15. Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273. That a by-law prescribing that any shareholder paying fifty per cent of his shares shall be discharged from all future calls on his subscription except by way of forfeiture is valid even as against creditors, upon his complying with it before dissolution of the corporation, see Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273. See also infra, VIII, B, 1 et seq.

Ratification by creditor.— What act of a creditor who is also a trustee of the corporation will not be deemed a ratification of such a by-law see Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273.

16. For the governing principle see Home Ins. Co. v. Morse, 20 Wall. (U. S.) 445, 22 L. ed. 365; Scott v. Avery, 5 H. L. Cas. 811, 2 Jur. N. S. 815, 25 L. J. Exch. 303, 4 Wkly. Rep. 746.

On the same principle a custom that a party having a claim due upon contract may not pursue the remedies provided by law to collect it is not a good custom. Spears v. Ward, 48 Ind. 541; Manson v. Grand Lodge A. O. U. W., 30 Minn. 509, 16 N. W. 395.

17. Nute v. Hamilton Mut. Ins. Co., 6 Gray (Mass.) 174.

That a by-law of a municipal corporation prohibiting members from pursuing their legal remedies beyond the jurisdiction of the corporation is void see Ballard v. Bennet, 2 Burr. 775; Player v. Archer, 2 Sid. 120.

18. Amesbury v. Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co., 6 Gray (Mass.) 596; Wilson v. Ætna Ins. Co., 27 Vt. 99; Cray v. Hartford F. Ins. Co., 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,375, 1 Blatchf. 280.

Applied to what corporations.— The principle of the text is generally applied only with respect to those corporations where property rights are involved. It does not apply to the case of religious societies, fraternal organizations, social clubs, etc., where, generally stated, it is the policy of the law to compel members to settle their grievances before their own corporate judicatories, before resorting to the judicial courts. See on this subject Harrington v. Workingmen's Benev. Assoc., 70 Ga. 340; Supreme Council O. of C. F. v. Garrigus, 104 Ind. 133, 3 N. E. 818, 54 Am. Rep. 298; Bauer v. Samson Lodge K. of P., 102 Ind. 262, 1 N. E. 571; Lafond v. Deems, 81 N. Y. 507; Poultney v. Bachman, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 49; White v. Brownell, 2 Daly (N. Y.) 329.

As illustrating the disinclination of the courts to interfere with the by-laws of private societies organized for ideal purposes whether incorporated or not see the following cases:

Alabama.— Weatherly v. Montgomery County Medical, etc., Soc., 76 Ala. 567.

Georgia.— Hussey v. Gallagher, 61 Ga. 86; Savannah Cotton Exch. v. State, 54 Ga. 668.

Illinois.— People v. Chicago Bd. of Trade, 80 Ill. 134.

Maryland.— Osceola Tribe No. 11, I. O. R. M. v. Schmidt, 57 Md. 98; Anacosta Tribe No. 12, I. O. R. M. v. Murbach, 13 Md. 91, 71 Am. Dec. 625.

Michigan.— People v. St. George's Soc., 28 Mich. 261.

New York.— Lafond v. Deems, 81 N. Y. 507, 18 Abb. N. Cas. 344 [reversing 1 Abb. N. Cas. 318, 52 How. Pr. 41]; Loubat v. Le Roy, 15 Abb. N. Cas. 1; Olery v. Brown, 51 How. Pr. 92.

Pennsylvania.— Black, etc., Smiths' Soc. v. Vandyke, 2 Whart. 309, 30 Am. Dec. 263.

England.— Dawkins v. Antrobus, 17 Ch. D. 615, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 557, 29 Wkly. Rep. 511.

15. Compelling Members to Submit Disputes to Arbitration. Upon like grounds it has been held that a by-law of an incorporated merchants' exchange which compelled its members to submit their disputes to arbitration is unreasonable and void, since it has the effect of contracting away the right which every person has of seeking redress of grievances in the judicial courts, according to the law of the land.[19]

16. Establishing Quorum of Board of Directors. It seems that in the absence of a provision in the charter, governing statute, or articles of incorporation, it is competent to provide by a by-law what shall constitute a quorum of the board of directors.[20]

17. By-Laws Valid in Part and Void in Part. Like a statute a by-law may be valid in part and void in part, where the good and the bad portions of it are so far disassociated that the good might have been enacted without the bad,[21] but not where the sense is entire.[22]

D. Penalties For Enforcement — 1. By-Laws May Be Enforced by Reasonable Fines and Penalties — a. Rule Stated. In general it may be said that corporations have the power to enforce their by-laws by pecuniary fines, provided the fines are certain and not unreasonable, and do not amount to a forfeiture of property.[23]

b. Cannot Be Enforced by Forfeiture — (I) Of Property. An exception to the foregoing rule is that a corporate by-law cannot be enforced by a forfeiture of the property of a defaulting member.[24] A by-law of an incorporated society of tradesmen to the effect that every freeman using or not using said art, mystery, or trade should pay yearly to the company eight shillings, to be paid quarterly, and that every journeyman of the company should pay to the company four

If, however, the by-laws of the society make no provision for a tribunal to decide controversies arising between the society and its members, and a member is injured by the failure of the society to fulfil its contract to pay benefits, he may maintain an action at law against it for a redress of the injury. Dolan v. Court Good Samaritan, No. 5,910 A. O. of F., 128 Mass. 437.

19. State v. Union Merchants' Exch., 2 Mo. App. 96; Middleton's Case, Dyer 333*a*. Therefore a private agreement to submit to arbitration is revocable. Heath v. New York Gold Exch., 7 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 251, 38 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 168. And see Savannah Cotton Exch. v. State, 54 Ga. 668.

20. Hoyt v. Thompson, 19 N. Y. 207; Hoyt v. Shelden, 3 Bosw. (N. Y.) 267.

21. Shelton v. Mobile, 30 Ala. 540, 68 Am. Dec. 143; Amesbury v. Bowditch Mut. F. Ins. Co., 6 Gray (Mass.) 596; Rogers v. Jones, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 237, 19 Am. Dec. 493; Cleve v. Financial Corp., L. R. 16 Eq. 363, 43 L. J. Ch. 54, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 89, 26 Wkly. Rep. 839.

22. London v. Salisbury, Comb. 221, per Lord Holt, C. J.

For the same principle with regard to private contracts see Friend v. Pettingill, 116 Mass. 515; Haynes v. Nice, 100 Mass. 327, 1 Am. Rep. 109; Allen v. Leonard, 16 Gray (Mass.) 202; Eastern R. Co. v. Benedict, 15 Gray (Mass.) 289; Page v. Monks, 5 Gray (Mass.) 492; Rand v. Mather, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 1, 59 Am. Dec. 131; Wood v. Benson, 2 Cromp. & J. 94, 1 L. J. Exch. 18, 1 Price P. C. 169, 2 Tyrw. 93; Howe v. Synge, 15 East 440; Wigg v. Shuttleworth, 13 East 87; Gaskell v. King, 11 East 165, 10 Rev. Rep. 462; Kerrison v. Cole, 8 East 231; Norton v. Simmes, Hob. 18; Australasia Bank v. Breillat, 12 Jur. 189, 6 Moore P. C. 152, 13 Eng. Reprint 642; Bishop of Chester v. Freeland, Ley 71; Doe v. Pitcher, 2 Marsh. 61, 3 M. & S. 407, 6 Taunt. 359, 1 E. C. L. 653; Greenwood v. London, 1 Marsh. 292, 5 Taunt. 727, 15 Rev. Rep. 627, 1 E. C. L. 373; Newman v. Newman, 4 M. & S. 66, 1 Stark. 101, 16 Rev. Rep. 386, 2 E. C. L. 47; Mouys v. Leake, 8 T. R. 411.

For applications of same principle to cases affected by statute of frauds see note in 1 Thompson Corp. pp. 843, 844.

23. Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457; In re Chamberlain of London Case, 5 Coke 62*b*; Bosworth v. Budgen, 7 Mod. 459; Leathley v. Webster, Sayer 251; Angell & A. Corp. § 360. In In re London Case, 8 Coke 121*b*, 127*b*, 3 Leon. 265, a similar doctrine is laid down. "A constitution cannot be made on pain or imprisonment; and the case cited before, of Trin. 41 Eliz. inter Waltham and Austen, that a constitution cannot be made on pain of forfeiture of goods; therefore it ought to be on a reasonable pecuniary pain, or not at all." To the same effect see Mobile v. Yuille, 3 Ala. 137, 36 Am. Dec. 441. In Rex v. Newdigate, Comb. 10, it was "resolved, That the City of London cannot set a Fine, &c. for Non-performance of a By-law." But this doctrine was overthrown, as above seen, and has never been the law in this country.

24. Kirk v. Nowill, 1 T. R. 118, 1 Rev. Rep. 160. Compare Stuyvesant v. New York, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 588; Dunham v. Rochester, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 462; New York v. Ordrenan, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 122.

shillings, to be paid quarterly, and that every person refusing so to pay should forfeit twice the sum named, has been held bad, inasmuch as it did not appear that any rightful expenditure of the company required such a contribution.[25]

(II) Of Shares—(A) Rule Stated. On the same principle it is not competent for a corporation, unless the power is expressly given in its charter, to enforce a by-law by the penalty of a forfeiture of the shares of a member.[26] A by-law providing that the shares of a member shall be forfeited to the corporation for his default in the payment of assessments or calls is therefore void.[27] But where the articles of association empower the directors to provide for the cancellation of the shares of a member upon his failure to pay the annual dues imposed upon him, and to make by-laws not inconsistent with law or with the articles of association, the enactment by them of a by-law imposing an annual due upon each shareholder is valid.[28]

(B) Exception Where Power Expressly Conferred by Charter or Statute. The above rule does not apply where the corporation has been by charter or statute invested with the power to enforce the payment of assessments or calls upon its shares by a forfeiture of them.[29]

2. Fine or Penalty Must Be Certain. On this subject it has been said "that the penalty must be a sum certain, and not left to the arbitrary assessment of the governing board of the company under the circumstances of the particular case, even though the utmost limit of the same be fixed; for this would be allowing a party to assess his own damages.[30] But in the case of municipal corporations the practice is believed to be universal for the by-law to prescribe, as in the case of a statute, the maximum fine or penalty for its violation, leaving to the police magistrate the discretion to reduce it by assessing a smaller sum, according to the merits of the case; and no legal objection to this practice exists.[31] Nor is there any objection to the application of the same principle in the case of private corporations.[32]

3. Making Corporation Judge in Its Own Case. Nor is it a sound view that vesting in the judicatory of the corporation the power to make such a fine or pen-

25. London, etc., Tobacco Pipe Makers Co. v. Woodroffe, 7 B. & C. 838, 14 E. C. L. 374.

Accordingly that a municipal corporation cannot ordain the seizure and sale of a falling warehouse constituting an obstruction in a public river see Hart v. Albany, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 571, 24 Am. Dec. 165, per Edmonds, Senator.

An exception to the above statement is found in the power of municipal corporations, when thereto authorized by the legislature, to destroy private property for the purpose of abating nuisances injurious to the public health — a subject with which this article is not concerned. Another exception exists in the case of by-laws of mutual insurance and mutual benefit societies, which provide for a forfeiture of membership and of the right to benefits in case default is made in the payment of assessments for a stated period of time; this condition being good because it derives its force from a mutual consent of the parties and is not in invitum. Beadle v. Chenango County Mut. Ins. Co., 3 Hill (N. Y.) 161. See also Cahill v. Kalamazoo Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Dougl. (Mich.) 124, 43 Am. Dec. 457.

26. That a by-law of a corporation cannot impose a forfeiture of shares of stock or of goods, or of any corporate interest as a penalty for its breach, was held in Rosenback v. Salt Springs Nat. Bank, 53 Barb. (N. Y.) 495; Master Stevedores' Assoc. v. Walsh, 2 Daly (N. Y.) 1; In re Long Island R. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 37, 32 Am. Dec. 429.

27. In re Long Island R. Co., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 37, 32 Am. Dec. 429.

28. Omaha Law Library Assoc. v. Connell, 55 Nebr. 396, 75 N. W. 837. Compare infra, VI, O, 1, a, (v), (c).

29. Cases construing this power where conferred by statute. Instone v. Frankfort Bridge Co., 2 Bibb (Ky.) 576, 5 Am. Dec. 638; Andover, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Gould, 6 Mass. 40, 4 Am. Dec. 80; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273; Jenkins v. Union Turnpike Road Co., 1 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 86 [reversing 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 381].

30. Mobile v. Yuille, 3 Ala. 137, 36 Am. Dec. 441; Wood v. Searl, J. Bridgm. 139; Scarning's Case, 3 Leon. 7; Angell & A. Corp. § 360.

31. Huntsville v. Phelps, 27 Ala. 55 [overruling on this point Mobile v. Yuille, 3 Ala. 137, 36 Am. Dec. 441].

32. Piper v. Chappell, 9 Jur. 601, 14 M. & W. 624, 649 [explaining Wood v. Searl, J. Bridgm. 139]. In the case in J. Bridgman the penalty assessed by the by-law was a sum not exceeding forty shillings, and it was held to be bad; but Baron Parke pointed out, in alty within the maximum amount prescribed by the by-law has the effect of making the corporation a judge in its own case; since all corporations, not only municipal corporations but also mutual benefit societies, religious societies, merchants' exchanges, social clubs, and many other private corporations and societies must necessarily have the power to enforce, through their constituted judicatories, their valid rules and regulations, subject to the superintendence of the judicial courts.[33]

4. INVALIDITY OF BY-LAWS IMPOSING EXCESSIVE FINES. A by-law imposing an excessive fine for its infraction will be set aside as unreasonable.[34]

5. DERELICTIONS FOR WHICH FINES MAY OR MAY NOT BE IMPOSED. Under the old law, a by-law imposing a fine for refusing to accept a corporate office was valid;[35] and so was a by-law imposing a fine for the non-attendance at corporate meetings.[36] But a by-law of a corporation engaged in the manufacture of dairy products, requiring each shareholder to furnish twenty pounds of milk per day for each share owned by him, and imposing a pecuniary fine for its violation, was held invalid, on the ground that corporations have no right, without express legislative authority, to impose fines for violations of by-laws, for which the shareholder may be sued and amerced in his property.[37]

6. BY-LAWS PRESUMPTIVELY VALID. The presumption of law is that a corporation exercises its powers according to law. Its by-laws are hence presumptively valid, and the burden of overthrowing them is upon the party who asserts their invalidity.[38]

VI. CAPITAL STOCK AND SUBSCRIPTIONS THERETO.

A. Nature of Capital Stock and Shares in General — 1. PROPRIETY AND NECESSITY OF SHARE OWNERSHIP. A corporation aggregate may exist without share ownership even where it is organized for business purposes, in the absence of any prohibition in its charter or governing statute, as where the members agree that, instead of issuing shares their rights in the capital stock shall pass with the corporate property and privileges; and such a corporation is not, like a partnership, dissolved by the death of its original members.[39]

2. DEFINITION OF CAPITAL STOCK. Strictly the capital stock of a corporation is the money contributed by the corporators to the capital, and is usually represented by shares issued to subscribers to the stock on the initiation of the corporate enterprise.[40]

3. DISTINCTION BETWEEN CAPITAL OWNERSHIP AND SHARE OWNERSHIP. Capital and shares are species of property distinct from each other. The capital or capital

Piper v. Chappell, 9 Jur. 601, 14 M. & W. 624, that it might have been held bad upon other objections.

Within the meaning of this principle a by-law of a trades-union to the effect that if any member, after an investigation by a committee, should be found guilty of working for less than the price fixed, he should forfeit to the association twenty-five per cent of the amount of such bill as fixed by the association, which penalty might be collected in the name of the corporation by due process of law, was not void for uncertainty. Nor did it denounce a forfeiture, but a pecuniary penalty merely, which was sufficiently certain. Master Stevedores' Assoc. v. Walsh, 2 Daly (N. Y.) 1.

33. Huntsville v. Phelps, 27 Ala. 55.

34. Hagerman v. Ohio Bldg., etc., Assoc., 25 Ohio St. 186; Lynn v. Freemansburg Bldg., etc., Assoc., 117 Pa. St. 1, 11 Atl. 537, 2 Am. St. Rep. 639.

35. London, etc., Tobacco Pipe Makers Co. v. Woodroffe, 7 B. & C. 838, 14 E. C. L. 374 [overruling Oxford v. Wildgoose, 3 Lev. 293]; Rex v. Larwood, Carth. 306. See also London City v. Vanacker, Carth. 480.

36. London, etc., Tobacco Pipe Makers Co. v. Woodroffe, 7 B. & C. 838, 14 E. C. L. 374.

37. Monroe Dairy Assoc. v. Webb, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 49, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 572.

38. International Bldg., etc., Assoc. No. 2 v. Wall, 153 Ind. 554, 55 N. E. 431.

39. McGinty v. Athol Reservoir Co., 155 Mass. 183, 29 N. E. 510. On the other hand in England the articles of a company limited by guaranty, and not having a capital divided into shares, may provide for a division of the interests of the members into transmissible shares. Malleson v. General Mineral Patents Syndicate, [1894] 3 Ch. 538, 63 L. J. Ch. 868, 71 L. T. Rep. N. S. 476, 13 Reports 144, 43 Wkly. Rep. 41.

40. Andrews, J., in Christensen v. Eno, 106 N. Y. 97, 12 N. E. 648, 60 Am. Rep. 429. See also CAPITAL STOCK, 6 Cyc. 348.

stock belongs to the corporation considered as a legal person or entity; the shares are the property of the individual shareholders according to their several holdings, and in the absence of restraint imposed upon them by a valid statute they have the absolute right to dispose of them without any restraint from the corporation.[41]

4. Distinction Between Actual and Potential Stock. Actual stock is stock which has been subscribed for and either paid in, or subject, under legal compulsion, to be paid in; while potential stock is merely the power under the charter or governing statute to acquire a capital stock;[42] and the meaning of the words "capital stock," when employed in statutes, is usually, although not always, stock which has been paid up or which is subject to be paid up.[43]

5. Distinction Between Capital Stock and Tangible Property. The term "capital stock," in an act of incorporation, is said to mean the amount contributed or advanced by the shareholders as members of the company, and does not refer to the tangible property of the corporation.[44]

6. When Capital Deemed to Include Profits and Surplus. The profits and surplus funds of a bank, whenever they may have accrued, are, until separated from the capital by the declaration of a dividend, a part of the stock itself, and will pass with the stock under that name in a transfer or bequest.[45]

7. Distinction Between Shares in Partnership and in Incorporated Company. Sir Nathaniel Lindley, in his work on Partnership,[46] points out this distinction in the following language: "What is meant by the share of a partner is his proportion of the partnership assets after they have all been realized upon and converted into money, and all the debts and liabilities have been paid and discharged.[47] This it is, and this only, which on the death of a partner passes to his represen-

41. Bent v. Hart, 10 Mo. App. 143; Union Bank v. State, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 489; Brightwell v. Mallory [cited in 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 196].

This distinction, although subtle, is important. For example a taxation of capital is a different thing from a taxation of the shares in a corporation; different exemptions attend such taxation, both in favor of the corporation and in favor of the shareholder. Van Allen v. Assessors, 3 Wall. (U. S.) 573, 18 L. ed. 229.

Shares inappropriately called "stock."— American judges and writers frequently designate shares in a corporation by calling it "stock"; and one court has thought this designation not inappropriate. People v. Tax Com'rs, 23 N. Y. 192.

42. Sturges v. Stetson, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,568, 1 Biss. 246.

43. Pratt v. Munson, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 475; Com. v. Lehigh Ave. R. Co., 129 Pa. St. 405, 18 Atl. 414, 498, 24 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 530, 5 L. R. A. 367.

44. State v. Morristown F. Assoc., 23 N. J. L. 195. See also Barry v. Merchants' Exch. Co., 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 280. Compare State v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 37 Mo. 265, where the court, construing a statute relating to revenue, seems to have lost sight of this distinction.

45. Phelps v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 26 Conn. 269.

46. 2 Lindley Partn. (4th ed.) 661, 662.

47. In support of this proposition he cites the following cases, all of which support his text: Darby v. Darby, 3 Drew. 495, 2 Jur. N. S. 271, 25 L. J. Ch. 371, 4 Wkly. Rep. 413; Croft v. Pyke, 3 P. Wms. 180, 24 Eng. Reprint 1020; Doddington v. Hallet, 1 Ves. 497, 27 Eng. Reprint 1165; West v. Skip, 1 Ves. 239, 27 Eng. Reprint 1006; Featherstonhaugh v. Fenwick, 17 Ves. Jr. 298, 11 Rev. Rep. 77; Crawshay v. Collins, 15 Ves. Jr. 218, 10 Rev. Rep. 61; Taylor v. Fields, 4 Ves. Jr. 396. To which the learned American editor, Dr. Ewell, has added the following citations of American cases which seem equally applicable:

Connecticut.— Filley v. Phelps, 18 Conn. 294.

Illinois.— Simpson v. Leech, 86 Ill. 286; Carter v. Bradley, 58 Ill. 101.

Indiana.— Smith v. Evans, 37 Ind. 526.

Iowa.— Mayer v. Garber, 53 Iowa 689, 6 N. W. 63.

Louisiana.— Perry v. Holloway, 6 La. Ann. 265.

Maine.— Douglas v. Winslow, 20 Me. 89.

Maryland.— Hall v. Clagett, 48 Md. 223; Conkling v. Washington University, 2 Md. Ch. 497.

Minnesota.— Schalck v. Harmon, 6 Minn. 265.

New Jersey.— Hill v. Beach, 12 N. J. Eq. 31.

New York.— Staats v. Bristow, 73 N. Y. 264; Menagh v. Whitwell, 52 N. Y. 146, 11 Am. Rep. 683.

United States.— In re Corbett, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,220, 5 Sawy. 206.

See also Taft v. Schwamb, 80 Ill. 289; Chase v. Scott, 33 Iowa 309.

tatives or to a legatee of his share;[48] which under the old law was considered as bona notabilia;[49] which on his bankruptcy passes to his trustee;[50] and which the sheriff can dispose of under a fieri facias issued at the suit of a separate creditor,[51] or under an extent at the suit of the Crown.[52] . . . Speaking generally, a share in a company signifies a definite portion of its capital. When a company is formed, a sum of money is fixed upon and is called its capital; this sum is divided into a number of equal portions; each of these portions is a share, and whether the sum fixed upon is ever all subscribed or not, and whether what is subscribed is employed profitably or to the contrary, a share retains its original meaning. A share in a company, like a share in a partnership, is in truth a definite portion of a joint estate after it has been turned into money and applied, as far as may be necessary, in payment of the joint debts." [53]

8. CAPITAL STOCK LIABILITY OF CORPORATION AND NOT DEBT OF SHAREHOLDERS TO CORPORATION. Capital stock which has been paid up is a liability of the corporation to the shareholder; since on winding up the shareholder is entitled to his ratable share in the distribution of the assets of the corporation after the claims of its creditors have been satisfied, for which reason if a shareholder sells his shares while the corporation is insolvent, neither the corporation nor its legal representative can maintain an action against the shareholder for the money which he has received for them.[54]

9. SHARES OF STOCK ARE PERSONAL PROPERTY. Contrary to early opinion,[55] it is now generally agreed that shares of stock in corporations are personal property, 48. Citing Farquhar v. Hadden, L. R. 7 Ch. 1, 41 L. J. Ch. 260, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 717.

49. Citing Atty.-Gen. v. Higgins, 2 H. & N. 339, 26 L. J. Exch. 403; Ekins v. Brown, 1 Spinks 400.

50. Citing Smith v. Stokes, 1 East 363.

51. Alabama.—Wilson v. Strobach, 59 Ala. 488.

California.— Jones v. Thompson, 12 Cal. 191.

Connecticut.— Filley v. Phelps, 18 Conn. 294; Witter v. Richards, 10 Conn. 37; Brewster v. Hammet, 4 Conn. 540.

Illinois.— White v. Jones, 38 Ill. 159; James v. Stratton, 32 Ill. 202; Newhall v. Buckingham, 14 Ill. 405.

Louisiana.— Choppin v. Wilson, 27 La. Ann. 444; Marston v. Dewberry, 21 La. Ann. 518; Thomas v. Lusk, 13 La. Ann. 277; Lee v. Bullard, 3 La. Ann. 462; Nelson v. Conner, 3 La. Ann. 456.

Maryland.— People's Bank v. Shryock, 48 Md. 427, 30 Am. Rep. 476.

Massachusetts.— Fisk v. Herrick, 6 Mass. 271; Pierce v. Jackson, 6 Mass. 242.

Mississippi.— Williams v. Gage, 49 Miss. 777; Sitler v. Walker, Freem. 77.

Missouri.— Wiles v. Maddox, 26 Mo. 77.

New Hampshire.— Dow v. Sayward, 12 N. H. 271, 14 N. H. 9; Gibson v. Stevens, 7 N. H. 352; Tappan v. Blaisdell, 5 N. H. 190.

New York.— Menagh v. Whitwell, 52 N. Y. 146, 11 Am. Rep. 683; Phillips v. Cook, 24 Wend. 389.

Ohio.— Nixon v. Nash, 12 Ohio St. 647, 80 Am. Dec. 390; Place v. Sweetzer, 16 Ohio 142.

Pennsylvania.— Morgan v. Watmough, 5 Whart. 125; Knox v. Summers, 4 Yeates 477; McCarty v. Emlen, 2 Yeates 190.

South Carolina.— Knox v. Schepler, 2 Hill 595.

Tennessee.—Saunders v. Bartlett, 12 Heisk. 316; White v. Dougherty, Mart. & Y. 308, 17 Am. Dec. 802.

Texas.— Weaver v. Ashcroft, 50 Tex. 427.

United States.—Lyndon v. Gorham, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,640, 1 Gall. 367; Merrill v. Rinker, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,471, Baldw. 528; U. S. v. Williams, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,719, 4 McLean 236.

England.— Holmes v. Mentz, 4 A. & E. 127, 4 Dowl. P. C. 300, 1 Hurl. & W. 608, 5 L. J. K. B. 62, 5 N. & M. 563, 31 E. C. L. 74; Johnson v. Evans, 1 D. & L. 935, 13 L. J. C. P. 117, 7 M. & G. 240, 7 Scott N. R. 1035, 49 E. C. L. 240; Matter of Wait, 1 Jac. & W. 605; Skipp v. Harwood, 2 Swanst. 586.

52. Citing Spears v. Murray, 6 Cl. & F. 180, 7 Eng. Reprint 665; Rex v. Hodge, 12 Price 537; Rex v. Pock, 2 Price 198; Rex v. Sanderson, Wightw. 50, 12 Rev. Rep. 713.

53. Citing Sparling v. Parker, 9 Beav. 450, 10 Jur. 448; Watson v. Spratley, 2 C. L. R. 1434, 10 Exch. 222, 24 L. J. Exch. 53, 2 Wkly. Rep. 627.

As to nature of share ownership in unincorporated joint-stock companies under Scottish law see Dove v. Young, 7 Macph. 304.

54. Bent v. Hart, 73 Mo. 641 [affirming 10 Mo. App. 143].

55. Welles v. Cowles, 2 Conn. 567, 4 Conn. 182, 10 Am. Dec. 115; Copeland v. Copeland, 7 Bush (Ky.) 349; Price v. Price, 6 Dana (Ky.) 107; Meason's Estate, 4 Watts (Pa.) 341; Townsend v. Ash, 3 Atk. 336, 26 Eng. Reprint 995; Vincent v. Stansfeld, 4 Bro. Ch. 353, 2 Ves. Jr. 226, 29 Eng. Reprint 931; Rex v. Chipping-Norton, 5 East 239, Drybutter v. Bartholomew, 2 P. Wms. 127, 24

whether they are declared to be such by statute or not, and whether the property of the corporation itself is real or personal.[56]

Eng. Reprint 668; Buckeridge v. Ingram, 2 Ves. Jr. 652.

56. California.— Tregear v. Etiwanda Water Co., 76 Cal. 537, 18 Pac. 658, 9 Am. St. Rep. 245.

Georgia.— Southwestern R. Co. v. Thomason, 40 Ga. 408.

Indiana.— Seward v. Rising Sun, 79 Ind. 351.

Iowa.— Allen v. Pegram, 16 Iowa 163.

Massachusetts.—Tippets v. Walker, 4 Mass. 595, per Parsons, C. J.

Ohio.— Johns v. Johns, 1 Ohio St. 350.

Rhode Island.— Arnold v. Ruggles, 1 R. I. 165.

England.— Russell v. Temple, 3 Dane Abr. 108; Edwards v. Hall, 6 De G. M. & G. 74, 1 Jur. N. S. 1189, 25 L. J. Ch. 82, 4 Wkly. Rep. 111, 55 Eng. Ch. 58 [following Myers v. Perigal, 2 De G. M. & G. 599, 17 Jur. 145, 22 L. J. Ch. 431, 1 Wkly. Rep. 57, 51 Eng. Ch. 468 (where the same was held with respect of shares of an unincorporated joint-stock company), and overruling Ware v. Cumberlege, 20 Beav. 503, 1 Jur. N. S. 745, 3 Wkly. Rep. 437, 24 L. J. Ch. 630]; Bradley v. Holdsworth, 1 H. & H. 156, 7 L. J. Exch. 153, 3 M. & W. 422; Bligh v. Brent, 6 L. J. Exch. Eq. 58, 2 Y. & C. Exch. 268; Duncuft v. Albrecht, 12 Sim. 189, 35 Eng. Ch. 162.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 166.

Subject to law of domicile of owner.— Shares of stock in a corporation, being personal property, are for most, although not for all, purposes, and especially not for the purpose of taxation, governed by the law of the domicile of the owner of the shares. Lowndes v. Cooch, 87 Md. 478, 39 Atl. 1045, 40 L. R. A. 380.

Shares in unincorporated joint-stock companies are also personal property.— It is now settled in England that shares in joint-stock companies, whether incorporated or unincorporated, are, like shares in a partnership, personal property. Thus it has been held that shares in railroad companies (Linley v. Taylor, 1 Giff. 67 [reversed in 2 De G. F. & J. 84, 28 L. J. Ch. 686, 7 Wkly. Rep. 639, 63 Eng. Ch. 66]), canal companies (Edwards v. Hall, 6 De G. M. & G. 74, 1 Jur. N. S. 1189, 25 L. J. Ch. 82, 4 Wkly. Rep. 111, 55 Eng. Ch. 58), cost-book mining companies (Hayter v. Tucker, 4 Kay & J. 243), foreign mining companies (Baker v. Sutton, 1 Keen 224, 5 L. J. Ch. 264, 15 Eng. Ch. 224), and insurance companies (March v. Atty.-Gen., 5 Beav. 433, 6 Jur. 82, 12 L. J. Ch. 31) are not interests in land within the mortmain acts. So it has been held that shares in water-works companies (Bligh v. Brent, 6 L. J. Exch. 58, 2 Y. & C. Exch. 268; Weekley v. Weekley, 2 Y. & C. Exch. 281 note), cost-book mining companies (Walker v. Bartlett, 18 C. B. 845, 2 Jur. N. S. 643, 25 L. J. C. P. 263, 4 Wkly. Rep. 681, 86 E. C. L. 845; Powell v. Jessopp, 18 C. B. 336, 25 L. J. C. P. 199, 4 Wkly. Rep. 465, 86 E. C. L. 336; Watson v. Spratley, 2 C. L. R. 1434, 10 Exch. 222, 24 L. J. Exch. 53, 2 Wkly. Rep. 627. Contra and overruled Boyce v. Greene, Batty 608; Vice v. Anson, 7 B. & C. 409, 14 E. C. L. 187, 3 C. & P. 19, 14 E. C. L. 429, 6 L. J. K. B. O. S. 24, 1 M. & R. 183), banking companies (Humble v. Mitchell, 11 A. & E. 205, 9 L. J. Q. B. 29, 3 P. & D. 141, 2 R. & Can. Cas. 70, 39 E. C. L. 130), and railway companies (Bradley v. Holdsworth, 1 H. & H. 156, 7 L. J. Exch. 153, 3 M. & W. 422; Duncuft v. Albrecht, 12 Sim. 189, 35 Eng. Ch. 162) are not interests in land within the meaning of the fourth section of the statute of frauds.

Shares of stock not goods, wares, and merchandise.— Neither are shares of joint-stock companies goods, wares, or merchandise within the seventeenth section of the English statute of frauds. Watson v. Spratley, 2 C. L. R. 1434, 10 Exch. 222, 24 L. J. Exch. 53, 2 Wkly. Rep. 627. See Colt v. Nettervill, 2 P. Wms. 304, 24 Eng. Reprint 741. It has been so held with respect of banking companies (Humble v. Mitchell, 11 A. & E. 205, 9 L. J. Q. B. 29, 3 P. & D. 141, 2 R. & Can. Cas. 70, 39 E. C. L. 130), railway companies (Bowlby v. Bell, 3 C. B. 284, 16 L. J. C. P. 18, 54 E. C. L. 284; Tempest v. Kilner, 2 C. B. 300, 3 D. & L. 407, 15 L. J. C. P. 10, 52 E. C. L. 300; Duncuft v. Albrecht, 12 Sim. 189, 35 Eng. Ch. 162), and stock-book mining companies (Watson v. Spratley, 2 C. L. R. 1434, 10 Exch. 222, 24 L. J. Exch. 53, 2 Wkly. Rep. 627). Nor are such shares within the exception in the English stamp acts, exempting agreements relating to the sale of goods, wares, and merchandise from stamp duty. Knight v. Barber, 2 C. & K. 333, 10 Jur. 929, 16 L. J. Exch. 18, 1 M. & W. 66, 61 E. C. L. 333. Modern American cases are met with which hold that shares of corporate stock are goods, wares, and merchandise, within the meaning of the statute of frauds, so as to require a note or memorandum in writing to validate a sale thereof. Bernhardt v. Walls, 29 Mo. App. 206; Fine v. Hornsby, 2 Mo. App. 61. But this does not of course impugn the well-known rule that shares may be transferred by the delivery of the share certificate, which is the symbol of share ownership. See infra, VII, D, 3, a, (I), (C).

Not "moneys."— Shares of stock have been held not to be "moneys" within the meaning of a clause in a will creating a specific bequest. Collins v. Collins, L. R. 12 Eq. 455, 40 L. J. Ch. 541, 24 L. T. Rep. N. S. 780, 19 Wkly. Rep. 971.

Are choses in action.— Judicial opinion has characterized corporate shares as choses in action.

Alabama.— Planters', etc., Bank v. Leavens, 4 Ala. 753.

B. Power to Create a Share Capital. The power of an association of individuals to create a share capital, to divide their interests in the common venture into shares, and to distribute those shares among themselves in proportion to their several interests is not a franchise, but exists as of common right; and therefore numerous unincorporated joint-stock companies exist, both in America and in England, the members of which are liable for the debts of the concern as partners. But an exemption from this liability as partners is in the nature of a franchise, and does not exist unless it has been conferred by the state. The powers granted to corporations are strictly construed in favor of the state and against the grantees; and therefore it is supposed that incorporated companies cannot create a capital stock as individuals can, without the sanction of the legislature.[57]

C. Power of Corporations With Respect to Unissued Shares — 1. Power of Corporation to Mortgage or Pledge — a. Unissued Shares. The power of a corporation to mortgage or pledge its unissued shares, except where the power has been expressly granted by statute, has been denied[58] and affirmed.[59] But it has been held that a corporation, although expressly prohibited by charter or statute from issuing its shares for less than par, will be estopped to deny the validity of a pledge of its unissued shares, after having reaped the benefit of the transaction.[60] A charter power to pledge, by mortgage or otherwise, the capital stock of a particular corporation has been construed as referring to actual and not to potential stock.[61]

b. Uncalled Capital. This question has been several times considered in England, as stated in the note.[62] The true rule seems to be that while a valid assessment and call upon unpaid shares may be the subject of an assignment, because it then becomes a debt presently due and payable,[63] yet, unless a share subscription in terms imposes an absolute promise to pay the amount subscribed without any call, it is not the subject of a pledge or assignment, because the effect of such an assignment would be to delegate to a third person the discretion of making an assessment, which the law has vested in the directors.[64] But this view has not always prevailed. A deed of trust made by an insolvent corporation, expressly assigning its unpaid share subscriptions, but giving no power to make calls for the unpaid balances due thereon has been upheld; and it has been further held that in such a case upon the failure of the president and directors to make Massachusetts.— Stanwood v. Stanwood, 17 Mass. 57.

New York.— Denton v. Livingston, 9 Johns. 96, 6 Am. Dec. 264.

Pennsylvania.— Slaymaker v. Gettysburg Bank, 10 Pa. St. 373.

Rhode Island.— Arnold v. Ruggles, 1 R. I. 165.

57. It has been so held with respect to a corporation created for the purpose of establishing a cemetery, nor does the power in the act of incorporation "generally [to] do all such other matters and things as are incident to a corporation" confer upon such a corporation this power. Cooke v. Marshall, 196 Pa. St. 200, 46 Atl. 447 [affirming 191 Pa. St. 315, 43 Atl. 314, 44 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 159].

58. Brewster v. Hartley, 37 Cal. 15, 99 Am. Dec. 237, opinion by Rhodes, J. Compare Combination Trust Co. v. Weed, 2 Fed. 24.

59. Union Sav. Assoc. v. Seligman, 92 Mo. 635, 15 S. W. 630, 1 Am. St. Rep. 776 [reversing 11 Mo. App. 142, overruling Griswold v. Seligman, 72 Mo. 110, and following Burgess v. Seligman, 107 U. S. 20, 2 S. Ct. 10, 27 L. ed. 359 (Hough, C. J., and Sherwood, J., dissenting)]; Guest v. Worcester, etc., R. Co., L. R. 4 C. P. 9, 38 L. J. C. P. 23; Ashworth v. Bristol, etc., R. Co., 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 561.

60. Peterborough R. Co. v. Nashua, etc., R. Co., 59 N. H. 385; Gasquet v. Crescent City Brewing Co., 49 Fed. 496.

61. Sturges v. Stetson, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,568, 1 Biss. 246.

62. This power has been affirmed in respect of a company organized under the Companies Act 1862 (In re Pyle Works, 44 Ch. D. 534, 59 L. J. Ch. 489, 62 L. T. Rep. N. S. 887, 20 Neg. C. R. 83, 38 Wkly. Rep. 674), under articles of association broad enough to confer it (Newton v. Anglo-Australian, etc., Invest. Co., [1895] A. C. 244, 64 L. J. P. C. 57); but has more recently been denied under section 5 of the Companies Act 1879 (In re Mayfair Property Co., [1898] 2 Ch. 28, 67 L. J. Ch. 337, 78 L. T. Rep. N. S. 302, 5 Manson 126, 46 Wkly. Rep. 465 [affirming 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 652]).

63. Morris v. Cheney, 51 Ill. 451. See also Smith v. Hollett, 34 Ind. 519.

64. Shultz v. Sutter, 3 Mo. App. 137.

the proper assessment a court of chancery will supply the remedy by making them.[65]

c. Voting Power of Its Shares. It has been held that a corporation has the power to pledge the voting power of its unissued shares, as additional security for the payment of its bonds, and that such a pledge is not opposed to a sound public policy.[66]

2. Power to Create Preferred Stock and Issue Preferred Shares — a. In General. In organizing a corporation, the adventurers may classify its stock and provide for a preference of one class over another in respect of both capital and dividends, in the absence of a prohibition in the charter or governing statute.[67] But where the common shares have been subscribed and the rights of the common shareholders have become fixed, then, in the absence of a preëxisting statute authorizing it, preferred stock cannot be issued, so as to prejudice the common shareholders or to postpone their right to dividends, without unanimous consent.[68] Although the charter or governing statute may not confer in express terms the power to issue preferred stock, yet where it has been issued by unanimous consent, that is, by the original authority or consent of the shareholders, or where, without such original authority or consent, its issue has been ratified by them by long acquiescence or otherwise, it will be deemed a valid issue.[69] Where a corporation whose stock is divided into common and preferred shares is authorized by statute to increase its capital, and the statute is silent as to the class to which the increased stock shall belong, it will be presumed that the legislature meant that it was to be common stock.[70] In England a limited company, having no authority under its memorandum or articles of association to create any preference between different classes of shares may, by special resolution, alter its articles so as to authorize the issue of preferred shares by way of an increase of capital.[71]

65. Vanderwerken v. Glenn, 85 Va. 9, 6 S. E. 806.

66. U. S. Water Works Co. v. Omaha Water Co., 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 594, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 817 [affirmed in 20 N. Y. App. Div. 630, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 1151]. Compare, supra, IV, F, 10, a.

67. McGregor v. Home Ins. Co., 33 N. J. Eq. 181; Gordon v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 78 Va. 501; Toledo R. Co. v. Continental Trust Co., 95 Fed. 497, 36 C. C. A. 155 [rehearing denied in 96 Fed. 784, 37 C. C. A. 587 (modifying 82 Fed. 642, 86 Fed. 929)]; Hamlin v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 78 Fed. 664, 24 C. C. A. 271, 36 L. R. A. 826; In re Bangor, etc., State, etc., Co., L. R. 20 Eq. 59, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 339, 23 Wkly. Rep. 785. Instance under which it was held that a clause in certificates of preferred shares giving the shares a lien upon the railroad would not be stricken out after an acquiescence of ten years. Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Continental Trust Co., 95 Fed. 497, 36 C. C. A. 155.

As to the right to issue preferred stock see Higgins v. Lansingh, 154 Ill. 301, 40 N. E. 362; Campbell v. American Zylonite Co., 122 N. Y. 455, 25 N. E. 853, 34 N. Y. St. 38, 11 L. R. A. 596; Eichbaum v. Chicago Grain Elevators, [1891] 3 Ch. 459, 61 L. J. Ch. 28, 40 Wkly. Rep. 153; In re Dicido Pier Co., [1891] 2 Ch. 354, 64 L. T. Rep. N. S. 695, 39 Wkly. Rep. 486; In re Bridgewater Nav. Co., 39 Ch. Div. 1, 57 L. J. Ch. 809, 58 L. T. Rep. N. S. 476, 36 Wkly. Rep. 769.

68. Ernst v. Elmira Municipal Improv. Co., 24 Misc. (N. Y.) 583, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 116. It has been held that a corporation, the promoters of which have voluntarily surrendered their right to preferred stock under an agreement with the corporation, without any arrangement for other stock or compensation, will not be required to turn over ordinary stock as an equivalent of the preferred stock. Dillon v. Commercial Cable Co., 87 Hun (N. Y.) 444, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 370, 68 N. Y. St. 449.

Nature of preferred stock see infra, VII, C. For the nature of preferred stock under a particular statute of Maryland, creating a lien in favor of the holders of preferred shares on the company's franchises and property, with priority over subsequent mortgages and other encumbrances, see Heller v. National Mar. Bank, 89 Md. 602, 43 Atl. 800, 73 Am. St. Rep. 212, 45 L. R. A. 438.

69. Higgins v. Lansingh, 154 Ill. 301, 40 N. E. 362.

70. Jones v. Concord, etc., R. Co., 67 N. H. 234, 30 Atl. 614, 68 Am. St. Rep. 650.

71. Andrews v. Gas Meter Co., [1897] 1 Ch. 361, 66 L. J. Ch. 246, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 132, 45 Wkly. Rep. 321 [overruling Hutton v. Scarborough Cliff Hotel Co., 2 Dr. & Sm. 521, 11 Jur. N. S. 849, 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 57, 13 Wkly. Rep. 1059]. This decision seems to overrule Andrews v. Gas Meter Co., 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 267, and Re Hyderabad Co., 3 Manson 242, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 23, which follow Hutton v. Scarborough Cliff Hotel Co., 2 Dr. & Sm. 521, 11 Jur. N. S. 849, 13 L. T.

b. Corporation Cannot Make Its Shares a Lien Upon Its Property Without Statutory Authority. The power to issue preferred shares does not include the power to make such shares a lien upon its property; the true conception of preferred shares being that they merely create a preference in the declaration and payment of dividends out of the income.[72] For the creation of a lien upon the property of the corporation in favor of any one class of its shares there must be a direct statutory authorization. Nor can an agreement between the shareholders and a subscriber to other shares of the corporation make such shares a lien on its property, as against any parties in interest except the shareholders themselves. Such an agreement does not affect the rights of bondholders or general creditors, without notice of it at the time when their relations to the corporation were assumed.[73]

D. Distribution of Share Capital — 1. Principles Governing Distribution. In the first place, it is to be observed that a joint-stock corporation may have a legal existence before any shares have been issued and distributed, as where there is no statute making the incorporation of the company dependent upon the subscription of its stock and the payment thereof; but there is a proviso that the corporate existence shall date from the filing of its charter in the office of the secretary of state, and by another statute the charter so filed is required to state only the amount of the capital and the number of shares into which it is divided.[74] In the second place, after the corporation has been regularly organized, it acquires an inherent right to admit new members; and where a corporation is organized under a charter granted to certain individuals "and their associates," the right, after an organization has been effected, to admit new members is not confined to the original charter members, but extends also to those who become members by participating in the organization.[75] In the third place, where the corporation possesses a joint stock, and a part of its organized capital stock remains untaken at the time of its incorporation, the right to issue the remainder of it is a corporate franchise, held by the corporation in trust for the corporators, and it must be disposed of for the equal benefit of all. And it has been held that if the directors dispose of it to the corporators unequally, and in violation of the rights of any, each corporator injured by their act may have his remedy in assumpsit against the corporation.[76] And where a board of directors was elected by means of votes represented by shares so illegally issued, an injunction was granted restraining them from taking possession of the corporate property or assuming to act as directors.[77] Moreover it has been held that a resolution of the directors, carried into effect, distributing such shares of stock among all the shareholders who are not in arrears on the shares already taken by them, and excluding those who are, is an unlawful imposition of a penalty on those in arrears, and a violation of the equal rights of a corporator who was ready and offered to take his proportion of the new shares.[78] But where the original corporators, to whom the charter is granted, stand ready to subscribe for more shares than the amount authorized, and in the scramble for precedence the total amount is subscribed for by some of them while others are ignored, the latter, according to one doubtful holding, have no remedy against the company, in the absence of Rep. N. S. 57, 13 Wkly. Rep. 1059. A provision in certificates of "preferred, non-voting capital stock" that if the holder fails to avail himself of the privilege of converting it into common stock, within a specified time, it shall "become converted 4 per cent. non-cumulative stock" does not show that it was not preferred stock before the rejection of the option. Hamlin v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 78 Fed. 664, 24 C. C. A. 271, 36 L. R. A. 826.

72. 2 Thompson Corp. § 2262.

73. Continental Trust Co. v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 72 Fed. 92.

74. Jefferson Nat. Bank v. Texas Invest. Co., 74 Tex. 421, 12 S. W. 101.

75. State v. Sibley, 25 Minn. 387.

76. Reese v. Montgomery County Bank, 31 Pa. St. 78, 72 Am. Dec. 726.

77. Humboldt Driving Park Assoc. v. Stevens, 34 Nebr. 528, 52 N. W. 568, 33 Am. St. Rep. 654.

78. Reese v. Montgomery County Bank, 31 Pa. St. 78, 72 Am. Dec. 726.

fraud or bad faith.[79] But it would seem to be in its very nature illegal and oppressive for some of the coadventurers to whom the franchise has been granted to shut out the others from participating in the enterprise, after the legislative grant has been procured.[80]

2. RIGHTS IN DISTRIBUTION. No discrimination can be made between bona fide purchasers of the shares of a corporation which are on sale in open market as to the right to perfect their title to the shares, when no discretionary power is reserved to that effect.[81] If for any valid reason the corporation cannot issue shares which have been subscribed for, so that the subscriber cannot have a decree for specific performance, the subscriber may have alternative relief by way of damages for the value of the shares and the dividends which they have earned.[82] A purchaser of stock in a corporation to be formed is not restricted, upon failure to issue the shares after payment therefor because the corporation is enjoined against it, to an action for damages for breach of the contract; but he may, after the expiration of a reasonable time, demand and recover back the money paid with interest.[83] One who contracts with the officers of a corporation in their individual capacity to do work for the corporation, in payment for which he is to receive a specified amount of the corporate stock, must look solely to such officers, and cannot compel the corporation to issue such shares.[84] A subscription for shares payable to a railroad company, "its associates, successors or assigns," entitles the subscriber, in case of a valid sale by such company of its property and franchises to another company, upon payment of the subscription, to receive shares in the successor company.[85] A corporation organized for the purpose of affording terminal and depot facilities to the railroads entering a city and required by its charter to refrain from discrimination, whose stock is held by the railroads availing themselves of its privileges, will be required to issue a proportionate share of its stock at par to a new railroad company desiring to enter the city, and not at a price proportionate to the enhanced value of its property and franchises; and in case it has not sufficient unissued shares, the several shareholders will be required to surrender or sell a portion of the shares held by them.[86] A corporation may authorize its president to make a contract in the name of the corporation to pay an agreed commission for selling its shares, or may ratify it after he has

79. Brown v. Florida Southern R. Co., 19 Fla. 472.

80. In Massachusetts a shareholder who has taken his proportion of new shares of stock in a corporation, issued under Mass. Stat. (1877), c. 230, § 3, is deprived of any right to a premium obtained on a sale thereof pursuant to a vote of the shareholders, unless the vote in terms so provides. Mason v. Davol Mills, 132 Mass. 76.

81. Rice v. Rockefeller, 134 N. Y. 174, 31 N. E. 907, 47 N. Y. St. 542, 29 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 120, 30 Am. St. Rep. 658, 17 L. R. A. 237.

82 Birmingham Nat. Bank v. Roden, 97 Ala. 404, 11 So. 883.

83. Rose v. Foord, 96 Cal. 152, 30 Pac. 1114.

84. Kelley v. Collier, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 353, 32 S. W. 428.

85. Chattanooga, etc., R. Co. v. Warthen, 98 Ga. 599, 25 S. E. 988.

86. St. Paul Union Depot Co. v. Minnesota, etc., R. Co., 47 Minn. 154, 49 N. W. 646, 13 L. R. A. 415.

As to corporations formed to afford terminal facilities to railway companies see further Pennsylvania Co. v. Ellett, 132 Ill. 654, 24 N. E. 559; King v. Barnes, 109 N. Y. 267, 16 N. E. 332, 15 N. Y. St. 996.

One whose name is included in a corporate charter without his authority, if to be regarded as a member of the company, must be allowed an opportunity of saying how many shares he will take. Halifax Carette Co. v. Moir, 28 Nova Scotia 45.

Circumstances under which a new company succeeding to the property and business of an old one will be compelled to issue shares to a member of one of the constituent companies, notwithstanding his indebtedness to other shareholders therein. Anthony v. American Glucose Co., 146 N. Y. 407, 41 N. E. 23.

No obligation to issue stock certificate delivered to the treasurer of the corporation upon a contract that the same should be delivered by him to certain contractors upon their completing certain work, when they fail to complete the work and become fugitives from justice; and such shares will be ordered to be surrendered up and canceled. Equity Gas Light Co. v. McKeige, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 914, 47 N. Y. St. 364 [affirmed in 139 N. Y. 237, 34 N. E. 898, 54 N. Y. St. 550].

Circumstances under which a corporation was adjudged to issue its shares in propor-made such a contract.[87] Where subscriptions are obtained for more shares of stock than the corporation is authorized to issue, and no allotment of the stock is ever made, the subscribers are not liable for an assessment levied by the directors of the company on the shareholders; since, no apportionment having been made, the subscribers never became shareholders in the corporation.[88] The failure of a shareholder to attend the meetings of the shareholders or of the directors and claim his shares does not estop him from thereafter asserting his claim, and the statute of limitations, if it runs at all in favor of a corporation against the claim of a person to shares in a corporation, does not begin to run until the shareholder is notified by some act that his right to the stock is disputed.[89]

E. Illegal and Void Shares — 1. Legal Requisites of Valid Issue. It is essential to the validity of corporate stock that the conditions of its issue should substantially conform to the requirements of the charter or governing statutes.[90]

2. When Validity of Shares Not Subject to Question. The validity of shares which have been dealt in for thirty years as valid, and upon which annual dividends have been paid without any intimation that their validity will be challenged, cannot be questioned thereafter by reason of laches.[91] A contention that the capital stock or business feature of a certain religious corporation is of no effect, and may be disregarded because foreign to the object of its charter and contrary to the state constitution and laws governing such corporations, can be raised only by direct proceedings by the state, and not in a proceeding involving the validity of certain transfers of corporate shares by a shareholder to the corporation, alleged to have had the effect of defrauding the shareholder's creditors.[92]

tion to the amount subscribed by different subscribers, there not being enough to go around. Clark County v. Winchester, etc., R. Co., 43 S. W. 716, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1435.

Certificate in one corporation offered in lieu of certificate in another.— That a certificate of stock signed by one elected president of a Connecticut corporation, the charter of which provides for succession to the functions of a West Virginia corporation previously incorporated, but not for amalgamation with it, is not a certificate of the latter corporation which one who has contracted for such a certificate can be compelled to take see Craig Silver Co. v. Smith, 163 Mass. 262, 39 N. E. 1116.

87. Patterson v. Ongley Electric Co., 87 Hun (N. Y.) 462, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 209, 68 N. Y. St. 58.

88. Bristol Creamery Co. v. Tilton, 70 N. H. 239, 47 Atl. 591.

89. Owingsville, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Bondurant, 54 S. W. 718, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1219.

90. Thus, under a provision in the charter "that the president and directors shall cause a written or printed certificate to be given to each subscriber for every share by him subscribed, signed by the president and directors, and countersigned by the treasurer; which certificates shall be transferable by an assignment made thereof, on the books of the company, by the owner in person, or by an attorney in fact," the court held that certificates signed by the president and countersigned by the treasurer, and delivered to one who never subscribed for such stock, without consideration, and without being entered on the books, were void; and when afterward transferred, not on the books of the company, to one for a valuable consideration, still conveyed no stock, as they were issued by the president alone, and to one who was never a subscriber, and therefore issued without authority. Holbrook v. Fauquier, etc., Turnpike Co., 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,591, 3 Cranch C. C. 425. So an instrument whereby the president and manager of a corporation, as such, agrees to "refund" to a person named a specified sum at one year's notice, and which provides that "this money shall draw what interest it makes in proportion to all the shares in the institution," is not a certificate of stock, but an obligation of the corporation upon which the holder can maintain an action against a shareholder. Jones v. Woolley, 2 Ida. 790, 792, 26 Pac. 120. It has been held that corporate shares, issued to pay for patents to enable the corporation to engage in business in territory outside the limits authorized by the articles of incorporation, without the consent of the shareholders, are void. Kimball v. New England Roller Grate Co., 69 N. H. 485, 45 Atl. 253.

For a bill in equity against a corporation to recover for shares gratuitously received by it, which failed to state a cause of action, where it alleged that the shares were received as being paid up, when it stated that their delivery was part consideration for the building of a street railway, see Doak v. Stahlman, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 58 S. W. 741.

"Special stock" in Massachusetts.— As to "special stock" under various statutes of Massachusetts see American Tube Works v. Boston Mach. Co., 139 Mass. 5, 29 N. E. 63; Williams v. Parker, 136 Mass. 204.

91. Foster v. Belcher's Sugar Refining Co., 118 Mo. 238, 24 S. W. 63.

92. St. George's Church Soc. v. Branch, 120 Mo. 226, 25 S. W. 218.

3. Right of Holder of Invalid or Illegal Shares to Rescind. Where the issue of shares is illegal for the want of power of the company to issue them, where the shares cannot legally exist, the person taking them cannot, by estoppel or otherwise, become a member in respect to them. Hence, being open to repudiation by the corporation itself, or by dissenting shareholders, the person taking them has a right to rescind the contract under which the stock was taken and be restored to his original position. Where a corporation illegally issued stock to a creditor, paid him successive dividends, and failed at two meetings to cure the illegal issue, a notice of rescission by the creditor twenty-seven months after the first issue of stock, offering to return the shares, tendering the dividends, and demanding redelivery of the considerations given by him, was exercised in sufficient time to entitle him to prove his claim against the insolvent estate of the corporation.[93]

4. Liability of Corporation For Overissue of Shares. Where the charter or other governing statute, or the articles of association or other constating instrument, fixes the amount of capital which the corporation may have, and the number or aggregate amount of shares which it may issue, and this amount is filled up by valid issues, any further issues are illegal, and the purchasers do not acquire the rights of shareholders. They cannot compel the corporation to register them or their nominees as shareholders on its books; they cannot vote at corporate elections; they cannot participate in corporate dividends; and they are not liable as shareholders for corporate debts. But on principles elsewhere stated[94] they have an action for damages against the corporation for the wrong thereby done to them.[95]

5. Motive of Valid Issue of Shares Not Examinable. If an issue of its shares by a corporation is valid under the terms of its governing statute, it is plain that the object which the directors or some of them may have in view in selling it will not be judicially inquired into, as where they issue it to enable the sharetaker to vote in a certain manner at a coming election.[96]

F. Status of Shareholders — 1. Shareholders Are Not Tenants in Common or Coöwners of Corporate Property — a. Rule Stated. Shareholders are not tenants in common or coöwners of the property of the corporation in any sense; but the title thereto rests in the legal entity called the corporation.[97]

b. No Execution Against Their Interest. It follows that a shareholder's interest in the property of the corporation cannot be seized and sold under judicial process, as can the interest of a partner or tenant in common,[98] although his shares, considered as distinct property, can be.[99]

2. Shareholders Have No Agency For Corporation, Cannot Act For It, Bind It by Admissions, Etc. — a. Rule Stated. Shareholders of a corporation have not, by the mere fact of being shareholders, any agency for the corporation or any authority to act for it, or to bind it by admissions; nor have they any duty to perform with respect to contracts entered into by it.[1]

93. American Tube Works v. Boston Mach. Co., 139 Mass. 5, 29 N. E. 63.

94. See infra, VI, K, 5, c, (II), (A).

95. Allen v. South Boston R. Co., 150 Mass. 200, 22 N. E. 917, 15 Am. St. Rep. 185, 5 L. R. A. 716.

Analogous cases are: Supply Ditch Co. v. Elliott, 10 Colo. 327, 15 Pac. 691, 3 Am. St. Rep. 586; Tome v. Parkersburg Branch R. Co., 39 Md. 36, 17 Am. Rep. 540; Tomkinson v. Balkis Consol. Co., [1891] 2 Q. B. 614.

Otherwise where the taking is not a bona fide purchase. Farrington v. South Boston R. Co., 150 Mass. 406, 23 N. E. 109, 15 Am. St. Rep. 222, 5 L. R. A. 849.

96. State v. Smith, 48 Vt. 266.

97. Williamson v. Smoot, 7 Mart. (La.) 31, 12 Am. Dec. 494; Spurlock v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 90 Mo. 199, 2 S. W. 219; Burrall v. Bushwick R. Co., 75 N. Y. 211; Mickles v. Rochester City Bank, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 118, 42 Am. Dec. 103.

98. Williamson v. Smoot, 7 Mart. (La.) 31, 12 Am. Dec. 494.

99. 2 Thompson Corp. § 2765.

1. Fox v. Mackay, 125 Cal. 57, 57 Pac. 670; Shay v. Tuolumne County Water Co., 6 Cal. 73; McCoy Lime Co. v. McCoy, 16 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 32; Colorado Springs Co. v. American Pub. Co., 97 Fed. 843, 38 C. C. A. 433 (this case qualifies the rule with the statement, unless such action is taken at a meeting where all the shareholders are present or are represented).

b. Cannot Convey Corporate Property, Although All Join in Deed. Another consequence of this doctrine is that the shareholders of a corporation cannot convey its property, although all join in the deed, unless through formal action of the corporation they are constituted its agents to that end.[2]

3. Shareholders Not in Trust Relation Toward Corporation — a. Rule Stated. The relation of trustee and cestui que trust, of debtor and creditor, or of partners does not exist between the shareholders of an incorporated company and the corporation itself.[3] But the corporation and the individual shareholder may deal with each other at arm's length the same as two strangers may, and a shareholder may contract with his corporation and sue or be sued on his contracts.[4] A shareholder may become a creditor of the corporation by entering into a contract with it;[5] and on the other hand the corporation is regarded as a trustee for the shareholder for the limited purpose of registering a transfer of his shares on the corporate books.[6]

b. May Purchase Corporate Property at Judicial Sale. A mere shareholder may therefore lawfully purchase at a public sale the property of the corporation, provided he does it openly and fairly.[7]

4. Shareholders Not Responsible For Debts or Torts of Corporation. The corporation being in theory of law a person distinct from each and all of its shareholders, neither a shareholder singly, nor all the shareholders collectively, are responsible for the debts of the corporation, unless made so by agreement or by statute,[8] or for the torts of the corporation, in the absence of such active participation as would make them responsible for the torts of an individual.[9]

5. Shareholders Not Bound by Fraudulent Representations of Corporation's Agents. The agent of the corporation is not the agent of the shareholder, and he will not therefore be bound by the fraudulent representations of the former.[10]

6. Shareholders Not in Privity With Each Other. Nor are shareholders in privity with each other; nor do they, in the absence of special engagements, occupy any trust relation toward each other; but they may deal with each other at arm's

He cannot therefore release a debt due to the corporation. Harris v. Muskingum Mfg. Co., 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 267, 29 Am. Dec. 372. Compare Berford v. New York Iron Mine, 56 N. Y. Super. Ct. 236, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 836, 21 N. Y. St. 439.

That there is no distinction in this respect between joint-stock corporations and unincorporated joint-stock companies see Watson v. Spratley, 2 C. L. R. 1434, 10 Exch. 222, 24 L. J. Exch. 53, 2 Wkly. Rep. 627. See also supra, VI, A, 9.

2. Wheelock v. Moulton, 15 Vt. 519; De la Vergne Refrigerating Mach. Co. v. German Sav. Inst., 175 U. S. 40, 20 S. Ct. 20, 44 L. ed. 65. The same has been held in England in respect of the shares of an unincorporated joint-stock company. Myers v. Perigal, 2 De G. M. & G. 599, 17 Jur. 145, 22 L. J. Ch. 431, 1 Wkly. Rep. 57, 51 Eng. Ch. 468 [approved in Edwards v. Hall, 6 De G. M. & G. 74, 1 Jur. N. S. 1189, 25 L. J. Ch. 82, 4 Wkly. Rep. 111, 55 Eng. Ch. 58].

3. Verplanck v. Mercantile Ins. Co., 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 84.

4. Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. New York, etc., R. Co., 78 Hun (N. Y.) 213, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 933, 60 N. Y. St. 217 [reversed in 150 N. Y. 410, 44 N. E. 1043]; Bird Coal, etc., Co. v. Humes, 157 Pa St. 278, 27 Atl. 750, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 174, 37 Am. St. Rep. 727; Rio Grande R. Co. v. Armendia, 5 Tex. Civ. App. 449, 23 S. W. 568; Rogers v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 91 Fed. 299, 33 C. C. A. 517; Culbertson v. Wabash Nav. Co., 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,464, 4 McLean 544.

This is not incompatible with the principle that a majority of the shareholders will not be allowed to exercise their powers unfairly toward the minority. Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. New York, etc., R. Co., 78 Hun (N. Y.) 213, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 933, 60 N. Y. St. 217 [citing Gamble v. Queens County Water Co., 123 N. Y. 91, 25 N. E. 201, 33 N. Y. St. 88, 9 L. R. A. 527].

5. Borland v. Haven, 37 Fed. 394, 13 Sawy. 551.

6. See infra, VII, D, 10, a.

7. Accordingly a sale of the entire property of a corporation, whose business is a failure, to one holding a majority of the shares, at open vendue, after a postponement in the hope of securing bidders, has been held not invalid, although the price bid was much less than the cost of the property. Price v. Holcomb, 89 Iowa 123, 56 N. W. 407.

8. See infra, VIII, A, 1.

9. Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Cochran, 43 Kan. 225, 23 Pac. 151, 19 Am. St. Rep. 129, 7 L. R. A. 414; Norton v. Hodges, 100 Mass. 241; Poley v. Lacert, 35 Oreg. 166, 58 Pac. 37.

10. The fraudulent representations of an agent of the corporation concerning the value length, just as they may deal with the corporation.[11] Therefore the unauthorized acts of one shareholder will not, in the absence of special circumstances, be imputed to the others or bind them in any manner to their detriment.[12] A shareholder is hence not personally responsible for a conversion of property by the corporation pursuant to a fraudulent conspiracy between the corporation and certain shareholders to hinder, delay, and defraud the creditors of one of them, unless he was a party to the conspiracy; and he cannot be found personally guilty of an actual and intended fraud because he had imputed or constructive notice thereof.[13]

7. Shareholders Not Necessarily Parties to Suits Involving Corporate Rights. For the same reason shareholders cannot sue individually at law for the conversion of property of the corporation;[14] nor can they maintain a suit in equity to vindicate a right of the corporation, although as hereafter seen under particular circumstances a court of equity will open its doors to him where the corporation will not sue.[15] With these, and with possible statutory exceptions, he is not a proper party to a suit whether by or against the corporation.[16]

8. Shareholders Not Necessarily Affected With Notice of Corporate Affairs. A shareholder is not, simply as such, bound to know the rules and regulations which the directors may prescribe for the transaction of the business of the corporation with the public generally, merely because they appear recorded on the minute books of the corporation.[17] Nor is notice to an officer of the corporation notice to a shareholder, in such a sense as to affect his rights.[18] But it has been held that subscribers for stock in a corporation must be presumed to know the provisions of its charter.[19]

9. To What Extent in Privity With Corporation. But for certain purposes he is in privity with the corporation as much as though it were a partnership and he were a member of it. Thus, as respects his liability to answer ultimately for the debts of the corporation, a judgment against the corporation, in the view taken by several of the courts, concludes him as much as though he were a party to the record,[20] although the rule seems to be otherwise in New York.[21]

10. Distinct Corporations May Have Same Officers and Shareholders. Different and distinct corporations may have the same officers and shareholders, and this community of officers and of members does not have the effect of merging the two corporations into each other.[22] of the stock will not vitiate a sale of stock by a shareholder who has no notice of the fraud. Moffat v. Winslow, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 124.

11. Gillett v. Bowen, 23 Fed. 625.

12. Western Min., etc., Co. v. Peytona Cannel Coal Co., 8 W. Va. 406.

13. Benton v. Minneapolis Tailoring, etc., Co., 73 Minn. 498, 76 N. W. 265.

14. Tomlinson v. Bricklayers Union No. 1, 87 Ind. 308; Langdon v. Hillside Coal, etc., Co., 41 Fed. 609.

15. See infra, XI, B, 7.

16. A shareholder in a corporation is no party in a suit against it, although his individual property is attached in the suit and a copy of the writ is left with him; and he may impeach the judgment recovered therein, when introduced against him. Whitman v. Cox, 26 Me. 335. It has been held in one jurisdiction that a shareholder cannot sue in the corporate name to vindicate his individual rights, without the assent of a majority of the corporation, or carry on such a suit by certiorari. Silk Mfg. Co. v. Campbell, 27 N. J. L. 539.

17. Pearsall v. Western Union Tel. Co., 44 Hun (N. Y.) 532, 9 N. Y. St. 132.

18. Wells v. Robb, 43 Kan. 201, 23 Pac. 148.

19. Wight v. Shelby R. Co., 16 B. Mon. (Ky.) 4, 63 Am. Dec. 522.

20. Iowa.—Donworth v. Coolbaugh, 5 Iowa 300.

Kansas.— Grund v. Tucker, 5 Kan. 70.

Maine.— Milliken v. Whitehouse, 49 Me. 527; Came v. Brigham, 39 Me. 35; Merrill v. Suffolk Bank, 31 Me. 57, 1 Am. Rep. 649.

New York.— Belmont v. Coleman, 1 Bosw. 188; Moss v. Oakley, 2 Hill 265; Slee v. Bloom, 20 Johns. 669.

Pennsylvania.— Wilson v. Pittsburgh, etc., Coal Co., 43 Pa. St. 424.

21. McMahon v. Macy, 51 N. Y. 155; Miller v. White, 50 N. Y. 137; Strong v. Wheaton, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 616; Moss v. McCullough, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 131. See Hampson v. Weare, 4 Iowa 13, 66 Am. Dec. 116; Belmont v. Coleman, 21 N. Y. 96 [affirming 1 Bosw. (N. Y.) 188]; Moss v. Averell, 10 N. Y. 449.

As to whether such judgment is conclusive or merely prima facie against shareholder see infra, VIII, Q, 1, a.

22. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Bolling, (Ark. 1898) 48 S. W. 806.

11. To What Extent Corporation Is Trustee For Shareholders. As already stated, a joint-stock corporation is in general a trustee for its shareholders only so far as may be necessary for the protection of their several rights of property in their several shares;[23] but this principle does not apply to all corporations or in all cases.[24]

12. "One-Man" Corporations. It often happens that in the case of joint-stock corporations all the shares fall into the hands of one man. This it seems does not operate to dissolve the corporation or to deprive him of his personal immunity from liability for its debts; but the corporate funds or properties remain so liable, while his individual estate is exonerated.[25]

G. Who May Become Shareholders in Corporations — 1. In General. Any person capable of contracting and of holding personal property in the state or country under whose laws the corporation is created may become a shareholder. This will include alien friends;[26] ambassadors of foreign states, although by reason of his immunity as an ambassador he cannot be sued for assessments;[27] infants, subject to the right to repudiate the relation either during infancy or within a reasonable time after coming of age,[28] but subject to the liability to pay calls while he stands in the relation of shareholder;[29] and married women where they have been emancipated in any way from the disabilities of the common law, so as to make them liable to pay calls and to exonerate their husbands.[30]

2. Private Corporations — a. General Rule That One Corporation Cannot Become Shareholder in Another. The general rule, subject to local exceptions, and to exceptions founded on special considerations, is that one corporation cannot become a shareholder in another, unless thereto specially empowered by its

23. See supra, VI, F, 3, a.

24. A corporation owning and operating an irrigating ditch under the Colorado statute becomes a trustee for its shareholders, and is bound to protect their interests. Farmers' Independent Ditch Co. v. Agricultural Ditch Co., 22 Colo. 513, 45 Pac. 444, 55 Am. St. Rep. 149.

25. Louisville Banking Co. v. Eisenman, 21 S. W. 531, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 705, 19 L. R. A. 684 [rehearing denied in 21 S. W. 1049, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 710].

26. Reg. v. Arnaud, 9 Q. B. 806, 16 L. J. Q. B. 50, 58 E. C. L. 806.

Alien enemies.—That an alien enemy domiciled in his own country cannot become a shareholder in a corporation because this involves the making of a contract across lines of belligerent occupation see Lamar v. Browne, 92 U. S. 187, 23 L. ed. 650; The Flying Scud v. U. S., 6 Wall. (U. S.) 263, 18 L. ed. 755; The Peterhoff v. U. S., 5 Wall. (U. S.) 28, 18 L. ed. 564; U. S. v. Alexander, 2 Wall. (U. S.) 404, 17 L. ed. 915; Jecker v. Montgomery, 18 How. (U. S.) 110, 15 L. ed. 311; Houriet v. Morris, 3 Camph. 303; Willison v. Patteson, 1 Moore C. P. 133, 7 Taunt. 439, 18 Rev. Rep. 525, 2 E. C. L. 436; Bell v. Reid, 1 M. & S. 726, 14 Rev. Rep. 557; Potts v. Bell, 8 T. R. 548, 5 Rev. Rep. 452; Albretcht v. Sussmann, 2 Ves. & B. 323, 13 Rev. Rep. 110; Ex p. Boussmaker, 13 Ves. Jr. 71, 9 Rev. Rep. 142. But to what extent this principle will operate upon the status of such alien enemies who become shareholders prior to the outbreak of hostilities may not be clear. 1 Thompson Corp. § 1094.

27. Magdalena Steam Nav. Co. v. Martin, 2 E. & E. 94, 105 E. C. L. 94.

28. Dublin, etc., R. Co. v. Black, 8 Exch. 181, 22 L. J. Exch. 94, 7 R. & Can. Cas. 434; North Western R. Co. v. McMichael, 5 Exch. 114, 15 Jur. 132, 20 L. J. Exch. 97; Newry, etc., R. Co. v. Coombe, 3 Exch. 565, 18 L. J. Exch. 325, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 633; Coke Litt. 380*b*; Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) p. 39.

29. Cork, etc., R. Co. v. Cazenove, 10 Q. B. 935, 11 Jur. 802, 59 E. C. L. 935; Leeds, etc., R. Co. v. Fearnley, 7 D. & L. 68, 4 Exch. 26, 18 L. J. Exch. 330, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 644; North Western R. Co. v. McMichael, 5 Exch. 114, 15 Jur. 132, 20 L. J. Exch. 97; Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) p. 39.

If an infant signs the memorandum of association in England, he thereby becomes a member until he elects to disaffirm. In re Nassau Phosphate Co., 2 Ch. D. 610, 45 L. J. Ch. 584, 24 Wkly. Rep. 692.

While, in case of a transfer of shares being made to an infant, the directors have the power to reject him as a shareholder by reason of his infancy (In re Asiatic Banking Corp., L. R. 5 Ch. 298, 39 L. J. Ch. 461, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 217, 18 Wkly. Rep. 366), yet until they do this the transfer is good (In re Blakely Ordnance Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 31, 17 Wkly. Rep. 65).

30. 1 Thompson Corp. §§ 1096, 1097.

As to the liability of a husband for calls in respect of his wife's shares held by her before marriage see Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 42 [citing In re West of England Bank, 12 Ch. D. 284, 48 L. J. Ch. 723, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 181, 27 Wkly. Rep. 907; In re Northumberland, etc., Banking Co., 1 De G. F. & J. 533, 6 Jur. N. S. 331, 29 L. J. Ch. 269, 8 Wkly. Rep. 297, 62 Eng. Ch. 413; Matter of Vale of Neath Brewery Co., 3 De G. & Sm.

charter or governing statute; otherwise one corporation might, by purchasing the shares of another corporation, embark its capital in the business of such other corporation and deflect it from the purposes designated in its own charter.[31] Although such a power may be possessed, under its charter, by a foreign corporation, it cannot be exercised within the limits of the domestic state, if its constitutional or legislative policy prohibits the exercise of it by domestic corporations.[32]

210; White's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 157, 14 Jur. 454, 19 L. J. Ch. 497; Matter of North England Joint-Stock Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 36, 13 Jur. 674, 18 L. J. Ch. 251; Matter of North England Joint-Stock Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 18, 13 Jur. 849, 18 L. J. Ch. 250]. As to his liability for such calls where he has in fact obtained by marriage the property of his wife see Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 42; Bell v. Victoria, 4 App. Cas. 560; In re West of England Bank, 12 Ch. D. 284, 48 L. J. Ch. 723, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 181, 27 Wkly. Rep. 907.

31. California.— Knowles v. Sandercock, 107 Cal. 629, 40 Pac. 1047, under California constitution.

Connecticut.— Mechanics', etc., Mut. Sav. Bank, etc., Assoc. v. Meriden Agency Co., 24 Conn. 159.

Georgia.— Hazlehurst v. Savannah, etc., R. Co., 43 Ga. 13; Central R. Co. v. Collins, 40 Ga. 582.

Illinois.— People v. Pullman's Palace Car Co., 175 Ill. 125, 51 N. E. 664; People v. Chicago Gas Trust Co., 130 Ill. 268, 22 N. E. 798, 17 Am. St. Rep. 319, 8 L. R. A. 497; McCoy v. World's Columbian Exposition, 87 Ill. App. 605 [affirmed in 186 Ill. 356, 57 N. E. 1043, 78 Am. St. Rep. 288, holding that a corporation, when sued on its subscription to the capital stock of another corporation, may raise the defense of ultra vires, in the absence of an estoppel]; People v. Pullman Palace Car Co., 27 Chic. Leg. N. 349, 10 Nat. Corp. Rep. 347.

Maine.— Franklin Co. v. Lewiston Sav. Inst., 68 Me. 43, 28 Am. Rep. 9.

Maryland.— Baltimore v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 21 Md. 50; Williams v. Savage Mfg. Co., 3 Md. Ch. 418.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 142 Mass. 146, 7 N. E. 716.

Missouri.— West-End Narrow Gauge R. Co. v. Dameron, 4 Mo. App. 414.

New Jersey.— Central R. Co. v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 31 N. J. Eq. 475.

New York.— Columbus City Bank v. Bruce, 17 N. Y. 507; Talmage v. Pell, 7 N. Y. 328; Connecticut Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Cleveland, etc., R. Co. 41 Barb. 9; Berry v. Yates, 24 Barb. 199; White v. Syracuse, etc., R. Co., 14 Barb. 559; New York Exch. Co. v. De Wolf, 5 Bosw. 593; Rogers v. Phelps, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 886, 31 N. Y. St. 872 (land scrip); Milbank v. New York, etc., R. Co., 64 How. Pr. 20.

Ohio.— Valley R. Co. v. Lake Erie Iron Co., 46 Ohio St. 44, 18 N. E. 486, 1 L. R. A. 412; Coppin v. Greenlees, etc., Co., 38 Ohio St. 275, 43 Am. Rep. 425; Franklin Bank v. Commercial Bank, 36 Ohio St. 350, 38 Am. Rep. 594 (opinion by Boynton, J.).

Pennsylvania.— McMillan v. Carson Hill Union Min. Co., 12 Phila. 404, 35 Leg. Int. 163.

Rhode Island.— Hodges v. New England Screw Co., 1 R. I. 312, 53 Am. Dec. 624.

Tennessee.— Herring v. Ruskin Co-Operative Assoc., (Ch. App. 1899) 52 S. W. 327.

United States.— Zabriskie v. Cleveland, etc., Co., 23 How. 381, 16 L. ed. 488; Marbury v. Kentucky Union Land Co., 62 Fed. 335, 10 C. C. A. 393 (unless its charter confers the power in express terms, or there is something particular in the powers expressly conferred upon it from which such power can be fairly implied); Holt v. Winfield Bank, 25 Fed. 812; Sumner v. Marcy, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,609, 3 Woodb. & M. 105.

England.— See Lindley Comp. (5th ed.) p. 43; In re Barned's Banking Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 105, 37 L. J. Ch. 81, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 16 Wkly. Rep. 193; In re European Soc. Arbitration Acts, 8 Ch. D. 679, 48 L. J. Ch. 118, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 136, 27 Wkly. Rep. 88 (where it was held that a society to which shares in another society had been transferred by an act ultra vires could not be placed on the list of contributories of that society); Great Western R. Co. v. Metropolitan R. Co., 9 Jur. N. S. 562, 32 L. J. Ch. 382, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 556, 11 Wkly. Rep. 706. Compare In re Asiatic Banking Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 252, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 805, 17 Wkly. Rep. 359; In re Barned's Banking Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 105, 37 L. J. Ch. 81, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 16 Wkly. Rep. 193; Great Western R. Co. v. Metropolitan R. Co., 9 Jur. N. S. 562, 32 L. J. Ch. 382, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 556, 11 Wkly. Rep. 706.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 1531.

This principle applies so as to prevent a corporation from investing in the shares of a mutual benefit building society. Dobinson v. Hawks, 12 Jur. 1037, 16 Sim. 407, 39 Eng. Ch. 407.

Distinction between subscribing and purchasing.— A distinction has been taken between the power of a corporation to become an original subscriber to the shares of another corporation which is being organized, and from purchasing its shares after it has been organized. Smith v. Newark, etc., R. Co., 8 Ohio Cir. Ct. 583, 4 Ohio Cir. Dec. 356, holding that a corporation, in the absence of a clause in its charter prohibiting it, may invest in or own stock in another corporation, and will be liable for assessments thereon as an individual holder, although it cannot aid in the formation of a new corporation by subscribing to its capital stock.

32. Clarke v. Georgia Cent. R., etc., Co., 50 Fed. 338, 15 L. R. A. 683.

b. Limited View That One Corporation Can Invest in Shares of Another — (I) Statement of Doctrine. A few decisions are met with where the view is taken that a corporation may invest in the stock of other corporations as well as in any other funds, provided it be done bona fide and with no sinister or unlawful purpose, and there be nothing in its charter or in the nature of its business that forbids it.[33] The theory of these cases seems to be that such a purchase is not necessarily void;[34] and it has been held that there is no presumption that a corporation is incapable of purchasing and holding shares of the stock of another corporation, it not appearing under what circumstances it was acquired or held.[35] The leading principle which restrains one corporation from investing in the shares of another is that it is ultra vires for a corporation to employ its funds in a manner not permitted by its charter or governing statute. The principle consequently does not apply where the two corporations are created for a similar purpose.[36] According to this view an insurance company may purchase the shares of a bank;[37] and a land company with power to build a railroad to afford access to its lands may subscribe to the shares of a corporation created for that purpose.[38]

(II) Consequences Which Flow From This View. Where the view obtains that one corporation may rightfully purchase and hold the shares of stock of another, the ordinary liabilities of a shareholder attach to the corporation which so acts.[39] But it seems that a corporation cannot, by merely purchasing

33. Booth v. Robinson, 55 Md. 419.

34. Hill v. Nisbet, 100 Ind. 341.

35. Evans v. Bailey, 66 Cal. 112, 4 Pac. 1089.

36. Electric Securities Co. v. Louisiana Electric Light Co., 68 Fed. 673; In re Asiatic Banking Corp., L. R. 4 Ch. 252, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 805, 17 Wkly. Rep. 359 [affirming L. R. 7 Eq. 91, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 444]; In re Barnard's Banking Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 105, 37 L. J. Ch. 81, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 16 Wkly. Rep. 193. But see Lindley Comp. (5th ed.) 43.

37. State v. Butler, 86 Tenn. 614. Circumstances under which a purchase by a life-insurance company of the stock of a fire-insurance company will not be set aside because fully executed see Alexander v. Jones, 8 Mo. App. 589.

38. Watts' Appeal, 78 Pa. St. 370.

Many statutes and charters, both in England and in this country, recognize or confer power upon one corporation to hold shares in another. See for example N. J. Laws (1888), c. 269, p. 385; Clarke v. Georgia Cent. R., etc., Co., 50 Fed. 338, 15 L. R. A. 683; the Companies Act (1862), § 23; the Industrial and Prov. Soc. Act, 39 & 40 Vict. c. 45, § 12; 7 Wm. IV & 1 Vict. c. 73, §§ 6, 10; 7 & 8 Vict. c. 110, §§ 3, 7, 50.

The New York Stock Corporation Law of 1892, § 40, is construed in Rafferty v. Buffalo City Gas Co., 37 N. Y. App. Div. 618, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 288, holding that a court cannot place any limitation upon the amount of stock and bonds which under the statute one corporation may acquire of another in New York for its own stock and bonds.

The charter of a trust company of Georgia is construed in Georgia Trust Co. v. State, 109 Ga. 736, 35 S. E. 323, 48 L. R. A. 520, with the conclusion that this corporation has authority to buy the shares of any other corporation, provided that in so doing it does not violate the constitution of the state. But a constitutional provision in that state prohibits the legislature from authorizing any corporation to buy shares in any other corporation in that state or elsewhere. Ga. Const. art. 4, § 2, par. 4. See also Clarke v. Georgia Cent. R., etc., Co., 50 Fed. 338, 15 L. R. A. 683; Hamilton v. Savannah, etc., R. Co., 49 Fed. 412; Langdon v. Branch, 37 Fed. 449, 2 L. R. A. 120.

Statute of Kansas under which a railroad company has the power to purchase and hold the stock of any other railroad company, the line of whose railroad, constructed or being constructed, connects with its own. Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Cochran, 43 Kan. 225, 23 Pac. 151, 19 Am. St. Rep. 129, 7 L. R. A. 414; Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Fletcher, 35 Kan. 236, 10 Pac. 526; Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 34 Kan. 209, 8 Pac. 530. Compare Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 115 U. S. 587, 6 S. Ct. 194, 29 L. ed. 499.

Under the statute law of Tennessee the shares of one corporation may be acquired and voted by another. Rogers v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 91 Fed. 299, 33 C. C. A. 517.

A statute forbidding one corporation to subscribe for and purchase the bonds or stock of another corporation except in payment of a bona fide debt is held not to preclude advances made on bonds and stock made as collateral security. Taylor County Ct. v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 35 Fed. 161.

39. Thus where a banking firm purchased in their own name shares of stock of a customer, which they treated as their own, and so made it appear on the books of the corporation issuing the stock, it was held that they assumed the liability of shareholders as between themselves and the corporations. McKim v. Glenn, 66 Md. 479, 8 Atl. 130.

the shares of another corporation, and thereby acquiring control of it, succeed to its special franchises.[40]

c. Such Purchases Not Disturbed When Executed. Purchases by one corporation of the shares of another corporation will not be disturbed when fully executed on one side. Thus a corporation cannot sue to cancel an agreement made in its behalf for the purchase of stock of another company, although such contract is ultra vires, where it has been fully executed.[41] Although a corporation may not possess the power to deal in the shares of another corporation, yet one who has purchased from a corporation the shares of another corporation will not be allowed to escape the payment of the purchase-money by setting up such want of power.[42] So where a corporation, although prohibited by its charter, purchases stock in another corporation, and the contract is executed by the delivery of the stock and the payment of the price, it cannot recover back the purchase-money upon the ground alone that the contract was ultra vires.[43] This is especially true where the rights of innocent third persons are involved;[44] and where there has been laches,[45] or where the other party to the contract cannot be put in statu quo.[46]

3. Municipal Corporations. The question of the power of municipal corporations to render aid to private corporations created for public objects, such as railroad companies, canal companies, and the like, by subscribing for the shares of such corporations, will not be discussed in this article, because the subject relates to the powers of municipal,[47] and not to those of private, corporations; and for the further reason that the question has been considered to some extent.[48] Generally speaking such aid may be given where not prohibited by the constitution or statute law of the state, in cases where the private corporation is organized to promote public objects, as in the case of railroad companies,[49] turnpike companies,[50] plank-road companies, and the like;[51] but not in case of strictly private corporations, such as manufacturing companies, although the public may incidentally derive a benefit from assisting such companies.[52] It may be added that the tendency of recent state constitutions seems to be to deprive the state legislatures of the power to grant such aid either by subscribing to the shares of corporations[53] or in any other mode,[54] although the recent constitution of one state affirms such

40. Thus it is held in Massachusetts that the fact that one corporation has purchased the property and most of the capital stock of another corporation does not necessarily authorize the purchasing corporation to do that which, under a special act, the other corporation is authorized to do, but which the general law prohibits. French v. Connecticut River Lumber Co., 145 Mass. 261, 14 N. E. 113.

41. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. McKeen, 64 Fed. 36, 12 C. C. A. 14. Similarly see Peterborough R. Co. v. Nashua, etc., R. Co., 59 N. H. 385.

42. Holmes, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Holmes, etc., Metal Co., 53 Hun (N. Y.) 52, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 937, 23 N. Y. St. 538.

43. McCoy Lime Co. v. Kane, 16 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 19.

44. Marbury v. Kentucky Union Land Co., 62 Fed. 335, 10 C. C. A. 393.

45. Leathers v. Janney, 41 La. Ann. 1120, 6 So. 884, 6 L. R. A. 661 (as where the shareholders postpone their complaint for a length of time extending from seven to fourteen years); Boston, etc., R. Corp. v. New York, etc., R. Co., 13 R. I. 260.

46. Terry v. Eagle Lock Co., 47 Conn. 141.

47. See, generally, Municipal Corporations.

48. See supra, I, I, 1.

49. Ex p. Selma, etc., R. Co., 45 Ala. 696, 6 Am. Rep. 722; Leavenworth County v. Miller, 7 Kan. 479, 12 Am. Rep. 425 (and numerous cases there quoted by the great industry of Valentine, J.).

50. Com v. McWilliams, 11 Pa. St. 61.

51. Wetumpka v. Winter, 29 Ala. 651.

52. Maine.— Allen v. Jay, 60 Me. 124, 11 Am. Rep. 185.

Massachusetts.— Jenkins v. Andover, 103 Mass. 94.

Michigan.— People v. Salem Tp. Bd., 20 Mich. 452, 4 Am. Rep. 400.

New York.— Weismer v. Douglas, 64 N. Y. 91, 21 Am. Rep. 586.

Wisconsin.— Whiting v. Sheboygan, etc., R. Co., 25 Wis. 167, 3 Am. Rep. 30.

United States.— Citizens Sav., etc., Assoc. v. Topeka, 20 Wall. 655, 22 L. ed. 455; Olcott v. Fond du Lac County, 16 Wall. 678, 21 L. ed. 382.

53. Fla. Const. (1887), art. 9, § 10; Miss. Const. (1890), § 183.

54. N. Y. Const. (1894), art. 8, §§ 9, 10; Wyo. Const. (1889), art. 10, § 5 (not to power.[55] A distinction has sometimes been taken between the power of a state legislature to authorize taxation for the purpose of making a mere donation to a railroad company, and to make a subscription to its shares;[56] but as this question does not relate to the powers of private corporations with reference to their share capital, it will not be further pursued in this article.

4. SUBSCRIPTIONS BY SOVEREIGN STATE. Subscriptions to the shares of private corporations may be and have been made[57] by states of the American Union, where their constitutions permitted such action on the part of their legislatures. But as a sovereign state cannot be sued without its consent, and as the making of such a subscription has not been regarded as tantamount to giving such consent, no action can be maintained against the shareholding state to compel the payment of its subscription or of assessments thereon.[58] Indeed the view has been taken that such a subscription is tantamount to a bonus granted by the state to the corporation, and that it consequently does not make the state liable for contributions like an ordinary shareholder.[59] The mere fact that the state owns all the shares of the stock of an incorporated bank does not make a debt due to the bank a debt due to the state.[60]

H. Contract of Subscription For Shares — 1. RELATION OF SHAREHOLDER TO CORPORATION RESTS IN CONTRACT. The relation of shareholders to the corporation whose stock they hold is that of contract, and the rights and duties of both parties grow out of contract, expressed or implied, in a subscription for stock, construed by the provisions of the charter or articles of incorporation.[61]

2. CHARTER OR GOVERNING STATUTE ENTERS INTO AND FORMS PART OF CONTRACT. Whether the corporation is organized under a special charter granted by the legislature, or under a general enabling statute, the charter or governing statute is deemed to enter into, and to form a part of, the contract of subscription.[62] Such subscriber is chargeable with knowledge of the fact of the organization of the corporation, of the powers which it possesses with respect to the creating of a share capital and the issuing of shares, and of the control which it may have over its shares.[63]

3. WHAT MAKES SUBSCRIBER A SHAREHOLDER — a. Unconditional Subscription to Shares. As a general rule, applicable to all American schemes of incorporation, although not always assented to by the courts,[64] whoever subscribes to an unconditional agreement to take a given number of shares becomes thereby a shareholder in the corporation in respect of that number, subject to any valid conditions named in the subscription paper and to those imposed by the general law.[65] The act of subscribing for a stated number of shares fixes the liability of the subscriber to creditors of the corporation as a shareholder, although he has apply to obligations contracted before the adoption of the constitution).

55. La. Const. (1898), art. 270, municipal aid to railroads permitted.

56. People v. Salem Tp. Bd., 20 Mich. 452, 4 Am. Rep. 400; Sweet v. Hulbert, 51 Barb. (N. Y.) 312; Whiting v. Sheboygan, etc., R. Co., 25 Wis. 167, 3 Am. Rep. 30. The case of Hanson v. Vernon, 27 Iowa 28, 1 Am. Rep. 215, was subsequently overruled in the same state by Stewart v. Polk County, 30 Iowa 9, 1 Am. Rep. 238.

57. Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. State, 36 Md. 519; Atty.-Gen. v. Cape Fear Nav. Co., 37 N. C. 444.

58. Miers v. Zanesville, etc., Turnpike Co., 11 Ohio 273.

59. Consolidated Bank v. State, 5 La. Ann. 44.

60. State Bank v. Dibrell, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 378.

61. Supply Ditch Co. v. Elliott, 10 Colo. 327, 15 Pac. 691, 3 Am. St. Rep. 586, opinion by Macon, C.

62. Hoagland v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 452; Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Barton, 16 N. Y. 457 note; Small v. Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co., 2 N. Y. 330.

63. McClure v. Central Trust Co., 28 N. Y. App. Div. 433, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 188.

64. That in some states an express promise to pay is necessary in order to make a subscriber a shareholder see infra, VI, H, 4, b, (I).

65. Alabama.—Beene v. Cahawba, etc., R. Co., 3 Ala. 660.

Connecticut.—Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 12 Conn. 499.

Maine.—Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Palmer, 34 Me. 366.

Massachusetts.—Brigham v. Mead, 10 Allen 245.

not paid into the treasury of the corporation any part of his subscription, or done any act whatever in his character as a shareholder.[66]

b. Unconditional Subscription to Articles of Incorporation or Deed of Settlement. Speaking generally again, every person who signs the articles of association, or of incorporation, as they are called in America, or the deed of settlement, as the instrument is called in England, agreeing at the same time to take a stated number of shares, thereby acquires the advantages and subjects himself to the liabilities of a shareholder;[67] and this is the more clear where the governing statute declares that those signing such articles shall be deemed a body corporate.[68]

4. Necessity of Promise to Pay — a. Doctrine That Express Promise Is Not Necessary — (I) From What Promise to Pay Implied — (A) From Subscription to Shares. If a person orders goods to be delivered to him, a promise is implied that he will pay for them, which ripens into a fixed liability when the goods are delivered. So if a person subscribes for shares in a corporation, a promise is implied that he will pay for them,[69] although in some jurisdictions the seemingly mistaken doctrine is applied that the subscription paper must contain an express promise to pay.[70]

(B) From Acceptance of Share Certificate. In like manner an acceptance of a certificate of a stated number of shares of the stock of a corporation issued to the person who accepts it implies a promise that he will pay for the shares, as much as though he had signed a formal contract to pay for them;[71] although, in order to constitute one a shareholder, it is not necessary that a share certificate should have been issued to him.[72] Under this doctrine the subscriber stands liable to pay assessments lawfully laid upon the shares, in the mode prescribed by the charter, governing statute, or by-laws, although he has not made in the subscription paper any express promise so to do; and this, although the charter or governing statute also gives to the corporation a remedy by forfeiture or sale of the shares; the theory of the courts being that this remedy is cumulative merely.[73] Under the operation of this rule the obligation of actual payment is created in Missouri.— Pickering v. Templeton, 2 Mo. App. 424.

New York.— Dayton v. Borst, 31 N. Y. 435; Seymour v. Sturgess, 26 N. Y. 134; Burr v. Wilcox, 22 N. Y. 551; Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Barton, 16 N. Y. 457; Lake Ontario, etc., R. Co. v. Mason, 16 N. Y. 451; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Strong v. Wheaton, 38 Barb. 616; Northern R. Co. v. Miller, 10 Barb. 260; Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Croswell, 5 Hill 383, 40 Am. Dec. 354; Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459; Highland Turnpike Co. v. McKean, 11 Johns. 98; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273; Union Turnpike Road Co. v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. 381; Sagory v. Dubois, 3 Sandf. Ch. 466.

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

United States.— Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

Compare Busey v. Hooper, 35 Md. 15, 6 Am. Rep. 350.

66. Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513.

67. Cole v. Ryan, 52 Barb. (N. Y.) 168; Strong v. Wheaton, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 616; Sagory v. Dubois, 3 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 466.

68. Strong v. Wheaton, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 616.

69. Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 12 Conn. 499; Klein v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 514; Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 504; Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. (Ky.) 314; Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513.

70. See infra, VI, H, 4, b, (I).

71. Brigham v. Mead, 10 Allen (Mass.) 245; Palmer v. Lawrence, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 161; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203. And this is so although the certificate contains a promise on the part of the corporation to pay interest thereon until the happening of a certain specified event. McLaughlin v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 8 Mich. 100.

Making and mailing a certificate is regarded as the issuing of it. Jones v. Terre Haute, etc., R. Co., 17 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 529.

72. Indiana.— Beckett v. Houston, 32 Ind. 393.

Maine.— Chaffin v. Cummings, 37 Me. 76.

Massachusetts.— Chase v. Merrimack Bank, 19 Pick. 564, 31 Am. Dec. 163.

Missouri.— Schaeffer v. Missouri Home Ins. Co., 46 Mo. 248.

New York.— Burr v. Wilcox, 22 N. Y. 551. See also infra, VI, H, 7, a.

73. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344; Beene v. Cahawba, etc., R. Co., 3 Ala. 660.

Connecticut.— Danbury, etc., R. Co. v. Wilson, 22 Conn. 435; Mann v. Cooke, 20 Conn.

all cases by the subscription, unless the terms of the subscription are such as plainly to exclude it.[74] Where there is an unconditional subscription, even without an express promise to pay, a right on the part of the directors to make a call carries with it a corresponding duty on the part of the shareholder to pay it.[75]

(II) How Implied Promise Enforceable—(A) By Action at Law. This implied promise is enforceable by assumpsit or by other appropriate action at law.[76]

(B) In Equity For Benefit of Creditors After Insolvency of Corporation. This implied promise is enforceable after the insolvency of the corporation by a court of equity or of bankruptcy, through a suit by a receiver or an assignee or trustee in bankruptcy, or by other appropriate means.[77]

(III) Circumstances From Which Law Implies Consideration. From the privileges and advantages flowing to the subscriber in consequence of his sub-

178; Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 12 Conn. 499. See also Ward v. Griswoldville Mfg. Co., 16 Conn. 593.

Georgia.— Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412.

Indiana.— Miller v. Wild Cat Gravel Road Co., 52 Ind. 51.

Iowa.— Waukon, etc., R. Co. v. Dwyer, 49 Iowa 121.

Kentucky.— Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. 314; Instone v. Frankfort Bridge Co., 2 Bibb 576, 5 Am. Dec. 638.

Maine.— Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Dunn, 39 Me. 587; Buckfield Branch R. Co. v. Irish, 39 Me. 44; Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Jarvis, 34 Me. 360.

Maryland.— Busey v. Hooper, 35 Md. 15, 6 Am. Rep. 350; Hughes v. Antietam Mfg. Co., 34 Md. 316.

Massachusetts.— Worcester City Hotel v. Dickinson, 6 Gray 586.

Michigan.— Merrimac Min. Co. v. Bagley, 14 Mich. 501; Carson v. Arctic Min. Co., 5 Mich. 288; Dexter, etc., Plankroad Co. v. Millerd, 3 Mich. 91.

Mississippi.— Freeman v. Winchester, 10 Sm. & M. 577.

Missouri.— Joy v. Manion, 28 Mo. App. 55.

New York.— Davton v. Borst, 31 N. Y. 435; Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Barton, 16 N. Y. 457; Lake Ontario, etc., R. Co. v. Mason, 16 N. Y. 451; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Small v. Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co., 2 N. Y. 330; Ogdensburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Frost, 21 Barb. 541; Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Wetsel, 21 Barb. 56; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Tibbits, 18 Barb. 297; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. 581; Ft. Edward, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Payne, 17 Barb. 567; Northern R. Co. v. Miller, 10 Barb. 260; Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Croswell, 5 Hill 383, 40 Am. Dec. 354; Troy Turnpike, etc., Co. v. McChesney, 21 Wend. 296; Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co. v. Small, 21 Wend. 273; Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273.

Pennsylvania.— Merrimac Min. Co. v. Levy, 54 Pa. St. 227, 93 Am. Dec. 677.

Tennessee.— East Tennessee, etc., R. Co. v. Gammon, 5 Sneed 567; Stokes v. Lebanon, etc., Turnpike Co., 6 Humphr. 241.

United States.— Hawley v. Upton, 102 U. S. 314, 26 L. ed. 179; Webster v. Upton, 91 U. S. 65, 23 L. ed. 384; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203; Frost v. Frostburg Coal Co., 24 How. 278, 16 L. ed. 637.

Compare Robertson v. Sibley, 10 Minn. 323.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," §§ 219, 220.

74. Elysville Mfg. Co. v. Okisko Co., 5 Md. 152; Palmer v. Lawrence, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 161; Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513.

75. Merrimac Min. Co. v. Levy, 54 Pa. St. 227, 93 Am. Dec. 697. It has been held that a subscription agreement to the effect that the subscribers will take the number of shares set opposite their names, "and thereon pay the amount in cash named, to wit, ten per cent. of the amount of stock by us subscribed," implies a promise to pay the full sum subscribed upon such demands or calls which shall be made therefor by the corporation, and the videlicet does not limit their liability to the ten per cent. Ventura, etc., R. Co. v. Collins, (Cal. 1896) 46 Pac. 287.

76. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344; Beene v. Cahawba, etc., R. Co., 3 Ala. 660.

Kentucky.— Instone v. Frankfort Bridge Co., 2 Bibb 576, 5 Am. Dec. 638.

Massachusetts.— Worcester Turnpike Corp. v. Willard, 5 Mass. 80, 4 Am. Dec. 39.

New York.— Harlem Canal Co. v. Seixas, 2 Hall 504; Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory Co. v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459; Highland Turnpike Co. v. McKean, 11 Johns. 98; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273; Union Turnpike Road Co. v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. 381 [reversing 1 Cai. Cas. 86].

North Carolina.— Tar River Nav. Co. v. Neal, 10 N. C. 520.

Pennsylvania.— Delaware, etc., Canal Nav. Co. v. Sansom, 1 Binn. 70.

Tennessee.— West Nashville Planing-mill Co. v. Nashville Sav. Bank, 86 Tenn. 252, 6 S. W. 340, 6 Am. St. Rep. 835, per Lurton, J.

United States.— Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523; Webster v. Upton, 91 U. S. 65, 23 L. ed. 384; Sanger v. Upton, 91 U. S. 56, 23 L. ed. 220.

77. 1 Thompson Corp. § 1138.

scription, and from its acceptance by the other associates or by the corporation, the law implies a consideration sufficient to support the contract.[78]

b. Limited Doctrine That Express Promise to Pay Is Necessary — (I) Statement of Doctrine. In a few American jurisdictions a doctrine prevails that unless an express promise is made by the subscriber to pay for the shares for which he subscribes, his obligation cannot be enforced by an action against him, but that the only remedy of the corporation is to forfeit the shares and sell them to someone else if it can.[79]

(II) Rule Where Contract of Subscription Contains Express Promise to Pay. But where the contract of subscription does contain an express promise to pay the assessments, and the conditions of the subscription have been performed, then by all the authorities an action of assumpsit or other like action can be maintained in the first instance, without a proceeding to forfeit the shares, or a declaration of forfeiture, sale of them, or other equivalent act.[80]

5. Necessity of Acceptance of Subscription — a. Doctrine That Acceptance Is Necessary — (I) In General. Except where the subscription is made by signing the original articles or memorandum of association,[81] where the corporation has not yet been called into existence,[82] and where the subscription takes the effect of the form of a proposal by the corporation and an acceptance by the subscriber, the English and Canadian rule seems to be that in order to make the contract to take shares complete there must be an application for the shares, an allotment of the shares to the applicant, and a communication to him of notice of the allotment.[83] The American doctrine seems to be that the subscription must be accepted in terms, or else that it must be acted

78. Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Palmer, 34 Me. 366; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273; Union Turnpike Road Co. v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 381.

79. California.— West v. Crawford, 80 Cal. 19, 21 Pac. 1123 [followed in West v. Belding, (1889) 21 Pac. 1136; West v. Hitchcock, (1889) 21 Pac. 1136].

Colorado.— Arkansas River Land, etc., Co. v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 13 Colo. 587, 22 Pac. 954.

Delaware.— Odd Fellows' Hall Co. v. Glazier, 5 Harr. 172.

Maine.— Belfast, etc., R. Co. v. Moore, 60 Me. 561; Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Kendall, 31 Me. 470.

Massachusetts.— Katama Land Co. v. Jernegan, 126 Mass. 155; Mechanics' Foundry, etc., Co. v. Hall, 121 Mass. 272; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128; Franklin Glass Co. v. White, 14 Mass. 286; New Bedford, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Adams, 8 Mass. 138, 5 Am. Dec. 81; Andover, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Gould, 6 Mass. 40, 4 Am. Dec. 80; Worcester Turnpike Corp. v. Willard, 5 Mass. 80, 4 Am. Dec. 39.

New Hampshire.— New Hampshire Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300; Franklin Glass Co. v. Alexander, 2 N. H. 380, 9 Am. Dec. 92 (per Woodbury, J.).

New York.— Departing from earlier holdings in that state, the court of appeals of New York now hold that a subscription to corporate shares is not an agreement to pay in money the par value of the shares, unless it is so expressed in the contract, but that it is merely a contract to enter into the relation of shareholder. Rochester, etc., Land Co. v. Raymond, 158 N. Y. 576, 53 N. E. 507, 47 L. R. A. 246 [affirming 4 N. Y. App. Div. 600, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 145].

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181; Essex Bridge Co. v. Tuttle, 2 Vt. 393.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 219.

80. South Bay Meadow Dam Co. v. Gray, 30 Me. 547; Salem Mill Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 23; Andover, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Gould, 6 Mass. 40, 4 Am. Dec. 80; Worcester Turnpike Corp. v. Willard, 5 Mass. 80, 4 Am. Dec. 39; Smith v. Natchez Steamboat Co., 1 How. (Miss.) 479; Townsend v. Goewey, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 424, 32 Am. Dec. 514; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459.

81. See infra, VI, H, 6, c.

82. That this exception is not admitted by many courts see infra, VI, H, 6, d, (VII).

83. Common v. Matthews, 8 Quebec Q. B. 138; Rogers' Case, L. R. 3 Ch. 634, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 779, 16 Wkly. Rep. 556; In re Richmond Hill Hotel Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 527, 36 L. J. Ch. 613, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 442, per Lord Cairns, L. J. [distinguishing Matter of New Theatre Co., 33 Beav. 529 (affirmed in 4 De G. J. & S. 447, 33 L. J. Ch. 574, 10 L. T. Rep. N. S. 772, 12 Wkly. Rep. 995, 69 Eng. Cn. 343)]; Spitzel v. Chinese Corp., 6 Manson 355, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 347.

In the province of Quebec, the doctrine is said to be that one who signs a request for shares of the stock of a corporation becomes upon, which conduct is tantamount to an acceptance, and this within a reasonable time.[84]

(II) Where Corporation in Existence. Unless the case is such that the subscription takes the form of a proposal by the corporation, and an acceptance by the subscriber,[85] then, as in the case of a proposition for any other contract, there is no contract until the proposition has been accepted.[86]

(III) Rule Not Applicable Where There Are No Shares to Allot. The foregoing rule does not of course apply where there are no shares available for allotment.[87]

b. Manner in Which Acceptance of Subscription Manifested. It is said by an approved writer that, although "no particular form of acceptance is essential in order to constitute this proposition to become a shareholder a binding contract, . . . there must be some unequivocal act on the part of the agents having the authority to accept the offer, so that there can be no doubt as to the obligation of the corporation as well as of the subscriber."[88] Very often there will be no formal writing, speech, or act of acceptance. This will often happen where the corporation is one not having a joint stock; as for instance a religious, educational, or other charitable corporation. Here the usual form of acceptance will be the incurring of expense on the faith of the subscription; and this may be shown by parol evidence.[89]

c. Distinction Between Cases Where Proposition Comes From Company and Where It Is Made to Company. In respect of the time when the contract of subscription is deemed to be complete, a distinction exists between cases where the proposition for the subscription comes from the company to the subscriber, and where it comes from the subscriber to the company. In the former case a proposition by or on behalf of the company, and an assent thereto by the subscriber, render the contract complete.[90] But where the proposition comes from the subscriber, there must obviously be an assent on the part of the company; otherwise it remains merely unilateral.[91] In either case, however, it is not doubted that a shareholder only when the corporation has accepted his request and assigned the shares to him. Common v. Matthews, 8 Quebec Q. B. 138.

84. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co. v. Eslow, 40 Mich. 222; Galt v. Swain, 9 Gratt. (Va.) 633, 60 Am. Dec. 311.

85. See infra, VI, H, 5, c.

86. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co. v. Eslow, 40 Mich. 222; Parker v. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co., 33 Mich. 23; Carlisle v. Saginaw Valley, etc., R. Co., 27 Mich. 315; St. Paul, etc., R. Co. v. Robbins, 23 Minn. 439 (holding that a subscription to preferred shares does not make the subscriber a shareholder until accepted, although it may oblige the company to issue the shares). See also Busey v. Hooper, 35 Md. 15, 6 Am. Rep. 350, holding that the mere fact of subscribing does not constitute the subscriber a shareholder, without acceptance by the corporation, although it may put it in his power to become a shareholder by compelling acceptance.

87. In re Tal y Drws Slate Co., 1 Ch. D. 247, 45 L. J. Ch. 158, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 460, 24 Wkly. Rep. 92, person signed memorandum of association, but took no part in management, was never treated as a shareholder, was never entered on the register, and all the shares were allotted to other persons — no liability as a contributory. Otherwise, in another case, where all the shares in the first instance had been allotted to other persons, yet some of the allotments had never been confirmed in the manner required by the memorandum of association, and there were consequently shares subject to allotment — the signer of the memorandum being put on the list of contributories. In re London, etc., Exch. Bank, L. R. 2 Ch. 427, 36 L. J. Ch. 501, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 253, 15 Wkly. Rep. 543.

88. 1 Morawetz Priv. Corp. (2d ed.) § 48. See also Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co. v. Eslow, 40 Mich. 222; Parker v. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co., 33 Mich. 23.

89. Jones v. Florence Wesleyan University, 46 Ala. 626.

Filing of certificate of incorporation.— One court has held that in case of a subscription to the shares of a projected corporation an acceptance takes effect upon the filing of the certificate of incorporation. Phœnix Warehousing Co. v. Badger, 67 N. Y. 294.

90. European, etc., R. Co. v. McLeod, 16 N. Brunsw. 3.

91. Wilkinson v. Anglo-Californian Gold Min. Co., 18 Q. B. 728, 17 Jur. 257, 21 L. J. Q. B. 327, 83 E. C. L. 728; In re Universal Banking Corp., L. R. 3 Ch. 40, 37 L. J. Ch. 40, 16 Wkly. Rep. 97; In re Richmond Hill Hotel Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 527, 36 L. J. Ch. 613, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 442; British, etc., Tel. Co. v. Colson, L. R. 6 Exch. 108, 40 L. J. Exch.

until there is a meeting of the minds of both parties no binding contract exists.[92] Where the transaction is regarded as taking the form of a continuing offer by the company to issue its shares to persons who might subscribe therefor, a person who does so subscribe, and who on the faith of his own subscription induces others to subscribe, will not be permitted to withdraw his subscription by mutilating the subscription book and cutting it out before it is returned to the corporation; but he will be held to his contract of subscription precisely as though the subscription book had been lost without his fault.[93]

d. Circumstances of Estoppel Which Take Place of Formal Application, Allotment, and Notice. Numerous circumstances of estoppel have been shown in various cases which have been held to take the place of a formal acceptance, allotment, and notice to the subscriber,[94] a subject reserved for future consideration.[95]

e. Revocation of Subscription to Take Shares Before Acceptance. Where the subscription is made with a view to the formation of a future corporation, there is considerable authority to the effect that, disregarding the fact that others may have subscribed on the faith of the subscription of the particular person, yet, until the corporation actually comes into existence, and accepts the proposal embodied in his subscription, he may withdraw it at his pleasure.[96]

6. Doctrine That Subscription to Shares of Corporation Not Formed Creates No Liability Even After Corporation Is Formed — a. Statement of Doctrine. This doctrine, which cannot be regarded as settled in American law, is that one who signs a subscription paper, but nothing more, whereby he agrees to take a certain number of shares in a corporation thereafter to be formed, does not become liable as a shareholder even after the corporation is formed, and the corporation cannot maintain an action against him upon the subscription paper for an assessment made upon the shares.[97]

b. Distinction Between Formal Subscription and Tentative Agreement to Subscribe. This calls up a distinction taken in some of the cases between a contract

97, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 868; European, etc., R. Co. v. McLeod, 16 N. Brunsw. 3.

92. Routledge v. Grant, 4 Bing. 653, 13 E. C. L. 678, 3 C. & P. 267, 14 E. C. L. 560, 6 L. J. C. P. O. S. 166, 1 M. & P. 717, 29 Rev. Rep. 672; Cooke v. Oxley, 3 T. R. 653; Payne v. Cave, 3 T. R. 148, 1 Rev. Rep. 679.

93. Greer v. Chartiers R. Co., 96 Pa. St. 391, 42 Am. Rep. 548, where the person thus attempting to withdraw from the obligation assumed by his subscription was an agent of an existing corporation, to procure subscribers for its shares, and the subscription book belonged to the corporation.

94. In re International Contract Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 36, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 337, 16 Wkly. Rep. 95.

95. See infra, VI, P, 7, a, (I) et seq.

96. See Goff v. Winchester College, 6 Bush (Ky.) 443; Greer v. Chartiers R. Co., 96 Pa. St. 391, 42 Am. Rep. 548 (per Trunkey, J.); Stuart v. Valley R. Co., 32 Gratt. (Va.) 146; Morawetz Priv. Corp. (2d ed.) § 50.

Under this doctrine it has been held that a subscriber to articles of association, having the articles in his possession, may, at any time before they have been filed with the secretary of state, alter and reduce his subscription to any extent he pleases. Burt v. Farrar, 24 Barb. (N. Y.) 518.

97. McClure v. Peoples' Freight Co., 90 Pa. St. 269; Hedge's Appeal, 63 Pa. St. 273; Strasburg R. Co. v. Echternacht, 21 Pa. St. 220, 60 Am. Dec. 49. The same view was taken by Campbell, J., in his dissenting opinion in Peninsular R. Co. v. Duncan, 28 Mich. 130. The tendency of the courts in Pennsylvania to depart from this holding is illustrated by Shober v. Lancaster County Park Assoc., 68 Pa. St. 429, where it was held that a subscription which positively promises to pay a certain sum of money to accomplish a specified object is binding. This case followed the decision in Edinboro Academy v. Robinson, 37 Pa. St. 210, 78 Am. Dec. 421, where an action at law for an assessment was sustained after the incorporation of the company on a subscription made before its incorporation. In Steamship Co. v. Murphy, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 224, 24 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 228, Sharswood, P. J., regarded the case of Strasburg R. Co. v. Echternacht, 21 Pa. St. 220, 60 Am. Dec. 49, where this doctrine was sprung, as being overruled in Edinboro Academy v. Robinson, 37 Pa. St. 210, 78 Am. Dec. 421, except in so far as it denied relief in equity. The case of Strasburg R. Co. v. Echternacht, 21 Pa. St. 220, 60 Am. Dec. 49, is referred to in Talcott v. Pine Grove, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,735, 1 Flipp. 120, on the proposition that the promoters and launchers of a corporation cannot bind it in any way, although all are shareholders. See also Phillips Limerick Academy v. Davis, 11 Mass.

of subscription to the shares of a corporation, formally made, in pursuance of the statute or other governing instrument, and a mere tentative agreement to subscribe for such shares. The theory of these cases seems to be that if a number of coadventurers mutually agree to subscribe for shares in a corporation thereafter to be formed, this does not amount to an irrevocable contract to become shareholders when the corporation is formed; but they must perform the additional act of executing the statutory contract of membership by signing and acknowledging the articles of association where the corporation is unformed, or by entering their names on its stock-book where it is formed. This theory is that until this additional act is performed there is no offer which the corporation, when formed, or even if already formed, can accept, and that the subscribers do not therefore become shareholders and liable to be charged as such, unless they choose to carry out their agreement by subscribing for the shares.[98] This doctrine, which treats preliminary share subscribers to corporations not yet formed with the utmost levity, which ignores the principle, hereafter explained, that such subscriptions are mutual promises among the subscribers as toward each other, that this mutuality of promise constitutes a sufficient consideration for such a subscription, and that it is none the less so because the promise is made to a third person, the corporation, which is not yet in esse, has been taken up and adopted by a good many modern courts.[99] Other courts, not going quite so far, hold that a subscriber to the shares of an intended corporation has the right to withdraw his subscription before organization and acceptance, and before any expense or liability has been incurred.[1]

c. Rule Requires Subscription to Articles of Association or of Incorporation. This rule proceeds upon the narrow and strict ground that a contract, such as will bind the intending obligors, must be tendered to the other contracting party, to an artificial being not yet in esse, and in the precise statutory mode, or not at all.[2] Under this view, in cases where corporations are organized under general statutes, several courts have held that the mere signing of a provisional subscription paper, before or without a formal execution and signing of the articles of association or of incorporation, by whatever name called, does not make a signer a shareholder, 113, 6 Am. Dec. 162; and compare Shibley v. Angle, 37 N. Y. 626; Chambers v. Calhoun, 18 Pa. St. 13, 55 Am. Dec. 583.

98. See Thrasher v. Pike County R. Co., 25 Ill. 393; Lake Ontario Shore R. Co. v. Curtiss, 80 N. Y. 219; Morawetz Priv. Corp. (2d ed.) § 49. Compare Quick v. Lemon, 105 Ill. 578; Mt. Sterling Coalroad Co. v. Little, 14 Bush (Ky.) 429.

99. Kansas.— Nemaha Coal, etc., Co. v. Settle, 54 Kan. 424, 38 Pac. 483.

Maine.— Bryant's Pond Steam Mill Co. v. Felt, 87 Me. 234, 32 Atl. 888, 47 Am. St. Rep. 323, 33 L. R. A. 593.

Massachusetts.— Hudson Real Estate Co. v. Tower, 161 Mass. 10, 36 N. E. 680, 42 Am. St. Rep. 379, 156 Mass. 82, 30 N. E. 465, 32 Am. St. Rep. 434.

Michigan.— International Fair, etc., Assoc. v. Walker, 88 Mich. 62, 49 N. W. 1086; Plank's Tavern Co. v. Burkhard, 87 Mich. 182, 49 N. W. 562.

Pennsylvania.— Muncy Traction Engine Co. v. De la Green, 143 Pa. St. 269, 13 Atl. 747; Auburn Bolt, etc., Works v. Shultz, 143 Pa. St. 256, 22 Atl. 904. Language and circumstances under which an agreement to subscribe to an enterprise entitled "South West Pennsylvania Fair" was held not enforceable as a subscription to capital stock. South West Pennsylvnia Fair Assoc. v. Greer, 11 Pa. Super. Ct. 103.

West Virginia.— Greenbrier Industrial Exposition v. Rodes, 37 W. Va. 738, 17 S. E. 305.

Canada.— Halifax Carette Co. v. Moir, 28 Nova Scotia 45; Halifax St. Carette Co. v. McManus, 27 Nova Scotia 173.

Compare White v. Kahn, 103 Ala. 308, 15 So. 595, where the subscription was said to have been designed merely as a test of what might be done.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 329.

1. Lewis v. Hillsboro Roller-Mill Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1893) 23 S. W. 338; Patty v. Hillsboro Roller-Mill Co., 4 Tex. Civ. App. 224, 23 S. W. 336.

2. "The fact," said Mr. Commissioner Martin, "that informal papers and circular letters are commonly signed and published as a part of the enterprise and zeal which gives birth to such corporations, can make no difference as long as the statute fails to recognize them among the necessary and prescribed legal steps to be taken by the incorporators to create the body corporate." Sedalia, etc., R. Co. v. Wilkerson, 83 Mo. 235, 242, 243 [citing and following Poughkeepsie, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Griffin, 24 N. Y. 150; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Tibbits, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 297, and distin- and as such liable.[3] Under this theory the liability of shareholders at the date of filing the articles is limited to those named therein, and to the amounts named therein.[4] This rule has been regarded as possessing special force, where the preliminary subscription paper binds the subscribers to take the number of shares set opposite their respective names, on conditions therein named. The annexing of conditions is regarded as placing the instrument in the category of mere tentative or provisional undertakings.[5]

d. Consequences of Rule — (I) Subscription Not Binding Unless Corporation Is Formed. The incorporation of a proposed company, to the capital stock of which one has subscribed, is a condition precedent to his liability upon the subscription contract; but upon the performance of such condition his liability becomes absolute.[6]

(II) No Contract if Subscriber Dies Before Corporation Formed. One of the consequences of this rule is that there is no contract if the subscriber to the preliminary agreement dies before the corporation is formed.[7]

(III) Effect of Annexing Subscription to Articles of Incorporation or Entering Subscriber's Name in Stock-Book. Other consequences of this rule are that the subscriber to the provisional paper is not bound where it is annexed to the articles of association without his consent;[8] or where the secretary of the corporation, after its formation, has, without authority from the provisional subscribers, placed their names on the list of shareholders in the stock-book;[9] and that in the absence of a statute authorizing such a provisional subscription to be made it will not be treated as an evidentiary document.[10]

(IV) When Subscription Invalid Before Adoption of By-Laws. Another consequence of this rule is that where the governing statute enacts that the persons subscribing the original articles, and those who subscribe to the stock in the manner to be provided by the by-laws, shall be a body corporate, there can be no operative subscription to the shares outside of subscriptions to the articles, until by-laws directing the mode of subscribing have been framed; so that a subscripguishing Peninsular R. Co. v. Duncan, 28 Mich. 130; also distinguishing the following cases as being cases "in which the act of incorporation, either general or special, had been passed, and the defendants were held liable as stockholders by reason of subscriptions within the peculiar meaning and terms of the acts; or because the acts, unlike the one before us, failed to prescribe any particular method of subscription by which a person might acquire the rights and be subject to the responsibilities of a stockholder:" Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 12 Conn. 499; Johnston v. Ewing Female University, 35 Ill. 518; Tonica, etc., R. Co. v. McNeely, 21 Ill. 71; Cross v. Pinckneyville Mill Co., 17 Ill. 54; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Palmer, 34 Me. 366; Taggart v. Western Maryland R. Co., 24 Md. 563, 89 Am. Dec. 760; Athol Music Hall Co. v. Cary, 116 Mass. 471; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336]. See also Parker v. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co., 33 Mich. 23.

3. Coppage v. Hutton, 124 Ind. 401, 24 N. E. 112. 7 L. R. A. 591, under Ind. Rev. Stat. § 3851.

4. Monterey, etc., R. Co. v. Hildreth, 53 Cal. 123; Sedalia, etc., R. Co. v. Wilkerson, 83 Mo. 235; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Warren, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 310; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Tibbits, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 297.

5. Chase v. Sycamore, etc., R. Co., 38 Ill. 215; Thrasher v. Pike County R. Co., 25 Ill. 393; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Warren, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 310; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Tibbits, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 297.

Rule not applicable where there has been an agreement for the consolidation of existing companies.— Where three existing railroad companies were consolidated and a subscription was made after the agreement for consolidation, but before it was filed in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth, it was held that the filing of the agreement in the office of the secretary was not necessary to validate the subscription. McClure v. Peoples' Freight R. Co., 90 Pa. St. 269.

6. Keating Land Co. v. Wettengell, 30 Pittsb. L. J. N. S. 78.

7. Sedalia, etc., R. Co. v. Wilkerson, 83 Mo. 235. See also Phipps v. Jones, 20 Pa. St. 260, 59 Am. Dec. 708, a subscription to an unincorporated religious society to build a church, where it was held otherwise, if the object of the subscription is acted upon, that is, if the building of the church is begun before the death of the subscriber.

8. Bucher v. Dillsburg, etc., R. Co., 76 Pa. St. 306.

9. Coyote Gold, etc., Min. Co. v. Ruble, 8 Oreg. 284.

10. Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 581.

tion before the adoption of by-laws does not create either the rights or the liabilities of membership.[11]

(v) Subscription and Payment of Deposit. A subscription for a stated number of shares, accompanied with a payment of the deposit required by the charter or governing statute, makes the subscriber a shareholder in respect of that number of shares.[12]

(vi) Subscription Before, but Delivery On, Day of Organization. Another road has been found out of this difficulty by reasoning that, although the underwriting of a subscription paper may have preceded in point of time the day of the meeting at which the corporation was organized, yet if it were actually delivered to the corporation on that day, the difficulty is obviated and the logical symmetry of the law preserved, and this without reference to the inquiry whether its delivery actually antedated, in point of time, the organization of the corporation; since the law will so arrange the acts performed in one day, and relating to the same subject-matter, as to render them conformable to the intentions of the parties, without regarding which was in fact first produced or executed.[13]

(vii) Doctrine That Subscriptions Made Before Organization and Accepted Afterward Are Good. Many courts, expressing their reasoning in various ways, have reached the conclusion that a subscription to corporate shares made before the corporation comes into existence, but accepted by the corporation after coming into existence, either expressly by issuing the share certificates, or impliedly by recognizing the subscriber as a shareholder and by extending to him the rights which pertain to that relation, makes him a shareholder.[14] The subscription paper may be informal, yet if the intent of the subscription can be collected from it, as where it states the names and residences of the shareholders, and the number of shares taken by each, it constitutes a subscription to shares

11. Carlisle v. Saginaw Valley, etc., R. Co., 27 Mich. 315.

Subscriber failing to assent to number and names of directors.— Another supposed consequence of this rule was that although the signer of the provisional agreement afterward subscribed articles of association, which set forth, besides other requisites, the number of directors and their names, as required by the governing statute, he was not bound by his subscription, although it did not appear that he ever assented to the number or names of the directors. Reed v. Richmond St. R. Co., 50 Ind. 342.

Difficulty avoided by subsequent ratification.— Other courts, endeavoring to be severely logical, have discovered a way out of this difficulty on the theory of a ratification by the subscriber, taking place after the organization of the corporation; as where the corporation issues and the subscriber accepts certificates representing the number of shares for which he subscribed. In such a case the contract is deemed to be complete, and the corporation may maintain an action against him for assessments. Taunton, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Whiting, 10 Mass. 327, 6 Am. Dec. 124; Inter-Mountain Pub. Co. v. Jack, 5 Mont. 568, 6 Pac. 20. Compare Gilmore v. Pope, 5 Mass. 491. Such a ratification has been held to take place where, after the organization of the corporation, the subscriber recognizes the obligation of his subscription by making a part payment upon it. This, it is reasoned, is a sufficient renewal of his promise to the corporation, to enable it to maintain assumpsit for the balance, and the partial execution of the purpose designed by the charter forms a sufficient consideration for such promise. Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Palmer, 34 Me. 366. The same consequences were held to follow where the subscriber had paid for one of his shares in full and transferred the others. Bell's Appeal, 115 Pa. St. 88, 8 Atl. 177, 2 Am. St. Rep. 532.

12. Payne v. Bullard, 23 Miss. 88, 55 Am. Dec. 74; Hayne v. Beauchamp, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 515.

13. Taunton, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Whiting, 10 Mass. 327, 6 Am. Dec. 124.

14. California.— Mahan v. Wood, 44 Cal. 462.

District of Columbia.— Glenn v. Busey, 5 Mackey 233.

Illinois.— Johnston v. Ewing Female University, 35 Ill. 518; Tonica, etc., R. Co. v. McNeely, 21 Ill. 71; Cross v. Pinckneyville Mill Co., 17 Ill. 54.

Indiana.— New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337.

Iowa.— Nulton v. Clayton, 54 Iowa 425, 6 N. W. 685, 37 Am. Rep. 213.

Maine.— Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Palmer, 34 Me. 366.

Massachusetts.— Thompson v. Page, 1 Metc. 565.

Michigan.— Michigan Midland, etc., R. Co. v. Bacon, 33 Mich. 466.

of the forthcoming corporation, and the corporation may maintain actions upon it against the signers.[15]

7. Certificate of Shares Not Necessary — a. In General. Unless the statute otherwise provides in express terms,[16] and except in the case of preferred stock, "it is not essential that a certificate should have issued, in order to create the relation of shareholder, provided a contract to take stock had been duly made, or provided the rights, privileges, and emoluments of a shareholder had been enjoyed with the consent of the corporation."[17] An owner of shares may vote at corporate elections,[18] hold office, and, in the character of its principal officer, assent to a mortgage of its property,[19] without a certificate being issued to him. Nor is it necessary that the corporation should have issued, or even tendered to him a certificate, in order to enable it to maintain an action against him for assessments upon his shares.[20] And for equal reasons a certificate is not necessary to make him liable to creditors for debts of the corporation.[21] The theory is that

Minnesota.— Red Wing Hotel Co. v. Friedrich, 26 Minn. 112, 1 N. W. 827.

New Hampshire.— Ashuelot Boot, etc., Co. v. Hoit, 56 N. H. 548.

New York.— Lake Ontario, etc., R. Co. v. Mason, 16 N. Y. 451; Yonkers Gazette Co. v. Taylor, 30 N. Y. App. Div. 334, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 969; Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. 157.

Pennsylvania.— Bell's Appeal, 115 Pa. St. 88, 8 Atl. 177, 2 Am. St. Rep. 532.

Tennessee.— Gleaves v. Brick Church Turnpike Co., 1 Sneed 491.

Texas.— Belton Compress Co. v. Saunders, 70 Tex. 699, 6 S. W. 134.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 215.

15. Nulton v. Clayton, 54 Iowa 425, 6 N. W. 685, 37 Am. Rep. 213.

Reasons in support of this doctrine may be collected from the following cases: Minneapolis Threshing Mach. Co. v. Davis, 40 Minn. 110, 41 N. W. 1026, 12 Am. St. Rep. 701, 3 L. R. A. 796; Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181. See also Townsend v. Alexander, 2 Ohio 18.

As to the nature of such an offer and acceptance see the reasoning of Stone, C. J., in Knox v. Childersburg Land Co., 86 Ala. 180, 5 So. 578 [citing Marseilles Land Co. v. Aldrich, 86 Ill. 504; Twin Creek, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Lancaster, 79 Ky. 552; Athol Music Hall Co. v. Carey, 116 Mass. 471; People's Ferry Co. v. Balch, 8 Gray (Mass.) 303; Inter-Mountain Pub. Co. v. Jack, 5 Mont. 568, 6 Pac. 20].

Instances where subscribers were held liable on preliminary subscriptions. Peninsular R. Co. v. Duncan, 28 Mich. 130. See also Athol Music Hall Co. v. Carey, 116 Mass. 471; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Clark, 22 Hun (N. Y.) 359. Compare Mahan v. Wood, 44 Cal. 462, subscription to shares in a homestead association and promissory note given therefor.

Rights and liabilities of subscribers for a common purpose afterward incorporated.— See the opinion of the supreme court of Pennsylvania by Lowrie, C. J., in Edinboro Academy v. Robinson, 37 Pa. St. 210, 78 Am. Dec. 421. As soon as the associates, who have subscribed, organize, the subscription is binding, and if they incorporate in regular form the corporation is authorized to collect the subscriptions (Shober v. Lancaster County Park Assoc., 68 Pa. St. 429); and a subscriber is liable, although the mode of organization is without his direct and express assent (Hedge's Appeal, 63 Pa. St. 273; Robinson v. Edinboro Academy, 3 Grant (Pa.) 107).

16. Courtright v. Deeds, 37 Iowa 503.

17. Rogers v. Burr, 105 Ga. 432, 31 S. E. 438, 70 Am. St. Rep. 50; Butler University v. Scoonover, 114 Ind. 381, 16 N. E. 642, 5 Am. St. Rep. 627; Chaffin v. Cummings, 37 Me. 76; Chase v. Merrimack Bank, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 564, 31 Am. Dec. 163; Farrar v. Walker, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,679, 3 Dill. 506 note. It follows that it is not necessary that the fact should appear on the books of the corporation. It may be proved by parol. Chaffin v. Cummings, 37 Me. 76. See also supra, VI, H, 4, a, (I), (B), note 72.

18. Beckett v. Houston, 32 Ind. 393.

19. McComb v. Cordova Apartment Assoc., 10 N. Y. Suppl. 552, 31 N. Y. St. 334; McComb v. Barcelona Apartment Assoc., 10 N. Y. Suppl. 546, 31 N. Y. St. 325.

20. California.— See Mitchell v. Beckman, 64 Cal. 117, 28 Pac. 110.

Georgia.— South Georgia, etc., R. Co. v. Ayres, 56 Ga. 230; Fulgam v. Macon, etc., R. Co., 44 Ga. 597.

Indiana.— Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430; Hardy v. Merriweather, 14 Ind. 203; Vawter v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 174; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337. See also Slipher v. Earhart, 83 Ind. 173; Miller v. Wild Cat Gravel Road Co., 52 Ind. 51.

Kentucky.—Shelbyville v. Shelbyville, etc., Turnpike Co., 1 Metc. 54.

Massachusetts.—Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128.

Missouri.— Schaeffer v. Missouri Home Ins. Co., 46 Mo. 248.

New York.— Burr v. Wilcox, 22 N. Y. 551.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 230.

21. Maine.— Chaffin v. Cummings, 37 Me. 76.

it is the act of subscribing, or the registry of the shareholder's name upon the stock-book of the company opposite the number of shares for which he has subscribed, which gives him his title thereto, and that the certificate neither constitutes his title nor is necessary to it, but is only a memorial or evidence of it, which he is entitled to demand from the corporation whenever he may desire it.[22] It is further reasoned that a subscription for stock does not stand on the same footing as a contract of sale, so that the company, like the vendor, must offer to deliver before demanding the price. Whenever the subscriber pays, or obligates himself to pay, he is the owner of stock in the company. It is the payment, or the obligation to pay, that makes him a shareholder, with all the rights of one, if the certificate were not issued at all.[23]

b. Exception in Case of Preferred Shares. Preferred stock being something more than a mere evidence of a shareholder's right to participate in the management of the affairs of the company and to receive dividends, but being in the nature of an interest-bearing security, it has been held that the implied promise of the company to issue such stock and of the subscriber to pay for it, where the subscription is to stock of this kind, are concurrent and dependent, and that an action by the company upon such a subscription cannot be maintained until it has issued or tendered the stock.[24]

8. When Contract of Subscription Not Necessary. No formal contract of subscription for a stated number of shares is necessary, where the corporation issues certificates for that number of shares and tenders them to the person, who accepts them.[25]

9. If No Certificate Issued, Then Written Agreement Necessary — a. In General. On the other hand, if no certificate of stock has been issued to and accepted by the person sought to be charged, a written contract of subscription is ordinarily necessary to bind him as a shareholder.[26] The word "subscription" by its etymology imports a writing; and most of the courts take the view that a contract to become a shareholder in a corporation must be in writing and cannot be established by parol evidence.[27] In conformity to the same view, it has been Massachusetts.—Chase v. Merrimack Bank, 19 Pick. 564, 31 Am. Dec. 163; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128.

Missouri.—Schaeffer v. Missouri Home Ins. Co., 46 Mo. 248.

New Hampshire.—Haynes v. Brown, 36 N. H. 545; Chesley v. Pierce, 32 N. H. 388.

New York.—Burr v. Wilcox, 22 N. Y. 551 [affirming 6 Bosw. 198]; Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513.

United States.—Hawley v. Upton, 102 U. S. 314, 26 L. ed. 179; Webster v. Upton, 91 U. S. 65, 23 L. ed. 384; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 945.

22. Lincoln v. State, 36 Ind. 161; Beaver v. Hartsville University, 34 Ind. 245; Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Pearce, 28 Ind. 502; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337. And see Chandler v. Northern Cross R. Co., 18 Ill. 190. For the same reason the failure of the corporation to issue to defendant, who is a shareholder therein, certificates for his shares, is no defense by him when sued by the corporation for money loaned. Hazelett v. Butler University, 84 Ind. 230.

23. Fulgam v. Macon, etc., R. Co., 44 Ga. 597.

24. St. Paul, etc., R. Co. v. Robbins, 23 Minn. 439.

25. Walter v. Merced Academy Assoc., 126 Cal. 582, 59 Pac. 136; Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 12 Conn. 499; Jackson v. Traer, 64 Iowa 469, 20 N. W. 764, 52 Am. Rep. 449; Nulton v. Clayton, 54 Iowa 425, 6 N. W. 685, 37 Am. Rep. 213; Dayton v. Borst, 31 N. Y. 435; Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Barton, 16 N. Y. 457 note; Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513.

26. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Clarke, 29 Pa. St. 146.

That a contract of subscription in some form is necessary, and that it is not created by the mere recitals in a bond given by a person to a corporation as security for supposed shares, which were never issued to the obligor in the bond, see the doubtful case of Butler University v. Scoonover, 114 Ind. 381, 16 N. E. 642, 5 Am. St. Rep. 627, opinion by Mitchell, C. J.

27. Vreeland v. New Jersey Stone Co., 29 N. J. Eq. 188; Fanning v. Hibernia Ins. Co., 37 Ohio St. 339, 41 Am. Rep. 517; Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Gazzam, 32 Pa. St. 340; Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Clarke, 29 Pa. St. 146; Thames Tunnel Co. v. Sheldon, 6 B. & C. 341, 9 D. & R. 278, 5 L. J. K. B. O. S. 157, 13 E. C. L. 161.

held that the title of a transferee of shares can be established only by evidence of the same dignity.[28] This view, no doubt, had its origin in the fact that nearly all special charters and general statutes establishing schemes of corporate organization provide for the receiving of subscriptions to the capital stock, either in books open for that purpose, or upon the articles of association by which the corporation is established, or otherwise.[29]

b. Oral Promise and Note Given For Shares. It has been held that an oral promise pending the organization of a corporation to take a stated number of its shares does not constitute the promisor a shareholder or member, and will not furnish a consideration to support a note given by him to pay for the shares, in the absence of evidence that the promisor received the share certificates or performed any acts creating an estoppel.[30] Another court has held that where a person gives his promissory note to a corporation and receives a receipt for the same, which also states that the note, when paid, will be in full for a certain number of shares of the capital stock, he does not become a shareholder until the note matures and is paid, and a stock certificate is issued.[31]

c. Doctrine That Writing Is Not in Strictness Necessary. Corporate shares not being goods, wares, or merchandise within the meaning of the statute of frauds,[32] it would seem to follow that in strictness of law it is neither necessary that there should be a contract in writing to take and pay for shares nor an actual receipt of them — or what is tantamount, a receipt of their symbol, the stock certificate — in order to constitute one a shareholder. It has accordingly been held that a person may become a shareholder without signing the stock-book or any written agreement to take shares;[33] and that a parol agreement made with the directors of a corporation to take stock may be enforced, when neither the governing statute nor the charter requires such contracts to be in writing.[34]

10. Written Subscription Not Varied by Parol Evidence — a. Statement of Rule. The general rule which excludes parol evidence to vary writings applies to subscriptions to the capital stock of corporations. Such a subscription cannot therefore be varied by parol evidence of a special agreement made prior to or concurrently with it,[35] as to show that the subscription was made upon a condition not expressed in the instrument.[36]

b. When Explainable by Parol. No reason is perceived why the rule which 28. Brouwer v. Appleby, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 158; Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Clarke, 29 Pa. St. 146.

29. Thus under a statute of Oregon (Oreg. Stat. 525, §§ 4–7) defining the duties of directors and the rights of shareholders, it is held that all original shareholders are only made liable on their subscriptions for stock by a writing, and are all equal before the law, and there is no estoppel between them. Coyote Gold, etc., Min. Co. v. Ruble, 8 Oreg. 284.

30. Fanning v. Hibernia Ins. Co., 37 Ohio St. 339, 41 Am. Rep. 517.

31. Tracy v. Yates, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 152. But the soundness of these decisions is doubtful.

32. See supra, VI, A, 9.

33. Re Canada Cent. Bank, 25 Can. L. J. N. S. 238; Re Standard F. Ins. Co., 12 Ont. App. 486.

34. Colfax Hotel Co. v. Lyon, 69 Iowa 683, 29 N. W. 780. See also the observations of Osler, J., in Union F. Ins. Co. v. O'Gara, 4 Ont. 359.

35. Alabama.— Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank Road Co., 30 Ala. 650.

Connecticut.— Ridgefield, etc., R. Co. v. Brush, 43 Conn. 86.

Florida.—Martin v. Pensacola, etc., R. Co., 8 Fla. 370, 73 Am. Dec. 713.

Indiana.— Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Posey, 12 Ind. 363; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. Fields, 10 Ind. 187.

Mississippi.— Thigpen v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 32 Miss. 347.

New Hampshire.— Piscataqua Ferry Co. v. Jones, 39 N. H. 491.

Pennsylvania.—McClure v. People's Freight R. Co., 90 Pa. St. 269.

Tennessee.—Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head 22; East Tennessee, etc., R. Co. v. Gammon, 5 Sneed 567.

36. Connecticut.— Fairfield County Turnpike Corp. v. Thorp, 13 Conn. 173.

Kentucky.— Wight v. Shelby R. Co., 16 B. Mon. 4, 63 Am. Dec. 522.

Maine.— Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Waters, 34 Me. 369.

North Carolina.— North Carolina R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340.

Pennsylvania.— Miller v. Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co., 87 Pa. St. 95, 30 Am. Rep. 349.

lets in parol evidence to explain ambiguities in written contracts should not apply to contracts of this kind; and there are decisions which support this view.[37] The modern doctrine is that the acts of corporations may be proved in the same manner as the acts of individuals, and that if there be no record of their acts they may be proved by parol evidence.[38] Accordingly it has been held that in a suit on a subscription to the stock of an incorporated company it was competent for defendant to show by oral testimony, in the absence of record evidence, that the subscription list upon which defendant's name appeared was annulled and abandoned, and that another subscription was subsequently opened and made the basis of the organization by the shareholders.[39]

11. FORM OF SUBSCRIPTION — a. In General. It seems that the form of the subscription is immaterial, so that the intention of the parties can be collected from the writing,[40] unless the charter or governing statute requires it to be made in a particular form or manner, in which case, according to one view, the requirement of the statute must be pursued or the subscription will not be binding.[41]

b. Unsubstantial Variances From Statutory Form Disregarded. Unsubstantial variances from the form prescribed by the statute will not, however, prevent the subscription from being operative.[42]

c. In What Kind of Book. Unless the charter or governing statute so provides, it is not necessary to the validity of the subscription that it should be originally made in a book prepared for that purpose. And although the statute requires books to be opened, the use of subscription papers in the first instance instead of a book does not make the subscription void.[43] Subscriptions made on a loose sheet of paper, which were afterward put in a bound book used as a record of the company, were held sufficient, where the contents of this paper, with the names of the subscribers and the amounts subscribed, were entered in the book by the commissioners who were appointed to open books of subscription.[44] Where the subscription was made in a small blank book before the regular stock-book for subscriptions was opened, and was afterward accepted by the corporation, it was regarded as unnecessary, in order to a right of action for assessments, that it should be transferred to the stock-book of the company.[45]

d. Subscription Paper Signed in Blank. A signature to an incomplete subscription paper wanting or left in blank in any substantial particular will not be binding upon the signer without a further assent on his part to the

As to subscriptions made upon parol conditions see infra, VI, J, 1, d, (IV).

37. Johnson v. Wabash, etc., Plank Road Co., 16 Ind. 389; Sodus Bay, etc., R. Co. v. Hamlin, 24 Hun (N. Y.) 390.

38. See infra, XII, F, 3.

39. Southern Hotel Co. v. Newman, 30 Mo. 118.

40. Monterey, etc., R. Co. v. Hildreth, 53 Cal. 123; Nulton v. Clayton, 54 Iowa 425, 6 N. W. 685, 37 Am. Rep. 213; Phœnix Warehousing Co. v. Badger, 67 N. Y. 294; 1 Morawetz Priv. Corp. (2d ed.) § 69.

41. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co. v. Eslow, 40 Mich. 222; Parker v. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co., 33 Mich. 23; Carlisle v. Saginaw Valley, etc., R. Co., 27 Mich. 315; Shurtz v. Schoolcraft, etc., R. Co., 9 Mich. 269.

42. Thus, where the legislature provided that the form of the subscription should be payable to the "president, managers, and company," the contract was held valid, although the word "president" was omitted, and it was made payable to the managers and company. The court found enough in the other expressions of the instrument to describe the corporation intended and to effectuate the contract. Hager's Town Turnpike Road Co. v. Creeger, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 122, 9 Am. Dec. 495.

43. Indiana.— Brownlee v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 68.

New York.— Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. 157.

Ohio.— Ashtabula, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 15 Ohio St. 328.

Tennessee.— Mobile, etc., R. Co. v. Yandal, 5 Sneed 294.

Virginia.— Stuart v. Valley R. Co., 32 Gratt. 146.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 205.

44. Woodruff v. McDonald, 33 Ark. 97.

45. Brownlee v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 68.

Although other accounts are written therein a book may be a good stock subscription book as required by the statute. Samuel v. Swanger, 7 Del. Co. (Pa.) 446.

completion of the instrument, as where the names of the directors are left in blank.[46]

e. Effect of Erasure in Subscription Paper. The erasure of a subscription for stock does not per se prevent suit upon it, but explanatory parol evidence is admissible.[47]

f. Effect of Annexing Explanatory Memorandum. Where an explanatory memorandum is annexed to the subscription paper, the legal presumption is that it was there when the subscription was made, in the absence of evidence to the contrary.[48]

g. Effect of Receipt Written on Margin of Subscription Book. A mere receipt for a certificate of stock, written in the margin of the subscription book, has been held a sufficient subscription for stock.[49]

h. Subscription Signed by Partnership Name. A subscription by a partnership name is a sufficient compliance with a statute which requires that a subscriber to the articles of incorporation shall subscribe thereto "his name, place of residence, and amount by him subscribed."[50]

i. Instances of Sufficient Subscriptions. A subscription of stock "subject always to the by-laws, rules and articles of incorporation," one of which was that the stock should be paid for after five hundred shares had been subscribed, and that ten per cent should be payable on the fifteenth of each month, has been held to render the subscriber a shareholder, and to make the instalments become due even if no assessments were made.[51]

12. Theories as to Consideration of Contract — a. Various Theories. These will be dismissed briefly, since they are only theories. They include the interest acquired by the subscriber;[52] the obligation of the corporation to issue the shares or to admit the subscriber to its management and its profits;[53] the franchises granted by the charter, inuring to the benefit of the subscriber;[54] the failure of the commissioners to reject the subscription where they have the power to do so;[55] labor or money expended on the faith of the promise;[56] and

46. Dutchess, etc., R. Co. v. Mabbett, 58 N. Y. 397. But where certain persons signed the subscription book of a corporation, leaving the amounts in blank, intending that they should be represented as subscribers for the purpose of influencing others to subscribe, it was held, in an action by the creditors of the corporation, seeking to compel payment of unpaid subscriptions, that the signers impliedly authorized the filling up of the blanks by thus taking subscriptions. Jewell v. Rock River Paper Co., 101 Ill. 57.

47. Bordentown, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Imlay, 4 N. J. L. 327.

48. Robinson v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 334, 72 Am. Dec. 792.

49. Lohman v. New York, etc., R. Co., 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 39. See also Clements v. Todd, 1 Exch. 268, 17 L. J. Exch. 31, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 132; Carrick's case, 15 Jur. 645, 20 L. J. Ch. 670, 1 Sim. N. S. 505.

Instances of insufficient subscriptions may be discovered in California Sugar Mfg. Co. v. Schafer, 57 Cal. 396 (construing Cal. Civ. Code, §§ 343, 344); Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Warren, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 310; York v. Passaic Rolling-Mill Co., 30 Fed. 471.

50. Ogdensburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Frost, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 541.

51. Waukon, etc., R. Co. v. Dwyer, 49 Iowa 121.

Other instances of sufficient subscriptions. — Cole v. Ryan, 52 Barb. (N. Y.) 168; Eastern Plank Road Co. v. Vaughan, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 155; Grangers' Market Co. v. Vinson, 6 Oreg. 172.

Acts which amount to a contract to take shares.— Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Scott v. Berkeley, 3 C. B. 925, 11 Jur. 242, 16 L. J. C. P. 107, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 51, 54 E. C. L. 925; In re Licensed Victuallers Mut. Trading Assoc., 42 Ch. D. 1, 58 L. J. Ch. 467, 60 L. T. Rep. N. S. 684, 1 Meg. 180, 37 Wkly. Rep. 674; Matter of Amazon L. Assur., etc., Co., 8 De G. M. & G. 177, 3 Drew. 409, 4 Wkly. Rep. 420, 57 Eng. Ch. 138; Gordon's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 249.

52. Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Jarvis, 34 Me. 360; Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. (N. Y.) 157; East Tennessee, etc., R. Co. v. Gammon, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 567.

53. St. Paul, etc., R. Co. v. Robbins, 23 Minn. 439; Richmondville Union Seminary v. McDonald, 34 N. Y. 379.

54. Thigpen v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 32 Miss. 347.

55. Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

56. Galt v. Swain, 9 Gratt. (Va.) 633, 60 Am. Dec. 311.

Where work is done or expense incurred under a promise, the liability is not disputed by the use of the words "value received" in the subscription paper, these importing a consideration.[57]

b. Mutuality of Promise Among Subscribers. Other courts have found in the act of the particular subscriber in subscribing with others, a mutuality of promise which obliges him to make good his promise to the corporation after it comes into its existence.[58] "It follows from this," says Sir Nathaniel Lindley, "that no subscriber to a projected company can recover back his money on the ground that the consideration for his subscription has failed, until the formation of the company, upon the terms assented to by him,[59] has been abandoned or has become impracticable."[60]

c. Consideration Where Corporation Is in Existence. Where the corporation is in existence at the time when the subscription is made no room is left for these speculations, since there is a mutuality of promise on the part of each of the parties;[61] but even here the courts have discovered a consideration in additional circumstances.[62]

d. Subscription Good Consideration For Other Undertakings. A subscription for stock of a company, being a legal obligation, which can be enforced by action and by forfeiture for non-payment, is therefore a good consideration for a mortgage to secure the payment of the amount subscribed.[63] On a principle already considered,[64] such a subscription is a good consideration for a promise on the part of other persons to pay money toward the undertaking.[65]

e. Subsequent Failure of Consideration. No doubt a failure to form the projected company on terms named in the subscription paper, or in the memorandum to which it refers, will constitute a failure of consideration, so that the subscriber any authority. Underwood v. Waldron, 12 Mich. 73, opinion by Campbell, J.

Labor performed and money spent to secure the location of a railroad depot are a sufficient consideration to support a promise contained in a subscription to pay money for that object. Workman v. Campbell, 46 Mo. 305. See also the following cases:

Illinois.— Illiopolis M. E. Church v. Garvey, 53 Ill. 401, 5 Am. Rep. 51; Thompson v. Mercer County, 40 Ill. 379.

Indiana.— Cook v. McNaughton, 128 Ind. 410, 24 N. E. 361, 28 N. E. 74.

Massachusetts.— Farmington Academy v. Allen, 14 Mass. 172, 7 Am. Dec. 201.

Missouri.— Koch v. Lay, 38 Mo. 147.

New York.—Barnes v. Perine, 12 N. Y. 18; McAuley v. Billenger, 20 Johns. 89.

Oregon.— Philomath College v. Hartless, 6 Oreg. 158, 25 Am. Rep. 510.

Vermont.— State Treasurer v. Cross, 9 Vt. 289, 31 Am. Dec. 626.

Compare Carpenter v. Mather, 4 Ill. 374; State University v. Buell, 2 Vt. 48.

57. Eastern Plank Road Co. v. Vaughan, 14 N. Y. 546 [affirming 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 155].

To the contrary where the subscription paper does not authorize the formation of a corporation to carry out its purposes, and where it cannot be construed as a request on the part of the subscriber, express or implied, to have the labor or money expended see Machias Hotel Co. v. Coyle, 35 Me. 405, 58 Am. Dec. 712.

58. California.—West v. Crawford, 80 Cal. 19, 21 Pac. 1123.

Massachusetts.—Pembroke Second Precinct Church v. Stetson, 5 Pick. 506.

Missouri.— New Lindell Hotel Co. v. Smith, 13 Mo. App. 7.

Pennsylvania.— Jeannette Bottle Works v. Schall, 13 Pa. Super. Ct. 96.

Texas.— Belton Compress Co. v. Saunders, 70 Tex. 699, 6 S. W. 134.

England.— Baird v. Ross, 2 Macq. 61. See also Burnes v. Pennell, 2 H. L. Cas. 497, 13 Jur. 597. Compare Kent v. Jackson, 14 Beav. 367, 2 De G. M. & G. 49, 51 Eng. Ch. 36.

59. Citing Johnson v. Goslett, 3 C. B. N. S. 569, 4 Jur. N. S. 50, 27 L. J. C. P. 122, 6 Wkly. Rep. 127, 91 E. C. L. 569. And see also Wilson v. Church, 13 Ch. D. 1; s. c. sub nom. National Bolivian Nav. Co. v. Wilson, 5 App. Cas. 176, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 60.

60. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 29, 30.

Decisions denying this principle.—Decisions are not wanting which either deny this principle or hold it inapplicable; but they seem on examination to be cases where no payee is named or designated, or where the one designated is either incapable of action or does not assume and is not bound to act. Phillips Limerick Academy v. Davis, 11 Mass. 113, 6 Am. Dec. 162; Boutell v. Cowdin, 9 Mass. 254. Compare Farmington Academy v. Allen, 14 Mass. 172, 7 Am. Dec. 201.

61. Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344.

62. See for example Union Turnpike Road Co. v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 381.

63. Battershall v. Davis, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 323.

64. See supra, VI, H, 12, a, note 56.

65. Ashuelot Boot, etc., Co. v. Hoit, 56 N. H. 548.

may recover back the money which he has paid;[66] and the same must be true where the enterprise has been wholly abandoned or where it has become impracticable.[67] But where payment for the shares has been secured by a mortgage, the neglect or omission of the company to issue to the mortgagor scrip for his shares before payment will not amount to a failure of the consideration, especially where it appears that by so doing the officers of the company will make themselves personally liable to the creditors of the company.[68] Moreover such a consideration does not fail in the theory of the law, because of the failure of the corporation, at the time when the action is brought to enforce the contract, to construct their works in accordance with the declarations of the promoters of the corporation, on the faith of which the promise of the subscriber was made; since the very object of the subscription is to assist in affording the means to construct their works. The agreement to construct remains a sufficient consideration for the subscription.[69]

f. No Consideration Where Company and Not Subscriber Gets Shares. One court has rendered a decision which is tantamount to holding that where a subscriber gets no direct personal benefit from his subscription — more briefly, where he does not get the shares — there is no consideration for the promise, as where the subscription contract, not under seal, of a mining company, was conditioned that two thousand of the capital shares should be paid to trustees, to be by them held for the benefit and subject to the direction of the company. Here it was held that the trustees being pro hac vice the servants of the company, and their possession its possession, the consideration was too shadowy to support a contract.[70]

13. Necessity of Paying Statutory Deposit — a. In General. Where the charter or governing statute requires the payment in cash of a certain percentage of the amount subscribed, at the time of making the subscription, there is a division of judicial opinion upon the question whether this payment is necessary to give binding force to the contract. Many of the courts hold that it is necessary where the subscription is made before organization.[71] Under this theory, until the statutory deposit is paid, there is no contract which binds either party, or through which either party can derive any rights against the other.[72] The subscriber cannot demand any rights in the corporation; the corporation

66. Johnson v. Goslett, 3 C. B. N. S. 569, 4 Jur. N. S. 50, 27 L. J. C. P. 122, 6 Wkly. Rep. 127, 91 E. C. L. 569. See also Wilson v. Church, 13 Ch. D. 1; s. c. sub nom. National Bolivian Nav. Co. v. Wilson, 5 App. Cas. 176, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 60.

67. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 29, 30.

68. Battershall v. Davis, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 323.

69. Cedar Rapids First Nat. Bank v. Hurford, 29 Iowa 579.

70. New York, etc., Gold Min. Co. v. Martin, 13 Minn. 417.

71. California.— People v. Chambers, 42 Cal. 201.

Georgia.— Wood v. Coosa, etc., R. Co., 32 Ga. 273.

Maryland.— Taggart v. Western Maryland R. Co., 24 Md. 563, 89 Am. Dec. 760.

Mississippi.—Fisher v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 359.

New York.— Perry v. Hoadley, 19 Abb. N. Cas. 76; Jenkins v. Union Turnpike Road Co., 1 Cai. Cas. 86 [recognized in Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273]; Highland Turnpike Co. v. McKean, 11 Johns. 98; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459. These three last decisions state that this was the ground on which the case of Jenkins v. Union Turnpike Co., 1 Cai. 86, was finally determined in the court of errors. But as hereafter seen they no longer express the law of New York on the subject. See infra, VI, H, 13, c.

Pennsylvania.— The same view was taken of the necessity of complying with the charter provision requiring the payment of a deposit in Hibernia Turnpike Road Co. v. Henderson, 8 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 219, 11 Am. Dec. 593; and this decision was reaffirmed in Leighty v. Susquehanna Turnpike Co., 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 434. Compare Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co. v. Grubb, 82 Pa. St. 36; Erie, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Brown, 25 Pa. St. 156.

South Carolina.— Charlotte, etc., R. Co. v. Blakeley, 3 Strobh. 245.

United States.— Missouri State Ins. Co. v. Redmond, 3 Fed. 764, 1 McCrary 308.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 208.

72. Reasoning in Perry v. Hoadley, 19 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 76, and cases cited below.

cannot maintain an action against him to enforce his subscription,[73] nor can the creditors of the corporation enforce their demands against him.[74] The reason in support of this theory is that statutes creating corporations are to be strictly pursued; that the payment of the statutory deposit is a condition precedent to the subscriber becoming a shareholder, so that his subscription can become a basis for the organization of the corporation; and that the payment of this deposit is necessary to prevent fictitious subscriptions, which are a fraud upon honest subscribers and upon the law.[75]

b. Rule That Payment of Deposit Must Be Made in Specie or Its Equivalent — (I) Statement of Rule. Under this strict rule the theory of several courts was that only specie or its equivalent, current bills of specie-paying banks, could be received in payment of the sum required to be paid at the time of subscribing the stock.[76]

(II) Effect of Giving Note — (A) View That Statute Is Not Complied With. The courts which take this view hold that the giving of a promissory note for the amount required to be paid is not a payment, or a sufficient compliance with a statute which requires payment in cash; and where such a payment was attempted the subscription was void and imposed no obligation on the subscriber.[77]

(B) Contrary View. Other courts take the view that the statutory deposit may be paid by the giving of his promissory note by the subscriber, if the corporation is willing to accept it as money, and to give a receipt for it as money.[78] It

73. Wood v. Coosa, etc., R. Co., 32 Ga. 273; Excelsior Grain Binder Co. v. Stayner, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 273; Highland Turnpike Co. v. McKean, 11 Johns. (N. Y.) 98; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273; Boyd v. Peach Bottom R. Co., 90 Pa. St. 169; Hibernia Turnpike Road Co. v. Henderson, 8 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 219, 11 Am. Dec. 593.

74. Perry v. Hoadley, 19 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 76.

75. "A corporation," said one court, "being the mere creature of law, can act in no other manner than the law prescribes, and cannot be permitted to enter into a contest with the legislature, concerning the policy or expediency of the terms which have been dictated." Hibernia Turnpike Road Co. v. Henderson, 8 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 219, 221, 11 Am. Dec. 593, opinion by Tilghmann, C. J. The learned judge referred to Mitchell v. Smith, 1 Binn. (Pa.) 110, 2 Am. Dec. 417, and Mabin v. Coulon, 4 Dall. (U. S.) 298, 1 L. ed. 841, as settling the point that a contract made in violation of an act of the legislature cannot be enforced in a court of justice. That legislatures have sometimes been obliged to pass curative acts to validate subscriptions thus made and to prevent the subscribers from taking advantage of their own wrong see Clark v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 10 Watts (Pa.) 364. In the leading case in Pennsylvania, Chief Justice Gibson (he was not chief justice at the time of this decision), whose opinions have always been held in high respect by the profession, expressed the view that the design of this provision of the statute was to prevent the subscription list being filled by fictitious subscribers, who should be favorites of the commissioners, or the creatures of other interested persons. He reasoned that it would be a fraud on the law and on the fair subscriber to admit to equal participation in the administration of the corporate affairs men who had not paid the required deposit with men who had. See his opinion in Hibernia Turnpike Road Co. v. Henderson, 8 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 219, 11 Am. Dec. 593. These views were quoted with approval by the court of appeals of Maryland in Taggart v. Western Maryland R. Co., 24 Md. 563, 89 Am. Dec. 760, where the authorities on the subject are reviewed at considerable length.

76. People v. Troy House Co., 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 625; Crocker v. Crane, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 211, 34 Am. Dec. 228; Neuse River Nav. Co. v. Newbern, 52 N. C. 275; McRae v. Russell, 34 N. C. 224; Henry v. Vermillion, etc., R. Co., 17 Ohio 187.

77. Hayne v. Beauchamp, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 515; McRae v. Russell, 34 N. C. 224; Boyd v. Peach Bottom R. Co., 90 Pa. St. 169; Leighty v. Susquehanna, etc., Turnpike Co., 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 434.

That a simulated payment of the deposit by a note with a secret agreement that the note shall not be paid is immoral and against public policy and that the maker of the note has no equity to be relieved against its payment see McRae v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 58 N. C. 395.

78. Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Woodsides, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 145, 55 Am. Dec. 708. Compare Clark v. Farrington, 11 Wis. 306, where this case is cited.

It has been held a good payment of this deposit that it was settled in a draft maturing in thirty days (Napier v. Poe, 12 Ga. 170), or in a note maturing at a future time, even where the charter required the payment to be made in cash at the time of subscripis a necessary part of this doctrine that such a note is given upon a good consideration, and is enforceable in an action at law brought by the corporation.[79]

(III) Effect of Giving Check on Bank or Banker—(A) In General. The extreme view which requires the payment of this deposit to be made in cash rejects a payment made by a check drawn against funds in the hands of a bank or banker;[80] but this conception, which ignores the settled habits of business, cannot be regarded as expressing the law. On the contrary a payment made by a check drawn against sufficient funds in the hands of a banker, which check would be paid by the banker on presentation is a good payment;[81] and so is a check drawn upon a solvent banker and certified by him as good, where the custom prevails of regarding certified checks as equivalent to money.[82]

(B) Simulated Payment by Giving Checks Which Are Not Collected. Simulated payments, made to fill out the necessary amount to organize the corporation under its charter or governing statute, by giving checks with the understanding that they shall not be collected, or that if collected the money shall be refunded, are not such payments of the statutory deposit as complies with the charter.[83]

(IV) May Be Made by Third Person if Ratified by Subscriber. As in any other case of payment, the payment of this statutory deposit may be made for the subscriber by a third person, even though acting officiously, provided his act is afterward ratified by the subscriber.[84]

(V) Payment in Services. It has been held that the payment of this statutory deposit may be made in services, such as the corporation, under its charter, has power to contract for, at a fair valuation.[85]

c. View That Non-Payment of Statutory Deposit Does Not Render Subscription Void—(I) Statement of Doctrine. Other courts take the view that, although the charter or governing statute provides that a certain percentage of the sum subscribed, or a certain round sum, shall be paid by the subscriber at the time of the subscription, the non-payment of this instalment or deposit does not render the subscription void;[86] but that subsequent payment will operate as a waiver of the condition, and the party making it will be considered as recognizing tion, and declared that the subscription should be void if it were not so paid (McRae v. Russell, 34 N. C. 224).

79. McRae v. Russell, 34 N. C. 224; Vermont Cent. R. Co. v. Clayes, 21 Vt. 30.

80. Crocker v. Crane, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 211, 34 Am. Dec. 228.

81. People v. Stockton, etc., R. Co., 45 Cal. 306, 13 Am. Rep. 178.

82. Matter of Staten Island Rapid Transit R. Co., 37 Hun (N. Y.) 422. Compare Thorp v. Woodhull, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 411.

83. People v. Chambers, 42 Cal. 201; Jersey City Gas Co. v. Dwight, 29 N. J. Eq. 242; Excelsior Grain Binding Co. v. Stayner, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 91, 61 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 456; State v. Jefferson Turnpike Co., 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 304.

Invalidity of such secret agreements.—On grounds hereafter discussed (see infra, VI, J, 1, d, [v]) if the subscriber to the shares gives his check for the statutory deposit, with a secret understanding between himself and the agent soliciting subscriptions that he shall neither be required to pay the check nor to pay for the shares, the law discharges the secret corrupt agreement and holds him to the liability which he has ostensibly assumed, so that the corporation can maintain an action upon the check (Syracuse, etc., R. Co. v. Gere, 4 Hun (N. Y.) 392, 6 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 636. Compare Crocker v. Crane, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 211, 34 Am. Dec. 228).

84. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 36 Miss. 17. Compare Ogdensburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Frost, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 541.

85. Beach v. Smith, 30 N. Y. 116 [affirming 28 Barb. (N. Y.) 254], where the services consisted in procuring subscriptions and right of way for a railway corporation.

As to payment of shares in property or services see infra, VI, M, 2.

86. Alabama.—Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 650; Hall v. Selma, etc., R. Co., 6 Ala. 741.

Georgia.—Mitchell v. Rome R. Co., 17 Ga. 574.

Illinois.—Illinois River R. Co. v. Zimmer, 20 Ill. 654.

Louisiana.—Vicksburg, etc., R. Co. v. McKean, 12 La. Ann. 638.

Maine.—Chaffin v. Cummings, 37 Me. 76.

Maryland.—Webb v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 77 Md. 92, 26 Atl. 113, 39 Am. St. Rep. 396.

Minnesota.—Minneapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Bassett, 20 Minn. 535, 18 Am. Rep. 376.

New Hampshire.—Piscataqua Ferry Co. v. Jones, 39 N. H. 491; Haynes v. Brown, 36 N. H. 545; Chesley v. Pierce, 32 N. H. 388.

his original liability.[87] According to this view the non-payment of the statutory deposit cannot be set up by the subscriber as a defense to an action for calls upon his subscription.[88]

(11) Subscription Valid Although Payment Made at Subsequent Time. Where this theory prevails, the payment need not be contemporaneous with the subscription; but if the subscriber pay the deposit before the subscription books are closed he will be held to the payment of the residue, although he did not pay the deposit at the time of subscribing.[89] Where the statute in terms recited that the subscription should be bona fide and required the commissioners to receive ten per cent thereof in gold or silver, but designated no time for the payment of

New York.— Black River, etc., R. Co. v. Clarke, 25 N. Y. 208; Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Barton, 16 N. Y. 457 note; Lake Ontario, etc., Co. v. Mason, 16 N. Y. 451; Beach v. Smith, 28 Barb. 254; Abbott v. Aspinwall, 26 Barb. 202; Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513; Union Turnpike Road Co. v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. 381; Thorp v. Woodhull, 1 Sandf. Ch. 411.

North Carolina.— Haywood, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Bryan, 51 N. C. 82.

Ohio.— Ashtabula, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 15 Ohio St. 328; Chamberlain v. Painesville, etc., R. Co., 15 Ohio St. 225; Henry v. Vermillion, etc, R. Co., 17 Ohio 187.

Vermont.—Vermont Cent. R. Co. v. Clayes, 21 Vt. 30.

England.— Where the act of parliament creating a company provided that the company should not "issue" any share under the authority of that act, nor should any share "vest" in the person accepting the same, until one fifth of the amount of the share was paid up, it was held that the word "issue" referred to the issuing of certificates of shares, and the word "vest" to the vesting of shares, so as to be property and capable of transfer; but that the section did not make the payment of one fifth a condition precedent to the liability, as a shareholder, of the person accepting the share. McEuen v. West London Wharves, etc., Co., L. R. 6 Ch. 655, 40 L. J. Ch. 471, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 143, 19 Wkly. Rep. 837; East Gloucestershire R. Co. v. Bartholomew, L. R. 3 Exch. 15, 37 L. J. Exch. 17, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 256; Re West London Wharves, etc., Co., 16 Wkly. Rep. 660.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 208.

87. Alabama.— Hall v. Selma, etc., R. Co., 6 Ala. 741.

Georgia.— Mitchell v. Rome R. Co., 17 Ga. 574.

Illinois.— Klein v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 514. It has been held that if the subscriber is also one of the persons to whom the subscription is to be paid its non-payment does not render it void. Ryder v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 516.

Kentucky.— Wight v. Shelby R. Co., 16 B. Mon. 4, 63 Am. Dec. 522.

Mississippi.— Barrington v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 32 Miss. 370; Fiser v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 359.

New York.— Black River, etc., R. Co. v. Clarke, 25 N. Y. 208 [affirming 31 Barb. 258]; Beach v. Smith, 28 Barb. 254; Eastern Plank Road Co. v. Vaughan, 20 Barb. 155. Compare Magee v. Badger, 30 Barb. 246.

North Carolina.— Haywood, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Bryan, 51 N. C. 82.

Texas.— Blair v. Rutherford, 31 Tex. 465.

West Virginia.— Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Applegate, 21 W. Va. 172.

Canada.— A provision in the charter of a corporation that it shall not "commence operations" until fifty per cent of its capital stock is subscribed, and twenty-five per cent of such subscription paid up, does not prevent the corporation from making calls on stock subscribed for, or prevent the board of provisional directors of the corporation created by the charter from doing any acts in the name of the corporation within their power, so long as they are not what may properly be termed "commencing operations." North Sidney Min., etc., Co. v. Green, 31 Nova Scotia 41. It has been held also that, although a statutory provision requiring payment of ten per cent by the shareholder within thirty days after his subscription is a part of his contract to take the shares, it is competent for the parties to waive it; and that where the money has been paid to and accepted by the corporation and stock certificates have been issued recognizing the party as a shareholder, and dividends on the shares have been paid to him, both parties (the corporation and the shareholder) are thereby estopped from denying that he is a shareholder in the corporation. Re Canada Cent. Bank, 25 Can. L. J. N. S. 238, opinion by Hodgins, Master-in-Ordinary, citing and following Day's case, decided by the same judicial officer and afterward affirmed on appeal. Compare Union F. Ins. Co. v. O'Gara, 4 Ont. 359; Port Whitby, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 31 U. C. Q. B. 170.

88. Wight v. Shelby R. Co., 16 B. Mon. (Ky.) 4, 63 Am. Dec. 522.

89. Hall v. Selma, etc., R. Co., 6 Ala. 741 (a recovery of judgment for the statutory deposit and satisfaction prevents the subscriber from raising the defense that he did not pay the statutory deposit in actions for subsequent assessments); Klein v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 514; Barrington v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 32 Miss. 370 (subsequent payment and affirmance of the previous act of subscription).

such deposit, it was held that the commissioners had discretion to allow a reasonable time.[90]

d. Subscriptions, Although Void Because of Non-Payment of Statutory Deposit, May Be Made Good By Estoppel. The doctrine of many courts is that subscriptions, although void by reason of the non-payment of the statutory deposit, may be made good by subsequent acts which estop the subscriber from denying the relation which he has assumed, as where, without paying the deposit, he acts as a corporator;[91] or subsequently pays a much larger percentage in pursuance of his contract of subscription;[92] or where he gives his negotiable promissory note in settlement of the deposit and the company disposes of it before maturity to an innocent taker without notice;[93] or where, having subscribed a provisional paper, he suffers his name to remain thereon until the articles are filed.[94]

e. Where Subscription Made After Organization Payment May Be Waived by Corporation. As the payment of this statutory deposit is presumably for the benefit of the corporation, where the subscription is made after the organization of the corporation, its payment may, according to some holdings, be waived by the corporation, so that the subscription will be valid and the subscriber liable thereon.[95] This is especially true where the obligation to pay the deposit is not declared by the charter or governing statute, but is declared by a by-law of the organization merely, in which case the failure to pay it does not ipso facto avoid the subscription, but renders it voidable merely at the election of the corporation. The corporation may waive the by-law and elect to treat the subscription as valid; and upon its so doing the subscriber will be bound.[96]

f. Effect of Statutes Requiring Certain Amount to Be Paid in Before Commencing Business. Statutes requiring a certain amount of the capital stock of a corporation to be paid in before it shall commence business stand on a similar footing to those requiring the payment by subscribers of a certain percentage of their subscriptions at the time when their subscriptions are made. The non-compliance with such a charter or statutory provision cannot be set up, either by the corporation or by the shareholders, to avoid a liability resting upon them.[97]

14. Doctrine That Full Amount of Capital Agreed to Be Raised Must Be Subscribed in Order to Liability of Subscribers — a. Statement of Doctrine. Where the act of incorporation,[98] the articles of association[99] or certificate of incorporation,[1] the subscription agreement,[2] or, in England, the prospectus which is pub-

90. Napier v. Poe, 12 Ga. 170.

91. Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344; Erie, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Brown, 25 Pa. St. 156; Clark v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 10 Watts (Pa.) 364.

92. Black River, etc., R. Co. v. Clarke, 25 N. Y. 208.

93. Ogdensburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Wooley, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 398, 1 Keyes (N. Y.) 118, 34 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 54.

94. Garrett v. Dillsburg, etc., R. Co., 78 Pa. St. 465.

95. Minneapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Bassett, 20 Minn. 535, 18 Am. Rep. 376. This was conceded by the court of appeals of Maryland in Taggart v. Western Maryland R. Co., 24 Md. 563, 89 Am. Dec. 760. See also Re Canada Cent. Bank, 25 Can. L. J. N. S. 238, opinion by Hodgins, Master-in-Ordinary, citing and following Day's case, decided by the same judicial officer and afterward affirmed on appeal. Compare Union F. Ins. Co. v. O'Gara, 4 Ont. 359; Port Whitby, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 31 U. C. Q. B. 170.

96. Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 650; Piscataqua Ferry Co. v. Jones, 39 N. H. 491; McRea v. Russell, 34 N. C. 224; Blair v. Rutherford, 31 Tex. 465.

97. Johnston v. Southwestern Railroad Bank, 3 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 263. Compare Patterson v. Wyomissing Mfg. Co., 40 Pa. St. 117.

98. Illinois.— People v. National Sav. Bank, 129 Ill. 618, 22 N. E. 288.

Minnesota.— Masonic Temple Assoc. v. Channell, 43 Minn. 353, 45 N. W. 716.

Nebraska.— Macfarland v. West Side Imp. Assoc., 53 Nebr. 417, 73 N. W. 736 [affirmed in 56 Nebr. 277, 76 N. W. 584].

New Hampshire.— Contoocook Valley R. Co. v. Barker, 32 N. H. 363.

Oregon.— Fairview R. Co. v. Spillman, 23 Oreg. 587, 32 Pac. 688.

99. Allman v. Havana, etc., R. Co., 88 Ill. 521; Rockland, etc., Steam-Boat Co. v. Sewall, 78 Me. 167, 3 Atl. 181; Bray v. Farwell, 81 N. Y. 600 [overruling it seems Rensselaer Plank Road Co. v. Wetsel, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 56].

1. Haskell v. Worthington, 94 Mo. 560, 7 S. W. 481.

2. Santa Cruz R. Co. v. Schwartz, 53 Cal. 106; Rockland, etc., Steam-Boat Co. v. Sewall, lished to induce subscriptions to the stock of the projected company,[3] fix its capital at a certain sum, divided into shares of a specified amount, a subscriber cannot be required to pay assessments until the amount so fixed has been fully and bona fide subscribed, unless, by taking part in the organization of the corporation or otherwise, he has waived his rights in the premises or estopped himself from setting up this defense.[4] Until then his subscription is deemed to be conditional merely.[5]

b. Subscriptions by Insolvents, Persons Non Sui Juris, Etc. The foregoing doctrine necessarily implies that the subscriptions shall be made and taken in good faith, by persons apparently solvent, and answerable for their engagements, although it may turn out that they are not so answerable.[6] Subscriptions by town paupers and idiots would not be a compliance with the statute.[7]

c. Taking Subscriptions in Property at Grossly Excessive Valuations. A just principle would seem to avoid the bona fide subscriptions taken where those in charge of the subscription list fraudulently accept subscriptions in specific property at grossly excessive valuations;[8] although in the era of early railroad build-

78 Me. 167, 3 Atl. 181; People's Ferry Co. v. Balch, 8 Gray (Mass.) 303. It has been held no defense to an action for calls that the full amount of capital stock contemplated in the agreement of subscription has not been subscribed, provided the amount required by the governing statute has been so subscribed. Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. (N. Y.) 157.

3. Galvanized Iron Co. v. Westoby, 8 Exch. 17, 16 Jur. 892, 21 L. J. Exch. 302, 7 R. & Can. Cas. 318; Martin, B., in Howbeach Coal Co. v. Teague, 5 H. & N. 151, 6 Jur. N. S. 275, 29 L. J. Exch. 137, 2 L. T. Rep. N. S. 187, 8 Wkly. Rep. 264; Pitchford v. Davis, 8 L. J. Exch. 157, 5 M. & W. 2; European, etc., R. Co. v. McLeod, 16 N. Brunsw. 3 (per Weldon, J.).

4. Temple v. Lemon, 112 Ill. 51; Hale v. Sanborn, 16 Nebr. 1, 20 N. W. 97. Compare Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257; Boston, etc., R. Corp. v. Midland R. Co., 1 Gray (Mass.) 340. The general statutes of Minnesota abrogate this rule. Masonic Temple Assoc. v. Channell, 43 Minn. 353, 45 N. W. 716.

5. The rule has been held otherwise where the question arose collaterally, and under a charter couched in such terms as not to disclose a clear legislative intention to make the subscription of the whole capital stock a condition to the corporate existence. Minor v. Mechanics Bank, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 46, 7 L. ed. 47.

For a good illustration of the doctrine of the above text where the subscriber was held not bound see People's Ferry Co. v. Balch, 8 Gray (Mass.) 303.

For an example of a faulty instruction submitting this question to a jury in an action for an assessment see Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Anderson, 51 Miss. 829.

Effect of fact that corporation exists de facto.— The fact that a corporation whose attempted organization was made before the required amount of its capital stock had been subscribed is a corporation de facto, so that its existence cannot be questioned collaterally, will not enable it to recover against a subscriber to its capital stock, where the conditions upon which his subscription was made have not been complied with or waived by him. Fairview R. Co. v. Spillman, 23 Oreg. 587, 32 Pac. 688.

6. Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654.

7. Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257. One court has, however, held that it is not a good defense to an action by creditors that some of those who were accepted as subscribers were notoriously insolvent. Jewell v. Rock River Paper Co., 101 Ill. 57. Another court regarded it as not a good defense to such an action that certain small subscriptions were void because made by married women, defendants having subscribed after these married women and with a knowledge of their subscriptions. Cornell's Appeal, 114 Pa. St. 153, 6 Atl. 258.

The reputation or fact of pecuniary inability would, it seems, be an evidentiary fact as bearing on the question of good faith, in making and receiving the subscription. Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257.

The subsequent declaration of a subscriber to the effect that his subscription was colorable and not made in good faith will not be admitted, in an action against another subscriber for calls, for the purpose of showing that such was the fact, in order to create a defense within the rule stated in the text. Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257.

Conclusiveness of commissioners' views.— View that the judgment of the commissioners as to when the subscription has been properly filled up is conclusive. Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181. The theory on which this view rests is well stated by Lord Tenterden in Rex v. London, 3 B. & Ad. 271, 23 E. C. L. 119. See in support of the same doctrine Walker v. Devereaux, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 229; Clarke v. Brooklyn Bank, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 361.

8. See infra, VI, M, 2, b.

ing, when some of the western courts seem to have been strangely affected in favor of the railroad companies, even this was held to be no defense.[9]

d. Subscriber May Waive Right to Avoid Subscription by Acts of Estoppel. Upon principles hereafter dealt with,[10] it may be concluded that any acts done by him, either as a corporator or as a director, which evince a willingness on his part that the corporation should enter upon its business with no more stock than that already subscribed, will amount to a waiver of the condition that payment of his subscription cannot be required until the whole capital stock is subscribed.[11] So if a corporation has already commenced business at the time when the subscription is made, and the subscriber knows this fact, and also knows that its whole capital stock has not been taken, a like waiver on his part may be inferred.[12]

15. What Agents or Commissioners Can Receive Subscriptions. Where commissioners have been appointed under the charter to take subscriptions, after the corporation is organized and a board of directors elected, the functions of the commissioners cease, and the directors alone have the power to receive further subscriptions to the stock of the company. But of course they may appoint an agent to receive subscriptions, and subscriptions so received will be binding.[13] This of course assumes that the stock is not all filled up. The theory here invoked is that receiving subscriptions to the capital stock of a corporation is a ministerial act, under a statute authorizing commissioners to take such subscriptions and subsequently to distribute the stock, and that such act may therefore be performed by an agent or deputy, or by any one without authority whose act is afterward ratified by the commissioners.[14] But where the governing statute provides for the organization of a corporation and nominates a particular agent, official, or board of commissioners to receive subscriptions to its stock, subscriptions can be received only by such agent, official, or board of commissioners, or they will not be binding. The reason is that the statutory direction must be pursued. Thus, if the power of allotting shares to applicants is conferred by the governing statute upon the board of directors, they cannot delegate it to a committee of their number, and no valid allotment can be made by such a committee.[15] So if a statute providing for the organization of railroad companies provides that certain commissioners, to be named in the articles of association, shall, after the corporation is organized, open books for subscriptions, and keep the same open until the capital has been subscribed, and, in case of an excess of subscriptions, make a distribution among the subscribers, subscriptions received by an agent appointed by the directors will not be binding.[16] The theory is that the commissioners, under such a statute,[17] act as a statutory board, and derive their powers

9. Hornaday v. Indiana, etc., R. Co., 9 Ind. 263; Maccoun v. Indiana, etc., R. Co., 9 Ind. 262, in neither of which cases was any opinion written.

10. See infra, VI, P, 6, a, (I), (D).

11. Masonic Temple Assoc. v. Channell, 43 Minn. 353, 45 N. W. 716.

12. Musgrave v. Morrison, 54 Md. 161. See also Goff v. Hawkeye Pump, etc., Co., 62 Iowa 691, 18 N. W. 307.

Who may question validity of agreement.— The validity of an agreement that a subscription for corporate stock is not to be binding on the subscriber until signed by a specified number of persons cannot be questioned by one who is a creditor of the corporation at the time of the subscription. Gilman v. Gross, 97 Wis. 224, 72 N. W. 885 [citing Hospes v. Northwestern Mfg. Co., 48 Minn. 174, 50 N. W. 1117, 31 Am. St. Rep. 637, 15 L. R. A. 470; Handley v. Stutz, 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 35 L. ed. 227; Coit v. North Carolina Gold Amalgamating Co., 119 U. S. 343, 7 S. Ct. 231, 30 L. ed. 420].

13. Lohman v. New York, etc., R. Co., 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 39.

14. Crocker v. Crane, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 211, 34 Am. Dec. 228.

15. In re Leeds Banking Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 561, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 742, 14 Wkly. Rep. 992.

16. Shurtz v. Schoolcraft, etc., R. Co., 9 Mich. 269. See also Essex Turnpike Co. v. Collins, 8 Mass. 292; Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co. v. Eslow, 40 Mich. 222; Parker v. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co., 33 Mich. 23. Contra, Northern R. Co. v. Rodrigues, 10 Rich. (S. C.) 278. See also the cases cited in the notes to 1 Morawetz Priv. Corp. (3d ed.) § 65.

17. Here the general railroad law of Michigan.

from the law, and not from the corporation; and since it is the intent of the law to enable all persons to subscribe equally, any subscription not made through them, acting regularly in the discharge of their duty, is void for want of mutuality.[18] Therefore subscriptions taken by an agent appointed by the directors, not being binding, did not operate to prevent other parties from taking the entire amount not subscribed by the original articles, whenever the commissioners should see fit to proceed and perform their duty.[19] But here, as in other cases, although the subscription may not be binding, because procured by an agent having no authority, yet the infirmity of the contract may be cured by a subsequent ratification.[20]

16. SUBSCRIPTIONS VOID AFTER ALL SHARES HAVE BEEN TAKEN. A corporation cannot increase its stock at will, in any manner or to any extent, unless it is authorized so to do by its charter or governing statute, and then only in the manner prescribed.[21] When a corporation has issued valid shares to the full extent of all the shares which, by its constitution or by the general law, it is empowered to issue, no court can order it to issue others, because in that respect its powers have been exhausted.[22] When all the stock of a corporation is once subscribed for and taken, the corporation cannot issue any more unless it shall get back a portion of that which has been taken, by forfeiture or otherwise;[23] and no person can then become a shareholder, and as such liable to creditors of the corporation, except by purchase from the original subscriber, or his assignee, and by having the stock transferred to him.[24] It was hence held, where all the stock of a corpora-

18. Shurtz v. Schoolcraft, etc., R. Co., 9 Mich. 269.

19. Shurtz v. Schoolcraft, etc., R. Co., 9 Mich. 269. It has been held, contrary to the principle on which this case proceeds, that a subscription to the capital stock of a railroad company is valid, although made to one who was not a commissioner to receive subscriptions, and although made by the subscriber under a mistaken belief that he might forfeit his stock at pleasure. Northeastern R. Co. v. Rodrigues, 10 Rich. (S. C.) 278.

20. Walker v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 34 Miss. 245; Mobile, etc., R. Co. v. Yandal, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 294.

Allotment and apportionment of shares by public commissioners.—The procuring of subscriptions to the shares of incorporated companies, and the apportionment and distribution of such shares were, under former schemes of incorporation, committed to public commissioners, appointed under the provisions of special charters. These modes of organizing corporations have in general gone out of vogue; and hence brief reference only will be made to the decisions touching the powers and duties of such commissioners, few of which decisions will be found to be recent ones. As in the case of other public officers, the subscriber must look to the source of the authority of the commissioners. Nippenose Mfg. Co. v. Stadon, 68 Pa. St. 256. See also Napier v. Poe, 12 Ga. 170; Shurtz v. Schoolcraft, etc., R. Co., 9 Mich. 269. As to apportionment of shares by such commissioners, and the extent to which their discretion would be controlled by the judicial courts, with a variety of other considerations see Crocker v. Crane, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 211, 34 Am. Dec. 228; Walker v. Devereaux, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 229; Meads v. Walker, Hopk. (N. Y.) 587; Clark v. Brooklyn Bank, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 361; State v. Lehre, 7 Rich. (S. C.) 234. As to the proportion of shares allowed to the commissioners themselves see Walker v. Devereaux, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 229; Meads v. Walker, Hopk. (N. Y.) 587; Clarke v. Brooklyn Bank, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 361.

Remedy of subscriber for the refusal to issue shares to him for which he has subscribed. — Busey v. Hooper, 35 Md. 15, 6 Am. Rep. 350; Miller v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 24 Barb. (N. Y.) 312; Meads v. Walker, Hopk. (N. Y.) 587; Wilson v. Montgomery County Bank, 29 Pa. St. 537; Dousman v. Wisconsin, etc., Min. Co., 40 Wis. 418; Smith v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 18 Wis. 17.

Apportionment of shares on the incorporating of a mining property held by several persons in common. Bates v. Wilson, 14 Colo. 140, 24 Pac. 99.

Limit of option to take shares on the reorganization of a corporation see Postlethwaite v. Port Phillip, etc., Gold Min. Co., 43 Ch. D. 452, 59 L. J. Ch. 201, 62 L. T. Rep. N. S. 60, 2 Meg. 10, 38 Wkly. Rep. 246. See also supra, II, B.

Legality of stock issued pursuant to N. Y. Laws (1874), c. 430, authorizing the reorganization of railroad corporations sold in foreclosure, etc. Matter of Brooklyn El. R. Co., 11 N. Y. Suppl. 161, 32 N. Y. St. 1065.

21. Lathrop v. Kneeland, 46 Barb. (N. Y.) 432.

22. Smith v. North American Min. Co., 1 Nev. 423; Mechanics' Bank v. New York, etc., R. Co., 13 N. Y. 599.

23. See In re London, etc., Exch. Bank, L. R. 2 Ch. 427, 36 L. J. Ch. 501, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 253, 15 Wkly. Rep. 543.

24. Lathrop v. Kneeland, 46 Barb. (N. Y.) 432.

tion was subscribed for and taken at the time the articles of incorporation were filed, and the certificate of incorporation, made and filed as required by law, specified the names of all the shareholders, and there was no evidence that the corporation had come into possession of any of its stock by forfeiture or otherwise, that no subsequent subscribers, by merely writing their names in the corporation book and affixing a number of shares to their respective names, could acquire a right to any share of its stock, or become by such act shareholders of the corporation, and as such liable for its debts. Nor does such a subscription for stock, where there is none to issue, estop the subscriber, when proceeded against by creditors of the corporation, from denying the relation of shareholder.[25] The foregoing observations have no reference to the case where the commissioners appointed by and under an act of incorporation are empowered to apportion the shares among the subscribers; although it will manifestly apply after the apportionment has been made and the stock has thus been filled up with valid subscriptions which have been accepted by the commissioners.[26]

17. SUBSCRIPTIONS DELIVERED IN ESCROW. A subscription cannot be delivered to the commissioners appointed to receive subscriptions as an escrow, to take effect only on the happening of a specified event, because they are the opposite parties to the contract; but when so delivered it takes effect immediately and unconditionally.[27] It has been held that a good delivery in escrow may be made to a single director,[28] to a committee appointed by the inhabitants of a town,[29] or even to the president of a corporation,[30] in which case it would not become operative until the designated condition has been performed.

18. TAKING SHARES TO QUALIFY AS DIRECTOR. Where the governing statute or the instrument of incorporation provides that a director must be the holder of a certain number of shares, then it seems that, while the mere fact that a person accepts the office of director does not make him a shareholder in respect of the necessary number of qualification shares, yet it implies an agreement on his part that he will qualify himself within a reasonable time by acquiring the necessary shares, which he may do by purchasing from other members, or from the company where there are more shares to issue.[31] The true result to be drawn

25. Lathrop v. Kneeland, 46 Barb. (N. Y.) 432. To the same effect is In re Tal y Drws Slate Co., 1 Ch. D. 247, 45 L. J. Ch. 158, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 460, 24 Wkly. Rep. 92.

26. A subscriber to the stock of an insurance company, the paper subscribed referring to a previous subscription of forty thousand dollars, not then paid in, as being part of the full sum of three hundred thousand dollars, to be subscribed, thereby has notice of such fact, and also of the fact that such sum of forty thousand dollars is to be taken as part of the full subscription. New York Exch. Co. v. De Wolf, 5 Bosw. (N. Y.) 593.

27. Wright v. Shelby R. Co., 16 B. Mon. (Ky.) 4, 63 Am. Dec. 522.

28. Ottawa, etc., R. Co. v. Hall, 1 Ill. App. 612.

29. Beloit, etc., R. Co. v. Palmer, 19 Wis. 574.

30. Gilman v. Gross, 97 Wis. 224, 72 N. W. 885.

31. In re Metropolitan Public Carriage, etc., Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 102, 107, 43 L. J. Ch. 153, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 562, 22 Wkly. Rep. 171; In re Pelotas Coffee Co., L. R. 20 Eq. 506, 44 L. J. Ch. 622; In re East Norfolk Tramways Co., 5 Ch. D. 963, 26 Wkly. Rep. 3; In re Percy, etc., Nickel, etc., Iron Min. Co., 5 Ch. D. 705, 46 L. J. Ch. 543, 37 L. T. Rep. N. S. 349, 25 Wkly. Rep. 600; In re National Ins., etc., Assoc., 4 De G. F. & J. 78, 8 Jur. N. S. 951, 31 L. J. Ch. 828, 10 Wkly. Rep. 548, 65 Eng. Ch. 62. See also In re Anglo-Moravian Hungarian Junction R. Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 768, 42 L. J. Ch. 857; In re La Mancha Irr., etc., Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 548, 42 L. J. Ch. 465, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 652, 21 Wkly. Rep. 518; In re General International Agency Co., L. R. 2 Eq. 567, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 752; Re Hereford, etc., Junction R. Co., 3 Giff. 28; Lindley Comp. L. 794 (where other authorities are reviewed). Compare In re Llanharry Hematite Iron Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 85, 11 Jur. N. S. 1009, 35 L. J. Ch. 120, 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 485, 14 Wkly. Rep. 153, and In re Peninsular, etc., Bank, L. R. 2 Eq. 435, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 140, 14 Wkly. Rep. 1010 (where under the circumstances the director was held not to be a contributory with respect to the necessary number of qualification shares). See also In re La Mancha Irr., etc., Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 548, 42 L. J. Ch. 465, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 652, 21 Wkly. Rep. 518; In re British, etc., Tel. Co., L. R. 14 Eq. 316, 42 L. J. Ch. 9, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 748, 21 Wkly. Rep. 37; In re Great Oceanic Tel. Co., L. R. 13 Eq. 30, 41 L. J. Ch. 283, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 690, 20 Wkly. Rep. 84; In re British Colonial, etc.,

from the English authorities, as stated by Lord Selborne, is, "that the fact of a man accepting the place of director, for which the possession of a certain number of shares is a necessary qualification, is most material in determining whether he shall or shall not be permitted to repudiate, as unauthorized by himself, the registration of shares which, in the ordinary course of the business of the company, have actually been placed in his name, and which were needful for his qualification."[32] A mere colorable device, the effect of which is that the company itself furnishes the money necessary to purchase and pay for the qualifying shares of a board of directors, will be set aside in equity; such shares will be deemed not to have been paid for, and the directors will be put upon the list of contributories accordingly.[33]

19. EACH SUBSCRIPTION SEVERAL AND NOT JOINT. Each subscription to the capital stock of a corporation is an independent undertaking, and is in no way affected by the terms of other subscriptions;[34] and the obligation of each of several subscribers to the same agreement of subscription is several and not joint,[35] and each subscriber is liable only for the amount set opposite his own name.[36]

20. SUBSCRIPTIONS CONSTRUED BY COURT — a. In General. As in the case of all other written instruments,[37] the subscription is interpreted by the court, and not by the jury, unless in cases where parol evidence is admitted, to explain latent ambiguities therein.[38]

b. By What Law Governed. Such subscriptions are construed according to the law of the domicile of the corporation, it being a reasonable implication that the parties intended to be governed by that law.[39]

21. DISTINCTION BETWEEN SUBSCRIPTION TO SHARES AND PURCHASE OF SHARES FROM THIRD PERSON. This distinction is obvious. In case of a purchase of shares from a third person until the agreement is executed in the mode prescribed by the charter, governing statute, or by-laws, by transferring the shares on the books of the corporation to the vendee, he is not a shareholder with respect to the corporation. A contract between two persons, whereby one is to take the shares which the other holds in a corporation will not, until the execution of the usual power of attorney, authorize the entry of the name of the former on the books of the corporation as a shareholder, or entitle the corporation to treat him as such or charge him with liability as such.[40] A distinction has also been taken between a subscription to the capital stock of a corporation and a purchase of its shares from the corporation.[41] Thus where a contractor agreed to build a railroad and to

Ins. Corp., 45 L. J. Ch. 488. In one case it was said to be "indelible" that a man who serves as a director becomes liable as a shareholder to the extent of the necessary qualification shares. In re British, etc., Tel. Co., L. R. 14 Eq. 316, 42 L. J. Ch. 9, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 748, 21 Wkly. Rep. 37.

For a case where the provisional directors on the formation of a company were held to have continued themselves as permanent directors by making default in appointing permanent directors, and so to have become liable as shareholders for the necessary qualification shares, see Matter of Great Northern, etc., Coal Co., 3 De G. J. & S. 367, 32 L. J. Ch. 421, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 472, 68 Eng. Ch. 278.

32. In re Metropolitan Public Carriage, etc., Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 102, 107, 43 L. J. Ch. 153, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 562, 22 Wkly. Rep. 171.

33. In re Disderi, L. R. 11 Eq. 242, 40 L. J. Ch. 248, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 694, 19 Wkly. Rep. 175.

34. Erie, etc., R. Co. v. Patrick, 2 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 72, 2 Keyes (N. Y.) 256; Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

35. Price v. Grand Rapids, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 137; Herron v. Vance, 17 Ind. 595.

36. Price v. Grand Rapids, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 137; Erie, etc., R. Co. v. Patrick, 2 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 72, 2 Keyes (N. Y.) 256.

As to joinder in equity see Herron v. Vance, 17 Ind. 595.

37. 1 Thompson Tr. § 1065 et seq.

38. Monadnock R. Co. v. Felt, 52 N. H. 379.

39. Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Bartlett, 12 Gray (Mass.) 244, 71 Am. Dec. 753; Merrick v. Van Santvoord, 34 N. Y. 208; Seymour v. Sturgess, 26 N. Y. 134; McDonough v. Phelps, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 372; Ex p. Van Riper, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 614; Payson v. Withers, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,864, 5 Biss. 269.

40. Sigua Iron Co. v. Greene, 88 Fed. 207, 31 C. C. A. 477.

41. 1 Morawetz Priv. Corp. (2d ed.) § 61.

accept in payment a certain amount of its capital stock, the agreement was a purchase, and not a subscription.[42] A contract to take shares of a company is not discharged by purchasing the same number of paid-up shares of another member; for this is taking shares from another member and not from the company.[43]

I. Alterations in Contract of Association and Release of Dissenting Subscribers For Shares — 1. What Alterations Release Dissenting Subscribers — a. General Statement. A subscriber to the shares of a proposed corporation having a named purpose, character, amount of capital, etc., cannot be held to his contract of subscription if, without his assent and without any circumstances of estoppel against him, the corporation as organized is for a different purpose, or of a different character, or has a different capital, or is in any essential particular different from the corporation as described in the subscription paper;[44] as where the subscription paper calls for a capital stock of fifty thousand dollars, and the corporation as organized has a capital of one hundred thousand dollars, and names as the purposes of the corporation other objects than those named in the original paper.[45]

b. Breach by Corporation of Contract With Subscriber. Where the contract of subscription contains interdependent covenants, a substantial breach of its conditions by the corporation will, where the rights of third persons are not concerned, release the subscriber.[46] The usual application of this rule obtains, in England, where the prospectus of a joint-stock company holds out certain promises to subscribers, on the faith of which they put down their names, and the memorandum, when drawn up, so far departs from the prospectus as to make substantially a different contract.[47]

c. Making Radical Changes in Purposes of Corporation. If, as hereafter seen,[48] the legislature cannot change the contract of the subscriber without his consent, for stronger reasons, the directors, the executive committee, or the other shareholders will not be permitted to make a radical change in the business of the corporation which shall bind a dissenting subscriber, as by selling its entire property,[49] by exchanging its assets upon dissolution for stock in another company,[50] by consolidating the corporation with another to form a new corporation,[51] in case of a railroad company, by departing substantially from the route marked out in its charter,[52] or, in case of a plank-road company, by extending the road and increasing the capital stock without complying with the provisions of the charter on that point.[53]

d. Abandoning Original Certificate Under Which Subscription Was Taken and Organizing Under New and Different Certificate. If the certificate of incorporation, prescribed by the governing statute, which was originally executed, is abandoned by the coadventurers, and a new and different certificate executed, and the organization takes place under the latter, the association cannot hold the subscriber under the provisions of the former;[54] for this is a contract to which he had not agreed.

42. New York, etc., R. Co. v. Hunt, 39 Conn. 75. Compare Ridgefield, etc., R. Co. v. Brush, 43 Conn. 86.

43. In re South Blackpool Hotel Co., L. R. 4 Eq. 238, 36 L. J. Ch. 531, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 271, 15 Wkly. Rep. 731. The same ruling was made on similar facts in In re Heyford Ironworks Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 270, 39 L. J. Ch. 422, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 187, 18 Wkly. Rep. 302.

44. Norwich Lock Mfg. Co. v. Hockaday, 89 Va. 557, 16 S. E. 877.

45. Baker v. Ft. Worth Bd. of Trade, 8 Tex. Civ. App. 560, 28 S. W. 403.

46. Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Croswell, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 383, 40 Am. Dec. 354.

47. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 19.

48. See infra, VI, I, 1, f.

49. Abbot v. American Hard Rubber Co., 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 578, 11 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 204, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 199; 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 193.

50. Frothingham v. Barney, 6 Hun (N. Y.) 366.

51. Blatchford v. Ross, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 42, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 434, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 110; Ferguson v. Meredith, 1 Wall. (U. S.) 25, 17 L. ed. 604.

52. Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Pottle, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 21.

53. Macedon, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Lapham, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 312.

54. Burrows v. Smith, 10 N. Y. 550, Seld. Notes (N. Y.) 115.

e. Abandoning Enterprise For Which Corporation Was Organized. Abandonment of the enterprise for which the corporation was organized, as by failing to commence the undertaking within the time prescribed by its charter and refunding some of the subscriptions;[55] or, in case of a railroad company, locating the road on an entirely different route,[56] will discharge the shareholder. But the mere fact that the work on the corporate undertaking has been suspended is not such evidence of an abandonment of the enterprise as will discharge a subscriber from his obligation of payment, since the refusal of the subscribers to pay according to their contracts may be the very cause of the suspension, and the very object of the attempt to enforce their contracts may be to get money to revive or continue the prosecution of the work.[57]

f. Legislative Alteration of Contract in Material Particular. The general rule is that the relation between a corporation and a shareholder being one of contract, any legislative enactment which without his assent authorizes a material or fundamental change in the powers or purposes of the corporation, not in aid of the original object, if acted upon by the corporation, is not binding upon him.[58]

g. Increasing Capital Stock. Of this nature, as already seen,[59] according to the general course of decisions, are amendments increasing the capital stock.[60] But where, in addition to an amendment authorizing an increase of its capital stock, the legislature authorizes another fundamental change, such as changing the termini of a railroad, this may release the subscriber.[61]

h. Reducing Capital Stock. And it would seem that the same must be affirmed of an amendment reducing the capital stock of the corporation, and thereby rendering the success of the enterprise more doubtful.[62] Accordingly it was held that a dissenting shareholder was released by an amendment of the charter of an insurance association, providing that the stock notes should be reduced by a credit of certain net profits.[63]

i. Enlarging Powers and Privileges and Adding New Responsibilities. On principle any amendment which enlarges the undertaking, so as to entail new responsibilities or new hazards upon the corporation, will release dissenting shareholders.[64]

j. Changing Nature of Enterprise. An amendment to the charter of a railway company, adopted without the consent of one who has previously become a

55. McCully v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 25.

56. Winter v. Muscogee R. Co., 11 Ga. 438; Champion v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 35 Miss. 692; Hester v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 378; Kenosha, etc., R. Co. v. Marsh, 17 Wis. 13.

57. See in illustration of this Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Gifford, 87 N. Y. 294; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Clark, 22 Hun (N. Y.) 359. Compare Four Mile Valley R. Co. v. Bailey, 18 Ohio St. 208.

58. McCray v. Junction R. Co., 9 Ind. 358; Charlotte First Nat. Bank v. Charlotte, 85 N. C. 433.

59. See supra, I, K, 2, c.

60. Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Norwich Lock Mfg. Co. v. Hockaday, 89 Va. 557, 16 S. E. 877.

61. Where a railroad company obtains authority from the legislature to change one of its termini and to increase its capital stock without the consent of a subscriber to stock under the original charter, the latter is released from his subscription, although at the time thereof the general law, under which the first charter was obtained, authorized amendments increasing the capital stock, and changing the route, as such law did not authorize a change in the termini. Youngblood v. Georgia Imp. Co., 83 Ga. 797, 10 S. E. 124; Snook v. Georgia Imp. Co., 83 Ga. 61, 9 S. E. 1104; Katama Land Co. v. Jernegan, 126 Mass. 155; Bery v. Marietta, etc., R. Co., 26 Ohio St. 673.

62. Oldtown, etc., R. Co. v. Veazie, 39 Me. 571.

63. Hoey v. Henderson, 32 La. Ann. 1069. Another court has taken a middle ground by holding that such an amendment will operate to discharge the existing subscribers, pro tanto, from the obligation of payment in accordance with the terms of their subscriptions. If therefore the amendment reduces the capital one half, and before the passage of such an amendment they have paid one half, they will have nothing further to pay. Woodhouse v. Commonwealth Ins. Co., 54 Pa. St. 307.

64. Union Locks, etc. v. Towne, 1 N. H. 44, 8 Am. Dec. 32. As by adding to the powers of a railroad company the power to purchase steamboats. Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Croswell, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 383, 40 Am. Dec.

subscriber to its capital stock, which superadds to the original object of the incorporation an authority to establish a line of water communication in connection with the railroad, which will involve large additional expense, which amendment provides for an increase of the capital stock for that purpose, releases such shareholder from his subscription, although the amendment is accepted by the board of directors and also by a majority of the shareholders.[65] The same is true of an amendment to a life and accident insurance company, changing it to a life, accident, fire, marine, and inland insurance company.[66]

k. Changing Terminus or Termini of Railroad Which Corporation Was Chartered to Build. As already seen,[67] there is a conflict of judicial opinion upon the question whether an amendment of the charter or corporate action changing the terminus or the termini of the railroad which the corporation was created to build will have the effect of releasing dissenting subscribers, but as this branch of doctrine is special and peculiar to railroad companies it is not considered at length in this article.[68]

l. Consolidation With Another Company. The consolidation of the corporation, to whose shares one has subscribed, with another corporation, is a change of such a fundamental character as to discharge his contract of subscription, provided he does not assent thereto, unless at the time of the subscription there is a statute authorizing it,[69] or providing for the purchase of the shares of the dissenting shareholder.[70]

m. Alterations Material to Particular Subscriber. Qualifying its earlier holdings, the supreme court of Pennsylvania hold that an alteration departing from the terms of the contract may operate to discharge a particular subscriber, on the ground that it is, as to him and his interest, a material variation; as where the contract of subscription provided that the railroad should be built on a route which would bring it within five hundred feet of the subscriber's mill, and this was varied so as to adopt a route twelve hundred feet distant therefrom.[71]

354. Compare Chesapeake, etc., Canal Co. v. Robertson, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,652, 4 Cranch C. C. 291.

65. Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Croswell, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 383, 40 Am. Dec. 354. To the same effect see Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 581; McCullough v. Moss, 5 Den. (N. Y.) 567; Indiana, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Phillips, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 184.

66. Ashton v. Burbank, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 582, 2 Dill. 435.

67. See supra, I, K, 2, b et seq.

68. See, generally, RAILROADS.

That such changes will release a dissenting subscriber see Witter v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 463; Delaware, etc., R. Co. v. Irick, 23 N. J. L. 321; Kenosha, etc., R. Co. v. Marsh, 17 Wis. 13. That a change of terminus and an enlargement of the project, as by authorizing the corporation to run a line of steamers beyond its original terminus, will have this effect see Marietta, etc., R. Co. v. Elliott, 10 Ohio St. 57. Or by authorizing it to increase its capital stock. Snook v. Georgia Imp. Co., 83 Ga. 61, 9 S. E. 1104.

That a change which authorizes the company to purchase stock in other railroad companies, even though the terminus of the road as originally chartered is thereby changed, will not release a dissenting subscriber see Terre Haute, etc., R. Co. v. Earp, 21 Ill. 291.

Doctrine that material changes in the location or route of a railway will release dissenting subscribers.— Champion v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 35 Miss. 692; Hester v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 378; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Pottle, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 21; Noesen v. Port Washington, 37 Wis. 168. Weak distinction in this respect between locating and building it. Nashville, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 574. Doctrine that subscriber is released by such a change, although he had as one of the directors petitioned the legislature for it, and although he had held offices in the corporation subsequently thereto — untenable decision. Middlesex Turnpike Corp. v. Swan, 10 Mass. 384, 6 Am. Dec. 139. See also Middlesex Turnpike Corp. v. Locke, 8 Mass. 268. That a material change from the route and termini named in the contract of subscription is evidence of an abandonment see Caley v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 80 Pa. St. 363.

What changes of route made by directors will release a dissenting subscriber.— Nashville, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 574.

69. Bish v. Johnson, 21 Ind. 299; Hanna v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 20 Ind. 30; Sparrow v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 7 Ind. 369. Compare Hayworth v. Junction R. Co., 13 Ind. 348.

70. That it makes him a shareholder of the new company see Ridgway Tp. v. Griswold, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,819, 1 McCrary 151.

71. Moore v. Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co., 94 Pa. St. 324.

n. Selling Out or Leasing Entire Corporate Property. Selling the entire corporate property to another corporation, or what is in practical effect the same thing, leasing it for nine hundred and ninety-nine years, is such a fundamental change as releases a dissenting subscriber. If this cannot be done with the authority of the legislature so as to bind a dissenting shareholder, for stronger reasons it cannot be done without the authority of law.[72]

o. Changes Involving Material Departure From Governing Statutes. A principle hereafter explained,[73] which makes changes authorized by statutes existing at the time of the subscription no ground for discharging a dissenting subscriber, works the other way; so that a material departure from the terms of a statute existing at the time of a subscription discharges the contract if the subscriber so elects;[74] and the fact that the legislature possesses the constitutional power to alter or repeal acts of incorporation at its pleasure does not affect this principle.[75]

2. What Alterations Do Not Release Dissenting Subscribers — a. Only Material, Fundamental, or Radical Changes. The legislative change in the character of the enterprise which will thus release a subscriber has been often described as material, fundamental, or radical;[76] but it is more frequently described by the use of the word "fundamental."[77] If it vitally and radically affects rights established and fixed by charter it cannot be forced upon an unwilling shareholder.[78]

b. Immaterial Change in Articles of Incorporation. The rule stated in the subdivisions immediately preceding has reference to material changes only; the liability of a subscriber is not affected by immaterial changes in the articles of incorporation.[79]

c. Mere Mechanical Alteration of Subscription Paper. A mere mechanical alteration of the subscription paper, which does not have the effect of altering the contract of the subscriber, and which is not so intended, will not of course release him; as where printed forms of the contract of subscription, which had been circulated and signed separately, were cut from the rest of the papers, and all the written parts were attached to one of these printed forms, which was then filed in the office of the secretary of state for the purpose of organizing the corporation.[80]

d. Directors Departing From Charter or Failing to Carry Out Its Provisions. As shareholders have a remedy in equity against their unfaithful directors, for ultra vires conduct injurious to the corporation,[81] it follows that the failure of the directors of a corporation to carry out the purposes of the charter, or the doing by them of ultra vires acts not warranted by the charter, will not afford ground for releasing a dissenting shareholder from his contract of subscription. It has accordingly been held that a corporation cannot be enjoined from enforcing a judgment for a stock subscription on the ground of a departure from its charter in respect of matters not connected with the suit, or on the ground that the work of building a railroad which the corporation was chartered to build was not progressing in the manner prescribed in the charter, or that the company contemplated a departure from the route, or a change in the termini designated therein.[82] Nor will such shareholders of a corporation, created "to build and maintain a

72. South Georgia, etc., R. Co. v. Ayres, 56 Ga. 230.

73. See infra, VI, I, 2, k.

74. Witter v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 20 Ark. 463.

75. Kenosha, etc., R. Co. v. Marsh, 17 Wis. 13.

76. Snook v. Georgia Imp. Co., 83 Ga. 61, 9 S. E. 1104.

77. Nugent v. Putnam County, 19 Wall. (U. S.) 241, 22 L. ed. 83.

78. Hoey v. Henderson, 32 La. Ann. 1069.

79. Union Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Neill, 31 Iowa 95; Ferguson v. Meredith, 1 Wall. (U. S.) 25, 17 L. ed. 604.

80. Sodus Bay, etc., R. Co. v. Hamlin, 24 Hun (N. Y.) 390. See as to the effect upon the liability of a subscriber of altering the articles of association note in 19 Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. 258.

81. See infra, XI, B, 9.

82. Ex p. Booker, 18 Ark. 338.

flouring mill," be so relieved because the corporation is expending its money in building a dam by means of which to obtain power to run its mill.[83]

e. Cessation of Work Not Amounting to Abandonment. In the case of a railroad company, while a total abandonment of the enterprise will release a subscriber to the shares of the corporation,[84] yet a mere cessation of work on a road within a very short distance of the terminus designated in the articles of incorporation, where the articles are not changed, and there is no resolution of the directors providing for a termination of the road at the point where the work is stopped, is not such a change as will work a release of the contract of a non-assenting shareholder.[85]

f. What Changes in Route or Location of Railroad Do Not Release Subscribers. Recurring to a former subdivision, and dealing briefly with a subject not directly within the scope of this article, it may be said that a slight change or deflection adopted by a railroad company from the route of its railroad as first selected does not absolve a subscriber to its shares who had not designated the route which he desired to be selected,[86] as where the road is made to pass through a county not named in the original articles of incorporation.[87]

g. Extending Time For Completing Corporate Enterprise. Additional holdings are found which support the proposition already stated,[88] that an extension by the legislature of the time allowed by the corporation to the railroad company in which to build its road will not release the subscribers to its stock,[89] although the obligation to construct it within the time first limited may have been, on the part of the subscriber, an essential inducement to the making of the contract.[90]

h. Enlarging Corporate Powers and Privileges and Adding New Responsibilities. This effect cannot be ascribed to an amendment of a charter or act of incorporation which merely enlarges the powers or privileges[91] of the corporation, without materially changing its original purposes,[92] or authorizing a material departure from original design,[93] as by conferring upon it the power of declaring forfeitures of its stock.[94]

83. Ginrich v. Patrons' Mill Co., 21 Kan. 61.

84. See supra, VI, I, 1, e.

85. Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Clark, 22 Hun (N. Y.) 359.

86. Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Coleman, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 118. See White Hall, etc., R. Co. v. Myers, 16 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 34.

87. Armstrong v. Karshner, 47 Ohio St. 276, 24 N. E. 897; Jewett v. Valley R. Co., 34 Ohio St. 601. Compare Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Pottle, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 21, where the road abandoned two counties through which it was to have been constructed, and it was held that the subscriber was released.

This subject may be further pursued by an examination of the following cases: Wilson v. Wills Valley R. Co., 33 Ga. 466; Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 504; Caley v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 80 Pa. St. 363; Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Biggar, 34 Pa. St. 455; Pittsburg, etc., R. Co. v. Woodron, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 271, 15 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 357. That the directors have power to change the location in violation of a contract of subscription without releasing the subscriber was badly decided in Ellison v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 36 Miss. 572. That a change of route which placed the road upon a cheaper basis and procured a large additional subscription to its stock furnished a reasonable probability that its business and profits would be considerably augmented did not exonerate dissenting subscribers was badly held in Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. (Ky.) 314.

88. See supra, I, K, 2, c.

89. Jacks v. Helena, 41 Ark. 213.

90. Henderson v. San Antonio, etc., R. Co., 17 Tex. 560, 67 Am. Dec. 675.

91. Poughkeepsie, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Griffin, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 454.

92. Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Preston, 35 Iowa 115.

93. Pacific R. Co. v. Hughes, 22 Mo. 291, 64 Am. Dec. 265.

94. Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Elting, 17 Ill. 429.

Other illustrations.— One court has asserted the doctrine that an enlargement by the legislature of the powers originally granted to a corporation, although such enlargement may embark the corporation in more expensive schemes which will require a greater capital, does not have the effect of discharging one who had subscribed to its capital stock before such enlargement. Such a grant of additional privileges to a corporation did not impair the obligation of previous contracts of subscription, within the meaning of the constitutional inhibition against the passage of laws impairing the obligation of contracts. That inhibition, the court reasoned, has reference to direct, and not to merely consequential invasions of con-

i. Changing Corporate Name. Changing the name of the corporation, as already seen,[95] is not such a material alteration as releases dissenting subscribers.[96] Where the name of the corporation was given in the preliminary subscription paper, but when the company was organized the words "Saint Louis" were added to the name, it was held that this was no defense to an action on the subscription.[97]

j. Changes Affecting Payment of Share Subscriptions. It has been held that a subscriber to the capital stock of a railroad company, who agrees to be subject to the rules and regulations which may from time to time be adopted by the directors, cannot avoid payment because the charter has been amended, reducing the number of days of notice to be given, if the amendment of the charter has been accepted.[98]

k. Changes Authorized by Existing Statutes. From what has already been said,[99] if the change which the subscriber sets up as releasing him from the obligation of his subscription is authorized by a statute existing at the time of the subscription, which may fairly be deemed to enter into the contract, to affect it and to form a part of it, it will not be deemed such a change as discharges his contract. He is deemed to have contracted with a view to the possibility of such a change being made by the will of the majority, and to have impliedly assented to it in advance.[1] If therefore a statute in force at the time a subscription to the capital stock of a railroad company is made authorizes an extension of the line of the road,[2] the sale of the whole or a part of its road,[3] or a consolidation with another company,[4] the exercise of this power will not affect the subscription.[5]

l. Other Changes in Corporate Character and Purposes Which Do Not Release Dissenting Subscribers. A subscriber to the capital stock of a corporation is not released by reason of a legislative amendment of the charter making radical and material changes, never accepted or acted upon by the company, and which by its own terms becomes inoperative;[6] nor because the corporation was organized under a somewhat different name from that used in the preliminary contract of subscription, where there was no material departure in its charter from its character and purposes as there described;[7] nor because of a sale, legally authorized, of all the property and franchises of the corporation to another company;[8] nor, where the rights of creditors have intervened, because the corporation, after its organization, entered upon illegal projects not called for by its articles of incorporation;[9] nor by reason of mere oral agreements among the promoters that tracts. Gray v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 156, 37 Am. Dec. 500. See also Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Biggar, 34 Pa. St. 455; Everhart v. West Chester, etc., R. Co., 28 Pa. St. 339; Pittsburg, etc., R. Co. v. Woodrow, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 271, 15 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 357. As for example an amendment authorizing a railroad corporation to extend its road (Rice v. Rock Island, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 93; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Cross v. Peach Bottom R. Co., 90 Pa. St. 392) or to build a branch road (Hawkins v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 35 Miss. 688; Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Coleman, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 118. Contra, Stevens v. Rutland, etc., R. Co., 29 Vt. 545); or empowering a slack-water company to extend its dams and to incur additional expense (Gray v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 156, 37 Am. Dec. 500).

95. See supra, I, K, 2, c.

96. Racine County Bank v. Ayers, 12 Wis. 512.

97. Haskell v. Worthington, 94 Mo. 560, 7 S. W. 481.

98. Illinois River R. Co. v. Beers, 27 Ill. 185. See also Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. White, 5 Iowa 409.

Other changes in the internal arrangements of a corporation which do not release dissenting subscribers.— For a catalogue of such changes see Everhart v. West Chester, etc., R. Co., 28 Pa. St. 339.

99. See supra, I, K, 3, a.

1. Mowrey v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,891, 4 Biss. 78.

2. Jewett v. Valley R. Co., 34 Ohio St. 601.

3. Armstrong v. Karshner, 47 Ohio St. 276, 24 N. E. 897.

4. See supra, II, C, 1, c.

5. Nugent v. Putnam County, 19 Wall. (U. S.) 241, 22 L. ed. 83.

6. Chattanooga, etc., R. Co. v. Warthen, 98 Ga. 599, 25 S. E. 988.

7. Joseph v. Davis, (Ala. 1892) 10 So. 830.

8. Chattanooga, etc., R. Co. v. Warthen, 98 Ga. 599, 25 S. E. 988.

9. U. S. Vinegar Co. v. Foehrenbach, 148 N. Y. 58, 42 N. E. 403.

the corporation should be organized for another and different purpose from that named in the articles of incorporation.[10]

3. Burden on Subscriber to Show That Change Was Made Without His Consent. Of course the subscriber who seeks to avoid the payment of his subscription on the ground of a material change in the character or purposes of the corporation from that designated in the charter must show that the alteration was made without his concurrence or consent.[11] One court has, however, held that, where the alteration of the subscription paper is proved by the subscription, in an action for calls, the corporation must then prove that the alteration was made with his knowledge or consent; otherwise it cannot recover.[12]

J. Conditional Subscriptions For Shares — 1. Validity of Conditional Subscriptions — a. Conditions in Preliminary Subscription Papers. If, according to the tendency of modern American cases, preliminary subscription papers made prior to signing the articles of association or other document of incorporation are merely tentative and not enforceable as contracts, then it is quite immaterial upon what conditions such preliminary subscriptions may be made. Where the judicial theory is that such preliminary subscriptions mean something and are enforceable as contracts, the rule which applies to regular share subscriptions, which holds conditions annexed thereto to be nullities, which discharges such conditions and enforces the contract in disregard of them, does not apply; but any legal condition may be annexed thereto, so that until the condition is performed the engagement is not binding upon the subscriber.[13] It therefore seems to be the sound doctrine that a provisional subscription made with a view to the organization of a corporation may be qualified by any lawful condition which the subscriber chooses to annex thereto.[14] But the doctrine is necessarily limited to conditions which may be lawful, and excludes conditions which are, or may become, repugnant to the contract, such as a condition in a subscription to the shares of a railway company, undertaking to settle in advance the length of time the corporation shall remain in control of its road and the manner in which its business shall be conducted.[15]

b. Conditions Prescribed by Charter or Governing Statute Read Themselves Into Contract. Conditions prescribed by the legislature must be noticed by the subscribers; they are conclusively presumed to contract with reference to such conditions; and such conditions read themselves into the contract of subscription. When therefore a condition is imposed by charter or statute, and a time is fixed for its fulfilment, it must be fulfilled within that time or the subscriber is discharged.[16] Of this character was a provision in the charter of a railroad company requiring a certain amount of stock per mile to be subscribed before the company should go into operation.[17]

c. Doctrine That Conditions in Preliminary Subscriptions Are Void. As the charter or statute fixes the terms upon which alone shares can be issued, it must

10. Globe Sewer Pipe Co. v. Otis, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 411, 51 N. Y. St. 917. Compare U. S. Vinegar Co. v. Schlegel, 67 Hun (N. Y.) 356, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 407, 51 N. Y. St. 453 [affirmed in 143 N. Y. 537, 38 N. E. 729, 62 N. Y. St. 826].

11. North Carolina R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340.

12. Southern Pennsylvania Iron, etc., Co. v. Stevens, 87 Pa. St. 190. And see Ireland v. Palestine, etc., Turnpike Co., 19 Ohio St. 369.

13. Fairview R. Co. v. Spillman, 23 Oreg. 587, 32 Pac. 688.

14. Fairview R. Co. v. Spillman, 23 Oreg. 587, 32 Pac. 688.

15. Russell v. Alabama Midland R. Co., 94 Ga. 510, 20 S. E. 350.

16. Union Hotel Co. v. Hersee, 15 Hun (N. Y.) 371.

17. Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389. But see Wood v. Coosa, etc., R. Co., 32 Ga. 273; Mitchell v. Rome R. Co., 17 Ga. 574. But where the charter of a railroad company provided that the construction of the railway should not be begun until three fourths of the estimated cost were subscribed for by responsible persons, it was held that the corporation would not be obliged to show a compliance with this provision in order to maintain an action against a subscriber for an assessment upon the stock. Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257, holding, where the terms of the subscription required that seventy-five per cent of the estimated cost of any section of the railroad should be subscribed for by responsible persons before commencing its construction, that if the subscription was obtained in good faith follow as a general rule that conditions in preliminary subscriptions are void as against public policy, because attempting to vary what is prescribed by the law of the corporation;[18] and, as just stated, where the law disregards the preliminary subscriptions and treats them as being merely tentative, then any condition in such a subscription is void, because the chief proposition embodied therein is void. In Pennsylvania the distinction has been taken that subscriptions made before the corporation is organized must be unconditional, while those made afterward may be conditional.[19] The validity of such subscriptions has been denied on the further ground that the contract, in order to be binding, must be concurrent and obligatory on each at the same time.[20] This view has, however, been rejected by some of the courts,[21] and the view adopted in its stead that conditional subscriptions may be received by a corporation when not forbidden by its charter or governing statute, and that on the performance of the conditions they become absolute.[22]

d. Whether Whole Contract Void or Condition Merely — (I) Where Condition Is Lawful There Is No Contract Unless It Is Performed or Waived. A man cannot be forced into a contract which he does not choose to enter into. If therefore a man subscribes for shares in a corporation upon a condition which is lawful, and which consequently may be performed, unless that condition is performed, or its performance is waived by him, he cannot be held to make good his subscription.[23]

(II) Rule Where Condition Is Illegal and Hence Cannot Be Performed — (A) Doctrine That Contract Is Void. There is more difficulty in dealing with the question where the condition is illegal, but in such case the subscriber may cogently argue that as men do not always know the law, and that although he attached to his subscription a condition which the law does not sanction, yet, as he intended to enter into the contract upon those terms and none other, if the condition cannot be performed his whole contract is void; and some courts appear to have taken this view.[24]

(B) Doctrine That Illegal Condition Will Be Discharged and Subscriber Held to Lawful Part of Contract. Other courts, refusing to carry out the intent of the subscriber, proceed on the doctrine that the illegal condition will be discharged because incapable of performance, and that so much of the contract as is valid will be enforced;[25] in other words that the law will discharge the con-assessments would be valid, although some of the subscriptions to make up that amount should turn out to be worthless.

18. Williams v. Evans, 87 Ala. 725, 6 So. 702, 6 L. R. A. 218; Roberts v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 373; Ft. Edward, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Payne, 15 N. Y. 583; Burrows v. Smith, 10 N. Y. 550; Macedon, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Snediker, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 317; Macedon, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Lapham, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 312; Butternuts, etc., Turnpike Co. v. North, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 518.

19. Caley v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 80 Pa. St. 363; Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Stewart, 41 Pa. St. 54.

20. Macedon, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Snediker, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 317. See to the principle Utica, etc., R. Co. v. Brinckerhoff, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 139, 34 Am. Dec. 220.

21. Arkansas.— Jacks v. Helena, 41 Ark. 213.

Indiana.— Branham v. Record, 42 Ind. 181; Keller v. Johnson, 11 Ind. 337, 71 Am. Dec. 355; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337.

Kentucky.— Henderson, etc., R. Co. v. Leavell, 16 B. Mon. 358; McMillan v. Maysville, etc., R. Co., 15 B. Mon. 218, 61 Am. Dec. 181.

Maryland.— Taggart v. Western Maryland R. Co., 24 Md. 563, 89 Am. Dec. 760.

Oregon.— Coyote Gold, etc., Min. Co. v. Ruble, 8 Oreg. 284.

22. Franklin College v. Hurlburt, 28 Ind. 344; Topeka Bridge Co. v. Cummings, 3 Kan. 55; Ashtabula, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 15 Ohio St. 328; Chamberlain v. Painesville, etc., R. Co., 15 Ohio St. 225. Compare Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Plummer, 37 Pa. St. 413.

23. See infra, VI, J, 2, a.

24. Ft. Edward, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Payne, 15 N. Y. 583; Macedon, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Snediker, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 317; Macedon, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Lapham, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 312; Butternuts, etc., Turnpike Co. v. North, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 518.

25. Boyd v. Peach Bottom R. Co., 90 Pa. St. 169. That the subscription will be treated as an absolute one and the condition discharged as a fraud on the commonwealth see Caley v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 80 Pa. St. 363; Bedford R. Co. v. Bowser, 48 Pa. St. 29; Bavington v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 34 Pa. St. 358.

dition and enforce the subscription as an unconditional one, thus driving the subscriber into a contract which he never made.[26]

(III) Rule Where Condition Is Fraud on the Law. Where the condition annexed to the subscription is tainted with moral turpitude — where, from its very nature it is a fraud on the rights of other subscribers or upon the public — in other words, where it is such a subscription as has been termed a fraud on the law, the law will for sound reasons discharge the illegal condition and hold the subscriber to his agreement as though no such condition had been annexed to it.[27] This is well illustrated by the case of a subscription to which was annexed a condition that the subscriber was to receive back from the corporation its bonds secured by a mortgage upon its property, thus throwing the whole risk upon the public,[28] and by a condition in another subscription that the shares should be issued as fully paid stock after forty per cent only had been paid, in which case, notwithstanding the recitals of the share certificates, the subscriber was held liable for the additional sixty per cent.[29]

(IV) Parol Conditions Void and Written Subscription Enforced. Another principle is that parol conditions, varying the terms of the written subscription and not involving a fraud on the subscriber, are void, and the subscription stands as made,[30] such for instance as the condition that the payment should be made in land instead of money;[31] that the subscriber is not to pay for the stock, but that his subscription is to be canceled;[32] that it is not to become obligatory unless the railroad intended to be built by the corporation is located on a certain route[33] or completed to a certain point;[34] or fixing time for payment vari-

26. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Biggar, 34 Pa. St. 455, a railroad company, on the ground that the road should be located on a special road.

27. Bavington v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 34 Pa. St. 358. See the very clear observations of Strong, J., in Putnam v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 16 Wall. (U. S.) 390, 21 L. ed. 361, where, however, the principle was held inapplicable to the case in judgment, showing why subscriptions which are illegal in the sense of being a fraud on the law, and upon other shareholders, ought to be discharged and the subscriber held to his subscription as though it had been absolute and unconditional.

28. Morrow v. Nashville Iron, etc., Co., 87 Tenn. 262, 10 S. W. 495, 10 Am. St. Rep. 658, 3 L. R. A. 37.

29. Great Western Tel. Co. v. Gray, 122 Ill. 630, 14 N. E. 214.

30. Alabama.— Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank Road Co., 30 Ala. 650.

Arkansas.— Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Cross, 20 Ark. 443.

Illinois.—Dill v. Wabash Valley R. Co., 21 Ill. 91; Great Western Tel. Co. v. Haight, 49 Ill. App. 633 (holding that a "stool pigeon" subscriber cannot withdraw his subscription under a secret agreement with the agent of the corporation, since such an act would be a fraud upon the bona fide subscribers).

Indiana.— Carlisle v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 477; Eakright v. Logansport, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 404; Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Posey, 12 Ind. 363; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. Fields, 10 Ind. 187; Clem v. Newcastle, etc., R. Co., 9 Ind. 488, 68 Am. Dec. 653.

Kansas.— Topeka Mfg. Co. v. Hale, 39 Kan. 23, 17 Pac. 601.

Kentucky.—Bullock v. Falmouth, etc., Turnpike Road Co., 85 Ky. 184, 3 S. W. 129, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 835.

Maine.— Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Waters, 34 Me. 369.

Maryland.— Scarlett v. Baltimore City Academy of Music, 46 Md. 132.

Minnesota.— Minneapolis Threshing Mach. Co. v. Davis, 40 Minn. 110, 41 N. W. 1026, 12 Am. St. Rep. 701, 3 L. R. A. 796.

Mississippi.— Thigpen v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 32 Miss. 347.

New Hampshire.— Piscataqua Ferry Co. v. Jones, 39 N. H. 491.

North Carolina.— North Carolina R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340.

Pennsylvania.— Jeannette Bottle Works v. Schall, 13 Pa. Super. Ct. 96, parol conditions no defense against liability as shareholder without showing that all other subscribers assented or that all subscriptions were subject to the same parol condition.

Tennessee.— Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head 22.

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181; Blodgett v. Morrill, 20 Vt. 509.

31. Baile v. Calvert College Educational Soc., 47 Md. 117.

32. Robinson v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 334, 72 Am. Dec. 792; Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Coleman, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 118.

33. Rives v. Montgomery South Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 92; North Carolina R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340; Callanan v. Judd, 23 Wis. 343.

34. Madison, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Stevens, 6 Ind. 379. In such a case it was said: "The subscribers might have annexed a condition to the terms of their subscriptions, if ant from that fixed by the charter.[35] Nor is it a defense to an action for calls that the subscription was procured on the faith of another person taking stock in the company, unless such subscription was fraudulently procured, and the subscriber has not failed promptly to repudiate the fraud upon discovery of it.[36] The foregoing rule is founded on the principle which forbids the admission of parol evidence to vary or contradict written contracts.[37] It rests on the stronger ground that such conditions are in the nature of secret agreements with particular subscribers which are a fraud upon other subscribers and sometimes upon the public.[38]

(v) Secret Agreements Annexing Conditions to Subscription — (a) Void as Between Corporation and Subscriber. Upon this ground all secret agreements made with particular subscribers at the time of their subscription are discharged by the law, and in an action to enforce the contract of subscription evidence of such agreements is not admissible.[39]

(b) May Be Enforced Against Promoters. But where the promoters enter into a secret agreement with a person to induce him to subscribe, it may be valid and enforceable as against them, although invalid as against the corporation.[40]

(vi) Promises by Agents of Corporation Annexing Unlawful Conditions Void. Where such promises are made by agents of the corporation appointed to solicit stock subscriptions, and are contrary to the charter or governing statute, the courts have also held them void for want of power in such agents to make them.[41]

(vii) Parol Conditions or Agreements Among Subscribers Rejected as Void and Subscription Treated as Absolute. Neither is parol evidence of agreements with previous subscribers to the capital stock, made at or before their signing, and inconsistent with the written terms of their subscriptions, admissible in an action for assessments.[42] they had thought proper to do so, and it would then have been with the commissioners to determine whether such conditional subscriptions of stock would be received; but not having done so, they cannot, according to the well established doctrine on the subject, allege or prove that the contract was different from that which is evidenced by the writing, unless they can establish fraud or mistake in its execution." Wight v. Shelby R. Co., 16 B. Mon. (Ky.) 4, 6, 63 Am. Dec. 522. A railroad company cannot be enjoined from collecting instalments on subscriptions for stock, because the money may be expended in extending the road beyond the county in which the shareholders reside, unless the contract of subscription expressly stipulated that the money should be expended in such county. Dill v. Wabash Valley R. Co., 21 Ill. 91.

35. Thigpen v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 32 Miss. 347.

36. Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head (Tenn.) 22.

37. Scarlett v. Baltimore City Academy of Music, 46 Md. 132; Marshall Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99 N. C. 501, 6 S. E. 680, 6 Am. St. Rep. 539; North Carolina R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340; State Bank v. Littlejohn, 18 N. C. 563; Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head (Tenn.) 22. See article upon this subject by Hon. J. O. Pierce in 28 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 306.

38. Foy v. Blackstone, 31 Ill. 538, 83 Am. Dec. 246; Downie v. White, 12 Wis. 176, 78 Am. Dec. 731. Thus if the promoter of a corporation makes a secret agreement with a subscriber to purchase the stock subscribed, this is a fraud on other subscribers ignorant of it and the courts will not enforce it. Meyer v. Blair, 19 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 214.

39. Minneapolis Threshing-Mach. Co. v. Davis, 40 Minn. 110, 41 N. W. 1026, 12 Am. St. Rep. 701, 3 L. R. A. 796; Phœnix Warehousing Co. v. Badger, 6 Hun (N. Y.) 293.

An agreement by a corporation to return the amount subscribed for its stock in four semiannual dividends of twenty-five per cent is within the constitutional inhibition against a fictitious subscription to the capital stock of a corporation. Smith v. Alabama Fruit-Growing, etc., Assoc., (Ala. 1899) 26 So. 232.

40. See for illustration Morgan v. Struthers, 131 U. S. 246, 9 S. Ct. 726, 33 L. ed. 132. To the same effect see Meyer v. Blair, 109 N. Y. 600, 17 N. E. 228, 16 N. Y. St. 380, 4 Am. St. Rep. 500.

41. Thigpen v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 32 Miss. 347.

Exception where parol representations or agreements operate as fraud upon subscriber. — An exception to this principle is that parol representations and agreements, made to induce a person to subscribe, may operate as a fraud upon him, so as to enable him to avoid his subscription, on principles discussed in a future subdivision. Scarlett v. Baltimore City Academy of Music, 46 Md. 132.

42. La Grange, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Mays, 29 Mo. 64; White Hall, etc., R. Co. v. Myers, 16 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 34.

(VIII) Subscriptions For Collateral Purposes Treated as Valid and Subscriber Held Unconditionally. Subscriptions made upon an agreement that they shall stand as subscriptions for collateral purposes merely, such as a subscription to make up a deficiency necessary to be filled up in order to the procuring of the charter,[43] or subscriptions made at the request of an agent of the corporation to induce others to subscribe,[44] but made on a promise that the subscriber will afterward be released,[45] are treated as absolute and binding subscriptions, and the unlawful agreement made between the corporation and the subscriber that he shall not be held bound thereby is discharged.

(IX) Contemporaneous Parol Declarations of Officers of Corporation Inadmissible to Vary Contract of Subscription. Upon like grounds parol declarations of officers of a company, made on public occasions, if admissible at all to invalidate a stock subscription, cannot avail a subscriber who does not show that such declarations amounted to fraud on the part of the company, inducing error on his part when he subscribed.[46]

(X) Collateral Agreements Between Subscriber and Third Persons Void. For stronger reasons, collateral agreements with third persons, whereby the subscriber is induced to become such, as an agreement to take his shares off his hands, will not afford ground of releasing him from his liability as a shareholder,[47] although evidence of such agreement may be admissible in an action for assessments for the purpose of showing fraud.[48]

(XI) Impossible Conditions. Impossible conditions in a share subscription, such as a condition providing for a forfeiture of the shares upon giving notice of an intention to forfeit them at or before a date which is prior to the date of the subscription, will be discharged and the rest of the subscription will be held binding.[49]

(XII) Conditions as to Assessability of Shares. As hereafter more fully shown when treating of the liability of shareholders, conditions as to the assessability of shares, for example, that the subscriptions shall be payable upon the call of the company, may be varied in case of the insolvency of the company, in which case a court of equity may step in and enforce the contract of subscription, although no call has been made.[50]

(XIII) Stipulations For Payment of Interest on Stock Subscriptions. A stipulation for the payment of interest on the amount paid in on a subscription

For reasons in support of this rule consult Marshall Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99 N. C. 501, 6 S. E. 680, 6 Am. St. Rep. 539; Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

43. Mangles v. Grand Collier Dock Co., 10 Sim. 519, 16 Eng. Ch. 519. And see Preston v. Grank Collier Dock Co., 2 R. & Can. Cas. 335.

44. Connecticut.—Litchfield Bank v. Church, 29 Conn. 137.

Missouri.— Pickering v. Templeton, 2 Mo. App. 424.

New Hampshire.— White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124.

Vermont.— Blodgett v. Morrill, 20 Vt. 509.

Wisconsin.— Downie v. White, 12 Wis. 176, 78 Am. Dec. 731.

England.— In re General Provident Assur. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 74; Matter of St. Marylebone Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 21.

45. White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124.

46. Martin v. Pensacola, etc., R. Co., 8 Fla. 370, 73 Am. Dec. 713; Vicksburg, etc., R. Co. v. McKean, 12 La. Ann. 638. Compare Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Cross, 20 Ark. 443; Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head (Tenn.) 22.

Especially where it is not shown that such declarations influenced the subscriber in making his subscription is this true. Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank Road Co., 30 Ala. 650.

47. Stutz v. Handley, 41 Fed. 531.

48. Danbury, etc., R. Co. v. Wilson, 22 Conn. 435.

49. Racine County Bank v. Ayers, 12 Wis. 512.

Subscription contingent upon happening of event which never occurred.— A subscription to corporate stock which is not to become payable until the happening of an event which never occurred is not within a statute providing that the court shall compel each shareholder to pay the amount "due and remaining unpaid on the shares of stock held by him," and the event having never happened the subscription is not binding. Gilman v. Gross, 97 Wis. 224, 72 N. W. 885.

50. Curry v. Woodward, 53 Ala. 371. It to the shares of a railway company, until the declaration of a dividend, does not invalidate the subscription.[51]

(XIV) VALIDITY OF CONDITIONS AS AFFECTED BY STATUTE OF FRAUDS. Where the attempt is made to avoid the contract of subscription under the statute of frauds, on the ground that it is based upon a condition not to be performed within one year, the principle will apply which takes the case out of the statute where the contract is capable of being performed within one year; nor will the subscriber be allowed to set up this defense where the condition has been performed, although not within one year.[52]

(XV) CONDITIONAL SUBSCRIPTION DISTINGUISHED FROM CONDITIONAL SALE. It seems that a distinction may be taken between a conditional subscription to shares and a conditional sale of its shares by a corporation in esse; so that if the condition is that the corporation shall at the option of the purchaser take the shares back, but no time is fixed within which this option must be exercised, a great delay in exercising it will forfeit the privilege.[53] An agreement for the purchase from a corporation of shares of its capital stock, providing that at the end of a certain time the purchaser may at his option return the shares and receive back the purchase-price, constitutes a conditional sale, with the option of the purchaser to revoke or to rescind, and is not ultra vires, but is enforceable between the original parties thereto, the rights of creditors not being involved.[54]

(XVI) ALLOTMENT OF SHARES ON CONDITION TO BE PERFORMED BY SUBSCRIBER. It seems that under English law a company may offer specified shares to a person on the terms that no title shall pass until a condition provided for in the contract shall have been fulfilled, and that after the allotment and registration of such shares the company may decline to treat the allottee as a shareholder if he has neglected to comply with the condition.[55]

(XVII) SUBSCRIPTIONS DELIVERED IN ESCROW. A subscription delivered to the soliciting agent of a company, in escrow, with directions not to deliver it to the company until the subscriber has had an opportunity to make further investigations into its character, and until a direction for its delivery shall be given, does not constitute an irrevocable contract of subscription where, after making the investigations, he directs the cancellation of the subscription, and is not thereafter for twenty years treated or recognized as a shareholder.[56]

(XVIII) CONDITIONAL SUBSCRIPTION REVOKED BY UNREASONABLE DELAY IN PERFORMANCE OF CONDITION. Where a share subscription is made on a valid condition, but no date is fixed within which the condition may be performed by the company, then it cannot be revoked unless there has been unreasonable delay in performing the condition;[57] but if there has been such an unreasonable delay then it can be.[58]

e. Condition That Subscription Shall Not Be Enforceable Until Full Amount Intended to Be Raised Shall Have Been Subscribed — (I) IN GENERAL. This condition is valid and enforceable because such is the implication of the law, where the condition is not expressed in the contract of subscription.[59] It is a

was so held where the contract of subscription and the stock certificate expressed the condition that a balance of eighty per cent unpaid on the stock was to be paid on the call of the directors, when ordered by a vote of a majority of the shareholders themselves. Upton v. Hansbrough, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,801, 3 Biss. 417.

51. Racine County Bank v. Ayers, 12 Wis. 512. Similarly see Rutland, etc., R. Co. v. Thrall, 35 Vt. 536.

52. Straughan v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 38 Ind. 185.

53. New Haven Trust Co. v. Gaffney, 73 Conn. 480, 47 Atl. 760.

54. Vent v. Duluth Coffee, etc., Co., 64 Minn. 307, 67 N. W. 70.

55. Spitzel v. Chinese Corp., 6 Manson 355, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 347.

56. Great Western Tel. Co. v. Loewenthal, 154 Ill. 261, 40 N. E. 318.

57. Cravens v. Eagle Cotton Mills Co., 120 Ind. 6, 21 N. E. 981, 16 Am. St. Rep. 298.

58. Carter, etc., Co. v. Hazzard, 65 Minn. 432, 68 N. W. 74.

59. Cahot, etc., Bridge v. Chapin, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 50. Compare Franklin F. Ins. Co. v. Hart, 31 Md. 59; Crocker v. Crane, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 211, 34 Am. Dec. 228; Johnson v. Schar, 9 S. D. 536, 70 N. W. 838.

condition precedent which must be performed before an action upon the subscription can be maintained.[60]

(11) Waiver of Condition. Subscribers may waive this condition and may estop themselves by their conduct from setting up the invalidity of the incorporation by reason of the prescribed amount of capital stock not having been taken, as where they attend meetings of the company, coöperate in the votes for the expenditure of money, for the purchase of property, for the making of contracts, and for other acts which could properly be done only upon the assumption that the subscribers intended to proceed with the stock partially paid in.[61]

f. What Subscriptions Have Been Held Valid and Enforceable. A subscription to a fund to be donated to a railroad company — not being a subscription to its stock — provided it will build a bridge at a certain point.[62]

g. What Amounts to Acceptance by Corporation of Subscription Upon Condition. Unless the corporation proposes, by a prospectus, by the form of contract which it tenders to the subscribers, or otherwise, that the subscription shall

That a person who was afterward elected president "verbally guaranteed the subscription to be $50,000," the amount expressed in the condition, does not satisfy the condition, since such a guarantee is not a subscription. Branch v. Augusta Glass Works, 95 Ga. 573, 23 S. E. 128.

Where different subscription papers are circulated, and one of them contains an agreement that the total number of shares taken under the "terms" thereof shall be a stated number, and the other papers contain different terms and conditions, a subscriber to the former paper is not liable unless the stated number contained in the terms and conditions of that paper are subscribed for. It will not be enough that, taking this paper in connection with the others, the requisite number is made up. Johnson v. Schar, 9 S. D. 536, 70 N. W. 838.

Interpretation of a condition that a certain sum be subscribed by "citizens" of a certain place. Union Hotel Co. v. Hersee, 79 N. Y. 454, 35 Am. Rep. 536. Upon the question of the distinction between being a resident or an inhabitant of a certain place and being domiciled in that place the court cite In re Wrigley, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 134; Rex v. North Curry, 4 B. & C. 953, 7 D. & R. 424, 4 L. J. K. B. O. S. 65, 10 E. C. L. 873; Rex v. Adlard, 4 B. & C. 772, 10 E. C. L. 795; Rex v. Nicholson, 12 East 330, 11 Rev. Rep. 398. The word "citizen" has been interpreted as meaning resident in exemption laws. McKenzie v. Murphy, 24 Ark. 155; Cobbs v. Coleman, 14 Tex. 594. Condition that not less than four thousand nor more than ten thousand shares shall be subscribed, but that no contract for building and completing the road shall be entered into until seven thousand shares have been subscribed, renders subscribers liable when four thousand shares have been subscribed. Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Bartlett, 12 Gray (Mass.) 244, 71 Am. Dec. 753.

60. Belfast, etc., R. Co. v. Cottrell, 66 Me. 185; Belfast, etc., R. Co. v. Moore, 60 Me. 561; Hager v. Cleveland, 36 Md. 476. Compare Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Dunn, 39 Me. 587; Hughes v. Antietam Mfg. Co., 34 Md. 316. See Ridgefield, etc., R. Co. v. Brush, 43 Conn. 86; Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Hickman, 28 Pa. St. 318.

61. Hager v. Cleveland, 36 Md. 476. See also Doak v. Stahlman, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 58 S. W. 741, continuing to act as a shareholder knowing that a less amount has been subscribed.

62. Cumberland Valley R. Co. v. Baab, 9 Watts (Pa.) 458, 36 Am. Dec. 132.

Illustrations of good conditional subscriptions.— Indiana.— Fisher v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 7 Ind. 407, condition not inconsistent with charter or common law.

Kansas.— Hinton v. Morris County Co-operative Soc., 21 Kan. 663, subscription to a "grange" with privilege of drawing the money out with thirty days' notice — held not to make it regular capital stock.

New York.— Burrows v. Smith, 10 N. Y. 550, corporation refused to perform the condition and hence there was no contract.

Pennsylvania.— Rhey v. Ebensburg, etc., Plank-Road Co., 27 Pa. St. 261, condition that plank road be located on a certain road.

United States.— Putnam v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 16 Wall. 390, 21 L. ed. 361; New Albany v. Burke, 11 Wall. 96, 20 L. ed. 155; Rutland, etc., R. Co. v. Crocker, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,176, 4 Blatchf. 179 ("payable in cash, on the delivery of the last engine of twelve, from the Taunton Locomotive Manufactory" — validity explainable by parol).

Conditional agreements with promoters before creation of corporation upheld where the future corporation has received the benefit. Edwards v. Grand Junction R. Co., 6 L. J. Ch. 47, 1 Myl. & C. 650, 13 Eng. Ch. 650, 7 Sim. 337, 8 Eng. Ch. 337.

Illustrative English cases relating to conditional subscriptions. Matter of Direct Exeter, etc., R. Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 205, 14 Jur. 539 note, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 310 [affirmed in 1 Drew. 204, 2 Hall & T. 391, 16 Jur. 681, 19 L. J. Ch. 368, 2 Macn. & G. 192, 48 Eng. Ch. 148]; Mansfield's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 58; Matter of Universal Salvage Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 49, 13 Jur. 723; Pitchford v. Davis, 8 L. J. Exch. 157, 5 M. & W. 2.

be on a certain condition, then a subscription with that condition annexed to it is a mere proposal for a contract, made by the intending subscriber to the corporation, and must be accepted by the corporation in order to make it a contract.[63]

2. Effect of Conditions in Subscriptions to Shares — a. No Contract Until Valid Condition Complied With. If the condition is expressed on the face of the subscription agreement, and is valid under rules and theories already discussed, the obligation of the subscriber does not become binding until the condition has been performed by the corporation or waived by the subscriber; until that time he cannot be held to the liabilities of a shareholder.[64] It is scarcely necessary to suggest that the corporation cannot elect to treat as unconditional a subscription which has been made upon a valid and expressed condition.[65] The English courts accordingly hold that if the application for shares is conditional there is no contract, although the allotment is unconditional.[66] Nor is it necessary, within the

63. Junction R. Co. v. Reeve, 15 Ind. 236.

Sufficiency of acceptance.— That such an acceptance must be by a formal act of the directors see Junction R. Co. v. Reeve, 15 Ind. 236. That an acceptance by an entry on the records of the corporation without notice to the subscriber is good was held in New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337, but the decision does not seem to be sound. That such an acceptance cannot take place by the act of some of the directors acting separately and not sitting as a board, especially where the number is not shown to have been enough to make a quorum, see Junction R. Co. v. Reeve, 15 Ind. 236. That such an acceptance may be shown by acts as well as by writings, as by the act of the subscriber in paying the required deposit and the act of the company in accepting it, see Nichols v. Burlington, etc., Plank Road Co., 4 Greene (Iowa) 42.

64. Alabama.— Hall v. Sims, 106 Ala. 561, 17 So. 534.

Florida.— Martin v. Pensacola, etc., R. Co., 8 Fla. 370, 73 Am. Dec. 713.

Georgia.— Brand v. Lawrenceville Branch R. Co., 77 Ga. 506, 1 S. E. 255.

Illinois.— Chase v. Sycamore, etc., R. Co., 38 Ill. 215; Thrasher v. Pike County R. Co., 25 Ill. 393; Wear v. Jacksonville, etc., R. Co., 24 Ill. 593.

Indiana.— Junction R. Co. v. Reeve, 15 Ind. 236; Jewett v. Lawrenceburgh, etc., R. Co., 10 Ind. 539; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337; Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Shearer, 10 Ind. 244; Brookville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. McCarty, 8 Ind. 392, 65 Am. Dec. 768.

Iowa.— Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Boestler, 15 Iowa 555.

Kansas.— Hunt v. Kansas, etc., Bridge Co., 11 Kan. 412.

Kentucky.— Lail v. Mt. Sterling Coal Road Co., 13 Bush 32; McMillan v. Maysville, etc., R. Co., 15 B. Mon. 218, 61 Am. Dec. 181.

Maine.— Ticonic Water Power, etc., Co. v. Lang, 63 Me. 480; Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Dunn, 39 Me. 587. Compare Oldtown, etc., R. Co. v. Veazie, 39 Me. 571.

Massachusetts.— Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Newton, 8 Gray 596; People's Ferry Co. v. Balch, 8 Gray 303; Salem Mill Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 6 Pick. 23.

Mississippi.— Roberts v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 373.

Nebraska.— Fremont Ferry, etc., Co. v. Fuhrman, 8 Nebr. 99.

New York.— Dorris v. Sweeney, 60 N. Y. 463; Burrows v. Smith, 10 N. Y. 550; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Pottle, 23 Barb. 21; Macedon, etc., Plank-road Co. v. Lapham, 18 Barb. 312; Ft. Edward, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Payne, 17 Barb. 567.

Ohio.— Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Stout, 26 Ohio St. 241; Ashtabula, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 15 Ohio St. 328; Dayton, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 1 Disn. 84, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 501.

Pennsylvania.— Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co. v. Grubb, 82 Pa. St. 36; Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Hickman, 28 Pa. St. 318.

South Carolina.— Charlotte, etc., R. Co. v. Blakely, 3 Strobh. 245.

Texas.— Henderson v. San Antonio, etc., R. Co., 17 Tex. 560, 67 Am. Dec. 675.

Virginia.— Galt v. Swain, 9 Gratt. 633, 60 Am. Dec. 311.

Wisconsin.— Milwaukee, etc., R. Co. v. Field, 12 Wis. 340.

United States.— Putnam v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 16 Wall. 390, 21 L. ed. 361.

England.— Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 776, 8 L. J. C. P. O. S. 257, 4 M. & P. 676, 31 Rev. Rep. 536, 19 E. C. L. 347; Matter of Sunken Vessels Recovery Co., 3 De G. & J. 85, 5 Jur. N. S. 1377, 28 L. J. Ch. 899, 2 L. T. Rep. N. S. 68, 60 Eng. Ch. 67; Matter of Direct Exeter, etc., R. Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 205, 14 Jur. 539 note, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 310; Pitchford v. Davis, 8 L. J. Exch. 157, 5 M. & W. 2.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 270.

Such subscriptions are not to be considered in determining whether sufficient stock has been subscribed to entitle the corporation to organize under its governing statute and articles of incorporation, without proof that the condition has been complied with. Oskaloosa Agricultural Works v. Parkhurst, 54 Iowa 357, 6 N. W. 547.

65. Brand v. Lawrenceville Branch R. Co., 77 Ga. 506, 1 S. E. 255.

66. Rogers' Case, L. R. 3 Ch. 634, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 779, 16 Wkly. Rep. 556; In re Ireland Rolling Stock Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 567, meaning of this rule, that the expression of the condition should be in the same letter with the application for the shares, provided they reach the directors together.[67]

b. Right of Subscriber to Notice of Performance of Condition. The subscriber is entitled to notice of the performance of the condition before an action can be sustained against him on his contract,[68] unless the act be one that carries notice of itself.[69] He will, however, be affected by a general notice to the shareholders.[70]

c. Conditional Subscription Becomes Absolute When Condition Performed. Assuming again that the condition is valid under the rules and theories already discussed, it is to be added that it becomes absolute and binding upon the subscriber whenever it is performed by the corporation.[71] This must be especially true where the subscription is made after the organization of the corporation so that there is a contracting party in existence capable of assenting to the condition;[72] and it may be equally true where, at the time when the subscription is made, the corporation has not so far advanced in the process of its organization as to possess capacity to accept and receive it, but where such capacity is subsequently acquired, and it thereafter receives the subscription and assents to the condition.[73]

d. Waiver of Performance of Condition — (i) In General. Of course the subscriber may subseqently waive the condition and bind himself absolutely;[74] and it has been held that this is done by executing a promissory note for the amount for which he has subscribed,[75] or by delivering an absolute deed in payment where the subscription is payable in land.[76] So it has been held that the giving by the subscriber of his promissory note for an unpaid balance of his subscription, and his taking therefor the company's receipt, stipulating that when paid the amount of the note should be applied on his stock is prima facie a waiver of 12 Jur. N. S. 695, 35 L. J. Ch. 818, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 129, 14 Wkly. Rep. 1001.

67. Rogers' Case, L. R. 3 Ch. 634, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 779, 16 Wkly. Rep. 556.

68. Chase v. Sycamore, etc., R. Co., 38 Ill. 215; Wear v. Jacksonville, etc., R. Co., 24 Ill. 593; Spangler v. Indiana, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 276; Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 504.

69. Chase v. Sycamore, etc., R. Co., 38 Ill. 215.

70. Nichols v. Burlington, etc., Plank Road Co., 4 Greene (Iowa) 42.

71. California.— Santa Cruz R. Co. v. Schwartz, 53 Cal. 106.

Illinois.— Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 504.

Indiana.— Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Holmes, 101 Ind. 348; Franklin College v. Hurlburt, 28 Ind. 344; Junction R. Co. v. Reeve, 15 Ind. 236; Jewett v. Lawrenceburgh, etc., R. Co., 10 Ind. 539; Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Shearer, 10 Ind. 244.

Iowa.— Merrill v. Gamble, 46 Iowa 615.

Kansas.— Topeka Bridge Co. v. Cummings, 3 Kan. 55.

Maine.— Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Dunn, 39 Me. 587.

Maryland.— Taggart v. Western Maryland R. Co., 24 Md. 563, 89 Am. Dec. 760.

Massachusetts.— Central Turnpike Corp. v. Valentine, 10 Pick. 142.

Michigan.— Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389.

Missouri.— McGinnis v. Kortkamp, 24 Mo. App. 378; St. Charles Mfg. Co. v. Britton, 2 Mo. App. 290.

New York.— Dorris v. Sweeney, 60 N. Y. 463; Burrows v. Smith, 10 N. Y. 550; Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. 157.

Ohio.— Ashtabula, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 15 Ohio St. 328; Chamberlain v. Painesville, etc., R. Co., 15 Ohio St. 225.

South Carolina.— Spartanburg, etc., R. Co. v. De Graffenreid, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 675, 78 Am. Dec. 476.

Tennessee.— Lowe v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 1 Head 659.

72. Taggart v. Western Maryland R. Co., 24 Md. 563, 89 Am. Dec. 760, opinion by Bowie, C. J.

73. Armstrong v. Karshner, 47 Ohio St. 276, 24 N. E. 897.

As to when a condition is complied with that a railroad shall pass through the corporate limits of a certain town see Chattanooga, etc., R. Co. v. Warthen, 98 Ga. 599, 25 S. E. 988.

74. Slipher v. Earhart, 83 Ind. 173; Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Dunn, 17 Ind. 603. Compare Henderson, etc., R. Co. v. Moss, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 242.

75. O'Donald v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 259. Compare Miller v. White, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 491.

76. Parks v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 23 Ind. 567.

conditions precedent.[77] On the other hand it has been held that the giving by the subscriber of his promissory note for his subscription does not waive the condition subsequent thereon, unless such was the intention of the parties.[78]

(II) By Acting as Shareholder. If, prior to the time when the condition in the subscription is complied with, the subscriber acts as a shareholder, this will ordinarily be evidence of a waiver of his right to insist on the performance of the condition, on the principle of estoppel hereafter discussed. Thus, although a subscription paper be expressed to be upon condition that a specific sum shall be raised, yet if a subscriber coöperates in prosecuting the enterprise and incurring liabilities with knowledge that the full amount has not been subscribed this act operates as a waiver of the condition.[79]

e. Condition as to Completion of Corporate Enterprise. It is generally held that a condition as to the time of the completion of the enterprise will not be regarded as a condition precedent, to be performed by the company before it can collect the subscription, unless the contract says so in express terms. The reason is that the very object of the subscription is to raise funds for the carrying out of this enterprise, and hence such a construction of the contract would defeat its main purpose and make it nugatory.[80] But if the contract of subscription expressly stipulates that it is not payable until the enterprise is completed to a certain defined extent, then there can be no recovery upon it until the enterprise is so completed.[81]

77. Chamberlain v. Painesville, etc., R. Co., 15 Ohio St. 225.

78. Parker v. Thomas, 19 Ind. 213, 81 Am. Dec. 385. Compare Taylor v. Fletcher, 15 Ind. 80; Kellar v. Johnson, 11 Ind. 337, 71 Am. Dec. 355. So if part of a conditional subscription has become due by performance of the condition, a postponement of its payment is sufficient consideration for a note given by the subscriber by which he promises unconditionally to pay the whole at a future day, and at a time before the residue would have been due by the original terms of the subscription. Henderson, etc., R. Co. v. Moss, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 242.

79. Hutchins v. Smith, 46 Barb. (N. Y.) 235; Reformed Protestant Dutch Church v. Brown, 17 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 287; Dayton, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 1 Disn. (Ohio) 84, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 501 (paid first instalment, voted at corporate elections, and acted as an officer of the company).

Other cases which exhibit circumstances on which such a waiver or estoppel was predicated.— Connecticut.— Lane v. Brainerd, 30 Conn. 565.

Massachusetts.— Mirick v. French, 2 Gray 420. Compare Converse v. Hood, 149 Mass. 471, 21 N. E. 878, 4 L. R. A. 521.

North Carolina.— Wilmington, etc., R. Co. v. Robeson, 27 N. C. 391.

Pennsylvania.— Mack's Appeal, (1886) 7 Atl. 481; Bavington v. Pittsburgs, etc., R. Co., 34 Pa. St. 358.

Tennessee.— Morrow v. Nashville Iron, etc., Co., 87 Tenn. 262, 10 S. W. 495, 10 Am. St. Rep. 658, 3 L. R. A. 37.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 276.

No waiver where promissory note of subscriber in settlement of subscription was obtained by a fraudulent representation that the condition had been complied with. Taylor v. Fletcher, 15 Ind. 80.

That the subscriber cannot recover back from the corporation payments which he has voluntarily made before the condition had been complied with by the corporation see Davenport, etc., R. Co. v. Rogers, 39 Iowa 298. Compare and contrast Scarce v. Indiana, etc., R. Co., 17 Ind. 193.

Failure to carry out advertised projects made by the promoters or agents of a corporation does not have the effect of importing into the share subscriptions the condition that such projects shall be carried out. The failure to carry them out does not therefore release the subscriber, unless they amount to misrepresentations and fraud. Braddock v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 45 N. J. L. 363; Kelsey v. Northern Light Oil Co., 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 111.

80. Johnson v. Kessler, 76 Iowa 411, 41 N. W. 57; Armstrong v. Karshner, 47 Ohio St. 276, 24 N. E. 897. See for a statement of the principle McGinnis v. Kortkamp, 24 Mo. App. 378.

81. Hayes v. Branham, 36 Ind. 219. Compare Cedar Falls, etc., R. Co. v. Rich, 33 Iowa 113; Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389.

Application of foregoing principle to railroad companies and railroad building.— The treatment of matters special and peculiar to railroad companies and to railroad building lies outside the scope of this article as planned. Therefore the applications of the doctrine relating to conditional share subscriptions, where those subscriptions were made to the shares of railway companies, will not be further pursued in this article in detail; but the writer will merely refer to another work of his and to the cases there collected, briefly indexing the subjects of them. 2 Thompson Corp. § 1349 et seq.

Validity of condition that railway be located on a certain route.— Arkansas.— Jacks v. Helena, 41 Ark. 213.

K. Effect of Fraud on Contract of Subscription to Shares — 1. General Principles — a. General Rule as to Right of Rescission For Such Frauds — (i) Statement of Rule. Where the rights of creditors or other innocent third

Florida.— Martin v. Pensacola, etc., R. Co., 8 Fla. 370, 73 Am. Dec. 713.

Indiana.— Brownlee v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 68; Jewett v. Lawrenceburgh, etc., R. Co., 10 Ind. 539; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337; Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Shearer, 10 Ind. 244; and cases in next paragraph.

Kentucky.— McMillan v. Maysville, etc., R. Co., 15 B. Mon. 218, 16 Am. Dec. 181.

New York.— Macedon, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Snediker, 18 Barb. 317.

Wisconsin.— Racine County Bank v. Ayers, 12 Wis. 512.

This condition complied with by "locating" without "constructing." McMillan v. Maysville, etc., R. Co., 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 218, 61 Am. Dec. 181; North Missouri R. Co. v. Winkler, 29 Mo. 318. Compare Johnson v. Georgia Midland R. Co., 81 Ga. 725, 8 S. E. 531; Smith v. Allison, 23 Ind. 366; Keller v. Johnson, 11 Ind. 337, 71 Am. Dec. 355; Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Palmer, 42 Iowa 222; Memphis, etc., R. Co. v. Thompson, 24 Kan. 170; Berryman v. Cincinnati Southern R. Co., 14 Bush (Ky.) 755; Ashtabula, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 15 Ohio St. 328; Miller v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 40 Pa. St. 237, 80 Am. Dec. 570.

Interpretation of conditions as to the construction of the road or works which the corporation was organized to build.

Georgia.— Johnson v. Georgia Midland R. Co., 81 Ga. 725, 8 S. E. 531.

Illinois.— Ogden v. Kirby, 79 Ill. 555.

Iowa.— Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Boestler, 15 Iowa 555.

Michigan.— Stowell v. Stowell, 45 Mich. 364, 8 N. W. 70.

Texas.— Henderson v. San Antonio, etc., R. Co., 17 Tex. 560, 67 Am. Dec. 675.

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Baxter, 32 Vt. 805.

That a subscription to the stock of a railroad corporation "when completed" to a certain place becomes final and absolute upon such completion, without other or further act of subscription, and is not subject to a condition in the heading of the subscription list providing for the payment of subscriptions in instalments as fast as any ten miles of the road should be completed, was held in Webb v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 77 Md. 92, 26 Atl. 113, 39 Am. St. Rep. 396.

Interpretation of conditions as to establishment of depots at certain places.—Davenport, etc., R. Co. v. O'Connor, 40 Iowa 477; Davenport, etc., R. Co. v. Rogers, 39 Iowa 298; Courtwright v. Strickler, 37 Iowa 382; North Missouri R. Co. v. Miller, 31 Mo. 19; Chamberlain v. Painesville, etc., R. Co., 15 Ohio St. 225; Paducah, etc., R. Co. v. Parks, 86 Tenn. 554, 8 S. W. 842.

Interpretation of conditions that prescribed route be taken.— Moore v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 15 Ind. 78; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337; Detroit, etc., R. Co. v. Starnes, 38 Mich. 698; Spartanburg, etc., R. Co. v. De Graffenreid, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 675, 78 Am. Dec. 476. As to performance of the condition that "the road be built through the village of P" see Woonsocket Union R. Co. v. Sherman, 8 R. I. 564.

Conditions precedent generally in railway share subscriptions.— Lane v. Brainerd, 30 Conn. 565; Johnson v. Georgia Midland, etc., R. Co., 81 Ga. 725, 8 S. E. 531; Iowa Northern Cent. R. Co. v. Bliohenes, 41 Iowa 267; McGinnis v. Kortkamp, 24 Mo. App. 373; McGinnis v. Barnes, 23 Mo. App. 413. Facts under which it is held not a condition precedent to defendant's liability that plaintiff shall enter into a contract of a particular kind with the other corporation, and that in an action to enforce his subscription the subscriber cannot assail a contract thereafter made with such corporation, which has been ratified as provided. Cravens v. Eagle Cotton Mills Co., 120 Ind. 6, 21 N. E. 981, 16 Am. St. Rep. 298.

Action of committee appointed by subscribers to see that the stipulations in their subscriptions are complied with, not conclusive upon the corporation, etc. Shaffner v. Jeffries, 18 Mo. 512. Action of such a committee in turning over to the corporation a subscription paper delivered to the committee in escrow not conclusive that the conditions therein imposed upon the corporation have been performed. Davenport, etc., R. Co. v. O'Connor, 40 Iowa 477.

When a subscription to a building fund of a college does not bind the subscribers until a permanent organization has been effected. Goff v. Winchester College, 6 Bush (Ky.) 443.

Interpretation of condition prescribing penalty in case of non-payment different from that imposed by charter.— Kirksey v. Florida, etc., Plank Road Co., 7 Fla. 23, 68 Am. Dec. 426.

Interpretation of particular conditions as to assessments.— Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Dunn, 39 Me. 587; Roberts v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 373.

Interpretation of an agreement to pay within thirty days of the organization of a corporation, with the conclusion that it means a corporation de jure, and is not satisfied by the organization of what may be regarded as a corporation de facto. Capps v. Hastings Prospecting Co., 40 Nebr. 470, 58 N. W. 956, 42 Am. St. Rep. 677, 24 L. R. A. 259.

Construction of an underwriting letter for shares, with the conclusion that a request by the promoters to the underwriter to apply for the shares, was a condition precedent to the obligation on his part to sign and lodge the application for the shares with a check for the deposit. Re Bultfontein Sun Diamond Mine, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 669. Construction persons are not involved,[82] the general rule is that whenever the agent of a corporation, duly authorized by the corporation to procure subscriptions to its capital stock, induces persons to become subscribers to shares of such stock by fraudulent misrepresentations or concealments, the person so defrauded will be entitled to claim of the corporation a rescission of the contract, in the same manner as though the question had arisen between two natural persons.[83]

(II) When Doctrine Applicable—(A) Applicable as Between Corporation and Subscriber For Shares. These obvious rules of justice have received application in many cases where the company has brought an action to recover calls[84] on a stock subscription fraudulently obtained, or where the subscriber has exhibited a bill in equity to cancel such a subscription.[85] of an underwriting letter for shares containing an agreement with the vendor and the company, with the conclusion that a request by the vendor to the underwriters to subscribe for or find responsible subscribers, was a condition precedent to their being treated as shareholders. In re Harvey's Oyster Co., [1894] 2 Ch. 474, 63 L. J. Ch. 578, 70 L. T. Rep. N. S. 795, 1 Manson 153, 8 Reports 715, 42 Wkly. Rep. 701.

82. See infra, VI, K, 1, a, (II), (B).

83. New Jersey.—Vreeland v. New Jersey Stone Co., 29 N. J. Eq. 188.

Pennsylvania.—Custar v. Titusville Gas, etc., Co., 63 Pa. St. 381.

Texas.—Henderson v. San Antonio, etc., R. Co., 17 Tex. 560, 67 Am. Dec. 675; Park v. Kribs, 24 Tex. Civ. App. 650, 60 S. W. 905 (an instruction to the jury in confirmation of this doctrine).

United States.—Upton v. Englehart, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,800, 3 Dill. 496.

England.—In re Reese Silver Mine Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 604; Smith v. Reese River Co., L. R. 2 Eq. 264, 12 Jur. N. S. 616, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 14 Wkly. Rep. 606; Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821.

Former English doctrine on this subject.—The former English doctrine was that in order to avoid the contract the misrepresentation must be that of the whole company. Ex p. Nicol, 5 Jur. N. S. 205, 28 L. J. Ch. N. S. 257. It was conceded if acquiesced in at a general meeting. Ayre's Case, 25 Beav. 513, 4 Jur. N. S. 596, 27 L. J. Ch. 579, per Sir John Romilly, M. R. It was not conceded where it was the representation of a single director (Holt's Case, 22 Beav. 48. To the same effect see Matter of Leeds Banking Co., 3 De G. J. & S. 30, 34 L. J. Ch. 558, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 514, 13 Wkly. Rep. 826, 68 Eng. Ch. 23), or where it was the promise of a promoter which promise was not kept, the remedy being against the person making the promise (In re United Kingdom Ship Owning Co., 2 De G. J. & S. 456, 11 Jur. N. S. 52, 11 L. T. Rep. N. S. 613, 13 Wkly. Rep. 305, 67 Eng. Ch. 356).

Doctrine of Oakes v. Turquand.—The efforts of the English judges to arrive at a settled and just rule upon this subject culminated in the great case decided in the house of lords in 1867: Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201. The doctrine of this case was: (1) A contract induced by fraud is not void, but voidable; and therefore, although the persons who by their fraud induced it may not enforce it, yet other persons may, in consequence of it, acquire interests and rights which they may enforce against the party who has been so induced to enter into it. (2) When a person has been, by the fraudulent misrepresentations of directors, or by their fraudulent concealments of facts, drawn into a contract to purchase shares in a company, the directors cannot enforce the contract against him, but he may rescind it. But he must do this within a reasonable time. He cannot, after a failure of the company, relieve himself from liability to contribute to the payment of its debts on the ground that he has been ignorant of something which with proper diligence he might have known. (3) The direct remedy of a creditor of an incorporated company is solely against the company, and not against its individual members, as upon a contract with them. But although, as between the company and the member, the member might have a good legal or equitable defense to a call upon himself, he may still be liable to contribute to the assets of the company for the purpose of satisfying the company's creditors. Compare Waterhouse v. Jamieson, L. R. 2 H. L. 29, where it is held that the official liquidator, representing creditors, proceeds against shareholders only in right of the company.

84. Wert v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 19 Ind. 242; McDermott v. Harrison, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 184, 30 N. Y. St. 324; Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head (Tenn.) 22; Crump v. U. S. Mining Co., 7 Gratt. (Va.) 352, 56 Am. Dec. 116. See also Young v. Erie Iron Co., 65 Mich. 111, 31 N. W. 814, bill in equity by creditors.

85. Vreeland v. New Jersey Stone Co., 29 N. J. Eq. 188. See also Waldo v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 14 Wis. 575; Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821; Rawlins v. Wickham, 3 De G. & J. 304, 5 Jur. N. S. 278, 28 L. J. Ch. 188, 7 Wkly. Rep. 145, 60 Eng. Ch. 237; New Brunswick, etc., R., etc., Co. v. Muggeridge, 1 D. & Sm. 363; National Exch. Co. v. Drew, 32 Eng. L. & Eq. 1.

(B) Not Always Applicable Where Rights of Innocent Third Parties Are Involved. The foregoing rule is not applicable in either of the two following cases: (1) Where the subscriber has been guilty of negligence in informing himself of the actual facts. (2) Where, in consequence of his delay in repudiating the contract, innocent third parties, shareholders, or creditors, have acquired rights which would be prejudiced by its rescission.[86]

b. Such Contracts Not Void but Merely Voidable at Election of Defrauded Shareholder — (I) Statement of Rule. Such contracts are not void by mere force of the law, but may be made good by ratification or acquiescence after knowledge, or after the truth should have been discovered in the exercise of reasonable diligence. Until then they are voidable only at the election of the defrauded sharetaker.[87] They subsist in full vigor until repudiated by him by some distinct act or expression, or until rescinded by the decree of a court of competent jurisdiction.[88]

(II) What Requisite to Render Them Voidable — (A) In General. They are not voidable unless the relation of principal and agent existed between the corporation and the person committing the fraud, or unless with knowledge the corporation ratified his conduct. The meaning of this is simply that the corporation will not be bound by the officious misrepresentations of third persons who have not authority from the corporation to make such representations; but will be bound where it acquires knowledge that the subscription was procured by such officious misrepresentations, and nevertheless elects to ratify the fraud by enforcing the subscription, in which case it makes the officious person its agent by relation.[89]

(B) Authority of Agent to Commit Fraud. Where, in making the fraudulent representations, the agent of the corporation acts within the general scope of his authority, as in cases of an agent sent out by the corporation to procure subscribers, then the corporation will be affected by his misrepresentations, although in point of fact he may have exceeded his special authority;[90] but this will not be so where the fraudulent misrepresentations or promises are such as to repel any reasonable presumption that they were made by authority of the corporation, as where they are plainly contrary to the duty and interest of the corporation, such as a promise that the subscription will be released, in which case the subscriber becomes in a sense particeps criminis with the fraudulent agent.[91]

86. In re Hop., etc., Exch., etc., Co., L. R. 1 Eq. 483, 35 Beav. 273, 12 Jur. N. S. 322, 35 L. J. Ch. 320, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 39; Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821; Ellis v. Schmœck, 5 Bing. 521, 15 E. C. L. 702. See also infra, VI, K, 4.

87. State v. Jefferson Turnpike Co., 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 304; Farrar v. Walker, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,679, 3 Dill. 506 note; Upton v. Englehart, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,800, 3 Dill. 496; Bwlch-y-Plwm Lead Min. Co. v. Baynes, L. R. 2 Exch. 324, 36 L. J. Exch. 183, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 597, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1108; Reese River Silver Min. Co. v. Smith, L. R. 4 H. L. 64, 39 L. J. Ch. 849, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1024 [affirming L. R. 2 Ch. 604, L. R. 2 Eq. 264, 12 Jur. N. S. 616, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 14 Wkly. Rep. 606 (reversing 36 L. J. Ch. 385)]; Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding Up Acts, 4 De G. & J. 575, 1 L. T. Rep. N. S. 19, 7 Wkly. Rep. 677, 61 Eng. Ch. 454.

88. These views are gathered from the remarks of Lord Hatherley, in Reese River Silver Min. Co. v. Smith, L. R. 4 H. L. 64, 39 L. J. Ch. 849, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1024. They were adopted by Dillon, J., in Upton v. Englehart, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,800, 3 Dill. 496.

89. Walker v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 34 Miss. 245. For the purposes of the rule of the above text, where it did not appear that the person securing the subscription had authority to do so, it was held that any fraud practised by him in securing it might be set up as a defense to an action to recover on the contract of subscription, since the bringing of the suit amounted to a ratification of the fraud. Anderson v. Scott, 70 N. H. 350, 47 Atl. 607, 49 Atl. 568.

90. Rives v. Montgomery South Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 92; Waldo v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 14 Wis. 575; Crump v. U. S. Mining Co., 7 Gratt. (Va.) 352, 56 Am. Dec. 116.

91. Custar v. Titusville Gas, etc., Co., 63 Pa. St. 381; Robinson v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 334, 72 Am. Dec. 792.

Rule as to fraudulent representations made by public commissioners in order to secure subscriptions to shares.— This inquiry will not be pursued, because this mode of organizing corporations has substantially gone out

c. Early American Decisions Denying Right of Rescission For Fraud. Early American decisions, many of them rendered in the era of railroad building by the aid of public subscriptions, and of special bank charters, are not wanting which might be quoted to the doctrine that there is no right of rescission of a share subscription on the ground of fraud at all.[92] These decisions would not perhaps be rendered by a court of our day unless bound by controlling decisions.[93]

d. Effect of Ignorance of Subscriber. It is no defense for the shareholder to show ignorance of the condition and circumstances of the company when his subscription was taken, and if the company is governed by the laws of a foreign state, a person who subscribes for shares of its stock is bound to know the law of such foreign state.[94] But if a promoter or an agent of the corporation takes advantage of the ignorance of a person, and by means of false representations which would not avail against an intelligent person induces him to subscribe he may claim a release on that ground.[95]

e. Doctrine That Subscriber Must Suspect Fraud and Discover It Beforehand in Order to Make It Available as a Defense. There are common-law authorities to the effect that one who has been drawn by fraudulent representations into the making of a subscription to the shares of a corporation cannot set up the fact that the fraud was practised upon him and that it induced him to enter into the contract, by way of defense to an action for the subscription, unless he shows that he used due diligence before signing the contract to discover whether or not the representations were true.[96]

f. Rule of Equity That Subscriber Need Not Make Inquiries Before Subscribing — (1) In General. But the rule of equity is that where there has been a fraudulent misrepresentation or wilful concealment of facts, by which a person has been induced to enter into a contract to subscribe for shares, it is, in theory of equity, no answer to his claim to be relieved from it, that he might have known the truth by proper inquiry;[97] but that in the absence of circumstances of vogue, further than to say that their fraudulent representations afforded in general no ground for a rescission of the subscription (Rutz v. Esler, etc., Mfg. Co., 3 Ill. App. 83; North Carolina R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340), especially where the rights of subsequent bona fide purchasers to the shares were involved (Minor v. Mechanics Bank, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 46, 7 L. ed. 47).

92. One court held that a subscription to a joint stock is not only an undertaking with the company, but with all other subscribers; and hence that, even if fraudulent as between the subscriber and the corporation, it is to be enforced for the benefit of the others in interest. Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489.

93. Compare the following cases: Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240; U. S. Trust Co. v. U. S. Fire Ins. Co., 18 N. Y. 199, 8 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 192; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 581. It has been held that the shareholder will not be released on the ground that the agent of the corporation, procuring the subscription, made false statements as to the amount of stock subscribed, and as to the time when the railroad would be completed (Brownlee v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 68; Bish v. Bradford, 17 Ind. 490; Hardy v. Merriweather, 14 Ind. 203; Andrews v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 169) or that he falsely represented that another railroad company would furnish the iron for the railroad proposed, or lend its credit for the purpose of obtaining it (Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280). Nor will a fraudulent representation, made by one of the company's officers at a public meeting and in the presence of a majority of the board of directors, but not made in pursuance of any authority from, or resolution of, the board, discharge a subscriber. Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336.

94. Payson v. Withers, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,864, 5 Biss. 269.

95. In an action by a turnpike company on a stock subscription, defendant answered that he could not read, and did not hear the articles of association read; but that a party to them, interested in obtaining subscriptions, induced him to subscribe by his false representation that the articles did not require the payment of subscriptions until twenty thousand dollars had been subscribed. It was held that these averments set up a sufficient ground of defense. Wert v. Crawfordsville, etc., Turnpike Co., 19 Ind. 242.

96. Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181. The poor doctrine of the common law that negligence can be made to offset fraud will be found in Ormrod v. Huth, 14 L. J. Exch. 366, 14 M. & W. 651, and in many other cases.

97. Upton v. Englehart, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,800, 3 Dill. 496; Smith v. Reese River Co., L. R. 2 Eq. 264, 12 Jur. N. S. 616, 14 L. T.

tending to excite suspicion in the mind of a reasonable man he may rightfully rely upon the statements to which the other party to the contract, or the agent of such other party, has deliberately pledged his faith.[98] It is not incumbent upon him to institute inquiries and to suspect fraud, where all seems fair and conformable to the requirements of the statutes.[99] He need not for example examine the corporate books;[1] inquire at the office of the company, as invited to do by a fraudulent prospectus;[2] or inspect the engineer's reports, maps, plans, etc., at the office of the company, as similarly invited to do.[3]

(II) Rule Where Statements in Prospectus Are Ambiguous. If the statements in a prospectus are ambiguous but capable of an interpretation in conformity with the truth, then the purchaser cannot charge fraud upon the directors or promoters of the company, unless he avail himself of the means of inquiry open to him by examining the documents referred to in the prospectus.[4]

(III) Subscriber Owes Duty of Inquiry to Innocent Third Persons. With respect to innocent third persons, for example, creditors of the company who may have given it credit on the faith of his being a shareholder, the subscriber owes the duty of inquiry before entering into the contract of subscription.[5]

g. Waiver by Subscriber of Right to Rescission on Ground of Fraud — (I) In General. The principle hinted at in the preceding section, and more fully developed in the next section, is that one induced by fraud to purchase shares of stock in a corporation cannot avoid his purchase if, after becoming aware of the fraud, he acts as a shareholder or derives a benefit from his shares.[6] Nor can a shareholder set up by way of defense fraud practised by the corporation on him in its acts or organization, where he has stood by and interposed no objection while the corporation has contracted debts.[7] And while it is in general true that where a corporate charter has been obtained by means of fictitious subscriptions for a part of the stock, and fraud has been committed on a real subscriber by which he has sustained or might sustain damage, no action can be maintained against him by the corporation for the amount of his subscription; yet it is different where such subscriber has accepted the charter and by his own acts assisted in putting it into operation. In such a case he cannot avail himself, when sued by the corporation in respect of his subscription, of the defense that a part of such stock was fictitious.[8]

(II) Acts of Ratification Which Amount to Waiver. A contract to take shares induced by fraudulent misrepresentations or concealments is not only valid

Rep. N. S. 283, 14 Wkly. Rep. 606, L. R. 4 H. L. 64, 39 L. J. Ch. 849, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1024; Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821; Waterhouse v. Jamieson, L. R. 2 H. L. Sc. 29; New Brunswick, etc., R., etc., Co. v. Muggeridge, 1 Dr. & Sm. 363.

Statements and applications of this principle will be found in Dobell v. Stevens, 3 B. & C. 623, 5 L. & R. 490, 3 L. J. K. B. O. S. 89, 10 E. C. L. 283; Attwood v. Small, 6 Cl. & F. 232, 2 Jur. 200, 7 Eng. Reprint 684.

98. Mead v. Bunn, 32 N. Y. 275, per Porter, J. To the same effect is Eaton v. Winnie, 20 Mich. 156, 4 Am. Rep. 377; McClellan v. Scott, 24 Wis. 81; Dobell v. Stevens, 3 B. & C. 623, 5 D. & R. 490, 3 L. J. K. B. O. S. 89, 10 E. C. L. 283; Attwood v. Small, 6 Cl. & F. 232, 2 Jur. 200, 7 Eng. Reprint 684.

99. Foreman v. Bigelow, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,934, 4 Cliff. 508; Waterhouse v. Jamieson, L. R. 2 H. L. Sc. 29.

1. Union Nat. Bank v. Hunt, 76 Mo. 439 [reversing 7 Mo. App. 42]. Contra, see Haskell v. Worthington, 94 Mo. 560, 7 S. W. 481, per Brace, J.

2. Smith v. Reese River Co., L. R. 2 Eq. 264, 12 Jur. N. S. 616, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 14 Wkly. Rep. 606.

3. Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821.

4. Hallows v. Fernie, L. R. 3 Ch. 467, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 340, 16 Wkly. Rep. 873.

5. See Saffold v. Barnes, 39 Miss. 399; National Park Bank v. Nichols, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 10,047, 2 Biss. 146; Reese River Silver Min. Co. v. Smith, L. R. 4 H. L. 64, 39 L. J. Ch. 849, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1024; Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201.

6. Macon City Bank v. Bartlett, 71 Ga. 797; National Park Bank v. Nichols, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 10,047, 2 Biss. 146.

7. Beck v. Henderson, 76 Ga. 360.

8. Centre, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. McConaby, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 140.

until rescinded,[9] but it may become absolutely binding by acts of ratification. And here it may be stated generally that if a person who has been thus entrapped into the purchase of shares, after discovering the fraud, acts in a manner inconsistent with an intention to disaffirm the contract, this will preclude him from disaffirming it afterward.[10] This has been held to be the effect of the following acts: After discovering the real facts, placing his shares in the hands of a broker and instructing him to sell them;[11] after coming to the knowledge of the alleged fraudulent representations, paying a call and receiving a dividend;[12] knowingly suffering his name to appear on the books of the company as a shareholder so long that the rights of creditors would be prejudiced in case of withdrawal;[13] participating in the meetings of the company,[14] but not where he merely appeared for the purpose of demanding a rescission of his contract;[15] voting his shares by proxy;[16] paying calls;[17] serving as a director and participating generally in the business of the company;[18] demanding and suing for dividends;[19] promising to pay the instalments due on his shares;[20] and receiving dividends, where the question arose as between the shareholder and creditors.[21]

(III) Rule Where Subscriber Has Sold Some Shares and Seeks Rescission as to Remainder. The fact that a subscriber to shares in a corporation has sold some of the shares taken by him does not deprive him of the right to have the contract, it being severable, rescinded as to the remainder, for fraudulent misrepresentations in the company's prospectus, if he parted with the shares sold before discovering the fraud.[22]

9. Reese River Silver Min. Co. v. Smith, L. R. 4 H. L. 64, 39 L. J. Ch. 849, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1024.

10. Scholey v. Venezuela Cent. R. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 266 note.

11. In re Hop, etc., Exch., etc., Co., L. R. 1 Eq. 483, 35 Beav. 273, 12 Jur. N. S. 322, 35 L. J. Ch. 320, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 39, per Lord Romilly, M. R.

12. Scholey v. Venezuela Cent. R. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 266 note.

13. In re Reciprocity Bank, 22 N. Y. 9; McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32; Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Cowell, 28 Pa. St. 329, 70 Am. Dec. 128. Otherwise where one is so held out without his knowledge. Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 776, 8 L. J. C. P. O. S. 257, 4 M. & P. 676, 31 Rev. Rep. 536, 19 E. C. L. 347.

14. Chaffin v. Cummings, 37 Me. 76; Dayton, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 1 Disn. (Ohio) 84, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 501; Harrison v. Heathorn, 12 L. J. C. P. 282, 6 M. & G. 81, 6 Scott N. R. 735, 46 E. C. L. 81.

15. Wontner v. Shairp, 4 C. B. 404, 56 E. C. L. 404.

16. McCully v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 25; Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Coleman, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 118.

17. Frost v. Walker, 60 Me. 468; Hall v. U. S. Insurance Co., 5 Gill (Md.) 484; Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 36 Miss. 17; Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489; Cromford, etc., R. Co. v. Lacey, 3 Y. & J. 80. But failing to pay calls does not of course imply that one is not a shareholder. Schaeffer v. Missouri Home Ins. Co., 46 Mo. 248; McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32. But see Fiser v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 359; Lewis v. Robertson, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 558; Hayne v. Beauchamp, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 515.

18. Hager v. Cleveland, 36 Md. 476; Ruggles v. Brock, 6 Hun (N. Y.) 164; Hays v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 38 Pa. St. 81.

19. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Cowell, 28 Pa. St. 329, 70 Am. Dec. 128.

20. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 36 Miss. 17.

21. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Cowell, 28 Pa. St. 329, 70 Am. Dec. 128; Hoare's Case, 30 Beav. 225, 2 Johns. & H. 229; Matter of North of England Joint-Stock Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 258. And see Berthold v. Goldsmith, 24 How. (U. S.) 536, 16 L. ed. 762; In re Francis, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,031, 2 Sawy. 286; Pott v. Eyton, 3 C. B. 32, 15 L. J. C. P. 257, 54 E. C. L. 32; Waugh v. Carver, 2 H. Bl. 235, 2 Smith Lead. Cas. 1178; Grace v. Smith, 2 W. Bl. 998; Wightman v. Townroe, 1 M. & S. 412, 14 Rev. Rep. 475. Compare Phœnix Ins. Co. v. Hamilton, 14 Wall. (U. S.) 504, 20 L. ed. 729; Winship v. U. S. Bank, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 529, 8 L. ed. 216; Bigelow v. Elliott, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,399, 1 Cliff. 28; Bowas v. Pioneer Tow Line, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,713, 2 Sawy. 21; The Crusader, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,456, 1 Ware 448; Hazard v. Hazard, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,279, 1 Story 371. But when a husband receives dividends for his wife (Ness v. Angas, 6 D. & L. 645, 3 Exch. 805, 13 Jur. 874, 18 L. J. Exch. 470), or a trustee for his cestui que trust (Ness v. Armstrong, 7 D. & L. 73, 4 Exch. 21, 13 Jur. 874, 18 L. J. Exch. 473), the rule may be otherwise. See also Bosanquet v. Shortridge, 4 Exch. 698, 14 Jur. 71, 19 L. J. Exch. 221.

22. Re Mt. Morgan Gold Mine, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 622.

(iv) Rule Where Subscription Is Settled by Negotiable Instrument. If the subscription is settled by the giving of a negotiable instrument, e. g., a negotiable promissory note secured by a mortgage, and this is negotiated by the corporation to an innocent third party before maturity, on a rule of public policy which upholds the confidence of the business community in dealing in commercial paper, he takes it discharged of equities subsisting between the maker and the payee, and the maker cannot defend against his liability on it by showing that he was induced to subscribe for the shares by false and fraudulent representations of the corporation or its agents.[23]

h. Subscriptions Given in Consequence of Erroneous Representations Not Fraudulent but Founded on Mistake. If subscriptions to a corporation are induced by representations not in themselves fraudulent, but founded on an honest mistake on the part of those making such representations, the mistake does not according to one theory entitle the subscriber to avoid the contract;[24] but the better and modern opinion is that, although the representation may have been innocently made, yet if it was one on which the intending subscriber had a right to rely, and did rely, he will be entitled to relief from the contract.[25] The modern and approved doctrine is that the rule which entitles the deceived party to a rescission "applies not merely to cases where the statements were known to be false by those who made them, but to cases where statements, false in fact, were made by persons who believed them to be true, if in the due discharge of their duty, they ought to have known, or if they had formerly known and ought to have remembered, the fact which negatives the representation made."[26]

2. What Frauds Will and What Will Not Avoid Contract of Subscription — a. Fraud Must Have Been Material Inducement to Contract. A fraud which will, where the rights of innocent third persons do not supervene, entitle a subscriber to shares to a rescission of his contract or to defend against actions for assessments, must have been a material inducement to the contract. "It must be a representation dans locum contractui, that is, a representation giving occasion to the contract: the proper interpretation of which appears to me to be, the assertion of a fact on which the person entering into the contract relied, and in the absence of which, it is reasonable to infer, that he would not have entered into it; or the suppression of a fact, the knowledge of which, it is reasonable to infer, would have made him abstain from the contract altogether."[27] It must have been a proximate or immediate inducement to the purchase of the shares, but for which the purchase would not probably have been made, although other influences may have been at work to induce the subscription.[28] This is not to be established by impressions received from the fraudulent reports at some former period, however distant; but they should be clearly shown to have been in the mind of the person at the time of the negotiations for the purchase, and to have been one of the causes leading to the contract.[29] The material inducement to the

23. Andrews v. Hart, 17 Wis. 297.

24. Thus it has been held that where individuals, having a design to be incorporated for the purpose of creating a water-power, cause surveys and estimates to be made of the water-power which can be created, and thereupon represent it to be greater than it really is, but without any intention to deceive, persons who subscribe for stock in the corporation on the faith of such representations, and agree to be personally liable for assessments, cannot avoid the contract on the ground of the mistake. Salem Mill-Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 187, 19 Am. Dec. 363.

25. Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head (Tenn.) 22.

26. Sir John Romilly, M. R., in Pulsford v. Richards, 17 Beav. 87, 94, 17 Jur. 865, 22 L. J. Ch. 562, 1 Wkly. Rep. 295, 19 Eng. L. & Eq. 387. See also Money v. Jorden, 21 L. J. Ch. 531, 11 Eng. L. & Eq. 182 [affirmed in 2 De G. M. & G. 318, 21 L. J. Ch. 893, 13 Eng. L. & Eq. 245, 51 Eng. Ch. 249]; Burrowes v. Lock, 10 Ves. Jr. 470, 8 Rev. Rep. 33, 856.

27. Sir John Romilly, M. R., in Pulsford v. Richards, 17 Beav. 87, 96, 17 Jur. 865, 22 L. J. Ch. 569, 1 Wkly. Rep. 295, 19 Eng. L. & Eq. 387, 391.

28. Lord Chanworth, in Matter of Royal British Bank, 3 De G. & J. 387, 5 Jur. N. S. 205, 28 L. J. Ch. 257, 7 Wkly. Rep. 217, 60 Eng. Ch. 301.

29. Lord Chanworth, in Scotland Western Bank v. Addie, L. R. 1 H. L. Sc. 145.

subscription must have been the fraudulent prospectus, and not the subscriber's own knowledge.[30] In order to a rescission, it is not necessary for the subscriber to show that if the representations had not been made he would not have taken the shares, but it is sufficient that there is evidence to show that he was materially influenced by the misrepresentations.[31]

b. Fraud May Consist Either in Misrepresentation of a Fact or in Suppression of the Truth — (I) In General. The fraud which will entitle a subscriber to shares of a corporation or joint-stock company to a rescission may be either of a positive or negative kind. It may consist either in a suppression of what is true, or in an assertion of what is false.[32]

(II) Mere Non-Disclosure as Ground of Rescission. In order to render the mere non-disclosure of facts in a prospectus a ground for rescinding a contract to take shares made upon the faith of it, it must be, as it stands, misleading.[33] It has been held that a prospectus of a corporation which merely specifies the dates and names of the parties to contracts, in compliance with the governing statute,[34] is fraudulent, where it gives no further notice of circumstances contained in the contracts which are material to be known, so that the omission of them causes it to give a false impression.[35]

(III) Illustrations of Fraudulent Assertion of Truth Which Will Avoid Contract. Where the subscription was induced by representations that the entire proceeds of the capital stock would be used in payment for and in improvement of real estate, when in fact it had been agreed by the organizers that a part should be paid to the promoters, this entitled the subscriber to be released from his subscription, in the absence of clear evidence of a ratification after full knowledge of the falsity of the representations.[36]

c. Not Necessary For Purpose of Rescission That Fraudulent Representations Be Made With Wilful Intent to Deceive — (I) In General. The true rule, which ought not to be subject to doubt anywhere, is that if, in written proposals for a sale of stock in a company, representations are contained which are false as to any material fact, by which the purchasers have been misled to their injury, and in which they are presumed to have trusted to the vendors, then the contract founded upon such representations is void, whether the vendor knew the representations to be false at the time they were made or not, and whether made with a fraudulent intent or not.[37]

30. Jennings v. Broughton, 17 Beav. 234, 17 Jur. 905, 22 L. J. Ch. 585, 1 Wkly. Rep. 441, 19 Eng. L. & Eq. 420. To the same effect is Salem Mill-Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 187, 19 Am. Dec. 363.

31. In re London, etc., Bank, 56 L. J. Ch. 321, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 115, 35 Wkly. Rep. 344.

32. Hubbard v. Weare, 79 Iowa 678, 44 N. W. 915; Crump v. U. S. Mining Co., 7 Gratt. (Va.) 352, 56 Am. Dec. 116; Upton v. Englehart, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,800, 3 Dill. 496; Henderson v. Lacon, L. R. 5 Eq. 249, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 527, 16 Wkly. Rep. 328; Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821; Pulsford v. Richards, 17 Beav. 87, 22 L. J. Ch. 559, 17 Jur. 865, 1 Wkly. Rep. 295, 19 Eng. L. & Eq. 387; New Brunswick, etc., R., etc., Co. v. Muggeridge, 1 Dr. & Sm. 363. See the charge of Drummond, J., in National Park Bank v. Nichols, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 10,047, 2 Biss. 146, as to the duty of persons soliciting such subscriptions to make full disclosures.

For illustrations of concealments which do not have the effect of avoiding the subscription see Walker v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 34 Miss. 245; Pulsford v. Richards, 17 Beav. 87, 17 Jur. 865, 22 L. J. Ch. 559, 1 Wkly. Rep. 295, 19 Eng. L. & Eq. 387; Vane v. Cobbold, 1 Exch. 798, 12 Jur. 60, 17 L. J. Exch. 97.

33. McKeown v. Boudard-Peveril Gear Co., 65 L. J. Ch. 446, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 310 [affirmed in 65 L. J. Ch. 735, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 712].

34. English Companies Act (1867), § 38.

35. Aaron's Reefs v. Twiss, [1896] A. C. 273, 65 L. J. P. C. 54, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 794 [affirming [1895] 2 Ir. 207].

36. West End Real Estate Co. v. Claiborne, 97 Va. 734, 34 S. E. 900. Compare Pulsford v. Richards, 17 Beav. 87, 17 Jur. 865, 22 L. J. Ch. 569, 1 Wkly. Rep. 295, 19 Eng. L. & Eq. 387.

37. Crump v. U. S. Min. Co., 7 Gratt. (Va.) 352, 56 Am. Dec. 116. The court used the word "void" in the sense of voidable. Hunter v. French League Safety Cure Co., 96 Iowa 573, 578, 65 N. W. 828 [quoting from

(II) Exception Where Action Is to Recover Damages For Deceit Against Person Committing Fraud. A well-settled exception to the above rule exists in the case where the action is to recover damages for the deceit against the person or persons committing the fraud, in which case there must be evidence of a guilty knowledge and purpose, technically called a scienter.[38] This distinction is partly founded upon the consideration that the corporation, and not the person making the misrepresentation, gets the benefit of it.[39]

d. Misrepresentations Need Not Be Put Forth to Deceive Particular Person. The misrepresentations need not have been put forth for the purpose of deceiving the person seeking the rescission; but they must have been put forth either for the purpose of deceiving him or the general class of persons to which he belongs.[40] Within the meaning of this rule, a second vendee of shares will not be able to maintain an action for relief on the ground that his vendor was induced by the fraudulent representations to purchase the shares.[41] But a fraudulent prospectus or report concocted by the directors of a company for the purpose of deceiving the public generally as to its condition, with the view of inducing the public to purchase its shares, will, if seen, believed, and acted upon by any member of the public, afford ground for avoiding his contract of subscription.[42] On like grounds it has been held that a public advertisement, touching the allotment of shares in a joint-stock company, is presumed to have been communicated to all who were interested in the project. When therefore such an advertisement contained false statements, which inveigled a provisional subscriber for shares into paying an instalment of his subscription, he was entitled to recover the money from the promoters of the enterprise.[43] The writer conceives that there is no well-grounded exception to this principle, so far as the rights of the first subscriber or allottee are concerned;[44] but whether the principle extends to his vendee there is a difference of opinion, as we shall point out when discussing the liability of directors.[45]

e. Distinction Between Fraud and Failure of Consideration — (I) In General. If, on the faith of a projected corporation, a person subscribes for shares therein, and afterward, on inspecting the memorandum of association, finds that the undertaking is substantially different from that represented by the prospectus, he is entitled to a rescission of his contract of subscription, on the principal ground that the consideration of the contract has failed, in that the company does not propose to give him that which he agreed to take; he subscribed for shares in one kind of a venture and they tender him shares in another.[46]

Mohler v. Carder, 73 Iowa 582, 35 N. W. 647]. See also Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821.

Effect of agent's want of knowledge of falsity.— It has been held that a corporation cannot avoid responsibility for fraudulent representations made by agents to induce subscriptions to its capital stock, merely because the agent who made the representations was not aware of their falsity, and the other agent, who knew of the facts negativing the truth of such representations, was not aware that they had been made. Talmadge v. Sanitary Security Co., 31 N. Y. App. Div. 498, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 139.

38. Henderson v. Lacon, L. R. 5 Eq. 249, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 527, 16 Wkly. Rep. 328; Craig v. Phillips, 3 Ch. D. 722, 46 L. J. Ch. 49, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 198. For a good illustration of the principle see Weir v. Bell, 3 Ex. D. 238, 47 L. J. Exch. 704, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 929, 26 Wkly. Rep. 746.

39. Weir v. Bell, 3 Ex. D. 238, 47 L. J. Exch. 704, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 929, 26 Wkly. Rep. 746.

40. In re Hop, etc., Exch., etc., Co., L. R. 1 Eq. 483, 35 Beav. 273, 12 Jur. N. S. 322, 35 L. J. Ch. 320, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 39; In re National Patent Steam Fuel Co., 4 Drew. 529, 5 Jur. N. S. 504, 28 L. J. Ch. 589, 7 Wkly. Rep. 281.

41. In re Hop, etc., Exch., etc., Co., L. R. 1 Eq. 483, 35 Beav. 273, 12 Jur. N. S. 322, 35 L. J. Ch. 320, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 39; In re National Patent Steam Fuel Co., 4 Drew. 529, 5 Jur. N. S. 504, 28 L. J. Ch. 589, 7 Wkly. Rep. 281.

42. Dicta in Cross v. Sackett, 2 Bosw. (N. Y.) 617; Ayre's Case, 25 Beav. 513, 4 Jur. N. S. 596, 27 L. J. Ch. 579.

43. Wontner v. Shairp, 4 C. B. 404, 56 E. C. L. 404.

44. This was conceded in the great case of Peek v. Gurney, L. R. 6 H. L. 377, 43 L. J. Ch. 19, 22 Wkly. Rep. 29.

45. See infra, IX, G, 11 et seq.

46. Downes v. Ship, L. R. 3 H. L. 343, 37 L. J. Ch. 642, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 74, 17

(II) Cases Where Principle Does Not Apply. The variance must be substantially different. The obligations incurred in the memorandum or other instrument of association must substantially differ from those represented in the prospectus.[47] Moreover, the representation must not relate to his collateral or incidental advantage, such as the building of a railroad through the property of the subscriber.[48] Nor will such a contract be rescinded, when obtained in good faith, from the mere fact that it turns out to be less valuable for the reason that certain things, not conditions precedent, have not been done as represented.[49]

f. Puffing and Exaggeration. Mere puffing and exaggeration as to the value of the property possessed by the corporation, or as to its future prospects, do not afford any ground for the rescission of a share subscription, provided there was no misstatement of a material existing fact.[50]

g. Statements as to Matters of Opinion, Belief, Motive, Future Prospects, Etc. Upon the same ground rest parol statements of matters of opinion, intention, and belief,[51] such as the time within which the proposed railroad will be built;[52] the probable expense of the improvement undertaken by the corporation;[53] the prospective value of its stock;[54] the profits to be derived from it, and the amount which the subscribers will be required to pay in;[55] things to be done in the future by some other person or corporation, as that another corporation will aid the one which is being organized;[56] and parol representations that the person proposing to equip the railroad of the proposed company is able to do it without any advance from the company,[57] or that the company has stock enough to fit out the road in a given length of time,[58] and only desires defendant's subscription, and that of others along the line of the road, as an evidence of their friendly disposition toward the road.[59] So where a prospectus stated that a certain inven-

Wkly. Rep. 34; Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201; In re Russian Ironworks Co., L. R. 2 Eq. 741, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 728; Matter of Scottish, etc., Finance Bank, 2 De G. J. & S. 544, 11 Jur. N. S. 331, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 256, 13 Wkly. Rep. 599, 67 Eng. Ch. 426.

47. Downes v. Ship, L. R. 3 H. L. 343, 37 L. J. Ch. 642, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 74, 17 Wkly. Rep. 34; Kennedy v. Panama, etc., Boyd Mail Co., L. R. 2 Q. B. 580, 8 B. & S. 571, 36 L. J. Q. B. 260, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 62, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1039 (prospectus stated that the company had a contract with the government of New Zealand for carrying its mails — contract repudiated by a subsequent ministry — shareholder held bound).

48. Parker v. Thomas, 19 Ind. 213, 81 Am. Dec. 385; Brownlee v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 68; Bish v. Bradford, 17 Ind. 490.

49. Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654.

This does not apply where there has been fraud as well as a failure of consideration.— This principle does not it seems apply where there have been fraudulent representations as to any part of that which induced the subscriber to enter into the contract. Water Valley Mfg. Co. v. Seaman, 53 Miss. 655, opinion by Chalmers, J. Compare Cook v. Whitfield, 41 Miss. 541. And see Morrison v. Ives, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 652.

50. Union Nat. Bank v. Hunt, 76 Mo. 439 [affirming on this point 7 Mo. App. 42]; Denton v. Macneil, L. R. 2 Eq. 352; Kisch v. Venezuela Cent. R. Co., 34 L. J. Ch. 545 (per Turner, L. J.). See also Gordon v. Parmelee, 2 Allen (Mass.) 212; Brown v. Castles, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 348.

The folly of placing reliance on the statements of the agents sent out to procure subscriptions to shares of corporate stock is illustrated by the case of Thornburgh v. Newcastle, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 499, as well as by those cited in the next section.

51. New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. Fields, 10 Ind. 187; Clem v. Newcastle, etc., R. Co., 9 Ind. 488, 68 Am. Dec. 653; Yonkers Gazette Co. v. Jones, 30 N. Y. App. Div. 316, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 973; North Carolina R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340; Armstrong v. Karshner, 47 Ohio St. 276, 24 N. E. 897.

52. Parker v. Thomas, 19 Ind. 213, 81 Am. Dec. 385; Brownlee v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 68; Hardy v. Merriweather, 14 Ind. 203; Walker v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 34 Miss. 245.

This application of the rule is forcibly denied in Henderson v. San Antonio, etc., R. Co., 17 Tex. 560, 67 Am. Dec. 675.

53. Crossman v. Penrose Ferry Bridge Co., 26 Pa. St. 69.

54. Vawter v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 174.

55. Walker v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 34 Miss. 245.

56. Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280; Shattuck v. Robbins, 68 N. H. 565, 44 Atl. 694.

57. Andrews v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 169.

58. Dynes v. Shaffer, 19 Ind. 165; Bish v. Bradford, 17 Ind. 490; Hardy v. Merriweather, 14 Ind. 203.

59. Bish v. Bradford, 17 Ind. 490.

tion which it was the object of the company to work had been tested, and that according to the experiments the material could be produced at a certain specified cost, but that it was the intention to test the invention further, and after some further testing the invention turned out to be worthless, it was held that this was not such a misrepresentation as would avoid the contract.[60] The mere holding out by an agent of flattering prospects is no ground for avoidance.[61]

h. Fraudulent Promises of Something Unlawful — Ignorance of Law — (I) In General. The fraudulent promise of something unlawful, although assented to by the subscriber in ignorance of the law, will not relieve him, since every person — even a judge — is conclusively presumed to know the law,[62] and this principle applies in proceedings of equity as well as in proceedings at law.[63] On this ground a fraudulent representation that the shares were non-assessable was no defense against creditors of the corporation.[64] Nor were false representations by the commissioners, as to matters fixed by the charter, any ground for avoiding the subscription.[65] The same was held with regard to representations made by an agent sent out to solicit share subscriptions, that the proposed railroad would be aided by another railroad company; since the representation involved the question of the power of the other company to grant such aid.[66]

(II) Misrepresentations or Concealments Regarding Facts Disclosed by Charter. Misrepresentations or concealments regarding facts disclosed by the charter, such as the powers assumed by the corporation, will not have the effect of relieving the subscriber; and this for the further reason that they are in the nature of misrepresentations concerning matters of law.[67]

i. Parol Representations Varying Written Contract — (I) In General. On familiar grounds parol representations made for the purpose of inducing a person to take shares in the stock of a company cannot be urged in avoidance of the contract, where such representations varied or contradicted the terms of the contract itself.[68] Thus a representation that the proposed railroad would be built to a cer-

60. Denton v. Macneil, L. R. 2 Eq. 352. See further as to misrepresentation of matters of intention McAllister v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 15 Ind. 11.

61. Hughes v. Antietam Mfg. Co., 34 Md. 316.

Illustrative failure of title of prospective lands.— A good illustration of the above text is presented in a case where the prospectus mentioned several pieces of property which the company was to purchase for the prosecution of the enterprise, and the fact that the company failed to acquire one of these pieces (a very inconsiderable portion in proportion to the whole), through a defect in the title thereto, was not deemed a circumstance sufficient to invalidate a subscription made on the faith of such prospectus, in the absence of fraud or misrepresentation. Kelsey v. Northern Light Oil Co., 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 111.

62. Parker v. Thomas, 19 Ind. 213, 81 Am. Dec. 385; Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280; Oil City Land, etc., Co. v. Porter, 99 Ky. 254, 35 S. W. 643, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 151; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

63. Leavitt v. Palmer, 3 N. Y. 19, 51 Am. Dec. 333; Mellish v. Robertson, 25 Vt. 603; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203; U. S. Bank v. Daniel, 12 Pet. (U. S.) 32, 9 L. ed. 989; Hunt v. Rousmanier, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 1, 7 L. ed. 27.

64. Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

65. Wight v. Shelby R. Co., 16 B. Mon. (Ky.) 4, 63 Am. Dec. 522.

66. Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280.

There is technical propriety, but often gross injustice, in the rule which holds an ignorant man to a knowledge of the statute law, which even the lawyers and judges do not understand; and the sounder and juster conception is that if, in the absence of collusion, the corporation, in order to obtain the stock subscription, promises something which is unlawful, and which it hence cannot perform, there is no contract. Zelaya Min. Co. v. Meyer, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 487, 28 N. Y. St. 759.

67. Oil City Land, etc., Co. v. Porter, 99 Ky. 254, 35 S. W. 643, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 151. For example, a subscriber to the capital stock of a railway company, chartered under the general law of Georgia, cannot avoid payment on the ground of fraudulent representations regarding a construction company, its resources, and the value of its stock, which the railway company has agreed to deliver to its shareholders, since he is chargeable with notice that the railway company had no power to issue such stock. Russell v. Alabama Midland R. Co., 94 Ga. 510, 20 S. E. 350.

68. Alabama.— Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank Road Co., 30 Ala. 650.

tain point,[69] the agreement of subscription stating otherwise, or leaving it in the discretion of the directors whether it should be built to that point or not;[70] or that the subscriber might pay for his subscription in ties at a certain rate,[71] or in land and labor,[72] the contract itself calling for payment in cash, will not relieve the subscriber.

(II) Equity Will Not Reform Contract of Subscription on This Ground. Nor will equity reform a contract of subscription to the capital stock of a corporation by inserting therein a contemporaneous parol agreement making the subscription conditional upon the corporation doing a certain thing, such as locating its railroad on a particular route.[73]

(III) Contemporaneous Parol Agreements Cannot Be Set up to Prove Failure of Consideration. Nor can such an agreement be set up as a defense under a plea of failure of consideration; for while it is competent to show by extrinsic evidence the absence, failure, or illegality of a contract in writing, or that the consideration is greater or less than that specified, yet it is not competent to show a consideration adverse to the one expressed on the face of the instrument.[74]

(IV) Application of Principle Where Registered Corporation's Registered Certificate Shows Amount of Shares, Amount Paid, Etc. This principle is of particular application where, under the governing statute, the memorandum or articles of incorporation are registered, showing the amount of share capital and the amount which has been subscribed, the amount which has been paid in, etc. Here the public are entitled to look to and to confide in a registered document, and hence it will not be competent for subscribers to the shares, where the registered contract shows an absolute subscription, to avoid it on the ground that the subscription was made for some purpose shown by a con-

Arkansas.— Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Cross, 20 Ark. 443.

Florida.— Martin v. Pensacola, etc., R. Co., 8 Fla. 370, 73 Am. Dec. 713.

Illinois.— Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240.

Indiana.— McAllister v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 15 Ind. 11; Vawter v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 174; Andrews v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 169; Carlisle v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 477; Eakright v. Logansport, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 404; Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Posey, 12 Ind. 363.

Louisiana.— Vicksburg, etc., R. Co. v. McKean, 12 La. Ann. 638.

Massachusetts.— Salem Mill-Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 9 Pick. 187, 19 Am. Dec. 363.

New Hampshire.— Piscataqua Ferry Co. v. Jones, 39 N. H. 491.

North Carolina.— North Carolina R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340.

Tennessee.— East Tennessee, etc., R. Co. v. Gammon, 5 Sneed 567.

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

United States.— Ogilvie v. Knox Ins. Co., 22 How. 380, 16 L. ed. 349.

69. Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Posey, 12 Ind. 363.

70. Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280; Miller v. Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co., 87 Pa. St. 95, 30 Am. Rep. 349. Compare Hester v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 378.

71. Thornburgh v. Newcastle, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 499.

72. Walker v. Mobile, etc., R. Co., 34 Miss. 245.

This principle has been applied in cases of promises made in public speeches by the president of the company. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Cross, 20 Ark. 443. And it has been held that where A tells the agent sent out by the corporation to solicit subscriptions, that he will not subscribe unless B subscribes, whereupon the agent, without authority, enters B's name on the subscription book, this will not avoid the subscription of A, since it is no part of the written contract. Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head (Tenn.) 22, ignoring the consideration that it may be a fraud upon A. But see Centre, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. McConaby, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 140. That the subscriber cannot avoid his subscription on the ground of false representations made by the agent as to what the subscription paper contained see Thornburgh v. Newcastle, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 499. That fraudulent representations made in the most public manner and with the apparent sanction of a majority of the directors will not avoid the subscription, unless it be shown that authority to make them had been conferred by the directors, acting as a board, so that the company can keep the fruits of the fraud and repudiate the means by which those fruits were obtained see Buffalo, etc., R. Co., v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336.

73. Gelpcke v. Blake, 15 Iowa 387, 83 Am. Dec. 418. Compare Gelpcke v. Blake, 19 Iowa 263, same case on second appeal.

74. Gelpcke v. Blake, 19 Iowa 263.

temporaneous unrecorded agreement; as for example that the unpaid balance shown by the recorded document represented shares subscribed for by the shareholders as agents, to be sold by it when in need of funds.[75]

j. Ambiguous Statements. Ambiguous statements made in a prospectus, or by the agent soliciting the subscription, will not afford a ground for avoiding it, where the means of ascertaining the truth were open to the subscriber.[76]

k. Misstatements as to Names of Directors — Holding Out Prominent Names as Decoys. For the promoters of a corporation to induce men of character and financial standing to consent to lend the use of their names as directors of the company upon a promise of indemnity from responsibility is a gross fraud upon the public, and will avoid the subscription of one who has been thereafter induced to take the shares of the company;[77] but this will not be so in the case of a director who attends but one meeting of the board and then retires, in the absence of evidence that his name was used as a decoy.[78]

l. Fraud in Which Subscriber Seeking Relief Participated — (i) In General. If the shareholder who seeks relief from his contract on the ground of fraud himself knowingly participated in organizing the company and in putting forth the fraudulent representations he will of course be estopped by his own conduct from claiming a rescission.[79]

(ii) Charter Fraudulently Procured — Corporation Illegally Organized. On similar grounds it has been held that a shareholder who has accepted the charter of a corporation and assisted in putting it in operation cannot show, when proceeded against by one of its creditors, that its charter was obtained by fraud.[80] Neither can a person who assisted in the organization of the company escape liability as a subscriber for its stock, on the ground that the corporation was not organized according to law.[81]

(iii) Secret Agreements With Subscriber Prejudicial to Corporation. Hence it will be no defense to an action to enforce the subscription that the subscription was colorable merely, not intended to be paid, and that there was a secret agreement that it should not be paid, but that it was intended merely to enable the corporation to get sufficient stock subscribed to enable it to become incorporated under the law,[82] to induce others to subscribe for shares,[83] or to give credit to the concern.[84] The rule extends so far as to avoid all secret conditions[85] annexed to the contract of particular subscribers, by which their engagement is rendered more onerous to the corporation, more favorable to them, or in any respect different from that named in the written contract and in the governing statute; and to hold the subscriber liable to the obligations of a bona fide shareholder; and this is illustrated by a variety of decisions cited here and elsewhere.[86]

75. Allibone v. Hager, 46 Pa. St. 48.

76. Hallows v. Fernie, L. R. 3 Ch. 467, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 340, 16 Wkly. Rep. 873 [affirming L. R. 3 Eq. 520].

77. Re Life Assoc. of England, 34 Beav. 639, 643, 11 Jur. N. S. 359, 34 L. J. Ch. 278, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 43, 13 Wkly. Rep. 486, Sir John Romilly, M. R., saying: "It is obvious that a more gross misrepresentation can hardly be made, than holding out to the world that responsible persons, who have nothing at all to do with the company, are directors of it."

78. Hallows v. Fernie, L. R. 3 Ch. 467, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 340, 16 Wkly. Rep. 873 [affirming L. R. 3 Eq. 520].

79. Litchfield Bank v. Church, 29 Conn. 137; Southern Plank-Road Co. v. Hixon, 5 Ind. 165; Centre, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. McConaby, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 140.

80. Smith v. Heidecker, 39 Mo. 157.

81. Central Plankroad Co. v. Clemens, 16 Mo. 359; Occidental Ins. Co. v. Ganzhorn, 2 Mo. App. 205.

82. Litchfield Bank v. Church, 29 Conn. 137; Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489; Centre Turnpike Road Co. v. McConaby, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 140.

83. White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124; Custar v. Titusville, etc., Gas Co., 63 Pa. St. 381. See also Miller v. Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co., 87 Pa. St. 95, 30 Am. Rep. 349.

84. Litchfield Bank v. Church, 29 Conn. 137.

85. See supra, VI, J, 1, d, (iv).

86. Connecticut.—Litchfield Bank v. Church, 29 Conn. 137; Mann v. Cooke, 20 Conn. 178.

Indiana.— New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. Slaughter, 10 Ind. 218; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. Fields, 10 Ind. 187.

The reason is said to be that such contracts are contracts among the subscribers, as well as contracts between the subscriber and the corporation; so that, to allow them to operate to release the subscription of the particular subscriber, would operate as a fraud on the others.[87] It has, however, been held that a subscriber to the shares of a corporation cannot avoid liability on his subscription on the ground that subscriptions made by others, which induced him to subscribe, were simply colorable and decoys to induce other subscriptions, and made with the secret understanding that no liability should attach to them; since in such cases the law discharges the secret understanding and holds them liable to their subscription as written, for which reason it could not operate as a fraud upon other subscribers.[88]

m. Separate Agreements Among Shareholders as to Future Disposition of Shares Enforceable, Although Not as Against Corporation. Such an agreement is valid and enforceable as between the shareholders, although not as against the corporation or its creditors. Thus an agreement by one who subscribes to the stock of a corporation and other shareholders, who hold a majority of its stock and have consequently a controlling interest in it, that the latter will, after the lapse of a given time, if the subscriber shall desire to sell his shares, purchase them from him at the price at which he buys them from the corporation, with lawful interest, is a valid and enforceable contract.[89]

n. Right of Rescission For Fraud of Promoters, Members of Syndicates, Etc., Before Organization. When a corporation, with knowledge, adopts a contract procured in its behalf through fraud, it adopts the fraud, as much so as though the fraud had been committed by its authorized agent with the knowledge of its managing board of officers. For example one who is induced through fraud to subscribe to the capital stock of a proposed land company, by a promoter thereof Mississippi.— Saffold v. Barnes, 39 Miss. 399.

Missouri.— Chouteau Ins. Co. v. Floyd, 74 Mo. 286.

New York.— Yonkers Gazette Co. v. Jones, 30 N. Y. App. Div. 316, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 973.

Pennsylvania.— Custar v. Titusville Gas, etc., Co., 63 Pa. St. 381; Robinson v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 334, 72 Am. Dec. 792.

Vermont.— Blodgett v. Morrill, 20 Vt. 509.

Wisconsin.— Downie v. White, 12 Wis. 176, 78 Am. Dec. 731.

Agreement for part payment in work.— Of this nature is a private agreement with the directors that the subscribers are to be allowed to make part payment in work. Ridgefield, etc., R. Co. v. Brush, 43 Conn. 86.

87. La Grange, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Mays, 29 Mo. 64; Gordon, J., in Miller v. Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co., 87 Pa. St. 95, 30 Am. Rep. 349; Woodward, J., in Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489.

88. Bach v. Tuch, 126 N. Y. 53, 26 N. E. 1019, 36 N. Y. St. 663; Wilson v. Hundley, 96 Va. 96, 30 S. E. 492, 70 Am. St. Rep. 837; Campbell v. Fleming, 1 A. & E. 40, 3 L. J. K. B. 136, 3 N. & M. 834, 28 E. C. L. 44. See also Armstrong v. Danahy, 75 Hun (N. Y.) 405, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 60, 56 N. Y. St. 743; Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181. Compare Blodgett v. Morrill, 20 Vt. 509. See also Chouteau Ins. Co. v. Floyd, 74 Mo. 286. Especially is it no defense unless the subscriber make it appear that he was misled by the fraud. Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

For similar reasons it has been held that if one having possession of a paper containing an agreement to take shares in the capital stock of a corporation, after subscribing in good faith for shares of such stock, induces another to subscribe on the faith of his subscription, and then alters the paper by reducing the number of shares taken by himself, and delivers the instrument in this condition to the secretary, who is also a director of the company, this will not affect the liability of one thus induced to subscribe, although at the time of such delivery the person making the alteration explains the same to the secretary, who makes no objection thereto. The reason is that such an alteration, made without the consent of the other shareholders, is a mere nullity, does not release the subscriber who so attempts to secure his release, and therefore does not affect the corresponding obligations of other subscribers. Jewett v. Valley R. Co., 34 Ohio St. 601. Compare Bank of Commerce v. Hoeber, 11 Mo. App. 475 [affirmed in 88 Mo. 37, 57 Am. Rep. 359], where a multilateral contract of compromise between the debtor and his creditors, void as to some, was held void as to all.

89. Meyer v. Blair, 109 N. Y. 600, 17 N. E. 228, 16 N. Y. St. 380, 4 Am. St. Rep. 500. See also Winston v. Dorsett Pipe, etc., Co., 129 Ill. 64, 21 N. E. 514, 4 L. R. A. 507. Compare Re Canada Cent. Bank, 25 Can. L. J. N. S. 238.

who represents that it will be a first-class investment, and that he has no other interest in the lands proposed to be purchased than that of a mere shareholder, whereas he in fact holds an option for the purchase of such lands, may repudiate the contract of subscription at his option; and upon his doing so the land company cannot recover unpaid assessments on the stock subscribed for by him.[90] So if the promoters of a corporation attach to the prospectus issued before its formation a list of members of the council of administration, this is a representation that the persons named have authorized the publication of their names as members, and not of their mere willingness to join; and if untrue entitles one who has subscribed in reliance thereon to rescind the contract of subscription and recover back the money paid thereon.[91] Some courts have been unable to reach this salutary principle, holding, on a state of facts like those just referred to, that the remedy of the defrauded sharetaker is not against the corporation for a rescission of the contract of subscription, because it has been guilty of no fraud, although it has obtained the fruits of the fraud, but remanding the injured party to an action against the fraudulent promoters for an accounting.[92] Another court has gone so far in the opposite direction as to hold that the fact that the defrauded sharetaker settles with the promoters for their conversion to their own use of the money paid by him for the shares, knowing of the conversion, does not affect his right, as between himself and the corporation, to rescind the contract on the ground that he was induced to make it through false representations, he having no knowledge of the false representations at the time when he made the settlement.[93] But where the fraud is entirely disconnected from the corporation, and the corporation is entirely innocent of it, clearly it cannot be made responsible for it in any proceeding. For example where a corporation, being in difficulties, sold its property to an incorporated "syndicate" for a round sum, and a subscriber to the shares of the syndicate was induced by the frauds of other members of the syndicate, but not by any fraud of the corporation, to subscribe for shares — not of the vendor corporation, but of the syndicate — and to give his notes for the purchase-price of such shares, which notes went into the hands of the vendor corporation as a part of the purchase-price of its properties, the maker of the notes could not have them delivered up and canceled, on the ground that he had been induced to give them through the fraud of his coadventurers in the syndicate.[94]

o. What False Prospectuses, Representations, Concealments, Etc., Afford Ground For Rescission. The following false statements, concealments, etc., have been held sufficient ground to rescind a contract of share subscription induced thereby, provided the right of rescission has not been lost by laches, acquiescence, lapse of time, or other circumstances elsewhere stated: A statement by an agent, authorized to sell the shares of the corporation, to the effect that none of its shares had been sold for less than a stated sum per share, whereas some of them had in fact been sold for one fifth of that sum;[95] an erroneous representation made by the president of the corporation, through whom the shares were purchased, to the effect that all the shares had been purchased, but that he could purchase shares from original subscribers at a premium, where some of the stock transferred had been previously surrendered to the corporation, and it received 90. Virginia Land Co. v. Haupt, 90 Va. 533, 19 S. E. 168, 44 Am. St. Rep. 939.

91. In re Metropolitan Coal Consumers' Assoc., [1892] 3 Ch. 1, 61 L. J. Ch. 741, 66 L. T. Rep. N. S. 700 [citing In re Metropolitan Coal Consumers' Assoc., 59 L. J. Ch. 281, 62 L. T. Rep. N. S. 30, 1 Meg. 463 (affirmed in 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 429)].

92. Getty v. Devlin, 70 N. Y. 504, 54 N. Y. 403; U. S. Vinegar Co. v. Schlegel, 67 Hun (N. Y.) 356, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 407, 51 N. Y. St. 453 [affirmed in 143 N. Y. 537, 38 N. E. 731]; Franey v. Warner, 96 Wis. 222, 71 N. W. 81.

93. Hunter v. French League Safety Cure Co., 96 Iowa 573, 65 N. W. 828.

94. Tradesmen's Nat. Bank v. Looney, 99 Tenn. 278, 42 S. W. 149, 63 Am. St. Rep. 830, 38 L. R. A. 837.

95. Wenstrom Consol. Dynamo, etc., Co. v. Purnell, 75 Md. 113, 23 Atl. 134, per Alvey, C. J.

the premium allowed for such stock;[96] where a person applied for membership in a corporation under the belief that it was an old society of which he had taken steps to become a member, which belief was known to and fostered by the person obtaining his application, and where, in response to subsequent inquiries made of the new company, false statements were made to him which resulted in confirming his error. Here there was not merely a voidable contract, but no contract at all.[97]

p. What Misrepresentations, Etc., Not Sufficient Ground For Rescission. It is almost needless to repeat that false statements in a prospectus are not ground for rescission of a contract to take shares in a company, where the subscriber is not misled thereby,[98] as where the prospectus was issued after the subscription had been made.[99] It has been held that relief cannot be granted to one who has subscribed for stock in a corporation, upon a prayer for rescission on the ground of false representations in the prospectus, merely because some of the stock was issued to directors who did not pay therefor, to secure them against loss for indorsements of corporate paper, of which nothing was said in the prospectus.[1] In an action by a receiver to recover amounts subscribed to the capital stock of the corporation, it has been held that defendant cannot prove false representations made to him by the person who solicited his subscription, where the subscription papers signed showed such representations to be untrue, and when they neither affect the value of the stock, nor is it shown that the other snbscribers were privy to or had notice of them.[2] Another court has gone further, and in its official syllabus has stated a proposition which would prevent every written contract from being assailed on the ground that it was imposed upon the party seeking relief from it by fraudulent representations, unless the misrepresentations were embodied in the contract itself, by holding that where a contract by which a person becomes a member of a corporation is unambiguous, and contains no reference to circulars containing false statements, which such person claims induced him to become a member, such statements are no defense to an action on such contract with the corporation.[3] A subscriber to shares in a corporation cannot be relieved from his subscription on the ground of fraud, because, after he made his subscription, it was falsely announced that the stock was all subscribed for, and a meeting held at which all the stock was voted, since acts occurring after his subscription cannot be said to have induced him to subscribe.[4]

q. Effect of Forfeiture of Shares of One Induced to Subscribe Through Fraud. One induced by a fraudulent prospectus to apply for an allotment of shares in a corporation, which are afterward forfeited by his failure to pay calls, ceases to be a shareholder and becomes a mere debtor to the company, and if he 96. McDoel v. Ohio Valley Imp., etc., Co., 36 S. W. 175, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 294.

97. In re International Auctioneers, etc., Soc., [1898] 1 Ch. 110, 67 L. J. Ch. 81, 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 523, 4 Manson 393, 46 Wkly. Rep. 187. As to the right of rescission of share subscriptions for fraud see Fear v. Bartlett, 81 Md. 435, 32 Atl. 322, 33 L. R. A. 721, and the learned note appended thereto.

That fraud may be a good defense to an action for the subscription price of shares see French v. Ryan, 104 Mich. 625, 62 N. W. 1016; Provincial Ins. Co. v. Brown, 9 U. C. C. P. 286. Where the evidence tended to show that one soliciting subscriptions for stock in a publishing company falsely represented that a certain newspaper had been purchased for the company and press reports secured, in an action on the subscription it was error to direct a verdict for plaintiffs, since the jury might have found that the statements were fraudulent, as material statements of past occurrences, known to be false, or not known to be true, by the maker, and not within defendant's knowledge. Anderson v. Scott, 70 N. H. 350, 47 Atl. 607, 49 Atl. 568.

98. McKeown v. Boudard-Peveril Gear Co., 65 L. J. Ch. 735, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 712, 45 Wkly. Rep. 152 [affirming 65 L. J. Ch. N. S. 446, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 310].

99. Negley v. Hagerstown Mfg., etc., Co., 86 Md. 692, 39 Atl. 506.

1. Bartol v. Walton, etc., Co., 92 Fed. 13.

2. Wood Harvester Co. v. Jefferson, 71 Minn. 367, 74 N. W. 149.

3. Smith v. Southern Bldg., etc., Assoc., 111 Ga. 811, 35 S. E. 707. This cannot possibly be the law.

4. Bartol v. Walton, etc., Co., 92 Fed. 13.

has done nothing to affirm the contract he may in an action for calls repudiate the obligation on the ground of the fraud.[5]

3. Remedies of Defrauded Shareholder Against Company — a. In General. It may be stated generally that any misrepresentations or concealments of facts which materially affect the success of the undertaking will, as between the company and the person who, on the faith of such misrepresentations or concealments, has been induced to take shares, entitle him to a rescission of the contract;[6] will be a defense to suits for calls,[7] or to a suit for specific performance of the contract of subscription;[8] and will entitle him to an injunction against suits for calls.[9]

5. Aaron's Reefs v. Twiss, [1896] A. C. 273, 65 L. J. P. C. 54, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 794 [affirming [1895] 2 Ir. 207].

Instances under the foregoing rules — Shareholder released on ground of fraud. — See 2 Thompson Corp. §§ 1408–1413, setting forth the facts of the following cases which were held not sufficient to afford ground for relieving subscribers to the shares of corporations from the obligations of their subscriptions.

Indiana. — Wert v. Crawfordsville, etc., Turnpike Co., 19 Ind. 242.

Missouri. — Occidental Ins. Co. v. Ganzhorn, 2 Mo. App. 205.

New York. — Kelsey v. Northern Light Oil Co., 54 Barb. 111.

Tennessee. — State v. Jefferson Turnpike Co., 3 Humphr. 304.

Wisconsin. — Waldo v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 14 Wis. 575.

England. — Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821; In re Warren's Blacking Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 178, 39 L. J. Ch. 8, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 50, 17 Wkly. Rep. 267; Ross v. Estates Invest. Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 682, 37 L. J. Ch. 873, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 61, 16 Wkly. Rep. 1151; Henderson v. Lacon, L. R. 5 Eq. 249, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 527, 16 Wkly. Rep. 328; In re Canadian Native Oil Co., L. R. 5 Eq. 118, 37 L. J. Ch. 257; Smith v. Reese River Co., L. R. 2 Eq. 264, 12 Jur. N. S. 616, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 14 Wkly. Rep. 606; Bell's Case, 22 Beav. 35, 2 Jur. N. S. 844, 26 L. J. Ch. 137; Ex p. Ginger, 5 Ir. Ch. N. S. 174.

Other instances under foregoing rules — Shareholder not released. — See 2 Thompson Corp. §§ 1414–1418, setting forth the facts of the following cases: Bates v. Great Western Tel. Co., 134 Ill. 536, 25 N. E. 521; Lohman v. New York, etc., R. Co., 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 39; Jackson v. Turquand, L. R. 4 H. L. 305, 39 L. J. Ch. 11; Matter of Royal British Bank, 3 De G. & J. 387, 5 Jur. N. S. 205, 28 L. J. Ch. 257, 7 Wkly. Rep. 217, 60 Eng. Ch. 301; Matter of Hull, etc., L. Assur. Co., 2 De G. & J. 275, 4 Jur. N. S. 1005, 6 Wkly. Rep. 384, 59 Eng. Ch. 219; Matter of North of England Joint Stock Banking Co., 5 De G. & Sm. 283, 16 Jur. 810, 21 L. J. Ch. 468; Dodgson's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 85, 14 Jur. 386; Matter of Direct London, etc., R. Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 43, 13 Jur. 725; In re Athenæum L. Assur. Soc., Johns. 451, 5 Jur. N. S. 216.

6. Grangers' Ins. Co. v. Turner, 61 Ga. 561; Henderson v. San Antonio, etc., R. Co., 17 Tex. 560, 67 Am. Dec. 675; Waldo v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 14 Wis. 575; Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821. See also Ashmead v. Colby, 26 Conn. 287; State v. Jefferson Turnpike Co., 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 304; Ross v. Estates Invest. Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 682, 37 L. J. Ch. 873, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 61, 16 Wkly. Rep. 1151 [affirming L. R. 3 Eq. 122]; Henderson v. Lacon, L. R. 5 Eq. 249, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 527, 16 Wkly. Rep. 328; Rawlins v. Wickham, 3 De G. & J. 304, 5 Jur. N. S. 278, 28 L. J. Ch. 188, 7 Wkly. Rep. 145, 60 Eng. Ch. 237.

7. Alabama. — Rives v. Montgomery South Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 92.

Iowa. — Davis v. Dumont, 37 Iowa 47.

Mississippi. — Water Valley Mfg. Co. v. Seaman, 53 Miss. 655.

Missouri. — Occidental Ins. Co. v. Ganzhorn, 2 Mo. App. 205.

Virginia. — Crump v. U. S. Mining Co., 7 Gratt. (Va.) 352, 56 Am. Dec. 116.

England. — Bwlch-Y-Plwm Lead Min. Co. v. Baynes, L. R. 2 Exch. 324, 36 L. J. Exch. 183, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 597, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1108; Glamorganshire Iron, etc., Co. v. Irvine, 4 F. & F. 947.

8. New Brunswick, etc., R., etc., Co. v. Muggeridge, 1 Dr. & Sm. 363.

9. Henderson v. Lacon, L. R. 5 Eq. 249, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 527, 16 Wkly. Rep. 328; Smith v. Reese River Co., L. R. 4 H. L. 64, 39 L. J. Ch. 849, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1024 [affirmed in L. R. 2 Eq. 264, 12 Jur. N. S. 616, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 14 Wkly. Rep. 606]; Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821.

Practice in such cases. — Thorpe v. Hughes, 3 Myl. & C. 742, 14 Eng. Ch. 742 (where an injunction was denied); In re Ruby Consol. Min. Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 664, 43 L. J. Ch. 633, 31 L. T. Rep. N. S. 55, 22 Wkly. Rep. 833 (where the shares having been fully paid up, it was ruled that the merits ought to be tried at law, in an action to recover back the purchase-money, and not by a motion in chancery, under Companies Act (1862), § 35, to have plaintiff's name excluded from the list of shareholders).

A court of equity has power to change or to set aside the stock in a corporation, in case of fraud as well as mistake. Bailey v.

b. Scope of Remedy in Equity — (I) In General. It is well settled that these courts will entertain jurisdiction in such cases of a bill which seeks a repayment of the moneys received from the complainant under such a fraudulent contract, for the reimbursement of his costs and charges, and for an account of the same.[10]

(II) No Relief in Equity to One Who Was Party to Fraud. A discharge from a subscription on the ground of fraud cannot be obtained by one who was himself a party to the fraud.[11] But a shareholder who has purchased the shares in good faith is not estopped from maintaining a suit to annul stock fraudulently issued before his purchase, because the prior holder of his shares has barred his right to relief by participation in the fraudulent transaction.[12]

c. Necessary Elements of Plea of Fraud to Action For Calls. To an action by a company against a shareholder, to recover the amount of a call made by the directors on his shares of stock, the following may be stated as the necessary elements of a plea of fraud: (1) A distinct allegation of the matter in which the fraudulent representation or concealment consisted.[13] A general charge that the subscription was procured through fraud, it is supposed, would be bad for want of sufficient particularity of statement; it would not apprise the opposite party of the nature of the defense. (2) That he used reasonable diligence to make himself acquainted with the matters of fact in respect of which the fraud is charged, and that, within a reasonable time after discovering the facts, he repudiated his contract and offered to surrender his certificate.[14] In other words he must show that he did all that could have been done under the circumstances to free himself from liability.[15]

Champlain Min., etc., Co., 77 Wis. 453, 46 N. W. 539.

10. Hill v. Lane, L. R. 11 Eq. 215, 40 L. J. Ch. 41, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 547, 19 Wkly. Rep. 194; Ramshire v. Bolton, L. R. 8 Eq. 294, 38 L. J. Ch. 594, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 51, 17 Wkly. Rep. 986; Slim v. Croucher, 1 De G. F. & J. 518, 6 Jur. N. S. 437, 29 L. J. Ch. 273, 8 Wkly. Rep. 347, 62 Eng. Ch. 401; Green v. Barrett, 5 L. J. Ch. O. S. 6, 1 Sim. 45, 2 Eng. Ch. 45; Colt v. Woollaston, 2 P. Wms. 154, 24 Eng. Reprint 679; Burrowes v. Lock, 10 Ves. Jr. 470, 8 Rev. Rep. 33, 856; Evans v. Bicknell, 6 Ves. Jr. 174, 5 Rev. Rep. 245. A decision of Lord Chancellor Cairns, in Ogilvie v. Currie, 37 L. J. Ch. 541, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 593, 16 Wkly. Rep. 769, gives countenance to a contrary doctrine; but in Hill v. Lane, L. R. 11 Eq. 215, 40 L. J. Ch. 41, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 547, 19 Wkly. Rep. 194, Vice-Chancellor Stuart said that the doctrine was so well settled that it would be a misfortune to the public if there were any sufficient grounds for considering the jurisdiction doubtful.

Necessary to allege and prove that the particular representations were a material inducement to the purchase of the shares. Hallows v. Fernie, L. R. 3 Ch. 467, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 340, 16 Wkly. Rep. 873, per Lord Chelmsford, L. C. [affirming L. R. 3 Eq. 520].

When prayers for different kinds of relief in such a bill do not render it multifarious. Ashmead v. Colby, 26 Conn. 287.

Cancellation of the subscription where the misrepresentation was unknown to the subscriber at the time when the cancellation was ordered — subscriber not restored to list of contributories. In re London, etc., Bank, L. R. 7 Ch. 55, 41 L. J. Ch. 1, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 471, 20 Wkly. Rep. 45 [reversing L. R. 12 Eq. 331].

11. Litchfield Bank v. Church, 29 Conn. 137; Southern Plank Road Co. v. Hixon, 5 Ind. 165; Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489. And see Smith v. Heidecker, 39 Mo. 157; and supra, VI, J, 1, d, (III).

12. Parsons v. Joseph, 92 Ala. 403, 8 So. 788.

Applying this principle it has been held that persons who agree with the promoter of a company, in consideration of an allotment of fully paid shares, to circulate among their clients the prospectus of the company, accompanied by a letter recommending subscription for shares, but who fail to make any inquiry except from the promoter as to the truth of the statements contained in the prospectus, will not be granted relief under the English Companies Act of 1898, for liability on their shares, where they prove to be not fully paid. In re Roxburghe Press, [1899] 1 Ch. 210, 68 L. J. Ch. 111, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 280, 6 Manson 57, 47 Wkly. Rep. 281.

13. Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240.

14. Upton v. Englehart, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,800, 3 Dill. 496; Bwlch-Y-Plwm Lead Min. Co. v. Baynes, L. R. 2 Exch. 324, 36 L. J. Exch. 183, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 597, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1108.

15. Deposit, etc., Assur. Co. v. Ayscough, 6 E. & B. 761, 2 Jur. N. S. 812, 4 Wkly. Rep. 611, 88 E. C. L. 761. To an action by the

4. Within What Time Rescission Must Be Claimed — a. Within Shortest Possible Time After Discovering Fraud or After It Might Have Been Discovered by Reasonable Diligence. A subscription to shares in a corporation which has been obtained by fraudulent representations may be annulled by the subscriber, if he rescinds promptly, and before the rights of creditors or shareholders subsequently joining have accrued.[16] He owes to innocent third persons, creditors, and other shareholders, the duty of inquiring whether there were any misrepresentations or not, inducing him to subscribe and entitling him to a rescission;[17] and he must claim a rescission within the shortest limit of time which is fairly possible in the particular case.[18] He will not be permitted to play fast and loose and to remain with the company if it is successful and leave it if it fails.[19]

b. General Doctrine in England and in Canada — (i) Statement of Doctrine. With respect to the time within which a person who has been induced by fraud to take shares in a corporation must claim a rescission of his contract in order to be entitled to it, the question is to be considered in two aspects:

company against a shareholder for calls, defendant pleaded that he was induced to become a shareholder by the fraud of plaintiffs; that he had never recognized, since notice of the fraud, any rights or liabilities in himself as such shareholder, or received any benefit from his shares; and that within a reasonable time after notice of the fraud he had repudiated the shares and given notice to plaintiffs of his repudiation. This was held a good plea to such an action at common law. Bwlch-Y-Plwm Lead Min. Co. v. Baynes, L. R. 2 Exch. 324, 36 L. J. Exch. 183, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 597, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1108.

Manner of pleading fraud as a defense to actions for assessments in particular jurisdictions.

Illinois.— Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240; White v. Watkins, 23 Ill. 426.

Indiana.— Reeder v. Maranda, 66 Ind. 485; Thornburgh v. Newcastle, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 499.

Missouri.— Occidental Ins. Co. v. Ganzhorn, 2 Mo. App. 205, defendant may set up that he was induced by false and fraudulent representations to subscribe for shares in an illegal and pretended corporation.

Ohio.— Wheeler v. Faurot, 37 Ohio St. 26.

England.— Waterford, etc., R. Co. v. Logan, 14 Jur. 346.

Evidence in support of defense of fraud in actions for assessments.— Representations made by an agent of the corporation are admissible. Custar v. Titusville Gas Co., etc., 33 Pa. St. 381. Declarations of the shareholders made long after the organization of the corporation are not admissible to show that the corporation acted in bad faith in filling up the quota of its shares with fictitious subscriptions. Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257.

Instructing the jury in such actions.— For a good precedent of an instruction to a jury in an action for calls where the defense is fraud see Glamorganshire Iron, etc., Co. v. Irvine, 4 F. & F. 947.

16. McDermott v. Harrison, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 184, 30 N. Y. St. 324; In re Estates Invest. Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 497, 38 L. J. Ch. 412, 17 Wkly. Rep. 599 (where one proceeded, and ten by agreement abided the result, and were not cut off by a winding-up decree); Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201.

17. Lord Romilly, M. R., in In re Estates Invest Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 263, 39 L. J. Ch. 354, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 83, 18 Wkly. Rep. 395. In another case the same learned judge expressed the opinion that a delay of four months after becoming acquainted with all the facts before filing a bill for a rescission would interpose a serious difficulty; but the cass went off on its merits. Heymann v. European Cent. R. Co., L. R. 7 Eq. 154. See also In re Barned's Banking Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 674, 36 L. J. Ch. 757, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 780, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1100; Downes v. Ship, L. R. 3 H. L. 343, 37 L. J. Ch. 642, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 74, 17 Wkly. Rep. 34; Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201.

18. Lord Cairns' judgment in Scholey v. Venezuela Cent. R. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 266 note.

19. Lord Romilly, M. R., in In re Estates Invest. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 263, 39 L. J. Ch. 354, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 83, 18 Wkly. Rep. 395.

Illustrations of the doctrine that a shareholder must use diligence in discovering the fraud and in proceeding to rescind may be drawn from the following among many other cases: In re Estates Invest. Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 497, 38 L. J. Ch. 412, 17 Wkly. Rep. 599; In re Estates Invest. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 263, 39 L. J. Ch. 354, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 83, 18 Wkly. Rep. 395. Cases where the proceeding to rescind was commenced in time. In re Estates Invest. Co., L. R. 10 Eq. 503, 39 L. J. Ch. 822, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 297, 18 Wkly. Rep. 1102, 1126; Venezuela Cent. R. Co. v. Kisch, L. R. 2 H. L. 99, 36 L. J. Ch. 849, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 500, 15 Wkly. Rep. 821.

Rescission for variance between prospectus and memorandum.— The doctrine that the shareholder must proceed with diligence, and before the commencement of winding-up proceedings, to claim a rescission because of a variance between the prospectus and memorandum may be gathered from the following

(1) Where it affects the rights of other shareholders merely, the company being solvent or a "going concern," and (2) where it affects the rights of creditors, the company having stopped payment, or winding-up proceedings having commenced. The authorities appear to justify the following statements: (1) The claim for rescission, in order to have any standing in court, must be made in the shortest possible time after discovery of the fraud, or after the person seeking the rescission might, by a fair exercise of his opportunities of knowledge, have discovered it.[20] (2) It will not be entertained in any event in the English and Canadian courts of equity, after winding-up proceedings have been commenced.[21] (3) Neither will it be entertained after the company has stopped payment and the directors have called an extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders for the purpose of passing a resolution to wind up the company.[22] (4) It seems also clear, upon principle, that it will not be entertained after the company has stopped payment by reason of insolvency;[23] but a recent holding in England is to the effect that the mere circumstance that the company is insolvent at the time when he takes proceedings to rescind does not, in the absence of countervailing equities, deprive him of his right of rescission.[24]

(II) No Rescission After Company Ceases to Be Going Concern and After Rights of Creditors Have Attached—(A) Statement of Rule. After the corporation has ceased to be a going concern, so that the rights of creditors supervene, the shareholder will not be permitted to rescind his contract of subscription and to escape from his liability to creditors of the corporation, any more than a member of a simple partnership would be permitted to do so under like circumstances and for like reasons.[25]

among other cases: In re Barned's Banking Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 674, 36 L. J. Ch. 757, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 780, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1100; In re Madrid Bank, L. R. 2 Ch. 536, 36 L. J. Ch. 489, 15 Wkly. Rep. 499; Kincaid's Case, L. R. 2 Ch. 426; In re Cachar Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 412, 36 L. J. Ch. 499, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 222, 15 Wkly. Rep. 571; In re Russian Iron-works Co., L. R. 3 Eq. 795, 36 L. J. Ch. 475, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 343, 15 Wkly. Rep. 891; In re Russian Ironworks Co., L. R. 3 Eq. 790, 15 Wkly. Rep. 891; Downes v. Ship, L. R. 3 H. L. 343, 37 L. J. Ch. 642, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 74, 17 Wkly. Rep. 34; Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201. Notice to a shareholder of such variance: In re Barned's Banking Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 674, 36 L. J. Ch. 757, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 780, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1100; In re Russian Iron Works Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 574, 12 Jur. N. S. 755, 35 L. J. Ch. 738, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 817, 659, 14 Wkly. Rep. 943; Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201; Matter of Scottish, etc., Finance Bank, 2 De G. J. & S. 544, 11 Jur. N. S. 331, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 256, 13 Wkly. Rep. 599, 67 Eng. Ch. 426.

20. As to the time within which a suit in equity must be brought to restrain an action for calls and the diligence with which such a suit must be prosecuted see the remarks of Lord Cottenham in Thorpe v. Hughes, 3 Myl. & C. 742, 14 Eng. Ch. 742.

21. Kent v. Freehold Land, etc., Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 493, 37 L. J. Ch. 653, 16 Wkly. Rep. 990 [reversing L. R. 4 Eq. 588]; Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201; In re Hull, etc., Bank, 15 Ch. D. 507, 49 L. J. Ch. 541, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 45, 28 Wkly. Rep. 792; Stone v. City, etc., Bank, 3 C. P. D. 282, 47 L. J. C. P. 681, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 9; Re Canada Cent. Bank, 25 Can. L. J. N. S. 238. It has been quaintly observed that the question then to be considered is, not who is the person who is the owner of the shares, but who is liable in respect of the legal tenancy at the time the tree was cut down. Lord Westbury, in Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Act, 4 De G. J. & S. 416, 10 Jur. N. S. 711, 10 L. T. Rep. N. S. 594, 12 Wkly. Rep. 925, 69 Eng. Ch. 320.

22. Tennent v. Glasgow Bank, 4 App. Cas. 615.

23. See the reasoning of Earl Cairns, L. C., in Tennent v. Glasgow Bank, 4 App. Cas. 615.

24. In re London, etc., Bank, 56 L. J. Ch. 321, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 115, 35 Wkly. Rep. 344. See also Re London, etc., Electric Lighting, etc., Co., 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 670.

25. Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, 36 L. J. Ch. 949, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 808, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1201; Powis v. Harding, 1 C. B. N. S. 533, 3 Jur. N. S. 139, 26 L. J. C. P. 107, 87 E. C. L. 533; Dossett v. Harding, 1 C. B. N. S. 524, 87 E. C. L. 524; Henderson v. Royal British Bank, 7 E. & B. 356, 1 H. & N. 685 note, 3 Jur. N. S. 111, 26 L. J. Q. B. 112, 5 Wkly. Rep. 286, 90 E. C. L. 356 (statutory proceeding against a particular shareholder); Daniell v. Royal British Bank, 1 H. & N. 681, 3 Jur. N. S. 119. In Deposit, etc., Assur. Co. v. Ayscough, 6 E. & B. 761, 2 Jur. N. S. 812, 4 Wkly. Rep. 611, 88 E. C. L. 761, determined in the queen's bench in 1856, before Lord Campbell, C. J., a plea to an action for calls, that the subscription was in-

(B) Applications of Rule. If the shareholder has repudiated the contract within a reasonable time, and has commenced proceedings to obtain a rescission before the commencement of the winding-up proceedings, his right to a rescission will not be cut off by the fact that winding-up proceedings intervene before his suit for a rescission comes to a hearing.[26] Neither can a shareholder sustain an action at law on this ground against the company, to recover back the amount which he has paid on account of his subscription, after winding-up proceedings have commenced, although he has repudiated his contract within a reasonable time after he has discovered the fraud, so that his action, but for the intervention of the winding-up proceedings, would have been in time.[27] The rule is applicable to a voluntary winding-up, as well as to a compulsory winding-up, the object of both proceedings being the same, namely, to realize the assets of the company for distribution among its creditors, which assets include uncalled capital.[28]

c. American Rule That There Can Be No Rescission For Fraud After Bankruptcy or Insolvency. The American rule is the same in principle as the English rule already explained, although the application of it is different in particular cases, growing out of the fact that there is in this country in general no public registration of shareholders in corporations, such as corresponds to what is called in England "Register." With this difference in application, the rule in America, shown by numerous cases, many of which include various elements of estoppel, is that after the insolvency of a corporation, or after proceedings in bankruptcy with respect to it have supervened, no shareholder can withdraw from that relation and escape liability to creditors on the ground that his share subscription was the result of a fraud practised upon him.[29] As in England,[30] so in America, the fact that a shareholder was induced to take the shares by false representations will afford no defense to an action by creditors of the corporation to enforce his statutory liability.[31] Nor can a person who has been induced to become a share-duced by the fraud of plaintiff, was held bad for not averring that defendant had repudiated the contract, and had done nothing under it to make him liable as a shareholder. See also In re London, etc., Bank, L. R. 7 Ch. 55, 41 L. J. Ch. 1, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 471, 20 Wkly. Rep. 45; In re Hercules Ins. Co., L. R. 13 Eq. 566, 41 L. J. Ch. 580, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 274; Stone v. City, etc., Bank, 3 C. P. D. 307, 47 L. J. C. P. 681, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 9.

26. Reese River Silver Min. Co. v. Smith, L. R. 4 H. L. 64, 39 L. J. Ch. 849, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1024 [affirming L. R. 2 Ch. 604, L. R. 2 Eq. 264, 12 Jur. N. S. 616, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 14 Wkly. Rep. 606 (reversing 36 L. J. Ch. 385), and reaffirmed by Lord Cairns, L. C., in Kent v. Freehold Land, etc., Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 493, 37 L. J. Ch. 653, 16 Wkly. Rep. 990].

27. Stone v. City, etc., Bank, 3 C. P. D. 282, 47 L. J. C. P. 681, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 9.

28. Stone v. City, etc., Bank, 3 C. P. D. 282, 47 L. J. C. P. 681, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 9 [overruling Hall v. Old Talargoch Lead Min. Co., 3 Ch. D. 749, 45 L. J. Ch. 775, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 901].

29. Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203, where Miller, J., with whom concurred Waite, C. J., and Bradley, J., dissented from the result, but not from the doctrine before stated, and Hunt, J., who delivered the opinion of the court, cited Buford v. Brown, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 553; In re Barned's Banking Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 674, 36 L. J. Ch. 757, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 780, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1100; In re Reese Silver Min. Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 604; Denton v. Macneil, L. R. 2 Eq. 352; Jones v. Turberville, 4 Bro. Ch. 115, 2 Ves. Jr. 11, 29 Eng. Reprint 806; Beaufort v. Neeld, 12 Cl. & F. 248, 9 Jur. 813, 8 Eng. Reprint 1399; Beckford v. Wade, 17 Ves. Jr. 87, 11 Rev. Rep. 20. See also as supporting the doctrine of the above text Ruggles v. Brock, 6 Hun (N. Y.) 164 (no defense on the ground of fraud when sued by the receiver for an unpaid balance on subscription); Clarke v. Thomas, 34 Ohio St. 46 (no rescission after insolvency); Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523; Webster v. Upton, 91 U. S. 65, 23 L. ed. 384; Sanger v. Upton, 91 U. S. 56, 23 L. ed. 220; Ogilvie v. Knox Ins. Co., 22 How. (U. S.) 380, 16 L. ed. 349; Farrar v. Walker, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,679, 3 Dill. 506 note (before Miller, J., at circuit); Michener v. Payson, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,524; Upton v. Englehart, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,800, 3 Dill. 496.

Doctrine that a rescission must be claimed before liabilities have been incurred by the corporation on the faith of the contract of subscription. Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head (Tenn.) 22.

Where the corporation has no creditors defrauded shareholder may have relief in equity. Ashmead v. Colby, 26 Conn. 287.

30. Henderson v. Royal British Bank, 7 E. & B. 356, 1 H. & N. 685 note, 3 Jur. N. S. 111, 26 L. J. Q. B. 112, 5 Wkly. Rep. 286, 90 E. C. L. 356.

31. Briggs v. Cornwell, 9 Daly (N. Y.) 436.

holder in a corporation by fraudulent representations recover the amount paid by him on his subscription, after the corporation has become insolvent, until the claims of its creditors are satisfied.[32]

d. Laches Complicated With Circumstances of Estoppel. Outside of this doctrine, a shareholder who has been induced to become such by fraudulent representations will be estopped, both at law and in equity, by consenting to remain a shareholder after acquiring knowledge of the fraud practised upon him, for such a lapse of time as may be presumed sufficient for the rights of innocent third parties to supervene. Under such circumstances he cannot come into a court of law and recover back his deposit or the calls which he may have paid, on the ground of his not really being a member by reason of the fraud practised upon him.[33] Nor could a subscriber maintain a suit in equity against a receiver, after the insolvency of the corporation, to rescind his contract of subscription and to establish a claim against the assets of the corporation for the amount paid by him thereunder, on the ground of false and fraudulent representations made by the president of the company as to its financial condition and the issue of its shares, when, after acquiring the shares plaintiff had acquired information as to the financial condition of the company and the issue of its shares sufficient to disclose the falsity of the representations or to put him on inquiry, but took no steps to repudiate the purchase until nearly three years later.[34] It should be stated in this connection that mere lapse of time may be sufficient to afford the defense of acquiescence on the part of the subscriber without reference to the attending circumstances. Thus where, after seven years, a subscriber sought to avoid his subscription on the ground of fraud of the company's soliciting agent, and no excuse was shown for the delay, it was held that the presumption was against the subscriber's right to avail himself of these facts till he had accounted for his delay.[35] On the other hand where the directors and other agents of a corporation have for many years acquiesced in a subscription of stock, made by a person in the names of his children or others, who have exercised acts of ownership over it, and voted on it without objection as their own, the corporation will not afterward be allowed to treat the subscription as if it were a fraudulent use, by the original subscriber, of mere names, to secure a greater number of votes than he would be entitled to if the stock stood in his own name.[36]

e. Recent Expressions of Doctrine as to Effect of Delay in Claiming Rescission. A shareholder cannot rescind his subscription on the ground of fraud of the corporation in procuring it, after the rights of bona fide creditors have intervened and the corporation has stopped payment and become actually insolvent, unless he has been diligent in discovering the fraud and repudiating his subscription after such discovery.[37] But if he has been diligent in discovering the fraud

32. Turner v. Grangers' L., etc., Ins. Co., 65 Ga. 649, 38 Am. Rep. 801. See also Howard v. Glenn, 85 Ga. 238, 11 S. E. 610, 21 Am. St. Rep. 156.

33. So stated by the Lord Chancellor, in Matter of Hull, etc., L. Assur. Co., 2 De G. & J. 275, 4 Jur. N. S. 1005, 6 Wkly. Rep. 384, 59 Eng. Ch. 219.

34. Tierney v. Parker, 58 N. J. Eq. 117, 44 Atl. 151.

35. Dynes v. Shaffer, 19 Ind. 165. Compare Deposit, etc., Assur. Co. v. Ayscough, 6 E. & B. 761, 2 Jur. N. S. 812, 4 Wkly. Rep. 611, 88 E. C. L. 761.

36. Creed v. Lancaster Bank, 1 Ohio St. 1.

Shareholder not estopped.— Where, in an action for calls, it appeared that defendant subscribed for corporate stock on a promoter's false representation that there was no promoters' fund, and that the entire capital was to be used for the business of the company, and in an action for his subscription defendant denied liability because of such false representations, and it appeared that after their falsity was known to him the corporation arranged to eliminate such promoter's interest, defendant was not precluded from such defense by his failure promptly to repudiate his contract on learning of the falsity of such representations. West-End Real Estate Co. v. Claiborne, 97 Va. 734, 34 S. E. 900.

Corporation estopped by acquiescence in ultra vires rescission. McDermott v. Harrison, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 184, 30 N. Y. St. 324.

37. Martin v. South Salem Land Co., 94 Va. 28, 26 S. E. 591.

and prompt to repudiate his subscription by reason of it, the mere insolvency of the corporation will not cut off his right of rescission.[38] Other American courts still adhere to the English rule that there can be no disaffirmance after the rights of creditors have supervened through the insolvency of the corporation.[39] The doctrine may be comprehensively stated, without much fear of inaccuracy, thus: One induced to become a subscriber to the capital stock of a corporation by the fraud of the corporation, who, within a reasonable time after discovering the same, repudiates his subscription before proceedings of insolvency, voluntary or involuntary, have been instituted against the corporation, or some act done that in law is regarded as an act of insolvency, is relieved of all liability on account of his subscription.[40] That he must act with promptness after discovering the fraud has always been the doctrine on this subject.[41] Accordingly a right of rescission was denied where the defrauded sharetaker acted three years as a director, and took an active part in the management of the corporation with knowledge of its business methods and financial condition;[42] and also where the sharetaker, after repudiating his subscription on the ground of having been misled by the prospectus, subsequently paid further sums on account of his shares with the idea of getting back the money originally paid, as his want of promptness may have affected the rights of others.[43] The subscriber is not entitled to a rescission where, after discovering the fraud, he refrains from acting until the corporation becomes hopelessly insolvent, in reliance upon a promise which is not fulfilled that a large dividend will be declared.[44] On the other hand one who has been induced to purchase the shares of a national bank by false representations made by its president and cashier of its condition, who rescinds the contract and tenders back the shares, duly assigned, to the president of the bank, and calls upon him to return the consideration, and brings a suit for rescission of the contract, cannot be held liable in a suit by a receiver of the bank to recover an assessment upon such stock.[45]

5. Fraudulent Issues and Overissues — a. Constitutional and Statutory Provisions Against Issuing Stock or Bonds Except For Labor Done, Services Performed, Money Actually Received, Etc. — (i) In General. Constitutional provisions exist in several states to the effect that no corporation shall issue stocks or bonds, except for labor done, services performed, or money or property actually received, and that all fictitious increase of stock or indebtedness shall be void.[46] Many statutory provisions of the same nature have been enacted. Under such a

38. Beal v. Dillon, 5 Kan. App. 27, 47 Pac. 317; Stufflebeam v. De Lashmutt, 83 Fed. 449; Newton Nat. Bank v. Newbegin, 74 Fed. 135, 20 C. C. A. 339, 33 L. R. A. 727.

39. Bosley v. National Mach. Co., 123 N. Y. 550, 25 N. E. 990, 34 N. Y. St. 277; Moosbrugger v. Walsh, 89 Hun (N. Y.) 564, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 550, 70 N. Y. St. 117 [citing McDermott v. Harrison, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 184, 30 N. Y. St. 324].

40. Fear v. Bartlett, 81 Md. 435, 32 Atl. 322, 33 L. R. A. 721.

41. Aaron's Reefs v. Twiss, [1896] A. C. 273, 65 L. J. P. C. 54, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 794, and cases cited.

42. American Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Rainbolt, 48 Nebr. 434, 67 N. W. 493.

43. In re Dunlop-Truffault Cycle, etc., Mfg. Co., 66 L. J. Ch. 25, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 385.

44. Weisiger v. Richmond Ice Mach. Co., 90 Va. 795, 20 S. E. 361.

45. Stufflebeam v. De Lashmutt, 83 Fed. 449 [distinguishing Pauly v. State L. & T. Co., 165 U. S. 606, 17 S. Ct. 465, 41 L. ed. 844; Waite v. Dowley, 94 U. S. 527, 24 L. ed. 181]. That a subscriber who is entitled by right to repudiate his subscription immediately upon discovering the fraud does not affirm it by giving his check to a director of the corporation, accompanied by the statement that he will never give another dollar toward his subscription to the stock, and that the check is given to save the money already paid therein, see Fear v. Bartlett, 81 Md. 435, 32 Atl. 322, 33 L. R. A. 721. That fraud is not available as a defense to a member of a mutual insurance company who has had the benefit of the insurance, as against the rights of creditors of the corporation, see Mansfield v. Woods, 9 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 761, 29 Cinc. L. Bul. 111. That a delay of two years and a half in disaffirming cuts off the right where an assignment for the benefit of creditors has supervened see Painsville Nat. Bank v. King Varnish Co., 1 Toledo Leg. News 304.

46. See for example Colo. Const. art. 15, § 9, which has been embodied in Colo. Gen. Stat. §§ 251, 340; Ida. Const. (1889), art. 11, § 9; Mont. Const. (1889), art. 15, § 10; Wash. Const. (1889–1890), art. 12, § 6.

statute[47] a certificate of shares issued by a corporation after a reduction of the price of its shares, for the purpose of giving purchasers of the shares at the former price the benefit of the reduction, without any other consideration, is void, and the parties receiving the same do not thereby become shareholders, or make themselves liable to creditors as for an unpaid subscription.[48]

(II) Gratuitous Donees of Fictitious Stock Not Shareholders. Under such a constitutional provision persons to whom corporate shares are issued, for which they do not pay or agree to pay anything, do not thereby become shareholders of the corporation in any sense, and cannot sue as such.[49]

b. Illegal Issues of Shares Do Not Confer Rights of Shareholders. The possession of share certificates issued without authority of the board of directors will convey no rights as against the corporation, in the absence of an estoppel, upon one who is not a purchaser of them in good faith and for value.[50]

c. Subscribers to Fraudulent Overissues Are Not Shareholders — (I) In General. After all the authorized shares of a corporation have been issued, any further issues are merely void, and the takers of them, although innocent, do not acquire the status or rights of shareholders.[51] Such a subscriber is not liable on his subscription;[52] and although the president and directors may have power to authorize an additional issue, yet, until they exercise this power, any issue after the original limit has been filled is void.[53]

(II) Remedy of Innocent Subscriber to Fraudulent Overissue Against Corporation — (A) In General. It does not follow from this that the innocent subscriber to shares thus fraudulently overissued is without remedy. If he has paid out money on the faith of the certificates being lawfully issued, he may maintain an action against the corporation for reimbursement.[54] In other words a corporation whose officers, authorized to issue share certificates, have fraudulently overissued such certificates, is liable in damages to an innocent holder for the value of the overissued shares.[55] It is liable in damages to any one purchasing for value, and without notice, its spurious stock, issued by reason of its neglect to observe care in the issue of the certificates and to supervise its agent charged with the performance of such duty.[56] The reason of the rule is said to be that share certificates, issued by a corporation, although spurious, are a continuing affirmation by the corporation to the public that the person named therein is the owner of the number of shares of the corporation therein stated, upon which affirmation an intending purchaser of such shares has a right to rely, in the absence of knowledge to the contrary.[57] The liability of a corporation for selling

47. Cal. Civ. Code, § 359.

48. Kellerman v. Maier, 116 Cal. 416, 48 Pac. 377.

49. Arkansas River Land, etc., Co. v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 13 Colo. 587, 22 Pac. 954.

50. Ryder v. Bushwick R. Co., 134 N. Y. 83, 31 N. E. 251, 45 N. Y. St. 388.

51. New York, etc., R. Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30.

52. Clark v. Turner, 73 Ga. 1.

53. McCord v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 220.

54. Titus v. Great Western Turnpike Road Co., 61 N. Y. 237 (spurious certificate); New York, etc., R. Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30; Kisterbock's Appeal, 127 Pa. St. 601, 18 Atl. 381, 24 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 446, 14 Am. St. Rep. 868; Willis v. Fry, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 33, 36 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 47. Compare Fifth Ave. Bank v. Forty-Second St., etc., Ferry R. Co., 137 N. Y. 231, 33 N. E. 378, 50 N. Y. St. 712, 33 Am. St. Rep. 712, 19 L. R. A. 331; New York Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Forty-Second St., etc., Ferry R. Co., 74 Hun (N. Y.) 505, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 545, 57 N. Y. St. 215; Cartwright v. Dickinson, 88 Tenn. 476, 12 S. W. 1030, 17 Am. St. Rep. 910, 7 L. R. A. 706. An innocent purchaser for value, without notice, of shares issued to increase the capital stock of a corporation is protected, and his title to the shares is good, under a statute providing that no increase of capital stock shall be valid until the whole amount of the increase proposed is paid in cash, where such increase is paid for by the president of the corporation with funds stolen from the corporation. Dunn v. Minneapolis State Bank, 59 Minn. 221, 61 N. W. 27.

55. Archer v. Dunham, 89 Hun (N. Y.) 387, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 387, 69 N. Y. St. 773.

56. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 56 Ohio St. 351, 47 N. E. 249, 43 L. R. A. 777.

57. Keller v. Eureka Brick Mach. Mfg. Co., 43 Mo. App. 84, 11 L. R. A. 472; Kisterbock's Appeal, 127 Pa. St. 601, 18 Atl. 381, 24 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 446, 14 Am. St. Rep. 868.

such pretended shares to an innocent purchaser has also been put upon the ground of a breach of warranty. The proposition is that a sale by a corporation of stock having no legal existence because of non-compliance with the statutory prerequisites and mode of procedure prescribed for its issue, and the delivery of a certificate therefor to an innocent third person, who pays cash therefor, violates the vendor's warranty of the existence and validity of the thing sold, and entitles the vendee to recover the price which he has paid.[58]

(B) Distinction Between Cases Where Defrauded Sharetaker Deals With Corporation Through Corporate Agent and Where He Deals With Agent Personally. If the defrauded sharetaker, in purchasing the overissued or fraudulently issued shares, deals with the corporation innocently, through its agent guilty of the fraud, then the corporation will be liable to him to make good the damage which he has sustained.[59] But where the sharetaker, in purchasing the shares, deals with the agent of the corporation personally, and for his own account, as where the agent makes out an illegal and fraudulent certificate and pledges it for a loan of money for his own use, and the person advancing the money and receiving the certificate in pledge knows that he is loaning the money to the agent for his own use, then the sharetaker will not be entitled to indemnity from the corporation, but his only recourse will be against the agent.[60]

d. Corporation Liable For Fraudulent Issues Which Are Not Overissues — (I) In General. On the ordinary rule of respondeat superior a corporation is liable to one who has been defrauded by the act of its transfer clerk in issuing a certificate of its stock to a fictitious person, and so getting it in circulation.[61] If the certificate thus fraudulently issued by its agent does not exhaust its potential stock and create an overissue, it is bound specifically to perform the representation thus made by the certificate thus issued, and to admit an innocent purchaser to the rights of a shareholder.[62]

(II) Corporation Has No Right to Have Such Certificates Canceled. Nor can the corporation maintain a suit in equity to restrain the transfer of the certificate in such a case and compel its surrender, but it will be estopped from denying its validity.[63] Even suppose there may be in a given case a right of can-

58. Lincoln v. New Orleans Express Co., 45 La. Ann. 729, 12 So. 937.

59. New York, etc., R. Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30 [overruling it seems Mechanics' Bank v. New York, etc., R. Co., 13 N. Y. 599]. See also Tome v. Parkersburg Branch R. Co., 39 Md. 36, 17 Am. Rep. 540; Titus v. Great Western Turnpike Road Co., 61 N. Y. 237; Willis v. Fry, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 33, 36 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 47.

60. Knox v. Eden Musee American Co., 148 N. Y. 441, 42 N. E. 988, 51 Am. St. Rep. 700, 31 L. R. A. 779; Manhattan L. Ins. Co. v. Forty-Second St., etc., Ferry R. Co., 19 N. Y. Suppl. 90, 46 N. Y. St. 130 [affirmed in 139 N. Y. 146, 31 N. E. 776, 54 N. Y. St. 474, forged certificate]; Moores v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 111 U. S. 156, 4 S. Ct. 345, 28 L. ed. 385. For a somewhat similar case reaching the same result on the ground that the president of a corporation conspired with other officers of the company and procured a fraudulent overissue of its shares, some of which he transferred to a third person in lieu of good shares of the company which he had borrowed from her, and where the court proceeded upon the ground that he had acted as her agent and not as the agent of the company, see Wright's Appeal, 99 Pa. St. 425.

Circumstances under which the officers of a corporation are held not to have been negligent in failing to inquire whether an employee had canceled certificates of stock as they had directed him to do, where in point of fact he transferred them as collateral security for his own personal loan. Knox v. Eden Musee American Co., 17 N. Y. App. Div. 365, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 255.

61. Jarvis v. Manhattan Beach Co., 53 Hun (N. Y.) 362, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 703, 25 N. Y. St. 1.

62. Thus it has been held that where a corporation permits its agent to sell stock covered by certificates, when there is stock standing to its credit sufficient to cover such certificates, it is bound to make them good to the extent of any shares owned by the company within the limit of its capital stock, and such unsold shares should be applied to the satisfaction of the oldest outstanding certificate of that character. New York, etc., R. Co. v. Schuyler, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 534.

63. Manhattan Beach Co. v. Harned, 27 Fed. 484, 23 Blatchf. 494.

Circumstances under which a corporation not estopped from recovering damages from its own treasurer for fraudulently issuing a certificate of its stock. Brooklyn Crosstown R. Co. v. Strong, 75 N. Y. 591.

Circumstances under which the defrauded cellation, the failure by the corporation or its shareholders to take prompt action to procure the cancellation of stock claimed to be fraudulently issued will be deemed a ratification thereof by the corporation.[64]

(III) Overissued Shares May Be Canceled and Dividends Thereon Enjoined. But overissued shares being void, the holder of them cannot be admitted to the rights of a shareholder to the prejudice of the holders of genuine shares, and the latter may have an action in equity to cancel such spurious shares,[65] or to enjoin the corporation from paying dividends thereon or from making any future dividend until it is ascertained who are the genuine shareholders.[66] The corporation is an indispensable party to such an action for the cancellation of spurious shares,[67] and the same may be assumed as to such an action for an injunction. Equitable circumstances may of course intervene to prevent such a cancellation; and as a spurious issue does not invalidate the original stock the relief cannot extend so far as the cancellation of all the stock.[68] Holders of scrip issued by a corporation, for the purchase of which a certain per cent of the amount of the proceeds of sales is to be devoted, are entitled to have such of the scrip as is so purchased, canceled, and to have the amount of scrip improperly issued treated as cash paid to the corporation.[69] A corporation cannot maintain a proceeding for the cancellation of stock and bonds on the ground that they were illegally issued, without restoring or offering to restore to the holder of the same what it received from him or its value.[70] One who has purchased, as a single transaction, a block of shares cannot maintain an action to have a portion of them canceled because of fraud in their issue, while retaining the remainder.[71]

e. Doctrine That Fraudulent and Overissued Share Certificates Are Misrepresentations by Corporation to General Public Which It Is Bound to Make Good in Favor of Innocent Purchasers — (I) Statement of Doctrine. It is believed to be a sound doctrine in the law of fraud that a person who makes a false statement for the purpose of deceiving and entrapping any one of a particular class of persons whom it may catch is responsible for the consequences of such false statement to any one whom it does chance to catch.[72] Notwithstanding what was held in one of the earlier and elaborately considered but badly decided cases in the court of appeals of New York,[73] this rule governs the rights of subsequent purchasers in good faith of fraudulently issued shares, such share certificates constituting a continuing affirmation by the corporation to the general financial and commercial world that the person named therein is entitled to the number of shares of stock of the company named therein; so that if the certificate has been sharetaker not estopped from maintaining a bill for a rescission. Snow v. Weber, 39 Mich. 143.

64. American Wire-Nail Co. v. Bayless, 91 Ky. 94, 15 S. W. 10, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 694.

65. Campbell v. Morgan, 4 Ill. App. 100.

66. Carpenter v. New York, etc., R. Co., 5 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 277; Underwood v. New York, etc., R. Co., 17 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 537.

67. Campbell v. Morgan, 4 Ill. App. 100.

68. Byers v. Rollins, 13 Colo. 22, 21 Pac. 894.

69. Rogers v. New York, etc., Land Co., 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 614, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 209, 65 N. Y. St. 332 [affirmed in 87 Hun (N. Y.) 107, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 840, 67 N. Y. St. 452].

70. Pocantico Waterworks Co. v. Low, 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 484, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 633.

71. Church v. Citizens' St. R. Co., 78 Fed. 526.

72. Morgan v. Skiddy, 62 N. Y. 319; Cazeaux v. Mali, 25 Barb. (N. Y.) 578; Cross v. Sackett, 2 Bosw. (N. Y.) 617; Bartholomew v. Bentley, 15 Ohio 659, 45 Am. Dec. 596; Ayre's Case, 25 Beav. 513, 4 Jur. N. S. 596, 27 L. J. Ch. 597; Wontner v. Shairp, 4 C. B. 404, 56 E. C. L. 404; Clarke v. Dickson, 6 C. B. N. S. 453, 5 Jur. N. S. 1027, 28 L. J. C. P. 225, 7 Wkly. Rep. 443, 95 E. C. L. 453; Bedford v. Bagshaw, 4 H. & N. 538, 29 L. J. Exch. 59; Davidson v. Tulloch, 6 Jur. N. S. 543, 1 Macq. H. L. Cas. 783, 2 L. T. Rep. N. S. 97, 8 Wkly. Rep. 309; Scott v. Dixon, 29 L. J. Exch. 62 note.

For applications of this doctrine to the misrepresentations of commercial agencies in their published books and circulars see Lindauer v. Hay, 61 Iowa 663, 17 N. W. 98; Genesee County Sav. Bank v. Michigan Barge Co., 52 Mich. 164, 17 N. W. 790, 18 N. W. 206; Holmes v. Harrington, 20 Mo. App. 661; Eaton, etc., Co. v. Avery, 83 N. Y. 31, 38 Am. Rep. 389.

73. Mechanics' Bank v. New York, etc., R. Co., 13 N. Y. 599 [reversing 4 Duer (N. Y.) 480].

issued in fraud of the rights of the corporation, by its agent authorized to issue its shares, the corporation must make it good, either by way of specific performance or damages, accordingly as it was issued within its powers or beyond its powers.[74]

(II) Purchaser Not Innocent Where Circumstances Put Him Upon Inquiry. Here as elsewhere a purchaser of illegal, fraudulent, or overissued shares will not be entitled to indemnity from the corporation as an innocent purchaser where he neglects the obvious means of knowledge and fails to follow up circumstances which are sufficient to put an ordinarily careful and prudent man upon inquiry.[75] But it has been held that a certificate of stock issued in favor of the secretary of the corporation is not sufficient to put a purchaser upon inquiry as to whether he is rightfully the owner, where no other mode of issuing stock than by the president or the secretary under the corporate seal is provided, and neither the secretary nor the president is prohibited from holding stock.[76]

(III) Rights of Bona Fide Purchasers of Shares Fraudulently Issued. Bona fide purchasers of corporate shares acquire no new rights or equities as shareholders which do not attach to the shares in the hands of the transferrer or assignor.[77]

(IV) Estoppel Against Persons Concocting or Participating in Fraud. Persons concocting frauds of the nature here under consideration cannot acquire any rights through their own unlawful and fraudulent conduct.[78]

f. Shares Surrendered and Afterward Reissued Do Not Constitute Overissue. The surrender of stock to the corporation, and the reissue by the corporation of such stock, do not constitute an overissue of the stock, although such reissue, together with the original issue, would have exceeded the limit but for the surrender.[79] Certificates of stock left by the holder with the manager of the corporation for sale, and not canceled in accordance with the rule of the company upon the issue of a new certificate to the purchaser, do not represent real stock in the hands of one to whom such manager fraudulently pledged them for a loan, but are mere vouchers.[80]

g. Defrauded Sharetaker May Have Action Against Officers or Agents Guilty of Fraud. If, after all the stock which the corporation is entitled to issue has been issued and taken by the public, the directors fraudulently issue further shares and put them upon the market as shares lawfully issued, and they are purchased by any one on the faith that they are lawfully issued, he may, in an action at law against the directors guilty of the fraud, recover the damages he has thus sustained.[81] If in such an action plaintiff shows that the certificates of stock which he purchased were issued after all the stock which the company had the 74. American Wire-Nail Co. v. Bayless, 91 Ky. 94, 15 S. W. 10, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 694; New York, etc., R. Co. v. Schuyler, 34 N. Y. 30 (which case must be regarded as overruling in large part at least the case of Mechanics' Bank v. New York, etc., R. Co., 13 N. Y. 599).

75. Byers v. Rollins, 13 Colo. 22, 21 Pac. 894; Moores v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 111 U. S. 156, 4 S. Ct. 345, 28 L. ed. 385.

76. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 56 Ohio St. 351, 47 N. E. 249, 43 L. R. A. 777 [affirming 29 Ohio L. J. 15].

77. Church v. Citizens' St. R. Co., 78 Fed. 526.

78. For illustration see Hart v. Mt. Pleasant Park Stock Co., 97 Iowa 353, 66 N. W. 190; Baker v. Guarantee Trust, etc., Co., (N. J. 1895) 31 Atl. 174; Straman v. North Baltimore Water-Works Co., 8 Ohio Cir. Ct. 89 (holding that treasury stock issued to a corporation by a director upon a vote in which such director joined, for a nominal consideration, is void in his hands).

79. Wells v. Thompson Mfg. Co., 54 Mo. App. 41.

80. Knox v. Eden Musee American Co., 25 N. Y. Suppl. 164 [affirmed in 74 Hun (N. Y.) 483, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 482, 57 N. Y. St. 48 (affirmed in 148 N. Y. 441, 42 N. E. 988, 51 Am. St. Rep. 700, 31 L. R. A. 779)].

81. Bruff v. Mali, 36 N. Y. 200; Shotwell v. Mali, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 445; Cazeaux v. Mali, 25 Barb. (N. Y.) 578. That directors of a corporation who put on the market false securities in the name of the corporation are individually liable, in an action of deceit, to purchasers of such securities who are thereby injured see Clark v. Edgar, 12 Mo. App. 345 [affirmed in 84 Mo. 106, 54 Am. Rep. 84]; Shotwell v. Mali, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 445.

lawful right to issue had been taken, and there is no evidence that any stock had been surrendered, he has made out a prima facie case against the directors.[82] The burden is then cast upon defendants to show that plaintiff's certificates were issued upon the surrender or upon the transfer of genuine stock; and they do not do this by merely showing that prior to the time when plaintiff purchased his stock there were frequent surrenders or reissues of stock, because it might well be that all such surrenders and reissues were surrenders and reissues of the bogus stock.[83] Upon principles elsewhere discussed, it is not necessary, in order to sustain such an action, that the purchaser of such stock should have purchased it from the company or from defendants; he may maintain the action, although he purchased it in the market from other persons.[84] Even where the officers of the corporation selling the overissued shares have done so innocently, yet they are liable upon their implied representation that they had authority to issue valid shares; and they are constantly liable to the takers of the shares in damages, which damages will be the value of the shares which the purchaser would have received under the arrangement.[85]

h. Remedies of Corporation Against Its Officers and Agents For Damages Sustained Through Illegal or Overissue of Shares. The corporation has remedies, both at law and in equity, to recover from its agent by whom the fraud was committed, the damages which it thereby sustained. It has been held that a corporation whose treasurer fraudulently issues and circulates stock which becomes so intermingled with the genuine stock as to be indistinguishable therefrom and appropriates the proceeds to his own use may recover the moneys from the treasurer in an action of general assumpsit; and the treasurer cannot defend on the ground that the certificates which he thus fraudulently issued were illegal and void.[86] Where the fraudulent certificates which the authorized agent of the corporation has put forth are binding upon the corporation, it is entitled to maintain a suit in equity against the agent for a discovery and account of the moneys which he has received through the negotiation of such fraudulent certificates, and for a recovery of the same. Such an action, it has been held, proceeds upon the implied contract which binds every agent to keep his principal indemnified; upon the right which every party entitled to be indemnified has for relief against the anticipated consequences of the liability after it has occurred but before it has been consummated against him, by a recovery at law or in equity; and also in view of the extent and complexity of the claim where many such fraudulent certificates have been negotiated.[87] The jurisdiction of a court of equity in such a case is therefore supported on the ground of the want of an adequate remedy at law,[88]

82. Bruff v. Mali, 36 N. Y. 200.

83. Bruff v. Mali, 36 N. Y. 200.

84. Bruff v. Mali, 36 N. Y. 200. To the same effect is Shotwell v. Mali, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 445 [overruling Seizer v. Mali, 32 Barb. (N. Y.) 76, but subsequently reversed, and the judgment of the special term affirmed in 41 N. Y. 619]; Cazeaux v. Mali, 25 Barb. (N. Y.) 578. But see Peek v. Gurney, L. R. 6 H. L. 377, 43 L. J. Ch. 19, 22 Wkly. Rep. 29.

Evidence insufficient to sustain the charge of a fraudulent overissue. Smock v. Henderson, Wils. (Ind.) 241.

85. Firbank v. Humphreys, 18 Q. B. Div. 54, 56 L. J. Q. B. 57, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 36, 35 Wkly. Rep. 92. In an action on the case for a fraudulent sale of stock, brought against the self-styled president and the secretary of a fictitious joint-stock company, it is not necessary to show any privity of contract between plaintiff and the secretary. Bauman v. Bowles, 51 Ill. 380.

86. Rutland R. Co. v. Haven, 62 Vt. 39, 19 Atl. 769. See also East New York, etc., R. Co. v. Elmore, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 214.

87. Commonwealth Bank v. Schuylkill Bank, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 180. The court proceed upon the doctrine laid down in Renelaugh v. Hayes, 1 Vern. 189, to the effect that equity will give relief to a covenantee against his covenantor in the case of an express covenant of indemnity, even before the covenantee has been compelled to pay the money against which he is by the covenant indemnified, especially when the taking of long and intricate accounts is involved. See also Baker v. Shelbury, 1 Ch. Cas. 70; Flight v. Cook, 2 Ves. 619, 28 Eng. Reprint 394.

88. See, upon the general doctrine that equity relieves upon this ground, the following cases:

Connecticut.— New London Bank v. Lee, 1 Conn. 112, 27 Am. Dec. 713.

New York.— American Ins. Co. v. Fisk, 1 Paige 90.

of the right of a principal to an accounting by his agent,[89] upon the ground of trust,[90] and also on the ground of fraud.[91]

i. Other Decisions Relating to Shares Illegally Issued. One who receives shares in a corporation which have been illegally set apart in trust for the directors, as a gift made for the purpose of inducing his aid in "booming the concern," with full notice of a fraudulent scheme in pursuance of which such stock was issued, is liable to account therefor to the shareholders.[92] An agreement that a subscriber to the stock of a corporation shall be secured for a portion of his payments on account of his subscription, by a mortgage on the corporate property, is void as against the creditors of the corporation.[93]

L. Surrender or Cancellation of Shares and Release of Shareholder — 1. SUBSCRIBER TO SHARES CANNOT WITHDRAW AT PLEASURE. It is a mere application of the truism that one of the parties to a valid contract cannot rescind it without the consent of the other, to say that one who has entered into a valid contract of subscription to the shares of the capital stock of a corporation cannot withdraw therefrom at pleasure,[94] even where the rights of other subscribers and of creditors are not concerned.[95] Even where he has paid a portion of his subscription he cannot surrender his shares, since the right of forfeiture rests with the corporation and is a right which the corporation may waive.[96]

South Carolina.— Wamburzee v. Kennedy, 4 Desauss. 474.

United States.— Boyce v. Grundy, 3 Pet. 210, 7 L. ed. 655.

England.— Weymouth v. Boyer, 1 Ves. Jr. 416.

89. For this doctrine see Massey v. Banner, 4 Madd. 413, 20 Rev. Rep. 317; Mackenzie v. Johnson, 4 Madd. 373. Compare King v. Rossett, 2 Y. & J. 33.

90. Hovenden Frauds, § 162.

91. Green v. Barrett, 5 L. J. Ch. O. S. 6, 1 Sim. 45, 2 Eng. Ch. 45; Blain v. Agar, 5 L. J. Ch. O. S. 1, 8 Rev. Rep. 33, 856, 1 Sim. 37, 27 Rev. Rep. 150, 29 Rev. Rep. 110, 2 Eng. Ch. 37; Colt v. Woollaston, 2 P. Wms. 154, 24 Eng. Reprint 679; Burrowes v. Lock, 10 Ves. Jr. 470.

92. Paducah Land, etc., Co. v. Mulholland, 24 S. W. 624, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 624.

93. Boney v. Williams, 55 N. J. Eq. 691, 38 Atl. 189.

A corporation is liable on a certificate of its stock to one who has guaranteed the genuineness of a signature thereon, where the guarantor presents the certificate to the corporation itself to determine its validity before making the guaranty. Jarvis v. Manhattan Beach Co., 75 Hun (N. Y.) 100, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 1061, 58 N. Y. St. 167 [affirmed in 148 N. Y. 652, 43 N. E. 68, 51 Am. St. Rep. 727, 31 L. R. A. 776].

A transaction by which each individual shareholder of a corporation sells his stock to another corporation formed by the consolidation of three other corporations, receiving for each share sold five shares in the new corporation, does not create an increase of the capital stock of the first corporation, where it was not a party to the consolidation agreement upon which the new corporation was organized, and where directors have been elected for it and a separate corporate existence maintained, so that it has not become merged in the new corporation. Einstein v. Rochester Gas, etc., Co., 77 Hun (N. Y.) 149, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 434, 59 N. Y. St. 63 [affirmed in 146 N. Y. 46, 40 N. E. 631].

94. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344.

Connecticut.— United Soc. v. Eagle Bank, 7 Conn. 456.

Illinois.— Ryder v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 516.

Indiana.— Johnson v. Wabash, etc., Plank-Road Co., 16 Ind. 389.

Missouri.— Ollesheimer v. Thompson Mfg. Co., 44 Mo. App. 172.

New Jersey.— Bordentown, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Imlay, 4 N. J. L. 327.

Pennsylvania.— Modern L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Keller, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 118.

South Carolina.— Cheraw, etc., R. Co. v. White, 10 S. C. 155.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 328.

95. Ryder v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 516.

96. Klein v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 514; Gaff v. Flesher, 33 Ohio St. 107; Kidwelly Canal Co. v. Raby, 2 Price 93. See also Whitestone First Religious Soc. v. Stone, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 112; Martyn v. Hind, Cowp. 437, 1 Dougl. 137.

Instances under which a shareholder in a coöperative association organized for ideal purposes may not retire and receive pay for his shares, although the association has granted this right to other members, as a matter of arrangement in each individual case. Herring v. Ruskin Co-Operative Assoc., (Tenn. Ch. App. 1890) 52 S. W. 327.

Insufficient plea of release.— A plea by one subscriber to stock in a joint enterprise, where there were a number of subscriptions for a common object, that one of such subscribers had been released from liability on his subscription is bad, unless it avers that such release was made by the person lawfully holding the contract of subscription, in settlement for the work accomplished. Chicago

2. CORPORATION CANNOT RELEASE SUBSCRIBER — a. In General. Nor can the corporation, having regard to the rights of other subscribers or to the rights of creditors, release him, since to do so has the effect of giving away a portion of the assets of the corporation.[97] The general doctrine is that the corporation has no legal capacity to release an original subscriber to its capital stock from the obligation of paying for his shares, in whole or in part, and that any arrangement with him by which the company, its creditors, or shareholders shall lose any part of that subscription is ultra vires and a fraud upon the creditors and the co-subscribers.[98] Hence a by-law authorizing a shareholder to surrender his shares and withdraw, giving a prescribed notice, is invalid.[99] To this statement exceptions will be discovered in the statutory power to forfeit shares for the non-payment of subscriptions and in the power to make bona fide compromises with subscribers to shares.[1]

b. Cannot Cancel Share Certificates. Therefore the act of a corporation in canceling the share certificates of a member amounts to nothing, since the certificates are not shares, but merely documentary evidence of the rights of the shareholder.[2]

c. Directors Have No Such Power Unless Expressly Granted — (I) In General. The directors of a corporation have no such power unless it has been expressly granted by the charter or governing statute, for the simple reason that they have no power to give away the assets of the corporation and thereby destroy the corporation itself.[3] Moreover, if the directors of the company, not having express authority so to do, use funds of the company in buying in the shares of its members, they commit a breach of trust and will be compelled to make good to the company the funds so expended.[4] The principle that the directors cannot take such action in the absence of express power extends to the case of persons who have agreed to take shares, but who have not actually become shareholders; the directors have no implied power to release them from their agreement.[5]

(II) Where Directors Possess Express Power They Cannot Delegate It. Even where the directors have express power to accept a surrender from a shareholder of his shares they cannot delegate this power to a manager.[6]

Bldg., etc., Co. v. Summerour, 101 Ga. 820, 29 S. E. 291.

No release can be inferred from the delivery of a certificate for paid-up shares to the amount which has been paid up on a share subscription. Braddock Electric R. Co. v. Bily, 11 Pa. Super. Ct. 144.

97. Melvin v. Lamar Ins. Co., 80 Ill. 446, 22 Am. Rep. 199; Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210.

98. So stated in substance by Lamar, J., in Morgan v. Struthers, 131 U. S. 246, 9 S. Ct. 726, 33 L. ed. 132. See also Bedford R. Co. v. Bowser, 48 Pa. St. 29; Putnam v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 16 Wall. (U. S.) 390, 21 L. ed. 361.

99. Vercoutere v. Golden State Land Co., 116 Cal. 410, 48 Pac. 375.

1. See infra, VI, O; VI, L, 20.

2. Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210.

3. Trevor v. Whitworth, 12 App. Cas. 409, 57 L. T. Rep. N. S. 457, 36 Wkly. Rep. 145. Compare In re Dronfield Silkstone Coal Co., 17 Ch. D. 76, 50 L. J. Ch. 387, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 361, 29 Wkly. Rep. 768. See also In re United Service Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 707, 39 L. J. Ch. 730, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 331, 18 Wkly. Rep. 1058; Phosphate of Lime Co. v. Green, L. R. 7 C. P. 43, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 636; Hodgkinson v. National Live Stock Ins. Co., 26 Beav. 473 [affirmed in 4 De G. & J. 422, 5 Jur. N. S. 969, 28 L. J. Ch. 676, 7 Wkly. Rep. 680, 61 Eng. Ch. 332]; Harris v. North Devon R. Co., 20 Beav. 384; In re London, etc., Consol. Coal Co., 5 Ch. D. 525, 46 L. J. Ch. 842, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 545; Burt v. British Nation L. Assur. Assoc., 4 De G. & J. 158, 61 Eng. Ch. 125; Matter of St. Marylebone Joint Stock Banking Co., 8 De G. M. & G. 607, 2 Jur. N. S. 1216, 26 L. J. Ch. 261, 5 Wkly. Rep. 26, 57 Eng. Ch. 470; Re Waterloo L., etc., Ins. Co., 10 Jur. N. S. 692; Playfair v. Birmingham, etc., Junction R. Co., 9 L. J. Ch. 253, 1 R. & Can. Cas. 640 [distinguishing In re Natal Invest. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 22, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 445, 18 Wkly. Rep. 30]. See the strong language of Strong, J., in Putnam v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 16 Wall. (U. S.) 390, 395, 21 L. ed. 361.

4. Evans v. Coventry, 8 De G. M. & G. 835, 26 L. J. Ch. 400, 5 Wkly. Rep. 436, 57 Eng. Ch. 645.

5. In re United Service Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 707, 39 L. J. Ch. 730, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 331, 18 Wkly. Rep. 1058; In re United Ports Co., L. R. 13 Eq. 474, 41 L. J. Ch. 270, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 124, 20 Wkly. Rep. 356.

6. In re County Palatine Loan, etc., Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 691, 43 L. J. Ch. 588, 31 L. T. Rep. N. S. 52, 22 Wkly. Rep. 697.

d. Corporation Cannot Achieve Result by Device of Reducing Capital Stock. Nor can the corporation achieve this result by reducing the capital stock except under the condition and in the manner authorized by the governing statute; but the corporation may deny the legality of such a reduction where it has not received the benefit of the transaction, and where to do so would not work a fraud on innocent parties.[7]

e. Corporation Cannot Relieve Particular Subscribers by Purchasing Their Shares. The true doctrine, although not universally adopted, is that a corporation cannot, either against its shareholders or against its creditors, relieve particular shareholders by purchasing their shares, unless empowered so to do by charter or statute, especially in view of the doctrine hereafter explained that it is ultra vires for a corporation to attempt to purchase and hold its own shares.[8] As the corporation cannot do this, it is a breach of trust for its directors to do it.[9]

3. No Right of Withdrawal as Against Existing Subscribers. No one of the subscribers to the shares of a corporation has the right to withdraw from his contract of subscription without the consent of all the others, so as thereby to diminish the company's funds, in which all have acquired an interest.[10] As already seen[11] some of the courts allow such a withdrawal before the corporation has been formed;[12] but clearly there is no such right after the corporation has been formed, although it has not yet entered upon the work for which it was created.[13] It has been held that a ratification of a fraudulent sale of stock to a corporation, by shareholders owning a minority of stock, made at a meeting of shareholders controlled by their votes, is not binding upon shareholders who did not consent to the purchase.[14]

4. No Right of Withdrawal as Against Creditors — a. In General. The assets of a corporation being a trust fund for its creditors, and the unpaid subscriptions being a part of this trust fund,[15] it is not competent for the directors, or even for the aggregate body of the shareholders,[16] to give away this trust fund by releasing the unperformed contracts of subscribers thereto.[17]

7. St. Louis Carriage Mfg. Co. v. Hilbert, 24 Mo. App. 338. See also Coppin v. Greenlees, etc., Co., 38 Ohio St. 275, 43 Am. Rep. 425. Compare Skinner v. Smith, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 437, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 81, 31 N. Y. St. 448. That a surrender of shares on which twenty per cent had been paid and an issue of share certificates for the amount paid up is valid was held in Republic L. Ins. Co. v. Swigert, 135 Ill. 150, 25 N. E. 680, 12 L. R. A. 328, but the case is opposed to sound principle and to the weight of authority. See also Glenn v. Hatchett, 91 Ala. 316, 8 So. 656, holding a reduction of subscriptions valid as between the subscriber and the corporation, and consequently as against the assignee in insolvency of the corporation. See also Gaehle's Piano Mfg. Co. v. Berg, 45 Md. 113, which proceeds on the principle that such an agreement is good between the parties to it.

That a corporation cannot, under Cal. Civ. Code, § 309, prior to its dissolution, distribute its capital stock among its shareholders see Kohl v. Lilienthal, 81 Cal. 378, 20 Pac. 401, 22 Pac. 689, 6 L. R. A. 520.

8. Currier v. Lebanon Slate Co., 56 N. H. 262.

9. Bedford R. Co. v. Bowser, 48 Pa. St. 29. See also Lauman v. Lebanon Valley R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 42, 72 Am. Dec. 685.

10. Melvin v. Lamar Ins. Co., 80 Ill. 446, 22 Am. Rep. 199; Johnson v. Wabash, etc., Plank-Road Co., 16 Ind. 389; White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124; Miller v. Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co., 87 Pa. St. 95, 30 Am. Rep. 349; Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489. Conceded in Meyer v. Blair, 109 N. Y. 600, 17 N. E. 228, 16 N. Y. St. 380, 4 Am. St. Rep. 500; Morgan v. Struthers, 131 U. S. 246, 9 S. Ct. 726, 33 L. ed. 132; Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 517 [distinguishing Plate Glass Universal Ins. Co. v. Sunley, 8 E. & B. 47, 4 Jur. N. S. 8, 26 L. J. Q. B. 316, 5 Wkly. Rep. 727, 92 E. C. L. 47].

11. See supra, VI, H, 6, a.

12. Muncy Traction Engine Co. v. De la Green, (Pa. 1888) 13 Atl. 747.

13. Twin Creek, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Lancaster, 79 Ky. 552.

14. Woodroof v. Howes, 88 Cal. 184, 26 Pac. 111.

15. Shickle v. Watts, 94 Mo. 410, 7 S. W. 274; Heggie v. People's Bldg., etc., Assoc., 107 N. C. 581, 12 S. E. 275.

16. Farnsworth v. Robbins, 36 Minn. 369, 31 N. W. 349.

17. Connecticut.— United Soc. v. Eagle Bank, 7 Conn. 456.

Mississippi.— Vick v. La Rochelle, 57 Miss. 602.

Missouri.— Chouteau Ins. Co. v. Floyd, 74 Mo. 286; Gill v. Balis, 72 Mo. 424; Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210.

b. Same Rule Where Subscription Is Payable in Property. Although the subscription by its terms is payable in property, and the subscriber has, by agreement with the corporation, surrendered all claim for his shares, and they have released all claim on the property, he is still liable to creditors.[18]

c. Subscriber Cannot Escape Liability by Substituting Another in His Place. Nor can a subscriber, except in the way of bona fide sale and transfer, effect a release from his obligation by substituting another in his place either without the sanction of the directors[19] or with their sanction.[20]

d. Distinction Between Cancellations of Share Subscriptions With Reference to Existing and to Future Creditors — (I) In General. With reference to the power of a corporation to cancel its share subscriptions and to release the subscribers, there are decisions which warrant the conclusion that while such cancellations are not good as to existing creditors,[21] or where the corporation is in debt,[22] yet they may be good as to future creditors.[23]

(II) Cancellation Good Where There Are No Creditors, Provided All Shareholders Assent. From this it necessarily follows that such cancellations are good when permitted by the governing statute, where there are no creditors and provided all the shareholders assent.[24]

e. Subscribers Cannot Be Released After Corporation Becomes Insolvent. The doctrine that such releases are invalid as to existing creditors carries with it the conclusion that subscribers cannot be released provided their subscriptions were valid, after the company has become insolvent so as to affect the rights of its creditors;[25] and such we have seen is the doctrine applied, even where the subscription was procured through fraud.[26]

f. English Doctrine on This Subject. The English courts hold that creditors

Pennsylvania.— Modern L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Keller, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 118.

United States.— Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

Hence a release by an insolvent corporation of an unpaid portion of a subscription to its capital stock is fraudulent and void as to its creditors, although the debts were incurred before the subscription was made. Carter v. Union Printing Co., 54 Ark. 576, 16 S. W. 579; Sagory v. Dubois, 3 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 466 (invalidity of resolution of directors that no further call shall be made); Upton v. Hanshrough, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,801, 3 Biss. 417 (futility of stamping the word "unassessable" upon share certificates). See also Pickering v. Templeton, 2 Mo. App. 424 (delivering a certificate of paid-up stock when in fact only a part has been paid); Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

18. Singer v. Given, 61 Iowa 93, 15 N. W. 858; Ft. Madison Bank v. Alden, 129 U. S. 372, 9 S. Ct. 332, 32 L. ed. 725 (with the qualification that a creditor who was also a shareholder and who consented to the arrangement could not have equitable relief against the property as a trust fund). Compare Gelpcke v. Blake, 19 Iowa 263.

19. Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489.

20. Ollesheimer v. Thompson Mfg. Co., 44 Mo. App. 172.

21. Payne v. Bullard, 23 Miss. 88, 55 Am. Dec. 74.

22. Zirkel v. Joliet Opera House Co., 79 Ill. 334.

23. Hill v. Silvey, 81 Ga. 500, 8 S. E. 808, 3 L. R. A. 150 (such an arrangement valid as to future creditors, except as to the difference between the amount of paid-up stock so issued and the minimum allowed by the charter for the transaction of business); Johnson v. Lullman, 15 Mo. App. 55 [affirmed in 88 Mo. 567]; Erskine v. Peck, 13 Mo. App. 280 [affirmed in 83 Mo. 465]; Steacy v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,329, 5 Dill. 348.

24. Cooper v. Frederick, 9 Ala. 738 (resolution by the directors relinquishing one half of the stock subscription and permitting paid-up shares to be issued for the remainder not on its face illegal); Gelpcke v. Blake, 19 Iowa 263 (upholding a contract made by an agent of a railroad corporation releasing a subscriber without the consent of the shareholders, it not appearing that the company had any creditors); Zerkle v. Price, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 465, 5 Ohio N. P. 480 (such an arrangement not absolutely void but voidable only, so that a guaranty of its performance may be enforced against the guarantor); Shoemaker v. Washburn Lumber Co., 97 Wis. 585, 73 N. W. 333. Much to the same effect see Cook v. Chittenden, 25 Fed. 544; Steacy v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,329, 5 Dill. 348 (resolution releasing shareholders from unpaid balances of their subscriptions, made when there were no creditors, good as against creditors who put in their claims seven years later).

25. Putnam v. New Albany, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,481, 4 Biss. 365.

26. See supra, VI, K, 4, c.

can only recover from shareholders of insolvent companies, in right of the company, that is, when the company, if a going concern, might have enforced the payment of the amount subscribed for.[27] Those courts generally treat the question from the standpoint of the social rights of the members of the company, rather than as a question of public policy or one which primarily concerns the rights of creditors.[28] Hence it is there held that if shares have been surrendered with the knowledge of the shareholders, under circumstances fully disclosed to them all, and such surrender has not been questioned for a considerable period, the company will be excluded from afterward disputing its validity;[29] that a resolution rescinding a contract of subscription after other subscribers have put their names on the books on the faith of it is void as to them; and that whatever may have been the reason which moved the subscriber to execute it he remains a contributory.[30] The question is said by Sir Nathaniel Lindley to depend largely upon the acts of parliament, the charter, and the regulations or the customs which govern the company in question;[31] and he adds (citing the cases in the margin) that where the power to surrender exists, all due formalities will be presumed in favor of the shareholder who has in fact bona fide retired from the company and whose shares have been canceled or otherwise disposed of by the company.[32]

5. Invalidity of Extrinsic and Collateral Agreements Releasing Subscribers. The courts have held with the greatest unanimity that where the contract of subscription is absolute on its face no extrinsic or collateral agreements between the subscriber and the promoters or agents of the corporation who procure him to

27. See for instance Re New Eberhart Co., 43 Ch. D. 118.

28. See a holding to the effect that a person who has acquired shares of a corporation out of the ordinary course has the burden of showing, on an application under the English Companies Act of 1898, for relief from liability on his stock, that he acted with due caution and conscientiousness, and that he has done nothing to disentitle himself to relief at the cost of innocent parties. In re Roxburghe Press, [1899] 1 Ch. 210, 68 L. J. Ch. 111, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 280, 6 Manson 57, 47 Wkly. Rep. 281.

29. Re Cameron Coalbrook Co., 32 Beav. 387; Matter of Agricultural Cattle Ins. Co., 31 Beav. 365 [affirmed in 4 De G. F. & J. 566, 8 Jur. N. S. 926, 31 L. J. Ch. 861, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 142, 10 Wkly. Rep. 852, 65 Eng. Ch. 442].

30. Holt's Case, 1 Sim. N. S. 389, 40 Eng. Ch. 389.

31. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 517.

32. Kipling v. Todd, 3 C. P. D. 350, 47 L. J. C. P. 617, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 181, 27 Wkly. Rep. 84. The retirement must be complete. See Barry v. Navan, etc., R. Co., L. R. 4 Ir. 68; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 1 De G. J. & S. 504, 10 Jur. N. S. 25, 33 L. J. Ch. 84, 12 Wkly. Rep. 60, 66 Eng. Ch. 391.

For other illustrations of the English doctrine see Matter of St. Marylebone Joint-stock Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 198; Matter of Vale of Neath, etc., Brewery Co., 1 De G. & Sm. 750, 1 Macn. & G. 225, 47 Eng. Ch. 181. See too Daniell's Case, 22 Beav. 43 [affirmed in 1 De G. & J. 372, 3 Jur. N. S. 803, 26 L. J. Ch. 563, 5 Wkly. Rep. 677]; In re Esparto Trading Co., 12 Ch. D. 191, 48 L. J. Ch. 573, 28 Wkly. Rep. 146; Hole's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 241; Matter of Vale of Neath, etc., Brewery Joint-stock Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 149; Holt's Case, 1 Sim. N. S. 389, 40 Eng. Ch. 389. Compare Matter of Royal Bank, 4 De G. & Sm. 177, 15 Jur. 28, 20 L. J. Ch. 137; Matter of St. Marylebone Joint-Stock Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 267. Richmond's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 96, 13 Jur. 727, and Matter of Vale of Neath, etc., Brewery Joint-Stock Co., 1 De G. M. & G. 421, 16 Jur. 343, 21 L. J. Ch. 688, 50 Eng. Ch. 322, were similar decisions with respect to other shareholders in the same company. Compare Munt's Case, 22 Beav. 55; Kent v. Jackson, 14 Beav. 367, 2 De G. M. & G. 49, 51 Eng. Ch. 36. See too In re Agriculturists' Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 511; In re Agricultural Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 161, 8 Jur. N. S. 926, 31 L. J. Ch. 861, 65 Eng. Ch. 442; Houldsworth v. Evans, L. R. 3 H. L. 263, 37 L. J. Ch. 800, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 211; Evans v. Smallcombe, L. R. 3 H. L. 249, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 207; Spackman v. Evans, L. R. 3 H. L. 171, 37 L. J. Ch. 752, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 151; Matter of Agricultural Cattle Ins. Co., 31 Beav. 365 [affirmed in 4 De G. F. & J. 566, 8 Jur. N. S. 926, 31 L. J. Ch. 861, 65 Eng. Ch. 442]; Matter of Cameron's Coalbrook Steam Coal, etc., Co., 18 Beav. 339, 5 De G. M. & G. 284, 24 L. J. Ch. 130, 54 Eng. Ch. 226; Richmond's Case, 4 Kay & J. 305, 6 Wkly. Rep. 779.

Valid release.—Release of a subscriber who gave his check for the deposit required by act of parliament, which check under the agreement was never presented to his banker, where the subscriber after the lapse of a year transferred his shares to a third party held to be valid. In re Towns' Drainage, etc., subscribe, not amounting to fraudulent representations on their part, can be shown in evidence for the purpose of discharging or reducing his liability as a shareholder whether to the corporation or to its creditors.[33]

6. Cancellation of Shares Unlawfully Issued — a. In General. This principle does not extend so far as to prevent the corporation from canceling stock that has been unlawfully issued, as where stock has been issued as a stock dividend, under pretense that the earnings of the corporation justify such a dividend, when such is not the fact.[34]

b. Release of Assumed Shareholder Who Cannot Be Held. On like grounds the obvious distinction must be kept in mind between the case where a shareholder is released who might have been held by the company, and where there is a retirement of supposed shares through the refusal of the supposed shareholder to receive them, when in fact he never agreed to receive them.[35]

c. No Cancellation Although Consideration Subsequently Failed. Although the consideration upon which shares were issued may have subsequently failed, the holder of such shares may not escape liability as a shareholder by returning them to the corporation and accounting for the proceeds.[36]

Utilization Co., L. R. 16 Eq. 104, 42 L. J. Ch. 786, 21 Wkly. Rep. 933.

33. Alabama.— Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 650.

Arkansas.— Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Cross, 20 Ark. 443.

Illinois.— Jewell v. Rock River Paper Co., 101 Ill. 57; Union Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Frear Stone Mfg. Co., 97 Ill. 537, 37 Am. Rep. 129.

Indiana.— Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Posey, 12 Ind. 363.

Maine.— Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Waters, 34 Me. 369.

Maryland.— Baile v. Calvert College, etc., Educational Soc., 47 Md. 117.

Minnesota.— Minneapolis Threshing Mach. Co. v. Davis, 40 Minn. 110, 41 N. W. 1026, 12 Am. St. Rep. 701, 3 L. R. A. 796.

Mississippi.— Thigpen v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 32 Miss. 347.

Missouri.— Ollesheimer v. Thompson Mfg. Co., 44 Mo. App. 172; Haskell v. Sells, 14 Mo. App. 91; Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210; Pickering v. Templeton, 2 Mo. App. 424 (invalidity of option to withdraw although subscriber had not signed the articles of association).

Nevada.— Thompson v. Reno Sav. Bank, 19 Nev. 103, 7 Pac. 83, 3 Am. St. Rep. 797.

New Hampshire.— White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124.

North Carolina.— Marshall Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99 N. C. 501, 6 S. E. 680, 6 Am. St. Rep. 539; North Carolina R. Co. v. Leach, 49 N. C. 340.

Pennsylvania.— Robinson v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 334, 72 Am. Dec. 792.

South Carolina.— Cheraw, etc., R. Co. v. White, 10 S. C. 155 (subscriber signing his name and procuring others to sign also cannot release himself by erasing his name even before the subscription paper has been delivered to the corporation); Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Coleman, 5 Rich. 118.

Tennessee.— Morrow v. Nashville Iron, etc., Co., 87 Tenn. 262, 10 S. W. 495, 10 Am. St. Rep. 658, 3 L. R. A. 37; Cunningham v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 2 Head 22.

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

United States.—Scovill v. Thayer, 105 U. S. 143, 26 L. ed. 968.

England.— Mangles v. Grand Collier Dock Co., 10 Sim. 519, 16 Eng. Ch. 519.

34. Hollingshead v. Woodward, 35 Hun (N. Y.) 410.

35. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 520, 521 [citing Matter of St. George's Steam Packet Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 191, 14 Jur. 826 (reversed in 2 Hall & T. 395, 19 L. J. Ch. 353, 2 Macn. & G. 201, 48 Eng. Ch. 156); Matter of St. George's Steam Packet Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 11, 13 Jur. 530, 18 L. J. Ch. 259]. See also In re Russian Iron Works Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 574, 12 Jur. N. S. 755, 35 L. J. Ch. 738, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 817, 659, 14 Wkly. Rep. 943; In re Russian Ironworks Co., L. R. 2 Eq. 741, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 728; Downes v. Ship, L. R. 3 H. L. 343, 37 L. J. Ch. 642, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 74, 17 Wkly. Rep. 34; In re Scottish Petroleum Co., 23 Ch. D. 413, 49 L. T. Rep. N. S. 348, 31 Wkly. Rep. 846; In re Scottish Petroleum Co., 17 Ch. D. 373, 50 L. J. Ch. 269, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 723, 29 Wkly. Rep. 372; Matter of Amazon L. Assur., etc., Co., 8 De G. M. & G. 177, 3 Drew. 409, 4 Wkly. Rep. 420, 57 Eng. Ch. 138; In re Joint-stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 3 Jur. N. S. 460. Compare Hallows v. Fernie, L. R. 3 Ch. 467, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 340, 16 Wkly. Rep. 873; Smith v. Chadwick, 20 Ch. D. 27, 51 L. J. Ch. 597, 46 L. T. Rep. N. S. 702, 30 Wkly. Rep. 661 [affirmed in 9 App. Cas. 187, 48 J. P. 644, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 697, 32 Wkly. Rep. 687].

36. Jenkins v. Bradley, 104 Wis. 540, 80 N. W. 1025. When a person makes a money subscription to a corporation to be expended in the development of its property in certain named ways, and by contract is to receive therefor "stock, bonds or other security,"

d. Cancellation and Right of Shareholder to Rescind Where Subscription Procured by Fraud.[37] It has been held that one who has been induced by the fraudulent representations of the officers and agents of an improvement company as to its financial standing and prospects to purchase shares of its capital stock is entitled to rescind the contract and recover from the company the amount paid thereon, although he paid third parties a premium and bonus to get the stock, when the certificates were issued directly to him by the company, which received the sum paid.[38]

7. Release of Subscription Resting on Conditions Disadvantageous to Corporation. If a subscription depends upon a condition onerous to the corporation, so that the corporation cannot enforce the subscription without putting itself at a disadvantage, it seems that it may release the subscriber, even without the consent of creditors, provided the other shareholders consent, acting in good faith.[39] And a resolution on the part of directors which merely has the effect of reducing or modifying the obligation of the subscriber according to the terms of the condition in his subscription, acquiesced in at the time by all parties, will not, after the lapse of a great length of time, be disturbed.[40]

8. Where Subscriber Has Acquired Legal Right to Release by Reason of Breach of Contract on Part of Corporation. Where the corporation makes a radical departure from the purpose which it was organized to promote, such as, on principles already stated,[41] confers upon dissenting shareholders the legal right to withdraw from the enterprise, it is of course competent for the directors to release them from their subscriptions.[42]

9. Releases Not Disturbed After Considerable Lapse of Time. A lapse of two years in one case, the company being also embarrassed,[43] of seven years in another,[44] of eight years in another,[45] of twelve years in another,[46] and of fifteen years in another[47] have suggested to the judges the inequity of disturbing settlements which, although wrong at the time, could not be righted so as to put the parties in statu quo.

10. Release Provable by Acquiescence and by Acts In Pais. The release by a corporation of a subscription for shares may be proved as well by the acquiescence of the shareholders, and by the fact that the corporation did not regard it as binding, as by the records.[48]

11. No Cancellation of Shares Efficacious Without Putting Sharetaker In Statu Quo. An issue of shares by a corporation for the purchase-price of property transferred to it cannot be set aside as fictitious, unless the entire transaction is set aside and canceled and the property returned to the seller.[49] The fact that as may be determined by the board of directors, and the board subsequently declares that the subscriber, by virtue of scrip issued to him on the payment of such subscription, is entitled to the bonds of the company to the extent of the sum paid in, and that such development fund paid in "is hereby recognized as an indebtedness for which the holder is entitled at once to the principal and interest in money, except where he takes bonds in lieu of money," such subscriber, to the extent of the money paid in, is a creditor of the company, and the legal effect of the contract under this action of the board of directors is that the unpaid portion of the subscription so made is canceled, provided the subscriber does not elect to take therefor the bonds of the company. Barrow v. Smith, 109 Ga. 767, 35 S. W. 108.

37. See also supra, VI, K, where this subject is considered in detail.

38. McClanahan v. Ivanhoe Land, etc., Co., 96 Va. 124, 30 S. E. 450 [distinguishing Lewis v. Berryville Land, etc., Co., 90 Va. 693, 19 S. E. 781].

39. Nettles v. Marco, 33 S. C. 47, 11 S. E. 595.

40. Putnam v. New Albany, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,481, 4 Biss. 365.

41. See supra, I, K, 2, b.

42. Meyer's Case, 16 Beav. 383.

43. Hoeft v. Kock, 123 Mich. 171, 81 N. W. 1070, 81 Am. St. Rep. 159.

44. Steacy v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,329, 5 Dill. 348.

45. Hallett v. New England Roller-Grate Co., 105 Fed. 217.

46. Cook v. Chittenden, 25 Fed. 544.

47. Putnam v. New Albany, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,481, 4 Biss. 365.

48. Tulare Sav. Bank v. Talbot, 131 Cal. 45, 63 Pac. 172.

49. Smith v. Ferries, etc., R. Co., (Cal. 1897) 51 Pac. 710.

the county bonds issued in exchange for corporate shares have been adjudged to be invalid does not authorize a judicial cancellation of the shares without an offer to return the bonds.[50]

12. Effect of Company Taking Shares Back and Reissuing Them. One who surrenders to the corporation shares of stock which have been issued to him as "full paid," but for which nothing in fact was paid, which stock the corporation afterward reissued, for value, to a solvent taker, is not liable to one who becomes a creditor subsequently to the surrender.[51] So obviously the stock of a corporation fully paid for may lawfully be returned to the company, or to a trustee for its benefit, to be sold or donated to subscribers to the corporate bonds, without creating any liability upon the stock on the part of the bondholders.[52]

13. Release by Act of Creditors — a. In General. If, after the retiring of a shareholder from the corporation by the sale of the stock, and due notice thereof as required by the charter, the creditor gives up old notes upon which the shareholder was liable and takes new ones, especially if done for the purpose of absolving him from liability, and imposing it upon his successor in the stock, this operates as a complete release to him both at law and in equity.[53]

b. Release of One Shareholder Does Not Release Others. This is for the reason already stated, that the contract of subscription is several in respect of each subscriber, and not joint.[54]

14. No Release by Reason of Default or Neglect of Commissioners. The subsequent default or neglect of the commissioners appointed to take subscriptions to the shares of a corporation in process of organization, to do some act imposed by the charter, such as to give notice to choose directors, does not operate as a revocation of a subscription.[55]

15. Release by Reason of Refusal of Corporation to Accept Subscription. If the rule already considered[56] is a sound one, that no contract is construed to be a subscription to shares until the other duly authorized body has accepted the subscription, then it must follow that where the corporation has rejected a subscription, not colorably and collusively but in good faith, its assignee in the event of insolvency will not be allowed to disaffirm its action and to compel payment from the subscriber; but his obligation will be deemed to have been extinguished.[57]

16. Release by Reason of Refusing to Sign Articles After Signing Preliminary Contract. One doctrine already considered[58] is that the subscription to a preliminary agreement to form a corporation is merely tentative and not binding, and that until the articles are signed or the corporation is formed there is a locus pœnitentiæ.[59] The other doctrine is that, after the subscriber signs the preliminary paper and others also sign, he is bound to them and they are bound to him, and he cannot escape the obligation of his contract by refusing to sign the final paper.[60]

50. Perry County v. Stebbins, 66 Ill. App. 427.

51. Johnson v. Lullman, 15 Mo. App. 55 [affirmed in 88 Mo. 567]; Erskine v. Peck, 13 Mo. App. 280 [affirmed in 83 Mo. 465].

52. Davis v. Montgomery Furnace, etc., Co., (Ala. 1890) 8 So. 496. The supreme court of Illinois has held that where corporate stock has been subscribed for but not taken up, is afterward transferred to the company, and is by the company sold to a third person at less than its face value as "treasury stock," the original subscribers are liable for the difference between what the corporation actually obtained for it and its face value. Alling v. Wenzel, 133 Ill. 264; s. c. sub nom. Alling v. Ward, 133 Ill. 264, 24 N. E. 551. Compare Cartwright v. Dickinson, 88 Tenn. 476, 12 S. W. 1030, 17 Am. St. Rep. 910, 7 L. R. A. 706.

53. New England Commercial Bank v. Newport, 6 R. I. 154, 75 Am. Dec. 688.

54. Poughkeepsie Bank v. Ibbotson, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 461. Compare Robinson v. Bealle, 20 Ga. 275.

55. Union Turnpike Road Co. v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 381.

56. See supra, VI, H, 5.

57. Potts v. Wallace, 32 Fed. 272.

58. See supra, VI, H, 6, a et seq.

59. Gleaves v. Brick Church Turnpike Co., 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 491.

60. Illinois.— Griswold v. Peoria University, 26 Ill. 41, 79 Am. Dec. 361.

Indiana.— Johnson v. Wabash, etc., Plank Road Co., 16 Ind. 389.

17. Release by Reason of Erasure of Subscriber's Name Before Subscription Delivered. If the agent has authority to receive the subscription, then the signing in a book or upon a paper in his possession is tantamount to a delivery; and hence a subsequent erasure does not prevent a suit to charge the party as a subscriber, but merely lets in parol evidence in explanation of the circumstances.[61] The authority of the agent to receive the subscription is exhausted when he receives it; and hence a subsequent notice to him by the subscriber is a mere nullity.[62] But if the agent has no authority to receive the subscription, a delivery of it to him is not a delivery of it to the company, but is a mere declaration by the subscriber of his purpose, made to a mere stranger, or perhaps a mere committal of his proposition to a stranger for delivery to the other contracting party; he may therefore revoke it and discharge himself of all obligation under it before it is handed to the company and accepted by it.[63]

18. Whether Release of One Subscriber Is Release of Others. There is some authority for the proposition that the release by the corporation of one subscriber is a release of all the others, since each is presumed to have subscribed on the faith of the others being bound;[64] but the proposition will not bear any examination, since it would result that a release of one subscriber would put an end to the corporation.[65] As each subscription is special and as the subscriptions are not joint, it seems a reasonable conclusion that the release of one subscriber, although on invalid grounds, does not at all operate to release any of the others.[66]

19. Release of Subscribers by Collusive Forfeiture of Shares. With respect to the release of subscribers by a collusive forfeiture of shares the general rule is,[67]

Massachusetts.— Bryant v. Goodnow, 5 Pick. 228; Farmington Academy v. Allen, 14 Mass. 172, 7 Am. Dec. 201.

Michigan.— Underwood v. Waldron, 12 Mich. 73.

Missouri.— Swain v. Hill, 30 Mo. App. 436; Haskell v. Sells, 14 Mo. App. 91; New Lindell Hotel Co. v. Smith, 13 Mo. App. 7.

New York.— Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. 157; Stanton v. Wilson, 2 Hill 153.

Pennsylvania.—Shober v. Lancaster County Park Assoc., 68 Pa. St. 429; Edinboro Academy v. Robinson, 37 Pa. St. 210, 78 Am. Dec. 421.

England.— That the English doctrine is the same see In re Robinson, etc., Brewery Co., L. R. 13 Eq. 228; Re Imperial Land Co., 40 L. J. Ch. 180, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 838.

61. Johnson v. Wabash, etc., Plank-Road Co., 16 Ind. 389.

62. Lowe v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 1 Head (Tenn.) 659.

63. Lowe v. Edgefield, etc., R. Co., 1 Head (Tenn.) 659. Compare Lancaster v. Elliott, 28 Mo. App. 86. No defense to an action for a call that the name of one of the subscribers was erased where it was fairly inferable that it was done in good faith and with the consent of all the directors. Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Wetsel, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 56.

A compromise decree making an offer or promise of settlement to all alike who are liable as holders of the stock of an insolvent corporation does not release those who do not accept it from their liability as shareholders. Hambleton v. Glenn, 72 Md. 331, 20 Atl. 115.

64. Rutz v. Esler, etc., Mfg. Co., 3 Ill. App. 83; Crawford County v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 141 (the managers released the other subscribers before they procured the subscription in controversy, which was a municipal subscription); McCully v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 25.

65. Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Vason, 57 Ga. 314.

66. Maine Mut. Mar. Ins. Co. v. Neal, 50 Me. 301, cancellation of premium notes in a mutual insurance company.

Release of a mere nominal subscription does not release other subscribers. Memphis Branch R. Co. v. Sullivan, 57 Ga. 240.

67. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344; Beene v. Cahawba, etc., R. Co., 3 Ala. 660.

Connecticut.—Mann v. Cooke, 20 Conn. 178; Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 12 Conn. 499.

Georgia.— Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412.

Kentucky.— Gratz v. Redd, 4 B. Mon. 178; Instone v. Frankfort Bridge Co., 2 Bibb 576, 5 Am. Dec. 638.

Mississippi.— Freeman v. Winchester, 10 Sm. & M. 577.

New York.— Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Barton, 16 N. Y. 457 note; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. 581; Northern R. Co. v. Miller, 10 Barb. 260; Mann v. Currie, 2 Barb. 294; McDonough v. Phelps, 15 How. Pr. 372; Troy Turnpike, etc., Co. v. McChesney, 21 Wend. 296; Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co. v. Small, 21 Wend. 273; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459; Highland Turnpike Co. v. McKean, 11 Johns. 98; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273; Sagory v. Dubois, 3 Sandf. Ch. 466.

although there is some authority to the contrary,[68] that where a corporation possesses the power to forfeit the shares of its members for non-payment of assessments, this is merely a cumulative remedy against the shareholders, and that the existence of the right to forfeit their shares, without its exercise, does not deprive the company of the power to maintain actions against them to recover whatever is due from them on their contracts of subscription. In such cases the corporation has an election between two remedies: It may either declare a forfeiture, or it may bring an action for the amount due. If it declares a forfeiture, and the charter, governing statute, or constating instrument does not otherwise provide, the relation between the shareholder and the corporation is thereby terminated[69] and his contract of subscription is canceled; and neither the corporation[70] nor its creditors[71] can proceed against him for the remaining instalments, which would, but for the forfeiture, be due under his contract.[72] It is obvious that the courts will not permit a power so necessary to the successful existence of corporations to be turned into an instrument for their destruction in the event of their becoming embarrassed. Moreover, when we recur to the doctrine that the North Carolina.— Tar River Nav. Co. v. Neal, 10 N. C. 520.

Tennessee.— Stokes v. Lebanon, etc., Turnpike Co., 6 Humphr. 241.

See also infra, VI, O, 2, a, (I) et seq.

68. Maine.— South Bay Meadow Dam Co. v. Gray, 30 Me. 547.

Massachusetts.— Salem Mill Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 6 Pick. 23; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128; New Bedford, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Adams, 8 Mass. 138, 5 Am. Dec. 81; Andover, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Gould, 6 Mass. 40, 4 Am. Dec. 80; Worcester Turnpike Corp. v. Willard, 5 Mass. 80, 4 Am. Dec. 39.

Mississippi.— Smith v. Natchez Steamboat Co., 1 How. 479.

New Hampshire.— New Hampshire Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300; Franklin Glass Co. v. Alexander, 2 N. H. 380, 9 Am. Dec. 92.

New York.—Townsend v. Goewey, 19 Wend. 424, 32 Am. Dec. 514; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory Co. v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459.

See also infra, VI, O, 2, b.

69. As under the railway acts of Massachusetts (Mass. Rev. Stat. (1836), c. 39, § 53; Mass Gen. Stat. (1860), c. 63, § 9). See Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Newton, 1 Gray (Mass.) 544; Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Chandler, 13 Metc. (Mass.) 311.

70. Mechanics' Foundry, etc., Co. v. Hall, 121 Mass. 272; Cutler v. Middlesex Factory Co., 14 Pick. (Mass.) 483; Ripley v. Sampson, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 371; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128; Franklin Glass Co. v. White, 14 Mass. 286; Andover, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Gould, 6 Mass. 40, 4 Am. Dec. 80; Small v. Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co., 2 N. Y. 330 [overruling 2 Hill (N. Y.) 127, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 273]; Ashton v. Burbank, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 582, 2 Dill. 435; In re Financial Corp., L. R. 2 Ch. 714, 719, 731; In re Hallenbeagle Min. Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 321, 36 L. J. Ch. 317, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 546, 15 Wkly. Rep. 294.

71. Allen v. Montgomery R. Co., 11 Ala. 437; Macauly v. Robinson, 18 La. Ann. 619; Mills v. Stewart, 41 N. Y. 384, Hunt, C. J., and Woodruff, J., dissenting [affirming 62 Barb. (N. Y.) 444].

72. The rule that a forfeiture of shares terminates a shareholder's liability to creditors has been carried so far, in New York, as to hold that after forfeiture a shareholder is not liable for debts contracted while he was a shareholder. Mills v. Stewart, 41 N. Y. 384.

That a similar rule obtains under the English Joint-Stock Companies Act and under the Companies Act of 1862 see In re Oriental Commercial Bank, L. R. 7 Ch. 200, 41 L. J. Ch. 11, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 443, 20 Wkly. Rep. 25; In re Blakely Ordnance Co., L. R. 6 Ch. 800, 40 L. J. Ch. 497, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 47, 19 Wkly. Rep. 687; In re Accidental, etc., Ins. Corp., L. R. 5 Ch. 428, 39 L. J. Ch. 585, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 223, 18 Wkly. Rep. 717; In re Blakely Ordnance Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 63, 39 L. J. Ch. 124, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 572, 18 Wkly. Rep. 103; In re Natal Invest. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 22, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 445, 18 Wkly. Rep. 30; In re Accidental, etc., Ins. Corp., L. R. 4 Ch. 266, 38 L. J. Ch. 201, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 624, 17 Wkly. Rep. 216; In re Barned's Banking Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 161, 37 L. J. Ch. 87, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 305, 16 Wkly. Rep. 113 [affirming L. R. 4 Eq. 458]; In re Cobre Copper Mine Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 107, 39 L. J. Ch. 231, 18 Wkly. Rep. 371; In re China Steamship Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 232, 37 L. J. Ch. 901, 16 Wkly. Rep. 995; In re Contract Corp., L. R. 6 Eq. 17, 37 L. J. Ch. 617; In re Blakely Ordnance Co., L. R. 4 Eq. 135, 36 L. J. Ch. 665, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 472; Webb v. Whiffin, L. R. 5 H. L. 711, 42 L. J. Ch. 161; In re European Assur. Soc., 3 Ch. D. 388, 46 L. J. Ch. 411, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 654, 25 Wkly. Rep. 279; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 4 De G. & J. 437, 5 Jur. N. S. 853, 28 L. J. Ch. 721, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 294, 7 Wkly. Rep. 645, 61 Eng. Ch. 344; Matter of Kollman's R. Locomotive, etc., Imp. Co., 2 Hall & T. 388, 14 Jur. 655, 19 L. J. Ch. 332, 2 Macn. & G. 197, 48 Eng. Ch. 152; Thompson Stockh. § 97.

capital stock of a corporation is a trust fund for the payment of its creditors,[73] it becomes clear that these courts will not permit this fund to be frittered away by collusive forfeitures of shares made by the directors while the company is in failing circumstances, and with the view of enabling the favored shareholders to escape from liability to the company's creditors. The American books abound in the strongest expressions of opinion upon the principle which governs this subject,[74] and the English courts unite with ours in holding that a collusive forfeiture of shares made by a corporation when in a condition of insolvency or of impaired credit will not release the shareholders in the event of the company being wound up.[75] Such arrangements, in the view of the American courts, are void as to creditors,[76] unless the creditors assent to them.[77]

20. Bona Fide Compromises With Shareholders Are Valid. This doctrine does not extend so far as to annul a bona fide compromise of a question fairly in dispute, made between a corporation and one whom it claims to hold liable as a shareholder,[78] or a compromise which becomes necessary to save the company

73. See infra, VI, M, 1, b, (I).

74. Mann v. Cooke, 20 Conn. 178; Mills v. Stewart, 41 N. Y. 384; Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273; Bedford R. Co. v. Bowser, 48 Pa. St. 29; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203; Putnam v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 16 Wall. (U. S.) 290, 21 L. ed. 361.

75. In re Agricultural Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 161, 12 Jur. N. S. 79, 35 L. J. Ch. 296, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 468, 14 Wkly. Rep. 266 [overruling it seems Matter of Agricultural Cattle Ins. Co., 4 De G. F. & J. 566, 8 Jur. N. S. 926, 31 L. J. Ch. 861, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 142, 10 Wkly. Rep. 852, 65 Eng. Ch. 442]; Spackman v. Evans, L. R. 3 H. L. 171, 37 L. J. Ch. 752, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 151 [affirming 11 Jur. N. S. 207, 34 L. J. Ch. 321, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 130, 13 Wkly. Rep. 479]; Richmond's Case, 4 Kay & J. 305, 6 Wkly. Rep. 779. And see In re Agriculturists' Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 511; In re London, etc., Starch Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 77, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 16 Wkly. Rep. 751; Matter of Vale of Neath, etc., Brewery Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 244.

As to what amounts to a valid forfeiture or release of a shareholder under the English Companies Act of 1862 see in addition to the foregoing In re United Service Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 707, 39 L. J. Ch. 730, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 331, 18 Wkly. Rep. 1058; In re Natal Invest. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 22, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 445, 18 Wkly. Rep. 30. A clause in the deed of settlement of a joint-stock company to the effect that, in all cases not provided for by that or any supplemental deed of settlement, the directors may act in such a manner as to promote the interests and welfare of the retiring company has been held not to enable the directors to cancel the shares of a retiring director, so as to exempt him from future responsibility as a contributory. Matter of St. Marylebone Joint-Stock Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 198, 14 Jur. 610, 19 L. J. Ch. 389.

76. Mann v. Cooke, 20 Conn. 178; Pickering v. Templeton, 2 Mo. App. 424; Mills v. Stewart, 41 N. Y. 384; Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273; Sagory v. Dubois, 3 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 466; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203; Putnam v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 16 Wall. (U. S.) 390, 21 L. ed. 361; Upton v. Hansbrough, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,801, 3 Biss. 417.

77. Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273.

For a distinctive doctrine in the English courts on the subject of the release of shareholders by forfeiture of their shares see 2 Thompson Corp. § 1552; Thompson Stockh. § 196 et seq. The following cases were there examined: In re London, etc., Bank, L. R. 7 Ch. 55, 41 L. J. Ch. 1, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 471, 20 Wkly. Rep. 45; In re Agriculturist Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 79; In re Blakely Ordnance Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 412, 37 L. J. Ch. 230, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 554, 16 Wkly. Rep. 322; In re Agriculturist Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 161, 12 Jur. N. S. 79, 35 L. J. Ch. 296, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 468, 14 Wkly. Rep. 266; In re Cobre Copper Mine Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 107, 39 L. J. Ch. 231, 18 Wkly. Rep. 371; In re China Steamship Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 232, 37 L. J. Ch. 901, 16 Wkly. Rep. 995; In re East Konsberg Co., L. R. 1 Eq. 309; Evans v. Smallcombe, L. R. 3 H. L. 249, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 207; Spackman v. Evans, L. R. 3 H. L. 171, 37 L. J. Ch. 752, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 151; Ex p. Warkworth Dock Co., 18 Beav. 629; Moore v. Rawlins, 6 C. B. N. S. 289, 28 L. J. C. P. 247, 95 E. C. L. 289; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 4 De G. & J. 437, 5 Jur. N. S. 853, 28 L. J. Ch. 721, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 294, 7 Wkly. Rep. 645, 61 Eng. Ch. 344; Matter of Agriculturist Cattle Ins. Co., 3 De G. J. & S. 41, 11 Jur. N. S. 572, 34 L. J. Ch. 503, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 595, 13 Wkly. Rep. 849, 68 Eng. Ch. 32; Matter of St. Marylebone Joint-stock Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 198, 14 Jur. 610, 19 L. J. Ch. 389; Matter of Kollman's R. Locomotive, etc., Imp. Co., Hall & T. 388, 14 Jur. 655, 19 L. J. Ch. 332, 2 Macn. & G. 197, 48 Eng. Ch. 152; Martin's Case, 2 Hem. & M. 669; Holt's Case, 1 Sim. N. S. 389, 40 Eng. Ch. 389.

That the liquidators cannot cancel valid forfeitures made by the directors see In re China Steamship Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 232, 37 L. J. Ch. 901, 16 Wkly. Rep. 995.

78. Whitaker v. Grummond, 68 Mich. 249, 36 N. W. 62; Dixon v. Evans, L. R. 5 H. L.

from hopeless embarrassment,[79] assuming of course that the directors are vested with this power. But it is necessary to the operation of this principle that there should be something to compromise — that there should be at least a bona fide dispute.[80] Accordingly it was deemed no argument to support the validity of a collusive forfeiture that the deed of settlement authorized the board of directors to compromise disputed claims; or that the other shareholders, having access to the books, might have known it, and must be deemed, after a lapse of considerable time, to have assented to it.[81]

21. Other Facts and Conditions Which Do Not Operate to Release. It has been held that a subscriber to the shares of a corporation will not be released from his contract by reason of the fact that other subscribers have not paid their subscriptions in full;[82] that the managing officers of the corporation have mismanaged its affairs, or committed breaches of their trust in a given particular;[83] that the subscriber was released from the obligation of his subscription, the rights of creditors not being involved;[84] that the promoters secured a subscription to the capital stock of the proposed company in excess of the prescribed amount, it not appearing that defendant's stock was a part of the alleged excess;[85] or that the directors passed a resolution to declare the shares of the subscriber forfeited for non-payment of his subscription at the end of thirty days, no further action to forfeit the shares having been taken.[86]

M. Payment For Shares — 1. In General — a. General Rule That Shares Can Be Issued Only at Full Value — (i) Statement of Rule. Unless the governing statute otherwise provides, the general rule is that a corporation or those acting in its behalf cannot issue its shares in the first instance at a discount, or except upon an agreement that they shall be paid for at their full value.[87] Under 606, 42 L. J. Ch. 139 [reversing L. R. 5 Ch. 79]; In re Norwich Provident Ins. Soc., 8 Ch. D. 334, 47 L. J. Ch. 601, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 267, 26 Wkly. Rep. 441; Matter of Agriculturist Cattle Ins. Co., 3 De G. J. & S. 41, 11 Jur. N. S. 572, 34 L. J. Ch. 503, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 595, 13 Wkly. Rep. 849, 68 Eng. Ch. 32. See also In re London, etc., Bank, L. R. 7 Ch. 55, 41 L. J. Ch. 1, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 471, 20 Wkly. Rep. 45 [reversing L. R. 12 Eq. 331]; In re Canadian Native Oil Co., L. R. 5 Eq. 118, 37 L. J. Ch. 257.

79. New Albany v. Burke, 11 Wall. (U. S.) 96, 20 L. ed. 155.

80. In re Agriculturist Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 79 [reversed on other grounds in L. R. 5. H. L. 606, 42 L. J. Ch. 139]; Phosphate of Lime Co. v. Green, L. R. 7 C. P. 43, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 636; In re United Ports Co., L. R. 13 Eq. 474, 41 L. J. Ch. 270, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 124, 20 Wkly. Rep. 356; Spackman v. Evans, L. R. 3 H. L. 171, 188, 231, 37 L. J. Ch. 752, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 151; Livingstone v. Temperance Colonization Soc., 17 Ont. App. 379. Compare In re London, etc., Bank, L. R. 7 Ch. 55, 41 L. J. Ch. 1, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 471, 20 Wkly. Rep. 45.

81. In re Agriculturist Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 161, 12 Jur. N. S. 79, 35 L. J. Ch. 296, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 468, 14 Wkly. Rep. 266.

Valid cancellation of shares upheld, although made on invalid grounds. In re London, etc., Bank, L. R. 7 Ch. 55, 41 L. J. Ch. 1, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 471, 20 Wkly. Rep. 45 [distinguishing Martin's Case, 2 Hem. & M. 669].

Municipal subscription to railway shares discharged in bonds, bonds afterward repurchased at a reduction, and transaction upheld. New Albany v. Burke, 11 Wall. (U. S.) 96, 20 L. ed. 155.

Surrendering shares in land company in exchange for lands. Franco-Texan Land Co. v. Bousselet, 70 Tex. 422, 7 S. W. 761.

82. Cook v. Hopkinsville, etc., Turnpike Road Co., 32 S. W. 748, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 839.

83. Hards v. Platte Valley Imp. Co., 46 Nebr. 709, 65 N. W. 781.

84. Kesner v. World's Fair Hippodrome, etc., Co., 62 Ill. App. 89; Stone v. Vandalia Coal, etc., Co., 59 Ill. App. 536; United Growers Co. v. Eisner, 22 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 906.

85. Shick v. Citizens' Enterprise Co., 15 Ind. App. 329, 44 N. E. 48, 57 Am. St. Rep. 230.

86. Hays v. Franklin County Lumber Co., 35 Nebr. 511, 53 N. W. 381. See also Cook v. Hopkinsville, etc., Turnpike Road Co., 32 S. W. 748, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 839 (subscription to shares of a turnpike road company); Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Conway, 177 Pa. St. 364, 35 Atl. 716 (subscription to the shares of a railway company).

87. Williams v. Evans, 87 Ala. 725, 6 So. 702, 6 L. R. A. 218; Kehlor v. Lademann, 11 Mo. App. 550; Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203. Compare New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Frank, 39 La. Ann. 707, 2 So. 310; McDaniel v. Harvey, 51 Mo. App. 198 (directors of reorganized banking corporation cannot receive in payment of their share sub-the operation of this rule any scheme by which shares are to be issued at a percentage of their par value is, in the absence of a statute sanctioning it, ultra vires, and not enforceable.[88]

(II) Directors Have No Power to Fix Price of Shares at Less Than Face Value. The foregoing proposition necessarily includes the further proposition that the directors of a corporation, unless thereto authorized by charter or statute, have no power to fix the price of shares at less than their face value, and to issue them at such reduced price.[89]

(III) Such Contracts Not Aided in Equity. Contracts to issue shares at less than their par value, being ultra vires the directors and fraudulent in law, will not, in the absence of facts creating an estoppel, be aided in equity by a decree for specific performance, while they remain executory,[90] especially where the consideration is positively illegal.[91]

(IV) Shareholders Liable to Make Up Difference in Favor of Creditors of Corporation. The effect of this rule is that shareholders who purchase their shares from the company at less than their par value will in the event of its insolvency be liable to make good to its creditors the difference between its par value and the price at which it was issued to them.[92] They must then pay, for the benefit of the creditors, any balances on account of shares subscribed for or purchased by them which have not been paid up in good faith, in money or in money's worth.[93]

b. Effect of American Doctrine That Assets of Corporation Are Trust Fund For Its Creditors — (I) Statement of Doctrine. A doctrine of the American courts, slowly becoming obsolete, invented by Mr. Justice Story,[94] is that the assets of a corporation are a trust fund for the payment of its creditors, who have an equitable lien or charge upon it, superior to that of the shareholders,[95] and scriptions the certificates of old shares in the old insolvent corporation which have no money value); Welton v. Saffery, [1897] A. C. 299, 66 L. J. Ch. 362, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 505, 45 Wkly. Rep. 508.

In England it cannot do this even for the limited purpose of adjusting the rights of contributories among themselves, after the claims of creditors and the cost of winding-up have been satisfied. Welton v. Saffery, [1897] A. C. 299, 66 L. J. Ch. 362, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 505, 45 Wkly. Rep. 508.

The rule of the text applies to original corporators as well as to subsequent subscribers, and the stock which remains unsold is to be held as security for creditors. Cole v. Adams, 19 Tex. Civ. App. 507, 40 S. W. 1052.

88. Zelaya Min. Co. v. Meyer, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 487, 28 N. Y. St. 759; Sturges v. Stetson, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,568, 1 Biss. 246.

Promoters, being trustees for the corporation which they are creating, cannot issue shares to themselves except upon an agreement for full payment. Dunn v. Howe, 96 Fed. 160.

89. Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210; Fisk v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 53 Barb. (N. Y.) 513; Sturges v. Stetson, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,568, 1 Biss. 246.

Power construed.— A power conferred by charter upon directors to sell "notes, bonds, scrip, and certificates for the payment of money or property," etc., confers no power upon them to issue shares of the corporation at less than par. Sturges v. Stetson, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,568, 1 Biss. 246.

90. Sturges v. Stetson, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,568, 1 Biss. 246.

91. Le Warne v. Meyer, 38 Fed. 191, shares issued in the purchase of lottery privileges.

92. Kehlor v. Lademann, 11 Mo. App. 550; Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210.

93. Illinois.— Bates v. Great Western Tel. Co., 134 Ill. 536, 25 N. E. 521 [following Great Western Tel. Co. v. Gray, 122 Ill. 630, 14 N. E. 214].

Iowa.— Osgood v. King, 42 Iowa 478.

Maine.—McAvity v. Lincoln Pulp, etc., Co., 82 Me. 504, 20 Atl. 82.

Montana.—Kelly v. Clark, 21 Mont. 291, 53 Pac. 959, 69 Am. St. Rep. 668, 42 L. R. A. 621.

New York.— Boynton v. Hatch, 47 N. Y. 225; Thurston v. Duffy, 38 Hun 327.

Pennsylvania.— Bailey v. Pittsburgh, etc., Gas Coal, etc., Co., 69 Pa. St. 334.

Wisconsin.— Jenkins v. Bradley, 104 Wis. 540, 80 N. W. 1025; Gogebic Invest. Co. v. Iron Chief Min. Co., 78 Wis. 427, 47 N. W. 726, 23 Am. St. Rep. 417.

United States.—Hawley v. Upton, 102 U. S. 314, 26 L. ed. 179; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

94. Wood v. Dummer, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,944, 3 Mason 308.

95. Alabama.— Curry v. Woodward, 53 Ala. 371; Smith v. Huckabee, 53 Ala. 191; St. Marys Bank v. St. John, 25 Ala. 566; Paschall v. Whitsett, 11 Ala. 472; Allen v. Montgomery R. Co., 11 Ala. 437.

Georgia.— Reid v. Eatonton Mfg. Co., 40 Ga. 98, 2 Am. Rep. 563; Robison v. Carey, that the directors of a corporation are consequently in a sense trustees for its creditors.[96]

(II) Of What This Trust Fund Consists. The capital stock of a corporation, which is subject to the operation of this principle, consists of all the stock which the members have subscribed.[97] This is deemed to consist of three funds: (1) Money which has been subscribed and paid in. (2) Money thus subscribed but not paid in.[98] (3) Money thus subscribed, but afterward improperly divided among the members, leaving the debts of the corporation unpaid.[99] Stated in another way the capital stock of a corporation in the eye of an American court of equity is the stake or pledge upon which the company obtains credit. If any member has not paid his share of it into the common treasury he is deemed to hold so much of a fund in his pocket, upon which the creditors of the concern have an equitable charge or lien, and a court of equity will lay hold of him and compel him to surrender up this fund for the benefit of such creditors.[100]

(III) Doctrine Makes Shareholders Constructive Trustees For Creditors. It is a necessary part of this doctrine that shareholders who have

8 Ga. 527; Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412.

Illinois.— Tarbell v. Page, 24 Ill. 46.

Massachusetts.— Baker v. Atlas Bank, 9 Metc. 182; Spear v. Grant, 16 Mass. 9; Vose v. Grant, 15 Mass. 505.

Mississippi.— Payne v. Bullard, 23 Miss. 88, 55 Am. Dec. 74.

New York.— Mann v. Pentz, 3 N. Y. 415; Hurd v. Tallman, 60 Barb. 272; Tinkham v. Borst, 31 Barb. 407; Briggs v. Penniman, 8 Cow. 387, 18 Am. Dec. 454; Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273.

Ohio.— Henry v. Vermillion, etc., R. Co., 17 Ohio 187; Miers v. Zanesville, etc., Turnpike Co., 11 Ohio 273, 13 Ohio 197.

Vermont.— Bassett v. St. Albans Hotel Co., 47 Vt. 313.

Wisconsin.— Adler v. Milwaukee Patent Brick Mfg. Co., 13 Wis. 57.

United States.— Sawyer v. Hoag, 17 Wall. 610, 21 L. ed. 731; Putnam v. New Albany, etc., R. Co., 16 Wall. 390, 21 L. ed. 361; New Albany v. Burke, 11 Wall. 96, 20 L. ed. 155; Ogilvie v. Knox Ins. Co., 22 How. 380, 16 L. ed. 349; Curran v. Arkansas, 15 How. 304, 14 L. ed. 705; Mumma v. Potomac Co., 8 Pet. 286, 8 L. ed. 945; Marsh v. Burroughs, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,122, 1 Woods 467; Payson v. Stoever, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,863, 2 Dill. 431; Wood v. Dummer, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,944, 3 Mason 308.

See also Story Eq. Jur. § 1252.

96. Schley v. Dixon, 24 Ga. 273, 71 Am. Dec. 121; Leffman v. Flanigan, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 155, 20 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 148; Maisch v. Saving Fund, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 30, 19 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 140. See also St. Marys Bank v. St. John, 25 Ala. 566; Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Bridges, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 556, 46 Am. Dec. 528; Gratz v. Redd, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 178.

This doctrine is not found in the modern English books and was denied in one English case. In re Wincham Shipbuilding, etc., Co., 9 Ch. D. 322, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 659, 26 Wkly. Rep. 823.

The object of the English Winding-Up Act of 1848 was said to be to produce equality among shareholders. Ex p. Workworth Dock Co., 18 Beav. 629. And even under the Companies Act (1862), which was framed with the view of winding-up companies for the benefit of creditors as well as for that of shareholders the social rights of the shareholders seem to have been looked to by the judges quite as much as those of the creditors. Spackman v. Evans, L. R. 3 H. L. 171, 37 L. J. Ch. 752, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 151.

97. Alabama.— Allen v. Montgomery R. Co., 11 Ala. 437.

Georgia.— Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412.

Mississippi.— Payne v. Bullard, 23 Miss. 88, 55 Am. Dec. 74.

New York.— Mann v. Pentz, 3 N. Y. 415; Briggs v. Penniman, 8 Cow. 387, 18 Am. Dec. 454; Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273.

Wisconsin.— Adler v. Milwaukee Patent Brick Mfg. Co., 13 Wis. 57.

United States.— Wood v. Dummer, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,944, 3 Mason 308.

98. Alabama.— Allen v. Montgomery R. Co., 11 Ala. 437.

Connecticut.— Ward v. Griswoldville Mfg. Co., 16 Conn. 593.

Georgia.— Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412.

Massachusetts.—Spear v. Grant, 16 Mass. 9.

Mississippi.— Payne v. Bullard, 23 Miss. 88, 55 Am. Dec. 74.

New York.— Mann v. Pentz, 3 N. Y. 415; Briggs v. Penniman, 8 Cow. 387, 18 Am. Dec. 454; Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273.

Ohio.— Henry v. Vermillion, etc., R. Co., 17 Ohio 187.

Vermont.— Bassett v. St. Albans Hotel Co., 47 Vt. 313.

United States.— Sanger v. Upton, 91 U. S. 56, 23 L. ed. 220.

99. Reid v. Eatonton Mfg. Co., 40 Ga. 98, 2 Am. Rep. 563; Lewis v. Robertson, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 558; Curran v. Arkansas, 15 How. (U. S.) 304, 14 L. ed. 705; Wood v. Dummer, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,944, 3 Mason 308.

100. Adler v. Milwaukee Patent Brick Mfg. Co., 13 Wis. 57.

not paid in all that they have subscribed of the capital stock of the company are, as to so much as they still retain, constructive trustees for the creditors of the corporation. But some of the American courts have gone further and held that they are express trustees for such creditors, and that this trust is of that fiduciary character which prevents the running of the statute of limitations in favor of the shareholders and against the creditors, until the corporation itself dissolves or ceases business.[101]

(IV) Corporation Cannot Transmute Trust Fund Into Ordinary Debt. In so far as this trust fund consists of capital subscribed for but not paid in, the corporation cannot transmute it into an ordinary debt by a simulated payment, whereby the subscriber gives his check to the company for the full amount of his subscription, and receives back the check of the company for a portion of it as a pretended loan, thus creating a debt which, if the operation is effectual, ceases to be a trust fund to which creditors can look and becomes assets with which the directors may deal as they choose.[102]

(V) Corporation Cannot Release Members From Paying For Shares — (A) In General. In the view of most American courts whoever subscribes to an unconditional agreement to take shares becomes liable to pay for them, subject to the conditions named in the subscription paper, and to those imposed by the charter or by the general law.[103] As already seen[104] this obligation of payment cannot be released by the corporation without the sanction of express law so as to impair the security of creditors.

(B) Cannot Agree That Unpaid Shares Shall Be Deemed Fully Paid Up. Among the many devices which have been resorted to by the members of corporations to escape the liability assumed by their contracts of subscriptions, perhaps the most common and at the same time the most shallow and ineffective has been for the members to agree among themselves that their shares shall be deemed to be "fully paid up," when in fact they have not been so paid.[1] Even in England, where these questions are generally considered solely with reference to the rights

101. Curry v. Woodward, 53 Ala. 371, 376. The supreme court of Georgia declares it to be "a direct trust, purely technical, not cognizable at law, but falling within the proper, peculiar, and exclusive jurisdiction of a Court of Equity; and, consequently, one not subject to the presumption of satisfaction or payment or waiver." Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 502, 52 Am. Dec. 412. In the high court of errors and appeals of Mississippi it was said to be "a continuing, subsisting trust and confidence to which the statute of limitations has no application." Payne v. Bullard, 23 Miss. 88, 90, 55 Am. Dec. 74. See also Allibone v. Hager, 46 Pa. St. 48, in which case the question arose under a statute.

102. Sawyer v. Hoag, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 610, 21 L. ed. 731.

103. Alabama.— Beene v. Cahawba, etc., R. Co., 3 Ala. 660.

Connecticut.—Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 12 Conn. 499.

Illinois.— Klein v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 514; Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 504.

Kentucky.— Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. 314.

Maine.— Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Palmer, 34 Me. 366.

Massachusetts.— Brigham v. Mead, 10 Allen 245.

Missouri.— Pickering v. Templeton, 2 Mo. App. 424.

New York.—Dayton v. Borst, 31 N. Y. 435; Seymour v. Sturgess, 26 N. Y. 134; Burr v. Wilcox, 22 N. Y. 551; Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Barton, 16 N. Y. 457; Lake Ontario, etc., R. Co. v. Mason, 16 N. Y. 451; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Strong v. Wheaton, 38 Barb. 616; Northern R. Co. v. Miller, 10 Barb. 260; Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Croswell, 5 Hill 383, 40 Am. Dec. 354; Spear v. Crawford, 14 Wend. 20, 28 Am. Dec. 513; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory Co. v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459; Highland Turnpike Co. v. McKean, 11 Johns. 98; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273; Union Turnpike Road v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. 381; Sagory v. Dubois, 3 Sandf. Ch. 466.

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

United States.— Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

104. See supra, VI, L, 2, a et seq.

1. Deadwood First Nat. Bank v. Gustin-Minerva Consol. Min. Co., 42 Minn. 327, 44 N. W. 198, 18 Am. St. Rep. 510, 6 L. R. A. 676; A. Wight Co. v. Steinkemeyer, 6 Mo. App. 575; Pickering v. Templeton, 2 Mo. App. 424; Handley v. Stutz, 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 540, 35 L. ed. 227 (doctrine conceded, although not applied).

of the shareholders inter sese,[2] such agreements as between the original parties and their privies have been declared invalid by the courts.[3] It follows that any agreement, secret or otherwise, between the corporation and its shareholders that its shares shall not be paid in full, although possibly good as between the corporation and shareholders, is void as to creditors of the corporation in the event of its insolvency.[4]

(C) Such Agreements Characterized as Frauds Upon Other Shareholders and Upon the Law. Agreements releasing subscribers to the shares of corporations, upon their making sham payments of their subscriptions, have been justly held to be frauds upon the law.[5] All secret agreements releasing particular subscribers from the obligation of payment or otherwise attempting to reduce the obligation of their contract are then in the first instance void as frauds upon other subscribers.[6] This is especially so as to future subscribers who may be presumed to subscribe on the faith and under the persuasion so to speak of the subscription thus released.[7]

(D) Corporation Cannot Issue New Shares to Old Shareholders Upon Agreement That They Shall Not Be Paid in Full. A corporation cannot, upon increasing its capital stock, issue the new shares to its existing shareholders upon an agreement that the new shares shall not be paid in full, but shall be non-assessable (in the particular case) to the extent only of ten dollars per share of the par value of one hundred dollars, as against creditors who had received no notice of the arrangement prior to the contracting of their debt.[8] Equally futile as against creditors was the passage by the corporation of a resolution declaring that eighty per cent of all its new and increased stock should be non-assessable, and the issuing of share certificates to such of its shareholders as have paid the twenty per cent, which certificates bear the words "non-assessable."[9]

(E) What Agreements Avoided Under This Rule. All agreements between

2. See supra, VI, M, 1, b, (I), note 96; and infra, VI, M, 1, c, note 46.

3. In re Anglo-Moravian Hungarian Junction, L. R. 15 Eq. 407, 42 L. J. Ch. 474, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 264, 22 Wkly. Rep. 45; Ex p. Daniell, 1 De G. & J. 372, 3 Jur. N. S. 803, 26 L. J. Ch. 563, 5 Wkly. Rep. 677, 58 Eng. Ch. 289 [affirming 22 Beav. 43, 23 Beav. 568].

4. Connecticut.— Mann v. Cooke, 20 Conn. 178.

Illinois.— Jewell v. Rock River Paper Co., 101 Ill. 57; Union Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Frear Stone Mfg. Co., 97 Ill. 537, 37 Am. Rep. 129; Melvin v. Lamar Ins. Co., 80 Ill. 446, 22 Am. Rep. 199; Zirkel v. Joliet Opera House Co., 79 Ill. 334.

Iowa.— Jackson v. Traer, 64 Iowa 469, 20 N. W. 764, 52 Am. Rep. 449; Osgood v. King, 42 Iowa 478; Burnham v. Northwestern Ins. Co., 36 Iowa 632.

Maryland.— Crawford v. Rohrer, 59 Md. 599; Rider v. Morrison, 54 Md. 429.

Missouri.— Gill v. Balis, 72 Mo. 424; Skrainka v. Allen, 7 Mo. App. 434 [affirmed in 76 Mo. 384]; Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210; Pickering v. Templeton, 2 Mo. App. 424.

New Hampshire.— White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124.

New Jersey.— Wetherbee v. Baker, 35 N. J. Eq. 501.

New York.— Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. 456, 10 Am. Dec. 273; Sagory v. Dubois, 3 Sandf. Ch. 466.

Pennsylvania.— Robinson v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 334, 72 Am. Dec. 792; Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489.

Vermont.— Blodgett v. Morrill, 20 Vt. 509.

United States.— Scovill v. Thayer, 105 U. S. 143, 26 L. ed. 968; Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203; Sawyer v. Hoag, 17 Wall. 610, 21 L. ed. 731; Upton v. Hansbrough, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,801, 3 Biss. 417.

England.— In re Agriculturist Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 161, 12 Jur. N. S. 79, 35 L. J. Ch. 296, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 468, 14 Wkly. Rep. 266. See also Preston v. Guyon, 5 Jur. 146, 10 L. J. Ch. 73, 11 Sim. 327, 34 Eng. Ch. 327; Mangles v. Grand Collier Dock Co., 10 Sim. 519, 16 Eng. Ch. 519.

5. Or "in fraud of the statute." Port Whitby, etc., R. Co. v. Jones, 31 U. C. Q. B. 170.

6. White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124.

7. Melvin v. Lamar Ins. Co., 80 Ill. 446, 22 Am. Rep. 199.

Not necessary that other shareholders should prove that they were actually misled, but this will be presumed. Melvin v. Lamar Ins. Co., 80 Ill. 446, 22 Am. Rep. 199.

8. Union Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Frear Stone Mfg. Co., 97 Ill. 537, 37 Am. Rep. 129.

9. Upton v. Jackson, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,802, 1 Flipp. 413.

the subscriber and the corporation,[10] its officers,[11] agents,[12] promoters,[13] or members,[14] by which payment is dispensed with in whole or in part, or by which colorable or nominal payments are accepted,[15] are void, as where shares are voted to a director as a bonus, under a contract between him and the corporation that they shall not be assessable;[16] where a Louisiana corporation, organized for the nominal purpose of developing public improvements in Mexico, but really to carry on a lottery, issued its shares as paid up without any payments being made thereon;[17] or where corporate stock which has been subscribed for, but not paid up, is transferred to the company, and by it sold as "treasury stock" to third persons for less than its par value.[18]

(VI) Corporation Cannot Effect Simulated Payment by Allowing Shares to Be Paid Up and Then Lending Money Back to Shareholder. The capital stock of a corporation being a trust fund for the security of creditors,[19] this trust cannot be defeated by a simulated payment of the stock subscription, or by anything short of an actual payment in good faith.[20] The assets of a company cannot be applied to return to the shareholders what they have, or ought to have, paid upon their shares.[21] An arrangement by which the stock is nominally paid and the money immediately taken back as a loan to the shareholder is a device to change the debt from a debt impressed with the character of a trust to an ordinary loan, and is not a valid payment as against creditors of the corporation, although it may be good as between the company and the shareholder.[22] But a division among the shareholders of money which it has not engaged to apply in keeping up the nominal amount of their share capital has been held not a return and division of capital among the shareholders so as to render the dividend ultra vires.[23]

(VII) Corporation Cannot Issue Its Shares as a Bonus—(A) Statement of Rule. Even in England, where the American doctrine that the assets of a corporation are a trust fund for its creditors does not obtain in the sense in which it obtains in America, it is held that a corporation cannot give away its shares by issuing them to its existing shareholders as a bonus, although this is attempted in good faith and the transaction is publicly registered under the pro-

10. Great Western Tel. Co. v. Gray, 122 Ill. 630, 14 N. E. 214; Skrainka v. Allen, 7 Mo. App. 434 [affirmed in 76 Mo. 384]; Thompson v. Reno Sav. Bank, 19 Nev. 103, 7 Pac. 68, 3 Am. St. Rep. 797; Lee v. Imbrie, 13 Oreg. 510, 11 Pac. 270.

11. Osgood v. King, 42 Iowa 478.

12. Jewell v. Rock River Paper Co., 101 Ill. 57.

13. Joy v. Manion, 28 Mo. App. 55; Ollesheimer v. Thompson Mfg. Co., 44 Mo. App. 172.

14. A shareholder cannot defend against creditors, after the corporation has become insolvent, on the ground that there was a verbal understanding between himself and some members of the company that he should be relieved of his stock after certain difficulties were settled in the company. Topeka Mfg. Co. v. Hale, 39 Kan. 23, 17 Pac. 601.

15. Crawford v. Rohrer, 59 Md. 599.

16. Richardson v. Green, 133 U. S. 30, 10 S. Ct. 280, 33 L. ed. 516.

17. Le Warne v. Meyer, 38 Fed. 191.

18. Alling v. Wenzel, 133 Ill. 264, 24 N. E. 551. On the same principle it has been held that where the stock of a corporation is not subscribed for up to the minimum amount of capital fixed by the charter, and none of it is paid in, if the corporators organize, elect themselves as officers, proceed to business, and contract debts up to and beyond the nominal capital, having paid in nothing whatever, they commit a legal fraud by so doing, and are liable to creditors to make good the minimum capital, together with interest thereon, should this be necessary to discharge the corporate debts. Burns v. Beck, 83 Ga. 471, 10 S. E. 121. Compare Hill v. Silvey, 81 Ga. 500, 8 S. E. 808, 3 L. R. A. 150.

Substituting the paid-up shares of another member not allowed. Marshall Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99 N. C. 501, 6 S. E. 680, 6 Am. St. Rep. 539.

Payment by other members admissible. Vail v. Phillips, 14 N. J. L. J. 45.

19. See supra, VI, M, 1, b, (I),

20. Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

21. Lee v. Neuchatel Asphalte Co., 41 Ch. D. 1, 58 L. J. Ch. 408, 61 L. T. Rep. N. S. 11, 1 Meg. 140, 37 Wkly. Rep. 321.

22. Sawyer v. Hoag, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 610, 21 L. ed. 731.

23. Lee v. Neuchatel Asphalte Co., 41 Ch. D. 1, 58 L. J. Ch. 408, 61 L. T. Rep. N. S. 11, 1 Meg. 140, 37 Wkly. Rep. 321. Compare Purton v. New Orleans, etc., R. Co., 3 La. Ann. 19.

visions of the statute.[24] In America the better doctrine is that this cannot be done as against creditors of the corporation; so that if a corporation issues to its bondholders its shares of stock with, say, forty per cent credited thereon as paid, the shareholders will be liable to the corporation or to its creditors in the event of its insolvency to the extent of the unpaid forty per cent.[25]

(B) Contrary Doctrine. The court of appeals of New York has, on the contrary, held — denying to this extent the doctrine that the assets of a corporation are a trust fund for its creditors — that a corporation can issue its unpaid shares as pretendedly paid up, as a bonus to its bondholders in order to market its bonds.[26] In like manner the supreme court of the United States has held that where a corporation cannot sell its bonds at par, without giving with them an equal amount of its increased stock, and the par value of the bonds is no more than equal to the actual value of the stock and bonds, the purchaser cannot be compelled by creditors of the corporation to pay the par value of the stock.[27]

(VIII) Corporation Cannot Issue Its Bonds as a Bonus to Subscribers to Its Shares — (A) Statement of Rule. Under a statute governing manufacturing corporations, by which they are prohibited from lending money to their shareholders, a scheme of organization by which each subscriber to the capital stock of the company is to receive interest-bearing bonds of the company, secured by a mortgage upon the company's assets, to an extent equal to the par value of his subscription, is void, even as between the company and its shareholders, while it remains solvent; since the effect of such an arrangement is to make the shareholders secured creditors, and to give them a better position than the general creditors of the corporation.[28] Accordingly where, by an arrangement between a corporation and persons who were invited to become its shareholders, the latter became such with the understanding that calls upon their stock were not to exceed forty per cent, but afterward the exigencies of the corporation were such that calls were made in excess of that amount, at which time, to compensate the shareholders for this excess in the calls, the corporation issued mortgage bonds to them, it was held that they were liable to creditors in respect of these bonds as they would have been if the calls had been made upon their shares and had not been paid.[29] But it seems that the conclusion will be different where the corporation issues its bonds as a gratuity to its shareholders, but becomes insolvent before paying anything upon the bonds, so that the loss incurred by the transaction falls upon misguided third persons who have become purchasers of the bonds.[30]

(B) Such Arrangement May Be Valid as Between Company and Shareholders. In such a case where the books of the company, and the directors as well as the shareholders, concur in saying that the stock is fully paid, it would, as between the shareholder and the company, all the other shareholders consenting, be regarded as fully paid, although not so as to creditors.[31] When therefore the president of a railroad company, who was authorized to collect subscriptions to the stock of the company, accepted the stock of another company in payment of a subscription, his company was bound by his act in such a sense as not to be able to maintain an action for payment against the subscriber.[32]

24. In re Eddystone Mar. Ins. Co., [1893] 3 Ch. 9, 62 L. J. Ch. 742, 69 L. T. Rep. N. S. 363, 2 Reports 516, 41 Wkly. Rep. 642.

25. Skrainka v. Allen, 7 Mo. App. 434 [affirmed in 76 Mo. 384].

26. Christensen v. Eno, 106 N. Y. 97, 12 N. E. 648, 8 N. Y. St. 682, 60 Am. Rep. 429. See also Christensen v. Quintard, 5 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 226, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 400, 29 N. Y. St. 61.

27. Handley v. Stutz, 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 35 L. ed. 227 [reversing 41 Fed. 531].

28. Morrow v. Nashville Iron, etc., Co., 87 Tenn. 262, 10 S. W. 495, 10 Am. St. Rep. 658, 3 L. R. A. 37.

29. Skrainka v. Allen, 7 Mo. App. 434 [affirmed on this point in 76 Mo. 384]. See also In re Canadian Oil Works Corp., L. R. 10 Ch. 593, 44 L. J. Ch. 721, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 466, 24 Wkly. Rep. 191; In re Masons' Hall Tavern Co., L. R. 5 Eq. 286.

30. Christensen v. Eno, 106 N. Y. 97, 12 N. E. 648, 8 N. Y. St. 682, 60 Am. Rep. 429.

31. Skrainka v. Allen, 76 Mo. 384, 391, 392, per Hough, C. J.

32. East New York, etc., R. Co. v. Lighthall, 6 Rob. (N. Y.) 407. Much to the same

(c) Such Arrangement May Be Valid as Among Members Personally. An arrangement among the shareholders by which some of them obligate themselves to take the shares of another off his hands and to refund his money within a fixed time is valid, provided it is made in good faith, although other subscribers may not be informed of it; and therefore such an arrangement may be enforced as between the original parties to it,[33] although it may not be good as against the corporation or its creditors,[34] unless it should be shown to be a corrupt arrangement entered into for the purpose of holding out the subscriber having the agreement for indemnity as a "decoy" to influence the subscription of others.[35]

(d) Whether Such Arrangement Valid as to Future Creditors — (1) In General. According to one holding, where a corporation whose stock is not fully paid issues full-paid certificates to its shareholders, creditors who are such before the issue of such certificates may, if the company becomes insolvent, collect the portion of such stock which was unpaid and have it applied in payment of their debts; but creditors who become such after and with notice of the corporate proceedings by which the stock was made "full-paid" have no such right.[36] On the other hand the view has been taken that it is only future creditors who can set aside such an arrangement as to payment.[37]

(2) Future Creditors Who Give Credit With Full Knowledge Estopped to Complain. A broader statement of this doctrine is that, as between the company and its shareholders, whatever is agreed to be payment is payment, because both are estopped by their agreement;[38] and that one who becomes the creditor of a corporation knowing the manner in which its stock has been paid or payment therefor secured is deemed to waive his right to have strict payment made for his benefit.[39]

e. Rule as Between Corporation and Subscriber. As between the corporation and the subscriber the question is not generally treated as one of public policy; and hence, as between the sharetaker and the corporation, an agreement whereby shares are to be taken by him at less than their par value,[40] at a discount,[41] as unassessable,[42] or on payment in property or any other commodity at an overvaluation,[43] is valid, although not binding upon its creditors.[44] And this rule obtains, although persons subsequently, in good faith and for a full consideration, become effect see Winston v. Dorsett Pipe, etc., Co., 129 Ill. 64, 21 N. E. 514, 4 L. R. A. 507. See also the reasoning of Miller, J., in Sawyer v. Hoag, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 610, 21 L. ed. 731.

33. Morgan v. Struthers, 131 U. S. 246, 9 S. Ct. 726, 33 L. ed. 132.

34. Williams v. Benet, 34 S. C. 112, 13 S. E. 97.

35. Arrangement held valid.— An agreement among the shareholders of a corporation that the money and property received from them by the corporation shall discharge their liability on stock subscriptions is valid as among themselves. Esgen v. Smith, 113 Iowa 25, 84 N. W. 954.

Arrangement not enforced against corporation.— A personal agreement among several shareholders as to their respective interests in land subsequently conveyed absolutely by them to the corporation in payment for stock does not pass to the corporation, and cannot be enforced by it in an action against a portion of such shareholders, whose title to the land proved defective. Jenkins v. Bradley, 104 Wis. 540, 80 N. W. 1025.

36. Kenton Furnace R., etc., Co. v. McAlpin, 5 Fed. 737.

37. Flinn v. Bagley, 7 Fed. 785.

38. Scovill v. Thayer, 105 U. S. 143, 26 L. ed. 968.

39. Callanan v. Windsor, 78 Iowa 193, 42 N. W. 652; Deadwood First Nat. Bank v. Gustin Minerva Consol. Min. Co., 42 Minn. 327, 44 N. W. 198, 18 Am. St. Rep. 510, 6 L. R. A. 676.

40. Roll v. St. Louis, etc., Smelting, etc., Co., 52 Mo. App. 60.

41. Hebberd v. Southwestern Land, etc., Co., 55 N. J. Eq. 18, 36 Atl. 122; Webb v. Shropshire R. Co., [1893] 3 Ch. 307, 63 L. J. Ch. 80, 69 L. T. Rep. N. S. 533, 7 Reports 231.

42. Dickerman v. Northern Trust Co., 176 U. S. 181, 20 S. Ct. 311, 44 L. ed. 423. See also Enterprise Ditch Co. v. Moffit, 58 Nebr. 642, 79 N. W. 560, 76 Am. St. Rep. 122, 45 L. R. A. 647.

43. Higgins v. Lansingh, 154 Ill. 301, 40 N. E. 362; Wells v. Green Bay, etc., Canal Co., 90 Wis. 442, 64 N. W. 69; Krohn v. Williamson, 62 Fed. 869; Hadley v. Hadley, 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 131.

44. Standard Matrix Mach. Co. v. Hills, 68 Mo. App. 249; Roll v. St. Louis, etc., Smelting, etc., Co., 52 Mo. App. 60; Hebberd v. Southwestern Land, etc., Co., 55 N. J. Eq. 18, 36 Atl. 122; Nenny v. Waddill, 6 Tex.

shareholders without any knowledge of, or acquiescence in, the illegal act.[45] As such a transaction estops the corporation, it also estops other shareholders, at least where the nature of the transaction is known to them and they do not dissent at the time.[46]

d. Issuing Shares at Less Than Par to Pay Past Indebtedness. There is judicial authority for the view that if a corporation, being indebted, arranges to pay its debt in stock certificates at less than their par value, the persons receiving such certificates will be assessable for any unpaid balances at the suit of creditors after the insolvency of the corporation.[47] But it seems that this principle has no application to issuing shares at a reduced valuation in payment of an existing debt of the corporation, where the corporation is already insolvent and the shares are consequently depreciated or valueless.[48]

e. Making Payment For Subscribed Shares by Means of Device of Reducing Capital Stock. As against prior creditors it is equally futile for a corporation to attempt to enable its shareholders to pay for their shares by the device of reducing the capital stock, to the extent of the reduction discharging them from the liability incurred by their subscription; but in such a case they remain liable to make good the full amount, according to their undertaking.[49] But it has been held that this may be done before the corporation has incurred any debts, and before the subscriptions to its capital stock have ever been made public.[50]

Civ. App. 244 25 S. W. 308. That a subscription to stock payable in property at a fictitious valuation, although void as to the company because in violation of Ala. Const. art. 14, § 6, and Ala. Code, § 1662, is enforceable in favor of the company's creditors see Joseph v. Davis, (Ala. 1892) 10 So. 830.

45. Miller v. University Magazine Co., 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 311, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 969, 63 N. Y. St. 128.

46. Northern Trust Co. v. Columbia Straw Paper Co., 75 Fed. 936.

Laches, acquiescence, and acts of ratification covering a period of twenty years will cut off any right of action for a rescission which the corporation might otherwise have. Higgins v. Lansingh, 154 Ill. 301, 40 N. E. 362.

This seems to be the English doctrine, where the governing principle is that the rights of creditors are worked out after insolvency, in the right of the company, so that if the company has made a contract with its subscriber that his shares shall not be paid for, the court will not make another contract between the parties. Waterhouse v. Jamieson, L. R. 2 H. L. Sc. 29; Burkinshaw v. Nicolls, 3 App. Cas. 1004, 48 L. J. Ch. 179, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 308, 26 Wkly. Rep. 821; In re Western of Canada Oil, etc., Co., 1 Ch. D. 115, 45 L. J. Ch. 5, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 645, 24 Wkly. Rep. 165; Matter of Great Northern, etc., Coal Co., 3 De G. J. & S. 367, 32 L. J. Ch. 421, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 486, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 472, 68 Eng. Ch. 278. Leaving the sharetaker liable, not ex contractu for the par value of the shares, but ex delicto for their real value, see In re Western of Canada Oil, etc., Co., 1 Ch. D. 115, 45 L. J. Ch. 5, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 645, 24 Wkly. Rep. 165. Compare In re Anglo-Moravian Hungarian Junction R. Co., L. R. 15 Eq. 407, 42 L. J. Ch. 474, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 264, 22 Wkly. Rep. 45.

A shareholder who participated in the issue of shares as fully paid cannot subsequently claim, in a controversy with the corporation, that such action was fraudulent as to him. Ten Eyck v. Pontiac, etc., R. Co., 114 Mich. 494, 72 N. W. 362 [citing Arkansas River Land, etc., Co. v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 13 Colo. 587, 22 Pac. 954].

47. Jackson v. Traer, 64 Iowa 469, 20 N. W. 764, 52 Am. Rep. 449. But see Kehlor v. Lademann, 11 Mo. App. 550 (manufacturing partnership reorganized as a corporation, and issued the shares of the corporation to the creditors of the partnership in satisfaction of their demands, at less than par — creditors assessable as shareholders for the difference); Van Cott v. Van Brunt, 82 N. Y. 535; Fogg v. Blair, 139 U. S. 118, 11 S. Ct. 476, 35 L. ed. 104; Clark v. Bever, 139 U. S. 96, 11 S. Ct. 468, 35 L. ed. 88 [affirming 31 Fed. 670].

48. Clark v. Bever, 31 Fed. 670 [affirmed in 139 U. S. 96, 11 S. Ct. 468, 35 L. ed. 88]. That such an arrangement is good as between the corporation and one to whom the creditor, who has taken the corporation's shares in payment of his debt, has subsequently transferred such shares for value see Crossley v. Louisiana Sav. Bank, etc., Co., 38 La. Ann. 74.

Extinguishing indebtedness of shareholders to corporation, upon reorganization, by issuing new shares.— That a corporation, on reorganization, may lawfully provide that debts of shareholders which remain unpaid for a certain time shall be extinguished by application of a sufficient portion of the new stock see Reading Trust Co. v. Reading Iron Works, 137 Pa. St. 282, 21 Atl. 169, 170, 27 Wkly. Notes Cas. 91, 95.

49. In re State Ins. Co., 14 Fed. 28, 11 Biss. 301.

50. Hill v. Silvey, 81 Ga. 500, 8 S. E. 808, 3 L. R. A. 150.

f. Obligation of Full Payment Same Where Capital Stock Is Increased. The obligation to pay for shares which are issued in pursuance of a resolution to increase the capital stock of the company is the same, and for the same reasons, as the obligation to pay in full for original shares; and to the extent to which full payment is not made the subscribers to the increased stock remain liable to the creditors of the company.[51]

g. Statutes Construed to Allow Corporations to Issue Shares at Discount. Statutes, like the English Companies Clauses Consolidation Act of 1845, and the acts amending the same, exist which are judicially construed to allow companies to issue their shares at a discount.[52] Statutes of Minnesota relating to manufacturing and other corporations are construed as conferring no authority upon such corporations to issue shares as fully paid contrary to the fact.[53]

h. Effect of Issuing Shares of New Corporation in Exchange For Shares of Old. Shares of a new company issued in exchange, share for share, for that of a company existing under the laws of another state, without any payment therefor except the transfer of the old company's stock and assets, when this is done to evade the liability of shareholders under the laws governing the original company, will be deemed paid, as against the creditors of the old company, only to the extent that the actual value of the property, actually received from the old company, exceeded the sum of its indebtedness.[54]

i. New American Doctrine That Corporation Can Give Away, or For Less Than Par Value Dispose of, Unissued Shares. The supreme court of the United States have held that an active corporation may, even as against its creditors, for the purpose of paying its debts and obtaining money for the successful prosecution of its business, issue new shares and sell them for the best price that can be obtained;[55] that a corporation may give away its unissued shares at twenty cents on the dollar in the payment of a debt, reasoning that its creditors are not prejudiced by the fact of its giving away its unissued shares, provided they are worthless at the time;[56] that a railroad company can issue its shares to a contractor as a bonus, and that, if the company subsequently becomes insolvent, its creditors cannot charge the contractor as a holder of the unpaid shares, but can at most charge him to the extent of their market value at the time when he received them from the corporation, which market value he must aver and prove.[57]

j. Effect of Payment or Settlement of Share Subscriptions by Giving Promissory Notes — (i) In General. Although prohibited from receiving anything

51. Veeder v. Mudgett, 95 N. Y. 295; In re Weymouth, etc., Steam Packet Co., [1891] 1 Ch. 66, 60 L. J. Ch. 93, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 686, 2 Meg. 366, 39 Wkly. Rep. 49.

52. Ross v. Kelly, 36 Minn. 38, 29 N. W. 591, 31 N. W. 219 (construing Minn. Gen. Stat. (1874), c. 34); In re South Mountain Consol. Min. Co., 5 Fed. 403, 7 Sawy. 30 (construing a similar statute in California); Webb v. Shropshire R. Co., [1893] 3 Ch. 307, 63 L. J. Ch. 80, 69 L. T. Rep. N. S. 533, 7 Reports 237; Statham v. Brighton Mar. Palace, etc., Co., [1899] 1 Ch. 199, 67 L. J. Ch. 172, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 73, 6 Manson 308, 47 Wkly. Rep. 183; Walsh v. North West Electric Co., 11 Manitoba 629 [distinguishing Daniell's Case, 22 Beav. 43, construing a Manitoba statute, and not considering the question with reference to the rights of creditors].

53. Wallace v. Carpenter Electric Heating Mfg. Co., 70 Minn. 321, 73 N. W. 189, 68 Am. St. Rep. 530.

54. Sprague v. National Bank of America, 172 Ill. 149, 50 N. E. 19, 64 Am. St. Rep. 17, 42 L. R. A. 606 [affirming 66 Ill. App. 320].

55. Handley v. Stutz, 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 35 L. ed. 227.

56. Clark v. Bever, 139 U. S. 96, 112, 11 S. Ct. 468, 35 L. ed. 88, a "Credit Mobilier" case, in which the president of the railroad company was also president of the construction company.

57. Fogg v. Blair, 139 U. S. 118, 11 S. Ct. 476, 35 L. ed. 104, the court saying. "If, when disposed of by the railroad company, it was without value, no wrong was done to creditors." In so holding the supreme court of the United States refused to follow the decisions of the highest courts in the states, construing their own statutes, as shown by Shickle v. Watts, 94 Mo. 410, 7 S. W. 274; Kehlor v. Lademann, 11 Mo. App. 550; Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210, and as shown by the decision of the supreme court of Iowa in Jackson v. Traer, 64 Iowa 469, 20 N. W. 764, 52 Am. Rep. 449. See also Tama Water-Power Co. v. Hopkins, 79 Iowa 653, 44 N. W. 797; Boulton Carbon Co. v. Mills, 78 Iowa 460, 43 N. W. 290, 5 L. R. A. 649.

but cash in payment for their shares,[58] if corporations receive promissory notes in settlement of their subscriptions, the notes will not be invalidated, but will be good as against the makers, on the theory of being supported by a good consideration.[59] Such a note becomes a part of the assets of the corporation, which are a trust fund for the payment of its creditors, and the surrender of them to their makers is a fraud upon such creditors.[60]

(II) Remedy of Company Where It Has Received Settlement in Promissory Note. The company cannot, it would seem, retain the note and sue the shareholder for original assessments, but its remedy is upon the note; and it has been held that a subscriber who has given his note in settlement of his subscription is not liable for assessments on the stock, where the certificates have been placed is escrow in the hands of a third person to be delivered to the subscriber when the note is paid, where the note has not been paid or the stock transferred.[61] After the company has exercised its right to forfeit the stock — a subject hereafter considered[62] — by reason of the note not being paid at maturity, it cannot maintain an action upon the note, since it cannot have both the shares themselves and what the subscriber has agreed to pay for them;[63] nor can it, after such a forfeiture, and especially after a material change has been made in its charter without the consent of the subscriber, by transferring the note to a third person, confer upon him a right of action against the subscriber.[64] But where the note has been assigned in good faith before maturity, and the subscriber pays it in good faith to the holder, the company can have no further claim against him, either upon the note or on the original contract of subscription.[65]

(III) Whether Giving of Note Secured by Mortgage Is Payment and Reinvestment, or Merely Collateral Security. It has been held that the effect of executing a note secured by a mortgage in settlement of a stock subscription is a payment for the shares and a reinvestment of the money by the corporation, so that the liability of the shareholder on the note and mortgage was no less than that of any other borrower; nor did his rights as a shareholder stand on any better footing than the rights of those who paid for their stock, but borrowed nothing from the company.[66]

k. Construction of English Statute Requiring Registry of Contract Where Shares Not to Be Paid For in Full. This is likely to have counterparts in America. The principle of it has been adopted in the article on corporations in the recent constitution of Virginia. It may be of interest to American lawyers and judges, and is as follows: "Every share in any company shall be deemed and taken to 58. Pacific Trust Co. v. Dorsey, 72 Cal. 55, 12 Pac. 49 [affirmed in 13 Pac. 148].

59. Illinois.— Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240.

Mississippi.— Hayne v. Beauchamp, 5 Sm. & M. 515.

New York.— Magee v. Badger, 30 Barb. 246.

Pennsylvania.— Leighty v. Susquehanna, etc., Turnpike Co., 14 Serg. & R. 434.

United States.— Alexander v. Horner, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 169, 1 McCrary 634.

60. Jenkins v. Armour, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,260, 6 Biss. 312.

61. Cormac v. Western White Bronze Co., 77 Iowa 32, 41 N. W. 480.

62. See infra, VI, O, 2, g, (I) et seq.

63. Ashton v. Burbank, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 582, 2 Dill. 435.

64. Ashton v. Burbank, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 582, 2 Dill. 435. Of course the rule would be otherwise in case the note is transferred before maturity, for value and without notice to the transferee of the circumstances which create a failure of consideration. 2 Thompson Corp. § 1658.

65. Alexander v. Horner, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 169, 1 McCrary 634.

Such notes when deemed negotiable, with an example of one of them. Stillwell v. Craig, 58 Mo. 24. See also Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273; Washington County Mut. Ins. Co. v. Miller, 26 Vt. 77.

Validity of such notes in the hands of indorsees. Magee v. Badger, 30 Barb. (N. Y.) 246; Willmarth v. Crawford, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 341 (indorsee without notice); Alexander v. Horner, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 169, 1 McCrary 634 (indorsee without notice).

When indorsee entitled to subrogation to the lien of the corporation on the shares for the unpaid balance. Petersburg Sav., etc., Co. v. Lumsden, 75 Va. 327.

66. Union Cent. L. Ins. Co. v. Curtis, 35 Ohio St. 343. Much to the same effect see have been issued and to be subject to the payment of the whole amount thereof in cash, unless the same shall have been otherwise determined by a contract duly made in writing, and filed with the registrar of joint-stock companies at or before the issue of such shares."[67] The document filed must show the consideration for the shares to be issued, although it is not necessary that the consideration be stated with full particularity.[68] It is insufficient where it only identifies the consideration for the shares to be issued by reference to another contract not filed.[69] So the filing of a contract which merely refers to an unregistered contract showing such consideration is not a sufficient compliance with the statutory mandate.[70] The allottee of shares will not be relieved from his obligation to pay their par value by a compliance with this statute, where the consideration rendered by him for them was elusory, or where a discount was allowed him; but the court may inquire in each case whether the price paid was reasonable, or whether what was given for the shares had a cash value in the market equal to their nominal value.[71]

2. Payment For Shares in Property — a. When Such Payment Allowed — (i) Where Statute Does Not Require Payment in Cash — (a) In General. Where the charter or governing statute does not require payment in cash, then the shares may be paid for in such property as the corporation would have occasion to buy, at a fair valuation, provided the transaction is in good faith.[72]

Hazelett v. Butler University, 84 Ind. 230. But compare Russell v. Bristol, 50 Conn. 221, construction of a subscription to a guarantee fund.

67. Companies Act (1876), § 25.

68. In re Kharaskhoma Exploring, etc., Syndicate, [1897] 2 Ch. 451, 66 L. J. Ch. 675, 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 82, 4 Manson 249, 46 Wkly. Rep. 37.

69. In re Kharaskhoma Exploring, etc., Syndicate, [1897] 2 Ch. 451, 66 L. J. Ch. 675, 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 82, 4 Manson 249, 46 Wkly. Rep. 37.

70. In re Kharaskhoma Exploring, etc., Syndicate, [1897] 2 Ch. 451, 66 L. J. Ch. 675, 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 82, 4 Manson 249, 46 Wkly. Rep. 37.

71. In re Theatrical Trust, [1895] 1 Ch. 771, 64 L. J. Ch. 419, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 397, 4 Manson 179, 45 Wkly. Rep. 557. For the construction of a similar statute of New South Wales see Smith v. Brown, [1896] A. C. 614, 65 L. J. P. C. 89, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 213, 45 Wkly. Rep. 132. Compare In re Poole Firebrick, etc., Co., L. R. 10 Ch. 157, 44 L. J. Ch. 240.

To satisfy the English statute above quoted the contract which is so filed need not be made directly between the allottee of the shares and the company, or show on its face which particular shares are to be allotted; but an agreement by which the company, in consideration of the transfer to it of the rights or property of another company, is to allot to the shareholders of the latter company paid-up shares of its own is sufficient. In re Common Petroleum Engine Co., [1895] 2 Ch. 759, 65 L. J. Ch. 76, 73 L. T. Rep. N. S. 338, 2 Manson 598, 13 Reports 840.

Later decisions construing this statute are: In re Frost, [1899] 2 Ch. 207, 68 L. J. Ch. 544, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 849, 48 Wkly. Rep. 39 [affirming [1898] 2 Ch. 556, 67 L. J. Ch. 691, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 47 Wkly. Rep. 27, contract not insufficient because it describes the property turned in for the shares in a general way, etc.]; In re African Gold Concessions, etc., Co., [1899] 1 Ch. 414, 68 L. J. Ch. 215, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 282, 6 Manson, 84, 47 Wkly. Rep. 509 (sufficient if it states plainly the nature of the consideration and supplies the means of identification, etc.); In re Jackson, [1899] 1 Ch. 348, 68 L. Ch. 190, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 662, 6 Manson 125 (circumstances under which the court will require the filing of a supplemental contract showing the determination of the directors with reference to the amount of the consideration to be paid in shares and construction of later statute permitting court to relieve one from failure through inadvertence to file the contract or a sufficient contract).

72. Indiana.— Coffin v. Ransdell, 110 Ind. 417, 11 N. E. 20.

Missouri.— Kraft-Holmes Grocery Co. v. Crow, 36 Mo. App. 288.

New York.— Skinner v. Smith, 56 Hun 437, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 81, 31 N. Y. St. 448.

United States.— Foreman v. Bigelow, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,934, 4 Cliff. 508; Phelan v. Hazard, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,068, 5 Dill. 45; Steacy v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,329, 5 Dill. 348.

England.— In re Paraguassu Steam Tramroad Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 355, 43 L. J. Ch. 482, 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 211, 22 Wkly. Rep. 386; In re Matlock Old Bath Hydropathic Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 60; In re Harmony, etc., Tin, etc., Min. Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 407, 42 L. J. Ch. 488, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 153, 21 Wkly. Rep. 306; In re Steamship, etc., Coal Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 772, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 317, 18 Wkly. Rep. 2; In re Steam Tramway Co., L. R. 18 Eq. 670, 44 L. J. Ch. 125, 22 Wkly. Rep. 820; In re British Farmers' Pure Linseed

(B) Contrary Doctrine. On the contrary it has been held that a provision of a corporate charter that no stock shall be issued or certificate be given therefor until the amount subscribed for shall have been paid requires payment in cash.[73]

(II) Where Governing Statute Requires Payment in Cash. Even where the charter, statute, or other governing instrument, by its terms, requires payment in money, yet unless the language is such as to import a prohibition of anything but money, the courts are generally agreed that payment may be made in any kind of property or services which the corporation may lawfully purchase in the prosecution of its business, provided it be done in good faith, and provided such property or services be conveyed or rendered at a fair valuation.[74] The reason is that the law does not require the parties to go through the vain transaction which would be exhibited if the subscriber should pay for his shares in cash and if the corporation should hand back the cash in purchasing from the subscriber such property as the corporation might wish to buy from him; or, what would be the equivalent of such a transaction, that there should be a mere exchange of checks between the parties.[75]

b. Payment Must Be "in Money or in Money's Worth." The officers of a corporation being trustees for its shareholders, and in a sense for its creditors, their trust cannot be defeated by anything short of actual payment for shares in good faith.[76] This payment need not always be in money; but the rule is that "if a man contracts to take shares he must pay for them, to use a homely phrase, 'in meal or in malt'; he must either pay in money or in money's worth. If he pays in one or the other, that will be a satisfaction."[77]

Cake Co., 7 Ch. D. 533 [affirmed in 3 App. Cas. 1004, 48 L. J. Ch. 179, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 308, 26 Wkly. Rep. 819].

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 338.

73. State v. New Orleans Debenture Redemption Co., 51 La. Ann. 1827, 26 So. 586.

74. Colorado.— Arapahoe Cattle, etc., Co. v. Stevens, 13 Colo. 534, 22 Pac. 823, services.

Maine.— Libby v. Tobey, 82 Me. 397, 19 Atl. 904.

Maryland.— Brant v. Ehlen, 59 Md. 1.

Missouri.— Liebke v. Knapp, 79 Mo. 22, 49 Am. Rep. 212; State v. Wood, 13 Mo. App. 139.

New York.— Lohman v. New York, etc., R. Co., 2 Sandf. 39.

Tennessee.— Searight v. Payne, 6 Lea 283.

United States.— Phelan v. Hazard, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,068, 5 Dill. 45.

England.— In re Harmony, etc., Tin, etc., Min. Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 407, 42 L. J. Ch. 488, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 153, 21 Wkly. Rep. 306; In re Pen Allt Silver Lead Min. Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 270, 42 L. J. Ch. 481, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 124, 21 Wkly. Rep. 301; In re Baglan Hall Colliery Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 346, 39 L. J. Ch. 591, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 60, 18 Wkly. Rep. 499; In re Heyford Ironworks Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 11, 39 L. J. Ch. 120, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 412, 18 Wkly. Rep. 31; In re China Steamship, etc., Coal Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 772, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 317, 18 Wkly. Rep. 2; In re Limehouse Works Co., L. R. 17 Eq. 169, 43 L. J. Ch. 538, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 636, 22 Wkly. Rep. 228; In re Mercantile Trading Co., L. R. 11 Eq. 131, 40 L. J. Ch. 130, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 456, 19 Wkly. Rep. 93; Woodfall's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 63, 14 Jur. 29.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 338.

75. See the preceding cases and Shannon v. Stevenson, 173 Pa. St. 419, 34 Atl. 218, 37 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 537.

76. Wetherbee v. Baker, 35 N. J. Eq. 501.

Payment in specie.— In some cases it has been held that payment can only be made in specie, as in case of a banking corporation. King v. Elliott, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 428.

77. Lord Justice Gifford, in In re China Steamship, etc., Coal Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 772, 779, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 317, 18 Wkly. Rep. 2 [quoted by Sherwood, J., in Liebke v. Knapp, 79 Mo. 22, 27, 49 Am. Rep. 212].

For a fair explanation of the "money or money's worth" doctrine see the language of Davis, J., in Marshall Foundry Co. v. Killian, 99 N. C. 501, 6 S. E. 680, 6 Am. St. Rep. 539.

Other English expressions of the same rule, involving the conclusion that a man who subscribes for shares must fairly and honestly fulfil the obligation which he has assumed, may be collected from the following cases: In re Harmony, etc., Tin, etc., Min. Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 407, 42 L. J. Ch. 488, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 153, 21 Wkly. Rep. 306; In re Pen Allt Silver Lead Min. Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 270, 42 L. J. Ch. 481, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 124, 21 Wkly. Rep. 301; In re Heyford Ironworks Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 270, 39 L. J. Ch. 422, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 187, 18 Wkly. Rep. 302; In re Limehouse Works Co., L. R. 17 Eq. 169, 43 L. J. Ch. 538, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 636, 22 Wkly. Rep. 228; In re South of France Co., L. R. 7 Eq. 11; Burkinshaw v. Nicolls, 3 App. Cas. 1004, 48 L. J. Ch. 179, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 308, 26 Wkly. Rep. 821. Other English cases illustrating the rule are:

c. Rule Where Statute Permits Payment in Property. Statutes have been enacted permitting corporations to receive payment in property, provided they report the case according to the fact.[78] Such a statute has been held applicable to an original subscription as well as to an increase of capital. The effect of it is that when payment has been fairly made in property the subscriber is discharged from his obligation in the absence of fraud.[79]

d. Invalidity of Secret Collateral Agreements to Pay in Property. If the shares are to be paid for in property it ought to be so stated in the contract of subscription. Where the contract is expressed to be payable in money, secret collateral agreements to discharge it, let us say in land[80] or in goods,[81] will be invalid as against creditors in the event of its insolvency.[82]

e. Distinction Between "True Value Rule" and "Good Faith Rule." Stating the proposition in outline so as to give a collected view of these opposing doctrines, and making fuller definitions in subsequent paragraphs, it may be said that the "true value rule" is the rule stated and illustrated by the preceding cases, founded on the maxim that "shares must be paid for in money or in money's worth." On the other hand the "good faith rule" is the rule that whatever the parties call payment is payment as among themselves, that is as between the corporation and its shareholders, without regard to the value of the property turned in; that this is equally the rule where the rights of creditors are involved, provided the coadventurers in turning in the property acted "in good faith"; but that a decisive overvaluation of the property turned in, or, what is the same thing, a decisive undervaluation of the shares, is evidence of bad faith. Under either rule, where shareholders turn in property of a fictitious or imaginary value in payment for their shares, this is no payment as against the creditors of the corporation.[83]

f. "True Value Rule" — (i) Statement of Rule. The "true value rule" is that payment of corporate shares in anything except money will not be regarded as payment, except to the extent of the true or actual value of the property turned in and received in lieu of money, and regardless of the question of fraud.[84]

In re Paraguassu Steam Tramroad Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 355, 43 L. J. Ch. 482, 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 211, 22 Wkly. Rep. 386; In re Richmond Hill Hotel Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 527, 36 L. J. Ch. 613, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 442; In re Richmond Hill Hotel Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 511, 36 L. J. Ch. 593, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 301, 15 Wkly. Rep. 665. After twenty-five years' experience with the rule in In re Harmony, etc., Tin, etc., Min. Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 407, 42 L. J. Ch. 488, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 153, 21 Wkly. Rep. 306, where, although the statute recited that "every share in any company shall be deemed and taken to have been issued and to be held subject to the payment of the whole amount thereof in cash," and under which payment in property instead of cash was sanctioned on the ground that the legislature could not have required the parties to have gone through the useless formality of merely exchanging checks, Lord Halsbury, L. C., sitting in the court of appeal, expressed his strong disapprobation of it, but felt bound to follow it until it should be overruled in the house of lords. In re Johannesburg Hotel Co., [1891] 1 Ch. 119, 129, 60 L. J. Ch. 391, 64 L. T. Rep. N. S. 61, 2 Meg. 409, 39 Wkly. Rep. 260. Referring to Spargo's case, the lord chancellor said: "I venture to doubt whether what is described by those eminent judges as the absurdity of handing money backwards and forwards when two people have cross demands, is so great as the absurdity of construing the words 'payment in cash' as payment without cash."

78. Edmonds Stat. at L. (2d ed.) p. 741, c. 333, § 2.

79. Boynton v. Hatch, 47 N. Y. 225. See also Tallmadge v. Fishkill Iron Co., 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 382.

What if a statute allowing payment in property is repealed after subscription and before incorporation. Knox v. Childersburg Land Co., 86 Ala. 180, 5 So. 578.

80. Noble v. Callender, 20 Ohio St. 199.

81. Henry v. Vermillion, etc., R. Co., 17 Ohio 187.

82. Coit v. North Carolina Gold Amalgamating Co., 119 U. S. 343, 7 S. Ct. 231, 30 L. ed. 420. See also Haviland v. Chace, 39 Barb. (N. Y.) 283; Nickoll's Case, 24 Beav. 639.

83. Alling v. Wenzell, 27 Ill. App. 511.

84. Libby v. Tobey, 82 Me. 397, 19 Atl. 904; Shickle v. Watts, 94 Mo. 410, 7 S. W. 274; Farmers' Bank v. Gallaher, 43 Mo. App. 482.

In New York this doctrine, that as against creditors of the corporation, transfers of property in payment of shares will be regarded as payment only to the extent of the

Stated differently the "true value rule" is that where payment is made in property, labor, services, or in anything other than money, the commodity must be turned in at its true value at the time, and that an overvalution of it, or an undervaluation of the shares, leaves the shares unpaid to that extent, and the shareholders liable to make up the deficiency in favor of creditors of the corporation, without regard to the question whether the discrepancy was the result of fraud, mistake, bad judgment, or a cheerful optimism.[85] Under this rule, in an action to charge a shareholder with the corporate debts up to the amount of his stock, because the stock has been issued for property not worth its par value, it is not necessary to prove that the trustees were guilty of fraudulent intent;[86] but the true inquiry will be, What was the reasonable value, or the reasonable market value of the property conveyed or the services rendered?[87]

(II) Standards by Which to Determine True Value. It has been ruled that the true inquiry, in determining whether or not the price paid by a majority of the shareholders of a corporation for property is so excessive as to be a fraud on the minority, is, What under all the circumstances is a fair value of the property to the company, considering its proposed use and the general purposes for which the company is organized?[88]

(III) Effect of Constitutional Provisions and Statutes Prohibiting Issue of Shares Except For Money Paid, Property Delivered, Etc. Constitutional and statutory prohibitions exist in many of the states, prohibiting corporations from issuing their stock or bonds except for money paid or property or labor received, and some of them have applied it to the purpose for which the corporation was organized. It is a just conclusion where statutes or constitutional ordinances exist prohibiting the issue of stock except for money or property actually received, and requiring payments in property to be at its money value, that where payment of a stock subscription is made to a corporation at less than its actual value, the subscribers will be liable to creditors of the corporation in the event of its insolvency, for the difference between the actual value of the property conveyed and the amount of their subscriptions.[89] actual value of the property, was laid down in an early case in the supreme court. Tallmadge v. Fishkill Iron Co., 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 382. Later decisions seem to have modified the rule. Gamble v. Queens County Water Co., 123 N. Y. 91, 25 N. E. 201, 33 N. Y. St. 88, 25 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 410, 9 L. R. A. 527 [reversing 52 Hun (N. Y.) 166, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 124, 23 N. Y. St. 409]; Van Cott v. Van Brunt, 82 N. Y. 535.

85. Alabama.— Roman v. Dimmick, 115 Ala. 233, 22 So. 109.

Illinois.— National Bank of America v. Pacific R. Co., 66 Ill. App. 320; Thayer v. El Plomo Min. Co., 40 Ill. App. 344.

Missouri.— Shepard v. Drake, 61 Mo. App. 134. In Woodfolk v. January, 131 Mo. 620, 33 S. W. 432, the supreme court of Missouri, departing from its former doctrine, adopted the "good faith rule." Subsequently, in Van Cleve v. Berkey, 143 Mo. 109, 44 S. W. 743, 42 L. R. A. 593, in an able and convincing opinion by Brace, J., it reinstated the "true value rule."

Ohio.— Gates v. Tippecanoe Stone Co., 9 Ohio Cir. Ct. 99, 6 Ohio Cir. Dec. 23 [affirmed in 57 Ohio St. 60, 48 N. E. 285, 63 Am. St. Rep. 705].

Utah.— Salt Lake Hardware Co. v. Tintic Milling Co., 13 Utah 432, 45 Pac. 200.

See also Altenberg v. Grant, 85 Fed. 345, 29 C. C. A. 185 [reversing 83 Fed. 980, 28 C. C. A. 244].

86. National Tube Works Co. v. Gilfillan, 124 N. Y. 302, 35 N. Y. St. 357, 26 N. E. 538 [affirming 46 Hun (N. Y.) 248, 11 N. Y. St. 533].

87. Shickle v. Watts, 94 Mo. 410, 7 S. W. 274.

88. Gamble v. Queens County Water Co., 123 N. Y. 91, 25 N. E. 201, 33 N. Y. St. 88, 25 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 410, 9 L. R. A. 527 [reversing 52 Hun (N. Y.) 166, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 124, 23 N. Y. St. 409]. That a payment by the transfer to the corporation of the assets of an insolvent partnership, whose business the corporation was organized for the purpose of continuing, and whose debts it assumed, is not a good payment as against creditors see Ford v. Lamson, 17 Ohio Cir. Ct. 539, 9 Ohio Cir. Dec. 374.

89. Elyton Land Co. v. Birmingham Warehouse, etc., Co., 92 Ala. 407, 9 So. 129, 25 Am. Rep. 65, 12 L. R. A. 307.

Notwithstanding such a constitutional provision it has been held that stock and bonds in a railroad company issued in pursuance of a reorganization scheme, in exchange for stock and bonds of another corporation, the property of which the issuing corporation was organized to acquire, which latter bonds were not shown to be invalid, would not be

(iv) Whether Knowledge of Creditors as to Manner in Which Shares Have Been Paid For Affects Their Rights. On the theory that the "true value rule" is a rule of public policy, the right of a creditor of the corporation to enforce the liability of its shareholders who have not paid their subscriptions in full is not dependent in any degree upon the fact of his knowledge, at the time of extending the credit, that such subscriptions were or were not paid in full,[90] although this is not the doctrine of all the courts.[91]

g. "Good Faith Rule"—(i) Statement of Rule. The so-called "good faith rule" proceeds upon the proposition that where the governing statute of a corporation authorizes its shares to be paid for in property instead of cash,[92] or where the law of the forum otherwise concedes this power to it,[93] the fact that they are so paid for, and at an overvaluation of the property, affords no ground of complaint to the creditors, provided such payment is made and accepted in good faith.[94] According to several decisions the fraud here meant is actual fraud, in the sense of a dishonest purpose, and not constructive or theoretical fraud;[95] but as we shall presently see[96] a gross overvaluation is evidence of actual fraud, although it is often called constructive fraud. Stated in another way, and supported by decisions variously expressed, this rule is that unless the overvaluation of the property, labor, etc., turned in in payment for the shares is intentional, that is, overvalued to the knowledge of the parties to the transaction, or is actually fraudulent, or so gross as to be constructively fraudulent, the value at which it was turned in in payment is to be deemed payment, and the shares are to be deemed to have been paid up to that extent, and the shareholders are protected from further assessment in respect of such payment, even in favor of creditors.[97] The doctrine has been carried so far as to result in the proposition that "while the contract stands unimpeached, the courts, even when the rights of creditors held to be invalid because at the time of the exchange the cash value of the physical property and privileges acquired by the reorganized corporation was not fully equal to the par value of the securities issued in exchange for them. Sioux City, etc., R. Co. v. Manhattan Trust Co., 92 Fed. 428, 34 C. C. A. 431.

Statutes construed.— A statute allowing shares to be issued for property to "the amount of the value thereof," means the actual value, or the fairly estimated value of the property exchanged for the shares. Kelly v. Clark, 21 Mont. 291, 53 Pac. 959, 69 Am. St. Rep. 668, 42 L. R. A. 621. A statute prohibiting corporations from issuing either stock or bonds, except for money, labor done, or property actually received, for the use and "lawful purposes" of such corporation, allows the corporation to issue its stock to obtain control of a rival corporation, since the prevention of ruinous competition is a "lawful purpose." Rafferty v. Buffalo City Gas Co., 37 N. Y. App. Div. 618, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 288.

90. Sprague v. National Bank of America, 172 Ill. 149, 50 N. E. 19, 64 Am. St. Rep. 17, 42 L. R. A. 606 [affirming 66 Ill. App. 320].

91. Adamant Mfg. Co. v. Wallace, 16 Wash. 614, 48 Pac. 415.

92. Coit v. North Carolina Gold Amalgamating Co., 119 U. S. 343, 7 S. Ct. 231, 30 L. R. A. 420.

93. Liehke v. Knapp, 79 Mo. 22, 49 Am. Rep. 212.

94. Indiana.— Coffin v. Ransdell, 110 Ind. 417, 11 N. E. 20..

Michigan.— Young v. Erie Iron Co., 65 Mich. 111, 31 N. W. 814.

New Jersey.— Bickley v. Schlag, 46 N. J. Eq. 533, 20 Atl. 250.

New York.— Gamble v. Queens County Water Co., 123 N. Y. 91, 25 N. E. 201, 33 N. Y. St. 88, 25 Abb. N. Cas. 410, 9 L. R. A. 527 [reversing 52 Hun 166, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 124, 23 N. Y. St. 409]; Dodge v. Havemeyer, 4 N. Y. St. 561.

Wisconsin.— Whitehill v. Jacobs, 75 Wis. 474, 44 N. W. 630.

United States.— Ft. Madison Bank v. Alden, 129 U. S. 372, 9 S. Ct. 332, 32 L. ed. 725; Phelan v. Hazard, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,068, 5 Dill. 45.

95. Young v. Erie Iron Co., 65 Mich. 111, 31 N. W. 814; Whitehill v. Jacobs, 75 Wis. 474, 44 N. W. 630; Ft. Madison Bank v. Alden, 129 U. S. 372, 9 S. Ct. 332, 32 L. ed. 725.

96. See infra, VI, M, 2, g, (iii).

97. Illinois.— Streater Reclining Car Seat Co. v. Rankin, 45 Ill. App. 226.

Indiana.— Bruner v. Brown, 139 Ind. 600, 38 N. E. 318; Clow v. Brown, (Sup. 1892) 31 N. E. 361.

Nebraska.— Gilkie, etc., Co. v. Dawson Town, etc., Co., 46 Nebr. 333, 64 N. W. 978, 1097. Compare Troup v. Horbach, 53 Nebr. 795, 74 N. W. 326.

New York.— Powers v. Knapp, 85 Hun 38, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 622, 66 N. Y. St. 133.

Pennsylvania.— American Tube, etc., Co. v. Hays, 165 Pa. St. 489, 30 Atl. 936, 35 Wkly. Notes Cas. 530.

are involved, will treat that as a payment which the parties have agreed should be payment." [98]

(II) Overvaluation Not of Itself Evidence of Fraud. As value is largely a matter of opinion, anticipation, or belief,[99] and in the case under consideration the question being how much can probably be got out of the property by the corporation, it follows as a reasonable conclusion that the mere fact that the promoters or the contracting officers of the corporation put too high an estimate on the property is not evidence of fraud,[1] although a gross and obvious overvaluation would be.[2] To justify the finding of fraud in such a case there must be either an actual fraudulent intent or such reckless conduct as would indicate without explanation an intent to defraud.[3]

(III) Gross Overvaluation With Knowledge Is Evidence of Actual Fraud, Although Sometimes Called "Constructive Fraud." "If there is a material overvaluation of the property, to the knowledge of the contracting parties, the transaction is a fraud as to subsequent creditors of the corporation without notice; and if it becomes insolvent the shareholders so paying for their stock will be charged, in equity, to the extent necessary to pay such creditors, with the difference between the real value of the property and the par value of their stock." [4]

Tennessee.— Jones v. Whitworth, 94 Tenn. 602, 30 S. W. 736; Kelley v. Fletcher, 94 Tenn. 1, 28 S. W. 1099.

Washington.— Manhattan Trust Co. v. Seattle Coal, etc., Co., 16 Wash. 499, 48 Pac. 333 [rehearing denied in 48 Pac. 737]; Turner v. Bailey, 12 Wash. 634, 42 Pac. 115. Compare Kroenert v. Johnston, 19 Wash. 96, 52 Pac. 605.

United States.— Rickerson Roller-Mill Co. v. Farrell Foundry, etc., Co., 75 Fed. 55; Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Cotton Exch. Real-Estate Co., 70 Fed. 155.

Canada.— Matter of Hess Mfg. Co., 23 Can. Supreme Ct. 644.

Compare Larocque v. Beauchemin, [1897] A. C. 358, 66 L. J. P. C. 59, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 473, 4 Manson 263, 45 Wkly. Rep. 639.

The English doctrine seems to be that if the company could not impeach the transaction, the creditors, who can claim only in the right of the company, cannot. In re Baglan Hall Colliery Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 346, 39 L. J. Ch. 591, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 60, 18 Wkly. Rep. 499. To the same general effect see In re Tavarone Min. Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 956, 42 L. J. Ch. 768, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 363, 21 Wkly. Rep. 829; In re Harmony, etc., Min. Co., L. R. 8 Ch. 407, 42 L. J. Ch. 488, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 153, 21 Wkly. Rep. 306; In re Heyford Ironworks Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 270, 39 L. J. Ch. 422, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 187, 18 Wkly. Rep. 302; In re Heyford Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 11, 39 L. J. Ch. 130, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 412, 18 Wkly. Rep. 31; In re Limehouse Works Co., L. R. 17 Eq. 169, 43 L. J. Ch. 538, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 636, 22 Wkly. Rep. 228; Re Mercantile Trading Co., L. R. 11 Exch. 131, 40 L. J. Ch. 130, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 456, 19 Wkly. Rep. 93; In re Pen Alit Silver Lead Min. Co., 8 Ch. 270, 42 L. J. Ch. 481, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 124, 21 Wkly. Rep. 301.

98. Phelan v. Hazard, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,068, 5 Dill. 45.

99. That value is ordinarily proved by the opinions of witnesses, which opinions are not conclusive on the triers of the fact, see Winkler v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 21 Mo. App. 99.

1. Peck v. Coalfield Co., 11 Ill. App. 88, 3 Ill. App. 619 [affirmed in 98 Ill. 139]; Carr v. Le Fevre, 27 Pa. St. 413.

2. Carr v. Le Fevre, 27 Pa. St. 413; Merrill Nat. Bank v. Illinois, etc., Lumber Co., 101 Wis. 247, 77 N. W. 185 ("valuation substantially in excess of its real value"); Coit v. North Carolina Gold Amalgamating Co., 119 U. S. 343, 7 S. Ct. 231, 30 L. ed. 421.

3. Young v. Erie Iron Co., 65 Mich. 111, 31 N. W. 814. See also Graves v. Brooks, 117 Mich. 424, 75 N. W. 932; Van Cott v. Van Brunt, 82 N. Y. 535; Boynton v. Hatch, 47 N. Y. 225.

4. Hastings Malting Co. v. Iron Range Brewing Co., 65 Minn. 28, 33, 67 N. W. 652.

The above doctrine is supported by many cases, among them the following:

Iowa.— Boulton Carbon Co. v. Mills, 78 Iowa 460, 43 N. W. 290, 5 L. R. A. 649; Osgood v. King, 42 Iowa 478.

Montana.— Kelly v. Clark, 21 Mont. 291, 53 Pac. 959, 69 Am. St. Rep. 668, 42 L. R. A. 621.

New York.— Douglass v. Ireland, 73 N. Y. 100 (overvaluation held to amount to fraud); National Tube Works Co. v. Gilfillan, 46 Hun 248, 11 N. Y. St. 533 [affirmed in 124 N. Y. 302, 26 N. E. 538, 35 N. Y. St. 357]. Compare Gamble v. Queens County Water Co., 123 N. Y. 91, 25 N. E. 201, 33 N. Y. St. 88, 25 Abb. N. Cas. 410, 9 L. R. A. 527 [reversing 52 Hun 166, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 124, 23 N. Y. St. 409].

Tennessee.— Bristol Bank, etc., Co. v. Jonesboro Banking Trust Co., 101 Tenn. 545, 48 S. W. 228.

United States.—Preston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 36 Fed. 54, 1 L. R. A. 140, a scheme of vulgar fraud — shareholders held liable.

(iv) What Overvaluations Have Been Held Fraudulent. Within the meaning of the foregoing rule, the following overvaluations have been held to be fraudulent: Where there is a gross overvaluation to the knowledge of the sharetaker;[5] where the overvaluation is so gross as, in the absence of an explanation, creates on the face of the transaction an inference of fraudulent intent,[6] especially where viewed in connection with the other facts of the case;[7] as where a corporation, for the purpose of enabling a subscriber to get his shares at less than par, buys from him a worthless patent right and afterward resells it to him for a nominal sum, the transaction being a mere evasion of the statutory requirement that the shares are to be sold at par;[8] or where "paid-up shares" to the amount of three hundred thousand dollars were issued in exchange for property of the well-understood value of no more than seventy-five thousand dollars;[9] or where land is conveyed to a corporation in full payment of shares of the par value of one million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which land was purchased for ninety thousand dollars.[10]

(v) What Overvaluations Have Been Held Not Fraudulent. On the other hand overvaluations were held not fraudulent where shares to the extent of one million dollars were issued for property worth two hundred and twenty thousand dollars;[11] where shares in a corporation which were practically worthless because the corporation owned no property or franchises of any kind were issued in consideration of the transfer to the corporation of property worth one million two hundred thousand dollars, against which there was an indebtedness of one million and fifty thousand dollars, which indebtedness the corporation assumed, the conclusion being that the issue of shares was not fictitious and void;[12] where shares were issued to pay for an interest in land which both the corporation and the grantee believed to be worth fifty-five thousand dollars, but which was actually worth only fifteen thousand six hundred dollars.[13]

(vi) What Is "Good Faith" Within Meaning of Rule. It has been held that the belief that a prudent and sensible business man would hold in the ordinary conduct of his own business affairs is what constitutes good faith in the valuation of property for which stock of a corporation is issued.[14]

(vii) Questions of Procedure Connected With "Good Faith Rule"— (a) View That Contract Must Be Impeached For Fraud in Direct Proceeding. There is a view, seemingly confined to two or three decisions, that the creditors of the corporation cannot charge the shareholder with the difference between the agreed and the actual value of the property delivered in payment of his shares until the transaction has been impeached for fraud in a direct proceeding.[15] But it does not appear from these decisions what proceeding the creditor of the corporation is expected to take in order to impeach the transaction, whether a bill

5. Wishard v. Hansen, 99 Iowa 307, 68 N. W. 691, 61 Am. St. Rep. 238; Hastings Malting Co. v. Iron Range Brewing Co., 65 Minn. 28, 33, 67 N. W. 652.

6. Coleman v. Howe, 154 Ill. 458, 39 N. E. 725, 45 Am. St. Rep. 133 [affirming 53 Ill. App. 82].

7. Lloyd v. Preston, 146 U. S. 630, 13 S. Ct. 131, 36 L. ed. 1111.

8. Peck v. Elliott, 79 Fed. 10, 24 C. C. A. 425, 38 L. R. A. 616.

9. Coleman v. Howe, 154 Ill. 458, 39 N. E. 725, 45 Am. St. Rep. 133 [affirming 53 Ill. App. 82].

10. Lea v. Iron Belt Mercantile Co., 119 Ala. 271, 24 So. 28.

11. Rood v. Whorton, 74 Fed. 118, 20 C. C. A. 332. Compare the equally unsatisfactory case of Giddings v. Holter, 19 Mont. 263, 48 Pac. 8, where the question was whether directors who had reported, in the report required by statute, that the shares of the corporation were paid in full, when they had been paid in town lots carved out of a recent government land entry which was annulled by the government land-office, made a false report.

12. Smith v. Ferrier, etc., R. Co., (Cal. 1897) 51 Pac. 710.

13. Jenkins v. Bradley, 104 Wis. 540, 80 N. W. 1025.

14. Kelly v. Clark, 21 Mont. 291, 53 Pac. 959, 69 Am. St. Rep. 668, 42 L. R. A. 621.

15. Coffin v. Ransdell, 110 Ind. 417, 11 N. E. 20; Brant v. Ehlen, 59 Md. 1; Phelan v. Hazard, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,068, 5 Dill. 45. Compare Coit v. North Carolina Gold Amalgamating Co., 119 U. S. 343, 7 S. Ct. 231, 30 L. ed. 420.

in equity in which the corporation, the directors, and the shareholders are made parties, or what.

(B) Whether Fraudulent Overvaluation Should Be Pleaded. Under the "good faith rule" there can be no doubt that a fraudulent overvaluation should be pleaded by a creditor proceeding to charge a shareholder with the difference between real value and pretended value; but under the "true value rule" a charge of fraud is not necessary.[16]

(C) Manner of Pleading Fraud. In pleading fraud under the "good faith rule," it has been held to be necessary to charge that the corporation was misled or overreached by defendant, as to the situation or value of the property, that the transaction was merely colorable, or that it was a device to absorb the capital stock of the corporation without paying what was regarded and agreed upon as an equivalent for it.[17]

(D) Consideration May Be Shown by Parol. The consideration for the shares and the real nature of the transaction may be shown by parol, notwithstanding the recitals in the corporate record.[18]

(E) Trial by Jury of Question of Fraud. The fraud here under consideration, being fraud in fact, it follows that in actions at law the issue of fraud or good faith is contestable and before a jury,[19] although where the issue has been submitted to a judge without a jury, the unsuccessful party cannot object for the first time in an appellate court that this was done.[20]

(F) Whether Creditors Have Right of Action Against Directors For Fraudulent Overvaluation. As a general rule creditors of the corporation have no right of action against the directors for a fraudulent overvaluation, since in theory of law the wrong is a wrong to the corporation and not a direct wrong to the creditors.[21] This does not exclude the conclusion that where the formation of a corporate organization has been resorted to in order to cloak a fraud upon the public, and where shares pretendedly paid up in property of great value have been foisted by fraudulent representations made by the directors, they may not have a direct action against the directors to recover damages for the fraud.[22] In every such case it is necessary in order to a recovery that plaintiff should show that he relied upon the fraudulent representations.[23]

(VIII) Subsequent Creditors With Full Knowledge Have No Redress. On whatever theory the conclusion is placed, the rule seems to be that those who extend credit to the corporation with full knowledge as to the manner in which its shares have been paid for, if at all, cannot charge its shareholders with any supposed difference between real value and fictitious value, in case of payment in property.[24] And this is especially true where one shareholder, being a creditor, seeks to charge other shareholders.[25]

h. Rescission of Contracts Whereby Shares Are Paid For in Property — (I) In General. This subject rests upon principles already considered.[26] It seems that a promise between a corporation and one to whom its shares have been 16. Boynton v. Hatch, 47 N. Y. 225.

17. Coffin v. Ransdell, 110 Ind. 417, 11 N. E. 20.

18. Liebke v. Knapp, 79 Mo. 22, 49 Am. Rep. 212. To this point see Baile v. St. Joseph F. & M. Ins. Co., 73 Mo. 371; Hollocher v. Hollocher, 62 Mo. 267; Fontaine v. Boatmen's Sav. Inst., 57 Mo. 552.

19. Frankenthal v. Goldstein, 44 Mo. App. 189 (cases reviewed); Lake Superior Iron Co. v. Drexel, 90 N. Y. 87.

20. Dodge v. Havemeyer, 4 N. Y. St. 561.

21. Priest v. White, 89 Mo. 609, 1 S. W. 361.

22. Such were the cases of Baker v. Crandall, 78 Mo. 584, 47 Am. Rep. 126 [affirming 7 Mo. App. 564]; Watson v. Crandall, 78 Mo. 583 [affirming 7 Mo. App. 233]; Hornblower v. Crandall, 78 Mo. 581 [affirming 7 Mo. App. 220 and followed in Whiting v. Crandall, 78 Mo. App. 593].

23. This was one of the grounds of the decision in Priest v. White, 89 Mo. 609, 1 S. W. 361.

24. Deadwood First Nat. Bank v. Gustin Minerva Consol. Min. Co., 42 Minn. 327, 44 N. W. 198, 18 Am. St. Rep. 510, 6 L. R. A. 676.

25. Walburn v. Chenault, 43 Kan. 352, 23 Pac. 657; Whitehill v. Jacobs, 75 Wis. 474, 44 N. W. 630.

26. See supra, VI, L.

issued as fully paid up, when nothing has been paid, in order to settle a controversy between the sharetaker and other coadventurers, followed by a redelivery of the share certificates to the corporation, and a subsequent reissue of them to bona fide takers, will not afford ground for charging the first subscriber as a shareholder, since the trust fund available for creditors has not been diminished by the transaction.[27] It has been held that a shareholder who surrenders unpaid shares to the corporation is not liable to creditors of the corporation, whose demands subsequently accrue;[28] but this can scarcely be affirmed with confidence.[29]

(II) Corporation or Its Representative Cannot Disaffirm Without Restoring Property Received. On familiar grounds neither the corporation nor its legal representative can disaffirm a contract whereby property has been delivered to the corporation in payment for its shares, on the ground of inadequacy in the value of the property, or of a fraudulent overvaluation, without restoring the property to the shareholder sought to be charged,[30] nor can this be done in any event against a bona fide purchaser of shares in open market.[31]

(III) No Disaffirmance Where Contract Fully Executed on One Side. The foregoing proposition is tantamount to another, which is that there can be no disaffirmance of such a contract, or any aid extended by a court of equity to either party, for the purpose of rescinding it, where it has been fully executed on one side, so that the parties cannot be put in statu quo, as where bonds had been given in payment of shares of the stock of an insurance company, on which the company had embarked in business, and this, although the capital stock may not have been paid in good faith, and although the company may have embarked in business in violation of the provisions of its charter.[32]

(IV) Where Shares Turn Out Void Because Issued For Less Than Full Value in Violation of Law, Subscriber May Recover Back Consideration Paid by Him. Where shares in a corporation are sold in good faith for less than their full value, and a certificate is issued therefor, which is in fact void, because issued for shares as fully paid, whereby they are worthless in the hands of the sharetaker, he may maintain an action against the corporation to recover back the money which is thus paid, as upon a consideration which has failed.[33]

i. Payment For Shares in What Kind of Property — (I) What Kind of Property Is Deemed to Be "Money's Worth" to Corporation. Within the rule already stated a payment of shares may be made in any kind of property which the corporation, under its charter or governing statute, may take and hold; in any services such as it might lawfully contract for; or in any solvent credits which it might lawfully acquire. It may be made in land, labor, materials useful for its business, or in satisfaction of damages or other liabilities.[34] In the absence of a statutory prohibition, the shares of a corporation may be paid for in any kind

27. Accordingly, in an action by the creditors of a corporation engaged in the manufacture of iron, to charge defendant with a statutory liability as a shareholder, it was held that he might show in exoneration that he became a shareholder by transferring to the corporation a furnace owned by him, in exchange for the stock; and that, some of the shareholders being dissatisfied, he took back the furnace and transferred the stock, taking a deed for the furnace. Morgan v. Lewis, 46 Ohio St. 1, 17 N. E. 558.

28. Erskine v. Peck, 13 Mo. App. 280 [affirmed in 83 Mo. 465].

29. Johnson v. Lullman, 15 Mo. App. 55 [affirmed in 88 Mo. 567].

30. Gillin v. Sawyer, 93 Me. 151, 44 Atl. 677; Foreman v. Bigelow, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,934, 4 Cliff. 508.

31. Foreman v. Bigelow, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,934, 4 Cliff. 508.

32. Yard v. Pacific Mut. Ins. Co., 10 N. J. Eq. 480, 64 Am. Dec. 467. Compare Thorp v. Woodhull, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 411.

33. Potter v. Necedah Lumber Co., 105 Wis. 25, 80 N. W. 88 [rehearing denied in 81 N. W. 118].

34. Arapahoe Cattle, etc., Land Co. v. Stevens, 13 Colo. 534, 22 Pac. 823; Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Hickman, 28 Pa. St. 318; Carr v. Le Fevre, 27 Pa. St. 413 (land); Searight v. Payne, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 283.

of property, labor, services, or other commodity such as the corporation might lawfully receive and pay for in money.[35]

(II) Particulars as to What Kind of Property. Payment for example may be made in solvent securities;[36] in the stock and bonds of a former corporation, in which case the franchise of the former corporation is to be construed in determining whether there has been a fair valuation;[37] in benefits represented by expenditures in developing the property before the corporation was organized;[38] in a debt due by the corporation to the subscriber, which may be set off pro tanto against his subscription;[39] in a credit on the purchase-price of land covered by a bond, which bond was given by the subscriber to the corporation to convey certain lands to it for a certain sum;[40] in case of a mining company, in mining lands;[41] in book-accounts which are incidents of the business which the sharetaker has transferred to the corporation;[42] in the notes of a prior copartnership, where the corporation has been organized to take over and continue its business;[43] in the property of the prior copartnership in such a case — nor is a conveyance of the partnership assets to the corporation the case of persons contracting with themselves, since the corporation is in law a distinct person from the members of the copartnership;[44] in services or labor valuable and useful to the corporation;[45] in newspaper puffing and advertising in order to further a great scheme such as requires the support of the public;[46] in the case of insurance companies paying commissions on business done for the company by local agents, where the agreement with the local agent is collateral to the share subscription;[47] in services as a director of the corporation, and upon consideration of the person so serving transferring to the corporation, it being a bank, the custom of a mercantile house, of

35. Hastings Malting Co. v. Iron Range Brewing Co., 65 Minn. 28, 33, 67 N. W. 652. In such a case where the property is turned in at a fair valuation (Mercer v. Park City Mineral Water Co., 38 S. W. 841, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 985) or where no issue is made as to its value (Elderkin v. Peterson, 8 Wash. 674, 36 Pac. 1089) the shares are deemed paid for to the extent to which it was agreed between the parties that the commodity should be deemed payment.

36. McRae v. Russell, 34 N. C. 224; Vermont Cent. R. Co. v. Clayes, 21 Vt. 30; Blunt v. Walker, 11 Wis. 334, 78 Am. Dec. 709. That some of the subscriptions to the capital stock of a trust company appointed as assignee for creditors had not been paid in cash, but in securities, cannot be raised by collateral attack in garnishment proceedings against such company on the ground that the assignment is void see Roane Iron Co. v. Wisconsin Trust Co., 99 Wis. 273, 74 N. W. 818, 67 Am. St. Rep. 856.

37. Rafferty v. Buffalo City Gas Co., 37 N. Y. App. Div. 618, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 288.

38. Geneva Mineral Spring Co. v. Coursey, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 268, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 98 [rehearing denied in 62 N. Y. Suppl. 1137].

39. Richardson v. Graham, 45 W. Va. 134, 30 S. E. 92 [citing Coffin v. Ransdell, 110 Ind. 417, 11 N. E. 20].

40. Libby v. Mt. Monadnock Mineral Spring, etc., Co., 68 N. H. 444, 44 Atl. 602.

41. Foreman v. Bigelow, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,934, 4 Cliff. 508; Phelan v. Hazard, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,068, 5 Dill. 45. Compare In re South Mountain Consol. Min. Co., 5 Fed. 403, 7 Sawy. 30.

42. Gurney v. Union Transfer, etc., Co., 51 N. Y. Super. Ct. 444, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 549, 29 N. Y. St. 274.

43. Stoddard v. Shetucket Foundry, etc., Co., 34 Conn. 542.

44. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Tiernan, 37 Kan. 606, 15 Pac. 544.

45. McComb v. Cordova Apartment Assoc., 10 N. Y. Suppl. 552, 31 N. Y. St. 334; McComb v. Barcelona Apartment Assoc., 10 N. Y. Suppl. 546, 31 N. Y. St. 325.

That the value of services must bear some reasonable proportion to the nominal value of the shares issued for them see Chouteau v. Dean, 7 Mo. App. 210, 215, opinion by Lewis, P. J.

Construction of a peculiar contract whereby persons were to subscribe for the shares of a corporation, they to be employed by the corporation, and to pay for the shares a certain per cent of their wages until their subscription should be paid for, with the conclusion that the subscribers could not, on the corporation becoming insolvent, recover from it the amount of wages retained on account of their subscription. Lincott v. Northwood Union Shoe Co., 68 N. H. 260, 44 Atl. 992.

46. Liebke v. Knapp, 79 Mo. 22, 49 Am. Rep. 212, no objection that the editorials were published gratuitously. To the contrary, where full-paid shares were to be issued to a person in exchange for his influence in promoting the sale of the goods which the corporation is organized to manufacture see Peninsular Sav. Bank v. Black Flag Stove Polish Co., 105 Mich. 535, 63 N. W. 514.

47. In re General Provident Assur. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 74; Matter of Companies Act, which he was a member;[48] in services rendered by officers of the corporation in cases where the directors have the right to pay compensation to such officers;[49] in a note, bond, or other contract, secured by a mortgage;[50] in a certified check on a solvent bank, wherein the drawer has funds sufficient to meet it;[51] in the promissory note of the subscriber, although this is not payment until the note is paid,[52] and this in the face of a constitutional provision which forbids the issue of stock by corporations except for money paid, labor done, or property actually received;[53] in the case of a water-supply company, in the construction of its plant and the acquisition of the property and rights necessary to its operation;[54] in the good-will of a business, which the corporation lawfully takes over and continues;[55] in services agreed to be performed in the future, as well as in services already performed;[56] in anything which the company honestly and not colorably buys, and at any price which it sees fit to pay, provided the transaction is made public by a registration under a statute permitting such transactions to take place;[57] in an incorporeal hereditament, such as the right to take minerals from land;[58] in work done and materials furnished by contractors, in which case, in the absence of fraud, the shares cannot be made assessable as between the original parties, on the ground that the work was defectively done;[59] in a steam-boiler necessary to the operation of the business of the company, and put in in running order by the shareholder;[60] and in a case where shares have been subscribed for by one in a credit company, at the request of another, in a judgment recovered by such other against the company.[61]

(III) Whether Payment Can Be Made by Transferring Worthless Patented or Unpatented Invention. Certainly, where the "true value rule" obtains, a payment for shares cannot be made by transferring to the corporation an invention patented or unpatented, which turns out to be worthless, since such an invention is not property, but is a mere possibility.[62] But an agreement

4 De G. J. & S. 749, 11 Jur. N. S. 574, 34 L. J. Ch. 525, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 717, 13 Wkly. Rep. 958, 69 Eng. Ch. 574.

48. Rich v. Lincoln State Nat. Bank, 7 Nebr. 201, 29 Am. Rep. 382.

49. Morton v. Timken, 48 N. J. L. 87, 2 Atl. 783, mandamus granted to compel the issuing of the shares.

50. Governor v. Baker, 14 Ala. 652; Valk v. Crandall, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 179; Western Bank v. Tallman, 17 Wis. 530; Andrews v. Hart, 17 Wis. 297; Lyon v. Ewings, 17 Wis. 61; Clark v. Farrington, 11 Wis. 306. Certificates issued not invalidated by the fact that the security taken by the corporation turns out to be worthless. Protection L. Ins. Co. v. Osgood, 93 Ill. 69.

51. In re Staten Island Rapid Transit R. Co., 37 Hun (N. Y.) 422.

52. Leighty v. Susquehanna, etc., Turnpike Co., 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 434.

53. Pacific Trust Co. v. Dorsey, 72 Cal. 55, 12 Pac. 49 [affirmed in 13 Pac. 148]. For a case presenting the fanciful theory that although the contract of subscription was void, because the commissioners had power to receive subscriptions only in cash, yet the note was good as having been given for the purchase of so much stock, see Hayne v. Beauchamp, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 515. The better view is that in case of a corporation having the inherent or implied power to take and negotiate promissory notes in the course of its business, it may receive such a note in settlement of a subscription to its capital stock. Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240; Magee v. Badger, 30 Barb. (N. Y.) 246.

54. Drake v. New York Suburban Water Co., 26 N. Y. App. Div. 499, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 826, where the contract was executed on both sides.

55. Washburn v. National Wall-Paper Co., 81 Fed. 17, 26 C. C. A. 312.

56. Shannon v. Stevenson, 173 Pa. St. 419, 34 Atl. 218, 37 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 537.

57. In re Wragg, [1897] 1 Ch. 796, 66 L. J. Ch. 419, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 397, 45 Wkly. Rep. 557, under English Companies Act (1867).

58. Shepard v. Drake, 61 Mo. App. 134.

59. Riverton Water Co. v. Hummel, 175 Pa. St. 575, 34 Atl. 851. Circumstances under which the shares issued under statutory authority by the purchasers of the property and franchises of the corporation at a foreclosure sale, upon a reincorporation, are to be deemed full-paid see Wells v. Green Bay, etc., Canal Co., 90 Wis. 442, 64 N. W. 69.

60. Samuel v. Swanger, 7 Del. Co. (Pa.) 446.

61. In re Paraguassu Steam Tramroad Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 355, 43 L. J. Ch. 482, 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 211, 22 Wkly. Rep. 386.

62. Chisholm v. Forny, 65 Iowa 333, 21 N. W. 664 (transfer of a worthless patent right does not satisfy the Iowa statute); Van Cleve v. Berkey, 143 Mo. 109, 44 S. W. 743, 42 L. R. A. 593; National Tube-Works Co. v. Gilfillan, 124 N. Y. 302, 26 N. E. 538, between the owner of a patent right and a third party that the latter should form a corporation to work the patent and should issue to the former a certain number of full-paid shares of the capital stock of the corporation for the transfer of the patent right is, in the absence of fraud or of a purpose to impose on the public, a valid agreement.[63]

j. Various Other Holdings Relating to Payment of Shares in Property — (I) When Subscription Payable in Property Is Demandable in Money. If the subscription is in terms payable in materials, and is not paid in materials according to the contract, it is demandable in money, and an action of debt will lie thereon.[64]

(II) Corporation May Purchase Property Payable Partly in Stock or Bonds. In the absence of a statutory prohibition, a corporation which purchases property, intending to issue stock in payment therefor, need not make the whole payment in stock; it may issue stock for a portion and pay in cash or issue bonds for the balance.[65]

(III) Other Subscribers Not Discharged Because Corporation Accepts Payment of Some Subscribers in Advance of Regular Calls in Depreciated Money. In one case it was held that the act of the directors of a corporation during the late Civil war in allowing subscribers to discharge their entire subscriptions in advance of the regular calls in depreciated Confederate money, being ultra vires and void, did not have the effect of discharging other subscribers who had not enjoyed this privilege. The court proceeded on the ground that what had been done did not stand in the way of the company collecting from the favored subscribers the amounts really due from them.[66]

(IV) Corporation Receiving Land in Payment For Its Shares Is Purchaser For Value. Where the subscriber has paid for his shares in land at a given valuation, the corporation is a purchaser for value, within the recording acts, and is not affected with knowledge of a defect in the title, which may be possessed by the conveying shareholder, although the latter is president of the corporation.[67]

(V) Payment in Lands Title to Which Fails. Under the "true value rule" quitclaim deeds to a corporation, by subscribers to its shares, of lands in which they erroneously supposed they had an interest, cannot constitute a valid payment for their stock as against creditors of the corporation.[68]

(VI) Rights of Shareholder Who Has Paid More Than Par For Shares. A shareholder who has voluntarily paid more than par for his stock

35 N. Y. St. 357 [affirming 46 Hun (N. Y.) 248, transfer of an unpatented invention found by the jury to be worth but a small proportion of the shares issued, and a verdict directed for plaintiff, a creditor of the corporation]; Tasker v. Wallace, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 364 (transfer of patent rights of an unascertained value not a payment for shares under the statutes of New York).

63. Beyrich v. Liebler, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 293, 20 N. Y. St. 769. Compare Edwards v. Bringier Sugar Extracting Co., 27 La. Ann. 118; In re Postage Stamp Automatic Delivery Co., [1892] 3 Ch. 566, 61 L. J. Ch. 597, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 88, 41 Wkly. Rep. 29.

The following two cases were decided upon the construction of two statutes, one of them prohibiting corporations from disposing of their shares at less than par, except in sales of shares at auction for the non-payment of assessments, and the other declaring that certificates of stock issued by a corporation at its organization to pay promoters for certain patents, and by them transferred to one of their number to hold as treasury stock, are without consideration and void. Kimball v. New England Roller-Grate Co., 69 N. H. 485, 45 Atl. 253; State v. Williams, 69 N. H. 485, 45 Atl. 253.

64. Haywood, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Bryan, 51 N. C. 82.

65. Gamble v. Queens County Water Co., 123 N. Y. 91, 25 N. E. 201, 33 N. Y. St. 88, 25 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 410, 9 L. R. A. 527 [reversing 52 Hun (N. Y.) 166, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 124, 23 N. Y. St. 409].

66. Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Vason, 57 Ga. 314.

67. Frenkel v. Hudson, 82 Ala. 158, 2 So. 758, 60 Am. Rep. 736.

68. Henderson v. Turngren, 9 Utah 432, 35 Pac. 495. But compare Giddings v. Holter, 19 Mont. 263, 48 Pac. 268. That the title to shares issued in payment for property is not affected by the fact that the share-taker obtained the property on credit and had not paid for it, with a good many other complications in a squabble among shareholders see West v. Huiskamp, 63 Fed. 749, 11 C. C. A. 401.

in discharge of his obligation on his share subscription cannot compel the corporation to refund the sum he has paid in excess of the par value.[69]

(VII) OTHER HOLDINGS. The fact that shares are issued to innocent parties upon property fraudulently acquired by a corporation does not deprive the defrauded grantor of relief, as the managers of the corporation are the agents of the shareholders in issuing stock upon property which the corporation had no right to, and the shareholders must bear the consequences of their wrong and look to them for redress.[70] The fact that a subscription contract, binding each party to pay one hundred and fifty dollars for one lot and three shares of stock in a corporation, of the par value of twenty-five dollars each, has become unenforceable so far as concerns the lot, as against a subscriber, because of a resort to chance in the distribution of the lots in which he did not participate, does not render it unenforceable so far as concerns his liability for the stock.[71]

3. RIGHTS OF BONA FIDE PURCHASERS OF UNPAID SHARES — a. Bona Fide Purchasers Protected Where Certificates Recite That Shares Are Paid Up. Bona fide purchasers of shares, the certificates of which recite that the shares have been paid for in full, are protected from future assessments, whether by the company or on behalf of its creditors, very much on the principle that protects the innocent purchasers of commercial paper, although it is admitted that share certificates are not negotiable instruments.[72]

b. Bona Fide Purchasers Protected, Although Certificates Do Not Recite That Shares Are Paid Up. Some of the courts have carried the principle so far as to hold that where shares of corporate stock are issued as paid-up shares, an innocent purchaser of the same, who takes them in good faith as paid up, in the absence of any circumstance to put him upon inquiry, and when the books of the corporation would give no notice that the stock was not paid up, is not liable to creditors of the corporation for the amount unpaid; nor is it necessary in such a case, the certificates being in the usual form, that in order that they should be regarded as paid up in the hands of an innocent purchaser they should state on their face that they were fully paid up.[73]

c. Subsequent Purchaser With Notice of Fraudulent Overvaluation Not Protected. But where property has been conveyed to the company in payment of shares of its stock, at a gross or fraudulent overvaluation, a subsequent purchaser

69. Esgen v. Smith, 113 Iowa 25, 84 N. W. 954.

70. Texas Consol. Compress, etc., Assoc. v. Dublin, etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 38 S. W. 404.

71. Emshwiler v. Tyner, 21 Ind. App. 347, 52 N. E. 459, 69 Am. St. Rep. 360.

Shares not assessable.— Circumstances under which shares issued to incorporators of a land company as fully paid, in exchange for land conveyed by them to the corporation, are not assessable for the payment of an encumbrance on the land. John R. Proctor Land Co. v. Cooke, 103 Ky. 96, 44 S. W. 391, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1734.

The mere intention of one who conveys all his property to a corporation and takes stock therefor that his debts shall be paid out of the proceeds of the corporation will not bind the corporation, where there is no agreement to that effect between him and the corporation. Durlacher v. Frazer, 8 Wyo. 58, 55 Pac. 306, 80 Am. St. Rep. 918.

Construction of the provision of the charter of a water company that only a stated per cent of the capital shall be paid up, except as otherwise provided, etc., with the conclusion that the payment of a greater per cent is authorized when necessary to put the works in condition, etc. Burlington v. Burlington Water Co., 86 Iowa 266, 53 N. W. 246.

72. Brant v. Ehler, 59 Md. 1; Du Pont v. Tilden, 42 Fed. 87; Foreman v. Bigelow, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,934, 4 Cliff. 508; Phelan v. Hazard, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,068, 5 Dill. 45; Waterhouse v. Jamieson, L. R. 2 H. L. Sc. 29; Burkinshaw v. Nicolls, 3 App. Cas. 1004, 48 L. J. Ch. 179, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 308, 26 Wkly. Rep. 819; In re British Farmers Pure Linseed Cake Co., 7 Ch. D. 533; McCracken v. McIntyre, 1 Can. Supreme Ct. 479.

73. Keystone Bridge Co. v. McCluney, 8 Mo. App. 496 [cited and referred to by the supreme court of Missouri in Skrainka v. Allen, 76 Mo. 384, 392]. See also Erskine v. Lowenstein, 11 Mo. App. 595; West Nashville Planing-Mill Co. v. Nashville Sav. Bank, 86 Tenn. 252, 6 S. W. 340, 6 Am. St. Rep. 835. Compare Sturges v. Stetson, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,568, 1 Biss. 246.

That there is a distinction between the case where share certificates issue purporting to be fully paid and where they do not purport to be fully paid see the observations of Dillon, J., in Steacy v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,329, 5 Dill. 348, 373.

of the shares, with notice of the fact, is liable to creditors of the corporation to the same extent as the original subscriber.[74]

d. When Record of Conveyance of Land to Corporation Not Notice That Shares Issued Therefor Have Been Paid Up. The record of a deed of conveyance of real estate to a corporation, reciting that the consideration is a certain number of paid-up shares of the stock, does not constitute constructive notice to creditors that the subscriptions to such shares have been paid in.[75]

e. Effect of Surrender of Unpaid Shares and Reissue of Them to Bona Fide Purchaser. Where such a transaction has taken place, one who subsequently becomes a creditor cannot, in the event of the subsequent insolvency of the corporation, hold the original shareholder to the liability assumed by his contract or to that imposed upon him by statute. The reason is that by such a surrender and reissue of the shares the assets of the corporation have been in nowise diminished or impaired, and no element of estoppel enters into such a case.[76]

N. Assessments and Calls — 1. In General — a. What Are Assessments and What Not. An assessment is said to be a rating of the shareholders by the board of directors, or by the shareholders in aggregate meeting, by instalments, of which notice is given to them, which notice usually passes under the name of a "call."[77] It is a levy on the shares of the corporation requiring each shareholder to pay it in proportion to the number of shares owned by him.[78] These two words, "assessments" and "calls," although really meaning different things, are constantly confused in legal treatises and in judicial opinions.[79]

b. When Assessment Is Necessary to Right of Action. Statutes, charters, by-laws, and contracts of subscription usually provide that the amount subscribed for shall be paid when called for by the directors or by the shareholders. Where such a provision enters into the contract, no action can be maintained against the subscriber on his contract of subscription until a valid assessment has been made,[80] except for the purpose of paying the debts of the corporation after insolvency.[81] The general rule may therefore be said to be that a call or assessment, or something standing in the place of and equivalent to it, either made by the company or by a court having jurisdiction, is necessary to right of action against the shareholder.[82] Generally speaking the call must be clearly proved and the recovery is limited to the amount which has been called.[83] It has been so held where the terms of the contract of subscription were that the subscriber would pay "all charges and assessments regularly levied or assessed," and the fact that notwithstanding the terms of the subscription the subscriber paid the full price for his

74. Boulton Carbon Co. v. Mills, 78 Iowa 430, 43 N. W. 290, 5 L. R. A. 649.

75. Osgood v. King, 42 Iowa 478.

76. Erskine v. Peck, 13 Mo. App. 280 [affirmed in 83 Mo. 465].

77. Spangler v. Indiana, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 276. See also CALL, 6 Cyc. 265.

78. Omaha Law Library Assoc. v. Connell, 55 Nebr. 536, 75 N. W. 837.

79. See Gary v. York Min. Co., 9 Utah 464, 35 Pac. 494.

Effect of an oral agreement by a shareholder to accept such drafts as the corporation may draw upon him for calls. Bank of Commerce v. Bogy, 9 Mo. App. 335. See also Bank of Commerce v. Bogy, 44 Mo. 13, 100 Am. Dec. 247.

80. Illinois.— Great Western Tel. Co. v. Barker, 56 Ill. App. 402.

Louisiana.— Purton v. New Orleans, etc., R. Co., 3 La. Ann. 19.

Michigan.— Halsey Fire Engine Co. v. Donovan, 57 Mich. 318, 23 N. W. 828.

New Jersey.— Grosse Isle Hotel Co. v. I'Anson, 43 N. J. L. 442.

New York.— Williams v. Taylor, 120 N. Y. 244, 24 N. E. 288, 30 N. Y. St. 646; Bouton v. Dry Dock, etc., Stage Co., 4 E. D. Smith 420 (under section 7 of the New York act relating to stage companies).

United States.— Chandler v. Siddle, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,594, 3 Dill. 477.

See also In re Cawley, 42 Ch. Div. 209; Halifax Carette Co. v. Moir, 28 Nova Scotia 45.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 371.

81. West End Real-Estate Co. v. Claiborne, 97 Va. 734, 34 S. E. 900; Alexander v. Automatic Telephone Co., [1899] 2 Ch. 302, 68 L. J. Ch. 514, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 753. See also infra, VI, N, 1, c, (I).

82. Chandler v. Siddle, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,594, 3 Dill. 477.

83. South Georgia, etc., R. Co. v. Ayres, 56 Ga. 230.

shares ought not to establish his liability to pay in like manner for the rest; nor was it evidence of an agreement on his part to pay without a call.[84]

c. When Assessment Is Not Necessary — (I) In General. No assessment is necessary as a condition precedent to a right of action against the shareholder, where by the terms of his subscription he has agreed to pay the amount subscribed by him at certain specified dates, in which case an action for the agreed instalments may be maintained, although proceedings have not been taken to forfeit and sell the shares for the delinquency.[85] Nor as a general rule are an assessment and call necessary to a right of action where the corporation has ceased to be a going concern and has gone into liquidation in any form, and where the whole amount due by the shareholders is necessary to satisfy the valid demands of the creditors.[86] It is equally obvious that the governing statute or contract of subscription may be such that the whole amount subscribed for will be presently due and payable, without the necessity of any formal call, or even of any demand for the whole or any part of it by the directors; but that they may sue for it at once without any previous demand, the bringing of the action being in theory of law a sufficient demand.[87] It has been held that in the absence of anything in the governing statute, by-law, or in the contract of subscription, making the unpaid balance payable on assessments and calls, the full amount of the subscription is payable on demand.[88]

(II) No Call Necessary to Bring in Statutory Deposit. With respect to the statutory deposit which, under many schemes of incorporation, the subscriber is required to pay at the time of making his subscription, if the theory of the jurisdiction is that the failure to make it does not render the subscription void, then it follows that it is a debt payable on demand, that no formal call for it is necessary, but that the bringing of an action to recover it is a demand.[89]

(III) No Assessment Necessary in Case of Preliminary Agreement to Subscribe. The rule which requires an assessment obviously has no application to the case of an executory contract to subscribe for shares in the company. Such a contract is broken when the promisor refuses to make the subscription according to his agreement, and the measure of damages is the difference between the market value of the stock at the time of trial and the amount agreed to be paid for it.[90]

(IV) Right of Shareholder to Pay at Once Without Waiting For Call. It has been reasoned that a subscription to the stock of a corporation creates something more than a mere power on the part of the corporation to create an indebtedness by making a call on the subscriber, but that it gives a right to the shareholder to pay it at once; and he need not wait for a call.[91]

d. Assessments by Judicial Courts Administering Assets in Insolvency. Sometimes the court which administers, through its receiver or otherwise, the assets of an insolvent corporation, will ascertain the necessity of a call and will make it by an order of court.[92]

e. Doctrine That Corporations Have No Power to Assess Shares Unless Power Expressly Granted. Cases are found which put forward the doctrine that a cor-

84. Grosse Isle Hotel Co. v. I'Anson, 43 N. J. L. 442 [affirming 42 N. J. L. 10].

85. West v. Crawford, 80 Cal. 19, 21 Pac. 1123; Shattuck v. Robbins, 68 N. H. 565, 44 Atl. 694.

86. Washington Sav. Bank v. Butchers', etc., Bank, 107 Mo. 133, 17 S. W. 644, 28 Am. St. Rep. 405; Citizens, etc., Sav. Bank, etc. v. Gillespie, 115 Pa. St. 564, 9 Atl. 73. Circumstances under which an action by the assignee of an insolvent corporation may maintain an action against a shareholder upon his unpaid subscription, although no call has been made upon him by the court. Johnson v. Allis, 71 Conn. 207, 41 Atl. 816.

87. See infra, VI, N, 2, e, (III).

88. Champion Fire Kindler Co. v. Rischert, 74 Mo. App. 537.

89. Eastern Plank Road Co. v. Vaughan, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 155.

90. Rhey v. Ebensburg, etc., Plank-Road Co., 27 Pa. St. 261.

91. Marsh v. Burroughs, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,112, 1 Woods 463.

92. Glenn v. Howard, 81 Ga. 383, 8 S. E. 636, 12 Am. St. Rep. 318; Sanger v. Upton, poration has no incidental power to assess for its own use a sum of money on the corporators and compel them by an action at law to pay the same; but such power must be derived from statute or from some express promise to pay.[93] But as a grant of the power to raise a joint stock necessarily implies a power to raise it in the usual way the force of these decisions is not perceived.

f. Power of Directors to Make Assessments — (I) In General. Under the best modern conceptions, the directors of a corporation have the power, in virtue of their general office as business managers, to make assessments upon the capital stock for the purposes of the corporation.[94]

(II) Shareholders May Delegate Power to Directors. Where the charter authorized the shareholders to make calls for payment of subscriptions for stock, and to appoint a board of directors consisting of shareholders to "manage the business of the corporation," it was held that the shareholders might by resolution after the organization of the company delegate to the board of directors the power to call in the stock.[95]

(III) Shareholders May Fix Times of Payment in Their Contracts of Subscription. The shareholders may, in their contracts of subscription, fix the times of payment; and as the shareholders are above the directors, unless a mandatory statute fixes the duties of the directors in this respect, the fact that power is conferred upon them to make calls for instalments of stock subscribed does not prevent shareholders in their articles of association or in any written contract to pay for stock from fixing the time of payment; and if such time is fixed by the terms of the subscription the party subscribing is bound thereby.[96]

(IV) Directors Cannot Delegate Power to Ministerial Officers. This power being discretionary in its nature, directors cannot delegate it to ministerial officers.[97] Cases are found where this principle has been departed from, as 91 U. S. 56, 23 L. ed. 220; Chandler v. Siddle, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,594, 3 Dill. 477 (United States district court sitting in bankruptcy).

93. Duluth Club v. MacDonald, 74 Minn. 254, 76 N. W. 1128, 73 Am. St. Rep. 344; Enterprise Ditch Co. v. Moffit, 58 Nebr. 642, 79 N. W. 560, 76 Am. St. Rep. 122, 45 L. R. A. 647; Williams v. Lowe, 4 Nebr. 382.

94. Budd v. Multonoma St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169, holding that a general statute (Hill Code Oreg. § 3225) clothing the directors with the exercise of the power vested in the corporation confers upon them this power. A decision of Story, J., at circuit that directors do not possess this power by implication and do not acquire it by a by-law authorizing them to "take care of the interests, and manage the concerns of the corporation" seems to be opposed to modern conceptions and to be untenable in its strictness. Ex p. Winsor, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,884, 3 Story 411.

Necessity of authority from shareholders or corporation.— That a requisition for the payment of stock made by the directors of a corporation, under the authority of the by-laws, is binding upon each individual shareholder without his assent see Smith v. Natchez Steamboat Co., 1 How. (Miss.) 479. But where the power was given to a corporation, by the legislature, to raise a fund in addition to the capital stock, by assessments on the shareholders, it was held that the directors had no power to lay assessments for this purpose, without authority from the corporation. Marlborough Mfg. Co. v. Smith, 2 Conn. 579. And a statute providing that an assessment upon capital stock must be made by the corporation has been construed to mean that it must be authorized by the shareholders. Lykens Valley Creamery Co. v. Bonawitz, 1 Dauph. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 249.

95. Rives v. Montgomery South Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 92.

96. Estell v. Knightstown, etc., Turnpike Co., 41 Ind. 174.

Contract construed.— Circumstances under which a written instrument signed by certain shareholders was construed as intending that the calls for instalments should be made as the business of the corporation required, and that the trustees had no right to call for all of it at once, unless the business required it. Williams v. Taylor, 120 N. Y. 244, 24 N. E. 288, 30 N. Y. St. 646 [reversing 41 Hun (N. Y.) 545, and distinguishing Tuckerman v. Brown, 33 N. Y. 297, 88 Am. Dec. 386; Howlands v. Edmunds, 24 N. Y. 307; Lake Ontario R. Co. v. Mason, 16 N. Y. 451].

97. In re County Palatine Loan, etc., Co., L. R. 9 Ch. 691, 43 L. J. Ch. 588, 31 L. T. Rep. N. S. 52, 22 Wkly. Rep. 697; In re London, etc., Bank, L. R. 3 Ch. 651, 37 L. J. Ch. 905, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 193, 16 Wkly. Rep. 1003; In re Leeds Banking Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 561, 36 L. J. Ch. 42, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 747, 14 Wkly. Rep. 883, 942; Cook v. Ward, 2 C. P. D. 255, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 893, 25 Wkly. Rep. 593.

Statutes exist conferring this power upon directors such as, in England, the Companies where the treasurer was authorized to levy and call assessments as might be needed.[98]

(v) Limitations of Power Must Be Sought For in Charter, Statute, By-Laws, Etc. Necessarily the limitations of the power by directors with respect to the levying of assessments must be sought for in the charter, the governing statute, the by-laws, or the resolutions adopted by the shareholders in general meeting. Thus if the charter confers the power to raise a definite sum, when this sum is raised the power of assessment is exhausted.[99] So stock which has been fully paid up cannot be further assessed without special authority conferred by charter or by statute;[1] and moreover this authority, in order to be valid, must obviously have been conferred prior to the subscription, or it would impair the obligation of the contract and be void.[2] Moreover, where the directors possess this power, they must exercise it in accordance with the charter; all the prerequisites of that instrument must be complied with before an action will lie to recover instalments.[3]

(vi) If Directors Possess Power Shareholders Cannot Question Necessity For Its Exercise. Assuming that the directors are vested with the discretionary power of making assessments, and that the exercise of the power by them is not specially restrained, the wisdom or necessity of making them is exclusively for their determination, and is not open to question by the shareholders in the judicial courts, in the absence of fraud.[4]

(vii) Directors Cannot Assess Paid-Up Stock Unless Specially Empowered by Statute or Where Shareholders so Contract. In the absence of special authority conferred upon them by law, or of the assent of the shareholders evidenced in some form, the directors of a corporation have no power to assess shares which have been fully paid up.[5] But they may assess full-

Act of 1862 (In re Taurine Co., 25 Ch. D. 118, 53 L. J. Ch. 271, 49 L. T. Rep. N. S. 514, 32 Wkly. Rep. 129), and the Companies Clauses Consolidation Act, 8 & 9 Vict. c. 16 (see Totterdell v. Fareham Blue Brick Co., L. R. 1 C. P. 674, 12 Jur. N. S. 901, 35 L. J. C. P. 278, 14 Wkly. Rep. 919; D'Arcy v. Tamar, etc., R. Co., L. R. 2 Exch. 158, 4 H. & C. 463, 21 Jur. N. S. 543, 36 L. J. Exch. 543, 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 626, 14 Wkly. Rep. 968); and where the power of delegation exists, its exercise will under particular circumstances be presumed (In re Barned's Banking Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 105, 37 L. J. Ch. 81, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 269, 16 Wkly. Rep. 193; Totterdell v. Fareham Blue Brick, etc., Co., L. R. 1 C. P. 674, 12 Jur. N. S. 901, 35 L. J. C. P. 278, 14 Wkly. Rep. 919; In re Tavistock Ironworks Co., L. R. 4 Eq. 233, 36 L. J. Ch. 616, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 824, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1007; Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 156, 329, 338).

98. Hays v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 38 Pa. St. 81. See also Rutland, etc., R. Co. v. Thrall, 35 Vt. 536, where a very irregular and it seems illegal assessment was worked out and made valid on the theory that the directors might ratify the acts of a committee of their members. Compare Pike v. Bangor, etc., R. Co., 68 Me. 445, where an assessment made by a committee of one, and not ratified by the board, was held void. See also Silver Hook Road v. Green, 12 R. I. 164, where it was held that a delegation of this discretionary power to the treasurer was unauthorized and that calls made by him were hence invalid.

99. State v. Morristown F. Assoc., 23 N. J. L. 195. See also infra, VI, N, 1, f, (VIII).

1. Great Falls, etc., R. Co. v. Copp, 38 N. H. 124; Atlantic De Laine Co. v. Mason, 5 R. I. 463.

2. See infra, VIII, F, 2.

3. Banet v. Alton, etc., R. Co., 13 Ill. 504. Where the charter of a company authorizes an assessment and call on unpaid shares of stock only in case of "losses exceeding the means of the corporation," this clause does not limit the right of the company so created to make an assessment for payment of losses only. When the funds are exhausted by losses and an assessment becomes necessary, it may be made for all purposes, either to pay debts already contracted or to create a new fund for the purpose of a business basis. In re Republic Ins. Co., 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,704, 3 Biss. 452. See also Louisiana Paper Co. v. Waples, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,540, 3 Woods 34, where, pursuing a statute, it was held that after the payment of forty per cent of the subscription, no shareholder was liable for the balance unless it had been called for by a vote of three fourths of the shareholders.

4. Judah v. American Live Stock Ins. Assoc., 4 Ind. 333; Chouteau Ins. Co. v. Floyd, 74 Mo. 286; Budd v. Multonoma St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169; Oglesby v. Attrill, 105 U. S. 605, 26 L. ed. 1186. See also Bailey v. Birkenhead, etc., R. Co., 12 Beav. 433, 14 Jur. 119, 19 L. J. Ch. 377, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 256.

5. Wells v. Green Bay, etc., Canal Co., 90 Wis. 442, 64 N. W. 69; In re Sovereign L.

paid shares where the governing statute, existing at the time of the formation of the corporation, gives them authority so to do.[6] And within the limits where public policy is not concerned, and subject to the rights of innocent persons dealing with the corporation, shareholders may vary by contract the liability which the governing statute imposes upon them, at least to the extent of increasing such liability,[7] as by agreeing that their shares shall be assessable where they would not be assessable under the governing statute.[8]

g. Power of Corporation to Make Assessments After Adoption of Resolution to Discontinue Business. The adoption by a corporation of a resolution to discontinue business does not operate as a dissolution, in such a sense as to deprive the corporation of the power to enforce assessments upon stock by actions against its shareholders.[9]

h. Illegality of One Assessment Will Not Vitiate Subsequent Legal Assessment. It has been laid down in an action for calls that the illegality of one assessment, in the particular case, the first assessment, will not vitiate subsequent assessments or proceedings for the forfeiture and sale of the shares thereunder, or afford a good defense to an action for the recovery of such subsequent assessments.[10]

i. Periodicity of Calls — Intervals Between Them. The intervals which may or must elapse between the different calls depend of course upon the governing instrument, whatever it may be, charter, statute, by-laws, or resolution of the shareholders in general meeting.[11]

j. Several Instalments May Be Included in Single Call. Where the terms of a subscription required that "assessments should not exceed five dollars on each share at one time," it was held that if no greater sum is payable at one time, the fact that several assessments were voted at one time is immaterial.[12] On a similar Assur. Co., [1892] 3 Ch. 279, 62 L. J. Ch. 36, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 336, 41 Wkly. Rep. 1.

6. As under Utah Comp. Laws (1888), §§ 2374, 2375, 2393. Gary v. York Min. Co., 9 Utah 464, 35 Pac. 494.

Construction of California statute (Cal. Civ. Code, § 322) limiting amount of assessment to ten per cent with stated exceptions. Pacific Fruit Co. v. Coon, 107 Cal. 447, 40 Pac. 542. See also Price's Appeal, 106 Pa. St. 421; Santa Cruz R. Co. v. Spreckles, 65 Cal. 193, 3 Pac. 661, 802.

Other examples of assessments authorized by particular statutes. Younglove v. Steinman, 80 Cal. 375, 22 Pac. 189; Taylor v. North Star Gold Min. Co., 79 Cal. 285, 21 Pac. 753.

Stock issued to an attorney as collateral security for a claim for legal services not assessable as between the parties to the transaction. Biggio v. Sandheger, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 316, 8 Ohio N. P. 13.

That a corporation formed from a partnership may assess its capital stock to pay debts incurred by the firm in procuring property which has been transferred to the corporation, so long as the assessment is less upon each person than he was originally required to furnish as a partner, the firm capital not having been actually paid in, see Hennessy v. Griggs, 1 N. D. 52, 44 N. W. 1010.

7. Ventura, etc., R. Co. v. Hartman, 116 Cal. 260, 48 Pac. 65; Marysville Electric Light, etc., Co. v. Johnson, 93 Cal. 538, 29 Pac. 126, 27 Am. St. Rep. 215; West v. Crawford, 80 Cal. 19, 21 Pac. 1123.

8. Marysville Electric Light, etc., Co. v. Johnson, 93 Cal. 538, 29 Pac. 126, 27 Am. St. Rep. 215.

What does not amount to such agreement. — It has been held that a recital on certificates of the stock of a business corporation organized under N. Y. Laws (1890), c. 567, that they are fully paid and non-assessable beyond ten dollars per annum does not amount to an agreement on the part of the holder that the shares may be assessed to that amount or authorize the corporation to do so. Sullivan County Club v. Butler, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 306, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 1.

9. Chouteau Ins. Co. v. Floyd, 74 Mo. 286.

10. European, etc., R. Co. v. McLeod, 16 N. Brunsw. 3.

11. Subscribers to stock in a railroad company must pay their subscriptions as the work progresses, such being the intent of the parties, as gathered from the nature of the work to be accomplished. McMillan v. Maysville, etc., R. Co., 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 218, 61 Am. Dec. 181.

Statutes have been enacted conferring upon the directors full discretionary power as to the time and manner of payment, under which they might require the whole subscription to be paid either at one time or in instalments. Haun v. Mulberry, etc., Gravel Road Co., 33 Ind. 103.

How period calculated. — It has been held that when not more than two calls are to be made in any successive twelve months, the period is to be calculated from the date of the first call, so that three calls may be made in thirteen successive months, provided but four be made in two years. Dinkgrave v. Vicksburg, etc., R. Co., 10 La. Ann. 514.

12. Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Rutland, etc., R. Co.

view a resolution of the board of directors of a railroad company requiring the payment of ten per cent every thirty days on all cash subscriptions until the whole subscriptions are paid has been held evidence of a call for a payment of instalments on stock subscribed for in thirty days from its date and every thirty days thereafter.[13]

k. Regularity and Manner of Convening Meetings to Make Assessments. If the meeting is a special one, then it can be convened only upon notice duly given to the shareholders, stating the object of the meeting. Neither a clause in the charter declaring that "all or any business of the corporation may be transacted, or acted on" at such a meeting, nor a by-law passed in pursuance of the charter prescribing how notice of special meeting shall be served upon the shareholders, can dispense with the necessity of specifying in such a case the purpose in the notice of the meeting.[14]

l. Interest Upon Assessments. Judicial authority does not seem to be unanimous upon the question upon what date interest accrues upon an assessment upon shares. According to an English decision interest begins to run from the time when the call ought to be paid and not from its date.[15] According to an American view it accrues from the making of the call.[16] While it is not as a general rule competent for the directors to pay interest on shares,[17] yet if a member pays in his subscription before it becomes due according to the terms of the contract — that is to say, before it is called — and the directors have agreed to pay interest on it as so much money advanced to the company, they must pay this interest, although there may be no profits out of which to pay it.[18]

m. Actions to Recover Back Money Paid on Assessments. If the shareholders in a corporation, desiring to raise capital to prosecute the venture, assess themselves and pay into the treasury sums beyond what is required by the mere obligation of their subscriptions, one of them who subsequently becomes dissatisfied with what he has done cannot maintain an action against the corporation to recover back what he has thus voluntarily paid in on the theory that it is a loan.[19]

n. Injunction Against Enforcement of Assessments. It seems that a shareholder may have an injunction to prevent a forfeiture of his shares for non-payment of a call, where the shares are fully paid up, although relief will be confined to restraining proceedings against his shares,[20] or under particular circumstances where he has been inveigled into subscribing through fraud.[21]

v. Thrall, 35 Vt. 536. Compare Spangler v. Indiana, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 276.

13. Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430.

14. Mason v. Atlantic De Laine Co., 5 R. I. 463. That a finding that a meeting of directors of a corporation was "duly and regularly convened," and that an assessment made thereat was "lawfully and rightfully levied," includes a finding that the necessary notice was given see Younglove v. Steinman, 80 Cal. 375, 22 Pac. 189.

Statutes are found which contain minute regulations as to the manner in which meetings shall be held to vote assessments upon shares, such for example as Colo. Gen. Stat. (1883), c. 19, § 86.

15. Johnson v. Lyttle's Iron Agency, 5 Ch. D. 687, 46 L. J. Ch. 786, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 528, 25 Wkly. Rep. 548.

16. McCoy v. World's Columbian Exposition, 186 Ill. 356, 57 N. E. 1043, 78 Am. St. Rep. 288 [affirming 87 Ill. App. 605].

Under a Virginia statute (Va. Code (1873), c. 57, § 23) a shareholder in a corporation is liable for interest from the date of the call on him for an assessment to meet corporate liabilities. Hawkins v. Glenn, 131 U. S. 319, 9 S. Ct. 739, 33 L. ed. 184.

Effect of forfeiture.— Interest not recoverable upon calls for the non-payment of which the shares have been forfeited. In re Blakely Ordnance Co., L. R. 3 Ch. 412, L. R. 5 Eq. 6, 37 L. J. Ch. 230, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 554, 16 Wkly. Rep. 322.

Provision of act treated as penalty.— An act of incorporation authorizing the company to charge five per cent interest per month on all stock subscribed and not paid within thirty days was treated as a penalty, and not merely interest. Custar v. Titusville Gas, etc., Co., 63 Pa. St. 381.

17. See infra, VII, C, 1, a.

18. Dale v. Martin, L. R. 11 Ir. 371 [affirming L. R. 9 Ir. 498].

19. Ridwell v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 114 Pa. St. 535, 6 Atl. 729.

20. Moore v. New Jersey Lighterage Co., 57 N. Y. Super. Ct. 1, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 192, 23 N. Y. St. 213.

21. See supra, VI, K, 3, a.

Injunction refused.—State of case in which

o. Assessments Must Be Equal. A demurrer will be sustained to a complaint in an action against a shareholder to recover an assessment upon the shares of the corporation, which alleges that some of the shareholders have paid forty per cent of their subscriptions, and others but two per cent, and that a horizontal assessment of thirty-five per cent has been made on all shareholders alike, on the ground that such assessment is unequal and unjust and should not be enforced, even though it was made by the court of another state having jurisdiction.[22] If the shares are divided into different classes, then the assessments must be equal with respect to the shareholders of each class.[23]

p. No Right to Assess Shareholders in Respect of Shares Lawfully Bought in by Corporation. Shares purchased by a company, under statutory authority to purchase its own stock, are extinguished, and are not kept alive in the company as trustee for the shareholders so as to render the shareholders liable, upon the winding-up of the company, to reimburse the company for a call upon the amount unpaid thereon, in addition to the amount unpaid on their own shares;[24] nor can a member defend against his liability as a shareholder on the ground that shares thus bought in are not also assessed, since the non-assessment of them accrues to the benefit of all the shareholders.[25]

q. Assessments Must Be Made by Formal Action of Directors Sitting as Board — Not Separately on Street. Calls must be made by appropriate and formal action by the directors and evidenced by the minutes of their proceedings, and cannot be made by mere street conversations between the president and the directors.[26]

r. Whether Resolution of Assessment Must Fix Date and Place of Payment. When the obligation of the shareholders is to pay their subscriptions when and an injunction was refused. Gorman v. Guardian Sav. Bank, 4 Mo. App. 180.

Mere insolvency no ground for such an injunction, but may be a good ground for enforcing payment. Dill v. Wabash Valley R. Co., 21 Ill. 91.

No injunction on the ground of mistake of law as to the obligation incurred by the subscriber. Chesapeake, etc., Canal Co. v. Dulany, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,647, 4 Cranch C. C. 85.

Not a ground of equitable relief that the directors are not themselves paying assessments. Grant v. Attrill, 11 Fed. 469.

Temporary injunction does not affect validity of assessment.— That a temporary injunction has been issued against an assessment with an order to show cause, etc., does not affect the validity of the assessment, but merely suspends the power to collect it until the hearing of the order to show cause, so that if there is no appearance on the day fixed for the hearing the injunction is at an end, see Miles v. Sheep Rock Min., etc., Co., 15 Utah 436, 49 Pac. 536.

22. Bowen v. Kuehn, 79 Wis. 53, 47 N. W. 374; Great Western Tel. Co. v. Burnham, 79 Wis. 47, 47 N. W. 373, 24 Am. St. Rep. 698. Persons named in the charter as shareholders liable for calls in respect of the shares there stated to be held by them, without further action by directors in allotting the shares or giving them notice of allotment. In re Haggert Bros. Mfg. Co., 19 Ont. App. 582 [following Matter of London Speaker Printing Co., 16 Ont. App. 508].

23. Brockway v. Gadsden Mineral Land Co., 102 Ala. 620, 15 So. 431.

No assessment leviable against an original subscriber after a sale of his shares (nonpaid up) and a repurchase of them — seemingly unsound decision. Franklin Glass Co. v. Alexander, 2 N. H. 380, 9 Am. Dec. 92.

Provision for additional payment on default.— Statute under which it is competent for the directors to require that if default be made in any payment the person in default shall pay in an additional amount, with the conclusion that where no call has been made the penalty cannot be collected. Bair v. Wilson, 15 Pa. Super. Ct. 131.

Who liable to an assessment where a transfer of shares is in fieri. San Gabriel Valley Land, etc., Co. v. Dennis, (Cal. 1893) 34 Pac. 441.

Directors no power to rescind a former assessment in order to make room for a new assessment, but such action is a breach of trust. Miles v. Sheep Rock Min., etc., Co., 15 Utah 436, 49 Pac. 536.

24. In re Sovereign L. Assur. Co., [1892] 3 Ch. 279, 62 L. J. Ch. 36, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 336, 41 Wkly. Rep. 1.

25. Western Imp. Co. v. Des Moines Nat. Bank, 103 Iowa 455, 72 N. W. 657.

Stock deposited by the owners with the treasurer of the corporation to be sold and part of the proceeds to be returned to them and the remainder loaned to the company and repaid by it is not "treasury stock," but the depositors are liable in respect of it as shareholders. Lexow v. Pennsylvania Diamond Drill Co., 5 Pa. Dist. 491.

26. Branch v. Augusta Glass Works, 95 Ga. 573, 23 S. E. 128.

as the directors shall call for them, it is clear that a call in order to be valid should fix the date at which the sum called for is to be paid. If the governing instrument requires that the call should fix both the date and place of payment that must be done.[27] But in the absence of a governing instrument requiring the call to fix the place of payment as well as the date there would seem to be no propriety in holding a call invalid for failing to name a place of payment; since the proper place, in the absence of a different direction, would manifestly be the treasury of the company.[28]

2. Conditions Precedent to Valid Assessments — a. Subscription of Entire Capital or Sum Proposed to be Raised — (i) Statement of Rule — (a) Generally. The general rule, supported by the concurrence of most of the courts, is that where the charter or governing statute fixes the amount of capital which the corporation shall have, and does not authorize it to commence business with a less amount, no assessment can be made upon subscribers until the capital so fixed has been all filled up by bona fide subscriptions, unless the subscriber has by conduct or otherwise waived his privilege.[29]

(b) Statutes Varying Rule. Statutes exist in many of the states varying this rule and permitting particular corporations to commence business when a stated

27. In re Cawley, 42 Ch. D. 209; Halifax Carette Co. v. Moir, 28 Nova Scotia 45.

28. Accordingly it has been held that a call is not invalid because it does not name the time, place, or person to whom the payment is to be made, where the corporation has a place of business and an officer authorized to receive money due it; since the time under such circumstances is on demand, and the place is the place of business of the corporation, and the person to whom payment is to be made, the treasurer. Western Imp. Co. v. Des Moines Nat. Bank, 103 Iowa 455, 72 N. W. 657 [distinguishing North, etc., R. Co. v. Spullock, 88 Ga. 283, 14 S. E. 478; In re Cawley, 42 Ch. D. 209]. To the same effect see American Pastoral Co. v. Gurney, 61 Fed. 41.

29. Illinois.—Temple v. Lemon, 112 Ill. 51.

Iowa.— Peoria, etc., R. Co. v. Preston, 35 Iowa 115, where many cases are examined.

Louisiana.— Exposition R., etc., Co. v. Canal St. Exposition R. Co., 42 La. Ann. 370, 7 So. 627.

Maine.— Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Oldtown, etc., R. Co. v. Veazie, 39 Me. 571.

Massachusetts.— Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Whittier, 12 Gray 244; Stoneham Branch R. Co. v. Gould, 2 Gray 277; Worcester, etc., R. Co. v. Hinds, 8 Cush. 110; Cabot, etc., Bridge v. Chapin, 6 Cush. 50; Central Turnpike Corp. v. Valentine, 10 Pick. 142; Salem Mill Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 6 Pick. 23, 9 Pick. 187, 19 Am. Dec. 363.

Michigan.— Shurtz v. Schoolcraft, etc., R. Co., 9 Mich. 269, previous to the Michigan act of 1857.

Missouri.— Haskell v. Worthington, 94 Mo. 560, 7 S. W. 481.

New Hampshire.— Contoocook Valley R. Co. v. Barker, 32 N. H. 363; New Hampshire Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300; Littleton Mfg. Co. v. Parker, 14 N. H. 543.

New York.— Bray v. Farwell, 81 N. Y. 600; Sullivan County Club v. Butler, 26 Misc. 306, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 1.

Tennessee.— Read v. Memphis Gayoso Gas Co., 9 Heisk. 545.

Texas.— Orynski v. Loustaunan, (Sup. 1890) 15 S. W. 674.

Wisconsin.— Anvil Min. Co. v. Sherman, 74 Wis. 226, 42 N. W. 226, 4 L. R. A. 232.

See also supra, VI, H, 14, a; 19 Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. 285 note; 21 Am. & Eng. Corp. Cas. 305 note. In Wadsworth Joint Stock Comp. 318, it is said: "The amounts of capital mentioned in the statute must have been subscribed before calls upon the shareholders can be made or enforced. In such cases there is a condition precedent to be satisfied before a share subscription can be subjected to an action for a call."

It is believed that the rule of the text is applicable to subscriptions of every kind, whether the scheme is to be incorporated or to be left unincorporated. It is applicable to unincorporated joint-stock companies in New York. Bray v. Farwell, 81 N. Y. 600. See also Curry Hotel Co. v. Mullins, 93 Mich. 318, 53 N. W. 360; Duluth Invest Co. v. Witt, 63 Minn. 538, 65 N. W. 956; Masonic Temple Assoc. v. Channell, 43 Minn. 353, 45 N. W. 716; Hards v. Platte Valley Imp. Co., 35 Nebr. 263, 53 N. W. 73; Birge v. Browning, 11 Wash. 249, 39 Pac. 643; Elderkin v. Peterson, 8 Wash. 674, 36 Pac. 1089; Denny Hotel Co. v. Schram, 6 Wash. 134, 32 Pac. 1002, 36 Am. St. Rep. 130. There is a case in California to the effect that where a prospectus stated that the opera-house which was the object of the subscription was "to be built by a corporation with a capital stock of twenty thousand dollars, consisting of ons thousand shares at twenty dollars per share," it was not a condition precedent to the liability of a subscriber that the whole amount of the capital stock so stated should be subscribed. Auburn Opera-House, etc., Assoc. v. Hill, (Cal. 1893) 32 Pac. 587.

percentage of their capital intended to be raised has been subscribed;[30] but under such a statute until the stated percentage has been subscribed the subscribers are not liable.[31] So it has been held that a corporation, whose articles of association provide that the holders of shares for the time being, whatever the number issued or subscribed for, shall form the company, may make calls upon its stock, although the entire amount of stock has not been subscribed for or the shares allotted.[32]

(II) Rule Requires Bona Fide Subscriptions by Responsible Persons — (A) In General. The meaning of this rule is that the fund intended to be raised shall be subscribed in good faith, and not colorably under some secret arrangement for a rescission, by persons able to pay and to bear equally with the other subscribers the burdens assumed.[33]

(B) What Are Good Subscriptions. A joint subscription to stock by the trustees of the corporation for the purpose of completing the subscription for the full capital stock is a binding contract and effectual for the purpose of perfecting the liability of former subscribers on their subscriptions.[34] A subscription by a married woman, made at the request of her husband, the assessment of which was paid by him, has been held to render him personally liable as a subscriber, and for that reason to be counted as a good subscription in making up the requisite amount under this rule.[35]

(III) Condition May Be Waived by Subscriber — (A) In General. But it has been conceded that such a charter or statutory provision is capable of being waived by the subscriber, either by signing an agreement to that effect or by conduct in subsequently participating in the organization and business of the corporation;[36] and a course of conduct showing his acquiescence in the act of the directors in commencing business before the stated amount of stock had been subscribed will be evidence of such waiver.[37]

(B) What Deemed Waiver. This condition is so waived where the shareholder pays the required admission fee and instalment due on each share, receives his share certificate, and is credited with dividends in respect of his shares;[38] where a majority of the subscribers to the shares of a railway company enter into an agreement supplementary to their share subscriptions, to pay their subscriptions as fast as the work of construction progresses, on the faith of which agreement the directors enter into and carry out contracts for such construction, the waiver and estoppel operating only as against the parties to the agreement.[39] Such a condition is waived by the subscriber signing and acknowledging the articles of

For the present doctrine in England see Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 410, citing and commenting upon numerous cases.

30. Lincoln Shoe Mfg. Co. v. Sheldon, 44 Nebr. 279, 62 N. W. 480; Astoria, etc., R. Co. v. Hill, 20 Oreg. 177, 25 Pac. 379.

31. Fairview R. Co. v. Spillman, 23 Oreg. 587, 32 Pac. 688; Anvil Min. Co. v. Sherman, 74 Wis. 226, 42 N. W. 226, 4. L. R. A. 232.

Under Cal. Civ. Code, § 331, an assessment is permitted when one fourth of the shares has been subscribed for. Ventura, etc., R. Co. v. Hartman, 116 Cal. 260, 48 Pac. 65. See also San Bernardino Invest. Co. v. Merrill, 108 Cal. 490, 41 Pac. 487.

32. Mandel v. Swan Land, etc., Co., 154 Ill. 177, 40 N. E. 462, 45 Am. St. Rep. 124, 27 L. R. A. 313.

33. Lewey's Island R. Co. v. Bolton, 48 Me. 451, 77 Am. Dec. 236; Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Cabot, etc., Bridge v. Chapin, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 50; New Hampshire Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300.

34. Hardin v. Mullin, 16 Wash. 647, 48 Pac. 349.

35. Kampmann v. Tarver, (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 29 S. W. 1144.

36. Cabot, etc., Bridge v. Chapin, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 50; New Hampshire Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300; Bray v. Farwell, 81 N. Y. 600 (recognized); Pitchford v. Davis, 8 L. J. Exch. 157, 5 M. & W. 2.

37. Bray v. Farwell, 81 N. Y. 600; Pitchford v. Davis, 8 L. J. Exch. 157, 5 M. & W. 2.

Circumstances not amounting to waiver. — Circumstances under which it was held that a subscriber had not, by dealing with his shares as property, precluded himself from contesting an assessment on this ground. Bray v. Farwell, 81 N. Y. 600.

38. Duluth Invest. Co. v. Witt, 63 Minn. 538, 65 N. W. 956.

39. Anderson v. Middle, etc., Tennessee Cent. R. Co., 91 Tenn. 44, 17 S. W. 803.

incorporation, acting as one of the trustees, voting for calls upon the shares, and performing other acts which necessarily recognize the rightful existence of the corporation.[40] But it is not waived by the payment by a subscriber of part of his subscription without knowledge of the failure to procure the required amount;[41] by consenting to and waiving notice of a shareholders' meeting on three occasions, and voting by proxy at a special meeting, where he does not then know that the required amount of stock has not been subscribed.[42]

(IV) Rule Where Capital and Number of Shares Are Fixed by Members—(A) Statement of Rule. There is judicial authority in favor of the proposition that the rule is the same where the governing statute allows the members to fix the amount of the capital and the number and denomination of the shares,[43] the rule being that already adverted to,[44] that the person who agrees to take shares in a company with a given capital is prima facie not bound to take shares in a company with a different capital.[45]

(B) No Valid Assessment Until Capital and Number of Shares Are Fixed—(1) In General. Under this theory no valid assessment can be laid upon the shares of subscribers to the stock of a corporation, unless the number of the shares of capital stock is definitely fixed, either by the charter, the directors, or the shareholders.[46] The theory is that if the charter does not fix the number of shares it is to be presumed that the legislature intended that the shareholders or the directors should fix the number; and it is indispensable that the number be so determined before any assessment can be made thereon.[47] And if in such a case the number of shares, so fixed, exceeds the number actually subscribed for and taken, the shareholders or directors may change the number; but the assessment must be upon the whole number. If the shares are not all taken, an assessment upon the number that have been taken is void. A subscriber who has paid the first assessment is not thereby estopped from setting up this defense to a suit for the second.[48]

(2) Opposing Rule Where Subscription Embodies Express Promise to Pay. There is an opposing view that where the number of shares is not fixed by the charter or by the agreement of subscription, and the subscriber promises to pay for the shares which he takes, his subscription is not deemed to be made upon condition that the whole number of shares constituting the capital stock according to the by-laws shall be subscribed.[49] Where the charter merely fixes the maximum amount of the capital to be raised, and the subscription embodies a definite promise to take and pay for the shares set opposite the respective names of the subscribers at a stated sum per share, the same conclusion follows. Such a case

40. Auburn Opera-House, etc., Assoc. v. Hill, (Cal. 1893) 32 Pac. 587.

41. Johnson v. Schar, 9 S. D. 536, 70 N. W. 838.

42. Fairview R. Co. v. Spillman, 23 Oreg. 587, 32 Pac. 688.

43. Contoocook Valley R. Co. v. Barker, 32 N. H. 363; Littleton Mfg. Co. v. Parker, 14 N. H. 543.

44. See supra, VI, H, 14, a; VI, J, 1, e.

45. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 393 [citing Bourne v. Freeth, 9 B. & C. 632, 7 L. J. K. B. O. S. 292, 4 M. & R. 512, 17 E. C. L. 285; Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 776, 8 L. J. C. P. O. S. 257, 4 M. & P. 676, 31 Rev. Rep. 536, 19 E. C. L. 347; Pitchford v. Davis, 8 L. J. Exch. 157, 5 M. & W. 2].

46. Pike v. Bangor, etc., R. Co., 68 Me. 445; Somerset R. Co. v. Clarke, 61 Me. 379.

47. Somerset, etc., R. Co. v. Cushing, 45 Me. 524. Accordingly, where the charter of a railroad corporation provided that the capital stock should consist of not more than a stated number of shares, "the number of which shall be determined from time to time by the directors thereof," it was held that the directors had no power to levy assessments before determining the number of shares. Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Newton, 8 Gray (Mass.) 596; Stoneham Branch R. Co. v. Gould, 2 Gray (Mass.) 277; Worcester, etc., R. Co. v. Hinds, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 110.

48. Somerset, etc., R. Co. v. Cushing, 45 Me. 524. But compare York, etc., R. Co. v. Pratt, 40 Me. 447; White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124 (not necessary for the corporation to determine the ultimate amount of the capital, within the limit of ten thousand shares, before proceeding to make assessments upon the first five hundred subscribed for). And see infra, VI, N, 2, a, (IV), (B), (2).

49. Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Jarvis, 34 Me. 360.

is distinguished from those cases in which a definite capital is fixed, or a definite proportion or sum is required as a condition precedent to organization, or in which conditional subscriptions are made.[50]

(v) Whether Rule Applies to Issues of New Shares Increasing Capital of Company. This principle does not apply to the case where a corporation issues new shares to increase its capital, unless it is so expressed in the governing statute, or in some other scheme or instrument under which the increase is made.[51]

(vi) Whether Subscription to All Shares Is Condition Precedent Which Corporation Must Show. The theory of some of the courts is that a subscription of all the shares intended to be raised, or required by the charter to be raised, is a condition precedent which, in an action to recover an assessment, the corporation must allege and prove;[52] but other courts take the contrary view.[53]

b. Doctrine That Shares May Be Assessed Before Whole Amount Subscribed — (i) In General. The doctrine already announced,[54] that a subscription of the entire sum intended to be raised is a condition precedent to a liability on the part of the subscriber, has not met with universal acceptance. The view has been taken that calls may be made before all capital stock is subscribed, if so agreed between the corporation and the shareholders, unless the charter otherwise provides.[55] The doctrine of these cases is that whenever the corporation is so organized as to be able to prosecute its business, it has through its board of directors the power to levy assessments.[56]

50. Warwick R. Co. v. Cady, 11 R. I. 131.

51. Clarke v. Thomas, 34 Ohio St. 46; Aspinwall v. Butler, 133 U. S. 595, 10 S. Ct. 417, 33 L. ed. 779. See also Avegno v. Citizens' Bank, 40 La. Ann. 799, 5 So. 537; Nutter v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 6 Gray (Mass.) 85; Thayer v. Butler, 141 U. S. 234, 11 S. Ct. 987, 35 L. ed. 711; Pacific Nat. Bank v. Eaton, 141 U. S. 227, 11 S. Ct. 984, 35 L. ed. 702; Aspinwall v. Butler, 133 U. S. 595, 10 S. Ct. 417, 33 L. ed. 779; Delano v. Butler, 118 U. S. 634, 7 S. Ct. 39, 30 L. ed. 260; Minor v. Alexandria Mechanics Bank, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 46, 7 L. ed. 47. Contra, to the foregoing see Read v. Memphis Gayoso Gas Co., 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 545.

52. Central Turnpike Corp. v. Valentine, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 142; Salemn Mill Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 23.

53. Lail v. Mt. Sterling Coal Road Co., 13 Bush (Ky.) 32; Ashtabula, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 15 Ohio St. 328.

54. See supra, VI, N, 2, a, (I).

55. Cheraw, etc., R. Co. v. Garland, 14 S. C. 63.

That it is not necessary to fix the capital stock to enable a corporation to maintain an action on the subscription agreement see Bucksport, etc., R. Co. v. Buck, 65 Me. 536.

56. This is the doctrine which obtains under the general incorporation laws of Oregon. Willamette Freighting Co. v. Stannus, 4 Oreg. 261. That a corporation may receive subscriptions to stock and may sue thereon before being fully organized see Oregon Cent. R. Co. v. Scoggin, 3 Oreg. 161. So under an Indiana statute for the incorporation of railroad companies, after the subscription of fifty thousand dollars to its stock, the company may call in the subscriptions, without waiting for the subscription of the whole capital stock, as a condition precedent to their right to collect. Hoagland v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 452. So the supreme court of the United States has held that the subscription of the whole capital stock of five hundred thousand dollars was not a condition precedent to the putting of the Mechanics' Bank of Alexandria in operation as a corporation. Minor v. Alexandria Mechanics Bank, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 46, 7 L. ed. 47. The supreme court of Oregon reason that when a sufficient amount of the capital stock of a private corporation has been subscribed to authorize the shareholders to proceed to the election of directors, after such election assessments may be legally made upon the unpaid stock so subscribed, and this although the corporation has increased its capital stock, and the entire amount of the shares of the original stock and of the increased stock has not been subscribed. But they concede that it is otherwise where a subscription of the entire number of shares, of the original as well as any contemplated increase of stock, has been made a condition precedent to the exercise of the power of levying assessments. Willamette Freighting Co. v. Stannus, 4 Oreg. 261. Another court has held that an unconditional promise in a stock subscription to pay for a certain number of shares at par is binding, although the amount of capital stock was not fixed, and the minimum number of shares named in the charter was not subscribed for. Skowhegan, etc., R. Co. v. Kinsman, 77 Me. 370. The same conclusion has been reached where the corporation was organized under a general law, and the subscription agreement did not contain an express provision that all the stock should be subscribed. West v. Crawford, 80 Cal. 19, 21 Pac. 1123. In New York a plank-road company might go

(II) Shareholder Liable to Creditors Where Corporation Has Commenced Business Without Full Amount Being Subscribed. For the fact that the shareholders suffered the corporation to embark upon its business, holding itself out to possess a stated capital without the amount of that capital being subscribed, works a fraud upon the general public and upon subsequent creditors. The general rule therefore is that a shareholder is liable to creditors upon his contract of subscription where the corporation has entered upon business and incurred debts, although the whole amount of the capital stock has not been taken up.[57]

(III) Shares Assessable, Although Sufficient Amount Has Not Been Paid in to Authorize Company to Commence Business. It is then no defense to a proceeding against a shareholder, whether by the company or by one of its creditors, to recover in respect of a balance due upon his stock subscription, that by the terms of its charter the company was prohibited from commencing business until a prescribed amount of capital stock should be paid in. Such a provision, it has been well held, was intended for the benefit of those who might deal with the company, not for the benefit of its shareholders as a condition precedent to the right to enforce the collection of calls duly made upon stock subscribed.[58]

c. Shares Not Assessable Until Organization of Corporation — (I) Rule Stated. The general rule is that shares of stock in a corporation are not assessable until the corporation has been organized, for the reason that until then there is no board of directors capable of making the assessment;[59] although of course it is competent for the subscribers to agree to the payment of a stated amount to cover the expenses of promotion and organization, and this is generally required by statute as already seen.[60]

(II) De Jure Organization Necessary. In the absence of circumstances creating an estoppel a mere de facto organization is not a sufficient basis for compelling the shareholder to pay assessments upon his subscription.[61]

d. Form, Substance, and Language of Resolution of Assessment. In respect of the form in which the board of directors choose to couch the assessment or call, it is not necessary that the resolution adopted by them should show that the call is made for any corporate purpose, or that the demands of the business of the corporation require that the subscriptions to the capital stock should be paid. All that is necessary is that there should be some act or resolution which evinces a clear official intent to render due and payable a part of the unpaid subscription.[62] If a call leaves the date at which it is to be paid in blank, it will be invalid until another resolution is passed fixing the date, and the curative resolution will not relate back to the former one.[63] An omission to make a record of a call for a par-into operation before the whole nominal amount of its stock was subscribed. Rensselaer, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Barton, 16 N. Y. 457; Schenectady, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Thacher, 11 N. Y. 102; Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. (N. Y.) 157.

57. Farnsworth v. Robbins, 36 Minn. 369, 31 N. W. 349; Thompson v. Reno Sav. Bank, 19 Nev. 103, 7 Pac. 68, 3 Am. St. Rep. 797. See also infra, VI, N, 2, b, (III). To the contrary see an early case in New York holding that in such a case shareholders are not individually liable to creditors of the corporation, on the ground that it is discretionary with the company to raise the whole amount of capital mentioned in the certificate or not — an untenable decision. Brinckerhoff v. Brown, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 217 [affirming 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 671].

58. Naugatuck Water Co. v. Nichols, 58 Conn. 403, 20 Atl. 315, 8 L. R. A. 637; McDermott v. Donegan, 44 Mo. 85. See also Sims v. Brooklyn St. R. Co., 37 Ohio St. 556.

Rule varied under particular statutes allowing shares to be assessed when a stated percentage has been subscribed and when the corporation has organized. Hunt v. Kansas, etc., Bridge Co., 11 Kan. 412; Boston, etc., R. Co. v. Wellington, 113 Mass. 79; Jewett v. Valley R. Co., 34 Ohio St. 601.

59. Carlisle v. Cahawba, etc., R. Co., 4 Ala. 70; Anvil Min. Co. v. Sherman, 74 Wis. 226, 42 N. W. 226, 4 L. R. A. 232; Halifax Carette Co. v. Moir, 28 Nova Scotia 45.

60. See supra, VI, H, 13, a et seq.

61. Williams v. Citizens' Enterprise Co., 153 Ind. 496, 55 N. E. 425.

62. Budd v. Multonoma St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169 [citing Cook Stockh. § 115].

63. In re Cawley, 42 Ch. D. 209.

ticular instalment is supplied by the record of a call for all other unpaid instalments.[64] Where a corporation was limited to calls of fifteen per cent per annum, and ten per cent had already been called, it was held immaterial that the last call (meaning the assessment) did not specify the amount, time, or place of payment, the accompanying notice pointing out the time and place.[65]

e. Notice of "Call" or Notice of "Assessment" — (I) What Is a "Call." In strictness an assessment is not a call. An assessment is a resolution, usually by the board of directors, that the shareholders shall, within a date named, and at a place named, pay a certain percentage of their share subscriptions; and the notice of this resolution communicated to them is a call.[66] But in practice the words "assessment" and "call" are used interchangeably, and it has been held in England that it is the assessment which makes the call.[67]

(II) Doctrine That Demand or Notice Is Necessary Before Action. Where the terms of the contract are that the subscriber will pay assessments when made by the directors, then, on principle and on some authority, he is not required to pay until he has received notice of an assessment, since it would be unjust to treat him as being in default for not paying a call of which he had no knowledge.[68] So if the law of the corporation, whatever it be, requires a notice as a condition precedent to such an action, and there is no waiver of the condition, of course the notice must be given.[69] Thus if the charter expressly requires notice to be given in certain newspapers and for a certain number of days before the call for instalments shall be valid, then the company must show a compliance with such condition precedent before a recovery can be had on such calls.[70] So if by the terms of the contract of subscription the subscription is payable upon twenty days' notice, plaintiffs, in order to recover, must prove in the first instance not only that they gave notice but that they gave it twenty days before bringing suit.[71]

(III) When Notice of Assessment Not Deemed Necessary — (A) In General. On the other hand if there is no such provision, and if the subscription has been accepted by the corporation, so that the contract has become complete and the subscriber has become a shareholder, a notice is not indispensably necessary to the right of the corporation to maintain the action; but the general rule of law applies that the bringing of the action is itself a demand.[72] It has been

64. Hays v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 38 Pa. St. 81.

65. Andrews v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 169.

66. Shaw v. Rowley, 11 Jur. 911, 16 L. J. Exch. 180, 6 M. & W. 810, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 47.

67. Stratford, etc., R. Co. v. Stratton, 2 B. & Ad. 518, 9 L. J. K. B. O. S. 268, 22 E. C. L. 219.

68. Miles v. Bough, 3 Q. B. 845, 3 G. & D. 119, 12 L. J. Q. B. 74, 3 R. & Can. Cas. 668, 43 E. C. L. 1001; Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 417. See too Scarlett v. Baltimore City Academy of Music, 43 Md. 203; Painter v. Liverpool Oil Gas Light Co., 3 A. & E. 433, 2 Hurl. & N. 233, 5 L. J. M. C. 108, 6 N. & M. 736, 30 E. C. L. 209; Edinburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Hebblewhite, 6 M. & W. 707.

69. Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430. See Alabama, etc., R. Co. v. Rawley, 9 Fla. 508.

70. Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Vason, 57 Ga. 314.

71. Cole v. Joliet Opera House Co., 79 Ill. 96. A statute (N. J. Rev. p. 926, § 7), providing that the directors may require subscriptions to be paid "in such installments as they may deem proper" imports that a subscription does not fall due until notice of a call therefor made by the directors. Braddock v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 45 N. J. L. 363.

72. Eppes v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 35 Ala. 33; Wilson v. Wills Valley R. Co., 33 Ga. 466; Beckner v. Riverside, etc., Turnpike Co., 65 Ind. 468; Van Riper v. American Cent. Ins. Co., 60 Ind. 123; Miller v. Wild Cat Gravel Road Co., 52 Ind. 51; Estell v. Knightstown, etc., Turnpike Co., 41 Ind. 174; Brownlee v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 68; Eakright v. Logansport, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 408; Smith v. Indiana, etc., R. Co., 12 Ind. 61; Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280; New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. McCormick, 10 Ind. 499, 71 Am. Dec. 337; Ross v. Lafayette, etc., Co., 6 Ind. 297; United Growers Co. v. Eisner, 22 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 906. The Indian cases hold that the shareholder is neither entitled to a notice of the assessment, nor of the time and place of payment.

broadly reasoned that a contract to pay for stock in instalments as assessed is a contract to pay them on demand, and the bringing of a suit is a sufficient demand;[73] from which it of course follows that no notice of the call, by publication or otherwise, is necessary.[74] So where, by the terms of the contract of subscription, the times of payment of the instalments are fixed, of course there is no necessity for a demand before bringing suit.[75] And where the subscription was to the stock of a railroad company, and the subscribers by the terms of the contract stipulated to pay the first instalment after the work should be commenced, "as shall hereafter be directed by the directors of said company," and there was no stipulation for notice to the subscribers of the calling in of the instalment, it was held that no proof of notice or demand, other than an order passed as above by the directors and entered on the record book, was necessary, in a suit against a subscriber to recover said instalment.[76] Nor is the corporation compelled, if it have two remedies, one by forfeiture and the other by suit, to give notice to defendant before suit brought against him of which one it intends to avail itself.[77] It has been well held that a shareholder will be presumed to have had knowledge of such stock assessments as were called while he was a director, and that he cannot defend an action to recover assessments on the ground that he did not have such knowledge.[78]

(B) Theory That No Notice Is Necessary Except to Forfeit Shares. In Pennsylvania and in Indiana the doctrine is found that while no notice is necessary, unless the charter or statute requires it, preliminary to bringing an action to recover the assessment, since the action is itself a notice, yet a notice is necessary in order to forfeit the shares as a penalty for the non-payment of the assessment.[79]

(IV) Form of Notice and Manner of Giving It—(A) In General. The notice must be given according to the governing statute, by-law, or regulation of the particular company.[80] If the governing instrument, of whatever nature, require the notice to be signed by the directors, it will not be sufficient if their signatures are affixed by a clerk.[81]

73. Eakright v. Logansport, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 404; Breedlove v. Martinsville, etc., R. Co., 12 Ind. 114; Smith v. Indiana, etc., R. Co., 12 Ind. 61.

74. Beckner v. Riverside, etc., Turnpike Co., 65 Ind. 468.

75. New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. Pickens, 5 Ind. 247.

76. Ross v. Lafayette, etc., R. Co., 6 Ind. 297.

77. New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. Pickens, 5 Ind. 247. A statute of this state (1 Gav. & H. 507, § 8), authorizing notice to be given of calls for payment by instalments of stock subscriptions, has been held to apply only to subscriptions in money. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Cramer, 23 Ind. 490.

78. Spellier Electric Time Co. v. Geiger, 147 Pa. St. 399, 23 Atl. 547.

79. Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430; Gray v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 156, 37 Am. Dec. 500 [cited with approval in Grubb v. Mahoning Nav. Co., 14 Pa. St. 302]. See also Hill v. Nisbet, 100 Ind. 541; Smith v. Indiana, etc., R. Co., 12 Ind. 61; Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280.

80. Watson v. Eales, 23 Beav. 294.

That the governing statute must be complied with in respect to the contents of the order levying the assessment see Raht v. Sevier Min. Co., 18 Utah 290, 54 Pac. 889.

81. Miles v. Bough, 3 Q. B. 845, 3 G. & D. 119, 12 L. J. Q. B. 74, 3 R. & Can. Cas. 668, 43 E. C. L. 1001.

Notice construed.—A notice requiring payment to be made to the account of a person at a particular bank is equivalent to a notice to pay to that person. Miles v. Bough, 3 Q. B. 845, 3 G. & D. 119, 12 L. J. Q. B. 74, 3 R. & Can. Cas. 668, 43 E. C. L. 1001. But see In re Leeds Banking Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 150.

Necessity of pleading compliance with statute.— Where the governing statute authorized the directors to call in the capital stock "by giving such notice as the by-laws shall prescribe," this was held to supersede the common-law method of making calls; so that an action to recover a call could not be sustained where the complaint did not state that the call was made by giving such notice thereof as the by-laws of the corporation prescribed. A petition omitting this allegation did not state a cause of action. Germania Iron Min. Co. v. King, 94 Wis. 439, 69 N. W. 181, 36 L. R. A. 51.

Sufficiency of notice.— Notice describing the assessment as having been "levied upon the capital stock of the corporation" is sufficient under the California statute, without using the expression "upon the subscribed stock." San Joaquin Land, etc., Co. v. Beecher, 101 Cal. 70, 35 Pac. 349. A call on the shareholders of a land improvement com-

(B) Notice Ordinarily Given by Secretary. The secretary is ordinarily the proper officer of the corporation to give notice of the assessment to the shareholders.[82]

(C) When Verbal Notice Sufficient. Where the charter of the corporation does not require a written notice of calls for stock, a verbal notice by the secretary, by order of the president, in pursuance of a resolution of the board of directors, is sufficient.[83]

(D) Notice After Change of Corporate Name. A notice given after a change of the corporate name, in the former name, is immaterial, since it could not lead to a mistake.[84]

(V) SERVICE OF NOTICE — (A) In General. Although the fact of the notice may be a condition precedent to the right of action by the corporation for the assessment, yet, in respect of the manner of giving it, the statute may be regarded as directory, so that personal notice is in fact brought home to the subscriber for the period required by the charter or statute.[85] Thus, where the charter required publication of the notice in certain newspapers, a personal service was held good.[86] So where a by-law required that the notice should be served by letter through the mail, a written notice of the time and place of sale, signed by the treasurer, and delivered to the owner of the shares or left at his dwelling-house and received by him as soon as he was entitled to receive it by mail, was held sufficient.[87]

(B) Notice by Publication. Where this mode of giving notice is prescribed by the governing statute, by-law, or regulation, it is indispensable that it should be followed,[88] unless the sensible view is taken that personal notice will dispense with a notice by publication. This mode of giving notice has been held reasonable.[89]

(C) Publication For What Length of Time. Where the governing statute required the notice to be published "at least sixty days," it was held a sufficient compliance with it that the notice was published once for a period of sixty full days before the day of payment.[90]

(D) Evidence of Notice Having Been Served. A list of persons prepared by a deceased clerk, whose business it was to send out the notices of assessment, pany, stating that they may pay cash or "by a promise to pay in the form of a land contract or contracts," without showing who may exercise the option, or prescribing any condition to govern in settlement of the balance due the corporation, is void for indefiniteness. North Milwaukee Town Site Co. No. 2 v. Bishop, 103 Wis. 492, 79 N. W. 785, 45 L. R. A. 174. Where the subscription is by its terms payable in materials at a given place, but not at a fixed time, a resolution of the directors requiring payment of stock subscriptions in instalments is manifestly not a sufficient demand of this sort of a subscription. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Cramer, 23 Ind. 490.

Where the by-laws prescribe the manner in which notice of the call shall be given, the giving of such notice is a sufficient demand to authorize the bringing of the action. Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654.

82. American Pastoral Co. v. Gurney, 61 Fed. 41.

83. Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 650. See also Crozer v. Leland, 4 Whart. (Pa.) 12.

84. Gray v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 156, 37 Am. Dec. 500. See also supra, I, C, 6, a.

85. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Gaster, 20 Ark. 455.

86. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Gaster, 20 Ark. 455.

87. Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Chandler, 13 Metc. (Mass.) 311.

Circumstances under which personal notice must be given, or may be dispensed with. Grubbs v. Vicksburg, etc., R. Co., 50 Ala. 398. See also Fisher v. Evansville, etc., R. Co., 7 Ind. 407.

88. Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Vason, 57 Ga. 314; Louisville, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Meriwether, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 13.

89. Louisville, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Meriwether, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 13. Further as to notice by publication in a newspaper held sufficient see Dinkgrave v. Vicksburg, etc., R. Co., 10 La. Ann. 514. And as to such notice held insufficient see Alabama, etc., R. Co. v. Rawley, 9 Fla. 508.

That the affidavit of the publisher's clerk is sufficient evidence of the publication of the notice see Andrews v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 169.

90. Muskingum Valley Turnpike Co. v. Ward, 13 Ohio 120, 42 Am. Dec. 191. State of pleading under which the court would look to the time of filing the declaration or petition to ascertain whether the sixty days had which list was ticked or marked by him so as to show what notices were sent to the persons on the list, has been held admissible to prove that a notice was sent to such persons.[91] Proof that such notice was duly mailed to the subscriber makes out a prima facie case of notification, under a statute which implies that he shall have notice of the call.[92]

O. Forfeiture of Shares For Non-Payment of Assessments — 1. Power to Forfeit and How Exercised — a. Requisites of Valid Forfeiture — (I) In General. Four things are necessary to a valid forfeiture of shares: (1) An authority to forfeit derived from statute or charter;[93] (2) an express intention to forfeit;[94] (3) this intention carried into effect with due formality;[95] and (4) for the benefit of the corporation, and not merely to release the shareholder from his obligation of subscription.[96]

(II) Power to Forfeit Must Be Conferred by Statute or Charter. A corporation has no inherent power to forfeit or sell the shares of stock owned by delinquent shareholders. It is not a common-law remedy, and can be exercised only when it is expressly conferred by some statute, or by the articles of incorporation.[97] As stated by Sir Nathaniel Lindley, citing the marginal cases, "Even a majority of shareholders cannot confer it unless empowered so to do by the company's act, charter, deed of settlement, or regulations.[98] But if there is power to forfeit for non-payment of calls, that power may be extended to non-payment of additional capital which may be authorized to be raised."[99]

(III) There Must Be Expressed and Bona Fide Intention to Forfeit. Moreover, it is necessary to a valid forfeiture that there should have been an expressed and bona fide intention to forfeit the shares. As has been pointed out by Sir Nathaniel Lindley: "The power to forfeit is a trust, the execution of which will be narrowly scanned by the court.[1] It cannot, for example, be exercised surreptitiously, for the purpose of expelling a shareholder;[2] nor by connivance, for the purpose of assisting him in getting rid of shares and retiring from the company, in fraud of the other shareholders. A court will not sanction or recognize as valid a forfeiture made mala fide for any such purpose."[3]

(IV) Power Can Be Exercised Only For Benefit of Corporation, Not For Benefit of Shareholder. The power conferred by statute upon the directors of a corporation to forfeit its shares for the non-payment of assess-expired. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Gaster, 20 Ark. 455.

91. Eastern Union R. Co. v. Symonds, 5 Exch. 237, 19 L. J. Exch. 287.

92. Braddock v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 45 N. J. L. 363.

93. See infra, VI, O, 1, a, (II).

94. See infra, VI, O, 1, a, (III).

95. See infra, VI, O, 1, a, (V).

96. See infra, VI, O, 1, a, (IV).

97. Hill v. Nisbet, 100 Ind. 341; Westcott v. Minnesota Min. Co., 23 Mich. 145; Budd v. Multnomah St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169; Hart v. Clarke, 6 De G. M. & G. 232, 3 Eq. Rep. 264, 24 L. J. Ch. 137, 3 Wkly. Rep. 147, 55 Eng. Ch. 183 [affirmed in 6 H. L. Cas. 633]; Norman v. Mitchell, 5 De G. M. & G. 648, 54 Eng. Ch. 511; In re National Patent Steam Fuel Co., 4 Drew. 535 [affirmed in 4 De G. & J. 46, 5 Jur. N. S. 420, 28 L. J. Ch. 637, 61 Eng. Ch. 37].

As to companies partly English and partly foreign see Sudlow v. Dutch Rhenish R. Co., 21 Beav. 43.

The right to forfeit the shares of members is analogous to the right to expel members from non-stockholding corporations, as to which see Associations; Clubs.

Power to sell stock after failure to collect by suit.— That a corporation, although having no statutory power to declare shares forfeited for non-payment of calls, may, after failing to collect the full amount by suit, collect the rest by a sale of the stock, was held in Chase v. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 5 Lea (Tenn.) 415.

98. In re National Patent Steam Fuel Co., 4 Drew. 535 [affirmed in 4 De G. & J. 46, 5 Jur. N. S. 420, 28 L. J. Ch. 637, 61 Eng. Ch. 37].

99. In re Cobre Copper Mine Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 107, 39 L. J. Ch. 231, 18 Wkly. Rep. 371.

1. Harris v. North Devon R. Co., 20 Beav. 384; Blisset v. Daniel, 1 Eq. Rep. 484, 10 Hare 493, 18 Jur. 122, 1 Wkly. Rep. 529, 44 Eng. Ch. 478; Stubbs v. Lister, 1 Y. & Coll. Ch. 81, 20 Eng. Ch. 81. See also In re Agriculturists' Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 511, 12 Jur. N. S. 611, 35 L. J. Ch. 750, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 841, 14 Wkly. Rep. 954; Sweny v. Smith, L. R. 7 Eq. 324, 38 L. J. Ch. 446.

2. See cases in the preceding note.

3. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 532.

ments is intended to be exercised only when the circumstances of the shareholders render it expedient in the interests of the company, and cannot be employed for the benefit of the shareholders.[4] Accordingly, where the intention was not to forfeit the shares, but merely to cancel them, the shareholder remained a contributory.[5] It is upon this ground that the invalidity of collusive forfeitures rests, a subject already considered.[6]

(v) Power Must Be Carried Into Effect in Formal Compliance With Law—(a) In General. Moreover, in order to a valid forfeiture of shares, the power to forfeit them must be carried into effect in substantial compliance with the governing statute;[7] and if the charter or by-laws of the particular company make no provision, then the provisions of the general law apply.[8] It can be exercised only by directors who have been properly elected or appointed;[9] and the proper number must concur in the resolution to forfeit.[10]

(b) If Governing Statute Requires Power to Be Carried Out Through By-Law, By-Law Must Be First Enacted. If the statute which confers the power prescribes that it shall be exercised by a by-law, the company cannot exercise it until it has made a by-law such as the statute authorizes, and then its compliance with the by-law must affirmatively appear in order to show a valid exercise of the power.[11]

(c) Validity of By-Laws Forfeiting Shares. A corporation cannot enforce a by-law which provides for a forfeiture of the shares of the shareholder for non-payment of assessments, unless power to do so is conferred by the charter or governing statute.[12] Accordingly it has been held that a right of recovery by a foreign corporation, of calls made upon stock which has been forfeited for non-payment of such calls, being in conflict with the current of legislation in this country, cannot depend on a by-law merely, but must exist in the act under which the company is incorporated.[13]

(vi) Assessment Must Be Legal. It is scarcely necessary to say that in order to support a forfeiture of shares the assessment for the non-payment of

4. Common v. McArthur, 29 Can. Supreme Ct. 239.

5. In re Esparto Trading Co., 12 Ch. D. 191, 48 L. J. Ch. 573, 28 Wkly. Rep. 146.

6. See supra, VI, L. 19.

7. Portland, etc., R. Co. v. Graham, 11 Metc. (Mass.) 1; Morris v. Metalline Land Co., 164 Pa. St. 326, 30 Atl. 240, 27 L. R. A. 305; Germantown Pass. R. Co. v. Fitler, 60 Pa. St. 124, 100 Am. Dec. 546; Schwab v. Frisco Min., etc., Co., 21 Utah 258, 60 Pac. 940; Raht v. Sevier Min., etc., Co., 18 Utah 290, 54 Pac. 889; In re East Kongsberg Co., L. R. 1 Eq. 309; Garden Gully United Quartz Min. Co. v. McLister, 1 App. Cas. 39, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 408, 24 Wkly. Rep. 744. See also Birmingham, etc., R. Co. v. Locke, 1 Q. B. 256, 2 R. & Can. Cas. 867, 41 E. C. L. 527; London, etc., R. Co. v. Fairclough, 10 L. J. C. P. 133, 2 M. & G. 674, 2 R. & Can. Cas. 544, 3 Scott N. R. 68, 40 E. C. L. 800; Edinburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Hebblewhite, 6 M. & W. 707. Compare In re Australian Direct Steam Nav. Co., 3 Ch. D. 661 [affirmed in 5 Ch. D. 70].

A positive statutory provision on this subject will of course control any principle adopted, as a more equitable rule. Mandel v. Swan Land, etc., Co., 154 Ill. 177, 40 N. E. 462, 45 Am. St. Rep. 124, 27 L. R. A. 313.

8. Spurgeon v. Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Co., 120 Cal. 71, 52 Pac. 140, 39 L. R. A. 701.

9. Garden Gully United Quartz Min. Co. v. McLister, 1 App. Cas. 39, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 408, 24 Wkly. Rep. 744.

10. In re Alma Spinning Co., 16 Ch. D. 681, 50 L. J. Ch. 167, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 620, 29 Wkly. Rep. 133. But it seems that such an informal forfeiture may be validated by being treated as a good forfeiture, both by the company and the shareholder. In re Tavistock Ironworks Co., L. R. 4 Eq. 233, 36 L. J. Ch. 616, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 824, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1007, where the resolution was passed by two directors out of six.

11. Mitchell v. Vermont Copper Min. Co., 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 406; Budd v. Multnomah St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169; Dearborn v. Washington Sav. Bank, 18 Wash. 8, 50 Pac. 575 [distinguishing Mt. Holly Paper Co.'s Appeal, 99 Pa. St. 513; Bohmer v. Richmond City Bank, 77 Va. 445; Petersburg Sav., etc., Co. v. Lumsden, 75 Va. 327].

A mere resolution of the board to forfeit the shares of the particular member will not be sufficient. The principle under consideration requires a by-law operating generally upon all the members and reasonable in its character. Budd v. Multnomah St. R. Co., 15 Oreg. 413, 15 Pac. 659, 3 Am. St. Rep. 169.

12. See supra, VI, O, 1, a, (II).

13. Mandel v. Swan Land, etc., Co., 154 Ill. 177, 40 N. E. 462, 45 Am. St. Rep. 124, 27 L. R. A. 313.

which the forfeiture is attempted must be legal.[14] If not made by the proper officers it will not support a forfeiture, as if the power to make it is lodged in the directors by the charter, and they undertake to delegate it to a committee consisting of the president and treasurer.[15] Nor will a forfeiture of shares be valid which is based upon an assessment made upon subscriptions given upon a condition precedent with which the corporation has failed to comply,[16] or upon an illegal consideration;[17] but otherwise, in the absence of fraud, where it is given on the promise of the performance of something in the nature of a condition subsequent, such as the carrying out of a particular enterprise and the enterprise is afterward abandoned.[18] In such a case it has been held that the dissenting shareholder may recover back his instalments, the theory being that the delictum is not complete and that the law ought not to encourage men to persevere in their efforts to violate it.[19] If the assessment is otherwise valid, it is not rendered invalid from the fact that the directors may have previously misappropriated the corporate funds.[20]

(VII) When Corporation Waives Right of Forfeiture or Becomes Estopped From Insisting Upon It. One court has held that, where a corporation has power to sell the stock of a corporator for the payment of each call as it is made, and to hold the shareholder responsible for the deficiency, if the corporation fails to sell the stock as each successive defalcation occurs, and waits until all the calls are made, it thereby loses its remedy by sale.[21] But another court has with better sense held the contrary.[22] The corporation may be estopped by its conduct from forfeiting the shares of a member.[23]

(VIII) Notice of Intention to Forfeit—(A) In General. The principle that the right of forfeiture must be pursued with great strictness includes the proposition that the shareholder must have the prescribed notice of the intention to forfeit his shares, in default of which the forfeiture will be void. It has even been held in England that a shareholder whose shares have been regularly for-

Reasonableness of by-law.— A by-law empowering the board of directors to declare any stock forfeited for failure of any shareholder to pay an assessment within two months after it is called for by the board, and to sell such stock for account of the delinquent after thirty days' notice, and first to apply the proceeds to the payment of any balance due on the stock, without releasing the delinquent from his original subscription, is authorized by a statute empowering corporations to provide by their by-laws the "mode of selling shares for non-payment of assessments," and is reasonable. Elizabeth City Cotton Mills v. Dunstan, 121 N. C. 12, 27 S. E. 1001, 61 Am. St. Rep. 654.

Insufficient grounds for relief from forfeiture.— That a shareholder will not be relieved against a forfeiture of his shares for failing to pay dues thereon as required by the by-laws, merely because a demand by him for an examination of the books, accounts, and securities of the corporation, made long after his failure to pay dues, was denied see Buker v. Leighton Lea Assoc., 18 N. Y. App. Div. 548, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 35, two of the five judges (Follett and Green, JJ.) dissenting.

14. Lewey's Island R. Co. v. Bolton, 48 Me. 451, 77 Am. Dec. 236.

15. York, etc., R. Co. v. Ritchie, 40 Me. 425. It has been held that a general resolution of a railroad company forfeiting stock for non-payment of instalments must declare to the shareholder that they claim to forfeit his specific stock, otherwise it will not be valid. Johnson v. Albany, etc., R. Co., 40 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 193.

16. Frankfort, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Churchill, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 427, 17 Am. Dec. 159.

17. Knowlton v. Congress, etc., Spring Co., 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,903, 14 Blatchf. 364.

18. Knowlton v. Congress, etc., Spring Co., 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,903, 14 Blatchf. 364.

19. Knowlton v. Congress, etc., Spring Co., 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,903, 14 Blatchf. 364 [denying on this point Knowlton v. Congress, etc., Spring Co., 57 N. Y. 518].

20. Marshall v. Golden Fleece Gold, etc., Min. Co., 10 Nev. 156.

21. Stokes v. Lebanon, etc., Turnpike Co., 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 241.

22. Brockenbrough v. James River, etc., Canal Co., 1 Patt. & H. (Va.) 94.

23. This will appear by a case where the officer in charge of a bank — his grade does not appear — informed a party applying to the bank for information that he might safely lend money to one of its shareholders, and that the stock was free from encumbrance. Acting upon the faith of this information, the applicant advanced money, taking a pledge of the shares for his security. It was held that the bank was thereby estopped from forfeiting the stocks for assessments due thereon by the pledger. Moore v. Bank of Commerce, 52 Mo. 377.

feited, but without notice to him, is entitled to prove damages therefor, in competition with other creditors of the company, where the company is wound up.[24]

(B) How Served in Case of Deceased Member. A company having notice of the death of a member cannot bind his estate by mailing to him at his registered address a notice preliminary to forfeiting his shares for non-payment of calls due at his death, or a notice of an extraordinary general meeting to be held for the purpose of altering the articles in such a manner as to impose a fresh liability on his shares.[25]

b. Sale of Shares to Enforce Assessments — (I) What Notice of Sale Must Be Given. The manner of giving notice of the sale of shares for delinquent assessments is generally prescribed by statute or by-law,[26] and this must be followed;[27] and where the statute or by-law is silent, the notice must obviously be reasonable according to the circumstances of each particular case. Where the charter or governing statute prescribes the time or duration of the notice and the manner of giving it, these requirements must be strictly followed or the sale will be void.[28] Where the length of time of the notice is not prescribed by the governing statute or by an authoritative by-law, a notice must be given for a reasonable time; and it has been held that three days' notice is unreasonably short, and therefore insufficient, if the proprietor resides at a distance.[29] Moreover the notice must be certain as to the place of sale; and therefore a notice which merely stated that a sale would be made by an auctioneer named, who was and had long been an auctioneer at the place where the notice bore date, was insufficient, because it did not express the place of sale.[30] Reasonable certainty is also required in describing the shares which are to be sold, but this rule is complied with by a description which clearly identifies them.[31]

(II) Place and Mode of Sale. In respect of the mode of sale the governing statute must be strictly pursued. When therefore the charter of a railroad company authorized such a sale to take place at the post-office in a particular town, and at public auction, it was held that it could take place in no other place or manner.[32] In like manner, where no such sale is allowed by the governing

24. In re New Chile Gold Min. Co., 45 Ch. D. 598, 60 L. J. Ch. 90, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 344, 2 Meg. 355, 39 Wkly. Rep. 59.

For cases illustrating the insufficiency of notices in such cases see Watson v. Eales, 23 Beav. 294; Van Dieman's Land Co. v. Cockerell, 1 C. B. N. S. 732, 87 E. C. L. 732, 3 Jur. N. S. 241, 26 L. J. C. P. 203, 5 Wkly. Rep. 312 [affirming 18 C. B. 454, 86 E. C. L. 454]; Johnson v. Lyttle's Iron Agency, 5 Ch. D. 687, 46 L. J. Ch. 786, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 528, 25 Wkly. Rep. 548; London, etc., R. Co. v. Fairclough, 10 L. J. C. P. 133, 2 M. & G. 674, 2 R. & Can. Cas. 544, 3 Scott N. R. 68, 40 E. C. L. 800; Edinburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Hebblewhite, 6 M. & W. 707. Compare Graham v. Van Dieman's Land Co., 1 H. & N. 541, 2 Jur. N. S. 1191, 26 L. J. Excb. 73, 5 Wkly. Rep. 149.

25. Allen v. West Africa Gold Reefs, [1899] 2 Ch. 40, 68 L. J. Ch. 540, 80 L. T. Rep. N. S. 750, 47 Wkly. Rep. 568.

26. That the advertisement need not be published in the same newspaper as the notice of the assessment under Cal. Civ. Code, § 337, see Stockton Combined Harvester, etc., Works v. Houser, 109 Cal. 1, 41 Pac. 809.

27. San Bernardino Invest. Co. v. Merrill, 108 Cal. 490, 41 Pac. 487.

28. Lewey's Island R. Co. v. Bolton, 48 Me. 451, 77 Am. Dec. 236.

29. Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Staples, 5 Gray (Mass.) 520.

30. Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Staples, 5 Gray (Mass.) 520.

31. York, etc., R. Co. v. Pratt, 40 Me. 447.

For an instance of a defective compliance with the statute as to notice of sale see Lewey's Island R. Co. v. Bolton, 48 Me. 451, 77 Am. Dec. 236. On the last point the court cite Bearce v. Fossett, 34 Me. 575, where it was held that an officer's return that he posted certain notices in a public place, without saying in a public and conspicuous place as required by the statute, was insufficient. That statutes requiring notice to be given, and the service of it to be proved in a particular mode, are to be strictly pursued is held in Newby v. Perkins, 1 Dana (Ky.) 440, 25 Am. Dec. 160.

Notice how served in case of deceased shareholder where governing statute or instrument does not provide for the mode of notice. — In such a case the conclusion was that a notice sent by mail to him at his registered address would bind his executors. New Zealand Gold Extraction Co. v. Peacock, [1894] 1 Q. B. 622, 63 L. J. Q. B. 227, 70 L. T. Rep. N. S. 110, 9 Reports 669.

32. Lewey's Island R. Co. v. Bolton, 48 Me. 451, 77 Am. Dec. 236.

statute except under regulations established in the form of by-laws, and no such regulations have been made, there can be no valid sale.[33]

c. Whether Forfeiture Carried Out Bars Further Right of Action on Part of Corporation. One doctrine under this head is that the corporation may exercise its option to forfeit the shares of the delinquent member, or to sue for the assessment; but it cannot do both; if it forfeits the shares, it cannot maintain an action for any balance remaining uncollected.[34] The other doctrine is applicable in a case where the governing statute or by-law does not provide for an ipso facto forfeiture by a mere declaration on the part of the directors, but provides for a sale of the shares at public auction, after advertisement. Then, as in the case of a sale of property under a mortgage, the shareholder remains liable for the unliquidated balance.[35]

2. Effect of Such Forfeitures — a. View That Remedy by Forfeiture Is Cumulative Merely and Does Not Negative Right of Action For Assessments — (i) In General. The courts which hold to the prevailing doctrine that a subscription to the stock of a corporation implies an undertaking to pay for the shares, although such an undertaking may not be expressed in the contract of subscription,[36] take the correlative view that the remedy given to the corporation by the charter,[37] the governing statute,[38] or authorized and valid by-laws[39] to enforce compliance with the contract of subscription, by forfeiting the shares of the delinquent, is cumulative merely, and does not negative the right of the corporation to sue for the assessments.

(ii) Company May Either Declare Shares Forfeited or Bring Action to Collect Assessment. The company may, in the case of the non-payment

33. Mitchell v. Vermont Copper Min. Co., 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 406. See also supra, VI, O, 1, a, (v), (b).

The provisions of Mass. Rev. Stat. c. 30, § 53, as to the mode in which shares of a shareholder in a corporation may be sold for the non-payment of assessments, do not apply to the case of new shares offered to existing shareholders and sold because not taken by such shareholders. Sewall v. Eastern R. Co., 9 Cush. (Mass.) 5.

34. Mandel v. Swan Land, etc., Co., 154 Ill. 177, 40 N. E. 462, 45 Am. St. Rep. 124, 27 L. R. A. 313 [reversing 51 Ill. App. 204].

35. Thomson's Succession, 46 La. Ann. 1074, 15 So. 379. Compare Minnehaha Driving Park Assoc. v. Legg, 50 Minn. 333, 52 N. W. 898.

Interest and expenses.— it has been held that a statute authorizing a recovery after forfeiture of corporate stock, of all calls owing upon it at the time of the forfeiture, does not authorize a recovery of interest and expenses thereafter accruing. Mandel v. Swan Land, etc., Co., 154 Ill. 177, 40 N. E. 462, 45 Am. St. Rep. 313, 27 L. R. A. 313.

36. See supra, VI, H, 3, a.

37. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344; Beene v. Cahawba, etc., R. Co., 3 Ala. 660.

Florida.—Barbee v. Jacksonville, etc., Plank Road Co., 6 Fla. 262.

Georgia.— Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412.

Illinois.— Raymond v. Caton, 24 Ill. 123.

Kentucky.— Instone v. Frankfort Bridge Co., 2 Bibb 576, 5 Am. Dec. 638.

Maine.— Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Jarvis, 34 Me. 360; South Bay Meadow Dam Co. v. Gray, 30 Me. 547.

Massachusetts.— Boston, etc., R. Co. v. Wellington, 113 Mass. 79; Worcester Turnpike Corp. v. Willard, 5 Mass. 80, 4 Am. Dec. 39.

Mississippi.— Freeman v. Winchester, 10 Sm. & M. 577; Commercial Bank v. State, 6 Sm. & M. 599.

New York.— Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Dudley, 14 N. Y. 336; Ogdensburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Frost, 21 Barb. 541; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Tibbits, 18 Barb. 297; Mann v. Currie, 2 Barb. 294; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273.

South Carolina.— Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Cathcart, 4 Rich. 89.

Tennessee.— Stokes v. Lebanon, etc., Turnpike Co., 6 Humphr. 241.

England.— Great Northern R. Co. v. Kennedy, 7 D. & L. 197, 4 Exch. 417, 13 Jur. 1008, 19 L. J. Exch. 11, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 5; Inglis v. Great Northern R. Co., 16 Jur. 895, 1 Macq. 112. In Giles v. Hutt, 3 Exch. 18, 18 L. J. Exch. 53, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 505; London, etc., R. Co. v. Fairclough, 10 L. J. C. P. 133, 2 M. & G. 674, 2 R. & Can. Cas. 544, 3 Scott N. R. 68, 40 E. C. L. 800; Edinburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Hebblewhite, 6 M. & W. 707, there was only an option to sue or forfeit.

Compare Mann v. Cooke, 20 Conn. 178.

38. San Bernardino Invest. Co. v. Merrill, 108 Cal. 490, 41 Pac. 487.

39. San Joaquin Land, etc., Co. v. Beecher, 101 Cal. 70, 35 Pac. 349; San Gabriel Valley Land, etc., Co. v. Dennis, (Cal. 1893) 34 Pac. 441; Denver Chamber of Commerce, etc. v. Green, 8 Colo. App. 420, 47 Pac. 140; At-

of the assessments, either bring an action against the shareholder to recover them or declare the shares forfeited;[40] and where the charter provides that the shares shall be liable to forfeiture, and that the company may declare the same forfeited and vested in the company, the option to forfeit is with the company and not with the shareholder.[41] From the same principle another conclusion follows, namely, that an unsuccessful attempt on the part of the corporation to sell the shares does not deprive it of its remedy against the delinquent shareholder by action;[42] and of course a mere unexecuted threat so to do will not have such an effect.[43] Moreover, as the corporation has its election whether or not it will resort to the remedy by forfeiture, its failure to do so will be no ground of forfeiting its charter.[44] The general rule therefore is that the corporation may waive the remedy by forfeiture and sale of the shares and proceed against the shareholder by action;[45] and a resolution of the directors instructing the president and secretary to commence such an action is sufficient evidence of such a waiver.[46]

(III) Rule Applicable Where There Is Express Promise to Pay For Shares. And where there is in the contract of subscription an express promise to pay for the shares, all the courts, including those which hold that such an express promise is necessary to give a right of action for assessments,[47] agree that the corporation may maintain thereon an action for assessments, notwithstanding the charter or governing statute gives it a remedy by forfeiture.[48] It has even been held that such an express promise to pay may be enforced by an action, although the charter provides no other remedy than a sale of the shares.[49]

b. Statutes Under Which Remedy by Forfeiture Is Exclusive. Statutes and schemes of incorporation exist under which the remedy by forfeiture is held to be exclusive.[50] This as already seen is the New England doctrine where the contract of subscription does not embody an express promise to pay for the shares.[51]

c. Effect of Forfeiture Upon Action For Prior Assessment. It has been held that where an action has been commenced to recover certain instalments of a sublantic Dynamite Co. v. Andrews, 97 Mich. 466, 56 N. W. 858; Puget Sound, etc., R. Co. v. Ouellette, 7 Wash. 265, 34 Pac. 929.

40. Troy Turnpike, etc., Co. v. McChesney, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 296; Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co. v. Small, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 273.

41. North Eastern R. Co. v. Rodrigues, 10 Rich. (S. C.) 278.

42. Instone v. Frankfort Bridge Co., 2 Bibb (Ky.) 576, 5 Am. Dec. 638.

43. Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Vason, 57 Ga. 314.

44. Commercial Bank v. State, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 599.

45. San Joaquin Land, etc., Co. v. Beecher, 101 Cal. 70, 35 Pac. 349.

46. San Gabriel Valley Land, etc., Co. v. Dennis, (Cal. 1893) 34 Pac. 441.

47. See supra, VI, H, 4, b, (I).

48. Taunton, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Whiting, 10 Mass. 327, 6 Am. Dec. 124; Worcester Turnpike Corp. v. Willard, 5 Mass. 80, 4 Am. Dec. 39; White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124; New Hampshire Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300; Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 581; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory Co. v. Davis, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273.

49. Connecticut, etc., Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 581.

50. As in the case of a mining company in California. In re South Mountain Consol. Min. Co., 5 Fed. 403, 7 Sawy. 30. That an action of assumpsit cannot be maintained to collect assessments upon full-paid stock where another mode of collection is prescribed by the by-laws see Belmont Park Assoc. v. Toller, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 266.

51. California.— West v. Belding, (1889) 21 Pac. 1136; West v. Crawford, 80 Cal. 19, 21 Pac. 1123.

Colorado.— Arkansas River Land, etc., Co. v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 13 Colo. 587, 22 Pac. 954.

Delaware.— Odd Fellows Hall Co. v. Glazier, 5 Harr. 172.

Maine.— Belfast, etc., R. Co. v. Moore, 60 Me. 561; Kennebec, etc., R. Co. v. Kendall, 31 Me. 470.

Massachusetts.— Katama Land Co. v. Jernegan, 126 Mass. 155; Mechanics' Foundry, etc., Co. v. Hall, 121 Mass. 272; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128; Franklin Glass Co. v. White, 14 Mass. 286; New Bedford, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Adams, 8 Mass. 138, 5 Am. Dec. 81; Andover, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Gould, 6 Mass. 40, 4 Am. Dec. 80; Worcester Turnpike Corp. v. Willard, 5 Mass. 80, 4 Am. Dec. 39.

New Hampshire.— New Hampshire Cent., etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300; Franklin Glass Co. v. Alexander, 2 N. H. 380, 9 Am. Dec. 92 (per Woodbury, J.).

scription which have been duly called for, and then a further call is made, and the shares are forfeited for non-payment thereof, the subscriber may plead such forfeiture in bar of the further maintenance of the suit.[52]

d. Corporation May Recover Any Balance Due After Forfeiture and Sale — (I) In General. By analogy to the law applicable in the case of mortgages, it is frequently held that the shareholder is liable to the corporation for any balance due after selling his shares to enforce his liability for assessments thereon and applying the proceeds in satisfaction of the indebtedness and costs.[53] But those courts which take the view that an express promise in the subscription paper to pay for the shares is necessary to support an action for assessments, and that the only remedy, in the absence of such a promise, is to forfeit the shares, are driven by the mere logic of their position to hold that after forfeiting and reselling the shares there can be no action for any unsatisfied balance; since the subscriber has made no promise which in the view of those courts will support an action.[54]

(II) Statutory Right of Action For Such Residue. Under the view that an express promise to pay is necessary to support a right of action for assessments, where the legislature interposes and gives a right of action for any unpaid residue, then the courts hold that the statute must be strictly complied with.[55] When therefore the governing statute prescribes the terms on which shares in the stock of a railroad company may be sold for the payment of assessments, and the shareholder be held to pay the balance if the shares are not sold for a sum sufficient to pay the assessment, those terms are in this view conditions precedent, and unless they are strictly complied with the sale is illegal and the shareholder is not chargeable.[56] Moreover, in order to support such an action, it must affirmatively appear that the sale was made for a legal assessment and did not include any illegal one.[57]

e. Where Sale Brings More Than Due, Shareholder Entitled to Residue. If the sale of the shares brings more than the amount due the corporation it must turn over the excess to the shareholder.[58]

f. Status of Shares After Forfeiture — (I) In General. Shares which have been bought in by the corporation because there is no outside bidder rest, accord-

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181; Essex Bridge Co. v. Tuttle, 2 Vt. 393.

52. Small v. Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co., 2 N. Y. 330 [overruling Troy Turnpike, etc., Co. v. McChesney, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 296; Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co. v. Small, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 273].

53. Merrimac Min. Co. v. Bagley, 14 Mich. 501; Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co. v. Small, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 273; Brockenbrough v. James River, etc., Canal Co., 1 Patt. & H. (Va.) 94. Compare New Hampshire Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300, holding that resort must first be had to a sale of the shares before an action at law can be maintained. See also Piscataqua Ferry Co. v. Jones, 39 N. H. 491, holding that where the contract of subscription embodies an express promise to pay for the shares the subscriber will be liable in assumpsit for assessments under a by-law before resort is had to a sale of his shares.

54. Mechanics' Foundry, etc., Co. v. Hall, 121 Mass. 272; Andover, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Gould, 6 Mass. 40, 4 Am. Dec. 80.

55. Lewey's Island R. Co. v. Bolton, 48 Me. 451, 77 Am. Dec. 236; Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Staples, 5 Gray (Mass.) 520; Portland, etc., R. Co. v. Graham, 11 Metc. (Mass.) 1.

56. Portland, etc., R. Co. v. Graham, 11 Metc. (Mass.) 1.

57. Lewey's Island R. Co. v. Bolton, 48 Me. 451, 77 Am. Dec. 236; Stoneham Branch R. Co. v. Gould, 2 Gray (Mass.) 277.

For an illustration in case of a double assessment see Lewey's Island R. Co. v. Bolton, 48 Me. 451, 77 Am. Dec. 236.

For a statute providing for a sale of shares by auction in case of a non-payment of assessments and that the shareholder shall be personally liable for the deficiency see Mass. Rev. Stat. (1836), c. 39, § 53; Mass. Gen. Stat. 1860, c. 63, § 9. See Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Newton, 1 Gray (Mass.) 544; Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Chandler, 13 Metc. (Mass.) 311.

58. Mitchell v. Vermont Copper Min. Co., 47 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 218; Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co. v. Small, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 273. Compare State University v. Winston, 5 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 17. That this view has been overruled in New York see Small v. Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co., 2 N. Y. 330 [reversing 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 273].

ing to one decision, in such a nondescript state that they cannot be sold on an execution issued against the corporation in satisfaction of its debts.[59]

(II) Reissuing Such Shares. In England, where a limited company has power to forfeit shares for non-payment of calls, and sell, reallot, and dispose of them in such a manner as the directors think fit, it can, in reallotting forfeited shares partly paid up, give credit for the money already received in respect of the shares. Such a transaction is not an issue of shares, and is not contrary to the principles that the company under the Companies Acts cannot issue shares at a discount.[60]

g. What Forfeiture Releases Shareholder's Liability — (I) In General. Where there is a strict forfeiture, by a resolution of the directors, as explained in a preceding section, by which the corporation seizes the shares to its own use, this severs the connection of the shareholder with the corporation, and he thereupon ceases to be a shareholder, or to be further liable for his unpaid subscriptions.[61] And where the forfeiture has taken the form of a sale of the shares by the corporation upon notice, it may be safely assumed that the purchaser takes them subject to future assessments; and the connection of the original shareholder with the corporation ceases, except that as already stated he may remain liable for any unsatisfied balance due in respect of the assessment already made for which the shares were forfeited and sold. Assuming the forfeiture to be valid in the sense of not being collusive or ultra vires he thereby ceases to be a shareholder for all future purposes.[62] But if the forfeiture is invalid in respect of something which the parties cannot waive and which cannot be cured by their acquiescence, he remains liable to the company's creditors in the event of its insolvency.[63] On the other hand, where there has been a mere irregularity in making a bona fide forfeiture within the company's powers, as by failing to give him the prescribed notice, or to pass a formal resolution of forfeiture, but only an entry to that effect on the corporate books has been made by the secretary, yet if both the company and the shareholder treat the forfeiture as valid, it will be held such as against the company's creditors.[64]

(II) Valid Forfeiture Releases Liability of Shareholder to Creditors. A valid forfeiture releases his liability to creditors of the corporation, unless as to so much of the calls already made as was not satisfied by the sale of the shares, where the forfeiture takes that form. A creditor of the corporation cannot thereafter charge him with the amount which remains unpaid, under his

59. Robinson v. Spaulding Gold, etc., Min. Co., 72 Cal. 32, 13 Pac. 65.

60. Morrison v. Trustees, etc., Ins. Corp., 68 L. J. Ch. 11, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 605, 5 Manson 356.

61. Macaulay v. Robinson, 18 La. Ann. 619; Mills v. Stewart, 41 N. Y. 384.

62. In re Asiatic Banking Corp., L. R. 9 Eq. 236, 39 L. J. Ch. 59, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 350, 18 Wkly. Rep. 245; In re Cobre Copper Min. Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 107, 39 L. J. Ch. 231, 18 Wkly. Rep. 371; In re China Steamship Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 232, 37 L. J. Ch. 901, 16 Wkly. Rep. 995; Strick v. Swansea Tinplate Co., 36 Ch. D. 558; In re Kollmann's R. Locomotive, etc., Co., 2 Hall & T. 388, 14 Jur. 655, 19 L. J. Ch. 332, 2 Macn. & G. 197, 48 Eng. Ch. 152 [affirming 3 De G. & Sm. 175]; Ex p. Baily, 15 Jur. 29.

63. Garden Gully United Quartz Min. Co. v. McLister, 1 App. Cas. 39, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 408, 24 Wkly. Rep. 744; In re Alma Spinning Co., 16 Ch. D. 681, 50 L. J. Ch. 167, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 620, 29 Wkly. Rep. 133; In re Esparto Trading Co., 12 Ch. D. 191, 48 L. J. Ch. 573, 28 Wkly. Rep. 146. See also infra, VI, O, 2, g, (III), (A).

64. In re North Hollenbeagle Min. Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 321, 36 L. J. Ch. 317, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 546, 15 Wkly. Rep. 294.

For further illustrations of this principle see In re Financial Corp., L. R. 2 Ch. 714 (shares forfeited illegally subdivided); In re Tavistock Ironworks Co., L. R. 4 Eq. 233, 36 L. J. Ch. 616, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 824, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1007 (forfeiture by a minority of the directors); Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 4 De G. & J. 437, 5 Jur. N. S. 853, 28 L. J. Ch. 721, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 294, 7 Wkly. Rep. 645, 61 Eng. Ch. 344 [reversing on this point 5 Jur. N. S. 617]; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 1 De G. J. & S. 495, 66 Eng. Ch. 384; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 1 De G. J. & S. 488, 32 L. J. Ch. 326, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 98, 1 New Rep. 407, 66 Eng. Ch. 379 (when forfeiture presumed); Re State F. Ins. Co., 32 L. J. Ch. 135, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 618, 11 Wkly. Rep. 226. Compare In re Australian Direct Steam Nav., 3 Ch. D. 661 general engagement as a subscriber.[65] This doctrine, a little more amplified, is that the individual liability of a shareholder for a corporate debt is subordinate to the power of the directors to compromise the debt or to forfeit the shares of the shareholder for non-payment of his dues to the corporation; and that if the directors have in good faith, and within such power as the law regulating the corporation gives them, declared all the stock of a member forfeited for non-payment of dues, he cannot be held liable as a shareholder for corporate debts.[66] The mere existence in the corporation of a right to forfeit the shares of a member for his non-payment of assessments lawfully laid against them is not a valid defense on the part of the shareholder against creditors of the corporation,[67] the power thus given to forfeit shares being merely a cumulative remedy.[68] Moreover we shall see that in such cases the corporation has an election between two remedies: It may either declare a forfeiture, or it may bring an action at law for the amount due. If it declares a forfeiture under conditions which render the forfeiture valid, the relation between the shareholder and the corporation is thereby terminated and his contract of subscription canceled; and neither the corporation[69] nor its creditors[70] can proceed against him for the remaining instalments due under such contract.

(III) Ultra Vires Forfeitures Do Not Release Shareholder's Liability to Creditors—(A) In General. If the charter or governing statute of [affirmed in 5 Ch. D. 70]. See infra, VI, O, 2, g, (III), (B).

65. Allen v. Montgomery R. Co., 11 Ala. 437; Macauly v. Robinson, 18 La. Ann. 619.

66. Mills v. Stewart, 62 Barb. (N. Y.) 444.

67. Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412; Mann v. Currie, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 294; Sagory v. Dubois, 3 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 466.

68. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344; Beene v. Cahawba, etc., R. Co., 3 Ala. 660.

Connecticut.— Hartford, etc., R. Co. v. Kennedy, 12 Conn. 499.

Georgia.— Hightower v. Thornton, 8 Ga. 486, 52 Am. Dec. 412.

Kentucky.— Gratz v. Redd, 4 B. Mon. 178; Instone v. Frankfort Bridge Co., 2 Bibb 576, 5 Am. Dec. 638.

New York.— Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. 581; Mann v. Currie, 2 Barb. 294; McDonough v. Phelps, 15 How. Pr. 372; Troy Turnpike, etc., Co. v. McChesney, 21 Wend. 296; Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co. v. Small, 21 Wend. 273; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459; Highland Turnpike Co. v. McKean, 11 Johns. 98; Goshen, etc., Turnpike Road v. Hurtin, 9 Johns. 217, 6 Am. Dec. 273.

North Carolina.— Tar River Nav. Co. v. Neal, 10 N. C. 520.

See also supra, VI, O, 2, a, (I).

69. Mechanics' Foundry, etc., Co. v. Hall, 121 Mass. 272; Cutler v. Middlesex Factory Co., 14 Pick. (Mass.) 483; Ripley v. Sampson, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 371; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128; Franklin Glass Co. v. White, 14 Mass. 286; Andover, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Gould, 6 Mass. 40, 4 Am. Dec. 80; Small v. Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co., 2 N. Y. 330 [overruling 2 Hill (N. Y.) 127, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 273]; Ashton v. Burbank, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 582, 2 Dill. 435; In re Financial Corp., L. R. 2 Ch. 714; In re North Hallenbeagle Min. Co., L. R. 2 Ch. 321, 36 L. J. Ch. 317, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 546, 15 Wkly. Rep. 294.

70. Allen v. Montgomery R. Co., 11 Ala. 437; Macauly v. Robinson, 18 La. Ann. 619; Mills v. Stewart, 41 N. Y. 384, Hunt, C. J., and Woodruff, J., dissenting [affirming 62 Barb. (N. Y.) 444].

Further explanations of the principle.— The rule that a forfeiture of shares terminates a shareholder's liability to creditors has been carried so far in New York as to hold that after forfeiture a shareholder is not liable for debts contracted while he was a shareholder. Mills v. Stewart, 41 N. Y. 384. Under the English Joint-Stock Companies Act a similar rule obtains. After the shares of a member have been forfeited by the directors, in pursuance of the terms of the deed of settlement, he cannot, in the event of the insolvency of the company, be put upon the list of contributories (In re Natal Invest. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 22, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 445, 18 Wkly. Rep. 30; In re Cobre Copper Mine Co., L. R. 9 Eq. 107, 39 L. J. Ch. 231, 18 Wkly. Rep. 371; In re China Steamship Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 232, 37 L. J. Ch. 901, 16 Wkly. Rep. 995; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 4 De G. & J. 437, 5 Jur. N. S. 853, 28 L. J. Ch. 721, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 645, 7 Wkly. Rep. 344, 61 Eng. Ch. 344; In re Kollmann's R. Locomotive, etc., Co., 2 Hall & T. 388, 14 Jur. 655, 19 L. J. Ch. 332, 2 Macn. & G. 197, 48 Eng. Ch. 152), unless insolvency supervenes within one year after forfeiture, in which case, by the terms of the Companies Act of 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 89, § 38), he will be liable to contribute as a past member (In re Blakely Ordnance Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 63, 39 L. J. Ch. 124, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 572, 18 Wkly. Rep. 103; In re Accidental, etc., Ins. Corp., L. R. 4 Ch. 266, 38 L. J. Ch. 201, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 624, 17 Wkly. Rep. 216).

a corporation, or, in England, the deed of settlement of a joint-stock company, does not authorize the board of directors to forfeit the shares of a member for a given cause or in a given manner, then a forfeiture for such cause or in such manner will be set aside as ultra vires, and the shareholder will be put upon the list of contributories.[71] On this subject the established doctrine in England is said to be that where a joint-stock company is trading under a deed shares can be forfeited or transferred only in the mode pointed out in the deed.[72] The English courts place this rule on the ground that such a forfeiture is a fraud upon the other members;[73] the American courts place it upon the higher ground that it is a fraud upon creditors.[74] It is to be noted, however, that the essential difference between an English trading company, except where the liability is limited by statute, and an American corporation, is that the English company is merely a numerous partnership, the members being liable without limit for the debts of the concern; whereas in an American corporation the members are liable only to the extent of the amount of their subscriptions, unless made further liable by statute.

(B) Effect of Acquiescence and Laches. Where as in England the shareholders are liable without limit for the debts of the company, and where consequently a forfeiture of the shares of a member which if illegal releases him from his liability and imposes an additional liability upon the others, it follows that if with a knowledge that such a forfeiture has been allowed they stand by for a considerable lapse of time and take no steps to undo it, they will be excluded from relief in equity on the ground of laches.[75] The principle of course operates against the shareholder whose shares have been illegally forfeited, so as to bar him from relief against the forfeiture.[76] So the forfeiture of shares of stock for non-payment of assessments thereon, although irregular or defective in form, is not void but voidable only; and the shareholder and the company, by subsequent knowledge and acquiescence therein, are estopped to deny its validity, as against a purchaser at the forfeiture sale.[77]

h. Collusive Forfeitures. Restating a doctrine already considered,[78] it is to be kept in mind that the power to forfeit can only be exercised for the benefit of the company, and never for the benefit of the shareholder. If therefore a shareholder procures his shares to be forfeited by the directors for the purpose of unloading the burden and escaping the liability which attends them, this will not discharge his liability to creditors in respect of them in case the company becomes insolvent, but under English law he remains a contributory.[79] On the other hand, 71. In re Agriculturist Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 79; Spackman v. Evans, L. R. 3 H. L. 171, 37 L. J. Ch. 752, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 151; Matter of St. Marylebone Joint-Stock Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 198, 14 Jur. 610, 19 L. J. Ch. 389.

72. In re Kollmann's R. Locomotive, etc., Co., 2 Hall & T. 388, 14 Jur. 655, 19 L. J. Ch. 332, 2 Macn. & G. 197, 48 Eng. Ch. 152 [affirming 3 De G. & Sm. 175], per Mr. Baron Rolfe, Lord Commissioner. But this doctrine does not apply to a case where a party holding what are inaccurately called shares has never executed the deed so as to be strictly a shareholder. Beresford's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 175.

73. For the English doctrine as to ultra vires forfeitures restated see 2 Thompson Corp. § 1799 and notes.

74. Distinction between the American and English cases on the subject of ultra vires forfeitures see 2 Thompson Corp. § 1800 and notes.

75. Houldsworth v. Evans, L. R. 3 H. L. 263, 37 L. J. Ch. 800, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 211; Spackman v. Evans, L. R. 3 H. L. 171, 37 L. J. Ch. 752, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 151; Evans v. Smallcombe, L. R. 3 H. L. 249, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 207.

76. Rule v. Jewell, 18 Ch. D. 660, 29 Wkly. Rep. 755; Clegg v. Edmondson, 8 De G. M. & G. 787, 3 Jur. N. S. 299, 26 L. J. Ch. 673, 57 Eng. Ch. 608. In Hart v. Clarke, 6 De G. M. & G. 232 [affirmed in 6 H. L. Cas. 633], and Clements v. Hall, 2 De G. & J. 173, 4 Jur. N. S. 494, 27 L. J. Ch. 349, 6 Wkly. Rep. 358, 59 Eng. Ch. 138, laches were held no bar.

77. Raht v. Sevier Min., etc., Co., 18 Utah 290, 54 Pac. 889.

78. See supra, VI, O, 1, a, (IV).

79. In re Agriculturists' Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 511, 12 Jur. N. S. 611, 35 L. J. Ch. 750, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 841, 14 Wkly. Rep. 954; Re Agriculturists' Cattle Ins. Co., L. R. 1 Ch. 161, 12 Jur. N. S. 79, 35 L. J.

as Sir Nathaniel Lindley points out,[80] an ultra vires surrender of shares cannot be made valid by referring it to the power of forfeiture.[81] But this principle does not of course extend to the release of one who never was bound as a shareholder.[82]

i. Presumption That Shares Were Regularly Forfeited. Of course as under many charters and by-laws the shares of corporations may be forfeited for the non-payment of dues to the corporation, if it appear that the stock of a particular shareholder was forfeited, the presumption is that it is regularly and lawfully forfeited; and no decree can be rendered against him, the effect of which is to charge him with liability as holder of such shares, unless it is first ascertained by a judicial investigation whether the shares were properly forfeited or not.[83]

3. When Equity Will Relieve Against Such Forfeitures. The forfeiture of the shares of a member for non-payment of assessments lawfully made thereon, where the right of forfeiture exists, either under the charter or governing statute, or under a valid contract between the corporation and the shareholder, does not fall within the category of forfeitures against which equity will relieve, in the absence of fraud, accident, or mistake.[84] But where the articles of association provided no mode in which a forfeiture of the shares of a member should be established, and where the mode pursued was a mere declaration by the trustees that the stock stood forfeited, and where there were other equitable circumstances in favor of the shareholder and he came in and tendered the whole amount due, principal and interest, it was held that he should be allowed to redeem.[85] And in general it may be said that while equity will not relieve a holder whose shares have been duly forfeited,[86] yet it will not interfere to prevent a forfeiture pending the settlement of a dispute between the company and the shareholder as to what is really due by the latter in respect of his shares;[87] and it will also restore to his rights as a shareholder one whose shares have been illegally forfeited.[88]

Ch. 296, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 468, 14 Wkly. Rep. 266; In re London, etc., Starch Co., L. R. 6 Eq. 77, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 16 Wkly. Rep. 751; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 4 Kay & J. 305, 6 Wkly. Rep. 779.

80. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 845.

81. In re United Service Co., L. R. 5 Ch. 707, 39 L. J. Ch. 730, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 331, 18 Wkly. Rep. 1058; In re Esparto Trading Co., 12 Ch. Div. 191, 48 L. J. Ch. 573, 28 Wkly. Rep. 146.

82. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 845 [citing Goldsmid's Case, 16 Beav. 262; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 1 De G. J. & S. 495, 66 Eng. Ch. 384; Matter of Agriculturist Cattle Ins. Co., 3 De G. J. & S. 41, 11 Jur. N. S. 572, 34 L. J. Ch. 503, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 595, 13 Wkly. Rep. 849, 68 Eng. Ch. 32]. See also Dixon v. Evans, L. R. 5 H. L. 606, 42 L. J. Ch. 139 [reversing L. R. 5 Ch. 79].

83. Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Bridges, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 556, 46 Am. Dec. 528. As to this presumption see Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 1 De G. J. & S. 495, 66 Eng. Ch. 384; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Winding-up Acts, 1 De G. J. & S. 488, 32 L. J. Ch. 326, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 98, 1 New Rep. 407, 66 Eng. Ch. 379; Re State F. Ins. Co., 32 L. J. Ch. 135, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 618, 11 Wkly. Rep. 226.

84. Weeks v. Silver Islet Consol. Min. Co., 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 1, 8 N. Y. St. 110.

85. Walker v. Ogden, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,081, 1 Biss. 287.

86. Sparks v. Liverpool Water-Works Co., 13 Ves. Jr. 428.

87. Naylor v. South Devon R. Co., 1 De G. & S. 32. So it will see that he gets credit for what the shares would have brought if properly sold. Stubbs v. Lister, 1 Y. & Coll. Ch. 81, 20 Eng. Ch. 81.

88. Hart v. Clarke, 6 De G. M. & G. 232, 3 Eq. Rep. 264, 24 L. J. Ch. 137, 3 Wkly. Rep. 147, 55 Eng. Ch. 183 [affirmed in 6 H. L. Cas. 633]; Stubbs v. Lister, 1 Y. & Coll. Ch. 81, 20 Eng. Ch. 81. See also Small v. Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co., 2 N. Y. 330; Germantown Pass. R. Co. v. Fitler, 60 Pa. St. 124, 100 Am. Dec. 546; Sweny v. Smith, L. R. 7 Eq. 324, 38 L. J. Ch. 446; Wood v. Woad, L. R. 9 Exch. 190; Garden Gully United Quartz Min. Co. v. McLister, 1 App. Cas. 39, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 408, 24 Wkly. Rep. 744; Sudlow v. Dutch, etc., R. Co., 21 Beav. 43; Naylor v. South Devon R. Co., 1 De G. & Sm. 32; Sparks v. Liverpool Water Works, 13 Ves. Jr. 428; Prendergast v. Turton, 1 Y. & Coll. Ch. 98, 20 Eng. Ch. 98.

As to the effect of delay in seeking such relief see supra, VI, O, 2, g, (I); VI, O, 2, g, (III), (B).

No relief where shareholder has acquiesced until a fortunate change of circumstances (Sayre v. Citizens' Gas Light, etc., Co., 69 Cal. 207, 7 Pac. 437, 10 Pac. 408) or unless shareholder offers to pay what is due (Walker v. Ogden, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,081, 1 Biss. 287). Injunction to restrain sale of shares merely because notice of sale has not been published for a sufficient length of time not

P. Actions to Enforce Subscriptions — 1. Parties — a. Such Actions Brought in Corporate Name. Actions to collect assessments against shareholders are regularly brought in the corporate name,[89] although the contract may have been made with public commissioners acting for the benefit of the intended corporation.[90] But, where the trustees are an incorporated body,[91] they may bring the action in their own name, alleging their corporate character.[92] In some statutory agreements of organization, especially in England, the action is brought by an officer of the corporation named as "its public officer." [93] If the corporation has changed its name, it is immaterial that the action is brought in the old name if the misnomer is not pleaded in abatement.[94] If the corporation has assigned its share subscriptions under a power to dispose of share subscriptions as well as to collect them, the title of the assignee will be protected against subsequent proceedings by garnishment against the company, even if no formal assignment in writing has been executed;[95] and if the share subscription has been made on a pledge, and the assignee has performed the condition, he may maintain an action against the subscriber to enforce the contract, as in case of a subscription to a railroad on condition of its being built on a certain route.[96]

b. Non-Joinder of Other Shareholders. As the obligation of each shareholder is several and not joint, so each must severally respond on his contract of subscription to the calls which have been made upon him, without reference to the others; and hence where an action is brought upon such a call the non-joinder of the other shareholders is no defense or ground of exception,[97] or where the status of the subscriber is merely that of a partner in a joint-stock company.[98]

2. Pleadings — a. Form of Action. The action is of course an action at law,[99] granted unless shareholder undertakes to pay the amount of the assessment. Burham v. San Francisco Fuse Mfg. Co., 76 Cal. 26, 17 Pac. 939.

Relief against a forfeiture order by the manager after the making of an assignment for the benefit of creditors. Germantown Pass., etc., R. Co. v. Fitler, 60 Pa. St. 124, 100 Am. Dec. 546. Injunction granted against a forfeiture where the shares had been paid in full. Moore v. New Jersey Lighterage Co., 57 N. Y. Super. Ct. 1, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 192, 23 N. Y. St. 213.

89. Edinboro' Academy v. Robinson, 37 Pa. St. 210, 78 Am. Dec. 421.

90. Delaware, etc., R. Co. v. Irick, 23 N. J. L. 321.

91. See supra, I, A, 6.

92. Comfort v. Leland, 3 Whart. (Pa.) 81.

93. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 427; Smith v. Goldsworthy, 4 Q. B. 430, 3 G. & D. 448, 7 Jur. 389, 12 L. J. Q. B. 192, 45 E. C. L. 430 (where the action was brought in the name of the company); Wills v. Sutherland, 7 D. & L. 89, 4 Exch. 211, 18 L. J. Exch. 450 [affirmed in 5 Exch. 715]; Skinner v. Lambert, 2 Dowl. N. S. 132, 4 M. & Gr. 477, 11 L. J. C. P. 237, 5 Scott N. R. 197, 43 E. C. L. 249; Chapman v. Milvain, 5 Exch. 61, 14 Jur. 251, 19 L. J. Exch. 228, 1 L. M. & P. 209; Lawrence v. Wynn, 8 L. J. Exch. 237, 5 M. & W. 355. See also Welland R. Co. v. Blake, 6 H. & N. 410, 7 Jur. N. S. 373, 30 L. J. Exch. 161, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 678, 9 Wkly. Rep. 386.

In English "cost-book" companies the purser can sue. 32 & 33 Vict. c. 19, § 13.

Under a banking law of the state of New York, such an action was properly brought in the name of the president of the corporation. Stanton v. Wilson, 2 Hill (N. Y.) 153.

In South Carolina where, by the terms of the subscription paper, the instalments were to be paid "to the treasurer of the company," an action was maintainable by one who might be treasurer at the time the action was to be commenced. Ramey v. Anderson, 1 McMull. (S. C.) 300.

Objection that defendant is member of plaintiff corporation. — In whatever way the action is brought, provided it be the authorized and proper way, the objection which is good where one partner sues another at law is of course not available; it is no objection that defendant is a member of plaintiff corporation or joint-stock company. Willoughby v. Comstock, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 389.

94. Gray v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 156, 37 Am. Dec. 500.

What is sufficient authority in an agent to institute such an action in the corporate name and behalf. Athol Music Hall Co. v. Carey, 116 Mass. 471. Compare Davis v. Smith American Organ Co., 117 Mass. 456.

95. Morris v. Cheney, 51 Ill. 451.

96. Smith v. Hollett, 34 Ind. 519.

Action by the state treasurer proper in case of a subscription to raise a fund for the building of a state house. State Treasurer v. Cross, 9 Vt. 289, 31 Am. Dec. 626.

97. Baker v. Atkins, 62 Me. 205.

98. Haynes v. Kent, 8 La. Ann. 132.

99. Stokes v. Lebanon, etc., Turnpike Co., 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 241.

This action is distinguishable from an action to charge shareholders for the benefit of creditors, where the remedy as hereafter seen is in equity. See infra, VIII, A, 1 et seq.

as distinguished from a suit in equity, although in one state, possibly in others, the remedy is in equity.[1] Regularly the form of the action at common law is indebitatus assumpsit.[2] If the subscription has been made before the coming into existence of the corporation, and if the corporation, relying upon the subscription, has expended money, it may maintain an action against the subscriber as for money laid out and expended.[3]

b. Averments of Declaration, Complaint, or Petition — (I) In General. These questions refer themselves rather to the general rules of pleading than to anything special to the subject of corporations. The usual averments of a declaration, petition, or complaint, in such an action, by whatever name called, are, first, a recitation of the terms of the contract of subscription, showing that the subscription was payable when called for by the directors, or otherwise as the case may be; followed by an averment that the call has been made accordingly and notice thereof given, and that defendant has failed and refused to comply with the same.[4] A declaration that made no reference to a written contract of subscription, and failed to aver any assessment or call by the directors, but averred that the subscription was payable in such manner and proportion and at such times as the directors should appoint, was of course bad on demurrer.[5] Where the directors were authorized to receive subscriptions for the construction of the road as a whole, or for the construction of particular sections of it, a count on the general subscription, which averred a call made on the subscribers of the stock of a particular division, was of course bad.[6] An averment that the president and directors made the assessment is tantamount to an averment that the corporation or company made it, and it is hence not a good ground of demurrer that the declaration fails to aver an assessment or call by the company.[7]

(II) Particular Averments — (A) Of Corporate Existence — (1) In General. The plaintiff must of course allege its own corporate existence, although this may be done in general terms.[8]

(2) Performance of Conditions Precedent to Existence of Corporation. There is judicial authority to the effect that it is necessary, in such an action, to aver the performance of the conditions precedent which are necessary to the coming into existence of the corporation, such as the filing of the articles of association within the county where the corporation is organized, and the filing of a duplicate of the articles in the office of the secretary of state.[9]

1. Baker v. Atkins, 62 Me. 205.

2. Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344; Beene v. Cahaba, etc., Co., 3 Ala. 660; Peake v. Wabash R. Co., 18 Ill. 88; Instone v. Frankfort Bridge Co., 2 Bibb (Ky.) 576, 5 Am. Dec. 638; Taunton, etc., Turnpike Corp. v. Whiting, 10 Mass. 327, 6 Am. Dec. 124; Essex Turnpike Corp. v. Collins, 8 Mass. 292.

3. Griswold v. Peoria University, 26 Ill. 41, 79 Am. Dec. 361.

4. Beckner v. Riverside, etc., Turnpike Co., 65 Ind. 468.

5. McClasky v. Grand Rapids, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 96.

6. Tomlin v. Tonica, etc., R. Co., 23 Ill. 429.

7. Union Turnpike Road Co. v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 381.

As to the effect of the Alabama statute of Feb. 5, 1883, on the question of the averments of such a declaration see Bolling v. Le Grand, 87 Ala. 482, 6 So. 332.

8. It has been held in New Jersey that the act of incorporation should be set out in the declaration. Trenton City Bridge Co. v. Perdicaris, 29 N. J. L. 367. This is quite beyond what is generally required.

Right to capital stock.— In the view of one court the complaint must show that the company is authorized to have a capital stock and to receive such subscriptions. Minneapolis Harvester Works v. Libby, 24 Minn. 327.

Manner of organization.— Another court has held that it is not necessary to set out the manner of the organization of plaintiff corporation, or its specific objects. Williams v. Franklin Tp. Academical Assoc., 26 Ind. 310.

Filing articles.— The same court has held that the certificate or articles of association should be filed with the complaint, and proper averments made, of the liability of each person whose signature appears thereto. Herron v. Vance, 17 Ind. 595.

9. Nelson v. Blakey, 47 Ind. 38. See also New Albany, etc., R. Co. v. Pickens, 5 Ind. 247.

Instance of a good complaint where the subscription is made prior to organization. Minneapolis Threshing-Mach. Co. v. Crevier, 39 Minn. 417, 40 N. W. 507.

(B) Of Existence of Board of Directors. Where by the terms of the subscription an assessment can be made only by the board of directors, the existence of the board of directors need not it seems be strictly alleged; but it will be sufficient to aver "that the corporation was organized" and that the board of directors of said corporation made assessments, etc.[10]

(C) Of Performance by Corporation of Conditions Precedent Named in Contract of Subscription. If the subscription is made to depend upon the performance by the corporation of a valid condition precedent, then, until the condition is performed the corporation will have no right of action to enforce the subscription;[11] it must accordingly aver the performance of the condition on its part.[12]

(D) Of Consideration. Even where the suit is upon a promissory note given to pay a certain sum per share for the number of shares subscribed for by the maker, in such manner and proportion and at such time and place as should be determined by the president and directors, it was necessary to set out the consideration by a sufficient averment.[13]

(E) Of Notice of Call. In those jurisdictions which adhere to the correct rule that notice of the call is necessary before the subscriber can be regarded as in default,[14] it is necessary for the corporation to aver such notice in its declaration or complaint in some sufficient form.[15] An averment of notice was held good, although it did not in terms aver that due notice had been given.[16]

(F) Other Averments. If the action is brought in a circuit court of the United States, it is necessary to aver in the declaration, in order to show jurisdiction in the court, that plaintiff is a corporation created by the laws of a particular state therein named, other than the state in which the action is brought.[17]

c. What Instrument Foundation of Action. In an action for calls against shareholders who have subscribed preliminary articles of subscription, prior to or separate from the articles of association by which the corporation is formed, the instrument which constitutes the foundation of the action is not the articles of association, but the contract of subscription.[18] This constitutes the contract

10. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Gaster, 20 Ark. 455.

11. McMillan v. Maysville, etc., R. Co., 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 218, 235, 61 Am. Dec. 181. See also supra, VI, J.

12. That it is necessary to aver that the corporation has issued or offered to issue the stock to defendant see St. Paul, etc., R. Co. v. Robbins, 23 Minn. 439.

Necessity of alleging performance of statutory condition that the corporation shall not transact business except with its members until at least one half of its capital stock has been duly subscribed for and twenty per cent thereof paid in. Anvil Min. Co. v. Sherman, 74 Wis. 226, 42 N. W. 226, 4 L. R. A. 232.

That the performance of conditions precedent, named in the contract of subscription, need not be averred where the action is upon the statute and not upon the contract see Amherst, etc., R. Co. v. Watson, 4 Gray (Mass.) 61. And this although the contract has inadvertently been made a part of the record. Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Newton, 1 Gray (Mass.) 544.

13. Union Turnpike Road v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 381.

14. See supra, VI, N, 2, e, (II).

15. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Gaster, 20 Ark. 455, 22 Ark. 361. Such was the early rule in Indiana, afterward departed from in the era of railroad building. Corydon Steam Mill v. Pell, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 472.

16. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Turrentine, 21 Ark. 445 [following Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Gaster, 20 Ark. 455].

17. Pennsylvania v. Quicksilver Min. Co., 10 Wall. (U. S.) 553, 19 L. ed. 998; Marshall v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 16 How. (U. S.) 314, 14 L. ed. 953. Compare National Steamship Co. v. Tugman, 106 U. S. 118, 1 S. Ct. 58, 27 L. ed. 87; Muller v. Dows, 94 U. S. 444, 24 L. ed. 207; Germania F. Ins. Co. v. Francis, 11 Wall. (U. S.) 210, 20 L. ed. 77; Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. Wheeler, 1 Black (U. S.) 286, 17 L. ed. 130; Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Letson, 2 How. (U. S.) 497, 11 L. ed. 353.

For a precedent of a good complaint where the corporation assigned the stock subscription and gave the assignee a written order on the subscriber for the same, which the subscriber accepted, see Stockton v. Creager, 51 Ind. 262.

As to what averments of the payment of the required deposit (see supra, VI, H, 13) will be accepted as sufficient see Highland Turnpike Co. v. McKean, 11 Johns. (N. Y.) 98. See also Grayble v. York, etc., Turnpike Road Co., 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 269.

18. Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430.

between the subscriber and the corporation; since as elsewhere seen[19] such subscriptions inure to its benefit when its organization is complete.[20]

d. Defensive Pleadings. Unless the governing statute makes the subscription payable absolutely, and without a call, an answer which denies that the call has been made is good on demurrer.[21]

3. Suing For Too Much and Recovering What Is Due. Where the corporation sues for several instalments, it may recover those which are due, although it fails to make out its case as to others.[22] So where several assessments have been made the directors may waive or abandon one that is void and maintain the action for those that are valid.[23]

4. Effect of Changes in Corporation Pending Such Action. Such an action is not defeated by the fact that pending it plaintiff has consolidated with another company and thereby ceased to exist. The cause of action has not died, but has passed to a new company. If this is a valid objection in any form, it must be considered matter in abatement merely and be pleaded puis darrein continuance.[24]

5. Evidence — a. Evidence of Existence of Corporation — (I) Charter or Certificate of Incorporation and User Thereunder. In these as in other cases the usual proof of the existence of the corporation is made by proving a charter or certificate of incorporation granted by the secretary of state or other proper officer, and user thereunder.[25]

(II) Recognition by State. Where the legislature of a state has full power to create a corporation, whether private or municipal, its corporate existence may be proved by legislative recognition, making a de jure corporation out of what was before a de facto corporation only.[26]

(III) Recitals in Subscription Paper Estopping Subscriber. Again the existence of the corporation may be proved by recitals in the subscription paper which have the effect of estopping the subscriber to deny such existence, as where

19. See supra, VI, H, 6, d, (VII).

20. Tonica, etc., R. Co. v. McNeely, 21 Ill. 71; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654.

Filing paper which is foundation of action. — That plaintiff must affix a copy of the subscription paper to his petition see Hudson v. Plank Road Co., 4 Greene (Iowa) 152. That it is not necessary for plaintiff to make profert of the subscription paper because it is not the foundation of the action see Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Gaster, 20 Ark. 455. That it is not proper to file the subscription paper, in an action against one of the subscribers, since it embraces several distinct contracts, see Workman v. Campbell, 46 Mo. 305; Hannibal, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Robinson, 27 Mo. 396 (proceeding before a justice of the peace). That the resolution of the directors making an assessment is not the written instrument required to be filed under the statute see Van Riper v. American Cent. Ins. Co., 60 Ind. 123.

21. Mansfield, etc., R. Co. v. Hall, 26 Ohio St. 310.

Matter of defense must be raised in court below. — Defensive matter available by plea or answer cannot of course be taken advantage of for the first time in an appellate court, as that, by the terms of the contract, the directors could assess the defendant only twenty-five dollars a share at a time, and the assessment sued for was forty-two dollars. Eastern Plank Road Co. v. Vaughan, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 155.

22. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Eakins, 30 Iowa 279.

23. Read v. Memphis Gayoso Gas Co., 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 545.

24. Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389. See also supra, III, D, 2, a et seq.

That a suit curing a failure to pay deposit required by a previous statute will not help out an action upon a subscription see Ogle v. Somerset, etc., Turnpike Road Co., 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 256.

Instructions to juries in such actions under Maryland theory upholding independence of the jury. Maltby v. Northwestern Virginia R. Co., 16 Md. 422.

25. Maine.—Sampson v. Bowdoinham Steam Mill Corp., 36 Me. 78.

New York.— Methodist Episcopal Union Church v. Pickett, 19 N. Y. 482; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119 (per Gray, J.); U. S. Bank v. Stearns, 15 Wend. 314; Utica Ins. Co. v. Tilman, 1 Wend. 555; Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459.

North Carolina.— Wilmington, etc., R. Co. v. Thompson, 52 N. C. 387.

Vermont.— Searsburg Turnpike Co. v. Cutler, 6 Vt. 315.

England.— Snow v. Peacock, 3 Bing. 406, 11 E. C. L. 201, 2 C. & P. 215, 12 E. C. L. 535, 11 Moore C. P. 286.

26. Comanche County v. Lewis, 133 U. S. 198, 10 S. Ct. 286, 33 L. ed. 604.

the paper recites that a company has been formed under a general law, and that the articles of association, with the necessary affidavits, have been duly filed, this being deemed conclusive evidence of a corporation as against the subscriber.[27]

(iv) Letters Patent From Governor. Letters patent from the governor of the state, issued in pursuance of an act of incorporation, have been held sufficient evidence of the existence of the corporation to enable it to maintain such an action.[28]

(v) Burden of Proof With Respect to Corporate Existence. Where the governing statute makes certain formalities prima facie evidence of a due organization, and those formalities appear, the burden of showing defects rests upon those who challenge the corporate existence.[29]

(vi) Corporate Existence Admitted by Pleading General Issue or General Denial. Here, as in other actions, if defendant pleads the general issue at common law or the general denial under the codes, he thereby admits the legal capacity of plaintiff to sue, and this rule has been held to obtain in an action by a corporation upon a subscription to its stock.[30]

b. Books and Records of Corporation as Evidence — (i) Are Always Evidence Against Corporation Itself. The entries in the books and other records kept by the corporation are always evidence against the corporation itself, on the ground of being solemn, self-disserving admissions against its own existence. For example they are constantly referred to for the purpose proving the fact of the existence of the corporation.[31] While according to one holding a corporate record recorded in a public office, as required by law, is conclusive evidence to show that a particular person is a shareholder, raising an estoppel against the corporation from proving the contrary,[32] yet the only sound opinion is that such records are prima facie evidence against the corporation, but subject to explanation, and to such proof under particular conditions as may destroy their effect.[33]

(ii) Not Admissible to Connect Stranger With Corporation. While as between members of the corporation its books and records are prima facie evidence of all corporate acts therein recorded, yet there is no principle on which they can be used as against a stranger to connect him with the corporation,[34] unless, as sometimes in England, they are made evidence of this fact by an act of the legislature.[35]

27. Black River, etc., R. Co. v. Clarke, 25 N. Y. 208.

28. Grubb v. Mahoning Nav. Co., 14 Pa. St. 302. So held in regard to letters-patent of the governor of Pennsylvania, in respect of a corporation created by an act of the legislature of that state in Wellersburg, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Young, 12 Md. 476.

Articles of association duly certified by the secretary of state are prima facie evidence as to the amount of capital stock that has been subscribed. Jewell v. Rock River Paper Co., 101 Ill. 57.

29. Thus under a statute of Connecticut making a certified copy of the original certificate of organization of any joint-stock corporation prima facie evidence of the due formation, existence, and capacity of such corporation (Conn. Gen. Stat. p. 439, § 23), where the shareholders, after the filing of the certificate of organization, seek to take advantage of any defect in the organization, in a suit against the corporation upon its contracts, the burden of showing any defect rests upon them. Wood v. Wiley Constr. Co., 56 Conn. 87, 13 Atl. 137.

30. Rockland, etc., Steamboat Co. v. Sewall, 78 Me. 167, 3 Atl. 181; Kenton Furnace R., etc., Co. v. McAlpin, 5 Fed. 737. A plea of the general issue admits the competency of plaintiff to sue as a corporation. Society for Propagation of Gospel v. Pawlet, 4 Pet. (U. S.) 480, 7 L. ed. 927. But it admits that fact only; it does not admit that it was organized under a certain law, but plaintiff, a creditor suing a shareholder, must prove such fact. Gay v. Keys, 30 Ill. 413. In a suit against a shareholder by an assignee in bankruptcy of the corporation, a plea of the general issue admits the existence of the corporation. Pullman v. Upton, 96 U. S. 328, 24 L. ed. 818.

31. Hudson v. Carman, 41 Me. 84.

32. Stratton v. Lyons, 53 Vt. 130.

33. Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654.

34. Terry v. Birmingham Nat. Bank, 93 Ala. 599, 9 So. 299, 30 Am. St. Rep. 87; Mudgett v. Horrell, 33 Cal. 25; Chase v. Sycamore, etc., R. Co., 38 Ill. 215; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Acts, 3 De G. J. & S. 465, 68 Eng. Ch. 351; Angell & A. Corp. 679; Greenleaf Ev. § 493.

35. Bristol, etc., Canal Nav. Co. v. Amos, 1 M. & S. 569. See the opinion of Sawyer, J.,

(III) Are Evidence of Acceptance of Subscription. It has been held in such an action that the minutes of a meeting of the directors of the corporation, while not binding on the alleged subscriber, are nevertheless admissible in evidence to show an acceptance by the corporation of his proposal to take stock.[36]

(IV) Admissible Against One Who Has Exercised Privileges of Shareholder. The test being that the person against whom such records are admitted must have stood in such a relation to the corporation as to be chargeable with knowledge of such records, it follows that the records kept by the clerk of a railroad corporation of the proceedings of the directors, in ordering assessments upon the shares of the capital stock, may be used as evidence by the corporation, in a suit brought by them to recover an assessment upon the shares subscribed for by defendant, he being one of the original grantees in the charter, and a director at the time the assessment was ordered, and having exercised the privileges of a shareholder in virtue of the shares upon which the assessment was made.[37]

(V) View That Such Records Are Presumptive Evidence of Membership—(A) In General. Some of the courts have fallen down upon the absurd and unjust rule that where the name of an individual appears upon the books of the corporation as a shareholder this fact is prima facie evidence of his being the owner of the shares, casting the burden on him to show that such is not the fact,[38] a rule which rests upon no higher principle than this: If one person marks another down in his private books as his debtor, this puts the latter, or his estate after his death, to the burden and expense of proving that such is not the fact; a rule which has the further effect of raising the records of private corporations to a level not accorded to solemn judicial records; for a judgment is not admissible in evidence against a person who was not a party to the proceeding, for the purpose of disposing of his substantial rights.[39] Nor in general can one of the parties to a private contract prove the existence of the contract by his own private memorandum or records.[40]

(B) But Subject to Contradiction and Explanation by Parol—(1) In General. But even if the books of a corporation can be received as presumptive evidence to prove that a particular person was a shareholder, such presumption may be overcome by parol testimony showing that he never accepted, but refused to accept, stock in the company.[41] But parol evidence will not be heard to show that a person had at a certain time by transferring his shares ceased to be a shareholder; the books of the corporation only will be looked to.[42] An alleged subscriber, sued upon his alleged contract of subscription, may introduce extracts from the minutes of the proceedings of the company, in connection with oral in White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124, where he undertook to state the tests by which to determine the admissibility of such records.

36. Colfax Hotel Co. v. Lyon, 69 Iowa 683, 29 N. W. 780.

37. White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124.

38. Alabama.— Lehman v. Glenn, 87 Ala. 618, 6 So. 44.

California.— Mudgett v. Horrell, 33 Cal. 25.

Indiana.— Heaston v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 275, 79 Am. Dec. 430.

Maine.— Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Merrill v. Walker, 24 Me. 237; Coffin v. Collins, 17 Me. 440.

New York.— Hoagland v. Bell, 36 Barb. 57; Hamilton, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Rice, 7 Barb. 157.

United States.— Turnbull v. Payson, 95 U. S. 418, 24 L. ed. 437; Rockville, etc., Turnpike Road v. Van Ness, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,986, 2 Cranch C. C. 449.

39. Strauss v. Ayres, 87 Mo. 348; McKinney v. Guhman, 38 Mo. App. 344; Griffith v. Gillum, 31 Mo. App. 33; Holladay v. Menifee, 30 Mo. App. 207.

40. See Anchor Milling Co. v. Walsh, 37 Mo. App. 567; Hensgen v. Donnelly, 24 Mo. App. 398, on the question when books of account should be admitted in evidence.

The ordinary mode of making proof in actions for assessments under the rule that the corporate records are prima facie evidence for defendant is explained in Turnbull v. Payson, 95 U. S. 418, 24 L. ed. 437, opinion by Clifford, J.

41. Mudgett v. Horrell, 33 Cal. 25; Matter of Joint-Stock Co.'s Acts, 3 De G. J. & S. 465, 68 Eng. Ch. 351.

42. Stanley v. Stanley, 26 Me. 191. See also infra, VII, D, 5, a, (I) et seq.; VIII, N, 9, a, (I) et seq.

evidence, in which appeared two statements of lists of subscribers without defendant's name.[43]

(2) Exception Not Applicable in Case of Records to Which Defendant Is Privy. The view expressed in the preceding section would not of course be the correct view where the book which is offered in evidence is one to which defendant is privy. Thus if it is the original subscription book, and what purports to be his name appears as a subscriber therein, and such book is the foundation of the action, and he does not deny his signature on oath, as required by the statute, the book is competent evidence against him, provided it is sufficiently identified;[44] and it has been held that it is sufficiently identified where the clerk of the corporation swears that it came to him together with the other books of the corporation.[45] So where evidence has been given fixing the character of defendant as a subscriber or shareholder, the books and records of the corporation are admissible for the purpose of proving that an assessment by the directors has been made, and the amount of the same; and indeed they are the best evidence of such facts.[46] Accordingly, where defendant was shown to have been one of the original grantees named in the charter, and a director of the corporation at the time when the assessment was ordered, and that he had exercised the privileges of a shareholder in virtue of the shares of which the assessment was made, there was of course no difficulty in holding that the records kept by the clerk of the corporation of the proceedings of the directors in ordering assessments were admissible in evidence against him.[47] Moreover, in such action the records of the corporation are competent evidence, generally the best evidence, to show that the corporation has done certain acts, proof of which may be material under the issues.[48] They may also be admissible to show that the number of shares has been subscribed to warrant the subscribers in proceeding with the organization of the corporation under the governing statute.[49]

(vi) Such Records Evidence in Case of Successive Transfers. But where the shares have been transferred from one shareholder to another, and the question is, as between the successive shareholders, who shall be answerable to the creditors of the corporation, then as hereafter seen[50] the rule is that he whose name stands as shareholder on the corporate records must answer, although in fact another was the equitable owner, who has transferred it as pledge to the person sought to be charged.[51]

(vii) Admissibility of Corporate Books Transcribed From Original Subscription Papers. Where subscriptions to corporate shares are taken upon separate pieces of paper and are afterward transcribed in a book of the corporation,

43. Stuart v. Valley R. Co., 32 Gratt. (Va.) 146.

44. Breedlove v. Martinsville, etc., R. Co., 12 Ind. 114.

45. Breedlove v. Martinsville, etc., R. Co., 12 Ind. 114.

46. The books of the corporation are admissible to prove the amount of the assessment against one who claims under an original corporator. Comfort v. Leland, 3 Whart. (Pa.) 81. Under Tex. Rev. Stat. art. 586, requiring corporations to keep a record of all business transactions, and article 601, making such records or copies thereof competent evidence, the best evidence of an assessment made by the directors is the record of the order or resolution of the board of directors. Guadalupe, etc., Stock Assoc. v. West, 76 Tex. 461, 13 S. W. 307.

47. White Mountains R. Co. v. Eastman, 34 N. H. 124.

48. See 6 Thompson Corp. § 7734.

49. Penobscot, etc., R. Co. v. Dunn, 39 Me. 587.

50. See infra, VIII, M, 1, a.

51. Holyoke Bank v. Burnham, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 183; Empire City Bank's Case, 8 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 192. See Grew v. Breed, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 569; Crease v. Babcock, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 525. The statutes of Maine are to be construed as making the transfer-books of a corporation conclusive so far as creditors are concerned, as to who are to be considered shareholders. Stanley v. Stanley, 26 Me. 191. But where the controversy is as to the right to vote at a corporate election under a statute of New York, the court may go behind the entries in the transfer-book of the corporation, and determine whether a transfer was a sale or only a pledge, and whether the pledger or the pledgee was entitled to vote thereon. Strong v. Smith, 15 Hun (N. Y.) 222. But see supra, IV, F, 3, b.

the book will be evidence, in an action to charge an alleged subscriber, of the fact of his being such.[52]

(VIII) Effect of Failure to Deny Under Oath. In some remedial systems the entries on the records of the corporation showing that he is a shareholder are evidence against him, unless his answer contains a plea in the nature of non est factum, denying under oath the fact of his subscription, a plea denying it, but not under oath, not being good.[53]

(IX) Corporate Records Not Evidence Against Shareholder in Respect of Private Dealings. The books of a corporation are not admissible against a member, as evidence of his private contracts and dealings with the company, even in a suit against him by a creditor,[54] as a "stock-book" introduced to show entries of assessments.[55] Unless the shareholder is connected with such records by other evidence than by merely showing that he is a shareholder, they are not in general competent evidence in themselves to establish an action or claim against him; and this has been held even in a case where defendant was a trustee as well as a shareholder.[56]

c. Other Evidence of Membership — (I) Effect of Charter as Evidence. The charter of a corporation, issued by an officer of the state under a general law, is prima facie evidence that the persons named therein were members of the corporation at the commencement of its existence.[57] If the charter authorizes the corporation to take subscriptions for stock, without specifying in what manner, it is sufficient evidence, in a suit on such subscription, no proof being offered to the contrary, that the corporation was authorized to enter into the contract with defendant.[58] From the principle already discussed,[59] that the governing statute enters into and forms a part of the contract of subscription, it must follow that where this statute is in the form of a special act of the legislature, chartering the company, or in the form of articles of incorporation under a general law, in every 52. Hayden v. Atlanta Cotton Factory, 61 Ga. 233; Iowa, etc., R. Co. v. Perkins, 28 Iowa 281; Stuart v. Valley R. Co., 32 Gratt. (Va.) 146.

Plaintiff corporation may, it has been held, produce in evidence a subscription paper by which the signers bind themselves to pay for the shares opposite their names, plaintiff having stated its intention to show that the amount so subscribed was entered on its stock-list and ledger. It may then introduce such stock ledger and shareholders' list, compiled from subscription lists like the above, and from a memorandum, made by an agent appointed to collect quotas; and this, although defendant offers to prove that he had withdrawn his proposal to subscribe before the books were in existence. Stuart v. Valley R. Co., 32 Gratt. (Va.) 146. So where, in a suit by a corporation on a stock subscription, the defense was that the agreed number of shares had not been bona fide subscribed so as to make the subscription binding, it was held that the original subscription book, made up by copying from lists which were carried around to solicit subscriptions and accepted by the directors, was admissible. Hayden v. Atlanta Cotton Factory, 61 Ga. 233. The theory of these holdings is that the person so taking the subscriptions is impliedly constituted the agent of the subscribers for the purpose of entering their names in the formal books adopted for the purpose. Iowa, etc., R. Co. v. Perkins, 28 Iowa 281.

53. Thigpen v. Mississippi Cent. R. Co., 32 Miss. 347.

54. Hager v. Cleveland, 36 Md. 476.

55. Haynes v. Brown, 36 N. H. 545.

56. Rudd v. Robinson, 126 N. Y. 113, 26 N. E. 1046, 36 N. Y. St. 500, 22 Am. St. Rep. 816, 12 L. R. A. 473.

Records of public commissioners appointed to organize corporations.— This mode of organizing private corporations has substantially gone out of existence, and consequently the question of the admissibility of the records of such commissioners has become unimportant. Allusion may, however, be made to the rule that the subscription books kept by such commissioners are presumptive evidence that the subscriptions therein contained are genuine, that is to say made by the persons named therein or by persons duly authorized by them.

Connecticut.— Lane v. Brainerd, 30 Conn. 565.

Georgia.—Wood v. Coosa, etc., R. Co., 32 Ga. 273.

Illinois.— Peake v. Wabash R. Co., 18 Ill. 88.

Massachusetts.— Marlborough Branch R. Co. v. Arnold, 9 Gray 159, 69 Am. Dec. 279.

Mississippi.— Smith v. Natchez Steamboat Co., 1 How. 479.

57. McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32.

58. Wellersburg, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Young, 12 Md. 476.

59. See supra, VI, H, 2; VI, H, 20, b.

case where the relation of shareholder is established the charter is evidence against him, provided it is relevant to the issues.[60]

(II) Evidence of Assent to, or Acceptance of, Charter. A special statute incorporating certain persons for purposes of private advantage or emolument does not bind any person named therein unless he consents thereto.[61] Accordingly it has been held that where a partnership becomes incorporated there must be some act or expression to signify their acceptance of the charter, in order to charge the several members as corporators.[62] So where it did not appear that defendants had in any manner signified their refusal to accept a charter incorporating a voluntary association, they were held not to be incorporators; but it must be noted that they were not named in the charter.[63] So an act of the legislature by which "the members of" several mutual fire-insurance companies are made a new corporation, and which "shall not affect the legal rights of any person" and is to take effect "when accepted by the members of said corporation," does not constitute a member of one of the old companies, who does not expressly assent to it, a member of the new corporation, although the act be duly accepted by a majority of the members of each of the old companies.[64]

(III) The Usual Evidence. The usual evidence is that defendant signed the subscription paper, attended corporate meetings, and voted for directors.[65]

(IV) Declarations and Admissions of Party and Others. If a party admits himself to be a subscriber, and on the faith of such admission others have acted for his benefit, he will be estopped from subsequently denying that he did in fact subscribe.[66]

(V) What Is Sufficient Evidence of Acceptance of Proposal by Corporation. Where, in an action on a stock subscription, it appeared that defendant subscribed to the capital of the corporation, which had been created for building a seminary, but after the seminary was built refused to pay his subscription, it was held that the delivery of the subscription, the demand of payment, and the subsequent suit to recover the same, were sufficient evidence of acceptance of the subscription by the corporation.[67]

(VI) When Certified Copy of Subscription Is Not Evidence. Where there is no law authorizing a paper containing the subscription to the capital

60. Scovill v. Thayer, 105 U. S. 143, 26 L. ed. 968.

61. Ellis v. Marshall, 2 Mass. 269, 3 Am. Dec. 49.

62. Haslett v. Wotherspoon, 1 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 209.

63. Southern Steam Packet Co. v. Magrath, McMull. Eq. (S. C.) 93.

64. Hamilton Mut. Ins. Co. v. Hobart, 2 Gray (Mass.) 543.

But where a corporation organized under a general law was subsequently reincorporated under a special charter, it was held that, although the original subscription may have been made to the stock of the corporation formed under the general law, yet, if the subsequent act of incorporation was accepted, and, by consent and general understanding, the stock subscribed for in the first corporation was allowed to stand and be treated as stock in the second corporation, its holders would be as effectually shareholders in this corporation as if they had become such by a new subscription, and their receipt of dividends on their stock would be evidence of an unequivocal character. Hammond v. Straus, 53 Md. 1.

65. Lexington, etc., R. Co. v. Chandler, 13 Mete. (Mass.) 311.

Evidence sufficient to show that the person sought to be charged as a shareholder was such is disclosed by the facts of the following cases: Ross v. Gold Hill Bank, 20 Nev. 191, 19 Pac. 243; New Hampshire Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300; Vanderwerken v. Glenn, 85 Va. 9, 6 S. E. 806; Thayer v. Butler, 141 U. S. 234, 11 S. Ct. 987, 35 L. ed. 711; Pacific Nat. Bank v. Eaton, 141 U. S. 227, 11 S. Ct. 984, 35 L. ed. 702; Aspinwall v. Butler, 133 U. S. 595, 10 S. Ct. 417, 33 L. ed. 779.

66. Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489. But not so as to the declaration of another subscriber that he did not intend to pay for his shares, for the purpose of showing fraud on the part of the corporation (Hayden v. Atlanta Cotton Factory, 61 Ga. 233); or as to the declaration of a commissioner authorized by an act of the legislature to receive subscriptions, that a particular individual subscribed for a stated number of shares and paid the first instalment, for the purpose of proving the fact of the subscription, after the death of the commissioner (Western Maryland R. Co. v. Manro, 32 Md. 280).

67. Richmondville Union Seminary v. McDonald, 34 N. Y. 379.

stock of a corporation to be filed in the office of the secretary of state, a copy thereof, certified under the seal of the secretary of state, is not admissible as prima facie evidence, in a suit by the corporation to charge defendant as a shareholder.[68]

(VII) Certificate of Secretary of Corporation. Charters have been granted which contain the provision that the certificate of the secretary of the company shall be evidence of any act or order of the directors. This, it has been held, requires a certificate in totidem verbis, and that the secretary cannot certify that a "sufficient" call was made; and his certificate that he "published notice" of the calls is not admissible in evidence.[69]

d. Other Points of Evidence[70] — (I) Genuineness of Other Signatures to Subscription Papers. It is not essential to the company's right of action against a subscriber to show that the other signatures to the contract are genuine. The reason is that his promise is several and is not conditioned, by the terms of the contract, upon the fact of their subscribing.[71] But of course if fictitious names have been put down for the fraudulent purpose of inducing him to subscribe, that is matter of defense which he may plead and prove.[72]

(II) Subscription by Agent or Attorney. A party may of course become bound as a shareholder where another person subscribes his name for shares at his request; and a statute making it unlawful for any person to subscribe for shares in the name of other persons does not exclude a bona fide subscription by an attorney in the name of his principal.[73] Whether a person who without authority assumes to subscribe for shares in a corporation in the name of another thereby renders himself liable as a shareholder has been affirmed[74] and denied.[75]

(III) Burden of Proof. If the subscription is made upon a valid condition precedent[76] the burden is upon the corporation to show compliance with the condition on its part, or a waiver of compliance by defendant.[77] But if the defense of the subscriber is payment, or something done which is the equivalent of payment or satisfaction, then, upon a well-understood rule,[78] the burden is on defendant.[79]

6. Defenses — a. Defense of Want of Corporate Existence — (I) Defense That Corporation Was Not Properly Organized — (A) In General. The general rule is that the subscriber cannot, when sued by the corporation to enforce his contract of subscription, set up as a defense an irregularity in the organization of the corporation;[80] and the same rule obtains where the action is

68. Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 581. Compare Bouchaud v. Dias, 3 Den. (N. Y.) 238; Jackson v. Leggett, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 377; Dick v. Balch, 8 Pet. (U. S.) 30, 8 L. ed. 856.

69. Tomlin v. Tonica, etc., R. Co., 23 Ill. 429.

Certificate to exempt member from jury duty.— Certificate of such secretary under a statute, of the fact of being an active member, to entitle him to exemption from jury duty. State v. Primm, 50 Mo. 87.

70. Evidence of the value of the stock irrelevant. South Georgia, etc., R. Co. v. Ayres, 56 Ga. 230.

Not necessary to prove that directors were duly elected — sufficient that they were such de facto. Rockville, etc., Turnpike Road v. Van Ness, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,986, 2 Cranch C. C. 449.

71. Richmondville Union Seminary v. McDonald, 34 N. Y. 379.

72. See supra, VI, K, 3, c.

73. State v. Lehre, 7 Rich. (S. C.) 234.

74. Burr v. Wilcox, 22 N. Y. 551 [affirming 6 Bosw. (N. Y.) 198]; State v. Smith, 48 Vt. 266. Compare Molson's Bank v. Boardman, 47 Hun (N. Y.) 135.

75. Salem Mill Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 187, 19 Am. Dec. 363, where it is said that while the corporation cannot maintain an action against him for an assessment it can maintain a special action on the case against him for the wrong done.

76. See supra, VI, J, 2, a et seq.

77. Central Turnpike Corp. v. Valentine, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 142. Compare Salem Mill Dam Corp. v. Ropes, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 23.

78. Greenleaf Ev. § 74.

79. Denny v. Northwestern Christian University, 16 Ind. 220.

80. Alabama.— Central Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Alabama Gold L. Ins. Co., 70 Ala. 120.

Illinois.— Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240.

Kentucky.— Wight v. Shelby R. Co., 16 B. Mon. 4, 63 Am. Dec. 522; Hughes v. Somerset Bank, 5 Litt. 45.

Louisiana.— East Pascagoula Hotel Co. v. West, 13 La. Ann. 545.

Michigan.— Monroe v. Ft. Wayne, etc., R.

brought by or on behalf of creditors of the corporation.[81] So, in an action by an insolvent corporation to collect an assessment for the purpose of paying their debts, the interests of the creditors will be so far regarded that no defense grounded on defects in the organization of the corporation can be maintained, unless it could have been successfully set up in answer to a creditor's bill against the shareholders to enforce their personal liability.[82]

(B) Provided There Was a Corporation De Facto. Many of the cases qualify this rule with the proviso that there is a corporation de facto, although informally [83] or even illegally [84] organized. The doctrine is universally settled that a corporation may exist de facto, although not de jure. It may have an existence which will be perfectly valid in so far as the rights of third persons are concerned, but which nevertheless cannot be maintained against the state. That is, it may exist so long as the state acquiesces and does not institute proceedings to oust it.[85] But as there can be no de facto office to fill,[86] so there can be no de facto corporation where the pretended corporation is one which the law does not authorize to exist at all, but one the existence of which it prohibits. Accordingly the reasoning is that when it is shown that a charter has been granted, then those in possession and actually exercising the corporate rights will be considered as rightfully there, against wrong-doers, and against all those who have treated or acted with them in their corporate character; that the sovereign alone has a right to complain, since if it is a usurpation, it is upon his rights and his acquiescence is evidence that all things have been rightfully performed.[87] And the same reasoning would apply where there is a general law authorizing the organization of such a corporation as the one which brings the action. In short this principle may be invoked against one who has subscribed for stock in a body which has attempted irregularly to create itself a corporation.[88]

(C) Validity of Corporate Organization Questionable Only by State. With this qualification, either expressed or tacitly implied, the courts reason that the Co., 28 Mich. 272; Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389.

Missouri.— Home Stock Ins. Co. v. Sherwood, 72 Mo. 461; Central Plankroad Co. v. Clemens, 16 Mo. 359.

New York.— Cayuga Lake R. Co. v. Kyle, 64 N. Y. 185; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119 [affirming 6 Duer 176, 3 Abb. Pr. 417, 13 How. Pr. 184]; Schenectady, etc., Plank Road R. Co. v. Thatcher, 11 N. Y. 102.

Pennsylvania.— Patterson v. Wyomissing Mfg. Co., 40 Pa. St. 117; Edinboro' Academy v. Robinson, 37 Pa. St. 210, 78 Am. Dec. 421.

United States.— Rockville, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Van Ness, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,986, 2 Cranch C. C. 449.

81. Alabama.— McDonnell v. Alabama Gold L. Ins. Co., 85 Ala. 401, 5 So. 120.

Georgia.— But see Heard v. Sibley, 52 Ga. 310.

Illinois.— Baker v. Backus, 32 Ill. 79.

Maryland.—Booth v. Campbell, 37 Md. 522.

New York.— Methodist Episcopal Union Church v. Pickett, 19 N. Y. 482.

Rhode Island.— Slocum v. Providence Steam, etc., Co., 10 R. I. 112.

United States.— Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523; Upton v. Hansbrough, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,801, 3 Biss. 417.

82. Ossipee Hosiery, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Canney, 54 N. H. 295.

83. Monroe v. Ft. Wayne, etc., R. Co., 28 Mich. 272; Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389; Montpelier, etc., R. Co. v. Langdon, 46 Vt. 284.

84. Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119.

85. Central Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Alabama Gold L. Ins. Co., 70 Ala. 120; Lehmau v. Warner, 61 Ala. 455. See also Baker v. Backus, 32 Ill. 79.

86. Jester v. Spurgeon, 27 Mo. App. 477.

87. Elizabeth City Academy v. Lindsey, 28 N. C. 476, 45 Am. Dec. 500; Tar River Nav. Co. v. Neal, 10 N. C. 520. To the same effect see Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. Johnston, 70 N. C. 348; Wilmington, etc., R. Co. v. Saunders, 48 N. C. 126.

88. Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 667, 24 L. ed. 523, per Hunt, J.

Illustrative cases, among others, may be found in South Georgia, etc., R. Co. v. Ayres, 56 Ga. 230; Appleton Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Jesser, 5 Allen (Mass.) 446; Monroe v. Ft. Wayne, etc., R. Co., 28 Mich. 272; Cayuga Lake R. Co. v. Kyle, 64 N. Y. 185.

Theories as to what is necessary to constitute a corporation de facto have been already considered. See supra, I, O. See especially Gantt, J., in Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416, 420; Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75 [quoted with approval in Abbott v. Omaha Smelting, etc., Co., 4 Nebr. 416].

validity of the organization of the corporation can be questioned only in a direct proceeding against the corporation by the state.[89]

(D) Shareholders Estopped to Deny Corporate Organization — (1) IN GENERAL. Many of the cases rest the same conclusion on the ground that the shareholder is estopped by his conduct from denying the fact of the regularity or legality of the organization of the corporation.[90]

(2) IN WHAT MANNER ESTOPPEL ARISES. Where the corporation was in pretended existence at the time when the subscription was made, and the subscriber contracted with it in its corporate name, and thereby recognized its corporate existence, within the meaning of a rule elsewhere discussed,[91] as for instance where the subscriber executed his note to the corporation for his subscription, using its corporate name as payee,[92] especially if the note has been assigned by the corporation to a third person.[93] The rule under this head is not confined to actions by the corporation against its own shareholders to enforce their contracts of subscription; but it extends to any case of an action by a corporation against any one who has contracted with the corporation in its corporate name, and it may be stated thus: (1) A person who has contracted with a body in writing, by a corporate name, when sued upon the instrument in the same name, is estopped to deny that the payee or obligee is such a corporation.[94] (2) Where the subscriber has participated in the organization of the corporation, in its meetings, in its business, or has otherwise acted in reference to it in virtue of being a shareholder,[95]

89. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344.

Illinois.— Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240; Rice v. Rock Island, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 93.

Kentucky.— Hughes v. Somerset Bank, 5 Litt. 45.

Massachusetts.— Appleton Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Jesser, 5 Allen 446; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128.

Michigan.— Swartwout v. Michigan Air Line R. Co., 24 Mich. 389.

New York.— Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119.

90. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344.

Connecticut.— Lane v. Brainerd, 30 Conn. 565.

Illinois.— Tarbell v. Page, 24 Ill. 46; Rice v. Rock Island, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 93.

Kansas.— McCune Min. Co. v. Adams, 35 Kan. 193, 10 Pac. 468.

Kentucky.— Ferguson v. Landram, 5 Bush 230, 96 Am. Dec. 350.

Massachusetts.— Holyoke Bank v. Goodman Paper Mfg. Co., 9 Cush. 576; Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128.

Michigan.—Parker v. Northern Cent. Michigan R. Co., 33 Mich. 23.

New York.— Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119; Abbott v. Aspinwall, 26 Barb. 202; Mead v. Keeler, 24 Barb. 20, 25.

Pennsylvania.— McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32.

United States.— Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S. 673, 680, 24 L. ed. 168, 307.

See also Slocum v. Warren, 10 R. I. 116, where there is a long and valuable discussion of this principle of estoppel in the opinion of the court, by Durfee, J., in which numerous authorities are examined, resulting in the conclusion that a shareholder proceeded against by a creditor of the corporation could not set up, in order to escape liability, the defense that the corporation had not come into existence by reason of its failing to pay into the treasury of the state the statutory tax or fee consisting of one hundred dollars.

91. Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459. See also supra, I, N, 1, b.

92. Lucas Market Sav. Bank v. Goldsoll, 8 Mo. App. 595.

93. Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240.

94. Illinois.— Goodrich v. Reynolds, 31 Ill. 490, 83 Am. Dec. 240; Rice v. Rock Island, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 93.

Indiana.— Brookville, etc., Turnpike Co. v. McCarty, 8 Ind. 392, 65 Am. Dec. 768.

Kentucky.— Hughes v. Somerset Bank, 5 Litt. 45.

Massachusetts.— Worcester Medical Inst. v. Harding, 11 Cush. 285.

Missouri.— Hamtramck v. Edwardsville Bank, 2 Mo. 169.

New York.— Dutchess Cotton Manufactory v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459.

On the question of estoppel see the following analogous decisions: Burlington v. Gilbert, 31 Iowa 366, 7 Am. Rep. 143; In re Sharp, 56 N. Y. 257, 15 Am. Rep. 415; Bidwell v. Pittsburgh, 85 Pa. St. 412, 27 Am. Rep. 662, and cases cited.

95. Alabama.— Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344.

Kansas.— Hunt v. Kansas, etc., Bridge Co., 11 Kan. 412.

Massachusetts.— Cabot, etc., Bridge v. Chapin, 6 Cush. 50.

Missouri.— Central Plankroad Co. v. Clemens, 16 Mo. 359.

in which case as already seen [96] the estoppel extends so far as to prevent him from denying that the assessment was duly made. (3) Where the rights of creditors of the corporation have supervened,[97] a subject reserved for future treatment, for instance, where the subscriber gives his promissory note in settlement of his subscription and it passes into the hands of an innocent holder for value before maturity,[98] although this rather concerns an immunity which attaches to negotiable paper. Where the proceeding is by a creditor to enforce the individual liability of the shareholder, this principle of estoppel extends so far as to prevent him from setting up the unconstitutionality of the charter as his defense.[99]

(E) Principle Limited to Corporations Which May Lawfully Exist. As already seen,[1] the limitation of the rule which upholds the acts of de facto corporations is that it applies only to corporations which might lawfully exist; otherwise the courts would be called upon to sanction usurpations of corporate privileges and violations of positive law, which courts will not in general do, even where both parties to a controversy request it.[2]

(F) Constitutionality of Charter or Governing Statute. Notwithstanding the foregoing, on grounds of public convenience and necessity, it has been held that the rule which prohibits the trial of the question of corporate existence in a collateral proceeding extends so far as to prevent the constitutionality of the act of incorporation from being drawn into question even where the attempt is made by the corporation.[3] So it has been held that a shareholder in a corporation who has participated in its organization and acted as a director cannot set up the unconstitutionality of the statute under which the organization was had, as a defense to the payment of his stock subscription.[4] For stronger reasons the principle of estoppel will prevent the shareholder of a corporation, whose charter is repugnant to the constitution of the state, and hence void, from urging that fact when sued in respect of his individual liability to creditors under the charter.[5]

(G) Defense That Charter Was Obtained by Fraud. It cannot be shown as a defense to such an action that the charter of the company was obtained by fraud, and it is proper to exclude evidence tendered for this purpose, provided it appear that the shareholder participated in the business of the company, voted to accept an amendment of its charter, acted as a director, etc.[6] But it has been held that "where a charter has been obtained by means of fictitious subscriptions for part of the stock, and a fraud has been committed on a bona fide subscriber, by which he has either sustained or might sustain injury, no action can be maintained against him by the corporation for the amount of his subscription, unless such subscriber has accepted the charter, and by his own acts has assisted in putting it in operation."[7] In the same case the doctrine on which we are commenting was said not to apply in cases where the corporation never had any legal existence, but was a sham, and where a large portion of the stock was fraudulently and fictitiously created, for the mere purpose of being used as a decoy to induce other people to subscribe. Accordingly where the affidavits required by the law as a condition precedent to the issuing of the license by the secretary of state were shown never to have been filed, and where the five thousand dollars in

New York.— Dutchess Cotton Manufactory Co. v. Davis, 14 Johns. 238, 7 Am. Dec. 459.

Pennsylvania.—Clark v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 10 Watts 364; Centre, etc., Turnpike Co. v. McConaby, 16 Serg. & R. 140.

England.— Cheltenham, etc., R. Co. v. Daniel, 2 Q. B. 281, 2 R. & Can. Cas. 728, 42 E. C. L. 675; Sheffield, etc., R. Co. v. Woodcock, 11 L. J. Exch. 26, 7 M. & W. 578.

96. See supra, I, K, 6, a; VI, H, 13, d; VI, J, 1, e, (II); VI, J, 2, d, (II); VI, k, 1, g, (II).

97. See infra, VI, P, 6, a, (I), (H).

98. Camp v. Byrne, 41 Mo. 525.

99. McCarthy v. Lavasche, 89 Ill. 270, 31 Am. Rep. 83.

1. See supra, I, O, 2, d.

2. St. Louis Colonization Assoc. v. Hennessy, 11 Mo. App. 555.

3. St. Louis v. Shields, 62 Mo. 247.

4. Weinman v. Wilkinsburg, etc., R. Co., 118 Pa. St. 192, 12 Atl. 288.

5. McCarthy v. Lavasche, 89 Ill. 270, 31 Am. Rep. 83.

6. Smith v. Heidecker, 39 Mo. 157.

7. Occidental Ins. Co. v. Ganzhorn, 2 Mo. App. 205, 208.

cash of the capital stock, as required by the statute, had not been paid in by the subscribers at the time the license was issued, it was held that the corporation could not maintain an action against a subscriber to enforce his stock subscription.[8]

(H) Shareholders Estopped as Against Creditors From Setting Up Their Own Incorporation. When the shareholders in a body which has acted and held itself out as a corporation are proceeded against by creditors, they are equally estopped by their own conduct from denying that they are a corporation;[9] for it would be palpably wrong to permit a defendant, who is one of the owners of the capital stock of a de facto corporation, which operates and sues for his benefit, to set up a failure of its organizers to perform a duty initiatory to its legal existence, when plaintiff, if sued by the corporation for defendant's benefit, could not set up the same fact as a defense to the suit.[10] "Their own acts," says Brickell, C. J., "vitalized the corporation, gave it credit, invited and induced dealings with it; and it is true conservatism, and sound policy, promotive of right and equity, to seal their lips against contradiction and denial of that which they must be taken to have affirmed, to the injury of strangers who have trusted the affirmation."[11]

(I) Estoppel to Set Up Non-Existence of Corporation at Time of Subscription. In their struggles with this question[12] the courts have sometimes rested their conclusions on the ground that in such a case as in others, the shareholder, when sued by the corporation, is estopped from denying its lawful existence;[13] and this principle of estoppel comes into play with stronger force where the action against a shareholder is by or on behalf of the creditors of the corporation.[14]

(J) Estoppel to Set Up Dissolution of Corporation Where Proceeding Is on Behalf of Creditors. Where the proceeding is by or on behalf of creditors, it is totally immaterial that as soon as the indebtedness was created the corporation

8. Occidental Ins. Co. v. Ganzhorn, 2 Mo. App. 205. See also Wells v. Jones, 41 Mo. App. 1.

9. Illinois.— McCarthy v. Lavasche, 89 Ill. 270, 31 Am. Rep. 83; Wheelock v. Kost, 77 Ill. 296; Tarbell v. Page, 24 Ill. 46; Rice v. Rock Island, etc., R. Co., 21 Ill. 93.

New York.— Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Cary, 26 N. Y. 75; Methodist Episcopal Union Church v. Pickett, 19 N. Y. 482; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119; Abbott v. Aspinwall, 26 Barb. 202; Mead v. Keeler, 24 Barb. 20.

Pennsylvania.— McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32.

Rhode Island.—Slocum v. Providence Steam, etc., Co., 10 R. I. 112.

United States.— Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523; Upton v. Hansbrough, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,801, 3 Biss. 417.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 92.

10. Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119.

11. Central Agricultural, etc., Assoc. v. Alabama Gold L. Ins. Co., 70 Ala. 120, 133. And see McCarthy v. Lavasche, 89 Ill. 270, 31 Am. Rep. 83.

Instances where defense of no incorporation has been held unavailable.— Without entering into impracticable details, the following cases may be referred to as presenting instances where the defense of no incorporation has been held unavailable, either on grounds of estoppel or on other grounds, to the shareholder in an action to recover assessments or otherwise to enforce his contract of subscription, either in favor of the corporation or its creditors.

Illinois.— Tarbell v. Page, 24 Ill. 46.

Massachusetts.— Merrick v. Reynolds Engine, etc., Co., 101 Mass. 381; Newcomb v. Reed, 12 Allen 362; Dooley v. Cheshire Glass Co., 15 Gray 494; Boston Acid Mfg. Co. v. Moring, 15 Gray 211; Narragansett Bank v. Atlantic Silk Co., 3 Metc. 282.

New York.— Eaton v. Aspinwall, 19 N. Y. 119; Abbott v. Aspinwall, 26 Barb. 202; Mead v. Keeler, 24 Barb. 20.

Pennsylvania.— McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32; Patterson v. Wyomissing Co., 40 Pa. St. 117.

Rhode Island.—Slocum v. Providence Steam, etc., Co., 10 R. I. 112.

United States.— Union Horseshoe Works v. Lewis, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,365, 1 Abb. 518; Upton v. Hansbrough, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,801, 3 Biss. 417.

Instances where this defense was successful.— In the following cases against shareholders this defense of no incorporation was successfully set up. Katama Land Co. v. Holley, 129 Mass. 540; Dorris v. Sweeney, 60 N. Y. 463 (contract made before the formation of the corporation and conditioned upon its formation).

12. See supra, VI, H, 6, d, (VII).

13. Dorris v. French, 4 Hun (N. Y.) 292, 6 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 581.

14. Bell's Appeal, 115 Pa. St. 88, 8 Atl. 177, 2 Am. St. Rep. 532.

had been dissolved by the state on the ground that it never legally existed.[15] For, although by a rule of the common law, a forfeiture of a corporate charter may extinguish all debts due by the corporation, yet the collateral undertaking of the shareholders, under a section of its charter which makes them individually liable for its debts, will remain unimpaired.[16]

(K) Rule Operates to Protect Shareholders of De Facto Corporations From Personal Liability. In the absence of a statutory provision making shareholders liable in case of failure to comply with the requirements of a charter, persons who have contracted with a de facto corporation as a corporation cannot deny its existence in order to charge its shareholders individually as partners.[17]

(L) Whether Shareholder Estopped to Deny Corporate Existence by Reason of Paying One or More Instalments. One court has held that the payment of an instalment on a subscription to its stock is a sufficient recognition of the legal existence and organization of the corporation by the subscriber so paying to enable it to recover the remaining instalments from him.[18] But another has held that in an action to enforce a subscription to corporate stock a declaration that defendant paid all of his subscription except that sued on, which is alleged to have been duly and regularly called in and demand therefor made, payment of which was refused by defendant, does not allege sufficient facts to create an estoppel to dispute the corporate existence.[19]

(M) Shareholder Estopped to Deny Corporate Existence by Attending Meetings, Serving as Director, Etc. Speaking generally it may be said that in an action for an assessment the shareholder will be estopped from denying the existence of the corporation by the fact that he has participated in its organization, attended its meetings, served as a director, or otherwise has knowingly derived benefits which he could not have derived except on the assumption of its valid existence as a corporation,[20] a subject reserved for future consideration. This principle applies with even greater force where the rights of creditors are involved,[21] and especially where there has been a great lapse of time;[22] and so where a consolidation has taken place years before, estopping the shareholder from setting up technical objections to the proceedings taken by the other corporation to effect the consolidation.[23]

(N) Opposing Doctrine That Existence of Corporation Must Be Affirmatively Proved. Some authority is found in the decisions of highly respectable courts to the effect that in actions of this nature, whether by the corporation to recover assessments from its shareholders or on behalf of its creditors, the shareholder will not be estopped to deny the existence of the corporation, but that its existence must be affirmatively proved by plaintiff.[24]

(O) View That Question of No Incorporation Cannot Be Tried Where Proceeding to Collect Subscription Is Brought in Equity. In a case in a court

15. Rowland v. Meader Furniture Co., 38 Ohio St. 269; Gaff v. Flesher, 33 Ohio St. 453.

16. Robinson v. Lane, 19 Ga. 337. See also infra, VIII, P, 1, c, (II), (C).

17. Stout v. Zulick, 48 N. J. L. 599, 7 Atl. 362. Another court has stated the rule which protects them even more broadly, by holding that persons dealing with a corporation which is not legally organized cannot, for this reason, proceed against shareholders who for several years acted as a corporation in good faith, supposing themselves to be incorporated, the state not having moved in the matter. Gartside Coal Co. v. Maxwell, 22 Fed. 197.

18. Maltby v. Northwestern Virginia R. Co., 16 Md. 422.

19. Schloss v. Montgomery Trade Co., 87 Ala. 411, 6 So. 360, 13 Am. St. Rep. 51.

20. Cahot, etc., Bridge v. Chapin, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 50; Schenectady, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Thatcher, 11 N. Y. 102; Rockville, etc., Turnpike Road v. Van Ness, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,986, 2 Cranch C. C. 449.

21. Smith v. Heidecker, 39 Mo. 157; Eaton v. Aspinwall, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 176 [affirmed in 19 N. Y. 119].

22. Mead v. Keeler, 24 Barb. (N. Y.) 20.

23. Wells v. Rodgers, 60 Mich. 525, 27 N. W. 671.

24. Indianapolis Furnace, etc., Co. v. Herkimer, 46 Ind. 142; Hudson v. Carman, 41 Me. 84; Utley v. Union Tool Co., 11 Gray (Mass.) 139; Unity Ins. Co. v. Cram, 43 N. H. 636.

of equity the view has been taken that an allegation that a corporation was not properly organized, and therefore had no authority to collect a subscription made to its capital stock, is a question that can be tried only in a court of law.[25] But while a proceeding to forfeit the charter is necessarily a proceeding at law, yet if such a question can under any circumstances at all be tried in a collateral proceeding against a shareholder, the trial can only be a trial for the purposes of that proceeding, and it is not perceived why such a trial cannot be as well had in a court of equity as in a court at law, if the court otherwise has jurisdiction.[26]

b. Matters Affecting Contract of Subscription — (I) That Subscription Was Feigned and Fraudulent. It will be no defense to an action against a shareholder for an assessment that the subscription was feigned and fraudulent, and that the company was a party to the fraud;[27] or that the shareholders agreed among themselves to issue their stock certificates as "paid up,"[28] since a party will not thus be allowed to set up his own turpitude. But this principle can have no application where the subscriber was innocent and was induced to take the shares by fraud.[29]

(II) That Subscription Paper Was Abandoned. It will be competent to set up as a defense to such an action, and to establish the defense by parol evidence, that the subscription paper which is the subject of the action was abandoned and that a new one was substituted in its place and made the basis of the organization of the company.[30]

(III) Various Irregularities, Illegalities, Etc., in Subscription or Allotment of Shares. The following defenses, which fall under this head, have been held unavailing: The failure of the commissioners to give notice of the time and place of receiving the subscriptions, since the object of the statutory provision for such notice is merely designed to prevent a monopoly of the stock, and the want of notice is therefore no defense to one who does subscribe;[31] that the subscription books were opened upon a notice signed not by all but by a majority only of the original corporators;[32] that some of the subscriptions necessary to make up the requisite amount were improperly made, provided they were accepted bona fide and acted upon by the corporation;[33] that the sum subscribed exceeded the amount intended to be raised, but in such a case the subscriptions of all the subscribers should be paid pro rata;[34] the failure of the agent who received the subscription to return the subscription paper to the home office of the corporation, since this was not necessary to complete the contract of subscription;[35] that the subscription was made before the organization of the company took place;[36] that the stock had never been received by the commissioners, having been delivered to them in escrow merely, inasmuch as that allegation was contradicted and disproved by the record, that is, it was recognized by plaintiff

25. Thompson v. Guion, 58 N. C. 113.

26. 2 Thompson Corp. § 1873.

27. Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489.

28. Wurtzburger v. Anniston Rolling Mills, 94 Ala. 640, 10 So. 129; Goff v. Hawkeye Pump, etc., Co., 62 Iowa 691, 18 N. W. 307. See also Clayton v. Ore Knob Co., 109 N. C. 385, 14 S. E. 36.

29. See supra, VI, K, 1, a (I).

30. Southern Hotel Co. v. Newman, 30 Mo. 118.

31. Hagers-Town Turnpike Road Co. v. Creeger, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 122, 9 Am. Dec. 495. See also Union Turnpike Road Co. v. Jenkins, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 381, 389. In such a case it was held an error to instruct the jury that they might presume that the notice above described was given according to the directions of the law, the court saying: "Where a corporation has gone into operation, and rights have been acquired under it, every presumption should be made in favor of the legality of its existence." Hagers-Town Turnpike Road Co. v. Creeger, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 122, 125, 9 Am. Dec. 495.

32. Penobscot R. Co. v. White, 41 Me. 512, 66 Am. Dec. 257.

33. Baile v. Calvert College Education Soc., 47 Md. 117. See also supra, VI, N, 2, a, (I), (A) et seq.

34. State Treasurer v. Cross, 9 Vt. 289, 31 Am. Dec. 626. See also supra, VI, N, 1, o. It is quite the reverse where the requisite capital is not subscribed for. See supra, VI, N, 2, a, (I), (A) et seq.

35. Pickering v. Templeton, 2 Mo. App. 424.

36. Stanton v. Wilson, 2 Hill (N. Y.) 153. See supra, VI, H, 6, a et seq.

corporation as valid stock;[37] that the formula at the head of the contract of subscription was not precisely the same as that recited in the act of incorporation in respect of the name or designation of the corporation itself, the variance not being material, and such as to amount to a failure of identity.[38]

(IV) That Shares Were Not Allotted by Numbers. Where a person has subscribed to the capital stock of a corporation, and an action is brought against him for an assessment, it will be no defense on his part that the shares were not allotted to him by numbers; but that notwithstanding this the company proceeded to forfeit his shares, to sell them, and to bring the present action against him for the residue. The reason is that the shares being equal in amount no confusion could arise from the failure to allot the shares to the subscriber by particular numbers.[39] Of course the rule is different where the governing statute prescribes that the names of the shareholders shall be entered upon the register of the company, "together with the number of shares to which such stockholders shall be respectively entitled, distinguishing each share by its number," and on this ground certain English cases are to be distinguished.[40]

(V) That Notes Were Received From Subscriber Instead of Money. Nor is it a good defense to an action by the corporation on a promissory note given by a subscriber in settlement of his subscription, that the corporation improperly received the note in payment of the stock, instead of requiring defendant to pay the money.[41]

(VI) That Directors Released Other Shareholders. Nor is it any defense to such an action that the directors, without the consent of the other shareholders, released certain of the subscribers to the company's stock from liability therefor; for such a release if made is void, and the shareholder whom the directors have attempted to release remains bound to make good his subscription.[42]

(VII) That No Share Certificate Was Delivered to Defendant. It will be no defense that the corporation failed to deliver to defendant a certificate of his shares, since the certificate does not constitute the shares, but is merely an evidence or muniment of his title,[43] especially where the subscriber has not demanded the certificates and the corporation has not refused to deliver them.[44] Therefore a paragraph of an answer in such an action setting up that the corporation has made to defendant no tender of a certificate of his shares is bad.[45]

37. Wight v. Shelby R. Co., 16 B. Mon. (Ky.) 4, 63 Am. Dec. 522.

38. Hagers-Town Turnpike Road Co. v. Creeger, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 122, 9 Am. Dec. 495. So of a subscription book. Oler v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 41 Md. 583.

39. European, etc., R. Co. v. McLeod, 16 N. Brunsw. 3.

40. Wolverhampton New Waterworks Co. v. Hawksford, 7 C. B. N. S. 795, 812, 97 E. C. L. 795 (where it was said by Erle, C. J., that "no shares had been numbered, and no specific shares had been appropriated;" but the real ground of the decision seems to have been that defendant's name was not on any register of shareholders such as the company was required by the act to keep. At least this was the understanding of the case by a majority of the supreme court of New Brunswick. European, etc., R. Co. v. McLeod, 16 N. Brunsw. 3); Newry, etc., R. Co. v. Edmunds, 2 Exch. 118, 123, 17 L. J. Exch. 102, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 275.

41. Finnell v. Sanford, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 748; Home Stock Ins. Co. v. Sherwood, 72 Mo. 461. It is not a good defense, within section 9 of the Illinois act of 1845, to an action by a corporation on notes given for a subscription to the stock that the notes were stock notes. Ryan v. Vanlandingham, 25 Ill. 128.

42. Dorman v. Jacksonville, etc., Plank Road Co., 7 Fla. 265; Chouteau Ins. Co. v. Floyd, 74 Mo. 286. Compare Gill v. Balis, 72 Mo. 424; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203. See also Faulkner v. Hebard, 26 Vt. 452.

43. South Georgia, etc., R. Co. v. Ayres, 56 Ga. 230; Smith v. Gower, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 17; Dallas Cotton, etc., Mills v. Clancey, (Tex. App. 1891) 15 S. W. 194; Hawley v. Upton, 102 U. S. 314, 26 L. ed. 179; Farrar v. Walker, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,679, 3 Dill. 506 note. Hence it is not necessary for plaintiff to allege that a certificate was tendered to defendant before the action was brought. Miller v. Wild Cat Gravel Road Co., 52 Ind. 51.

44. Chester Glass Co. v. Dewey, 16 Mass. 94, 8 Am. Dec. 128.

45. Slipher v. Earhart, 83 Ind. 173; Drover v. Evans, 59 Ind. 454; Hartsville University v. Hamilton, 34 Ind. 506; Beaver v. Hartsville University, 34 Ind. 245; Heaston v. Cin-

(VIII) That Company Guaranteed That It Would Pay Interest on Shares. A guaranty in the contract of subscription that the corporation will pay interest on the stock "as soon as paid" constitutes no defense to an action against a shareholder for an assessment, although the company has broken the agreement and suspended operations.[46]

c. Matters Affecting Legality of Assessment — (I) In General. Defendant may of course challenge the legality of the assessment.[47] He may show that the order for it was made by less than a majority of the directors, and is therefore void; and subsequent action by the whole board under this order will not amount to a ratification.[48] Where the governing statute requires that the shareholders shall be assessed equally in respect of their subscriptions, if an equal assessment has not been made, this fact is a good defense on the part of any shareholder when sued by the company to recover an assessment.[49]

(II) That There Has Been Prior Forfeiture of Shares. Defendant cannot plead that by reason of his default respecting another instalment he had forfeited to the corporation all the shares subscribed by him, and that the amount thus forfeited was equal to the amount claimed in the suit.[50] But as already seen[51] a valid forfeiture of shares, and hence one not fraudulent or collusive, dissolves the connection between the shareholder and the company, and therefore creditors of the company cannot, in the event of its becoming insolvent, charge him as a shareholder with the amount remaining unpaid on his shares.[52]

(III) That There Has Been Transfer of Shares to Escape Liability as Shareholder. Within the limits hereafter discussed,[53] if a subscriber to stock of a corporation transfer it without the assent of the corporation, the transfer will be no defense to him in an action for the amount due on his subscription.[54] But the corporation — the rights of the creditors not being involved — may affirm such a transfer and proceed against the transferee to show that the transfer was made without any consideration.[55]

(IV) Waiver by Conduct of Irregularity of Assessment. A shareholder may by his conduct validate an irregular assessment; as by participating in a meeting called for the purpose of organization, submitting to be elected director and acting as such;[56] or by assisting in framing the by-law under which the assessments are levied, and voting for its adoption.[57] But an illegal assessment upon corporate stock cannot be made good, upon the footing of contract, from an assent, to be presumed from an assent to former illegal assessments of lesser amount; nor can such assent be given with effect by an assignor of stock, after an assignment of the stock and notice of the assignment given to the corporation.[58]

(V) Waiver by Conduct of Right to Object That Statutory Deposit Has Not Been Paid. The same rule applies to the matter of the non-payment

cinnati, etc., R. Co., 16 Ind. 175, 79 Am. Dec. 430; Vawter v. Ohio, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 174. That the company is at most bound to make a conditional tender see Hardy v. Merriweather, 14 Ind. 203.

46. Miller v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 40 Pa. St. 237, 80 Am. Dec. 570. In this case and in the subsequent case of Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Allegheny County, 63 Pa. St. 126, the practice of paying interest on stock is denounced, and in the latter case it is held that the corporation cannot without statutory authority bind itself for such interest.

47. Lancaster Starch Co. v. Moore, 62 N. H. 671. See also supra, VI, N, 1, b.

48. Hamilton v. Grand Rapids, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 347; Cowley v. Grand Rapids, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 61; Price v. Grand Rapids, etc., R. Co., 13 Ind. 58.

49. European, etc., R. Co. v. McLeod, 16 N. Brunsw. 3.

50. Herkimer Mfg. Co. v. Small, 2 Hill (N. Y.) 127.

51. See supra, VI, O, 2, g, (I) et seq.

52. Allen v. Montgomery R. Co., 11 Ala. 437.

53. See infra, VII, D, 1, d et seq.; VIII, N, 7, a et seq.

54. Everhart v. West Chester, etc., R. Co., 28 Pa. St. 339.

55. Hall v. U. S. Insurance Co., 5 Gill (Md.) 484.

56. Bucksport, etc., R. Co. v. Buck, 68 Me. 81; Paine v. Caswell, 68 Me. 80, 28 Am. Rep. 21.

57. Willamette Freighting Co. v. Stannus, 4 Oreg. 261.

58. Atlantic De Laine Co. v. Mason, 5 R. I. 463.

of the deposit required to be paid when the subscription is made. If the act of incorporation requires the payment of five dollars per share to the commissioners, and without such payment the subscription to be void, one sued for non-payment who has exercised the right of a shareholder by voting for managers cannot set up such omission in defense.[59]

d. Defenses Relating to Conduct or Misconduct of Directors — (I) That Directors Made Assignment of Right of Action in Fraud of Rights of Corporation. Where a corporation by its directors assigned one of its stock notes to certain of its directors as security for advances, who afterward brought suit upon it in the name of the corporation for their own benefit, and the corporation was at that time, and had ever since remained insolvent, and defendant, at the time of the assignment and of the bringing of the suit, was a shareholder, it was held that he could not avail himself, by way of defense to the suit, of the fact that the note had been so signed, even if such assignment could be regarded as a fraud upon the corporation.[60]

(II) That Directors Were Guilty of Various Violations of Charter. It is no defense to such an action that the directors of the corporation have violated the charter,[61] as by issuing shares to defendant in contravention of its provisions;[62] that they have caused a portion of the roadway of the plank road which the corporation was organized to build to be constructed of gravel instead of plank;[63] or that the corporation has not managed its business in the places required by law.[64] Nor can the shareholder in such an action set up that which, in a direct proceeding by the state, would work a forfeiture of the charter; for such matters cannot be inquired into collaterally, but can be challenged only by the state.[65] But of course it is competent for the legislature to make the individual subscriber a representative of the state, just as the plaintiff is to some extent in an action qui tam. It can enact that a particular violation of the charter or governing statute shall take away a given right of action by the corporation, in which case the violation of the charter is of course pleadable as a defense to the given action, and must be tried collaterally. Thus a statute of Missouri, enacted to prevent illegal banking, prohibited the passing of bank-notes of a less denomination than five dollars, and it was held that this violation of its charter might be pleaded in bar of any suit instituted by it, although the result would be to work a forfeiture of its charter pro tanto.[66] Under that statute a shareholder sued for his subscription might plead a violation of the act by the corporation in bar of the suit.[67] Referring to this decision, the supreme court of Missouri, in a subsequent case, say: "The only exception to this rule which prohibits collateral inquiry by a private citizen into the supposed illegal acts of a corporation, is where express legislative permission is granted therefor."[68]

(III) Nonfeasance, Malfeasance, or Mismanagement by Directors. The fact that the directors have been guilty of reckless, extravagant, or unwise

59. Clark v. Monongahela Nav. Co., 10 Watts (Pa.) 364.

60. Protection Ins. Co. v. Ward, 28 Conn. 409.

61. Hannibal, etc., Plankroad Co. v. Menefee, 25 Mo. 547.

62. Canal Bank v. Holland, 5 La. Ann. 363.

63. Hannibal, etc., Plankroad Co. v. Menefee, 25 Mo. 547.

64. Courtright v. Deeds, 37 Iowa 503.

65. Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 650; Hanover Junction, etc., R. Co. v. Grubb, 82 Pa. St. 36; Connecticut, etc., R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

66. Christian University v. Jordan, 29 Mo. 68.

67. North Missouri R. Co. v. Winkler, 33 Mo. 354.

68. Martindale v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 60 Mo. 508.

Setting up the failure of plaintiff, a railroad company, to expend a given amount of money in the construction of its road, or to prosecute such construction as required by its charter, no defense. Thornburgh v. Newcastle, etc., R. Co., 14 Ind. 499; Vicksburg, etc., R. Co. v. McKean, 12 La. Ann. 638; Connecticut, etc., R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181. See also People v. Manhattan Co., 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 351.

That a court will not, in a collateral way, decide a question of misuser of charter see Silver Lake Bank v. North, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 370.

management of the affairs of the corporation will not release a shareholder from the obligation of his subscription.[69] The same principle holds good where the misfeasance of the directors has been such as might, in a proceeding by the state, work a forfeiture of the franchises of the corporation.[70] A shareholder is not allowed to shirk his obligation and thereby diminish the fund intended for the security of the public in this way.[71]

e. Defenses Relating to Irregularities in Corporate Action — (I) In General. For stronger reasons the fact that irregularities have taken place in the manner in which the managers or the majority of the shareholders have exercised the power of the corporation affords no defense to such an action, such as irregularities in the adoption of by-laws or in the election of officers, where all the shareholders and officers thereof recognize and treat such by-laws and such election as legal and valid;[72] or the fact that after the subscription was made a by-law was adopted requiring the payment of the first instalment before the subscriber would be entitled to vote on corporate matters.[73] Nor can defendant give evidence that there was not a sufficient number of the directors of the bank present, at the time of making a certain order, competent to transact business of that description; and that funds had been withdrawn from the bank under that order, when the charter required a greater number of directors, whereby he as a shareholder had been deprived of a dividend on his stock.[74]

(II) Irregularity or Illegality in Election of Directors. Nor will the fact that the directors have been irregularly or even illegally elected be any defense to such an action,[75] as that they have been elected without sufficient notice,[76] or that they have been elected at an election which took place outside the state.[77] The principle which validates the action of de facto officers and excludes collateral inquiry into their right to hold office applies in such cases.

f. Defenses Raising Question of Forfeiture of Charter. The general rule is that the shareholder cannot, when sued to enforce his contract of subscription, raise the defense that the charter of the corporation has been forfeited by reason of malfeasance or nonfeasance on the part of the directors or managers, as by failing to enter upon the construction of the work which the corporation was created to perform, within a stated period, since this is a matter which can prop-

That the raising of a sum named is not a condition precedent to making a call see Waterford, etc., R. Co. v. Dalbiac, 6 Exch. 443, 20 L. J. Exch. 227, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 753, 4 Eng. L. & Eq. 455.

69. Southern L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Lanier, 5 Fla. 110, 58 Am. Dec. 448; Chetlain v. Republic L. Ins. Co., 86 Ill. 220; Merrill v. Reaver, 50 Iowa 404.

70. Smith v. Tallassee Branch Cent. Plank-Road Co., 30 Ala. 650.

71. Southern L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Lanier, 5 Fla. 110, 58 Am. Dec. 448.

Illustrations of the foregoing where the misconduct of the directors presented unavailing defense on the part of the shareholders will be found in Chetlain v. Republic L. Ins. Co., 86 Ill. 220; Little v. Obrien, 9 Mass. 423; Chouteau Ins. Co. v. Floyd, 74 Mo. 286; Lingle v. National Ins. Co., 45 Mo. 109; Columbia Bottom Levee Co. v. Meier, 39 Mo. 53. Compare Brown v. Union Ins. Co., 3 La. Ann. 177.

72. Ginrich v. Patrons' Mill Co., 21 Kan. 61.

73. Chandler v. Northern Cross R. Co., 18 Ill. 190.

74. Whittington v. Farmers' Bank, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 489. In like manner it is no defense to an action on a stock subscription by a company organized to carry on the business contemplated in the subscription, and engaged in that business only, that it might, under the act of incorporation, have carried on other business. Haskell v. Worthington, 94 Mo. 560, 7 S. W. 481. So a subscriber to shares in a New Jersey banking company, who has received a certificate, cannot claim exemption from a suit prosecuted by its receiver on the ground that the associates never chose a board of directors or obtained deposits, but only issued circulating notes and accepted bills of exchange. Dayton v. Borst, 7 Bosw. (N. Y.) 115.

75. Johnson v. Crawfordsville, etc., R. Co., 11 Ind. 280; Central Plankroad Co. v. Clemens, 16 Mo. 359.

76. Central Plankroad Co. v. Clemens, 16 Mo. 359.

77. Ohio, etc., R. Co. v. McPherson, 35 Mo. 13, 86 Am. Dec. 128. The court cited John v. Farmers', etc., Bank, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 367, 20 Am. Dec. 119; All Saints Church v. Lovett, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 191; Vernon Soc. v. Hills, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 23, 16 Am. Dec. 429.

erly be raised and litigated by the state alone.[78] There are, however, charters under which the commencement of operations within a stated time is a condition precedent to the right to exercise corporate powers,[79] and other charters under which, in case the corporation does not enter upon its operation within a stated period, there is an ipso facto forfeiture of the charter,[80] in which case the original charter having become null and void, no action can be maintained on a contract of subscription made thereunder.[81]

g. Defense That Enterprise Has Been Abandoned. This defense has arisen chiefly in actions by railroad companies to enforce their share subscriptions. The cases present the distinction that the mere abandonment or authorization of work will not have the effect of releasing the shareholder, since the very money for which the corporation is suing may be necessary to enable it to resume work.[82]

h. Defense That Corporation Has Adopted Resolution to Wind Up. Nor is it any defense to such an action that before it was brought a resolution to discontinue business and wind up the affairs of the corporation had been passed by the board of directors;[83] since a cesser of corporate business does not amount to a dissolution of the corporation, in the sense which disables it from suing to enforce contracts which have been made with it;[84] and moreover it may still need funds to satisfy its creditors.

i. Defense That Corporation Has Sold or Leased All Its Property. On the same reasons the conclusion is unavoidable that it is no defense to such an action that the corporation has leased or sold its franchises to another, although the lease or sale may be void;[85] nor that, after the commencement of an action on such 78. Connecticut, etc., R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

79. McCully v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 25.

80. Bywaters v. Paris, etc., R. Co., 73 Tex. 624, 11 S. W. 856.

81. Greencastle, etc., Turnpike, etc., Co. v. Davidson, 39 Pa. St. 435.

82. Dorman v. Jacksonville, etc., Plank Road Co., 7 Fla. 265. The partial abandonment of the enterprise will in like manner be no defense (Armstrong v. Karshner, 47 Ohio St. 276, 24 N. E. 897) and the same effect will be ascribed to the failure of the company to complete same within a stated portion of its time (Dallas Cotton, etc., Mills v. Clancey, (Tex. App. 1891) 15 S. W. 194), but a total abandonment of the enterprise, followed by a long lapse of time, will have this effect (Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Byers, 32 Pa. St. 22, 72 Am. Dec. 770, abandonment of contract of subscription). In some such cases the question whether the lapse of time has been sufficiently great to discharge the subscriber will be submitted to a jury. Delaware River, etc., R. Co. v. Rowland, (Pa. 1887) 9 Atl. 929. In others equity will relieve the subscriber. Fountain Ferry Turnpike Road Co. v. Jewell, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 140.

Abandonment presumed where no call made for more than six years. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Byers, 32 Pa. St. 22, 72 Am. Dec. 770.

Circumstances presenting evidence to go to the jury on the question of abandonment. Delaware River, etc., R. Co. v. Rowland, (Pa. 1887) 9 Atl. 929.

Subscribers relieved.— Abandonment for upwards of nine years, failure to appoint directors, etc.— subscribers relieved in equity. Fountain Ferry Turnpike Road Co. v. Jewell, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 140. Stock notes given to a railroad company, payable when the cars should commence running, are not enforceable after a period of fourteen years. Blake v. Brown, 80 Iowa 277, 45 N. W. 751.

It is no defense that the corporation, a railroad company, has not adequate means to complete the enterprise (McMillan v. Maysville, etc., R. Co., 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 218, 61 Am. Dec. 181), that the railroad was not completed within a stated time (Kansas City, etc., R. Co. v. Alderman, 47 Mo. 349), or that the corporation is indebted for more than the amount of the subscription, especially where the action is prosecuted for the benefit of creditor (Phœnix Warehousing Co. v. Badger, 67 N. Y. 294), or by a creditor (Bish v. Bradford, 17 Ind. 490).

Changes in location, route, termini, etc., of the proposed railroad, plank road, etc.— These are subjects not within the scope of this article and therefore some of the cases merely are referred to.

Indiana.—Evansville, etc., R. Co. v. Wright, 38 Ind. 64.

Kentucky.— Smith v. Gower, 2 Duv. 17.

Massachusetts.— Boston, etc., R. Co. v. Wellington, 113 Mass. 79.

Missouri.— Central Plankroad Co. v. Clemens, 16 Mo. 359.

Pennsylvania.— Chartiers R. Co. v. Hodgens, 77 Pa. St. 187.

83. Chouteau Ins. Co. v. Floyd, 74 Mo. 286.

84. Kansas City Hotel Co. v. Sauer, 65 Mo. 279; State Nat. Bank v. Robidoux, 57 Mo. 446. Compare Hill v. Fogg, 41 Mo. 563.

85. Ottawa, etc., R. Co. v. Black, 79 Ill. 262; Hays v. Ottawa, etc., R. Co., 61 Ill. 422;

subscription, a mortgage executed by plaintiff company was foreclosed, and its railroad and its franchises sold to purchasers who took possession;[86] nor that it has been seized by the governor of the state, under a statute, to satisfy the state's lien.[87]

7. CONDUCT SHOWING MEMBERSHIP — ESTOPPEL — a. In General — (I) STATEMENT OF DOCTRINE. If a person subscribes for and purchases a certain number of shares, he naturally suffers his name to be entered on the books of the corporation as a subscriber of, or a purchaser of, the stated number of shares, and to be thereby held out to the world as a shareholder — he will be estopped to deny the truth of that representation and to disavow the ownership when it ceases to be a benefit and becomes a burden to him.[88] If he has been held out unwarrantably and wrongfully as a shareholder, he must immediately and publicly disavow the act as soon as he discovers it or he will be taken to have ratified it so far as it affects the rights of creditors.[89] The rule rests upon the principle of estoppel in pais, which means that a man will not be permitted to deny the truth of representations which he has made by his conduct, after members of the public have acted upon the same to their disadvantage.[90]

(II) SOME CONTRACTUAL BASIS NECESSARY. Some contractual basis is plainly necessary to support this rule as against shareholders in a corporation. In the case of a partnership where the liability is unlimited, it seems that a partner may be charged as such in consequence of acts of estoppel alone.[91] But in a corporation some contractual basis must exist, real or supposed, in order to determine the extent of his interest and consequently of his liability. If he has not been entered on the books of the corporation, or upon any valid subscription paper, as a shareholder in respect of a given number of shares, the mere fact of his attending meetings and doing other acts inconsistent with any other relation than that

Troy, etc., R. Co. v. Kerr, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 581.

86. Buffalo, etc., R. Co. v. Gifford, 87 N. Y. 294.

87. Mullins v. North, etc., R. Co., 54 Ga. 580. Where a shareholder pleaded, as a defense to such an action, that by the terms of his subscription it was to be paid when the road should be completed between certain points, whereupon he was to receive a certificate for a like amount of stock, and that the company had sold and leased the road, his plea was held bad on demurrer, for the reason that if the charter authorized the sale or lease the party subscribing must have known that the power could be exercised; and if there was no such power conferred then the sale and lease were void, and on payment and receipt of his certificate he would hold his stock unimpaired, and there was not a failure of consideration. Hays v. Ottawa, etc., R. Co., 61 Ill. 422. See also Ottawa, etc., R. Co. v. Black, 79 Ill. 262.

88. In re Reciprocity Bank, 22 N. Y. 9, 17 (per Comstock, C. J.); McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32.

89. Maine.— Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Chaffin v. Cummings, 37 Me. 76.

Massachusetts.—Chase v. Merrimack Bank, 19 Pick. 564, 31 Am. Dec. 163.

Missouri.— Kansas City Hotel Co. v. Harris, 51 Mo. 464.

New Hampshire.— Haynes v. Brown, 36 N. H. 545; New Hampshire Cent. R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300.

North Carolina.— Haywood, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Bryan, 51 N. C. 82.

Pennsylvania.— McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32.

South Carolina.— Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Coleman, 5 Rich. 118.

See also Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S. 673, 680, 24 L. ed. 168, where the rule and the decision upon which it rests is stated by Swayne, J., which decision was quoted and followed in Re Canada Cent. Bank, 25 Can. L. J. N. S. 238, 240. See further the following English cases of joint-stock membership which support the rule. Dickinson v. Valpy, 10 B. & C. 128, 8 L. J. K. B. O. S. 51, 5 M. & R. 126, 21 E. C. L. 63; Harvey v. Kay, 9 B. & C. 356, 7 L. J. K. B. O. S. 167, 17 E. C. L. 163; Doubleday v. Muskett, 7 Bing. 110, 9 L. J. C. P. O. S. 35, 4 M. & P. 750, 20 E. C. L. 58; Ellis v. Schmoeck, 5 Bing. 521, 15 E. C. L. 702; Perring v. Hone, 4 Bing. 28, 13 E. C. L. 384, 2 C. & P. 402, 12 E. C. L. 639, 12 Moore C. P. 135. See further Duffield v. Barnum Wire, etc., Works, 64 Mich. 293, 31 N. W. 310.

90. Hampshire County v. Franklin County, 16 Mass. 76, 87, per Parker, C. J. [quoted with approval by Collier, C. J., in Selma, etc., R. Co. v. Tipton, 5 Ala. 787, 39 Am. Dec. 344]; Ellis v. Marshall, 2 Mass. 269, 3 Am. Dec. 49; Hays v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 38 Pa. St. 81; Casey v. Galli, 94 U. S. 673, 680, 24 L. ed. 168, 307.

91. Rimel v. Hayes, 83 Mo. 200; Gates v. Watson, 54 Mo. 585; Selby v. McCullough, 26 Mo. App. 66.

of a shareholder will not make him such, because there is no basis upon which to determine with how many shares he is to be charged, whether one, ten, or one hundred. To this rule there is an exception where the governing statute or by-law requires a director to be the holder of a stated number of shares. Here as already seen the fact of his serving as a director furnishes a basis for charging him with that number.[92] Where a man's name has been put down on the books of a corporation as the holder of a stated number of shares, if he serves as a director he thereby recognizes the validity of the subscription and ratifies it.[93] So where the governing statute requires the vice-president to be the holder of a certain number of shares, and certain shares are transferred to a person who becomes a director and vice-president, and he assumes the active management of the corporation, here he will be estopped from claiming that the shares were transferred to him without his knowledge or consent.[94]

(III) What Acts, Facts, or Circumstances Raise This Estoppel and Preclude Person From Denying Relation of Shareholder — (A) In General. These will be catalogued as briefly as possible by saying that according to various holdings they include subscribing for a certain number of shares and subsequently stating that he has taken the shares;[95] signing a subscription paper under which are written the names of the subscribers and the number of shares taken by each, and afterward participating in the election of directors and making partial payments for the shares;[96] subscribing for shares, attending a meeting to effect a temporary organization, adopting articles of incorporation, etc.;[97] voting at corporate elections, serving as a director, this being deemed conclusive evidence of ownership;[98] in case of an unincorporated joint-stock company, describing oneself in a bill in equity as a surviving partner, signing a note with the other members to raise money for the business, signing a power of attorney to sell real estate of the company, attending meetings, etc.;[99] making an informal subscription and afterward acting as a shareholder and accepting the office of director;[1] a shareholder induced to become such by fraud, afterward attending corporate meetings, taking part in the affairs of the corporation, voting to increase the capital stock, to declare a dividend, receiving such dividend, and doing nothing for a period of six months to repudiate the relation;[2] subscribing for shares on the promise of the president of the company to take them off the hands of the subscriber and then retaining them until the venture proves disastrous;[3] in case of a turnpike company, for an incorporator to take an active part in effecting a change in the route of the road and promising to pay his subscription after the change has been made;[4] passive acquiescence in the relation of shareholder for a considerable length of time and until the rights of innocent third persons have supervened;[5] paying calls;[6] paying the necessary deposit by one whose name has

92. See supra, IX, A, 1, b, (I).

93. Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654.

94. Brown v. Finn, 34 Fed. 124.

Other cases governed by the same principle are: Schenectady, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Thatcher, 11 N. Y. 102; Matter of England Joint-Stock Banking Co., 1 De G. M. & G. 576, 16 Jur. 435, 50 Eng. Ch. 444.

95. New Hampshire Cent., etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 30 N. H. 390, 64 Am. Dec. 300.

96. Fry v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 2 Metc. (Ky.) 314.

97. Heald v. Owen, 79 Iowa 23, 44 N. W. 210.

98. Hays v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 38 Pa. St. 81.

99. Machinists' Nat. Bank v. Dean, 124 Mass. 81.

1. Lane v. Brainerd, 30 Conn. 565.

2. Duffield v. Barnum Wire, etc., Works, 64 Mich. 293, 31 N. W. 310.

3. Slee v. Bloom, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 456, 482, 10 Am. Dec. 273.

4. Owenton, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Smith, 13 S. W. 426, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 959.

5. Berry v. Matthews, 1 Ga. 519; In re Reciprocity Bank, 22 N. Y. 9. So in the case of a subscription to preferred stock. Bard v. Banigan, 39 Fed. 13.

6. Frost v. Walker, 60 Me. 468; Hall v. U. S. Insurance Co., 5 Gill (Md.) 484; Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 36 Miss. 17 (will estop an unregistered transferee); Inter-Mountain Pub. Co. v. Jack, 5 Mont. 568 (will estop an original subscriber). On the other hand one who subscribes for shares in a company is a shareholder, although he may have failed to pay calls upon his subscription. Schaeffer v. Missouri Home Ins.

been put down as a subscriber without his authorization;[7] paying for the shares for which he subscribed, this fact forming a basis for charging him with a superadded statutory liability;[8] paying calls made by a board of directors not properly constituted;[9] serving as director;[10] in case of an unincorporated joint-stock company, attending meetings, acting as a director, inspecting the works while in progress, etc.;[11] holding a corporate office which, under the governing instrument, can only be held by a shareholder;[12] paying previous calls and acting as a proprietor, notwithstanding misrecitals in the subscription paper;[13] attending corporate meetings, this being prima facie evidence of the person being a shareholder,[14] and according to one view conclusive evidence;[15] voting at corporate meetings as a shareholder, either in person[16] or by proxy,[17] this being at least an evidential circumstance tending to prove the relation of shareholder, but subject to explanation;[18] giving a proxy to vote at corporate elections, this being according to the best opinion prima facie evidence of the person being a shareholder,[19] but according to one decision estopping him from denying the relation;[20] participating in the management of the corporation in various ways, as by attending meetings, voting at elections, serving as director, paying calls, etc., this estopping the person from denying he is a shareholder, whether proceeded against by the corporation for unpaid assessments, or by a receiver or other trustee for creditors after insolvency.[21] So a person may be estopped to deny that he is a shareholder

Co., 46 Mo. 248; McHose v. Wheeler, 45 Pa. St. 32. Contra, Fiser v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 32 Miss. 359; Lewis v. Robertson, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 558; Hayne v. Beauchamp, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 515.

7. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 36 Miss. 17.

8. Ossipee Hosiery, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Canney, 54 N. H. 295. But compare Garling v. Baechtel, 41 Md. 305.

9. Macon, etc., R. Co. v. Vason, 57 Ga. 314.

No estoppel because of payment of the expenses of a preliminary survey in case of a railroad company. Memphis Branch R. Co. v. Sullivan, 57 Ga. 240.

10. Lane v. Brainerd, 30 Conn. 565; Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654; Ruggles v. Brock, 6 Hun (N. Y.) 164 (holding that this fact estops the person from denying the corporate existence and the validity of his subscription); Hays v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 38 Pa. St. 81 (case presented many other acts of estoppel claimed to be evidential but not conclusive).

11. Maudslay v. Le Blanc, 2 C. & P. 409, 12 E. C. L. 643.

12. Haynes v. Brown, 36 N. H. 545; Graff v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 31 Pa. St. 489; Brown v. Finn, 34 Fed. 124. That subscribing to a subscription agreement and acting as president of the company did not show that the person became a shareholder even as against a creditor — an untenable decision. Corwith v. Culver, 69 Ill. 502.

13. Cromford, etc., R. Co. v. Lacey, 3 Y. & J. 80.

14. Harrison v. Heathorn, 12 L. J. C. P 282, 6 M. & G. 81, 6 Scott N. R. 735, 46 E. C. L. 81.

15. Whitfield v. Hurst, 31 U. C. 170.

16. See infra, note 21.

17. Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Coleman, 5 Rich. (S. C.) 118.

18. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Stewart, 41 Pa. St. 54. Compare Union Sav. Assoc. v. Seligman, 92 Mo. 635, 15 S. W. 630, 1 Am. St. Rep. 776 [reversing 11 Mo. App. 142, following Burgess v. Seligman, 107 U. S. 20, 2 S. Ct. 10, 27 L. ed. 359, and overruling Griswold v. Seligman, 72 Mo. 110]; Sleeper v. Goodwin, 67 Wis. 577, 31 N. W. 335 (where it was held that the fact of voting as a shareholder by one who claimed to hold the shares as collateral security merely was conclusive that he was liable to creditors). Compare Fisher v. Seligman, 75 Mo. 13; Fisher v. Seligman, 7 Mo. App. 383.

19. Ticonic Water Power, etc., Co. v. Lang, 63 Me. 480 (delivery of a proxy in escrow); McCully v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 25; Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Smith, 6 Rich. (S. C.) 91; McClelland v. Whiteley, 15 Fed. 322, 11 Biss. 444 (not a ratification of an unauthorized placing of the person's name on the stock-book).

20. St. Charles Mfg. Co. v. Britton, 2 Mo. App. 290.

21. Illinois.— Rutz v. Esler, etc., Mfg. Co., 3 Ill. App. 83, acted as director.

Iowa.— Tama Water-Power Co. v. Hopkins, 79 Iowa 653, 44 N. W. 797, choking off his objection that the full amount of stock had not been subscribed.

Maryland.— Stillman v. Dougherty, 44 Md. 380 (same defense overruled); Garling v. Baechtel, 41 Md. 305 (choking off the same defense).

Missouri.— Kansas City Hotel Co. v. Harris, 51 Mo. 464.

New York.— Phœnix Warehousing Co. v. Badger, 6 Hun 293.

North Carolina.— Haywood, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Bryan, 51 N. C. 82, holding him, although he had not paid the statutory deposit.

South Carolina.— Greenville, etc., R. Co. v. Woodsides, 5 Rich. 145, 55 Am. Dec. 708.

by receiving dividends,[22] this making him a shareholder and the equities attaching to his title being things with which the company and its creditors in general have nothing to do, whether he holds as a pledgee,[23] or as a trustee for others,[24] and yet he will be liable as a shareholder, at least to creditors; by paying calls, serving as a director, attending meetings, etc.;[25] or by subscribing to the capital stock, participating in meetings of the corporation and in the regulation of its affairs, but without paying the deposit in cash required by the charter.[26]

(B) Exceptional Cases. But this rule has not been universally applied. Thus where the governing statute gave the option to the husband of a female shareholder, or to the executor of a deceased shareholder, to become a member on complying with certain requisites, and the husband received dividends and receipted for them in the name of his wife, and attended meetings at which none but shareholders were entitled to be present,[27] and where an executor received a dividend which accrued after the death of his testator,[28] neither of them was held liable to respond to creditors of the company.

(IV) Whether Principle of Estoppel Works to Exclude Shareholder From Company. On the same principle a man may lose his shares by estoppel, as against a creditor of another person — not of the corporation — by allowing such other person to use his shares as "qualification shares" for the office of director.[29]

(V) Operation of Principle of Estoppel Where Shareholder Has Been Released. This principle will also operate to exclude those who have retired from the corporation, in case they desire to go back when they find that the corporation has become prosperous; and to hold them where, after being released, they have returned, and find themselves in when the corporation collapses. Accordingly it has been held that a shareholder who has practically retired from and been treated by the other shareholders as out of the business, and who has not been called upon to contribute on account of liabilities during a

Illustrations may be found in the following among many other cases:

Kentucky.— Owenton, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Smith, 13 S. W. 426, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 959.

Maryland.— Hager v. Cleveland, 36 Md. 476.

Massachusetts.— Chase v. Merrimack Bank, 19 Pick. 564, 31 Am. Dec. 563.

Missouri.— St. Charles Mfg. Co. v. Britton, 2 Mo. App. 290.

New York.— Wheeler v. Millar, 90 N. Y. 353; Ferris v. Strong, 3 Edw. 127.

Ohio.— Dayton, etc., R. Co. v. Hatch, 1 Disn. 84, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 501.

South Carolina.—Christ Church v. Simons, 2 Rich. 368.

22. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Cowell, 28 Pa. St. 329, 70 Am. Dec. 128; Hoare's Case, 3 Beav. 225, 2 Johns. & H. 229; Matter of North of England Joint Stock Banking Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 258.

23. Wheelock v. Kost, 77 Ill. 296. See also infra, VIII, M, 1, b.

24. See infra, VIII, M, 2, a.

25. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Stewart, 41 Pa. St. 54.

26. Haywood, etc., Co. v. Bryant, 51 N. C. 82.

27. Ness v. Angas, 6 D. & L. 645, 3 Exch. 805, 13 Jur. 874, 18 L. J. Exch. 470.

28. Ness v. Armstrong, 7 D. & L. 73, 4 Exch. 21, 13 Jur. 874, 18 L. J. Exch. 473. See also Bosanquet v. Shortridge, 4 Exch. 698, 14 Jur. 71, 19 L. J. Exch. 221.

These cases cannot, it is thought, be appealed to as establishing an exception to the general rule just stated. In a well-reasoned case in equity, involving similar questions, they were treated by Lord St. Leonards as depending upon the terms of a particular statute (7 Geo. IV, c. 46), which, although referring to equitable as well as legal liabilities, did not furnish a particular remedy for equitable liabilities. A man could not, he thought, be proceeded against by scire facias under the particular provisions of that act, unless it could be shown that he was legally liable as a member. Matter of North of England Joint-Stock Banking Co., 1 De G. M. & G. 576, 16 Jur. 435, 50 Eng. Ch. 444.

29. When therefore a shareholder in a national bank placed part of his shares in the hands of a third person to hold for him, under a secret declaration of trust, and allowed such third person to be elected a director in virtue of those shares, and to take the oath required by the national banking law that he was the bona fide owner of them, it was held that he was estopped from denying that such actual holder was the owner of the shares, as against a creditor who trusted the holder on the faith of his being such owner. Young v. Vough, 23 N. J. Eq. 325.

number of years when the business was unprofitable, is estopped, after the corporation has been put upon a paying basis by the contribution of fresh capital by the other shareholders, to claim the right to share in the profits, when he did not assert his right or proffer his share to the new venture at the time of reorganizing.[30] On the other hand, where a subscriber to the capital stock of a railroad company who had been released from the obligation of his subscription subsequently votes at an annual election for directors, is himself elected a director, acts as a director and as a shareholder, and pays money to the company, his acts warrant the inference that he has resumed his original obligation; but this inference may not prevail where a special contract accounting for his acts is shown.[31]

(VI) Subscription Prior to Incorporation Good Without Acts of Ratification. On the other hand, and in conformity with the doctrine elsewhere stated,[32] a subscription to the capital of a proposed corporation will be good, so as to inure to the company when formed and enable it to maintain an action to enforce it, without any further acts of acquiescence or estoppel on the part of the subscriber.[33]

(VII) Agreement to Take Shares in Future Company Made Good by Ratification. An action may be maintained by a corporation against an original subscriber, on a promise made before the act of incorporation, if it is shown that he recognized it as binding after the incorporation.[34] Upon similar grounds a person named as a corporator in the charter of a company, who signs a paper agreeing to take stock in a company to be thereafter organized, and who attends the meetings of the company when organized, takes part in its proceedings, and offsets, in a settlement with the corporation, the amount due for his shares against an indebtedness of the corporation to him, is deemed by his conduct to have made himself a shareholder, so that a creditor may charge him in that relation for the company's debt, without showing that he was a shareholder, from the company's books or from the sheriff's return.[35]

(VIII) Conduct Ratifying Subscription by Unauthorized Person. Where a mere intermeddler subscribes the name of a person to the capital stock of a corporation, this act of course does not in any manner bind him; but it is not wholly void; it is capable of ratification; and, although mere declarations made to strangers by the party whose name had been thus unwarrantably used to the effect that he had taken such shares have been held sufficient after his

30. Huston's Appeal, 127 Pa. St. 620, 18 Atl. 419.

31. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Stewart, 41 Pa. St. 54.

32. See supra, VI, H, 13, c, (I) et seq.

33. Thus a subscriber in a park association who failed to attend a publicly advertised meeting of the subscribers, which appointed a committee to buy the land, procure the charter, call in subscriptions, etc., was held liable for his subscription at the suit of the corporation; the corporation being the legal trustee to receive and administer the funds subscribed. Shober v. Lancaster County Park Assoc., 68 Pa. St. 429 [following Edinboro' Academy v. Robinson, 37 Pa. St. 210, 78 Am. Dec. 421].

34. St. Charles Mfg. Co. v. Britton, 2 Mo. App. 290; Christ Church v. Simons, 2 Rich. (S. C.) 268.

35. Chaffin v. Cummings, 37 Me. 76.

Acting as member of a provisional committee in England.—This of itself does not make one a shareholder. Hole's Case, 3 De G. & Sm. 241; Matter of Direct Exeter, etc., R. Co., 3 De G. & Sm. 205, 14 Jur. 539 note, 6 R. & Can. Cas. 310 [affirmed in 2 Macn. & G. 192, 1 Drew. 204, 2 Hall & T. 391, 19 L. J. Ch. 368, 48 Eng. Ch. 148]; Norris v. Cottle, 2 H. L. Cas. 647, 14 Jur. 703 [affirming Matter of Wolverhampton, etc., R. Co., 2 Macn. & G. 185, 48 Eng. Ch. 143]. But a provisional committeeman who had accepted shares in the company was liable to be made a contributory, although he did not pay the deposit. Hutton v. Upfill, 2 H. L. Cas. 674. And where a provisional committeeman declined to take the shares allotted to him, and gave authority to the secretary of the company to withdraw his name from the list of the provisional committee, which, however, was not done; and, although no shares were allotted to him, he continued to attend meetings of the committee and took part in the proceedings and paid various sums of money, in pursuance of resolutions passed at those meetings, toward liquidating the liabilities of the company, he was held liable as a contributory. Matter of Direct Exeter, etc., R. Co., 2 Macn. & G. 176, 48 Eng. Ch. 137 [affirming 3 De G. & Sm. 224].

decease to fix upon him the character of a shareholder so as to charge his estate,[36] yet a different effect has been ascribed to conduct tending to show that such person assumed the relation of shareholder and exercised the rights thereto appertaining; as, where he authorized a proxy to vote his shares at a corporate election,[37] or remained silent for a long period after being informed that his name had been thus used,[38] or, long afterward demanded and sued for dividends, alleging that the subscription was authorized by him,[39] or, after being informed that his name had been entered as a shareholder and his deposit paid by another, frequently promised to pay the instalments due on his shares.[40] The doctrine imports something in the nature of a voluntary act on the part of the shareholder. He must have been held out with his knowledge;[41] but this knowledge is in most cases inferred from his conduct, as where he participates in the adoption of by-laws and in other corporate acts.[42]

(IX) Whether Necessary to Show That Creditor Acted on Faith of Person Sought to Be Charged Being Shareholder. This question does not of course arise as between the corporation and the alleged shareholder in an action for an assessment; it arises only where the rights of creditors are concerned, and then the question is whether the creditor must have made the advance to the corporation on the faith of the particular member being a shareholder. This is the well-known rule in the case of mere partnerships.[43] It was applied in one English case, often distinguished, where the concern was a mining company operated on the "cost-book" plan.[44] But it is believed that in American corporations, where the question concerns the rights of subsequent creditors, the courts will not speculate as to the motive with which the person gave credit to the corporation, whether on the faith of a particular person being a shareholder or not, and this owing to the difficulty, if not impossibility, of introducing proof as to the state of mind or motive with which persons act.

b. Questions as to Validity of Shares — (I) Estoppel to Deny Validity. If shares are void in the sense of being a nullity there can of course be no shareholder with respect of them. But circumstances may exist in which a person will be estopped even to deny the validity of the shares with respect to which it is sought to charge him as a shareholder. Thus it has been held that a person who accepts shares in a company, executes the deed of settlement, for several years receives dividends declared on the shares, and after the company has been ordered to be wound up is called on as a contributory is estopped by his contract and by his conduct from denying the validity of the shares.[45] So where the directors of a company made an authorized issue of shares beyond their capital, but their acts were afterward ratified by the company at a general meeting, the allottees of such shares were bound by the confirmatory resolution, and on the winding up of the company were rightly placed on the list of contributories.[46] So it has been held in this country that one who purchases shares in a corporation, and knowingly suffers his name to appear on the books as a shareholder, can-

36. Rutland, etc., R. Co. v. Lincoln, 2 Vt. 206.

37. McCully v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 32 Pa. St. 25.

38. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Cowell, 28 Pa. St. 329, 70 Am. Dec. 128.

39. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Cowell, 28 Pa. St. 329, 70 Am. Dec. 128.

40. Mississippi, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 36 Miss. 17. See also Penobscot R. Co. v. Dummer, 40 Me. 172, 63 Am. Dec. 654, where defendant had signed a written promise to take a certain number of shares.

41. Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 776, 8 L. J. C. P. O. S. 257, 4 M. & P. 676, 31 Rev. Rep. 536, 19 E. C. L. 347.

42. People v. Sterling Burial Case Mfg. Co., 82 Ill. 457.

43. Dowzelot v. Rawlings, 58 Mo. 75; Bloch v. Price, 24 Mo. App. 14. Compare Martin v. Feewell, 79 Mo. 401; Deering v. Flanders, 49 N. H. 225; Graves v. Merry, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 701, 16 Am. Dec. 471.

44. Vice v. Anson, 7 B. & C. 409, 14 E. C. L. 187, 3 C. & P. 19, 14 E. C. L. 428, 6 L. J. K. B. O. S. 24, 24 M. & M. 97, 1 M. & R. 113.

45. Hull Flax, etc., Mill Co. v. Wellesley, 6 H. & N. 38, 30 L. J. Exch. 5.

46. In re New Zealand Banking Corp., L. R. 3 Ch. 131, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 2, 16 Wkly. Rep. 381.

not, in a proceeding to enforce his individual liability, under a statute providing that the word "shareholder" shall be understood to mean not only such persons as appear from the books of the corporation to be such, but also every equitable owner, impeach his own title by showing that the stock was improperly purchased by the corporation and issued to him.[47]

(II) Theory That Shareholder Is Not Estopped to Deny Validity of Shares—(A) In General. So a shareholder is not estopped to deny the validity of certain shares issued under a scheme to increase the capital stock of the corporation, although he voted for the arrangement. For, although a shareholder cannot set up informalities in the issue of stock which the corporation has the power to create,[48] yet where the corporation is absolutely without power to increase its capital stock beyond a certain limit, the acquiescence of the shareholder can neither give it validity nor bind him or the corporation.[49] The distinction is between shares which the corporation had no power whatever to issue and shares which it had the power to issue, although not in the manner in which or upon the terms on which it issued them. The holders of the former class of shares get nothing at all in virtue of their supposed character of shareholders and cannot be assessed in respect of them.[50]

(B) Notwithstanding Acts of Agents of Company in Misrepresenting Its Capital Stock to Public. If the shareholder is not in such a case estopped by his own acts from repudiating an ultra vires issue of shares, for stronger reasons he is put under no such estoppel by the acts of agents of the company in representing by public advertisements that the company has a capital stock equal to that which would result from the ultra vires increase.[51]

(C) As in Case of Void Amalgamation. Where an amalgamation of two companies has been attempted, and, in pursuance of the scheme of amalgamation, certain shareholders of one company apply for and have allotted to them their quota of shares in the other company, and the amalgamation is afterward judicially determined to be void, such shareholders of the former company will not be estopped, by their conduct or acquiescence in the arrangement, from afterward denying that they are shareholders in the latter company.[52] Nor in case of a void amalgamation will the fact that two of the directors of the selling company, to whom shares had been allotted in exchange for shares in the purchasing company, acted under the terms of the agreement as directors of the purchasing company, estop them from denying their liability as contributories of the purchasing company.[53]

(D) Otherwise in Case of Good Amalgamation or Reorganization. But of course the principle of estoppel under discussion applies in cases where there has been valid consolidation or reorganization. This may be illustrated by a case where, on the reorganization of a national bank, defendant subscribed on the basis of a total subscription of five hundred thousand dollars, while the actual increase of stock was but four hundred and sixty-one thousand dollars. Defendant protested and refused to vote on the stock issued to him, but retained his certificate until the bank passed into the hands of a receiver several months afterward. It was held that his acceptance and retention of the certificate precluded him from contending against his liability.[54]

47. In re Reciprocity Bank, 22 N. Y. 9.

48. Pullman v. Upton, 96 U. S. 328, 24 L. ed. 818; Chubb v. Upton, 95 U. S. 665, 24 L. ed. 523; Upton v. Tribilcock, 91 U. S. 45, 23 L. ed. 203.

49. Scovill v. Thayer, 105 U. S. 143, 20 L. ed. 968.

50. Lathrop v. Kneeland, 46 Barb. (N. Y.) 432; In re Tal-y-Drws Slate Co., 1 Ch. D. 247, 45 L. J. Ch. 158, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 460, 24 Wkly. Rep. 92.

51. Scovill v. Thayer, 105 U. S. 143, 26 L. ed. 968.

52. Hindustan Bank, etc. v. Alison, L. R. 6 C. P. 54, 40 L. J. C. P. 1, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 616, 19 Wkly. Rep. 505.

53. In re London, etc., Ins. Corp., L. R. 4 Ch. 682, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 182, 17 Wkly. Rep. 751.

54. Butler v. Aspinwall, 33 Fed. 217 [distinguishing Eaton v. Pacific Nat. Bank, 144 Mass. 260, 10 N. E. 844].

(E) Evidence Not Sufficient Under This Rule. On the other hand the mere recital in a bond that the obligor has retained as a loan a certain amount of his subscription in an educational corporation has been held no evidence of the fact of a subscription.[55] But this seems untenable, since the evidence is the solemn admission of the party himself over his own signature, and because a paper itself might be regarded as an informal subscription.[56]

c. When Shareholder Not Estopped From Objecting to Cancellation of His Shares. It has been held that the shareholder is not estopped from objecting to the cancellation of his shares because an amendment to the by-laws, made before he purchased his stock, authorized the directors to set aside certain money for the cancellation of certain shares, or because a subsequent amendment, authorizing a forced cancellation of the shares, was submitted to by other shareholders, and he shared in the benefits accruing to the association.[57]

d. Acquiescence of Corporation Estops It From Denying Validity of Subscription. This principle of estoppel works against the corporation, as well as in its favor and in favor of its creditors. When therefore the directors and other agents of a company have for many years acquiesced in a subscription for stock, made by a person in the name of his children and others, who have exercised acts of ownership over it, and voted on it without objection as their own, the corporation will not afterward be allowed to treat the subject as if it were a fraudulent use by the original subscriber of mere names to secure a greater number of votes than he would be entitled to if the stock stood in his own name.[58] An allotment of shares by directors of a company to subscribers, which was invalid because a sufficient number of directors were not present at the meeting, becomes valid when ratified by a subsequent meeting at which all the directors are present, if the application for the shares has not been revoked or the allotment repudiated.[59]

VII. SHARES CONSIDERED AS PROPERTY.

A. Increasing and Decreasing Capital Stock — 1. In General — a. Corporations No Implied Power to Increase or Diminish Capital. Corporations have no implied power to increase or diminish their capital stock, but can do so only when authorized by the legislature, and then only in the manner authorized.[60] The mere fact that the value of the property owned by the corporation has become enhanced does not authorize an additional issue of shares, either to the original corporators or to subscribers for the stock.[61]

55. Butler University v. Schoonover, 114 Ind. 381, 16 N. E. 642, 5 Am. St. Rep. 627.

56. For evidence on which it was held that a finding of a court of admiralty that certain persons were not members of the corporation would not be disturbed see McAdams v. Boyer, 37 Fed. 73. Validity of bond and mortgage given for shares before legal organization of the company; invalidity of same as to wife of principal obligor. Valk v. Crandall, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 179. Facts stated on which it was held that the relation of a certain corporation to its shareholders was that of a trustee to a partnership; that the capital stock should be treated as partnership assets and divided accordingly. Shorb v. Beaudry, 56 Cal. 446.

57. Bergman v. St. Paul Mut. Bldg. Assoc., 29 Minn. 275, 13 N. W. 120.

58. Creed v. Lancaster Bank, 1 Ohio St. 1.

59. In re Portuguese Consol. Copper Mines, 45 Ch. D. 16, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 423, 2 Meg. 249, 39 Wkly. Rep. 25.

In respect of the time within which the ratification just spoken of can take place, it was held that it was made within a reasonable time where the delay was from October 22 to January 16, the subscribers not having disaffirmed in the meantime. In re Portuguese Consol. Copper Mines, 45 Ch. D. 16, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 423, 2 Meg. 249, 39 Wkly. Rep. 25.

60. Grangers' L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Kamper, 73 Ala. 325; Sutherland v. Olcott, 95 N. Y. 93 [reversing 29 Hun (N. Y.) 161]; Mechanics' Bank v. New York, etc., R. Co., 13 N. Y. 599; Winters v. Armstrong, 37 Fed. 508.

61. Cole v. Adams, 19 Tex. Civ. App. 507, 49 S. W. 1052.

Under the constitution of Louisiana, which provides for increasing, but not for reducing the capital stock of corporations, corporations have no power to decrease their capital Seignouret v. Home Ins. Co., 24 Fed. 332.

Sir Nathaniel Lindley states the law in accordance with the above text, but draws attention to the fact that this does not neces-

b. Constitutional and Statutory Prohibitions Against Fictitious Increase of Capital Stock. Many constitutional and statutory prohibitions against the fictitious increase of capital stock, designed to prevent what is known as "stock-watering," have been established. These, so far as examined by the writer, generally embody three elements, a prohibition against the issue of stock or bonds, and sometimes stock or indebtedness, (1) except in pursuance of a general law; (2) except with the consent of the holders of a majority of the existing shares; or, (3) after a prescribed notice.[62]

c. Statutory Limitations of Amount of Capital Which Corporations May Have. Other statutes are found, applicable to various corporations, which limit the amount of capital which incorporated companies may have. Thus a recent amended act of North Carolina, applicable to all corporations except railroad, banking, and insurance companies, limits the amount of capital stock which all such companies may have to one million dollars.[63]

d. Rights of Shareholders Where Capital Has Been Reduced. Where the capital stock of a national bank had been reduced to avoid a threatened assessment by the comptroller of the currency, rendered necessary by the impairment of the capital by suspended claims, it was held that a shareholder could not, upon these suspended claims being realized, enforce a demand against the bank for a part of them, proportioned to his surrendered shares.[64]

e. Effect of Reducing Capital Stock Upon Liability of Shareholders to Creditors. An act of the legislature authorizing the reduction of the capital stock of a bank to the amount paid in at a certain period will exonerate the sharesarily exclude a power on the part of the majority of a company to borrow money on the credit of the company against the will of the minority. Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 397, 398 [citing to the last point Bryon v. Metropolitan Saloon Omnibus Co., 3 De G. & J. 123, 60 Eng. Ch. 96; Australian Auxiliary Steam Clipper Co. v. Mounsey, 4 Jur. N. S. 1224, 4 Kay & J. 733, 27 L. J. Ch. 729, 6 Wkly. Rep. 734]. Further as to the power of a corporation to increase its capital stock see Peck v. Elliott, 79 Fed. 10, 24 C. C. A. 425, and note to same in 38 L. R. A. 616.

Construction of Tex. Stat. (1879), art. 576, before its amendment, with the conclusion that a corporation could not legally increase its stock beyond double the amount of its original capital stock, regardless of the number of times the increase was made. Berg v. San Antonio St. R. Co., 17 Tex. Civ. App. 291, 42 S. W. 647 [rehearing denied in 43 S. W. 929].

62. Alabama.— Const. (1875), art. 14, § 6. See also Fitzpatrick v. Dispatch Pub. Co., 83 Ala. 604, 2 So. 727.

Arkansas.— Const. (1874), art. 12, § 8.

California.— Const. (1879), art. 12, § 11. It has been held that the effect of this provision was to annul section 359 of the civil code, providing for an increase of stock, through the medium of a meeting, or by the written assent of the holders of three fourths of the capital stock of the corporation. Ewing v. Oroville Min. Co., 56 Cal. 649. The increase of the capital stock of a corporation, and the issue of additional shares, to be sold at a price less than the nominal value of the stock, to supply a fund for the actual use of the corporation, is not a "fictitious increase" of the stock, within the meaning of the prohibitory clause of the constitution of California. Stein v. Howard, 65 Cal. 616, 6 Pac. 662.

Colorado.— Const. (1876), art. 15, § 9.

Idaho.—Const. (1899), art. 11, § 9.

Indiana.— 2 Rev. Stat. (1888), c. 19, § 3021*e*.

Kansas.— Laws (1883), c. 47, § 1; Laws (1887), c. 117, p. 172.

Louisiana.— Const. (1898), art. 267.

Missouri.— Const. (1875), art. 12, § 8. See also Rev. Stat. (1879), § 938. As to notice of the meeting to increase capital stock under this constitutional and statutory provision see State v. McGrath, 86 Mo. 239.

New Jersey.— Laws (1889), c. 105, p. 155.

North Dakota.— Const. (1889), § 138.

Pennsylvania.— Const. (1873), art. 16, § 7; Laws (1889), No. 125.

South Dakota.— Const. (1889), art. 17, § 8.

Texas.— Const. (1876), art. 12, § 6.

Utah.— Const. (1895), art. 12, § 5.

Virginia.— For a construction of a statute authorizing a corporation to increase its capital stock "to such extent as may be requisite to enable them to liquidate all arrears of debts," etc., see Gordon v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 78 Va. 501, 513.

Wisconsin.— Rev. Stat. (1878), § 1826.

63. N. C. Laws (1889), c. 170, p. 143.

64. McCann v. Jeffersonville First Nat. Bank, 112 Ind. 354, 14 N. E. 251.

Issuing certificates of indebtedness to shareholders for their surrendered shares upon a reduction of capital. Strong v. Brooklyn Crosstown R. Co., 93 N. Y. 426.

Binding effect of an agreement between officers of the corporation and one of its shareholder from any liability beyond the amount of the reduced stock, as to creditors who have become such since the reduction.[65]

2. Increasing Capital Stock — a. Directors No Implied Power to Increase Capital. The capital of a corporation, fixed by its charter, articles of association, or other governing instrument, cannot be increased by the directors without the sanction of the shareholders, unless expressly authorized thereto by the charter, governing statute, or other valid governing instrument.[66]

b. Shares Issued in Pursuance of Ultra Vires Increase of Capital Deemed to Be Spurious and Void — (I) In General. As a corporation has no power to increase its capital beyond the limit fixed by its charter or governing statute, unless thereto specially empowered, any attempt to make such an increase is void; the shares issued in pursuance of such an attempt are spurious; they confer no rights upon the holders of them; such holders cannot participate in the management of the company on a footing with the holders of valid shares; nor can they be subject to the liabilities of the holders of genuine stock; but their contract to pay for the spurious shares is without consideration and cannot be enforced.[67]

(II) Subscriber May Recover Back Money Which He Has Paid in Purchasing Such Shares. Moreover the subscriber may recover back the money which he has paid to the corporation in purchasing such spurious shares, as so much had and received by the corporation to his use, upon a consideration which has failed; and it seems that the rule in pari delicto potior est conditio possidentis does not apply.[68]

c. Irregularities in Proceedings to Increase Capital — (I) Departures From Governing Statute. The provisions of the charter or other governing statute touching an increase of the capital stock of a corporation must govern subsisting contractual requirements.[69] The failure of the corporation to file a certificate of the increase of stock with the secretary of state or other officer, as required by the governing statute, does not invalidate a subscription to the new shares as between the corporation and the shareholders; since the object of the statute is primarily for the protection of the public.[70]

(II) Irregularities Validated by Acquiescence or Cured by Estoppel — (A) In General. But where the power to make an increase exists, mere irregularities in the mode of making the increase may be validated by acquiescence, or cured on the principle of estoppel, so as to cut off any dissenting shareholder from asserting its invalidity.[71] Shareholders who vote to increase the stock of the corporation to a certain amount, without specifying the time of the holders to issue reduced shares to such shareholders upon a surrender of his shares. Abbott v. Petersburgh Granite Quarrying Co., 17 N. Y. Suppl. 140, 43 N. Y. St. 235.

65. Palfrey v. Paulding, 7 La. Ann. 363; Hepburn v. Commissioners of Exchange, etc., Co., 4 La. Ann. 87.

Applications of this principle where the corporation is a bank, and its debts consist of its circulating notes. Palfrey v. Paulding, 7 La. Ann. 363; Hepburn v. Commissioners of Exchange, etc., Co., 4 La. Ann. 87; Bullard v. Bell, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,121, 1 Mason 243.

66. Newport Cotton Mill Co. v. Mims, 103 Tenn. 465, 53 S. W. 736; Chicago City R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 233, 21 L. ed. 902 (where it is pointed out by Bradley, J., that this does not necessarily exclude the power in the directors to receive additional subscriptions to the authorized capital stock which has not been all filled up).

67. Scovill v. Thayer, 105 U. S. 143, 26 L. ed. 968.

68. Knowlton v. Congress, etc., Spring Co., 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,903, 14 Blatchf. 364.

69. Ohio Ins. Co. v. Nunnemacher, 15 Ind. 294.

70. Barrows v. Natchaug Silk Co., 72 Conn. 658, 45 Atl. 951; Johnston v. Allis, 71 Conn. 207, 41 Atl. 816; Naugatuck Water Co. v. Nichols, 58 Conn. 403, 20 Atl. 315, 8 L. R. A. 637; Nutter v. Lexington, etc., R. Co., 6 Gray (Mass.) 85. It is scarcely necessary to add that informalities in taking the vote to reduce the capital will not operate to defeat the existence of the corporation. Brown v. Wyandotte, etc., R. Co., 68 Ark. 134, 56 S. W. 862.

71. Byers v. Rollins, 13 Colo. 22, 21 Pac. 894; Bailey v. Champlain Min., etc., Co., 77 Wis. 453, 46 N. W. 539; Chicago City R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 233, 21 L. ed. 902; Stutz v. Handley, 41 Fed. 531 [reversed on other grounds in 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 35 L. ed. 227]; Payson v. Stoever, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,863, 2 Dill. 427.

issue of the new shares, waive the irregularity of an issue of various amounts of such shares, from time to time, during a period of six years, by the directors, by accepting dividends and participating in shareholders' meetings during such period, without making any objection to such increase of the stock.[72]

(B) Illustrations of Foregoing. Thus unanimous consent will make an increase of the capital stock of a corporation binding upon all the shareholders, although not made with the statutory formalities.[73] And where there was, under the governing statute, authority to increase the capital stock at the discretion of the shareholders, it was held that no formal vote was necessary to make the increase, but that the requisite assent of the shareholders could be shown by their conduct and acquiescence.[74] And this assent may be shown by accepting shares of the increased capital so issued, so as to cut off the right of objecting to the failure of the corporation, to record and publish the fact of the increase.[75] And hence, where all the shareholders of a corporation assent to the action of a shareholders' meeting, in increasing the capital stock, or ratify such action, they cannot afterward raise the objection to such increase that no formal notice of the meeting was given, or that it was held in another state than that in which the corporation was chartered, there being nothing in the charter to prohibit its being so held.[76] Nor will the failure to enter on the minutes of the company a vote of the shareholders by which its capital stock is increased at all affect the validity of the act of increase; since most corporate acts can be proved by parol.[77]

(C) Shareholders Not Allowed to Set Up Such Irregularities After Insolvency. An authorized increase of the capital stock of a corporation may be validated by an acquiescence of the shareholders in such a sense that a shareholder will not be allowed, after the insolvency of the corporation, when proceeded against by its assignees in bankruptcy to collect what remains due upon his subscription, to set up the invalidity of the increase of capital stock or of a reorganization of the company, where that has taken place.[78]

(III) Notice of Meeting to Increase Capital. Where the governing statute provided that an increase of the capital of a corporation might be authorized "at any meeting called for the purpose," the mere fact that a by-law provided that any business "within the power of the corporation" might be transacted at annual meetings, although the subject-matter thereof was not specified in the notice, did not authorize an increase in the capital stock at an annual meeting, the notice of which did not specify such purpose.[79]

d. Liability of Holders of Shares Issued Upon Increasing Capital Stock — (I) In General. The liability of the holders of shares so issued is substantially the same as that of the subscribers to original shares. If the issue is valid and if the subscribers of the new shares have not paid for them, under principles already 72. Barrows v. Natchaug Silk Co., 72 Conn. 658, 45 Atl. 951.

Circumstances under which evidence was admissible of the acts of a corporation claiming to be the successor of a precedent corporation, directly connected with the increase of the capital stock in another corporation. Hix v. Edison Electric Light Co., 163 N. Y. 573, 57 N. E. 1112 [affirming 27 N. Y. App. Div. 248, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 592].

73. Bailey v. Champlain Min., etc., Co., 77 Wis. 453, 46 N. W. 539; Poole v. West Point Butter, etc., Assoc., 30 Fed. 513.

74. Payson v. Stoever, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,863, 2 Dill. 427.

75. Stutz v. Handley, 41 Fed. 531.

76. Stutz v. Handley, 41 Fed. 531 [reversed on other grounds, but affirmed on this point in 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 35 L. ed. 227].

77. Stutz v. Handley, 41 Fed. 531.

For further illustrations see Kansas City Hotel Co. v. Hunt, 57 Mo. 126; Pullman v. Upton, 96 U. S. 328, 24 L. ed. 818. Compare with Methodist Episcopal Union Church v. Pickett, 19 N. Y. 482.

78. Clarke v. Thomas, 34 Ohio St. 46; Chicago City R. Co. v. Allerton, 18 Wall. (U. S.) 233, 21 L. ed. 902. See also in support of the same conclusion Upton v. Jackson, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,802, 1 Flipp. 413.

79. Jones v. Concord, etc., R. Co., 67 N. H. 119, 38 Atl. 120 [affirmed in 67 N. H. 234, 30 Atl. 614, 68 Am. St. Rep. 650, citing Jones v. Milton, etc., Turnpike Co., 7 Ind. 547; Com. v. Smith, 132 Mass. 289; Stebbins v. Merritt, 10 Cush. (Mass.) 27; Schenectady, etc., Plank Road Co. v. Thatcher, 11 N. Y. 102; Richardson v. Vermont, etc., R. Co., 44 Vt. 613; Sherwin v. Bugbee, 17 Vt. 337; Warner v. Mower, 11 Vt. 385, and stated,[80] then they are liable to pay for them when called upon so to do by the corporation, by its creditors, or by their representative.[81] But if the new issue is wholly void, as where the corporation has filled up its capital and has exhausted its power to issue new shares,[82] then there can be no recovery against the taker of them by the corporation,[83] and it would seem not by its creditors.[84]

(II) Authorized Increase Will Not Release Existing Shareholders. When a corporation is authorized by its charter to increase its capital stock, the power to increase becomes so to speak a part of the contract of subscription, and its exercise will be binding on an existing shareholder, whether or not he assents thereto. The common-law rule[85] that any material alteration in the charter of a corporation without the consent of a shareholder relieves him from liability on his stock subscription does not apply to such a case.[86]

(III) Liability of Taker of New Shares to Creditors Where Increased Shares Are Canceled. Nor will there be any liability to creditors on the part of the subscribers of the new shares, where the increase is canceled and the new shares called in before the rights of creditors have attached, or before creditors have suffered any detriment in consequence of the attempted issue.[87]

(IV) Statutory Individual Liability For Decrease of Such New Shares. A statutory individual liability of shareholders attaches to them as well in respect of new shares issued to them on an increase of the stock of the corporation, as to their original shares, as for instance a statutory liability for the debts contracted by the corporation prior to the time when the capital stock is paid in. Here, if there is an increase and debts are contracted before it is paid in, the sharetakers will be liable for such debts.[88] So too of a liability imposed by statute upon shareholders for failure to file the proper certificate of payment upon an increase of its capital stock. But such liability is limited to the holders of the increased stock.[89]

(V) Doctrine That Person Who Takes New Shares at Less Than Par Is Liable to Subsequent Creditors Only. The supreme court of the United States, reversing the court below,[90] and departing from the general current of authority as it stood at the time of its decision, has taken a distinction with respect to the liability of the subscribers to shares of increased stock which has not been paid for, between the case of prior and subsequent creditors, and hold that, where the shareholder assents to the increase of the capital, and to a gratuitous distribution of it among the existing shareholders, and in pursuance of the arrangement receives his proportion of it as fully paid stock, when it has not been paid for in point of fact, although an obligation arose to pay for it in behalf of creditors whose debts are contracted subsequently to the authorization of the increase, no such obligation arose in favor of the creditor whose debt is contracted prior to such authorization.[91] distinguishing Rex v. Langhorn, 4 A. & E. 538, 6 N. & M. 203, 31 E. C. L. 243].

80. See supra, VI, M.

81. Recognized in Coit v. North Carolina Gold Amalgamating Co., 119 U. S. 343, 7 S. Ct. 231, 30 L. ed. 420, and in Handley v. Stutz, 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 25 L. ed. 227; but the principle not applied in either of these cases.

82. See supra, VII, A, 2, b, (I).

83. Oler v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 41 Md. 583.

84. But the fact of the corporation having issued to others shares of its stock in excess of its power does not constitute a defense to a shareholder whose shares are valid, when sued by the corporation for assessments; it is enough that the corporation has not disabled itself from complying with its contract with him by issuing to him his certificates when he shall have paid the purchase-money. Oler v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 41 Md. 583.

85. See supra, I, K, 1; VI, I, 1, a et seq.

86. Fort Edwards, etc., R. Co. v. Arpin, 60 Wis. 214, 49 N. W. 828.

87. For an illustration of this see Coit v. North Carolina Gold Amalgamating Co., 119 U. S. 343, 7 S. Ct. 231, 30 L. ed. 420.

88. Booth v. Campbell, 37 Md. 522.

89. Griffeth v. Green, 129 N. Y. 517, 29 N. E. 838, 42 N. Y. St. 101; Veeder v. Mudgett, 95 N. Y. 295.

90. Stutz v. Handley, 41 Fed. 531.

91. Handley v. Stutz, 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 35 L. ed. 227 [citing Deadwood First Nat. Bank v. Gustin Minerva Consol. Min. Co., 42 Minn. 327, 44 N. W. 198, 18

(VI) New Doctrine That Corporation Can Increase Its Capital and Sell New Shares at Their Market Value and That Purchasers Will Not Be Held to Make Good. The supreme court of the United States decided, in the year 1891, two of its members dissenting,[92] that an active corporation which desires to raise means for the prosecution of its business has the power to increase its capital stock and to sell its new shares on the market for the best price it can get; and that if it gets less than par creditors cannot compel the shareholders to pay the residue after the company becomes insolvent.[93]

e. Increasing Capital by Issuing Preference Shares. A company having power to increase its capital to such an amount and upon such terms, and either with or without special privileges or preferences to the holders of the shares in such increased capital, as the company may deem expedient, may raise further capital by issuing preferential shares, which will operate to give the holders thereof an advantage over the common shareholders in any distribution of the assets of the company; and they will enjoy this advantage and priority on the company being wound up.[94]

f. Distribution of New Shares Upon Increase of Capital — (I) New Stock to Be Distributed Ratably Among Existing Shareholders. In the absence of a statute or other valid governing instrument making a different rule, the new shares are to be distributed ratably among the existing shareholders; and this is called a stock dividend.[95] Each shareholder, it has been held, has a right to the opportunity to subscribe for and take the new or increased stock in proportion to the old stock held by him; so that a vote at a shareholders' meeting, directing the new stock to be sold, without giving to each shareholder such an opportunity, is void as to any dissenting shareholder.[96] If all the potential capital has not been subscribed for, but the balance is taken up by a particular person to give him the voting power attached to such shares, their issue will be deemed void, and a board of directors elected by such votes will be restrained from taking office.[97] Where the charter provided that shareholders who were such at the time of an increase of capital should be entitled to a pro rata share thereof, on payment of the par value of the shares, a subscriber who had transferred his shares prior to an increase was not entitled to participate therein.[98]

Am. St. Rep. 510, 6 L. R. A. 676; Coit v. North Carolina Gold Amalgamating Co., 14 Fed. 12; 2 Morawetz Corp. §§ 832, 833].

92. The dissenting members were Mr. Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Lamar. The dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Fuller is worthy of all commendation.

93. Handley v. Stutz, 139 U. S. 417, 11 S. Ct. 530, 35 L. ed. 227 [reversing 41 Fed. 531].

94. In re Bangor, etc., Slate, etc., Co., L. R. 20 Eq. 59, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 389, 23 Wkly. Rep. 785.

95. See on this subject, generally, the following cases:

Illinois.— Eidman v. Bowman, 58 Ill. 444, 11 Am. Rep. 90.

Massachusetts.— Gray v. Portland Bank, 3 Mass. 364, 3 Am. Dec. 156.

Minnesota.— Jones v. Morrison, 31 Minn. 140, 16 N. W. 854.

New York.— Jones v. Terre Haute, etc., R. Co., 57 N. Y. 196. Compare Miller v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 24 Barb. (N. Y.) 312.

Pennsylvania.—Reese v. Montgomery County Bank, 31 Pa. St. 78, 72 Am. Dec. 726 (original stock wrongfully withheld); Montgomery Bank v. Reese, 26 Pa. St. 143 (original stock remaining untaken).

Vermont.— State v. Smith, 48 Vt. 266, but rule does not apply to original stock bought in by the corporation and held as assets.

Wisconsin.— Dousman v. Wisconsin, etc., Min., etc., Co., 40 Wis. 418.

96. Jones v. Morrison, 31 Minn. 140, 16 N. W. 854. See also Gray v. Portland Bank, 3 Mass. 364, 3 Am. Dec. 156; State v. Smith, 48 Vt. 266.

For a charter and by-laws under which it was held that the shareholders had no absolute right to subscribe for the increased stock in proportion to their original holdings, but that the directors might allot it in such manner as they should regard as most conducive to the interest of the company, see Ohio Ins. Co. v. Nunnemacher, 15 Ind. 294.

97. Humboldt Driving Park Assoc. v. Stevens, 34 Nebr. 528, 52 N. W. 568, 33 Am. St. Rep. 654.

98. Real Estate Trust Co. v. Bird, 90 Md. 229, 44 Atl. 1048, where the transfer took the form of the shareholder signing the agreement with other shareholders, waiving his right to the new shares. To this agreement the corporation was not a party. Thereafter the shareholder transferred his shares to a bona fide purchaser, without notice of such agreement, who demanded a transfer of the

(II) Liability of Corporation to Shareholder For Refusing to Allow Him His Proportion of New Shares. Where the leading principle of the foregoing text prevails that the original shareholders are entitled to subscribe for the new shares in proportion to their existing holdings, if the corporation or its officers refuse to grant a shareholder this right, he will have an action for damages against the corporation, and the measure of his damages will be the excess of the market value above the par value of the number of shares to which he was entitled, with interest on such excess.[99]

(III) Corporation Enjoined From Charging Existing Shareholders Bonus on Distribution of New Shares — (A) In General. From this principle it also follows that where there is a statute permitting corporations to increase their capital stock by increasing the number of their shares, which shares are to be allotted pro rata to the shareholders according to their respective interests, it is not competent for the corporation to charge a bonus to the shareholders who receive the new shares in distribution, and that equity should enjoin the company from refusing to allow a shareholder to receive his allotment at par without paying a bonus.[1]

(B) Shareholders Paying Such Bonus Cannot Recover It Back. But it has been held that where a shareholder pays such a bonus, although under protest, he cannot recover it back, the denial by the corporation of his right to an equal distribution of the new shares without the payment of the bonus not, in the theory of the court, constituting duress.[2]

(IV) Rule Does Not Apply to Shares of Original Stock Bought In. The foregoing rule, which requires a ratable distribution of the new shares where the capital is increased, does not apply to the case where the corporation buys in the shares of its own original stock and holds them as assets or sells them for the payment of its liabilities or for the general benefit.[3]

(V) Remedy of Corporation Against Shareholders Who Fail to Take Their Proportion of New Shares. When an increase of stock by a mining company has been determined on, in the manner provided by the statute,[4] and the shareholders decline to pay for part of the stock, the authority of the company to dispose of such stock is complete, and the agreement to take shares may be enforced by action, although the whole of the increased stock is never taken.[5]

(VI) Corporation May Impose Limit of Time Within Which New Shares Must Be Taken. The corporation may impose a reasonable limit of time within which the existing shareholders must subscribe for and take the new shares. When therefore the charter of a corporation provided for sixty days' notice of an authorization of any increase of the capital stock, within which time any shareholder might have the privilege of taking additional shares, it was held that any shareholder not applying and tendering payment within such time would forfeit the privilege.[6]

(VII) Not Necessary to Bind Subscribers to New Shares That Entire Amount of Increase Should Have Been Subscribed. The rule which shares to him on the books of the corporation before the increase. It was held that he was entitled to share in the increase, unaffected by the release. But a purchaser of stock in a corporation, from one who has subscribed to new stock which such corporation has been authorized and has resolved to issue as an increase of capital, although becoming entitled to the rights of his vendor under the subscription to the new stock, is not entitled to a certificate of such stock where no payment therefor has been made. Baltimore City Pass. R. Co. v. Hambleton, 77 Md. 341, 26 Atl. 279.

99. Gray v. Portland Bank, 3 Mass. 364, 3 Am. Dec. 156.

1. Cunningham's Appeal, 108 Pa. St. 546, Paxson, J., dissenting as to the remedy in equity..

2. De la Cuesta v. Insurance Co. of North America, 136 Pa. St. 62, 658, 20 Atl. 505, 26 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 377, 9 L. R. A. 631, Sterrett and Clark, JJ., dissenting.

3. State v. Smith, 48 Vt. 266.

4. Swan & S. Stat. Ohio 237.

5. Clarke v. Thomas, 34 Ohio St. 46.

6. Hart v. St. Charles St. R. Co., 30 La. Ann. 758.

applies in the case of original subscribers to capital stock,[7] that the subscribers do not become liable until the entire amount intended to be raised is subscribed for, does not, it seems, apply to subscriptions to additional shares issued upon the increase of capital, since in such a case there is no implied condition that the whole number of additional shares authorized by the vote to increase capital shall be taken.[8]

g. Power of Corporation to Rescind Its Vote to Increase Capital. Where the corporation votes to increase its share capital to accomplish a particular object, until the shares are actually issued, it obviously retains the power to rescind its vote; and in such a case the existing shareholder cannot maintain a suit in equity to compel the corporation to issue to him his proportion of the intended new shares.[9]

h. Increase and Reduction of Capital Stock of National Banks. The comptroller of the currency has power to assent to an increase of the capital stock of a national bank less than that originally voted by the directors, but equal to the amount actually subscribed and paid for by the shareholders under that vote; and where the entire amount cannot be raised, the amount can be reduced by the concurrent action of the association and the comptroller of currency.[10]

3. Reducing Capital Stock — a. Capital Stock Can Be Diminished Only in Manner Prescribed by Law. A reduction of the capital stock can take place only when prescribed by law and in the manner prescribed by law.[11]

b. Must Be Done at Corporate Meeting Duly Called and Notified. Statutes providing for a reduction of the capital stock of corporations generally prescribe that it must be done at a meeting of the shareholders upon a notice specifying the object of the meeting and the proposed change, which notice shall be published in a prescribed manner.[12]

c. Invalidity of Secret Contrivances Resulting in Diminution of Capital Stock. One object of requiring capital stock to be diminished only at corporate meetings formally called, is to insure publicity, and warn the public dealing with the corporation of the intended change. This is incompatible with secret arrangements and contrivances reducing capital stock by buying in the shares, or by other devices, so as to release shareholders from their obligations to creditors.[13]

7. See supra, VI, H, 14, a et seq.

8. Avegno v. Citizens' Bank, 40 La. Ann. 799, 5 So. 537; Greenbrier Industrial Exposition v. Ocheltree, 44 W. Va. 626, 30 S. E. 78; Aspinwall v. Butler, 133 U. S. 595, 10 S. Ct. 417, 33 L. ed. 779. Compare Clarke v. Thomas, 34 Ohio St. 46; Thayer v. Butler, 141 U. S. 234, 11 S. Ct. 987, 35 L. ed. 711; Pacific Nat. Bank v. Eaton, 141 U. S. 227, 11 S. Ct. 984, 35 L. ed. 702; Delano v. Butler, 118 U. S. 634, 7 S. Ct. 39, 30 L. ed. 260.

9. Terry v. Eagle Lock Co., 47 Conn. 141.

As to the power to recall cash dividends see infra, VII, B, 1, a, (III), (A) et seq.

10. Aspinwall v. Butler, 133 U. S. 595, 10 S. Ct. 417, 33 L. ed. 779; Delano v. Butler, 118 U. S. 634, 7 S. Ct. 39, 30 L. ed. 260.

11. Thompson v. Reno Sav. Bank, 19 Nev. 103, 7 Pac. 68, 3 Am. St. Rep. 797.

12. See for instance 2 Nev. Comp. Laws, §§ 3401, 3406–3408, 3544.

13. Thompson v. Reno Sav. Bank, 19 Nev. 103, 7 Pac. 68, 3 Am. St. Rep. 797. See also supra, VI, L, 2, d.

Reducing capital by order of court under English Companies Act.—In re Direct Spanish Tel. Co., 34 Ch. D. 307, 56 L. J. Ch. 353, 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 804, 35 Wkly. Rep. 209. For the practice of reducing share capital with the sanction of the court under this statute see also In re General Min. Co., 6 Ir. Eq. 213. A statement of the practice is made in condensed form in Lindley Comp. L. (5th ed.) 402 et seq. The same author explains the manner of reducing paid-up capital under the Companies Act of 1880. Conclusiveness of the registration of an order of court confirming the resolution to reduce capital under the English Companies Act (1867), § 15. Ladies' Dress Assoc. v. Pulbrook, 68 L. J. Q. B. 871. Preliminary expenses not "lost capital" under a statute authorizing a reduction "to cancel any lost capital." In re Abstainers, etc., Ins. Co., [1891] 2 Ch. 124, 60 L. J. Ch. 510, 64 L. T. Rep. N. S. 256, 39 Wkly. Rep. 574. When reduction of common stock sanctioned apart from any reduction of preferential capital. In re Agricultural Hotel Co., [1891] 1 Ch. 396, 60 L. J. Ch. 208, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 748, 39 Wkly. Rep. 218 [following In re Gatling Gun, 43 Ch. D. 628, 59 L. J. Ch. 279; In re Quebrada R., etc., Co., 40 Ch. D. 363, 58 L. J. Ch. 332, 60 L. T. Rep. N. S. 482, 1 Meg. 122; In re Barrow Hæmatite Steel Co., 39 Ch. D. 582; In re American Pastoral Co., [1890] W. N. 62, and

B. Dividends — 1. Generally — a. What Is a Dividend — (I) In General. A dividend is that portion of the profits and surplus funds of the corporation which has been actually set apart by a valid resolution of the board of directors, or by the shareholders at a corporate meeting, for distribution among the shareholders according to their respective interests, in such a sense as to become segregated from the property of the corporation, and to become the property of the shareholders distributively.[14]

(II) Not a Debt Until Declared. A dividend is not a debt until it has been declared, but is a mere potentiality representing the right of the shareholder to a proportionate share of the profits of the corporate venture, when the same is declared to be payable, by the board of directors or otherwise, in pursuance of the governing statute or instrument. The obligation of the corporation, or of its board of directors, to declare a dividend cannot be treated as the dividend itself.[15]

(III) Thereafter a Trust Fund Held by Corporation For Its Shareholders — (A) In General. According to one theory a declaration of a dividend by a corporation is in legal contemplation a separation of the amount thereof from the assets of the corporation, which thereafter holds such amount as the trustees of those who are the shareholders at the time of the declaration of the dividend.[16] Whether this trust-fund theory is sound or not, a dividend, when declared, is certainly a common debt due to each shareholder in proportion to the number of his shares, for which he may maintain an ordinary action at law.[17]

(B) Corporation Cannot Appropriate Unpaid Dividends. If the dividend, upon the fact of its declaration, becomes a trust fund held by the company for the shareholder, it must then be treated in equity as the property of the shareholder, and cannot be applied by the directors to any purpose, not authorized by the charter or the fundamental contract, without the consent of the shareholder.[18] For example it cannot be set off against a contemporaneous assessment upon the shares;[19] nor can it be treated as a common debt by the receiver, but it passes into his hands as a trust fund, charged in equity with a lien in favor of the shareholder;[20] nor has the corporation any power to take it out of the account of the shareholder and credit it to the surplus fund, especially as against one who has sold his shares and reserved the declared dividend.[21] To this statement of doc-declining to follow In re Union Plate Glass Co., 42 Ch. D. 513, 58 L. J. Ch. 767].

When a national banking corporation cannot retain in its treasury any part of the amount realized, it may be compelled to distribute the difference among its shareholders. Seeley v. New York Nat. Exch. Bank, 8 Daly (N. Y.) 400 [affirmed in 78 N. Y. 608].

14. King v. Paterson, etc., R. Co., 29 N. J. L. 82.

Dividends, technically speaking, are generally confined to the payment of the net earnings of a corporation among the shareholders; but the term "dividends" is not confined in law to the division simply of net earnings, but applies as well to a division of the capital. Larwill v. Burke, 19 Ohio Cir. Ct. 513, 10 Ohio Cir. Dec. 605.

Nature of a dividend by mutual life-insurance company see Fuller v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 70 Conn. 647, 41 Atl. 4.

15. Lockhart v. Van Alstyne, 31 Mich. 76, 18 Am. Rep. 156 [citing In re London India Rubber Co., L. R. 5 Eq. 519, 37 L. J. Ch. 235, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 530, 16 Wkly. Rep. 334]. To the same effect see Taft v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 8 R. I. 310, 5 Am. Rep. 575; Henry v. Great Northern R. Co., 1 De G. & J. 606, 3 Jur. N. S. 1133, 27 L. J. Ch. 1, 6 Wkly. Rep. 87, 58 Eng. Ch. 470; Stevens v. South Devon R. Co., 9 Hare 313, 21 L. J. Ch. 816, 41 Eng. Ch. 313. Therefore a holder of the preferred and guaranteed shares of a corporation is not a creditor of it, in such a sense that he can make its directors liable to him under a statute for their default in filing certain annual reports. Lockhart v. Van Alstyne, 31 Mich. 76, 18 Am. Rep. 156.

16. McGill v. Holmes, 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 524, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 840. To the effect that a dividend after it has been declared is held by the corporation as a trust fund for its creditors see King v. Paterson, etc., R. Co., 29 N. J. L. 82; Le Roy v. Globe Ins. Co., 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 657. But compare Lowne v. American F. Ins. Co., 6 Paige (N. Y.) 482.

17. See infra, VII, B, 6, b, (I).

18. Reasoning in March v. Eastern R. Co., 43 N. H. 515.

19. Ex p. Winsor, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,884, 3 Story 411.

20. Matter of Le Blanc, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 221.

21. Beers v. Bridgeport Spring Co., 42 Conn. 17.

trine there is a well-recognized exception founded upon a banker's lien upon any assets of his customer in his hands for any unpaid balance; so that dividends declared but not paid by a banking corporation remain pledged for the payment of any just debt due to the bank from the shareholder.[22]

(C) Corporation Cannot Forfeit or Confiscate Unpaid Dividends at Its Mere Pleasure. For the same reason, after a corporation has declared a dividend, so that it becomes a debt due from it to the shareholder, it cannot forfeit or confiscate this debt at its mere pleasure.[23]

(D) Right of Set-Off For Debts Due by Shareholder to Corporation. As the dividend when declared becomes so much money owing by the corporation to the shareholder, if the shareholder is at the time indebted to the corporation, the latter has on principle a right to apply the dividend in liquidation of the debt. In other words it has the same right of set-off that any other creditor has.[24] But this right of set-off rests upon the mutuality of indebtedness; and hence where the shares have been assigned, although not on the books of the company, prior to the declaration of the dividend, the corporation has no right of set-off as against the assignee, who becomes the equitable owner, provided it has knowledge of the assignment prior to the declaration of the dividend.[25] But this right of set-off obviously exists only where a dividend has been declared; and conversely where no dividend has been declared and the shareholder is indebted to the corporation in respect of his shares by a bond and mortgage he cannot properly refuse to pay his interest because the directors do not declare a dividend; nor will the collection of such interest be restrained until the directors do make a dividend. This conclusion rests upon the principle that the propriety of declaring a dividend rests primarily in the discretion of the directors.[26]

(E) Unpaid Dividends Cannot Be Appropriated by State. For the same reason a dividend declared but not paid, but remaining unclaimed, cannot be arbitrarily appropriated by the state by enacting a statute that such a dividend shall not, after a stated period of time, be recovered or claimed by an action by suit, but shall be paid by the corporation to the trustees of the state university; since such a statute is merely a legislative confiscation, a taking of

22. Hagar v. Union Nat. Bank, 63 Me. 509; Sargent v. Franklin Ins. Co., 8 Pick. (Mass.) 90, 19 Am. Dec. 306; Bates v. New York Ins. Co., 3 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 238.

23. When therefore in reorganizing a corporation whose franchises were about to expire, under a scheme by which the new corporation succeeded to its franchises and obligations, a provision inserted in the charter of the new company, forfeiting dividends not claimed within three years from the time when declared, was not binding upon the old shareholders, except from the time when, expressly or by implication, they consented thereto by assuming the quality of shareholders in the new company. Armant v. New Orleans, etc., R. Co., 41 La. Ann. 1020, 7 So. 35.

Where no formal dividends were declared, but, under an arrangement among the shareholders, each shareholder drew out for his private purposes certain annual amounts, his indebtedness for the excess so drawn might be made a lien on the shares and his shares applied to its payment. Reading Trust Co. v. Reading Iron Works, 137 Pa. St. 282, 21 Atl. 169, 170, 27 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 95.

24. Ex p. Winsor, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,884, 3 Story 411, where this principle is recognized by Story, J.

25. Gemmell v. Davis, 75 Md. 546, 23 Atl. 1032, 32 Am. St. Rep. 412.

26. Ely v. Sprague, Clarke (N. Y.) 351.

Theory that unpaid dividends are assets for creditors of corporation.— One case puts forth the theory that unpaid dividends become, in the event of the insolvency of the corporation, assets for its creditors. Curry v. Woodward, 44 Ala. 305. But this is plainly untenable, since it converts a debt of the corporation into an asset and confiscates the property of the particular shareholder for the payment of other creditors.

Where a shareholder in a banking corporation has indorsed the notes of a third person which are held by the bank, the bank cannot exercise a right of set-off in respect to these notes against dividends due by it to the shareholder, where the makers of the notes are not shown to be insolvent or beyond the jurisdiction of the court, although it is conceded that the bank might under such circumstances deduct the amount of the notes, the makers of which are insolvent or nonresident, without a previous protest or notice of action to recover the amount of the same. Texarkana First Nat. Bank v. De Morse, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 26 S. W. 417.

the property of one man, or of one legal person, and giving it to another without just compensation.[27]

b. Declaration of Dividends Rests in Discretion of Directors, and Not Compelled in Equity — (I) In General. Except where, under the governing statute or instrument, the directors are overruled by the shareholders, the propriety or expediency of declaring and paying dividends rests in their sound discretion,[28] and the courts will not interfere to compel them to declare and pay a dividend, unless they are guilty of bad faith, or of a wilful abuse of this discretion,[29] or what is substantially the same thing unless in refusing so to do they have acted unreasonably, capriciously, or fraudulently.[30]

(II) Circumstances Under Which Dividends Compelled. On the other hand courts of equity have power, considered as mere power or jurisdiction, at the suit of a minority shareholder of a corporation, to order a dividend of its assets, where the safety or interest of the minority requires it; and in determining whether to exercise such power in a particular case the object of the corporation and the situation of its affairs must be taken into consideration.[31] Courts will not allow the directors of a corporation to exercise their discretion oppressively in refusing to declare a dividend, when the net profits and character of the business clearly warrant it.[32] Applying these principles, it was held by the court of errors and appeals of New Jersey that a minority shareholder in a trading corporation is entitled, where a majority of the directors have voted themselves inordinate salaries, withheld proper information from him, refused to declare dividends, and conveyed the assets to another corporation controlled by themselves, to have such conveyances and the resolutions fixing salaries set aside, to a decree securing him proper access to the books, and the right to a dividend to be declared out of

27. State University v. North Carolina R. Co., 76 N. C. 103, 22 Am. Rep. 671. See also Wilkinson v. Leland, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 627, 7 L. ed. 542; Terrett v. Taylor, 9 Cranch (U. S.) 43, 3 L. ed. 650. But compare State University v. Maultsby, 43 N. C. 257, where a similar statute was regarded as merely changing the custodian of the trust fund from an administrator to the state university, to be held by the latter for the benefit of the creditors and next of kin.

28. California.— Excelsior Water, etc., Co. v. Pierce, 90 Cal. 131, 27 Pac. 44.

Massachusetts.— Minot v. Paine, 99 Mass. 101, 96 Am. Dec. 705.

New Jersey.— King v. Paterson, etc., R. Co., 29 N. J. L. 82; Park v. Grant Locomotive Works, 40 N. J. Eq. 114, 3 Atl. 162.

New York.— Burden v. Burden, 159 N. Y. 287, 54 N. E. 17 [affirming 8 N. Y. App. Div. 160, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 499]; Williams v. Western Union Tel. Co., 93 N. Y. 162; Ely v. Sprague, Clarke 351.

United States.— Union Pac. R. Co. v. U. S., 99 U. S. 402, 25 L. ed. 274.

England.— In re Mercantile Trading Co., L. R. 4 Ch. 475, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 502, 17 Wkly. Rep. 654.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 1289.

29. Alabama.— Wolfe v. Underwood, 96 Ala. 329, 11 So. 344, not compelled to distribute earnings not shown to be in excess of the amount which the directors might, in the exercise of their discretion, regard as necessary or proper for the carrying on of the business of the company, and the meeting of prospective contingencies.

Connecticut.— Pratt v. Pratt, 33 Conn. 446.

Louisiana.— State v. State Bank, 6 La. 745.

Michigan.— Hunter v. Roberts, etc., Co., 83 Mich. 63, 47 N. W. 131.

New York.— McNab v. McNab, etc., Mfg. Co., 62 Hun 18, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 448, 41 N. Y. St. 906 (dividend not compelled in the absence of proof that the directors have acted unreasonably or capriciously in refusing to order a larger dividend); Karnes v. Rochester, etc., R. Co., 4 Abb. Pr. N. S. 107; Scott v. Eagle Fire Co., 7 Paige 198.

Pennsylvania.— McLean v. Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., 159 Pa. St. 112, 28 Atl. 211, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. 459; McKean v. Philadelphia Contributionship, 6 Pa. Dist. 40, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 657.

Wisconsin.— Morey v. Fish Bros. Wagon Co., 108 Wis. 520, 84 N. W. 862.

United States.— New York, etc., R. Co. v. Nickals, 119 U. S. 296, 7 S. Ct. 209, 30 L. ed. 363.

England.— Stevens v. South Devon R. Co., 9 Hare 313, 21 L. J. Ch. 816, 41 Eng. Ch. 313.

Compare Atty.-Gen. v. State Bank, 21 N. C. 545.

See 12 Cent. Dig. tit. "Corporations," § 1289.

30. McNab v. McNab, etc., Mfg. Co., 62 Hun (N. Y.) 18, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 448, 41 N. Y. St. 906.

31. Fougeray v. Cord, 50 N. J. Eq. 185, 24 Atl. 499.

32. Storrow v. Texas Consol. Compress, etc., Assoc., 87 Fed. 612, 31 C. C. A. 139.

all net profits not required in the legitimate business of the company, although the assets have been reconveyed pending the suit.[33]

(III) Declaration of Dividends Not Restrained in Equity. For the reason that the declaration of a dividend ordinarily rests in the sound discretion of the directors, the declaration and payment of it will not ordinarily be restrained in equity.[34]

(IV) Discretion of Directors as to Time and Place of Payment— (A) In General. In the exercise of their discretion with respect to the declaring of dividends, the directors may, it has been held, fix the time and place of payment within such limitations as reason and good faith to the shareholders may require. They may make them payable at a banking house in good credit, giving proper notice to the shareholders of the deposit made there to their credit.[35]

(B) Who Bears Loss When Payable at Bank Which Fails. If the shareholder after receipt of notice neglects to draw the money within a reasonable time, and the bank fails, the loss will fall on the shareholder, and not on the company. But of course the company must show that due notice was given to the shareholder.[36]

c. Reclamation of Dividends Illegally Declared — (I) In General. A resolution by the board of directors of a corporation to pay a dividend at a future time may be rescinded at a subsequent meeting, held before the dividend becomes payable, if the fact that it has been declared has not been made public, or in any manner communicated to the shareholders, and no fund has been set apart for its payment.[37] If a dividend has been illegally declared in the sense that its declaration is ultra vires, as where it is a dividend out of assets when there is no surplus to divide, then it seems that it may be rescinded by the corporation even after it has been paid, and that the corporation may recover it of the shareholders as so much money paid to their use under a mutual mistake.[38] It has been well reasoned that shareholders among whom assets of the corporation have been distributed by its officers, without authority from the corporation, or when acting outside the scope of their ordinary powers, are technically at least guilty of a conversion of such assets.[39] On plainer grounds a dividend declared under such circumstances cannot be recovered from the corporation in an action at law.[40] If such a dividend is paid out of capital, and the corporation subsequently becomes insolvent, the right to reclaim it is more clear on the ground that the capital of the corporation is a trust fund for its creditors, which fund cannot be lawfully distributed in this way, to its shareholders in advance of its creditors.[41] This right of reclamation, it has been held, passes to the assignee of the corporation, if the terms of the assignment are sufficiently comprehensive to embrace it.[42]

33. Laurel Springs Land Co. v. Fougeray, 50 N. J. Eq. 756, 26 Atl. 886.

That a court of equity may require the directors of a banking corporation to pay dividends out of surplus earnings where dividends have been suspended for the purpose of oppressing the minority shareholders see Hiscock v. Lacy, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 578, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 860, 62 N. Y. St. 228. Further as to the circumstances under which the declaration and payment of a dividend will be compelled see Hazeltine v. Belfast, etc., R. Co., 79 Me. 411, 10 Atl. 328, 1 Am. St. Rep. 330; Belfast, etc., R. Co. v. Belfast, 77 Me. 445, 1 Atl. 362; Boardman v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 84 N. Y. 157; Brown v. Buffalo, etc., R. Co., 27 Hun (N. Y.) 342; Hiscock v. Lacy, 9 Misc. (N. Y.) 578, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 860, 62 N. Y. St. 228.

34. Lee v. Neuchatel Asphalte Co., 41 Ch. D. 1, 58 L. J. Ch. 408, 61 L. T. Rep. N. S. 11, 1 Meg. 140, 37 Wkly. Rep. 321.

35. King v. Paterson, etc., R. Co., 29 N. J. L. 82.

36. King v. Paterson, etc., R. Co., 29 N. J. L. 82.

37. Ford v. Easthampton Rubber Thread Co., 158 Mass. 84, 32 N. E. 1036, 35 Am. St. Rep. 462, 20 L. R. A. 65.

38. Lexington L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Page, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 412, 66 Am. Dec. 165, per Simpson, J.

39. McKusick v. Seymour, 48 Minn. 172, 50 N. W. 1116.

40. Slayden v. H. J. Seip Coal Co., 25 Mo. App. 439.

41. Lexington L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Page, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 412, 66 Am. Dec. 165; Main v. Mills, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,974, 6 Biss. 98.

42. Lexington L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Page, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 412, 66 Am. Dec. 165; Main v. Mills, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,974, 6 Biss. 98.

It is immaterial whether the creditors who complain of such a dividend are prior or subsequent creditors, although the rights of a prior creditor undoubtedly rest on a stronger footing than do those of a subsequent creditor, on the ground that such a dividend has the effect of a fraudulent conveyance or diversion of the property of the corporation out of which he has the right to have his debts satisfied.[43] The assets of the corporation thus improperly diverted into the hands of the shareholders remain a trust fund out of which they are entitled to have their debts satisfied, and the directors who thus receive it are technically guilty of a conversion of it.[44] But laying aside this honest doctrine, it has been held that no trust in moneys paid as dividends out of the capital of a corporation, when there are no net profits to divide, attaches to them in the hands of shareholders who receive the dividends in good faith.[45] So in England a dividend voted at a general meeting of a corporation in accordance with its articles of association will not be withheld upon the voluntary winding-up of the company, on the ground that the assets were overestimated and that such distribution could not be made without payment out of the capital, where it was not impossible for reasonable men at the time of the general meeting to take the view then taken as to the value of the estate.[46]

(II) When Right to Recall Unlawful Dividend Lost by Laches and Efflux of Time. It has been held that neither a corporation nor the holders of stock or scrip therein can compel an accounting for dividends received on preferred stock, on the ground that the issue of such stock was ultra vires, after they have received full value for the stock, authorized its issue, paid dividends on it, and in many ways treated it as valid for twenty-two years.[47]

d. Rights in Distribution of Dividends — (I) No Discrimination Among Shareholders of Same Class — (A) Rule Stated. The directors of a corporation have no power, in the distribution of dividends, to discriminate among shareholders of the same class.[48]

(B) But Shareholders Discriminated Against Cannot Recoup Against Others. But the shareholder whose right to participate in a dividend has been wrongfully denied cannot maintain an action against another shareholder who has participated therein. He cannot in this way follow the assets of the corporation into the hands of other shareholders who have received it in the form of dividends, until he has established his right as a creditor of the company and exercised his legal remedies against it.[49]

(II) Dividends in Liquidation. These rest on a different footing from dividends of profits made to shareholders while the company is a going concern.

43. Beyer v. Continental Trust Co., 63 Mo. App. 521.

44. McKusick v. Seymour, 48 Minn. 172, 50 N. W. 1116.

45. McDonald v. Williams, 174 U. S. 397, 19 S. Ct. 743, 43 L. ed. 1022.

46. In re Peruvian Guano Co., [1894] 3 Ch. 690, 63 L. J. Ch. 818, 71 L. T. Rep. N. S. 611, 1 Manson 423, 8 Reports 544, 43 Wkly. Rep. 170.

In a bill for such a reclamation, not necessary to aver that any of the present debts existed when the dividend was declared, or that the assets are not enough to pay the debts proved. Williams v. Boice, 38 N. J. Eq. 364.

In England a liquidator cannot recover dividends improperly paid out of capital, although it is not shown that the company is insolvent as regards its creditors. In re Wales Nat. Bank, [1899] 2 Ch. 629, 68 L. J. Ch. 634, 81 L. T. Rep. N. S. 363, 48 Wkly. Rep. 99.

That no dividend can properly be declared by a mutual life-insurance company until after a valuation of its assets and liabilities showing an excess of assets over liabilities see Fuller v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 70 Conn. 647, 41 Atl. 4.

Construction of Iowa statute authorizing a reclamation of dividends immaturely declared. Miller v. Bradish, 69 Iowa 278, 28 N. W. 594.

47. Higgins v. Lansingh, 154 Ill. 301, 40 N. E. 362.

48. Hill v. Atoka Coal, etc., Co., 124 Mo. 153, 25 S. W. 926, 32 S. W. 111, 21 S. W. 508; Jones v. Terre Haute, etc., R. Co., 57 N. Y. 196.

49. Peckham v. Van Wagenen, 83 N. Y. 40, 38 Am. Rep. 392 [affirming 45 N. Y. Super. Ct. 328]. Compare In re Le Blanc, 75 N. Y. 598; Butterworth v. Gould, 41 N. Y. 450; Patrick v. Metcalf, 37 N. Y. 332; Le Roy v. Globe Ins. Co., 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 657.

They are not of course discretionary with the directors, who are usually displaced by an assignee, receiver, or other representative of the creditors; and they are declared in accordance with the principles of administration in equity, or under rules specially enacted by statute, which in general are the same as those in equity. These are: (1) That valid lien creditors are first to be paid according to their respective priorities. (2) That general creditors are next to be paid pro rata. (3) That what is left,[50] if anything, shall be divided among the shareholders in such a manner as to produce as far as possible equality among them.[51] This of course means a pro rata division among all shareholders standing on an equal footing. Thus, if some of the shareholders have paid for their shares in full while others have paid in part only, those who have paid in full are entitled to a return of the excess paid by them above that paid by the others, before any division of the balance takes place. This balance is then to be divided ratably among the shareholders; and this has been held to be the proper mode of distribution, although the corporation has been in operation for many years, making dividends of profits in proportion to the amounts paid in by the respective shareholders.[52]

2. Validity and Propriety of Dividends — a. Dividends Can Be Made Only Out of Profits, Except Dividends in Liquidation — (i) In General. With the exception of dividends in liquidation, dividends can be declared and paid only where there are profits to divide; and it is elsewhere seen that if the directors violate this principle they become personally liable, under statutes and constitutional provisions.[53] The reason is that the capital stock of a corporation being a trust fund for its creditors the law does not tolerate the conclusion that this trust fund can be divided among the shareholders, leaving the creditors in the lurch. Moreover each shareholder is entitled to have this fund preserved unimpaired for the purpose of carrying on the business which the corporation was organized to perform.[54]

50. Shareholders are not entitled to any division of the profits and moneys of a corporation until its debts are paid. Ryan v. Leavenworth, etc., R. Co., 21 Kan. 365.

51. See infra, 2 Thompson Corp. § 2145.

52. Krebs v. Carlisle Bank, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,932, 2 Wall. Jr. 33.

Time to object to order directing receiver to pay dividend.—It has been held that where an order directing a receiver to pay a certain dividend is neither objected to nor appealed from until after the entry of the final decree in the cause, and after the dividend has been thereupon paid and its payment confirmed by the court, the validity of the order cannot be questioned on appeal from the final decree. Republic L. Ins. Co. v. Swigert, 135 Ill. 150, 25 N. E. 680, 12 L. R. A. 328.

Ratification by the shareholders, by mere silence and acquiescence, of an assignment for creditors, providing that any surplus should be divided among the shareholders. State v. Mitchell, 104 Tenn. 336, 58 S. W. 365.

The rights of a creditor in a dividend declared by an insolvent banking corporation, which has been placed in liquidation by proceedings taken by the bank commissioners, is to be computed upon the original claim, proved by the creditor, without deducting any amount which he may have collected from the shareholders, but subject to the qualification that he cannot receive from both sources more than the aggregate amount of his claim. Sacramento Bank v. Pacific Bank, 124 Cal. 147, 56 Pac. 787, 71 Am. St. Rep. 36, 45 L. R. A. 863.

An objecting shareholder of a constituent corporation to whom the consolidated corporation had agreed to pay in specified instalments the amount of an award of the value of her stock, bonds to the amount of the award being deposited with a trustee as security for performance of an agreement, is entitled, if the consolidated corporation becomes insolvent, to share as a general creditor for the balance due, and is also entitled to all dividends, if any, up to the amount of her claim upon the bonds so deposited. Matter of Snyder, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 1, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 993.

The liquidator of an insolvent corporation which was a shareholder and also a creditor of another insolvent corporation is not entitled to share in the dividend declared by the liquidator of the latter corporation, until it has paid the call made upon its stock before either corporation went into liquidation, where the court has held that the claim cannot be offset against its liability on the call. In re Auriferous Properties, [1898] 2 Ch. 428, 67 L. J. Ch. 574, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 71, 5 Manson 260, 47 Wkly. Rep. 75.

Equalizing shareholders in respect of dividends in liquidation where some were permitted to pay their indebtedness to the corporation in its shares, and dividends were made among the others. Conococheague Bank v. Ragan, 7 Gill & J. (Md.) 341.

53. See infra, IX, P, 9, a et seq.

54. Slayden v. H. J. Seip Coal Co., 25 Mo. App. 439. In this line of thought it has been held that a savings-bank, organized under a statute which authorizes it to pay dividends

(II) Payable in What Commodity. It has been held that a banking company cannot declare a dividend payable in depreciated bank-notes; but the soundness of the decision is not apparent, provided all its shareholders are treated alike.[55]

(III) Dividends May Be Declared at Meetings Held Outside State. The declaration and payment of dividends by the directors of a corporation is generally looked upon as a mere matter of business detail and management, and not as being a statutory act in the sense that it cannot be done outside the state. No valid reason exists for holding that it must be done within the state. But if it is done at a corporate meeting held outside the state it becomes valid if ratified at a subsequent meeting held within the state. If the shares of a member have been forfeited for the non-payment of an assessment laid at such meeting held outside the state he cannot collect the dividends so declared. He must take as a whole what took place at the meeting, validated as it was by subsequent ratification; he cannot refuse to pay his assessment, and at the same time retain his shares and get his dividend.[56]

(IV) Payment of Interest on Shares. Payment of interest to shareholders on their shares is ultra vires unless specially authorized by charter or statute;[57] and it has been held that payment to shareholders, out of the capital of a corporation having no profits, of interest on the amounts paid in on their shares, is ultra vires, notwithstanding a provision of the charter that interest shall be paid until otherwise determined by the directors, but that no dividend or bonus shall be payable except out of the profits.[58] But in England a company limited by shares may, if authorized by its articles of association, pay interest out of capital to shareholders who have paid up their shares in advance of calls.[59]

from "surplus profits" may not declare and pay dividends based on accrued interest not actually collected, however certain it is that such interest will be paid. People v. San Francisco Sav. Union, 72 Cal. 199, 13 Pac. 498.

Rule for ascertaining what are profits to be divided.— See the rule laid down by Lord Romilly, in Corry v. Londonderry, etc., R. Co., 29 Beav. 263, 7 Jur. N. S. 508, 30 L. J. Ch. 290, 4 L. T. Rep. N. S. 131, 9 Wkly. Rep. 301. For a definition of net earnings in the sense of surplus profits see Union Pac. R. Co. v. U. S., 99 U. S. 402, 25 L. ed. 274, also note in 99 Am. Dec. 762. This subject has been sometimes defined by statute. Ohio Laws (1888), p. 182. An interesting discussion of the question what may be divided by directors as profits, without incurring a personal liability under such a statute, may be found in Excelsior Water, etc., Co. v. Pierce, 90 Cal. 131, 27 Pac. 44. For an illustrative English case involving the question what are profits to divide and what not see In re Bridgewater Nav. Co., [1891] 2 Ch. 317 [modifying [1891] 1 Ch. 155]. See also Bouch v. Sproule, 12 App. Cas. 385, 56 L. J. Ch. 1037, 57 L. T. Rep. N. S. 345, 36 Wkly. Rep. 193. Dividing a sum derived from a sale of part of the undertaking. Lubbock v. Bank of South Africa, 2 Ch. 198, 61 L. J. Ch. 498, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 74, 41 Wkly. Rep. 103. Dividend by a consolidated corporation out of earnings of one of the precedent corporations. Chase v. Vanderbilt, 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 334. Purchase of the shares of a member to be paid for out of corporate earnings. Schilling, etc., Brewing Co. v. Schneider, 110 Mo. 83, 19 S. W. 67. Construction of a statute of California prohibiting payment to shareholders of any part of the capital stock before dissolution or expiration of term of corporate existence. Kohl v. Lilienthal, 81 Cal. 378, 20 Pac. 401, 22 Pac. 689, 6 L. R. A. 520.

55. Ehle v. Chittenango Bank, 24 N. Y. 548.

56. Freeman v. Machias Water Power, etc., Co., 38 Me. 343.

57. See infra, VII, C, 1, a et seq.

58. In re Sharpe, [1892] 1 Ch. 154.

59. Lock v. Queensland Invest., etc., Co., [1896] A. C. 461, 65 L. J. Ch. 798, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 3, 45 Wkly. Rep. 65. In that country the provisions of the articles of association of a limited company that the directors might receive payment from any shareholder of any part of the amount remaining unpaid on his shares, upon such terms as they might determine, and, if they should see fit, pay out of the capital interest on sums paid on shares in advance of calls, were held to be valid; and it was held that in the absence of profits such interest might lawfully be paid out of capital. Lock v. Queensland Invest., etc., Co., [1896] 1 Ch. 397, 65 L. J. Ch. 301, 73 L. T. Rep. N. S. 708. In this country, under the provisions of a railway charter that interest might be paid on share subscriptions from the time of paying the subscription to the making of the first dividend, the running of interest cannot be stopped by declaring a stock dividend, even though the company may have had sufficient resources to justify the

